Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

A number of doctors had discussed with me the possibility of a Federal law providing free clinical treatment for drug addicts. Their point was that by doing away with the huge profit to illegal dealers, the narcotic problem could be substantially reduced. They explained to me that the actual cost of the drugs was infinitesimal. Hence, they argued that if the hopeless addicts and those who were still within the realm of being cured, could obtain free treatment, the cost to the government would be far less than the present cost of enforcement of criminal laws applicable in such cases. They further argued that such a program, by destroying the illegal and high profits, would leave these illicit dealers without customers and therefore destroy them. Other points raised were to the effect that such a program would help to solve much of the crime that was being committed by addicts for the purpose of obtaining sufficient money to pay the high prices exacted for the illegal drugs. Also, that once the program got under way the present addicts would not be trying to get new customers for the dealers who were supplying them.

These doctors felt that the more rigid criminal laws which have been adopted in recent years would not get to the root of the problem because it was primarily a health problem.

I wrote to the American Medical Association and asked for the views of that group on this subject. This organization advised me on March 29th that its Council on Mental Health did not believe that the problem of narcotic addiction could be solved merely by removing "the profit to the dealer," and that such approach to the problem by some physicians was mistakenly interpreted as that of the American Medical Association. The Association advised that a study was being made of the possible substitution of civil actions rather than criminal actions with relation to the commitment of addicts. It recommended that where civil commitment procedures could be used, criminal sentences for addicts who are guilty only of illegally obtaining and possessing opiates, marihuana and cocaine should be abolished. It also recommended that criminal sentences for illegal sale of narcotics should be retained but persons who are addicts and who are sentenced for such offenses should have the same opportunity for probation and parole as is afforded offenders against other laws.

A joint committee of the American Bar Association and the American Medical Association studied the problem and this study was the subject of an editorial in the January 31, 1950 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. In that editorial it was stated as follows:

"The situation in Europe differs from that in the United States in at least three ways: the number of known addicts is much smaller than in the United States, so the problem is far less acute; the laws are far less severe than those provided by our recent laws; there is more disposition on the part of the legal authorities to regard the problem as a primarily medical one and to turn a larger portion of it over to the doctors."

This observation was the result of a study of the European situation which was, no doubt, prompted by the fact that proponents of the clinic plan had argued that the United Kingdom has only a very minor problem of opiate addiction, primarily due to the fact that there was no artificial barrier between the physician and the addict; that is, in England it is possible for a physician to maintain an addict on narcotics under certain circumstances.

The joint ABA-AMA report was clearly skeptical that there was an easy solution along the lines of clinical distribution of drugs, but indicated that they were tempted by the possibility of a limited experiment conducted by experts to shed more light on this important aspect of the problem. The editorial referred to in the Medical Journal advocated an extension of the medical attack on the narcotic problem by the establishment of out-patient clinics devoted to the problem in the centers of population where addiction is prevalent.

There is much more that could be said on this subject, but time and space will not permit here. I did want to call it to your attention because of its gravity. It is a responsibility which we in this country must face. We should not be disheartened by the progress that we have made; however, our progress must be increased. During World War I it was discovered in selective service examinations that there was one addict in 1,500 draftees. This is considerable progress, but I am sure all of you join with me in the hope that the percentage can be reduced much more.

FHA Reports New Activity In Housing Loans

The farm housing loan program of the Farmers Home Administration is picking up new momentum, not only throughout the nation, but here in Hall County.

That's the word from Charles Brown, county supervisor in charge of the agency's lending program here. He said this renewed farm housing loan activity follows the early February announcement that an additional $50 million is now available to the Farmers Home Administration for its 4 per cent loans to farm owners to build or repair farm houses and essential farm buildings.

struction in public speaking, the use of visual aids, conducting panel discussions and was refreshed on the Army's mission and the NATO alliance.

Morris, assigned to the 59th Chemical Company in Mannheim, will assist in presenting weekly troop information topics to members of his unit.

He entered the Army in March 1950, completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark., and arrived overseas in March 1950.

The 20-year-old soldier is a 1958 graduate of Memphis High School.

Such a loan may extend over a 33-year period.

The new loan money broke up a log-jam of applications that were being held because funds had been exhausted. Nationwide, loans are now being processed at the rate of about $5 million a month but indications point to a probable doubling of that pace.

In this area Brown said he looks for the main demand to continue to be for loans for new construction, although farm owners may need the credit to repair or remodel dwellings, put in modern kitchens, install pressure water supply systems, central heating, bathrooms, and other conveniences. Other uses include buildings, repairing, or modernizing barns, dairy and poultry facilities, and other farm service buildings. Farm owners find much of this type of construction necessary to cope with changing agriculture conditions.

Brown pointed out that byproducts of this loan program include employment of unskilled labor and increased business for concerns that handle building materials and equipment items.

Eligible to borrow are owners of farms that annually will produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use on 1944 prices, but who are not being adequately financed through other sources.

WANTED a home in 1981

Kids just naturally grow up... and they do it fast. The kids the age of the little girl in our picture will be wanting a home in 1981. We hope she has a home (run by electricity, of course) in 1981 and that her home life is a happy one. We also hope she has something else as well — a strong, free nation — where she has a right to get ahead under her own steam and will always be secure!

Investor-owned companies, like West Texas Utilities Company, are working hard to see that this little girl's "wants" come true in 1981. Each year, WTU spends thousands of dollars and uses thousands of man-hours planning ahead to be sure we can supply the ever increasing demands for electric energy. In a private enterprise nation, this is our job! We are going to do a good job for our little girl.

AT HOME TODAY

By the time the little girl's home today, she can enjoy electric lighting at a very economical cost. For instance — the average family, served by WTU, can cook a complete meal for less than 1¢ with a modern electric range. If you are not using an electric range, you owe it to your "little girl" to investigate this modern method of cooking today.

MR. AND MRS. BARRY PHILLIPS

Miss Carolyn Bailey Becomes Bride Of Lloyd Barry Phillips Saturday

A double ring ceremony united in marriage Miss Carolyn Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bailey of Childress, and Lloyd Barry Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Phillips of Memphis, at 6:00 P.M. on Saturday, April 8, at the home of the groom's parents, 713 South 7th Street.

The Rev. Fern A. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated.

Wedding vows were exchanged before an improvised altar in front of the fireplace. A large basket of snowballs and white French lilies formed the background. Candelabra holding white tapers, and urn-style white vases filled with white lilies and iris flanked either side of the center arrangement on the mantle. Similar arrangements were used throughout the entertaining rooms.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Patti Patton Doherty, cousin of the groom, who also accompanied Miss Nancy Smith as she sang "True Love."

Misses Sharon Smith and Nellie Pierce served as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of pink lace over taffeta with scalloped hemlines of ballerina length, and small hats designed of flowers of matching color.

Gilbert Bailey was best man and groomsmen was Porter Lambert.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her brother, Ronnie Bailey of Amarillo, wore a gown of white brocaded taffeta. It was styled with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. The tapered sleeves were three-quarter length and the bouffant skirt was ballerina length. Her shoulder-length

Miss Tommye Noel of Denton Gives Fine Arts Program at Local Club

The members of the 1913 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. R. S. Greene the afternoon of April 7 for a fine arts program featuring Miss Tommye Noel of Denton, as guest artist.

Miss Noel, a gifted artist in her own right and well known for her portraiture of pastel chalks and oils, was most ably qualified by training and experience to speak on "Old Masters and Contemporary Artists." Assisted by her aunt, Mrs. M. G. Tarver, as narrator and a beautiful array of colored prints representing various eras of art techniques, Miss Noel delighted her audience with a comprehensive analysis of oil painting for the past four hundred years.

Beginning with the sixteenth century, the eve of the Renaissance period, through the Byzantine, Baroque, and Rococo stages of artistic progress, she explained the "old masters" and the foundation they so carefully laid for the contemporary artists who followed after. Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, Raphael, Botticelli, Rembrandt, Reubens were only a few of the famous artists whose works were evaluated during the pleasant hour's program.

A short business session conducted by the club president, Mrs. W. C. Davis, preceded the afternoon's program. The members voted unanimously to cooperate with the Federation endorsed program for the prevention of "uterine cancer" and Mrs. Bobby Dick Hutcherson was welcomed to membership in the club.

During the social interlude, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to three guests, Mrs. Allen Grundy, Mrs. Gayle Greene and Mrs. John Deaver; and the following members: Mesdames Richard Avery, Virginia Browder, Bray Cook, L. G. DeBerry, W. C. Davis, T. J. Dunbar, F. W. Foxhall, R. S. Greene, A. H. Hull, Ed Hutcherson, D. L. C. Kinard, R. C. Lemons, Clyde Milam, Joe Montgomery, Paul Montgomery, Mills Roberts, M. G. Tarver, Carl Yancey, Allen Dunbar, Ace Gailey and O. L. Helm.

MINUTE MEDITATION

Only a part of our frail humanity that causes us to seek a manifestation of our relationship with that which is weak and temporary. We need not be morbid or bemoan our frailty. Our problems are valuable. Our strength; it is our weakness that makes us need of God. Concerning Paul's weakness. "My grace is sufficient for thee: my strength is made perfect in weakness. Wherein we would be in danger of feeling something in ourselves. Wherein we would be in danger of feeling something always went well with us, we could forget God. Wherein we would be in danger of feeling something, sickness and difficulties help us to see that we become something worth while only in God. Contributed by— Cecil E. Food Cost Increase

Many city dwellers in this nation have been led to believe that included in the rising living costs is an increase in the cost of food. However, national figures substantiate that during the past 10 years, rent, medical care, transportation and dozens of other things have gone up twice as much as food.

This a point frequently emphasized by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman during his brief term in office, and it is apparent he wants to have it repeated again and again.

For understanding of the farm problem, says the secretary, "I am convinced that success depends in no small measure" on how well the message can be carried to the non-farm public.

"Evidences of this need for greater understanding abound," he has pointed out. Only recently a Gallup Poll revealed that the most frequent complaint on the part of the general public was concern about the increased cost of food; yet the fact is that costs of rent, medical care and transportation have increased twice as much as that of food during the past ten years.

"The relatively slight rise in food costs has been one of the principal non-inflationary aspects in our economy in recent years. If the prices received by farmers had increased in proportion to other prices, and if such increase had been passed on to consumers, Americans would pay billions of dollars more each year for food and clothing. And thus, in a very real sense all American consumers have gained, at the expense of the American farmer.

"But there is so little general public understanding of these facts that we must, in effect, become salesmen for American agriculture. We must develop a recognition on the part of the general public of the contributions made by agriculture to the high standards of living we enjoy—and a public understanding of the importance of a sound farm program, not only to farmers, but to all Americans.

"As long as two thirds of the people of the world are hungry, the problem of our agricultural surplus is a world problem as well as a problem of our farm states. As long as millions of Americans lack adequate standards of nutrition in their diets the problem of stored foodstuffs is more than one of the storage costs to taxpayers and price supports to farmers—it is an integral part of our effort to improve consumption and distribution.

"As long as competent and efficient farmers, utilize the modern methods and scientific advances that have made American agriculture outstandingly successful, are unable to earn a fair return for their capital and labor, we have no sound and permanent health in our economy."

Something For Nothing

A lesson of life that most of us learn at great expense, and sometimes great annoyance, is that people do not appreciate what they get for nothing.

People are often dissatisfied with "bargain" merchandise and sometimes wish they had paid more and received more. Sometimes merchandise is sold below what it is actually worth and the buyer gets a bona fide bargain. But all too often this buyer has the feeling that his merchandise is not quite as good as it should be and isn't satisfied with it.

They say that actors hate to play benefit performances because audiences are apt to be more critical of a free performance than one for which the actor is paid. It is a long standing joke that the loudest critics of the theatre are those who got in on a pass.

Much of our so called "loss of prestige" in the world today can be traced to this "something for nothing" quirk of human nature. Most of the people in Europe and Asia who have benefitted from our foreign aid program resent it. We would no doubt have been better off if these gifts could have been made in the form of loans and preserved the recipients' self respect.

We generally feel closer to someone who gives us a loan rather than someone who gives us a gift. The donor of a gift is, after a while, felt to be rich (giving his money away to ease his conscience) while the maker of a loan is felt to be friendly.

We resent one-sided obligations to any person, and favors that we cannot repay soon become psychological burdens.

People who suddenly become rich find, to their amazement, that their former friends become cool toward them. This is simply because the newly rich can now distribute "gifts" which their less affluent friends can not return. This builds up a feeling of resentment on their part.

Whatever is worked for and paid for, either in money or in suffering, is held valuable.

That which comes cheaply is held in cheap regard.

Government "aid" comes under this category. Government grants to states, or communities, are not always received in a spirit of thanksgiving and appreciation. Too often, these gifts are received with the attitude that "it's no more than they ought to do" and immediately the recipient begins to look around for something else to demand.

Something for nothing—there just ain't no such thing. All of us learn this truth—some of us learn it sooner than others.

Containment

Communist East Germany is building a 350-mile barrier of concrete, electrified barbed wire and mine fields, sealing its border with West Germany. Communist officials, now in a "decisive fight" to stem the flow of refugees (2.5 million have fled west in the past decade), proudly say the border will be virtually escape-proof.

The experts are interpreting this to mean Russia has rung down the curtain on German unification and intends to revive pressure on West Berlin.

To us, however, the real significance is that the wall is not so much to keep our people out as to keep their people in.

MARBLES, DO KIDS PLAY ANYMORE?

What Other Editors Say

College Student Conservatives
Raymond Moley recently speculated on the "new conservatism" among college students in his Newsweek Magazine column.

He pointed out that "Goldwater Clubs" are springing up thicker than fleas on a country dog's back. "The professors . . . men of 40-plus . . . are liberal," Ray says, but the Kiddies interested in public affairs are "conservative."

One's general impression from Moley's . . . and other recent articles and editorials . . . is that a lot of 1961 college boys are just ranting and having to go out and do or die all by themselves.

They are pictured as being revolted by "security," disgusted by "pensions," sickened to the heart by all kinds and degrees of government supervision and thrown into a regurgitational tizzy at the idea of anybody helping anybody.

To answer Mr. Moley's question "Why" . . . these youngsters were born just before or just after the year 1940. They have had no experience with the killing Depression which seared the very souls of young and old alike in the preceding decade. They have had no experience in pounding the sidewalks, checking in for work at 7 and being sent home at 9:15, living weeks and months with no income whatsoever or working a 60 hour week for wages which cannot even be imagined today. Many of them think "$8000 per year" is one of the Articles of the Constitution.

The A.P. stated, early this week, that 25,000 rowdy young students have descended on Fort Lauderdale, Florida, to spend their Easter vacations. This implies folding cash in well-tailored jeans, Thunderbird and Buick convertibles and other assets which the generation of the 1930's cannot afford YET. It also implies a lot of boys and girls thrown into close and drunken contact, which a lot of parents are fools to work to finance.

Conservation may be a wonderful thing. But we wonder how many of those 25,000 youngsters raising the roof at Fort Lauderdale are really conservative and how many are just plain stupid on the subjects they are pronouncing about? It is easy to be conservative in a convertible, with a hundred bucks in your pocket and Daddy available to wire more.

The writer would be interested if this recession became a depression, in checking . . . in say 1965 . . . on how many of these youngsters still wanted to buck it alone.

Past history indicates that most of them would be pushing to man the barricades. Poor youngsters expect hard times. Spoiled youngsters cry like babies.

That was what happened to the sleek and slick graduates of the 1920's. Their conservative tendencies vanished, during the 1930's, as they howled . . . like everyone else . . . "Somebody do sumpin'."

Goldwaterism can make one a Big Wind at the Country Club but it puts no dimes in the piggy bank or gas in the (by Depression Time) 13 year-old car.

The papers say, incidentally, that these young warriors have been shouting, "Bring out the National Guard." They should think twice. If the Florida Guard should be called out, it will mean that the very ordinary working men in the Guard will have to leave families, jobs, dates, Easter plans. Under such conditions a broody Guardsman might jab a bayonet right into some little darling's "lower back."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor of the Memphis Democrat: Sir: It seems to me like the time has come when the people of Hall County are going to have to stand on their hind legs and say what they think. I believe the majority of the people in Hall County will have enough Americanism to give every fellow the right to his own opinion and to express what he believes and says, especially if he has good and just reasons for thinking the way he does. BUT, on a question of general and public interest, the general public needs to know who thinks how and why. In my opinion, this is primarily true of the question of the proposed Hall County Hospital.

is strong opposition to the building of a Hall County Hospital yet, to the best of my knowledge, there has never been anything in public print since the bond election was held and passed and since the election was contested and found to be legal, valid, etc., as to just who is opposed to the idea and why. I think your newspaper could help resolve this issue to a logical conclusion and in so doing, render a valuable community service or at least present information which is wide community interest.

The majority of the people who voted in the bond election said, in effect, that they wanted a County Hospital built. If the will of the majority of the voters is not going to be carried out, then I think they are entitled to some explanation. If there are good and logical reasons why we should not go forward with this project as rapidly as possible, then the people who voted for the bond issue should know them. AND, the people who propose that we back down on the idea of building a Hall County Hospital should make public the information as to just how this will be done, after the bonds are already issued and sold. Seems to me like the Commissioners Court is in a switch on this matter and I think it behooves all the people in the county to get together and take the monkey off their backs, one way or another.

It is difficult for me to see how any good, straight thinking person in Hall County can deny the fact that Hall County needs a real good hospital. In principle, I am not a "Gimicrat" but I am convinced that the only way Hall County can ever have a topflight hospital is by taking advantage of the Hill-Burton Federal aid. So, I feel the need is urgent enough that we should go ahead and take advantage of this one and only opportunity to fill the urgent need.

If the Hall County Hospital, as planned, is built; it will give every man, woman and child in Hall County (and quite a few people outside of Hall County) access to better hospital facilities, closer to them than they now have provided. The hospital is properly planned, built, operated and maintained and I believe the present Commissioners Court (and any future Court we elect) has the intelligence to appoint people to guide the activities of a Hall County Hospital who have intelligence enough to see that it is built, operated and maintained in such a manner that it will be a great asset to all the people of Hall County.

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH District News Hall County Soil Conservation

Most people plan for the future—for the education of their children, for their own progress and security, for their old age—sometimes some of us plan too late.

Everyone plans you hear it every day. "I plan to build a new barn, We plan to save our money for a vacation." Each one of these plans contain problems, needs, and goals.

Now is the time to plan your farm or ranch for the future. What is your farm or ranch going to look like 20 or 30 years from now? If you do not plan to establish soil and water conservation measures it may be in bad shape. The Hall County Soil Conservation District was established by local farmers and ranchers in 1941 to assist farmers and ranchers in carrying out soil and water conservation measures over a period of years.

The first step in developing a soil and water conservation plan for your farm or ranch is to contact your Soil Conservation Service personnel or your Hall County Soil Conservation District Supervisor. A complete soil and land capability map will be made of your farm or ranch. This is an inventory of your soil resources on the basis of texture, depth, and slope.

The next step a conservation plan will be fitted together for the farm or ranch in a pattern so that each acre of land is used within its capabilities and treated in accordance with its needs.

Of course it may take a period of years to do all of the conservation work and it is the policy of the District to help him as much as possible each year. If you do not have a conservation plan for your farm or ranch—Now is the

Will Writes from Austin

By WILL EHRLÉ
State Representative
88th District

AUSTIN—A very ugly head reared itself in the Legislature this week. The issue was separation of church and state.

I was shocked, surprised and disappointed when Representative Tom Shannon of Fort Worth was asked to resign his church positions and membership for supporting legislation contrary to his pastor's wishes.

Shannon voted for the bill allowing the Carling Brewing Co. to establish a new 20 million dollar brewery in Fort Worth.

Though Shannon's church is an independent one and is not affiliated with a conference or convention, this action revives one of the key issues of the past presidential election.

Some people were concerned with John F. Kennedy's religion. Not that they denied his right to be a Catholic, but they feared his religion might interfere with his charting the course of the nation from the presidency.

We've seen our President stand up for separation of church and state and as citizens we must trust the integrity of elected public officials to carry out the process of government without fear of retribution from the church. I don't believe that the President's church should excommunicate him for failing to follow its dictates; neither do I think Shannon's church should kick him out.

Opposed Bill
I vigorously opposed the brewery bill in the Liquor Regulation Committee, but I cannot condemn those who were sincerely in favor of its passage.

It should be known also that Shannon does not drink alcoholic beverages. He voted for the bill because he believed the majority of his constituents, the people he represents, want the new brewery in Fort Worth. This took courage on his part because he knew the majority of his church board opposed the measure on the grounds that increasing alcoholic beverage production is undesirable.

The Church's Role
This unfortunate incident brings us again to think where the roles of church and government begin and end.

I have always been in accord with my religion regarding legislation, and I feel sure it will never become necessary to clash with my church.

The role of the church is, I believe, concerned with the salvation of sinners and not to sit in judgement of a man's action or decisions.

If Shannon was wrong, his church should draw closer to his side in order to offer future help—not kick him out because he erred.

And it is the duty of government, as set forth by the founding father, to protect each citizen's rights in pursuing whatever religion he may choose.

Benson-Martin Nuptial Vows Are Solemnized In Clarendon April 1

Yvonne Benson, daughter of Santa Fe, N. M., son of Mrs. Aubrey Martin of Amarillo, was maid of honor and Misses Jackie Ashburne and Ann Dragen of Kansas City, Mo., were bridesmaids. They wore identical-styled dresses of yellow silk organza over taffeta with matching headpieces. Each carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Aubrey Martin was best man, and groomsmen were Jack Montgomery of Memphis and Don Reeves of Amarillo. Serving as ushers and candlelighters were Bernie Benson of College Station and Frank White III of Lubbock.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Benson chose a costume of Dior blue peau de soie with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Martin, mother of the groom, wore a beige silk dress accented by complimenting accessories and a corsage of green Vanda orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Patching Club house. The entertaining rooms were decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and stock. The bride's table was centered with a bouquet of yellow roses and white stock. Mrs. Benson poured punch while Mrs. Houston Bell served cake. Also assisting were Mrs. C. L. Benson, Jr., Miss Jacquie Bell and Mrs. T. D. Hall of Wichita Falls. Miss Connie Martin presided at the register.

Miss Martin was graduated from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where she was affiliated with Seta Tau Alpha social sorority. Prior to her marriage she was hostess for Trans-World Airlines. Mr. Martin attended Clarendon Junior College and was graduated from Texas Technological College. He is employed by Kaiser Industries in Santa Fe where the couple will be at home.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Martin were hosts at a rehearsal dinner at Mrs. Bromley's Dining Room on Friday evening to honor members of the Benson-Martin bridal party. A centerpiece of yellow jonquils and white stock made the table most attractive.

Out-of-town guests included E. A. Floyd and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Burch of Gainville, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Piland of Norman, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Don Reeves of Amarillo, Mrs. Vira Floyd, grandmother of the groom, Mrs. B. F. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reede and Patsy Ann, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Floyd and children, Betty Dwight and Dwaine and Miss Winnie Neighbors, all of Lakeview, Miss Shirley Martin of Amarillo, John Barber of Dumas, and Rev. and Mrs. Geo. Arthur and Vaughn of Lockney.

Home Ec Girls Honor Mothers With Luncheon Thursday

The first year Home Ec girls of Memphis High School climaxed the food unit Thursday, April 6, with a luncheon for their mothers.

The girls prepared all of the food which included ham salad, assorted relishes, hot rolls, a variety of filled cookies and iced tea.

Much enjoyment was evidenced by the mothers at the reversal of the order of routine with their daughters preparing and serving the meal and doing dish washing and kitchen cleaning. Mothers attending were given a chance to see the Home Ec laboratory.

According to Miss Berry, Home Ec teacher, the luncheon was an application of all the work studied this semester, including principles of nutrition, planning and preparing meals, correct serving and eating habits, as well as how to conserve food elements.

"The latter is most important because many minerals and vitamins are lost after the food is brought into the kitchen due to careless handling," she said.

An interesting study was made comparing the time and expense involved in the use of prepared, frozen or "boxed" foods, rather than preparing the individual's own recipes.

The unit was in recognition of two events, concluding the food unit and the national F. H. A. Week.

A Doctor's Doctor

A radiologist is a physician who specializes in the use of x-rays. His first task is to act as a consultant to other doctors, to advise them what x-ray examinations and films reveal about the internal condition of the doctor's patient.

Essential First Step

A Detroit radiologist, or specialist in the use of x-rays, said recently that x-ray examination of heart valves is valuable in detecting calcium deposits in and around the heart. The result is more accurate information about the heart's condition, the essential first step to better treatment.

The best time to water lawns and flower beds is in the evening and the best way to water is thoroughly, until the soil is soaked, and then again only when the soil again becomes dry. Rose plants are an exception and should be watered in the morning.

On Feb. 19, 1954, General C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps, broke ground for the Marine Corps War Memorial in Arlington, Va.

From latest figures, there were only 8,000 automobiles in the U. S. in 1900; 23,035,000 in 1930, and 60,000,000 today.

Student director is Wanda Langford.

Admission will be 50 cents for students, 75 cents for adults, and $1.00 for reserved seats. Alice Kay Young is in charge of reserve seat sales.

The production staff for the play includes: lights, Mike Chamberlain; sound effects, Don Watts; curtain, Gary Gillespie.

Reserve seats, Alice Kay Young, Shirley Kennon, Jimmy Dunn, Wayne Lesley; ticket desk, Lacy Montgomery, Reggie Curry; host on first floor, Dick Morgan; hostess on first floor, Shirley Kennon; host and hostess on second floor, Benny Spear and Jo Ann Widener; ushers, Jerry Parker, Barry Phillips, Kay Lemons and Murie Patterson; floater ushers, Juanita Lindsey and Sue Edwards.

A strike party will be held after the play for the members of the senior class at Carleen Harrison's home, it was announced.

Man-Woman Golf Tourney Planned For May 7-14

Country Club President Jack Norman announced this week that the club is scheduling a man-woman partnership Scotch golf tournament for the week of May 7-14.

The club held a similar tournament last year which was very successful, he said. The tournament will be held with eight teams in each flight. The tournament committee will determine the handicap of the man of the partnership, which flight the team will enter, also. Partners will alternate shots, he explained.

President Norman stated that there would be just as many flights as there are teams to fill them. Two days will be allowed for each match during the week of play, with the finals being held on Saturday and Sunday.

Entry fees will be $3 per team. Teams should contact any of the three members of the tournament committee to submit entry fees. The tournament committee is composed of Jack Norman, Frank Garrett and Bill Combs.

Also being planned, Norman said, is a family night to be held on Monday, May 8. Norman explained that May 7-11 was selected for the tournament because by that time the greens, which were recently top dressed, should be in good shape.

Cub Scout Meeting To be Tues. Night

A Cub Scout meeting will be held next Tuesday night, April 25, at 7:30 p. m. in the Travis Cafeteria, according to Joe Williams, Cubmaster.

Annual Drive For Cancer Society To Be Held Here

The annual house-to-house canvass for the American Cancer Society will be held here on Friday, April 28, Mrs. Herschel Combs, Hall County crusade chairman, announced this week.

The drive is being made by the five Federated Women's Clubs of the city. The canvass will begin at 6 p. m. with headquarters in the American Legion Hall.

Ben Parks, president of the local chapter, will be in charge of the funds collected and will be at the Legion Hall to take care of the donations as the workers report.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club will canvass the downtown section. Serving as chairman of this portion of the project will be Rosalyn Williams.

Nadine Baisden, publisher of the Turkey News, will serve as chairman for the Turkey area.

The research attack on cancer is the greatest and costliest single undertaking in medical history, President Parks said. The problem is so broad and so profound that virtually every branch of modern science is engaged in cancer research. As of Aug. 1, 1960, the American Cancer Society had national research awards totaling more than 17 million dollars.

The society in 1961 is helping to support research of about 1,300 key investigators working in 172 hospitals, universities and other institutions, plus thousands more of young men and women serving as technicians or being trained for larger responsibilities.

The goal is to find what causes cancer. To find how new ways to cure it; to find ways to prevent it; and to alleviate pain and suffering.
