collections will be made by the gins in this area until further official notice from the Rolling Plains Cotton Producers, Inc. is given.

Each individual gin in the 12-county area will be requested to post notices of no further collections in their gin offices, it was announced.

"The directors would like to take this opportunity to thank the gins for acting as their collecting agencies during the past two seasons," V. C. Durrett, president, stated.

"Two years ago the Department of Agriculture conducted a survey in the following counties: Hall, Donley, Childress, Cottle, King, Motley, Wheeler, Briscoe, Carson, Collingsworth, Gray and Armstrong, and found the producers in each county to be overwhelmingly in favor of establishing a classing office in Memphis by voluntary contributions from individual producers," President Durrett said.

All gins in the area were asked by the organization to act as collecting agents, he explained. "According to our records," (Continued on Page Ten)

The former Miss Ollie Myrtle Parker, she was united in marriage to Preston Monroe Tribble on Aug. 10, 1905 at Maytown. The family moved to Hall County in 1909 where Mr. Tribble operated a furniture business.

First Bale Ginned; '61 Crop Prospects Are Best In Years

Hall County's first cotton bale was ginned last Friday, Aug. 18, with James Norman taking the honors for the event.

The bale, which weighed 465 pounds, was ginned by the Memphis Farmers Co-Op Gin, and the cotton was also grown in Memphis.

The field from which the cotton was gathered is located south of the Memphis football field. Norman stated that he had about 14 acres of cotton planted there April 14.

Hugh and Porter Lambert planted and cultivated the field for Norman.

"We pulled about two-thirds of the 14 acres by hand to gather the bale," Norman said.

M. C. Allen, manager of the Memphis Compress Company, has agreed to purchase the bale, it was announced this week.

General rains over most of the county last weekend, and cool weather most of this week have been an answer to many of the county's cotton farmers wishes.

However, reports were received here of boll weevil infestation of cotton fields in Childress and Collingsworth counties. W. B. Hooser, Hall County agent, stated Wednesday that he has not found any boll weevil activity in Hall County so far.

He said, however, "continued low infestations in most cotton fields, coupled with rapidly maturing cotton in a majority of plantings, seem to indicate less damage from insects than in many years."

He explained that occasional "hot spots" do indicate the desirability of a close check of cotton in order to prevent any late damage.

"Succulent cotton will remain attractive to bollworms and lygus bugs for some time. Since these pests are now present in small numbers in most fields any succulent cotton should be examined frequently for any increased activity of these insects," Hooser said.

Farmers over the county report that the 1961 cotton crop is one of the best in many years, and the yield should equal that of last (Continued on Page Ten)

Local IOOF Lodge To Hold Game Night Thursday

Members of the Memphis IOOF Lodge will hold a Game Night starting tonight at 7 o'clock, according to an announcement this week by C. J. Wynn, District Deputy Grand Master. Also, homemade ice cream will be sold to those present.

Each person who plays will be charged 25 cents. Three spoons of the home-made ice cream will cost 10 cents.

All proceeds of Game Night will be sent to the Building Fund, Grand Lodge of Texas, according to Wynn.

Cyclone To Scrimmage Shamrock Friday Night

Memphis Cyclone A and B will go to Shamrock Friday night, Aug. 25, for a scrimmage against the Irish team, it was announced this week by Coach Lambert.

Friday night the local squads will meet at Silverton Cyclone Stadium.

During the Tuesday night game, Coach Lambert stated he was pleased with the show the boys.

Scrimmage is conducted by alternating a team to take over the 20 yard line following their 20 downs to the touch-down, the coach explained.

That the local team did very well while on defense yielded on a few first downs and no scores to the Shamrock.

Offensive unit of the squad did little slow getting started, according to Lambert. However, they were able to cross the goal line four times.

In discussing personnel, the coach said that Bunky Adcock, the team's starting quarterback, has been sick this week and has not been able to work out. He won All-District honors last season.

Dee Miller has been taken out of contact play for the next three weeks due to the cast on his left wrist. Miller probably will see action in the Estelline game.

Perry Wight has been in the quarterback position in place of Adcock this week. He passed to End Jackie Bridges for one TD in the scrimmage Tuesday night.

Coach Lambert said the scrimmage at Shamrock will begin at 7:30 p. m. Friday. He stated that it was his understanding that Shamrock will have a strong team this year. The scrimmage should prove valuable to the squad before their opening game against Tula on Sept. 1.

Les Sims Is New Scoutmaster For Troop 35

Les Sims, manager of the J. C. Penney store here, has been named scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 35 in Memphis.

TEC Elects Coppedge Secretary-Treasurer

J. W. Coppedge of Memphis, manager of the Hall County Electric Cooperative, Inc., was elected secretary-treasurer of the Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., at the annual convention in San Antonio last week. He had served as a member of the board of directors of the state-wide organization during the past year.

Featured speaker at the convention was Senator Ralph Yarborough. He told the 650 delegates that the "future prosperity and military safety of the United States both depend on an all-out effort to redevelop rural areas."

Delegates pledged themselves to support the drive for renewed rural progress, and spent much of their time discussing methods for redevelopment. They also pledged themselves to a continued fight for equal rights in their own areas with other power suppliers.

Carroll Land of San Angelo was elected president of TEC, and G. R. Schumann of Bellville was vice president. New directors are Milton Potts of Livingston, C. C. Sanders of Karnes City, and F. C. Luedtke of McGregor.

Entertainment highlight of the convention was a beauty contest with the selection of Nancy Lee Payne, 18, of Donna in the lower Rio Grande Valley, as the 1962 Miss Texas Rural Electrification.

Convention speakers included, in addition to Senator Yarborough, State Senator Henry B. Gonzalez; Richard A. Dell, deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration; Lloyd Patton, president of the Oklahoma Statewide Electric Cooperative, and James Turman, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Senator Yarborough declared that we must have more industry and a greater diversity of industry in the rural areas of Texas.

"We are more vulnerable to nuclear destruction than Russia," he warned, "since Russia's population and industrial developments are more widely dispersed than ours."

He also warned that Texas is lagging behind the rest of the nation in prosperity. He said Texas is now the nation's twenty-second state in average income while it was in twenty-ninth place ten years ago. He pointed out that the last census showed that 140 Texas counties had lost population.

Area redevelopment and education must be the keys to reversing this lag in Texas prosperity and growth, he said.

A panel moderated by John Davenport, administrative assistant to the general manager of TEC, examined specific examples of approaches to rural redevelopment. Members of the panel were Marvin Selig of Seguin, executive vice-president and general manager of Structural Metals, Inc., H. B. Armstrong of Giddings, secretary-treasurer of Lower Colorado River Electric; and D. N. Beasley of San Augustine, manager of Deep East Texas Electric and vice president of Deep East Texas Development Association.

Outgoing President E. H. Florence of Bowie-Cass Electric, Douglassville, emphasized that area redevelopment must be at the grass roots level.

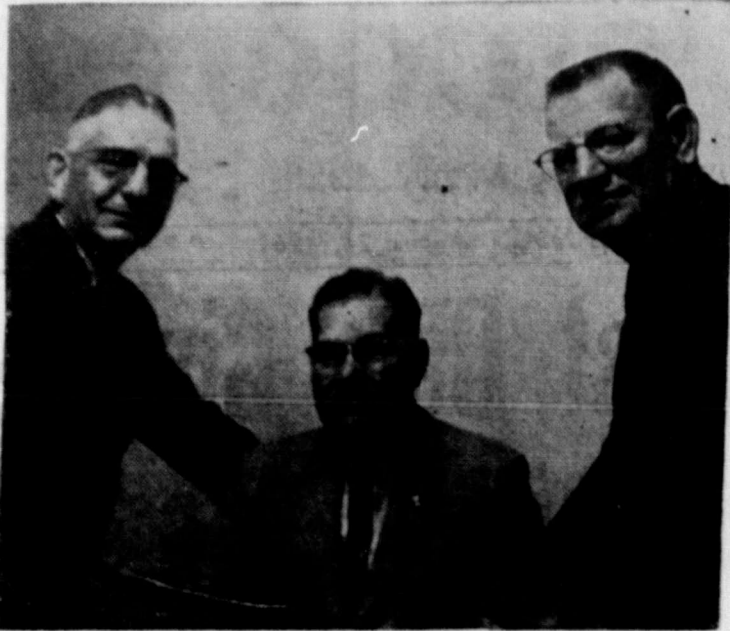

"We have all had our sights too high . . . looking for the one big industry that would locate in area and solve all our unemployment and economic problems," he said. "We must break this development program down to the community level."

Patton told the delegates how Oklahoma cooperatives obtained equal rights legislation in their state. The new law there allows cooperatives to serve new members in areas annexed to cities if the co-op is closer to the consumer than another supplier.

Speaker Turman, Senator Gonzalez, and Dell all stressed the need for equal rights. Senator Gonzalez declared that he feels that equal rights legislation will be for the good of the whole state. If rural areas are depressed, he said, urban areas can't prosper either.

Delegates pledged by a resolution to "continue our efforts, through the legislative process, to secure equal rights to serve areas which are annexed by cities or towns."

Mrs. Claude Hickey is attending market in Dallas this week.

Clarendon Jr. College Gets New Building

Officials of Clarendon Junior College are making ready for what will probably be the largest enrollment in recent years. According to information from Dean Abel's office, high school transcripts of prospective students have been coming in at a faster pace than usual and a definite increase is almost assured.

Registration has been scheduled for Sept. 11.

For the first time since 1927, Clarendon Junior College will be housed in a building all its own. Since the local school district assumed operation of the college in the fall of 1927, the college and high school have occupied the same building. This situation necessarily limited the enrollment of the college. However, on July 9, of this year, the local school district voted $750,000.00 bond issue for the erection of a new public school plant and to improve the old college building. The new high school building is ready for fall term which means that the college will have all to itself the old building which has undergone considerable face-lifting during the summer.

The college now has facilities to accommodate a much larger enrollment than in past years. This information, which was published earlier in the summer, has apparently led to the increased number of enrollment applications. The administration and board of trustees of the college have been making every effort to be able to offer an excellent educational program for the youth of this area.

New equipment in science and business administration along with improved library facilities and additional faculty members are among the recent improvements of the plant.

Local Witnesses Attend Session In Okla. City

Local delegates to a 40-state gathering of Jehovah's Witnesses in Oklahoma City, Okla., are back home with instructions to step up their house-to-house teaching in this vicinity.

Steven E. Lane, presiding minister for the Memphis Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said two delegates from this area were present at the six-day convention, which ended last Sunday. Unity of worship as the key to survival was the assembly's theme, he said.

Good Management Needed To Reduce Cotton Root Rot

Many farmers in Hall County have cotton dying in spots, County Agent W. B. Hooser stated this week.

Plan several years in advance to effectively reduce cotton root rot losses of cotton, he said. Root rot losses of cotton can be reduced, he said. However, a combination of practices carried out for a number of years is necessary for best results.

Deep plowing this year will help in most cases to reduce the disease next year. The turning under of a large tonnage of organic matter prior to growing cotton will help. The growing of resistant crops in rotation also helps. However, none of these are a sure control when used alone. For example, rains immediately following deep plowing will tend to cancel out the benefits of disease reduction. Too, Hooser said, crop rotation helps little if susceptible weeds grow in resistant crops.

"Producing early cotton will, in most cases, help the cotton to escape root rot damage. Several factors are important in production of early cotton including the control of seedling disease, he concluded.

Visiting over the weekend Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Galt were her sister and husband and Mrs. Howell Mataga of Texas, N. M.; her two brothers, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. R.ley and Mr. and Mrs. R. E.ley of Wellington; another brother, Mr. and Mrs. Killian, also of Wellington; their daughter, Mrs. Orville Dodson, and granddaughter, Mrs. Dodson, and Stewart K. Lubbock.

Mrs. R. C. Lemons and Mrs. Lubbock visitors to Amarillo visited during the end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hale, and Linda.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Martin last weekend on a two-week trip. They went from Dallas, then to George where visited Mr. Martin's mother to Huntsville to attend the wedding anniversary of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Shepherd. From there they will go to Chattanooga to visit with their son, Mr. Martin and family.

G. H. Parks returned home in Borger Sunday after a visit here with his son, Dan, and family.

Why Take A Chance

WHEN YOU BUY AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR?

General Electric is the biggest and oldest electrical manufacturer in the world. When they add new features they prove them in the factory before they put them on sale.

Some of you now know that some manufacturers of refrigerators experiment at your expense. But, after you have your money in them, what are you going to do when they give you trouble or dry up your food?

Come in and let me show you the difference. As I own my own building and don't have to pay rent or salesmen, I can sell you the best and at lower prices than some competitors that have so much overhead expenses.

SENATOR  Yarborough's Report

By letters, phone calls and wires, the people of Texas are asking me about the status of the aid to so-called "impacted" school districts.

"Impacted" is the term that has come to be used for school districts that have felt the impact of the armaments program, where large numbers of federal personnel are suddenly moved into one area to be near missile bases, air bases or similar installations.

The result of such a move, of course, is that schools suddenly become overloaded, and unless precautions are taken, the taxpayers in the affected school districts are also overloaded.

Recently, the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, of which I am a member, voted 11 to 1 in favor of a bill that would extend the responsibility of the government to absorb some of the impact of these affected school districts.

In Texas, the school districts that receive money under this program include Abilene, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, San Antonio, El Paso, Waco, Amarillo, Sherman and Irving and others.

For the fiscal year of 1961, 245 school districts in Texas received a total of $10,677,000 for the operation and maintenance of their schools. Another $2,994,000 was voted by Congress for the construction of classrooms in the federally "impacted" areas.

It is interesting, and a surprise to many, that one-third of all of the children who go to public schools in America today attend in schools where part of the financing comes from the federal government under the "impacted area" program. And this is done without any impediment to the control of the schools by the local elected administrations.

This program has been in effect for a good many years. It had not been renewed this year since it had earlier been included in the general school bill, but the action to extend it is necessary because the general school bill has not been approved.

We are moving forward and hope to have further progress to report on it before the end of the session.

Green Card On Cotton Bale Has Special Meaning

The little green card on a bale of cotton has special meaning to both cotton farmers and buyers. The reason — it can mean money in their pockets, according to Mrs. Charles E. Cox, in charge of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's cotton marketing service at Altus, Oklahoma.

For the green card tells the farmer the grade and staple length of his cotton. At the same time, the buyer is sure of what he is getting, since he knows that the cotton inside the bale is the same quality stated on the card.

Green cards are symbolic of cotton graded under the Smith-Doxey Act. A sample, which must be taken from each side of the bale, is examined for grade and staple length. This information is placed on a card and returned to the grower.

The Smith-Doxey Act provides free classification and market news information for members of cotton improvement associations, whose primary purpose is the improvement of cotton.

Up-to-the-minute market news information is collected from cotton exchanges, merchants and producers and such organizations as the Spot Price Quotations Committee.

Veterans Now Eligible for Direct Loans

Veterans living in a majority of the 79 counties in the Lubbock Regional Office area may negotiate direct home and farm loans from the Veterans Administration, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the VA Regional Office in Lubbock, Texas said today.

Veterans of World War II and Korea have been given additional time in which to apply for a GI loan by legislation signed recently by the President, Mr. Sisson pointed out.

The new law increases from the present $13,500 to $15,000 the maximum an eligible veteran may get from the government as a direct loan. A total of $1.2 billion over the next six years for use in direct loans by the VA was authorized.

The law provided a phase-out eligibility formula under which a veteran will be eligible for a GI loan for 10 years from the date of his discharge from his last period of wartime service, plus an additional year of eligibility for each three months of active wartime service, Sisson said.

Eligibility of a World War II veteran under the new law may not extend beyond July 25, 1967, in any case, nor beyond January 31, 1975, for any Korean veteran. A veteran discharged because of a service-connected disability will be eligible to apply until these final cut-off dates.

The new law provides that eligibility shall not terminate in any case prior to July 25, 1962 for a World War II veteran, nor prior to January 31, 1965, for a Korean veteran, the cut-off dates under the old law.

The direct loans are limited to specifically designated rural areas, towns, and small cities where Administrator of Veterans Affairs has determined that private mortgage money is not available for GI loans, Sisson said. For further information on direct loan program, area veterans should contact the VA Regional Office, 1600 18th Street, Lubbock, Texas.

Who Do Farm Programs Help Most?

The above is the title of an article released last month by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The article, written by John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, has not received the attention it deserved in the press of Texas.

The article began with the question: "How is it that the American farmer keeps getting it in the neck repeatedly and increasingly as being a burden on taxpayers, a depressant on the economy, a costly necessity for the nation?"

The question deserves sober thinking, and straight-forward answer. The answer will depend upon the information which the responder has in his or her possession, and should be based upon facts — not the misinformation which the metropolitan press has been passing out for many years.

If the facts are understood, it would be the general public — not the farmer — who would pay most dearly if the farm program should be abolished. The consumer should realize that the so-called "surpluses" are the primary deterrent to increasing costs. There are other important benefits which the metropolitan press has been passing out for many years.

Here are some instances of the program which benefit the general public:

Water Reservoirs and Flood Control—The city dweller who lives near a river which used to wreak havoc by flooding probably doesn't realize the series of reservoirs which regulate the water in upper reaches of the river were charged to the farmer on whose land they are located. The farmer may get little or no benefit from the reservoirs — but they are charged to the farm program.

School Lunches—Every citizen's child who eats at a public school cafeteria is benefitted by low-cost meals made up partially from surplus products given to the school and charged to the farm program.

Foreign Aid and Military Assistance — Billions of dollars worth of foreign aid programs and military assistance for other countries are paid for with agricultural commodities, the cost of which is charged to farm programs.

Merchant Marine Service—Fifty million dollars a year accrues to the Merchant Marine for transporting farm commodities to other countries.

The Armed Forces—How many people realize that part of the cost of the milk and dairy products used by our armed forces is charged against the farm program?

Forests—A billion forest trees a year are being planted on eroded and tired land. The farmer who plants those trees will not likely ever harvest any of them. The cost of all public reforestation is charged against agricultural appropriations.

Consumer Services—Research on preparation and handling of food for the housewife's benefit is billed to the farm program. Inspection of meats and other food products, charged to the farm program, is primarily for the benefit of the non-farm population.

Conserving National Resources—The soil and water of our land is our most vital possession. Nearly all the cost of conservation work on soil and water is charged to the farm program.

American agriculture has been called the greatest stabilizing influence in the world's economy. If we had not the assurance of abundant food in our nation, chaos would be felt throughout the world. That food supply must be sustained, for by sustaining it and those who produce it, we sustain ourselves and our families.

About Cadillac Smith

Here is some more fascinating information about Cadillac Smith, The Farmers Friend who decorated his car with that silly sign.

Smith inherited his 1,200-acre farm. He operates a restaurant and a dairy products business.

Until a short time ago he maintained a manufacturing operation on his farm, making plastic canoes.

It would have cost the Government $3,000 more than the sum Smith received and spent for his Cadillac if he had put the ground involved into crops and received storage payments, price supports, etc.

As Secretary Freeman rather cogently remarked: "If farmers were as wealthy as Mr. Smith... there would be no farm problem." —The Marion (Ind.) News-Herald

The Teenage Mind

Speaking of kids... it's no wonder that so few of us ever understand the workings of the teenage mind.

Things and events that to most adults are of minor nature, loom gigantic and significant in the minds of the teenagers.

Take, for example, the last hours of Sharla Ingram... the valiant sixteen year old girl who fought a losing, grim two-month long battle against leukemia.

In those final hours, during one of those fleeting brief moments when she roused from a coma to a period of complete rationality and awareness, her questions were those, we suppose, uppermost in the minds of a lot of junior and senior students in high school: "I wonder if the senior rings have come in yet?" and "Do you reckon they'll finish the new high school in time to hold the junior-senior prom in that dome area?"

Life is certainly strange, wonderful, and tragic. —The Andrews News

All Our Troubles Not Russian

When President Kennedy reported to the American people on his meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Vienna, he quoted the Soviet leader as saying, "You know Mr. President, communism isn't to blame for all your troubles." Mr. Kennedy added that that was one truthful statement by the Russian dictator.

For certainly we do have many problems indigenous to the American scene, problems that have beset our democratic society since long before Karl Marx was ever heard of and which would demand solving no matter who was ruling in Moscow and Peiping.

Fear and insecurity in this dangerous world prompt many of us to blame all our ills on the Russians when the real trouble often may be found in ourselves.

How many people blame race tensions on communists and equate freedom riders and those engaged in sit-in demonstrations with subversives? They do this because it is easier to blame someone else than it is to acknowledge personal shortcomings and to accept some responsibility for changing.

Communists are not interested in improving race relations in America. They are interested only in taking advantage of trouble in order to spread disunity and con-

... conflict on which communism thrives. It does no good and it is not true to say that such conflict is inspired by communism. It stems from inequity and injustice which communism seeks to shape to its advantage to destroy us.

To claim that everything is perfect and to refuse to reform is to abandon the field of social justice; it permits our enemy to masquerade as the friend of progress and to picture democracy as his enemy.

A society in which the privileged majority acknowledges its obligations to the less fortunate and seeks to broaden their opportunities both in the realm of employment and private as well as public services will have little to fear from domestic subversion. —Cheraw (South Carolina) Chronicle

New S. S. Law Lowers To 62 Retirement Age

The new social security law has lowered the retirement age for men from 65 to 62 effective with August 1961, according to Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office.

The law also provides for monthly benefits to the eligible dependents of these retired workers. These dependents include children under age 18, and children over 18 who have been totally disabled since before that age.

The worker's wife can also qualify for monthly insurance benefits if she is age 62 or older, or if she has children in her care who are entitled to receive benefits, Geldon said.

Although the male worker who retires before age 65 receives a reduced benefit, his eligible wife and children get the same monthly insurance benefits that they would receive if he waited until age 65 to file.

The Stupidest Animal

When God created the world, He no doubt experienced much difficulty in deciding upon which animal He would entrust with the thinking apparatus. He finally decid upon Man. Surely He has asked himself many times, "why?" He must have often wondered what would have happened had He entrusted some other animal with this ability. Would some other animal have spent substantial periods of each century trying to devise some weapon with which to destroy himself and create emotional reactions that would bring it into play? Perhaps He has reasoned, each time that Man has set upon himself and his brother, that these were growing pains in civilization, that Man would soon learn the futility of war and combat and would focus his attentions upon peaceful pursuits designed toward the betterment of mankind, rather than its destruction. Let us test the soundness of this reasoning on the scales of the last 100 years. Let us use this country as an example as the most advanced civilized nation. During the past century this country has engaged in five wars, including the one which we fought among ourselves. During this century our country has been at war 14 per cent of the time. During the last 50 years, we have been at war almost 20 per cent of the time. The casualties in the Civil War were 646,392 on the Union side and 133,821 estimated on the Confederate side. The Spanish-American War resulted in casualties of 4,108 to this country. World War I produced a casualty list of 320,518 (notice the difference between this and the Civil War). World War II produced casualties of 1,076,245, and the Korean War 157,530. I do not have actual costs in material wealth, but it is estimated that World War II cost this country upwards of $300 billion.

Yet today, with this history written in the lifetime of most of us, or so close thereto that we are all well aware of the tremendous price that had to be paid in life and property in all of these conflicts, we are presently standing on the threshold of another conflagration. Should this come, and God forbid that it does, it would provide the proving ground for the most recent innovation in military hardware with which Man has so long sought to destroy himself. One school of thought seems to be that Man will not be satisfied until he has tried out nuclear weapons. What is he trying to prove? That Man can destroy himself, despite his failure to do so throughout the ages? Is he trying to prove to God that he should not have been entrusted with the thinking apparatus in the first instance, or is he like a child who wants to see how far he can go in playing with fire before he gets hurt?

Had the same blood, sweat, brainpower, and material wealth that were sacrificed in any one of these wars, or all of them, been utilized for the progress of civilization, it is impossible to conceive of the achievements which could have been produced. Our probing into outer space would be far, far ahead. In fact, we would probably have made contact with the moon and the planets in outer space. We would have undoubtedly solved the problems of separating salt from sea and brackish waters. The deserts would probably be in bloom and the peoples of this earth would have available the food and water for the sustenance of life. Cancer, heart disease, and many other ailments of Man would no doubt have been defeated. There would have been many, many other accomplishments that would serve Man and make for a much better world.

A brief look at the budgets of this country over the past several decades will reflect that well over 50 per cent of the tax dollar of the individual citizen goes for the payment of previous wars, expenditures for immediate military needs, and expenditures and commitments in preparation for possible future wars. In fact, this requirement on the sorely burdened taxpayer has constituted ap-

Approximately two-thirds of the taxes that have been collected from the individual U. S. citizen.

Man has had successes and has moved forward with great strides since the beginning of time. And certainly nothing should be said by one man about another to detract from this splendid progress. However, with the evidence that can be gathered in the last 50 years on our many failures, a serious indictment could be written. How would you vote on the question of whether or not Man has fulfilled his responsibilities as the proper animal to have been entrusted with a brain?

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

Sometime we fail to give recognition to agriculture's outstanding accomplishments. In his farm message to Congress, President Kennedy referred to the production job this way, "In no other country, and at no other time in the history of our own farm economy, have so many people been so well provided with such abundance and variety at such low real cost."

The efforts of farmers have not always received praise. Until recently, American Agriculture has been depicted as a sick industry, a burden on the taxpayers, a symbol of failure. If our agriculture is a failure, I am sure that Khrushchev and Mao wish that their own agriculture will fail—and the sooner the better.

Don't forget that most foreign visitors to this country are eager to visit our supermarkets. I can understand that. It is overwhelming to see fruits and vegetables stretching off into the distance, mountains of canned and packaged foods, on every hand meat, poultry, dairy products, bakery products, and other items for sale in a wide variety. I wonder sometimes, what visitors from Iron Curtain countries really think about our system of government and the accomplishments that we have made under it.

Yes, farmers have done much to keep our standard of living high. But let's not forget that agriculture functions in other ways to keep our economy strong. Agriculture is our largest industry. There are 12 times as many people in agriculture as in the steel industry, and nine times as many as there are in the automobile industry. Farming furnishes employment to more people than there are in steel, automobile, public utility and transportation industry combined. These figures only begin to tell the story. In many small agriculture communities as The Hall County Soil Conservation District, it is said that as agriculture goes so goes the prosperity of the area.

We of the Soil Conservation Service are proud to be a part of American agriculture and are glad to assist farmers and ranchers of the Hall County Soil Conservation District with their soil and water problems.

Firemen Answer Two Fire Calls

Memphis Volunteer Firemen answered two fire calls this week.

Tuesday morning, firemen were called to Fowler's Swimming Pool to extinguish a wall fire at the skating rink.

The blaze caused minor damage to the north wall of the rink.

Wednesday afternoon firemen were called to extinguish a car fire one and one-half miles north of Memphis on Highway 287.

A 1951 98 Oldsmobile was completely destroyed when a bad brake caught a tire on fire.

The Lonnie C. Ford family moving from Colorado to Houma, La., had their clothing in the car and were pulling a trailer containing their household furnishings. They were able to save the trailer but lost their clothing. The family has four children.

The family purchased a car from Johnny Brewer and continued their trip to Houma, La.

August 22 to fellow citizens—Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom. It is our pleasure to pay tribute to this pioneer couple. Few doctors, if any in the Panhandle, can equal the length of service set by Dr. Odom—and included in most of that time is Mrs. Odom who furnished inspiration and counsel as a silent partner. Dr. Odom has practiced medicine and administered to the needs of the sick for 52 years—42 of which was in Memphis. He is still active in the profession and is at his office regularly each morning—except an occasional visit he pays to ailing fish on the coast or in the mountains.

This letter is taken from a private newsletter from the state headquarters of an organization to its members:

"Freedom of the press is an American heritage to be guarded right along with the rights to ownership . . . Country editors are do-it-yourself publishers of weekly publications and have been more truly defenders of the right of free press and appear to be less swayed by pressure. Our industry is fortunate in that this is the caliber of press we encounter the most. We urge you to support your weekly newspaper; consult your editor, keep him informed and maintain the lines of communication. Invite him to your annual meeting. If he is not informed he may fall into the trap of running canned editorials originating from some far off place and their contents will be against your members' best interest.

Weekly newspapers are an outpost of the Freedom of the Press and must be protected."

year's crop, if the county is not hit by an early frost.

The 10,000 acres of hauled-out cotton has recovered somewhat, and is expected to yield around a half bale to the acre, it was reported. Some of the cotton was so severely damaged that it had to be plowed under.

Rain reports over the county include 1.5 inches in the Estelline and Parnell areas, and in portions of the Lakeview area. In other areas west of Lakeview rains of over 2 inches were reported.

In Memphis, J. J. McMickin recorded .38 of an inch in Friday's rains. A shower fell in Memphis Saturday.

High and low temperatures include: Wednesday 86-56, Tuesday 86-68, Monday 91-63, Sunday 90-66, Saturday 86-69, Friday 93-69 and Thursday 93-70.

Two Accidents Occur On 287 During Rain Sat.

Two minor wrecks occurred Saturday afternoon on Highway 287 between Memphis and Estelline.

About 1:30 p. m. John L. Hamilton of Newlin attempted to turn off Highway 287 on the Newlin turnoff. His car was hit by a 1961 Buick being driven by Clarence C. Martin of Dallas, who was attempting to pass the car being driven by Hamilton.

The accident occurred during a rain storm. No injuries resulted in the accident. However, damages to the automobiles amounted to approximately $900.

The second accident occurred on the Red River bridge at 4 p. m. when a 1952 Ford car being driven by Frank B. Baley of Estelline drowned out during a rain storm.

Mrs. Maime Smallwood of Childress, driving a 1961 Chevrolet, ran into the back of the Baley car. Damages totaled above $150 to each vehicle, it was estimated. No one was injured. Highway Patrolman Don Collins investigated the wrecks.

T. E. Noel Is New Director of Denton Bank

T. E. Noel, who has been serving on the Denton City Council since 1958, resigned from that position last week to become a director of the First State Bank of that city, according to information received here.

His resignation was to eliminate any possibility of "conflict of interests" which might arise due to the fact that the First State Bank is the depository for city funds of Denton.

A tribute for his outstanding service to the City of Denton during the time he served as Councilman was paid to Mr. Noel in an editorial in the Denton Record-Chronicle on Aug. 13.

Prior to moving to Denton, Noel was president of the First National Bank of Memphis, an institution he was connected with from 1915 until 1951.

During the time Noel served as Councilman, Denton adopted a new city charter which provided a city manager-council form of government. He also helped in promoting many other civic projects such as street improvement and tax equalization.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel and Tommy moved to Denton in 1951.

They rode 12 1/2 miles on the road, almost reaching Plaska, and returned to Memphis by the same route.

The 12 Scouts and two visitors left the Scout Hall at 6 p. m. and returned about 10 p. m.

Scouts taking the trip were Wight Alewine, Jimmy Bland, David Douthit, Neal Hughs, David Lemons, Kenneth McKown, Donny Miller, Gary Rea, David Rose, Ernie Spruill, Neil Tribble, Arlon Joe Williams. Visitors included Jerry Don Hall and Odell Gilchrist.

Scoutmaster Les Sims, Assistant Scoutmasters Bill Hall and Jack Rose, and Committee Chairman Homer Tribble also made the trip.

Asst. Scoutmaster Rose announced that the second 25-mile ride is scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at 6 p. m.

"The only change will be that the Scouts will ride to, or past the Oxbow bridge and will be brought back to Memphis in either a truck or a trailer," he said.
