Memphis Wins District 2-A Basketball Crown

The Memphis Cyclone Friday night came out victorious in District 2-A when they defeated the Clarendon Bronchos 64-42, here, and the Canadian Wildcats outscored the second place McLean Tigers 51-47. Another upset Tuesday night was an unexpected win by Wellington over Lefors, the Cyclone's last district opponent.

Memphis students and fans were elated with the turn of events Tuesday night, after Memphis had suffered their first conference defeat of the year last Friday night at the hands of McLean.

The Cyclone, with an eight-win, one-loss record in district play, has only one game left, which will be played Friday night at Lefors. McLean has now lost three, and Lefors has lost four games.

It was announced Wednesday that the Memphis High School student body will have a pep rally on the square at 3 p. m. Friday afternoon. The basketball team, band and cheering section will be on hand, C. E. Voyles, principal, announced.

Coach Bob Martin, when asked how he felt Wednesday, answered that he was overjoyed by the turn of events and was very appreciative of Canadian for their assistance.

"I am proud of the boys," he added. "They have shown tremendous team effort and teamwork."

The coach said the team was going to Lefors Friday night to play just as if the District championship rested on the outcome.

Martin said they were presently in the process of seeking two opponents for practice games, for next Tuesday and Friday nights. The Bi-District game will be held the week of Feb. 25-Mar. 1, he said.

The winner of District 1-A has not as yet been decided. However, Stratford is the leading team so far in that district.

First Time Since 1951
The 1962-63 Cyclone squad will go down on the record books along with the All-State 1949 team, and the 1950 and 1951 teams, as district champions. The last Memphis team to win district was in 1951, when the Cyclone won District 2-A, but was defeated at Region by Canyon's All-State team in their first game 51-41. Scotty Grundy made All-Region that year.

Memphis-Clarendon
Tuesday night, the Cyclone took an early lead over Clarendon, and increased it to a 35-22 halftime final score was 64-42. The Cyclone defense toughened up in the last half, resulting in the final score of 64-42.

John Cearley was the game's high scorer with 23 points, while Dale Sexton was the high scoring boy with 21 points. Other scorers for Memphis included: Dwight Gailey 11, Bill Pounds 6, Jacky Bridges 16, and Wayne Sweatt 8.

Miss Long's attendants were Miss Velma Jo Hutcherson, escorted by Captain Dale Sexton, and Miss Sara Beth Montgomery, escorted by Captain Wayne Sweatt. The team defeated Clarendon 64-42 to win the District Championship.

Feed Grain Meeting Planned For Friday

On Friday, Feb. 15, at 2 p. m., there will be a discussion of the 1963 Feed Grain Program in the county courtroom of the county courthouse in Memphis.

The Hall County ASC Committee feels there is a lack of a general understanding of the 1963 Feed Grain Program by the farmers and the public. In order to increase the general knowledge regarding this program and the 1964 Wheat Program, the discussion Friday is being held with all ASC Committeemen and as many other interested persons as wish to attend.

The 1963 Feed Grain Program is a volunteer program. There are no penalties for non-compliance as there are a number of choices in this program as it applies to different farms.

"We feel that every farmer should discuss this program with someone who is familiar with all the provisions before the closing date, March 22, 1963," the ASC Committee announced.

Optimist Club To Be Organized Here Monday

The Optimist Club is a men's civic organization which has a motto, "Friend of the Boy." The organization is interested in boys between the ages of 8 to those in college. ### High Costs Offset Farm Receipts

In spite of the continued high receipts for farm products, statistics reveal that farm production expenditures will continue their upward trend in 1963, surpassing the 1962 mark of about 27.7 billion dollars. Production expenses now average over 68 per cent of total gross farm income. Realized net income of farm operators was virtually unchanged from the preceding year since increased gross income was offset by increased production expenses, Thomas K. Hunter, Area Farm Management Specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, stated.

The prices farmers paid in 1962 for fertilizer, building supplies and pesticides changed relatively little while farm wage rates and the price of farm machinery and feed increased slightly. The increase in prices paid and greater use of purchased inputs caused increased production expenses.

The expected increase in 1963 is expected to come in the form of increased farm wage rates and prices of farm machinery which have been increasing for several years and are likely to increase slightly in 1963.

These economic facts are not understood by many Americans, especially those living in the great metropolises of this nation, and because of their ignorance, it has been fashionable for the nation's great slick magazines to do a lot of harassing by calling the American farmer a social parasite, a leech upon the public coffers. The American farmer's biggest critic has been Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Life, which is perhaps the most widely circulated slick magazine in the entire world.

However, in the November 23 issue of Life, Mr. Luce published what he called a special issue on "Bounty of food... the miracle of our plenty." He didn't make any apology for his editorial policies of recent years, but the issue is strong proof that the editor of Life finally realized some basic truths about American agriculture.

Here are some facts which Life set down for the first time in their publication, but which are well known in all rural areas in America, and have been for years: "If the American farmer used 1940 methods and equipment it would cost $13, 000,000,000 more to grow the country's food. . . . The average family in this country today spends 20 percent of its income for food as compared to 67 per cent 100 years ago. . . . In the past 10 years the price of hamburger has dropped 11 cents a pound, butter nine cents, chicken 22, and so on."

It is often said, and with some merit that the American farmer is the victim of his own efficiency, superlative know-how and success in producing more at less and less cost. He has accomplished the dream ideal of men of all ages and has been condemned for it.

However, by looking at the farmers side, the economical picture shows that the farmer will have to pay a little more to produce what he produced last year, however he is expecting to get a little more for the product, which should off-set this increased cost.

In Hall County during 1963, there will be little change in the agriculture picture, with the exception that more and more cattle are being fed out here than in the past. Whether the county's wheat, grain sorghum or cotton crops will be bountiful this year, still rests in the hands of old man weather, as it has since the first dirt was turned with a plow in this country. Weather permitting, 1963 may be another in a string of good years for Hall County farmers.

A Rocky Road Ahead

There is a popular misconception that government helps the small businessman. The truth is, if we get much more help, we will be forced out of business. True, the government has made loans available through the Small Business Administration and has required defense installations to purchase from small businesses when it comes to certain supplies. But continued taxation can cause the annihilation of the small industry and merchant.

The increase in Social Security Rates, which took effect on January 1, was just 1-8 of one per cent, but to the employer of twenty persons it amounts to around $10 per week or $500 or more a year. With the increase in postage rates, the businessman must absorb another $10 or more a month in order to send out his statements and pay his bills. Here is another $120 coming out of the profits of the business, if any, with no increase in production in which to make up the costs.

The federal employment insurance was increased this year by 1/2 of one per cent. To the business employing twenty men this means an increase of $250 a year. As these men close out their books for the year, they find the cost of stock used in their business has increased. Everything is up by close to ten per cent.

What is the answer? If these costs cannot be absorbed in the profits, the merchant must cut down on his employees, reduce his stock or close his doors. In every case his business is hurt. If he can get by with less profit, how can he consider expanding his business, replacing worn-out equipment, remodeling to improve his business, or bringing new methods into his merchandising?

The logical answer for the small business man is to increase his service and product prices. Here again he is the loser if this increase is not industry-wide. He is already competing with big volume concerns such as the chain stores, the discount stores, and the mail order institutions. To these concerns, these increases on a percentage-wise basis are a drop in the bucket and most can absorb them by adding a penny to their prices, whereas the small businessman must think in terms of dollars.

The only way the government can really help the small businessman is to curb some of the spending, remove itself from direct competition in many business fields, and stop adding hidden taxes and paper work for these businesses. Otherwise, the trend toward the large chains and government stores will be increased.

What Other Editors Say

Old Newspaper Had Many Lives

I remember an earlier era when newspapers, like old generals, didn't die . . . they didn't even fade away. They went to work like everybody else. Newspapers in those days were not just read, they were utilized.

After the mistress of the house had washed the wooden floors she covered them with newspaper. We had wall-to-wall newspaper. How many times did I come home from school to find my poor, tired mother stretched out on the floor, reading an editorial.

Kitchen shelves were covered with newspaper. Imaginative mothers like mine could create a scalloped edge with little dips every few inches, utilizing headlines for educational as well as dramatic effect like "Price of Goods Goes Up."

The rotogravure section was selected for the bureau drawer because its brownish-red color matched our genuine imitation mahogany. The bottom drawer was known as the Maternity Ward. When our cat was expecting (again) mama shredded a newspaper with her meat chopper and padded the drawer.

Women understood such things. At our house kittens could read before they could walk.

I inherited most of my hats from older brothers, uncles and forgetful strangers. The size was reduced to fit my head by folding a strip of newspaper under the inside leather band.

It was not unusual for me to remove my hat and find imprinted on my youthful forehead the words "Cloudy and foggy."

Party hats were fashioned of cleverly folded newspaper, as were generals' hats, and Chinese hats, and chefs' hats, and kings' crowns and sail boats, and shaggy trees, and bandits' masks and rain-hats and megaphones, and telescopes, and fly swatters. (For horse-fies the Racing Form was choice.)

A hand-rolled, short, fat strip of newspaper served as a cork for medicine bottles and wine bottles as well as a packing for key-holes when privacy was desired. (Poor people did not feel entitled to privacy. Keyholes were for looking, not locking.)

We cut our schoolbook covers out of newspaper. A child gifted with scissors could work it out so that a picture would appear smack on the front of the book, inspiring pictures like Dillinger coming out of the movies, or Bernard McFadden napping in the snow.

Garbage was gift-wrapped in newspaper. Dogs were taught human manners fit the newspapers. Children, too (apparently best treated like dogs), were slapped on the head with newspapers as a token preview of sterner measures to come if you didn't respond.

I must say, though, that no father I met was ever cruel enough to swat a kid with the Sunday paper. This might leave him stupid through the following Thursday.

The women of the family cut newspaper into dress patterns, for formal dresses the society page, for sportwear the used car section.

If any parts of the newspaper survived they were sold to the junk dealer who sold the lot to the newspaper publisher, all of which proves that the printed word is indestructible.

If You Must Worry

Worry is usually a silly thing, yet lots of us do it. Why? The psychologists have a variety of answers. Some people are not happy, believe it or not, unless they have something to worry about.

Others are so mired down in the routine of life, overburdened with money troubles, perhaps, or other troubles, that worry is a constant companion. Many are frustrated or envious of others, or in ill health. In short, there are many reasons for worry.

But the strangest thing about it all is that worry causes troubles and most of the worrying that goes on is about things that never

America's Growth Power

Do you know that...

Today the United States has more power capacity than the next 5 nations combined and almost three times the power capacity of the Soviet Union.

West Texas Utilities has increased its electric generating capacity over 6 times since 1942.

In terms of residential use, the American home uses nearly eight times the electricity of the Russian home. Americans use twice as much for lighting alone as the Russian total.

The average cost of a kilowatt hour to residential customers served by WTU has decreased 35% in the last 20 years.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

Take Care of Gunstock

You are lucky if you have a fine gunstock — one that has been carefully treated with linseed oil by the manufacturer.

Take care of your fine stock by giving it the same loving care the gunsmith gave it.

After each hunting trip carefully rub down with linseed oil. Rub oil in for at least a half-hour, then wipe surplus oil off and briskly polish stock with soft, clean cloth.

Training Dog To Heel

The job of training your bird dog to heel — one of the first lessons — is not too difficult.

You can make the job even easier if you will strap a belt around your leg just above the knee.

Strap a short leash from the dog's collar to the belt. Every time the pooch tries to walk ahead slap his nose.

Protect Rigged Hooks

Many fishermen find it saves time to rig their worms and eels before leaving home.

For Technical Services

This also applies to many other special rigs.

Trouble is, these lures are inclined to tangle with other tackle in your box and you lose more time untangling them than you saved in the first place.

To overcome this, try wrapping the rigs in aluminum foil before packing in the box.

Campfire Cooking

Cooking over a campfire in the open is both a pleasure and a necessity if you are far from civilization.

Some sportsmen prefer gasoline stoves, but dyed-in-the-wool outdoorsmen find no substitute for the open campfire.

There is one serious drawback to open fire cooking — the sooty, greasy pots and pans to be scrubbed bright after each meal.

Prevent your pots and pans from getting sooty by using the aluminum plates that come with ready-to-serve frozen foods. Save such pans and take them with you on your trip. Put one under each pot or pan you use.

Aluminum plates will take care of the soot, leaving pots sparkling clean.

Pillow Slip Pack Bags

Tough, pliable plastic slip covers that slide over pillows make splendid bags to carry all sorts of small stuff in on camping and hunting trips.

Not only do they keep your stuff dry, but you don't have to open the bags to see what's inside.

Controlling Lures

Spin-fishermen can control the flight of their lures as easily as can bait casters — but with their forefingers.

When the spinning lure takes off too fast, point your forefinger down and let the outcoiling line slap against it.

After a few casts, your accuracy will improve greatly.

Need Hot Water Quickly?

When a fisherman needs hot water in a hurry and can't take the time to build a fire to heat it, he can start up his outboard motor, idle it, and hold a bucket under the hot water stream at the outlet.

He can get any amount of hot water he needs—and it is plenty hot.

Avoid Handling Small Fish

If you catch a fish too small to keep, don't handle the little critter when removing the hook, for you might injure him.

Slide your hand down the leader as you bring the fish to the surface. Grasp the lure with your thumb and forefinger and shake gently.

This frightens the fish and it will thrash about on the surface. Unless gut-hooked the action will more than likely dislodge the hook and the fish will take off for deep water.

Good Crappie Lure

A good lure for crappies may be made by cutting white rubber sheeting into 1 1/4-inch sections shaped like frogs or minnows.

Fished with a spinner, they can be murder.

Tip for Bass-Buggers

You don't have to stop fishing at sunset. You can get in 50 or 60 more casts with that fly rod if you will dab a little phosphorescent paint on the front of your bug or fly. The paint makes it easy to follow the path of your bait in the falling light.

Mag Tells Of Prehistoric Texas Fauna

"Most people are dinosaur conscious because of publicity perpetrated by Hollywood movies, oil companies and newspapers and TV comics. Yet, few realize that the dinosaurs represent only one small group of animals that once lived in the rather dim past," writes C. C. Reeves, Jr., in the February issue of Texas Game and Fish, the official publication of the Game and Fish Commission.

"For instance," explains Reeves, "most people have heard that the great grizzly bear once roamed Southwest Texas, the antelope grazed the Llano Estacado, the black bear beat the East Texas thickets and elk, bighorn sheep and buffalo enjoyed the solitude of various locations. But few people know that great 50-foot 'Crocodiles' once lived in the Trans-Pecos or that 30-foot sea monsters terrorized the seas of southern Texas."

Giant crocodiles, sea monsters, in the Lone Star State? That's right! And C. C. Reeves, a professor of geology at Texas Tech., knows his business. According to the geologist, primeval life in the state, in the form of bivalves,

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

The 1962 cotton crop returned Texas farmers nearly $800,000,000 and was again the state's principal cash crop. The December cotton report indicates the State produced 4,680,000 bales with an average lint yield of 349 pounds per acre. Growers received an average of around $120 per acre for lint and seed.

During the past five years the State's average annual production was 4,507,200 bales, produced on 6,214,000 acres. The acre yield in 1958 was 383 pounds per harvested acre, the first yields over 300 pounds since 1866 when the state average yield was 325 pounds. The average lint yield for a five year period was 349 pounds per acre.

There's quite a story in store for the readers of Texas Game and Fish, about "Far Back Fauna." In fact, the popular magazine has a number of surprise features this month. It has a good one on "Game Guardians," an adventure hunting dinosaur tracks and finding geodes, a very educational article about prairie chickens, hunting snipes with a muzzle loader, a lake story and a touching poem about a dance in the Brazos brakes. If you're interested in taking the magazine, send $2.04 to the Commission office in Austin.

Many growers throughout the state and in the Hall County Soil Conservation District have improved their soil's fertility and crop management in order to make higher yields. The new wealth they created has done much to strengthen the State's overall economy. To get the most net profit from cotton, without depleting soil fertility, it is necessary to maintain adequate organic matter in the soil. Fertilizer should also be applied to replace plant food nutrients removed from the soil.

The most practical way to maintain an adequate level of organic matter in the soil is to protect the land from erosion and return all crop residues to the soil. An average annual return of 3600 lbs. of dry, above ground residue is required to maintain an adequate level of organic matter in the soil.

Since cotton is a low residue producing crop it should be grown in rotation with high residue producing crops like grain sorghums or overseeded with small grains such as rye or have cotton burs applied to the land.

The organic matter in the soil will aid in preventing erosion, increase water intake and allow greater efficiency in the use of plant food. Approximately 80 pounds of nitrogen, 40 pounds of phosphorus and 60 pounds of potassium are required to produce a bale of cotton.

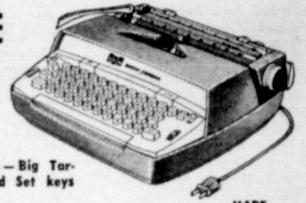

The most successful cotton producers have proved that cotton can be grown while improving soil fertility. The Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service will be glad to help you work out a conservation cropping system for your type of soil and help you get on the right road to a brighter cotton future.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM

by JOHN CONNALLY Governor of Texas

AUSTIN, TEXAS

GREETINGS:

Special observance of increased emphasis on our education system has been marked annually for thirteen years by a Public Schools Week in Texas.

During this period, parents are encouraged to visit the public schools, and all citizens are urged through special programs to recognize the tremendous importance of our system of education. Our goal is to make Texas public schools the finest in the Nation, and to achieve this our citizens are urged to take an active interest in the school systems and to cooperate with their school boards, superintendents, principals and teachers.

Never before in our history has there been a greater need for educated leadership. As we rush to train young people in science and technology to keep pace with world events, it is also important to remember that our public schools will furnish our leaders tomorrow with the basic human, moral and spiritual foundations necessary for more advanced training and knowledge.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the period of March 4-8, 1963, as

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK in Texas

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 21st day of January, 1963.

Delphian Club Meets Feb. 5 In Keith Home

The Delphian Club met in the home of Mrs. C. D. Keith, February 5, at 4 p.m.

The meeting was opened with silent prayer followed by the short business session, the program was presented.

The subject for the afternoon was "Communications." The meditation by Mrs. C. D. Morris was "How Great is Your God" based on Isaiah 40:18. She stated that a great scientist has said that the three most significant words to remember when thinking of our universe are "In the beginning." "God is so immense that He enhances all ventures into space. The zenith of communication is rooted in God. It is through His guidance that our souls will keep pace with our minds and our hearts can sing daily, 'How Great Thou Art,'" Mrs. Morris concluded.

Mrs. J. L. Barnes discussed "Conquest in Communication." She said, "Conquest in communications has never come at so rapid and dramatic a pace as today. Already in existence or under development are electric devices that can read your handwriting, change your spoken words into written words or translate Russian and Chinese into English. The equivalent of a human memory can be stamped on a piece of glass six inches square and scientists bounce radio waves off the sun for a round trip of 185 million miles. There are no oddities of science or laboratory exercises. A new era of communications has begun," she concluded. "Telstar and International TV" was the subject of Mrs. Sim Reeves. She described Telstar as being about the weight of an average man and the size of a beach ball, 34 1/2 ft. in circumference. She also stated that it is not a true sphere but has many facets which are covered with synthetic sapphires. Telstar was put into orbit June 10, 1962 for two years. It minimizes the cost of communications because cabling is very expensive. The launching site of Telstar is at Andover, Maine and it was launched by The American Telegraph Company, Mrs. Reeves stated.

The hostess, Mrs. Keith, served delicious refreshments to one guest, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, and the following members: Mmes. Clyde Smith, Mildred Stephens, Frank Finch, C. C. Hodges, Henry Hays, R. H. Wherry, Sim Reeves, W. C. Dickey, J. L. Barnes, C. D. Morris, J. W. Stokes, and Miss Maud Milam.

1913 Study Club Members Enjoy Fine Art Program

One of the most interesting programs of the club year was enjoyed by the members of the 1913 Study Club in the home of Mrs. Herschel Combs Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 6.

Elaborating on the topic, "The Inspired Creation of Figurines," Mrs. W. C. Davis told of the evolution of a Royal Doulton figurine. Supplementing her commentary with a colored film strip giving the various stages in the making of a china figurine, she fascinated her listeners with the history of this beautiful English ware.

"Each Royal Doulton figurine is the inspired creation of an artist and each is exquisitely modeled and painted by hand with but one aim in mind: to give abiding pleasure to the thoughtful homemaker and to those with whom she delights to share things of beauty," the speaker stated.

An authentic Royal Doulton figurine embodies all the traditions, the research, the skill and artistry of a hundred years of English craftsmen in ceramics.

"Indeed, there is far more in a lovely Doulton figure than meets the eye so tedious and careful is the workmanship. To transmute three simple elements—China clay, Cornish stone, and bone ash—into an entrancing Doulton figurine necessitates many weeks of affectionate patience," Mrs. Davis said as she unfolded the story of Royal Doulton.

A Doulton figurine and several toby jugs were displayed as examples of the precision and beauty of the English craftsmen.

Following Mrs. Davis, Mrs. R. E. Roark spoke on "The Elegance of Boehm Porcelain." Mrs. Roark had only a small porcelain mouse created by Edward Marshall Boehm for display, but the story of this remarkable and determined artist proved most interesting.

"In the past, America has trailed in achievement far behind European and Asiatic culture in one of the oldest and most beautiful of the arts—that of ceramic sculpture. Now, however, a distinguished American name has risen to a place of renown in the international art world.

"The sculpture-ceramist Edward Marshall Boehm, Maryland born, and educated at McDonough School and the University of Maryland, developed an understanding of fine animal breeding that distinguished his succeeding years spent in animal husbandry. But, while Mr. Boehm was working with these animals, he was studying their anatomy so that one day he would be able to further distinguish himself for his exquisite artistry in ceramic sculpture.

"Today the name Boehm on a piece of porcelain art represents the ultimate achievement of the heart and hand of this great artist. However, the struggle to succeed in the art for which both he and his devoted wife knew he had an inborn gift was long and arduous with many disappointments along the way.

"Not only did Marshall Boehm study birds, flowers, and animals until he could reproduce them in minutest detail but he researched and studied the art of making porcelain until he mastered that ancient formula also.

"Mould must please him in every particular before Mr. Boehm will cast a model from it. Then, after he has made a certain number of models from that mould, he breaks it. So, today only a limited number of his finest pieces are to be had at any price. The Metropolitan Museum of Art has purchased two of his porcelain sculptures for the permanent collection in the American Wing.

"Your possession of one of Mr. Boehm's masterpieces in porcelain will give you pleasure throughout your lifetime and leave a heritage of great beauty and increasing value to the generations to come," Mrs. Roark assured her listeners.

During the business portion of the afternoon's meeting, the president, Mrs. Bray Cook, took action on matters commanding attention. Among other things, the club voted to contribute to the fund to finance Billy Cosby's tour with the U. S. Band.

Lovely refreshments were served by the hostess to 15 members, and the meeting was adjourned.

The president, Mrs. D. H. Aronofsky conducted the business meeting. The following officers were elected and will be installed at the last meeting of the Club in May, to serve for the 1963-64 club year: Mrs. Earl Allen, president; Mrs. L. E. Barrett, first vice president; Mrs. Ralph Williams, second vice president; Mrs. Milton Beasley, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Philpot, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. C. Martin, treasurer; Miss Imogene King, parliamentarian; Mrs. Cecil McCollum, historian and Mrs. Robert Hanvey Jr. reporter.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Robert Hanvey Jr. Mrs. Cecil McCollum in introducing the book, "Ship of Fools" gave these remarks about the author, Katherine Ann Porter. "This long awaited novel is destined to take a permanent place in the literature of our time. Miss Porter is regarded as one of the most distinguished writers of the world today. Her famous collection of stories, "Flowering Judas," "The Leaning Tower," and "Pale Rider" have become classics. Katherine Ann Porter's "Ship of Fools" is the ship of humanity and is Miss Porter's crowning achievement."

Mrs. McCollum presented Mrs. H. J. Howell, who charmed the group for one hour by reviewing this great book, "Ship of Fools." Mrs. Howell began the story by saying, "This novel is on the grand scale and its endless variety of scenes and characters is the variety of life itself. In each life the drama of good and evil has taken place. In the mingling and meeting of these various personalities, from the incidents on board ship which affect their lives, this story is fashioned.

Comedy and tragedy, love and death, boredom and adventure, pain and pleasure—all are witnessed in the lives and actions of the ship's company of the German freighter-passenger ship "Veracruz" embarked from Veracruz, Mexico, and destined for Bremerhaven, Germany. The story covers a period of twenty-seven days in the year 1931.

"Many of the passengers are Germans, returning to their homeland from Mexico; the sensual Rieber, published of a ladies' garment trade magazine, who has designs on the coquettish Lizzi; Professor and Frau Hutten, a childless couple, and their seafaring white bulldog 'Bebe'; whom they dote upon; Baumgartner, a hopeless drunkard whose law practice failed in Mexico City; Cary Glocken, a hunchback who has sold out his little tobacco and newspaper stand in Mexico; Graf; a dying religious enthusiast who believes he has the power of healing. Also aboard is a corrupt, avaricious company of Spanish singers and dancers who scheme to defraud the other passengers of their money. And there are four Americans: William Denny, a Texan chemical engineer on his way to Berlin; Mary Tredwell, a woman of forty-five and divorced; David Scott and Jenny Brown, two young painters living together who torment and love one another in turn. Down in the steerage are more than eight hundred migrant workers, a surging mass of unfortunate humanity being deported to Spain after the sugar failure of the sugar market in Cuba."

In conclusion Mrs. Howell said, "The world was then on the edge of catastrophe and people were blind to the imminent disaster. This is revealed in episodes of personal unkindness and cruelty, stubborn prejudices and the reciprocal and destructive hatred between Jew and Christian."

During the social hour the hostess, Mrs. Williams served delicious refreshments to the following members: Mrs. W. C. Dickey, Mrs. D. H. Aronofsky, Mrs. H. J. Howell, Mrs. L. C. Martin, Mrs. Robert Spicer, Mrs. Eddie Fozhall, Mrs. W. R. Scott, Mrs. Glynn Thompson, Mrs. Milton Beasley, Mrs. Robert Sexauer, Mrs. Robert

"The Future Belongs to Those Who Prepare for It!"

And hundreds of boys in Hall County are preparing for it through membership in the four Future Farmers of America chapters of our county. We salute the FFA members in their vocational agriculture programs.

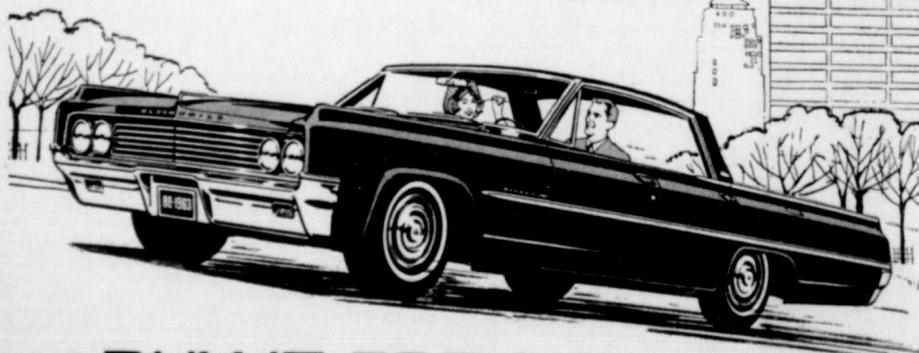

Part of the preparation for the future means learning the technical skills that are taught these young men in the vocational classes in the four high schools of our county. These men of the future are raising their own livestock and crops as individual projects. Learning the proper methods of financing and the use of credit are of growing importance in farming. This bank is ready to help all FFA members, now or in the future. Come in soon and get acquainted with our officers.

Engineers Plan Five Feet Dam For Salt Hole

Another attempt to stop the flow of the Estelline Salt Hole will be made in the near future, it was announced by the Corps of Engineers.

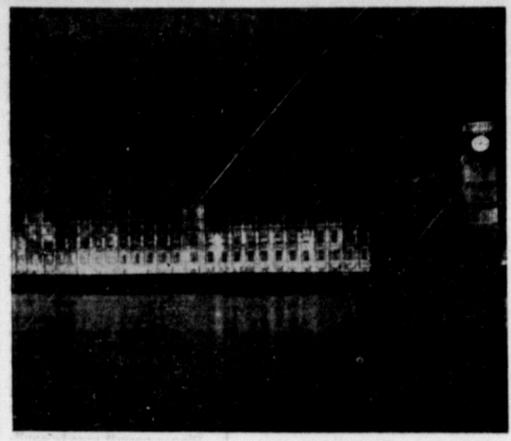

The Corps of Engineers plan a wall around the hole which will be 300 feet in diameter and five feet high. The wall will be placed 11 feet in the ground and all of the soil down to 11 feet will be taken out from the inside of the wall.

Engineers estimate the flow from the spring will be halted by pressure when the water reaches a foot from the top of the wall. Bids to construct the wall are being sought now and work is scheduled to start in about 60 days.

The Corps of Engineers are planning a similar program for a salt spring near Guthrie.

Figures show that water from the Estelline Salt Hole is responsible for 20 per cent of the pollution in Lake Texoma.

The Corps of Engineers has already made one unsuccessful attempt at stopping the flow of the Estelline Salt Hole.

NIGHT SCENE . . . Majestic towers of London and the famed "Big Ben" look even more dramatic at night, as this scene along the Thames River reflects.

Mr. Wooten has served as grade school principal for the past nine years. A graduate of WTSC, he taught at Happy and Roswell, N. M., after receiving his degree.

By BILL COMBS

Word spread over Memphis Tuesday night after the basketball game that the Cyclone team was the District 2-A champions, since Canadian pulled an upset, and jerked the hopes right out from under the second place McLean Tigers, giving Memphis the chamampionship despite the outcome of the Memphis-Lefors game at Lefors Friday night. If Canadian had not defeated McLean, then Memphis would have had to defeat Lefors Friday night to win the championship.

I would like to extend my congratulations to the Cyclone squad and the coach, Bob Martin, on their victory. It has been a number of years (since 1951 to be exact) that the local boys basketball team has won district, and it has certainly been an enjoyable association I have had with the Memphis squad. Congratulations, Cyclone, and I wish you luck and good shooting in the coming games.

Coach Bob Martin was hoping that Canadian could pull an upset Friday night, but he did not think that Wellington could defeat Lefors on their home court. However, that's exactly what happened. Wellington and Lefors play the same style of basketball, and, apparently, Wellington is just better at it, although earlier in the season, Wellington had a weak team. Coach Martin said Tuesday night that the local squad was going to Lefors to play that team just like the District Championship depended on the outcome. He said the local squad needed the win to keep up their momentum.

Well, what's next for the local cagers? Coach Martin announced that next week, he is trying to arrange practice games for Tuesday and Friday nights for the local team. So far, games with Hedley and Happy have been considered. However, no definite commitments have been made. Then the week of Feb. 25-Mar. 1, Memphis will play a Bi-District game with the winner of District 1-A, which at this time appears to be Stratford. However, a district tournament is scheduled for District 1-A to be held next weekend. If Memphis is victorious in Bi-District, they will enter the Regional Tournament at Lubbock, at which four schools will compete to see who goes to state.

Dale Sexton had a good night Tuesday against Clarendon, hitting 21 points, which is almost triple his seasonal average.

Memphis lost a district game to McLean Friday night by one point despite the tremendous come-from-behind effort of the local team. They were trailing by 10 points with three minutes left in the game, but by playing head-up basketball, they forged ahead by one point with seconds left on the clock when Dale Sexton scored a free shot. McLean came back and hit two free shots to win the game. I agree with Coach Martin that it was one of those nights when the local team just couldn't do anything right, without it backfiring on them. However, the local team didn't quit, and were able to look like a championship squad in the closing minutes of the game.

Fans in this area should make every opportunity to go see some of the games in the Boys and Girls District 10-B Tournaments being held at Lakeview gym this weekend and next weekend. If things go according to expectations, Saturday night, Quitaque and Estelline will probably play each other to decide the district championship. I have been told by several local basketball spectators, that it is worth the price of admission to watch Estelline's fine scorer, Teddy Barnes, perform. Estelline has been defeated twice by Quitaque, however, the third

Farm Facts

Aircraft have been used to aid agriculture for nearly 40 years, but growth of the business was slow until the end of World War II. Now an average of more than 50 million acres annually receives aerial treatment.

Planes apply chemicals to more than 50 million acres a year.

With planes large areas can be covered in a short time, application can be carried out when the ground is wet, and the growing crop is not liable to damage from the frost of the aircraft as from ground-application vehicles.

Almost 1.6 billion pounds of dry and liquid materials were dispensed from aircraft in 1960. Insecticides, both dry and liquid, accounted for over 45% of the total weight and fertilizers represented over 20%.

Planes permit speedy application of insecticides during critical periods and are employed against pests which infest crops, orchards, rangelands, oils, and forests and against insects like mosquitoes and flies.

rust and herbicides to kill weeds and brush also are applied from the air. Planes are playing a more and more important role also in the fertilization, defoliation, and seeding of crops.

Pancake Supper Is Great Success Says Cub Scouts

The Cub Scouts pancake supper, held last Friday night, was determined a success by the organization, Cubmaster J. O. Dixon announced this week.

"The Cubs sold approximately 600 tickets and we fed about 400 people, who ate an estimated 1,100 pancakes," he said. "We appreciate the patronage of the public for making the supper a success."

The Cubmaster also expressed thanks to the following for contributions: Wright Packing Co., Swindell Packing Co., Wood Bros., Foster's, Coleman's, Goodnight Gro., Vallance's, Memphis Gro., Morton Potato Chip Co., Pinkney Packing Co., Armour's, Amarillo Packing Co., W. A. Smith's of Borden's and Davis & Scott.

He also thanked those who helped in cooking and serving the supper. He said the proceeds will go to the Cub Scout organization of Memphis, Hedley and Estelline.

Mrs. George Greenhaw spent the weekend in Amarillo visiting in the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Greenhaw.

game may be a charm for Estelline.

It is my understanding that Hedley is champion in their district. If my information is right, congratulations are in order.

Gonzaga University

On the first Wednesday of September in 1887 Gonzaga University opened its doors to 18 students. On Thursday, September 21, 1961, Gonzaga, now one of the most modern universities in the Northwest, again seventy-five years later opened its doors to start the fall term... the original 18 students having increased to nearly 2,000.

The original Gonzaga College, first all-brick building in the frontier town of Spokane Falls, Washington, was completed in 1887, of bricks hand made from clay from the nearby Spokane River.

Gonzaga was founded by the Reverend Joseph M. Cataldo, S.J., a missionary with health so poor that he has been described as "90 years in dying," but with an unquenchable spirit which carried him through life of almost unparalleled service on the frontier.

By its Silver Jubilee in 1912, the school's growth and stature had been impressive. The Law School was chartered, and Gonzaga College became Gonzaga University.

In ensuing years, the University continued to expand its circle of service. The School of Economics and Business Administration was established in 1921 and the School of Education in 1928 and the School of Engineering in 1934.

A typical Gonzaga freshman class of 500 members has students from Puerto Rico and 28 of the 50 states. Foreign students come from Canada, Nigeria, Italy, West Indies, Formosa, Lebanon and Ireland.

Recently appointed President of Gonzaga is the Very Reverend John P. Leary, S.J., a native of Spokane and graduate of Gonzaga Preparatory School and Gonzaga University.

The new president has moderated the school's debating team which entered the national finals at West Point in 1959 and 1960. The squad was also named the top debating team for the four-state Pacific Northwest in 1960 and last year's team won 21 first place trophies.

Operated by the Jesuit order, Gonzaga has a large lay faculty (100), is co-educational and welcomes students of all faiths. Among many famous graduates is Harry L. (Bing) Crosby, class of 1924. The Crosby Library, a modern 3-level structure of reinforced concrete, aluminum, granite and glass, is a campus landmark.

long of Florida. He seeks to establish a Freedom Academy to train government workers, private citizens and foreign students in carrying on the counter offensive against the total political war being waged against the United States and the Free World by International Communism.

The Hon. Joe Pool of Dallas was named to serve on the committee in this new Congress, the first Texan appointed to the committee since Martin Dies. Because Rep. Pool was elected as Congressman-at-Large, Texans of every District can feel he is serving them directly.

Washington Roundup

The Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, on which I serve as third ranking majority member and chairman of the subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation, soon will receive from the Interior Department a proposal for landmark legislation to provide outdoor recreation facilities. When he briefed the committee recently, Secretary Udall said the proposal would serve "to preserve the face of this country and the outdoor recreational opportunities our people have always prized so highly." How Congress will greet it remains to be seen.

When all of the facts are known initial excitement over General Accounting Office criticism of the helium conservation program will die away. I had a major part in formulating this program, designed to give private enterprise corporations the job of conserving the vital natural resources for which our Panhandle gas fields are famous. The tip-off as to the reason behind criticism, based on unjustified claims that participating companies are taking profits not due them, came in a Washington Post editorial. "If the helium reserves are a genuine national need," said the Post, "Congress should reconsider this program and set up a nonprofit public corporation to acquire gas used principally in government-supported missile and atomic industries." A nonprofit public corporation is precisely what those of us who set up this program were trying to avoid. In my view, the mood of the Congress is against placing the government into any industrial activity that could better be handled by private enterprise companies equipped to work in the field.

The President's tax revision proposal for oil and gas amounts to an end run to avoid a head-on collision with the 27 per cent depletion allowance. The tax program submitted by the President would leave the 27 per cent rate intact, but it would in effect cut the allowance by tightening reporting and computation procedures. The Treasury Department estimates the effect would be the same as a drop of up to one-fourth in the oil and gas depletion allowance. The Independent Petroleum Association of America estimates that the effect would be a drop in the allowance to 17.5 per cent. In my opinion, a tough battle is com-can remember other presidents underwent the same treatment. America is a country where people can speak their thoughts freely. There are some people in every community who had rather down-grade a neighbor instead of giving him a kind word of sympathy and a helping hand. I suppose it has always been so, and will always be so as long as this world will stand.

Ben Ezzell of the Canadian Record, and one of the best newspaper men in the Panhandle, hands out thoughts concerning patriotism, as follows:

"My love affair with the United States of America began nearly 47 years ago . . . in 1916, when the first World War was in full swing and President Woodrow Wilson was about to lead this nation to the defense of Western Europe for the first time.

"I didn't know it then, of course . . . but I'm sure I must have been under the influence before many months had gone by. Probably it was a case of early brainwashing . . . my parents taught me to love my country from the beginning, and I never got over it.

"What I was taught, however, was not blind devotion . . . but an understanding of the democratic processes of our government and how it works . . . and I was taught that every one in this nation has a share in this government, and an obligation to it . . . and that this is a fine and wonderful thing. I still believe this is so.

"I believe that it is a citizen's privilege to criticize this government . . . and a citizen's duty to try to change it, through due process of law and election, when he is convinced that change should be made . . . but it is also a citizen's obligation to support it and uphold it and defend it against all who would tear it down.

"That is why, I suppose, that organizations like the John Birch Society, and publications like the Amarillo Daily News . . . which obviously distrust the democratic system and can find nothing good in the system of government of the United States but continually criticize it and attempt to undermine public confidence in it at every turn . . . arouse my ire so frequently and give me an urge to fight back, in defense of my country, with whatever weapons I can command.

"I mention this by way of explanation to readers of this newspaper . . . so that you may know that my occasional editorial outbursts against that great patriot, Editor Wesley Lizzard, are not due solely to my own bad temper or an evil disposition, but should probably be blamed on that early brainwashing by my parents, grandparents, and first teachers which convinced me, beyond all changing, that this really is a great country and that I should be proud of it. Because I think it is . . . and I am."

Memphis School Board Calls Election April 6

The Memphis School Board met Monday night and called an election for Saturday, April 6, in the City Hall, with Thomas Clayton to serve as election judge and Mrs. Claud Johnson, Mrs. Jack Boone, Mrs. A. H. Miller and Mrs. Lloyd Phillips as clerks.

The polls will open at 8 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m., it was announced.

The election is being called to elect two members to the board. Retiring board members are H. E. Craig and Bill Hall. Craig stated that he was not seeking re-election to the board at the meeting Monday.

Superintendent of Schools W. C. Davis stated that all a resident of the Memphis Independent School District has to do to get his or her name on the ballot is to file with Miss Ruby Hoffman at the High School office prior to the deadline, March 6. Also, Davis said, a name may be placed on the ballot if a petition is signed by five qualified voters is presented to Miss Hoffman prior to the deadline.

As of Thursday, two men have filed for election to the Memphis School Board. They are Billy J. Hall, who has been serving on the board serving out the unexpired term of W. A. Smithee, and Dr. Jack L. Rose, who is seeking election to the School Board.

Citizens can vote absentee as soon as ballots are available after the filing deadline. The last day of absentee voting is three days prior to the election. Absentee voting is done in the Hall County District and County Clerk's office in the courthouse.

The board handled only routine business and approved the paying of monthly bills prior to adjournment.
