Greenbelt Authority Is Expecting Feasibility Report Within 12 Weeks

Dr. S. H. Townsend, President, Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority of Childress, received a letter this week from Freese, Nichols and Engess, consulting engineers of Fort Worth, which stated that a feasibility report will be completed within ten to twelve weeks.

"We have now received all eight of the logs of the core bearings of the Collingsworth Dam Site on the Salt Fork of Red River. The logs of these borings, together with the topographic maps of the reservoir sites and the five year record of the quality of the river water, will enable us to complete the feasibility report on the Greenbelt Project," S. W. Freese stated in his letter.

"We have felt that at least five years of record of the chemical quality of the river water was needed before we could pass judgement on the feasibility of a municipal water supply reservoir on the Salt Fork," he said.

"The time required for obtaining a sufficient record of the quality of the water has been used to advantage by (1) securing the creation of the authority by the Legislature, (2) obtaining water rights from the State Board of Water Engineers, (3) the topographic mapping of the possible reservoir sites, and (4) the core bearing of two dam sites, all at a minimum cost to the member cities of the Authority.

Following the games, the 130 boys and their managers went to the City Park where the managers prepared hamburgers for the boys. All of the makings for the hamburgers were donated, coordinator Bob Martin said. A 200 foot film of the Friday games between the two teams were shown at the picnic.

The film will be shown again at Friday night's game following the last game, Martin said, because many of the parents of the boys were unable to see the film Tuesday night. The film was furnished by the Little League, and the

The people of Memphis are in for a real treat on Saturday, July 8, when the Chamber of Commerce's climax to "Auction Dollar Day" will be two big street shows. One show will be at 10:30 a. m. and the other will be at 3 p. m. just preceding the big free auction.

The Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development Retailers committee released a representative list of approximately $500 worth of merchandise and certificates which will be auctioned off Saturday afternoon by Auctioneer Bob Ayers.

The items on the list run from $10 to $30 in value. The items cover the following: numerous baskets of groceries, an electric blanket, table lamp, campers kit basket, beautiful mirror, a $30 electric can opener and knife sharpener for the kitchen, chair, barometer, and several trade certificates of $10 and $15 values given by several stores.

Manager Clifford Farmer said Wednesday that he had received a telegram from the "Country 'N' City Boys" informing him that there would be another musician with them for the two Memphis shows. This musician plays a violin.

Auction Dollars will be given out by Memphis cooperating merchants today, tomorrow and Saturday, up to the auction that afternoon. Residents are asked to save the Auction Dollars which they receive for each $1 purchase of merchandise, and be present at the big auction where their free auction dollars are just as good as money to purchase the many items of value.

"The Country 'N' City Boys" will give their performances on the Courthouse lawn in Memphis. Bob Bohm will play his stereophonic accordion, Jack Cannon will play his electric guitar, and two violinists will add their music. Jack Cannon is an international favorite whether he is playing good old fashioned hoe-down or playing the beautiful strains of a Viennese Waltz on his violin.

There are many valuable prizes offered for bidding and bidding will be done with the "Auction Dollars" that the merchants have been giving out. It costs nothing to participate in the unique auction and obtain wonderful prizes and have loads of fun.

The participating merchants may be identified by a large poster on display and a sticker on their door.

Texas Department Of Public Safety

(Editor's Note: Following is the fourth of a series of articles appearing in The Memphis Democrat detailing the evolution and organization of the Texas Department of Public Safety and the numerous vital services this agency provides for the people of Texas.)

Identification and Criminal Records Division — A Million Fingerprints, A Million Lawbreakers

Texas, like the rest of the nation, fought a rising crime rate during the past two years which was outstripping population increases.

The Identification and Criminal Records Division, which compiles and tabulates crime reports from over the state, reported that major crimes in Texas in 1960 increased 13.1 per cent over 1959.

This division plays a vital role in the battle against crime. It serves the State's law enforcement officers as a central gathering point of fingerprint and criminal records, stolen property reports and criminal intelligence as well as maintaining an up to date criminal laboratory.

Fingerprints

There are now on file over 1,000,000 individual sets of criminal fingerprints which are steadily becoming more valuable to local law enforcement. Between 16,000 and 18,000 of these individuals are wanted by some agency somewhere in the United States. Because criminal activity often is nationwide, the exchange of information throughout the country is essential in today's modern enforcement effort.

Records Section

During the two year period, September 1, 1958 through August 31, 1960, the Records Section received and processed 274,820 sets of fingerprints — 134,580 in 1959 and 140,240 in 1960. This number has increased over the years and indications are that it will continue to increase yearly.

Officers of Texas, the other states of the union, Canada and Mexico received 171,152 copies of the weekly law enforcement bulletin in 1959 and 188,258 copies during 1960. This bulletin enjoys the reputation as being one of the outstanding crime bulletins produced anywhere with reference to completeness of information and quality.

Further, the Records Station during the two years handled 25,495 stolen automobile reports, answered 51,903 inquiries of various nature, and mailed 318,808 copies of criminal record transcripts.

Modus Operandi Section

This section is the gathering agency of criminal case reports—110,449 received in 1959 and 83,668 in 1960. These are carefully scrutinized for characteristic trademarks of certain offenders. If the offense matches the operation of a known offender, the investigation can be centered on that one individual or a group of individuals. The offenses that are coded and cross-indexed include burglary, theft (where it appears a professional is involved), robbery, sex offenses and fraud.

The MO Section also keeps close tab on the "Who's Who" of the Texas underworld. This is done by disseminating their names, photographs, fingerprints, associates, mode of transportation, criminal speciality and any other pertinent data that may be of value to the field investigator. This section also furnishes each Department of Public Safety radio station with complete information concerning these known criminals and their associates.

Latent Fingerprints Section

Being rapped by fingerprints has always been a thorn in the side of the criminal. He uses every conceivable device to protect himself from this technical grip: He wears gloves, socks on his hands, or wipes the area of his illicit activities with a cloth before leaving.

Despite these precautions, the Latent Fingerprint Section remains very busy processing latent fingerprints. During the years 1959 and 1960, 2,592 latent fingerprints were checked by this section — 1,171 in 1959 and 1,421 in 1960. These were obtained from the processing of 5,921 different articles.

This two-man section assisted officers in 348 field investigations, ranging from theft and burglary to bank robbery and murder. So complete and damaging to the felon is their evidence that members of this section have found it necessary to appear in court as expert witnesses only 19 times during the two year period.

Besides laboratory and field work, this section has conducted schools on crime scene search for latent prints, identification of these prints, and other pertinent details of assistance to local agencies. This section has lectured or conducted 36 schools during the two-year period.

Chemical Laboratory

Identifying an unknown substance is truly a challenging task and often requires much time, equipment and knowledge to unfold the mystery. The Chemical Laboratory meets this challenge daily. It is divided into six regional labs where the more simple types of examinations are performed, and the headquarters lab where the complex examinations requiring extensive equipment and techniques are performed.

During fiscal years 1959 and 1960, this section worked on 9,481 cases that required 70,057 individual exacting examinations. Some of the examinations can be completed in several minutes, where some take as long as two weeks. Of the 71 different types of examinations conducted, the test for alcoholic content of blood and urine, identity of suspected narcotics and determining the presence of poison lead the list of total examinations. During this same period, the chemists and toxicologists made 1,023 appearances in court and instructed in 24 police schools.

Polygraph Section

Determining if a suspect is telling the truth or a lie by utilizing a scientific instrument is fascinating and often rewarding. The Polygraph Section is decentralized very similar to the chemical laboratory. There are six examiners in the field at two headquarters.

During the past two fiscal years, there was a total of 4,033 suspects tested. In the opinion of the examiners, 1,622 were untruthful and of this number 1,052 admitted their guilt; 2,094 were truthful and 277 examinations were inconclusive.

The number of suspects tested by the polygraph examiners is increasing steadily. In one year alone, 1960, the examiners cleared cases concerning 36 different types of offenses. There were 800 burglaries cleared, 615 thefts, 29 robberies, 14 murders and numerous other offenses. The examiners lectured at many police schools and assisted local law enforcement officers by working up composite photographs of wanted subjects.

Questioned Documents Section

Any person who has a pen, blank check and can write is a potential "Paper Hanger." Many members of the criminal element have made forgery their profession and have become rather proficient. The equipment, planning and finesse of some of these professionals would shock the layman. The Questioned Document Section, however, has been instrumental in bringing to justice these offenders who prey on the unsuspecting merchant. Of the 7,465 checks submitted to this section for examination, 65 per cent of them were identified as being written by certain suspects. The monetary value of these checks amounted to a staggering $625,283.41, an average of approximately $79.00 per check. Also numerous examinations were made of typewritten documents, printed documents, check protector impressions and paper water marks. During the fiscal years of 1959 and 1960, this section made 77 court appearances and lectured in 19 schools.

Photography Section

Photographic work in a crime lab is quite different from any other phase of photography, for the technician must be versatile and master several different techniques. Microphotography, parallel light and infra-red photography is common place in the police photographic laboratory. With the rather rapid advance in color processes this lab has increased its work in this line, with special emphasis on photographs used for presentation in court. During the past two fiscal years, 11,409 color transparencies and 3,116 color prints were made. Also, during the same period 369,205 black and white prints were made. In 44 cases the photo lab assisted in actual crime and accident investigations on 39 occasions. Personnel of this lab lectured in 21 police schools.

Firearms Section

Just like a fingerprint, each firearm and tool is an individual — when used, it leaves a characteristic mark that will identify it from any other. The Firearms Section received during the past two fiscal years 1,126 firearms to be examined to determine if they were connected with some crime. Along with this examination, 2,988 bullets and 1,963 cartridge cases were checked. In addition, 628 examinations were made on articles in an attempt to develop obliterated data, identify tools as ones used in some crime and comparison of plaster of paris casts. So necessary is this evidence in criminal prosecution, this section appeared in court on 66 occasions. Value of this evidence has been explained to law enforcement officers in 61 different schools.

Examples of Identification Science

On August 31, 1959, the Chemical Laboratory received by Air Express the clothing of a man who had been killed by a hit and run driver on a country road near Brownsville.

In a matter of hours, the investigating highway patrolman and deputy sheriff were advised by teletype that orange colored paint was present on the victim's trousers and on a broken key chain attached to a belt loop.

With this information, the patrolman noted an orange truck in the back yard of a nearby residence. The owner was removing the hood, the grill and the right front fender. These were brought to the laboratory in Austin where it was found that the paint on them was identical to the paint particles on the trousers and key chain.

This evidence was used in the suspect's trial, which resulted in a conviction for Failure to Stop and Render Aid.

The personal effects, clothing, false teeth, and both hands of an unknown deceased male were submitted to the division with the request that an effort be made to establish identity.

Examination of the false teeth lower plate revealed a name—a Veterans Administration number. Since the hands were in mummified condition the finger are removed and placed in separate beakers according to finger's number, in order that they would be kept in the proper sequence. Then the fingers were dipped in latex several times.

After the latex dried it was cast from the finger. Each cast was then placed on the donor's finger, inked and rolled a fingerprint card. The inked impression made with latex compared with the inked impression on a fingerprint card on which established positive identification.

The officer submitting the evidence in this case was then notified as to the identity of the deceased, his next of kin, and where they could be contacted so disposition of the body could be made.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can roll an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon... it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most... made by FORD... America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Sugar

Last week I introduced H. Res. 364. This Resolution calls for the creation of a Select Committee of Members of the House of Representatives to conduct an investigation of the sugar problem. I had hoped that this would be necessary, but after patiently watching blocking tactics employed by sugar interests who now have a strong hold on this part of our country, I concluded that the American people were going to be misled by the facts and the American farmer of his rights to produce sugar unless exceptional action was resorted to.

Obtaining passage of this Resolution will be no small task. The most powerful sugar interests resort to every possible device to maintain their control of this native business. Although the American farmer can produce more than enough sugar to meet the demands of this country, these interests are so powerful they are forcing importation of 45 per cent of our domestic supply, or approximately 4.5 million tons. At five cents a pound, this would amount to $450 million, which explains the jealousy which this control is guarded.

This year, Cuba was producing approximately three million tons of the approximate value of $300 million. This was taken from Cuba, but the sugar interests in control blocked the assignment of any of it to the American farmers; farmers who have been bitterly assailed as recipients of Federal subsidies, yet who are denied by law the right and the opportunity to produce a product which can be produced in abundance. The requirement that this country import 45 per cent of a product that can be produced in abundance by loyal, patriotic American citizens, cannot be justified. The American people have been misled to believe that the sugar problem is somewhat akin to the Einstein theory, thermo-nuclear energy, or cancer research, insofar as complexities are involved. The sugar interests would lead you to believe that it is a problem of such vast complications that it can only be understood by a scientist. I would warn you that the only science involved in the sugar problem is the science of a few monopolists lining their pockets with gold at the expense of the American farmer.

As I said, obtaining passage of H. Res. 364 will not be a simple task. But I would venture the prediction that if this Resolution is passed and the full facts surrounding the sugar transactions during the past several years are made public, it will produce a rather sordid picture.

Visitors

The tourist season is in full bloom in the Nation's Capital, and seems to grow more each day. On June 27th the record for visitors at the White House was broken.

HALF-PAST TEEN

On that day, 13,595 people walked through the President's home. I am sure that records have been broken at many other places of interest here in Washington, but very few of them keep registers or counts. The automobiles on the streets and highways reflect license plates from all of the 50 States, and many foreign countries. The need for extreme care on the part of those familiar with Washington driving is most important at this time of year.

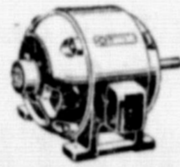

Washington is not an easy city in which to drive under ordinary circumstances. A visitor who gets caught in the rush hour traffic would do well to pull in somewhere and wait out the danger. Many visitors who have been here before come back by plane or train and do their travelling by taxicab. Many come by chartered bus and leave all of the headaches and worries to the driver. We had a most pleasant surprise when a busload of Lions (International, that is) who had attended a convention at Atlantic City came back through Washington and called us. We had a wonderful visit with a great bunch.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends for your kindness and sympathy in our loss. We appreciated everything that was done very much.

MRS. ADDIE HAMPTON

Mrs. Addie Hampton Receives 50 Year Award From Local Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Addie Hampton was presented with a Rebekah "50" year Veteran Jewel by the Rebekah Lodge No. 346 at a monthly Friendship dinner held June 26, in the I. O. O. F. Hall.

Mrs. Hampton came to Memphis in 1907 and joined the Lodge here April 17, 1911. Since that time she has held continuous membership and has served in all official capacities. Her honors include being Noble Grand, which she has been twice; member of the Past Noble Grand Club; and Degree Team from 1911 to 1948 which has won many honors and recognition. Members say she is considered the "mother" of the local lodge.

Members held an impressive and formal program in tribute to Mrs. Hampton. The lodge hall was decorated throughout with the chosen colors of pink and green and featured a decorated altar centered with an arrangement of pink roses and a numeral "50" flanked by

Bobby Adams' Are Honorees At Baby Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Adams were honorees at a baby shower Tuesday, June 27, at 4 p. m. in Methodist Fellowship Hall in Estelline.

The serving table was decorated with a handmade stork of styrofoam at the centerpiece. Cookies with safety pin storks atop completed the unusual decorations. Around the base of the stork were pink, yellow and blue flowers. Yellow napkins were used to serve dutch apple cookies and the yellow punch.

The gift table was centered with another stork and huge styrofoam ABC blocks and yellow jonquils.

Mrs. Gerald Fowler registered the guests, who also gave suggestions for the name of the new baby.

The program consisted of two poems, "What Is a Boy" by Mrs. Gerald Fowler and "What Is a Girl" by Sandra Wood and two games. The first game was unscrambling words. Mrs. James Spence, formerly Opel Richburg, of Houston won this game and presented the prize, a rattle, to the honoree. The other game was a matching game of mothers and babies. The prize, a baby bottle, was won by Mrs. Longbine who presented it to Mrs. Adams.

Hostesses were Meses. D. T. Eddins, Elam Orcutt, Rab Holland, A. H. Jones, L. A. Tucker, Lura Marcum, Joe Eddins, James Fitch, J. E. Hudlow, Ted Hudlow, Ger-crystal candelabra with lighted candles.

Members formed an aisle as Mrs. Hampton was escorted to the altar. The history of her 50 useful years in the Rebekah Lodge was then read. A pink corsage and the 50 year Jewel were presented to her from pink satin pillows.

In conclusion, the reader stated, "We salute you, sister, for your record of achievement. You are indeed our brightest light; as we travel with you down the pathway of light, may yours be our brightest light for many years to come."

Twenty members took part in the program.

A short session of lodge was then held after which the members of the degree team initiated Mrs. Elsie Bray to membership in the lodge.

Forty-five members and guests attended the Veteran Service.

ald Fowler and Miss Sandra Wood.

The hostess gift was a baby book and bathinette.

Out-of-town guests included 3 great grandmothers: Mrs. Bryant from Childress, Mrs. Richburg from Memphis, and Mrs. Adams from Carey; Mrs. Kelly from High Point, aunt of the honoree; Mrs. James Spencer of Houston, aunt of the husband, Mrs. Clements of Carey, Mrs. Zeb Latham of Tell, Mrs. Juanita Bryant of Tell.

Approximately 30 guests attended and about 60 sent gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hull, Mike and Tammie returned Monday after a 10-day vacation visiting friends and relatives in Jacksonville, Gonzales, San Antonio and Austin.

Dr. and Mrs. William N. Orr of Littlefield are visiting this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Orr.

To comfort and send flowers and get well cards.

Ah, just a little bit of heaven
That is what the hospital means to me.

With the Doctors' good morning and how are you to all patients,

With words of comfort and deeds

That is what the Hospital means to me,
And if they build a new big hospital

It will be a big bit of Heaven to all

Servicing — A Real Problem

In these United States, with over 50 million automobiles, 400 million major appliances, 30 million homes, we are one of the most vulnerable nations to the repairman of any in the world.

It is estimated that consumers now pay over 16 billion a year to service their cars, appliances, and shored up their sagging homes. Servicing costs more than clothing or furniture. R. S. Geran, Kelvinator general service manager, says servicing bill may reach $30 billion by 1975. Cost of television service, parts and installation will be almost two and one-half times the cost of new sets by 1964, says Frank W. Mansfield, Sylvania director of research.

One of the biggest sales-killers it was announced is poor servicing. Why has servicing gone bad? There are many reasons: Buying boom at war's end brought many product categories close to saturation. Recent years have seen many familiar names in industry merge, sell out or otherwise grind to a halt. Each defunct company leaves countless consumer orphans without a parts source. Also, owners of ailing hard goods have heard too often the repairman say that they must "send away" for parts that are delivered months late—or are no longer available. Repairmen ask, with justification, why appliances must be torn down to replace a 10 cent spring. Many manufacturers are guilty of not making spare parts readily available. Others issue their service manuals months after the product hits the market.

However, most troublesome monkey wrenches thrown into servicing come from designers; they keep making products more difficult to service. Designers say products are more complex—more parts are automatic and there's more to break down.

Automobile mechanics must know how to work on air conditioners, power equipment, and many other specialized accessories to the automobile. After all these accessories are put on an automobile, it becomes a major overhaul bill to repair even the most minor difficulties.

The servicing of complex equipment takes too long and costs too much, and sometimes the fixing of one difficulty creates another one equally as serious.

Servicing of equipment is a real problem, and one which will be with the citizens of this nation for a long time and if the push-button age takes over, then we may have many, many more citizens working as repairmen than we do now.

ON ADVERTISING

There was a man in our town and he was wondrous wise; He swore (it was his policy) he would not advertise. But one day he did advertise, and thereby hangs a tail. The "ad" was set in quite small type, and headed "Sheriff's Sale."

Ask your dealer about a real cool extra-cost option—Chevrolet air conditioning.

Summertime—and the savin' is easy!

It'll pay you plenty to pad over to your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center and get in on all the excitement there. Because Jet-smooth Chevrolets are outselling every other make of car, he's able to turn on the savings like nobody else in town. Have him fit you with an elegant Impala, a popular Bel Air or a budget-wise Biscayne. Or maybe with one of those six sweet-going, cargo-craving Chevy wagons. Just bring along your desire to own a lot of car at an easy-to-own price. Chevy and your Chevrolet dealer will look after the rest nicely, thank you. Jet-smooth Chevrolet

What Other Editors Say

It's What You Save

There's an old saying, "What you make is not half so important as what you save." Most of the wealthy people we know have the facility of spending less than they take in. We can remember people who did without lots of things in order to save a small amount of money each payday and as their savings increased, they were able to increase their wealth by investing it. And to those who say it is impossible nowadays to save, we can only point out that it is being done every day. All that is required is the will power to do without some things. Maybe we don't want to do without them, and it is easy to buy anything on credit, but payments always have to be made.

—Ochiltree County Herald

Meaning of Election

Texas Republicans are jumping up and down with glee, hugging themselves, and apparently are planning the eventual takeover of Texas politics, all because Texas finally elected a Republican senator. One area spokesman for the Republican line of thought chortled again that this victory hails the coming rise of conservatism and fed-upness of Texans with the horrendous way President Kennedy has been conducting his office. If any man ever went into a game with a stacked deck, Mr. Tower did. In the first election the "brass collar" Democratic vote was split some four or five ways between earnest candidates. All the Shivercrats voted for Blakely and all the Republicans for Tower.

If there had been just one solid Democrat in the first race there probably wouldn't have been a runoff. As it turned out, the loyalist Democrats mostly went fishing or voted for Tower out of spite towards the Blakely-inspired conservative democrats of Texas. We'll see how much the Republicans have taken over when Tower tries to regain his office six years hence.

Security Measures

Government officials have been howling loudly to every news source available about the "top secrets" Russians have been able to buy over our toy store counters for $2.98. Seems a toy manufacturer released a toy submarine model of the Long Island, a missile sub that is to be completed in the near future, and officials claim there are secrets in the model that had not been released to the public, yet now the Red spies we have in this country can buy them for no risk at all in obtaining them. Appears somebody goofed—until you look a little closer. First of all, if a toy designed could readily obtain all these details, then certainly anyone making a business of trying to spy on what we are putting into our new ships could have found out easily enough long ago. Also, if the secrets are simple enough for a toy to incorporate them they are probably simple enough they might not be so hard for a ship designer or a scientist to dream up without spending $2.98 for blueprints. Could it be officials are howling a little loudly to cover up their own failures in security measures?

Counterfeiters

Some slick counterfeiters in New Orleans out did themselves when they produced a batch of $12 bills. Not wishing to let their work go to waste, they decided to work them off on Pierre, a stupid store keeper on Bayou Tech.

The con man went to Pierre's store and asked for change for the $12 bill. "How you want it," inquired the store keeper, "three fours, four threes or two sixes?"

Arts and Sciences of the Amarillo Area

Few regions of the world have more interesting objects of the natural sciences or more vivid expressions of the arts.

Most distinctive natural feature is the hundred-mile-long, thousand-foot-deep, ninety-million-year-old Palo Duro Canyon, encompassing a state park visited annually by people from every state and many foreign countries.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum at Canyon is the most complete and authentic of the Plains and Plainsmen.

Adobe Walls marking the last of Indian battles which occurred so recently as 1874. Truly, this is the last American frontier! Ft. Elliott, just off the eastern edge of the Caprock, the last fort established in the U. S. for protection against marauding Indians. Old Tascosa, now site of America's First Boys Ranch, scene of early day easy crossing of the treacherous Canadian River, rendezvous of bad men, locale of the only "boot hill" cemetery of the entire region, later cattle capital of a vast empire on the fringe of famous XIT 3,000,000 acre spread traded by the State of Texas for the building of the present capitol at Austin.

Monument to Padilla the first Christian martyr of the United States and possibly of North America, whose expedition into this region in 1540 preceded that of Coronado by a year. Alibates Ruins on Antelope Creek, unique on this continent, now proposed as site of National Monument. Remains of dinosaurs and Indian artifacts galore.

Magic, tasteless, odorless gas—Helium—found in quantity in this area and practically no place else in the world. The largest natural gas fields anywhere.

Population-wise, the fastest growing metropolitan area in Texas during past decade. Modern cities and towns dot the area, boasting unsurpassed schools, churches, music, drama, and visual arts.

The Amarillo Symphony Orchestra beginning its 37th year. The Amarillo Little Theater its 35th season. Civic Ballet. Now proposed Symphonic Drama—Outdoor Theater in Palo Duro Canyon.

Libraries, Forums, Science Fairs, Tri-State Fair, Canadian Foliage Tours, Photographic Societies, Audubon Society, Panhandle Outdoor Sportsmen's Club, Will Rogers Range Riders, and Ice Hockey, Professional Baseball, Border Conference and Schoolboy Football, Basketball, Bowling, Boating and Water Skiing, Rodeos, Gem Clubs, Humane Society.

Sanford Lake, Sunday Creek Dam, Buffalo Lake, Lake Rita Blanca, Lake McClellan, Lake Marvin. Country clubs, golf courses, countless civic and community organizations.

The Amarillo Area Foundation stands ready to be of assistance to people of the area who are dedicated to the advancement of all these resources—natural and man-made—cultural and scientific—charitable—educational—benevolent.

Funds placed with the Foundation, tax exempt, can continue in perpetuity with income only distributed as wisely as a Board of distinguished citizens can devise.

MINUTE MEDITATION

O Merciful God, when we have fallen short and sin creeps into our lives, we humbly beg grace and forgiveness.

When we stand at the many cross roads of life where we are forced to make a decision, give us freely of thy wisdom and courage to make the right choice. Righteous Father, when anger swells in our bosom, let us remember that all men are brothers and that "love thinketh no evil," and that "love covers a multitude of sins."

O Lord, Our Lord, give us the strength to do right as thy wisdom and thy word enables us to see what is right.

When our enemies rise up against us, and when the scoffers sing and shout, be it known that their song is but for a moment, for our God is like the blacksmith's anvil that wears the hammer out.

Ma L. Fendrich, daughter of Mrs. A. G. Fendrich of Memphis, became the bride of T. Crowder, son of Mrs. Edna Crowder, in a double ceremony held in the First Church of Sundown on at 10 a. m. with the Rev. Green officiating. The bride's dress was fashioned de soie with a long, bell-skirt with release darts over skirt of lace scallop the lower edge. Her train from the back of the dress waistline. The bodice had three-quarter length sleeves with release pleat at the top of the armhole. The traditional buttons and loops were down the back. A wide belt beaded with pearls to form starburst designs accented the waistline. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. A single strand of cultured pearls and white kid gloves with tiny scalloped edges were her accessories. She carried several white camellias accented with stephanotis.

Miss Sue Fendrich, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her dress of emerald green taffeta covered with silk organza was a similar version of the bride's but shorter in length. Her headdress was a Dior bow with a veil of the same color as the dress and she carried a large white camellia.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

It will be surprising to learn that the most common cause of outboard motor trouble is lead poisoning. It costs many outboarders considerable time, pleasure and money.

Put it plainly, the trouble from the use of gasoline containing lead compound.

For you, the simple answer is to use marine white gasoline for two cycle outboard motors. It costs less per gallon. It is better in the two cycle engine. And it doesn't injure your engine like the more expensive, leaded fuels do.

Regular and the pre-grades of automotive gasoline contain sufficient lead to cause trouble when used in two cycle outboard motors.

Requirements of the outboard motor and the outboard differ greatly. The outboard engine has low octane requirements, unlike the high compression four-cycle automobile engine.

These are desirable in automobile four cycle lubrication systems, to insure adequate oil flow and distribution for cold weather starting and warming up; also to prevent excessive thinning of the oil at normal operating temperatures.

However, these additives are unnecessary for two cycle outboard engine lubrication and only add to the accumulation of harmful deposits.

Furthermore, the advance of high compression, high output automobile engines presented new lubrication problems which necessitated the addition of metallic detergents to the oil for the purpose of inhibiting varnish formations and piston ring sticking.

In four-cycle engines the oil is effectively confined to the crankcase and very little leaks past the piston rings into the combustion chamber.

In a two cycle engine the oil must be mixed with the gasoline and so practically all of these metallic detergents and other additives enter the cylinders, above the pistons, and form deposits when they come in contact with the hot surfaces of spark plugs, piston crowns and combustion chambers.

These deposits cause pre-ignition and detonation, which result in piston crown burning, piston cuffing and cylinder wall scoring. Frequently metallic deposits bridge a spark plug gap so that it cannot fire and this, in turn, results in the spark plug fouling.

According to Mercury engineers the preferred outboard oil is refined from paraffin base crude obtainable only from wells located in specific geographic areas. The base stock is blended with organic detergents rather than with the inorganic metallic detergents used in automobile oils.

Such blends insure adequate lubrication under the special conditions encountered in two cycle engine operation, while inhibiting formation of varnish and carbon deposits and keeping piston rings from sticking in their grooves. The oil contains no automotive type anti-dilution agents and, once thoroughly mixed, the gasoline and oil will not separate, even when the fuel tank stands idle for indefinite periods.

Any two cycle outboard motor gives best results with white marine gasoline. But in occasional emergencies, it will perform well when mixed with a good quality automobile gasoline of low lead content.

Since the need for high octane fuels and special fuel additives is strictly a four cycle engine problem, and there are few such outboards, there is little reason why outboard owners should be plagued with it.

Two cycle outboard engines run best, longest, and cleanest, on marine white gasoline. Its octane rating is ample to accommodate most outboard engine designs currently in production for pleasure boat use.

Marine white gas can be readily available if outboarders demand it. It's the only way outboard owners can cure the outboard's most common malady — lead poisoning.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

Since the beginning of the licensing program 17 months ago, over 690 Texas hospitals have been inspected under the Texas Hospital Licensing Law, either by state or local health department officials.

Local fire marshals have also inspected the same hospitals, making certain that they complied with fire-safety rules required under the law.

The program is administered by the State Health Department's Hospital Licensing Division, established January 1, 1960.

A big map on the Division wall describes the extent of the far-reaching program. More than half of Texas hospitals have been surveyed more than once and all have been closely inspected at least once.

Inspection subjects range from the kind of ice used, to the all-important operating equipment. Especially important in all items inspected is the quality of housekeeping — a critical item for the prevention of disease spread within a modern hospital.

Second-time surveys are made to determine the extent of corrective recommendations followed after the initial inspection. Generally hospitals cooperate fully in carrying out suggestions, most of which deal with housekeeping problems.

In keeping with the State Health Department's policy of as much local control as possible, local health departments maintain inspections of hospitals within their jurisdiction, assisted by the State agency only if needed.

About half of all Texas hospitals lie within areas served by local health departments greatly reducing the workload required by the Texas State Department of Health.

Fire-safety inspections are made by local fire marshals, who follow a special check list complying with State fire laws. Occasionally, special training is given for inspection of operating room fire hazards.

The Texas Hospital Licensing Law is designed to provide better patient safety. It is patterned after standards of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. However, requirements are stricter providing for maximum patient safety and care.

M. J. Wooldridge Is Serving On USS Kearsarge

The mighty aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge is now serving as an anti-submarine unit of the Seventh Fleet operating in the Western Pacific.

Serving aboard the huge craft is Michael J. Wooldridge, airman, USN, son of Robert L. Wooldridge of Memphis.

The Kearsarge can best be compared with a "floating city" with its population of more than 1,800 persons. It features a chapel, dining halls, clothing stores, cobbler shop, tailor shop, library, power plants, a fully equipped hospital, a printing plant and all other facilities necessary to efficiently operate a city of this size.

organic metallic detergents used in automobile oils.

Such blends insure adequate lubrication under the special conditions encountered in two cycle engine operation, while inhibiting formation of varnish and carbon deposits and keeping piston rings from sticking in their grooves. The oil contains no automotive type anti-dilution agents and, once thoroughly mixed, the gasoline and oil will not separate, even when the fuel tank stands idle for indefinite periods.

Any two cycle outboard motor gives best results with white marine gasoline. But in occasional emergencies, it will perform well when mixed with a good quality automobile gasoline of low lead content.

Since the need for high octane fuels and special fuel additives is strictly a four cycle engine problem, and there are few such outboards, there is little reason why outboard owners should be plagued with it.

Two cycle outboard engines run best, longest, and cleanest, on marine white gasoline. Its octane rating is ample to accommodate most outboard engine designs currently in production for pleasure boat use.

Marine white gas can be readily available if outboarders demand it. It's the only way outboard owners can cure the outboard's most common malady — lead poisoning.
