Car-Truck Crash Injures Three Persons Wed.

Three persons were injured in a car-truck head-on smashup two miles southeast of Estelline on Highway 287 about 4:30 p.m. yesterday afternoon.

Both Stephen Abdon and John Dixon of Columbus, Ohio, received severe cuts. Abdon suffered from a broken jaw and other injuries while Dixon received a cut across the face which almost cut off his nose. Both boys are 19 years old.

These boys were brought to Goodall Hospital immediately after the wreck for treatment, and then they were taken to Amarillo hospitals. Abdon is in Northwest Texas Hospital and Dixon is in St. Anthony's Hospital.

The truck driver, Bussey Debs Turner of Arlington was taken to Childress where he was treated for injuries to the left shoulder. He was released this morning.

The 1951 DeSoto convertible Dixon and Abdon were in was completely demolished in the wreck. The truck, which carries the sign of Morgan Drive Away, Inc., was heavily damaged in the front, with the impact knocking the front axle loose from the truck. It had to be removed before the truck could be towed to Memphis.

Memphis Rotary Club Acts As Host For Swedish Student This Summer

The Memphis Rotary Club is acting as host to Miss Christina Gisslar, 23, of Stockholm, Sweden, in the continuation of the foreign student exchange program the club has been participating in for the past several years.

Miss Gisslar arrived in Memphis Sunday before last and appeared on the Rotary Club program last Tuesday. She spoke to the members about some of her previous travels to France, Italy, Germany, and several other European countries. After this, she presented the local club a plaque of friendship from the Vallinghy Rotary Club of Stockholm. Club President Mills Roberts then presented Miss Gisslar a life-time honorary membership to the local club.

A house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sim Goodall since her arrival, Miss Gisslar said she has been very busy since she has been in Memphis.

One of the highlights so far was watching Dr. O. E. Goodall perform surgery. Miss Gisslar is studying to be a medical doctor in Sweden, and has completed many of her basic courses in this field.

Other highlights Miss Gisslar named was attending the July 4 celebration in Clarendon and seeing a rodeo, and touring the Phillips Petroleum Co. refineries.

She is very happy to receive an invitation from M. K. Brown, philanthropist of Pampa, to have lunch with him at the Coronado Inn in Pampa Friday, and to tour the new Pampa hospital.

For Miss Gisslar's free week trip, she is planning to go to Houston to tour Baylor University Medical School.

On the lighter side, Miss Gisslar said she loves Texas foods, and especially steaks. She said she has been to a real American Drive-In, which she enjoyed.

"We don't have drive-in eating places in Sweden," she said. Miss Gisslar departed from Stockholm, Sweden, and went to Bremerhaven, Germany, where she boarded the Italian ship, "Aurelia," on June 18.

She said the ship would accommodate approximately 1,200 passengers, and 600 of those aboard were young people from all over Europe, and other countries coming to the United States. Many of these were other "experimenters" like Miss Gisslar, students from European countries brought to the United States for three months by the Experiment in International Living of Putney, Vermont.

This organization arranged for Miss Gisslar to come visit with the local Rotary Club, the sponsoring organization.

She arrived in New York on June 27 after "a wonderful 10-day trip" on the "Aurelia." She and 22 other students were taken on a three-day tour of New York, and were given several orientation programs.

She departed via Greyhound Bus Line, June 30, for Texas. She said her four-day bus trip was comfortable but a trifle tiring. She saw many beautiful sights, but was especially impressed with the turnpikes and pretty country. The most unpleasant place she saw was the slum area of St. Louis, Mo.

In answer to the question, "What are some of the things you like about the United States?" she said that the wonderful food, the big beautiful cars and the friendly people.

She explained that even though the Swedish people and the American people are similar in many respects, she believed that the people in Texas act much more friendly on the first meetings.

One of the surprises she said she experienced in arriving in the Texas Panhandle, was the absence of hills, or any mountains, and the abundance of vegetation.

"Where are the cactus plants?" she asked.

Miss Gisslar, who enjoys horseback riding, plans to visit several of the ranches in this area and hopes to find time to do some riding before her stay is completed. In Sweden she went horseback riding once a week.

German Student Slated To Arrive Here In Aug.

Mrs. David Aronofsky, chairman of the Memphis chapter of the American Field Service, announced this week that their application for a foreign student to live in Memphis for nine months and attend the local high school has been granted by the national organization.

She said that Heinz-Erich Ludemann of Allenhagen Bielefeld, Germany has been selected by the national organization to come to Memphis.

Ludemann is expected to arrive in New York harbor on Aug. 20, and will come straight to Memphis, she said. He will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Ace Gailley and family during the months he will stay here, Mrs. Aronofsky said.

Lindmann will be a senior student in Memphis High School, and is 5 feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 144 pounds, and has fair complexion.

Ludemann, who is of German nationality, lives in the Soviet Zone at Wismar with his grandparents, until the 'Popular Elections of 1957.' Due to the fact that his mother would have to quit teaching school, she and her son and daughter escaped to the West Zone.

His mother is now teaching in an elementary school at Alten-

gen and his sister is attending a secondary trade school.

He states that his favorite sport is swimming. His other sport is practicing judo, which is similar to jujitsu.

Among his hobbies are painting, stamp collecting and ship model building. He explains that his building of ships and library on maritime operations are in a way professional preparation as he has a desire to become an officer in the German Navy. Bill Leslie, who is treasurer of the local chapter, said the program is being made possible through the cooperation of several service clubs and individuals of the city.

The total cost of bringing the student to Memphis is $650, Mr. Leslie said.

"To date we have collected just $350; however, several clubs have promised to help with the project but have not as yet turned in their money," Leslie pointed out.

"We would be most appreciative of help on this project from any club or individual who would like to contribute," he added.

Checks may be mailed to Leslie or Mrs. David Aronofsky who is chairman of the local chapter.

Clubs which have made donations include the B. & P. W. Club, Delphian Club, 1913 Study Club and the Rotary Club. Organizations which have sent their contributions include the Stephen F. Austin PTA and the Simmons Noel Post of the American Legion.

The Atalantean Club has voted to sponsor a Memphis student at the cost of $350. A local student will be eligible for a three-month stay in Europe, beginning next summer.

All farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat in 1961 for grain, will be eligible to vote in the wheat marketing quota referendum to be held on Thursday, July 21, Lynn McKown, manager of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced this week.

With record supply and carry-over in prospect, farmers will vote July 21 for the eighth successive year on whether to have a system of marketing quotas for the 1961 wheat crop.

If quotas are approved as a result of the two-thirds favorable vote, producers who stay within the acreage allotted for their farms will be eligible for the full announced level of price support on their entire production which will be not less than 75 per cent of parity, McKown said.

The support rate in Hall County for 1960 wheat was $1.80 per bushel. Producers who exceed their farm acreage allotments will not be eligible for price support and will be subject to marketing quota penalties if (1) they have more than 15 acres for harvest, or (2) they have not signed applications for exemption under the feed wheat program, he said.

If quotas are not approved by wheat growers in the referendum, the law provides a wheat price-support level at 50 per cent of the July 1, 1961, parity for producers who stay within their acreage allotments. There will be no penalties for excess production, McKown said.

Polling places will be maintained in the six ASC communities from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. in the following locations:

Lesley, Adams Grocery Store, with Joe N. Berry chairman; Lakeview, rear First National Bank, with Del E. Wells chairman; Plaska, Cawfield Grocery with Ernest E. Foster chairman; Memphis, ASC office, with Clifton E. Burnett chairman; Estelline, Paymaster Gin Office with Carl Hill chairman; and Turkey, City Hall, with Alga Turner chairman.

All eligible wheat farmers and their wives are urged to vote their preference on July 21, McKown concluded.

Memphis Owls Have 7 All-Stars

selected as alternates. Honorary players selected were Wallace Campbell and Joe Merrell.

District playoffs will be held between the all-stars of Childress, Berger and Pampa, and will be held in Childress.

There will be two-game elimination between the three teams, starting at 8 p. m. Tuesday, July 19, according to Henry Crow, Memphis manager, and Wiley Shires of Childress.

Rev. O. B. Herring, pastor of the First Methodist Church, read the double-ring ceremony in the presence of close friends and relatives. The nuptial space was decorated with greenery, floor baskets of white gladioli and branched candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

The President of the United States by proclamation has called on the people of the nation: urban, rural, and others to observe this week beginning July 24 as National Farm Safety Week.

The theme of Farm Safety Week this year is "Enjoy Life—Practice Safety." The injury and death from accidents continue to be higher among farm people than from the rest of the population, and it is expected this year that one farm family in four will suffer a serious accident to one of its members.

Texas ranks in the top 10 states from deaths by drownings, firearms, burns, and electricity. Machinery causes 24 per cent of the deaths on farms, drownings 24 per cent, firearms 16 per cent, falls 5 per cent, blows 3 per cent, animals 4 per cent, burns 7 per cent, electricity 4 per cent, lightning 3 per cent, and others 10 per cent.

The supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District urge all families who work and play on farms to be alert to dangers that affect their families, all organizations of families, and all persons with agriculture to join their efforts to begin this new decade the sixties with a good record on farm safety.

Check machinery, electrical and farm ponds for good measures, and above all practice the rules of safety, was the message.

W. (Gus) Ferguson was in Stamford last week to attend the annual Texas Cowboy Reunion. This is the 28th consecutive year that Ferguson has been present at the reunion. In fact he has attended one reunion and that was in 1932 when he was in a North hospital.

His story, along with pictures, appeared in the Fort Worth Telegram on July 4.

Ferguson, a railroad employee, Mr. Ferguson will be 86 years old next month. Gus possesses a remarkable memory. He admits, "I remember everything about the days, but something that happened last week sorta gets me. I had my first breakfast in Stamford, Oct. 21, 1890, and New Year's Day dinner in Abilene in 1891", he quickly recalled.

Gus was born in Arkansas in 1874 and moved to Texas four years later. After a grocery store job and punching cows for W. E. Raynor in Stonewall County, he began an office job for the railroad in Stamford in 1903.

"I've seen changes in just about everything. We used to have 12 passenger trains a day through Stamford in the early 1900's, but now there's hardly one," he said.

He retired the last day of June in 1939 and eight years ago moved here where he lives with a brother-in-law, A. B. Hickey. His wife died several years ago and they had no children.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Widener and family spent Sunday afternoon in Plainview with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Yarbrough and Larry, Lonnie Widener Jr., who spent a week with the Yarbroughs, returned home Sunday with his parents. Sandra Yarbrough of Plainview is visiting with the Widener family for a few weeks.

Council Sets Date Of Aquatic Camp For July 17-23

The annual Aquatic Camp of the Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, has been set for the week of July 17-23. The camp will be at the Council Camp, Camp Kiawah, near Canadian, and will consist of an intensive week of work on the waterfront.

Scout skills taught at this camp will be limited to work on the swimming, rowing, canoeing, and life saving merit badges and work on the coveted Scout Life Guard rating.

The camp will be set up as a provisional troop which means that Scout troops and Explorer posts who have boys at the camp will not also have to furnish their own adult leadership with the boys.

The camp is open to any Boy Scout or Explorer who has passed his first class swimming test. A fee of $15 covers the cost of all meals and materials that the boys will need while at camp.

A typical day at Aquatic Camp consists of beginning with a good breakfast cooked by the camp cooks and then hitting the waterfront for a morning of learning and practicing swimming, rowing, canoeing and lifesaving skills. After a hot lunch and a rest period, the boys will return to the waterfront for more swimming and boating.

The camp is limited to 48 boys who are being registered on a first come, first served basis and is rapidly being filled by advance registrations from boys throughout the Adobe Walls Council area. Scouts are asked to contact their scoutmasters for applications.

Wheat, Coffee and Expropriation

Two items mentioned in a recent issue of the publication "Foreign Crops and Markets" should cause concern on the part of those persons who are interested in the future of agriculture.

The first, carried under the title, "Brazil to Trade Coffee for Russian Wheat," is as follows: "The Brazilian Coffee Institute, the Brazilian Wheat Conclusive Commission, and the Bank of Brazil reportedly have completed arrangements to exchange about 20,000 tons of Brazilian coffee for 150,000 tons of Russian wheat (valued at $10 million) to be delivered in July, August and September. The wheat must be of guaranteed good quality."

Under this title, "Cuban Government Takes Over Meat Wholesaling," the following was published: "The National Institute of Agrarian Reform (INRA) began taking over the wholesale distribution of meat throughout all of Cuba on May 30. Three large slaughter houses in Havana and one in Matanzas had been taken over previously. INRA is now in the process of closing most of the smaller slaughter houses and concentrating production in the larger plants. The government takeover of privately owned cattle, land, buildings and equipment has continued on a large scale and most of the industry is now under government control."

From reported events, communism is continuing to make greater inroads in the Western Hemisphere. More and more the surpluses in agricultural products of this nation fail to be to friendly countries due to deals with the Russians. If there is one thing that could happen, it is that the United States can trade wheat for coffee.

Day by day more socialism is being reported from our neighbor, Cuba, located about 90 miles from our shoreline. In just a year and a half, the Castro regime has proven that he and his henchmen are making every effort to establish a communist state on the island. We have been reluctant to do much for fear of harming the economic position of the Cuban people. But the headlines are causing the administration and Congress to take a firmer stand. We believe this is a step in the right direction.

Farm and Ranch Safety

Safety should be practiced every day of the year. This statement meets with no argument, but continued repetition is necessary.

Right at this time emphases is being placed upon safety on the farms and ranches of the nation, as the week of July 24-30 will be set aside as Farm and Ranch Safety Week.

Texas ranks to high among the other states in the number of farm accidental deaths, according to statistics. Most of these are caused by drowning, firearms, burns and electricity.

Another phase which is causing much concern is the increase in accidental deaths from work and recreational activities on farms. This is increasing each year, and corrective measures are in order. Among the human failures, which are causing death, might be listed excessive haste, unsafe equipment, improper care and use of equipment, lack of knowledge, and improper attitude. Also pointed to are these: incompetence, anger, false confidence and thoughtlessness. Attention has been called to the above by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, which cooperates with other state and national groups. All are seeking the cooperation of all rural families, ministers, service organizations and individuals in an effort to cut down the number of deaths occurring upon farms.

The question is asked by the Safety Council: "Accidents do not happen; they are caused. Why cause them?"

What Other Editors Say

Flab and the People

If one were to search the dictionary for a single word which best described the men and women who built our nation, we think that perhaps they might choose the word "strength."

Our forefathers had strength of mind, strength of character, and strength of spirit. They refused to knuckle under the domination of colonial powers. They stoutly abstained from compromise on all principles of human freedom. They had strong backs to carve from a wilderness of trees, rocks, streams, mountains and deserts the greatest political and economic organization ever assembled by the hands of man.

Now, if you were asked to choose a single word which would best describe the man and woman of America today, what would that word be? Our choice is, and we do not say this proudly, "flab."

Americans have grown flabby in three vital spots. These are: Moral Flabbiness — The morality of early day Americans, that was built upon the bedrock of Christian principles, has been replaced by a slipshod collection of rules for behavior which spring from experience rather than from ideals and convictions.

Today a man is not so much governed by what he considers right or wrong so much as he is governed by the rules which may be set forth in "company policy," or "professional ethics."

Whereas an American used to be proud of the claim that his word was as good as his bond, today we find that a man is taken for a sucker if he ever makes any type of agreement with any other person without first having it in writing and then making sure that the contract is iron clad.

In the way that we live, we are more concerned in finding out the things that we can do and "get away with it" than we are about the rightness or wrongness of these acts.

Mental Flabbiness — Original individual thought used to be one of the hallmarks of American culture. In the not too far distant past, citizens used to pride themselves in being able to think through their own solutions and to not find it necessary to depend on others to do their thinking for them.

This did not mean that Americans were above taking advice, but it did mean that they didn't want anyone else running their business. Today we allow others to motivate our own ideas when we fail to use our own thought processes.

Admittedly, it does take a lot of effort just to think, but it is the most important single thing that a man can do. If a man does not think for himself, then there will be someone who will think for him, and this is the most insidious system that is possible.

The result is that today instead of using our brains for clearing houses for creative thinking, we are using them as recreation rooms. We are throwing open our minds to entertainment rather than information. Entertainment ever stimulates. It is a thought depressant.

Physical Flabbiness—Even with the greatest standard of living in the world, and dietary privileges that permit the typical American to consume almost anything he chooses, American men and women are among the world's most "rundown" peoples, physically speaking.

Needless to say, our poor physical condition is not the result of overwork; nor is it the result of insufficient exercise. We are physically flabby because we lack self control. We lack the will to improve ourselves, and we lack a challenge.

The California idea that a lot of hair on a man's head was more to be desired than a lot of hair on his chest is symbolic of our lethargy toward physical fitness.

If America has gone from strength to flab in the span of only two generations, then what will the next development be?

Bewildered Americans

Americans, of necessity injured to setbacks on the cold war front, still cannot help but be bewildered by the recent series of events which has plunged this nation's prestige, in the world's eyes, to the lowest point in any living person's remembrance.

The United States has seen its president nastily snubbed by a boorish Soviet premier. The nation has been subjected to outrageous, derogatory taunts by a wild-eyed young revolutionary in Cuba whose head has been turned by Russian courting. And to cap it all, a visit by the U. S. president to Japan had to be cancelled because the Nipponese government feared for his safety in the face of threats by Communist mobs.

It's recognized that since the death of John Foster Dulles, President Eisenhower has, in a sense, become his own secretary of state. He has found that a grin and a smile, which proved so effective at the American polls, won't work miracles in the field of international relations.

Since Mr. Dulles' death, President Eisenhower has relied on personal diplomacy to carry this nation through one of its most critical periods of international relations. He daringly placed his personal prestige on the line with our

Besty Walkers Visit Family Here This Week

Besty Walker, assistant football coach at the University of Washington, is visiting this week with her mother, Mrs. E. E. Walker, and her sister, Miss Zady Belle Walker, his wife, Gwen, and their two daughters, Penny and Betty, arrived in Memphis Friday and are expected to stay through Thursday.

Besty explained that on the coach's staff of the University of Washington, out of the seven coaches, five of them are from Oklahoma. On the staff of Texas A & M, the coach is Jim Owens, former coach at Texas A & M, and Bert Clark of Pampa, Bert Clark of Wichita Falls, and Dick Heatman of Mangum, Okla.

Besty Walker said that one of the best high school teams he ever coached was the 1934 MHS squad which lost at region to Lamesa. A former MHS coach, recalling in memory, said the team was composed of Ross Springer, Fred Sanders, It, Winfred, Charles Champion, c, Bourland, r, Salty Grimes, G. C. Baskerville, re, on the backfield was composed of Jack Norman, qb, Dennis Norman, lb, Norman Deason, fb, Pester Grimes, rh.

Besty Walker said that the team weighed 28 pounds on average, however, they were able to lead 20-18 at the start of the last period. Champion got put out of the game from a fight instigated by Lamesa boy, and Jack Norman received a slight hip injury, called. The result was that the team could not hold the Lamesa in the last quarter.

Besty answered the question as to some of the fondest memories in football. "I had some of the greatest thrills while playing football in Memphis High in the early 20's with Sug Hubert, Dennis and Frank, and the other team members. Walker is a 1924 MHS graduate. He attended Hardin College, where he played football.

Besty was coach at Phillips School for a number of years before he accepted the assistant coach's job at the University of Washington.

Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Borger, read the double-ring ceremony before a nuptial space decorated with greenery flanked by floor baskets of white and orchid gladioli.

Pre-nuptial selections were played by Mrs. Sherry Taylor of Alamogordo, N. M., organist, sister of the bridegroom. She also accompanied Mrs. A. L.
