City Lets $141,000 Municipal Building Contract

NEW MUNICIPAL BUILDING — Pictured above is an artists drawing of the new municipal building which will be constructed in the near future. The Memphis City Council Tuesday night let the contract to Rose Construction Co. of Abilene to build a $141,000 structure. The low bidder's contract called for 180 working days to build the building. The Council sold the old City Hall building and lots for $12,500 to the First State Bank of Memphis.

The Memphis City Council, after several hours of discussion Tuesday night, let the contract for the construction of the Municipal Building to Rose Construction Co. of Abilene at a cost of $141,045.91.

On Thursday, June 20, bids were opened and the Rose Construction Co. bid of $139,900 was the base bid. There were seven firms submitting bids.

Evan Roberts, of Stiles, Roberts and Messersmith of Lubbock, architect for the project, explained to the council that the bids submitted Thursday, June 20, did not include the steel jail cells, which, if new ones were purchased, would cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

Council Sells City Hall

After the council members had discussed how much the presently designed Municipal Building would cost, which was well over the $185,000 for the project approved in the bond election Feb. 2, 1963, the mayor heard a motion to sell the old City Hall. The motion was seconded, and the council passed an order to sell Lots 16, 17 and 18, Block 8, Original Town of Memphis, to the First State Bank of Memphis for $12,500, with understanding that the City of Memphis could occupy and use the facilities located on the lots until such time as the new structure on Lots 13 to 20, Block 24, Original Town of Memphis, was built.

Plans Trimmed

The council then discussed nine alternates to the original plans. After much deliberation, it was decided that four of the nine changes be accepted. These included: 1. To omit four wooden lockers from the Police Station (save $300). 2. To use water heater presently installed in the old building (save $40.25). 3. To accept new lighting plan which reduced lighting in building (save $571.54). 4. To use cheaper dimmers for stage (save $485.00).

The major problem was what to do about the jail cells in the new building. Rose Construction Co. submitted an offer that, if the council would authorize the use of the old cell blocks from the (Continued on Page 10)

Over One Million Dollars Is Being Spent In Memphis On Construction, Remodeling

So far this year, an estimated total of $1,390,000 has been, or will be spent on new buildings or on improving buildings in Memphis.

Building permits in Memphis from Jan. 1, 1963, through June 29, 1963, totaled $210,000. This figure included only new homes built on site here and the $100,000 Cousins Home, a nursing establishment recently under construction by Aged Homes, Inc., of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Wood moved to San Antonio in 1957 and had made her home there with her daughter, Mrs. R. S. Ingersoll. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Memphis.

Survivors include: two daughters, Mrs. R. S. Ingersoll of San Antonio and Mrs. W. J. Womack of Houston; two sons, J. C. Wood of Grand Prairie and Carl H. Wood of Memphis; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

New Doctors' Clinic To Be Built Here

Bids were opened Thursday, June 20, on the proposed $50,000 Doctors' Clinic. Dr. H. R. Stevenson said that the contract is to be let this week with the Rose Construction Company of Abilene, and construction is to start next week.

Evan Roberts, of Stiles, Roberts and Messersmith, of Lubbock, architect for the project, said the building will be of brick veneer, and will contain 2,600 square feet.

Other than this, during the same period, seven ready-built homes have been moved in at a cost of over $75,000.

During the past two years, over 20 houses in Memphis have been remodeled at a cost of over $50,000.

Plans are underway for major housing developments to be constructed within the next few months.

The reason for the major housing boom in Memphis is the addition to the local economy of factory payrolls. Within the past two years several factories have located here.

Several new homes have been built in the Lakeview area. Lakeview also has a new water system, constructed recently. The Lakeview Water Corp. has constructed a water tower, well and water pipes to supply drinking water to the residents of Lakeview. The Corporation received $110,000 Soil and Water Assn. Loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

Percentage wise, Memphis is the fastest growing town in North Texas.

Old timers here report that Memphis has never experienced such a sudden and extensive building boom in its history as that of the past two years. Over $2,000, Advertising Lesson?

The American people are lambasted from all sides, daily, with different advertising tricks to get them to buy the particular item of merchandise, whether it be a home or a tooth-pick.

The free enterprise system seems to work better the more advertising is used. In America, advertising is big, big business. However, many of us go through life never realizing how important advertising is in our every day life.

The following is a poem, the author of which we do not know, which points out one fact in the animal kingdom on this point.

The codfish lays ten thousand eggs,
The homely hen lays one.
The codfish never cackles,
To tell you what she's done—
And so we scorn the codfish
While the humble hen we prize.
It only goes to show you
That it pays to advertise!

Crime and Punishment

There is a growing concern in America today over the increase in serious crimes. According to Uniform Crime Reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, nation-wide crime increased 98% from 1950 to 1960, and preliminary figures show a 7% national increase in 1962 over 1961. Because there is no easy solution to this problem, diligent study should be given to the matter of crime and punishment by law-abiding citizens as well as government officials.

Crime is a legal concept, and what constitutes a crime will be determined, at least in part, by the attitudes of the people. The attitudes toward crime in a community or in a nation can be judged by those crimes considered to be important and by the treatment of criminals.

Modern authorities believe that society must protect itself against criminals rather than revenge itself on them. This can be done either by reforming the criminals or removing them from society. The degree to which this is practiced varies within the United States. Even when all states make a particular form of conduct a crime, punishments for the offense show that they do not regard it with equal disfavor.

A case in point has arisen in our Nation's Capital. From June 1957 to December 1962, crime in the District of Columbia increased by 43%. The situation has become grave, and once again an effort is being made to legislate a solution. Most of the basic issues involved, the truly contributing factors, have been completely overshadowed by the typical hue and cry for new and more restrictive controls over firearms. Both the President of the Board of Commissioners and the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia have asked for the so-called "Sullivan Law" which would require any resident to have a police permit to own a pistol or revolver or to possess one even for the protection of his own home.

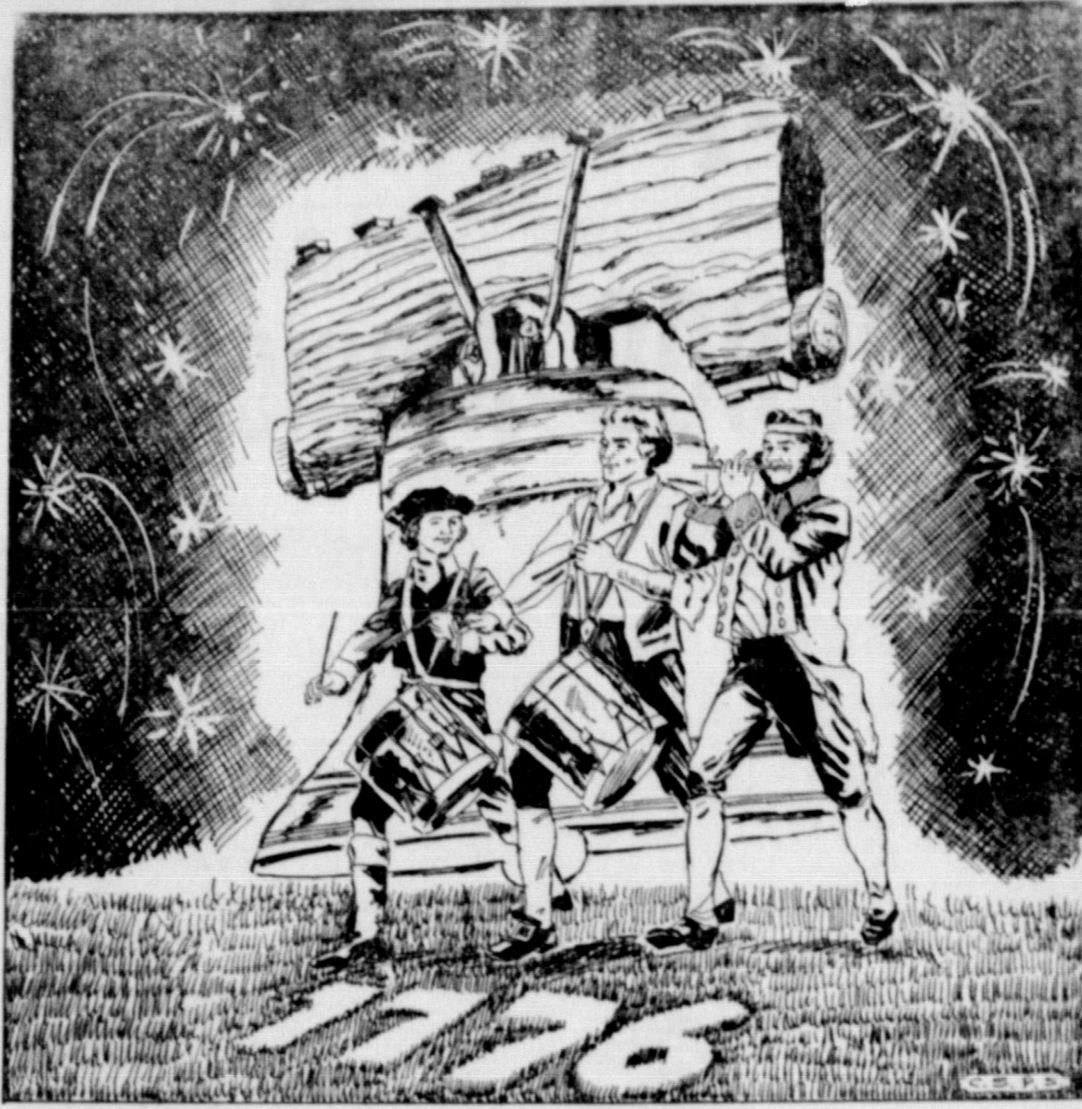

The District of Columbia law provides a maximum penalty of $1000 fine or imprisonment for not more than one year or both for those found guilty, for the first time, of illegally carrying a concealed weapon. Anyone previously convicted of a weapons violation or a felony can be imprisoned for as much as 10 years. Nevertheless, a survey of the D. C. Court of General Sessions indicates that in 1962 less than half of the 236 persons found guilty of illegally carrying a concealed pistol received a jail sentence—56 were permitted to pay a fine, 62 were placed on probation, 88 charges were dropped.

The Chief of Police, in answer to a request by the United States Senate Subcommittee to Investigate Juvenile Delinquency for information on the relationship of concealable weapons to the crime problem, reported that during 1962 pistols were used in 28% of the murders, 13% of the robbery cases, 13% of the cases of assault with dangerous weapon, and less than 1% of 3000 juvenile arrests for serious crimes.

Another bit of information which has made no impression is a study of assaults on police officers, by the Citizen's Crime Commission of Metropolitan Washington. This study reveals that in the District of Columbia during the fiscal year 1961 there were 167 such offenses committed by 153 individuals. This crime is a felony under existing law and carries a fine of not more than $5000 or imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or both. Anyone in the commission of such acts who uses a deadly weapon or dangerous weapon may be imprisoned not more than 10 years. In spite of the severe penalties provided, only 23 of the criminals were held for the Grand Jury. No papers were issued on 10; 12 were dropped; 71 cases were reduced to misdemeanors, and 24 were turned over to Juvenile authorities. Of the 23 which went to the Grand Jury, 11 received a fine or jail sentence—only one for more than 2 years. In one case in which an officer was stabbed in the abdomen with a knife, the defendant was sentenced to 30 days for 3 counts of assault, one count of disorderly conduct. In another case where a policeman was deliberately run down by an automobile and required hospitalization, the offense was reduced to simple assault and the defendant given a fine of $25 or 30 days in jail. In the 71 cases in which the offense was reduced to a misdemeanor, it was further reduced to simple assault in 50 of them. As a result of this study, the Crime Commission concluded that "the sentences are so lenient, that they tend to create a lack of respect for law and order".

Why does the ranking administrative officer of our Nation's Capital demand a "Sullivan Law"? Why does the United States Attorney for this great city state that "We are determined to reduce the number of pistols that are in the ownership or possession of residents of the District of Columbia and we would have to reject a philosophy that is opposed to that. . . . Why do the prosecutors and judges fail to impose the penalties provided under existing laws? The problem is extremely complex. It will not be solved by a "Sullivan Law" or any other legislation aimed at firearms rather than at the criminal. What is needed, among other things, is a better understanding of the causes of crime and a more realistic application of punishment.

What Other Editors Say

The Old Fourth!

The Fourth of July—Independence Day! What a world of color, of drama, of history, those few little words bring to mind, and especially to those of an age who can remember what the Fourth used to mean.

It was a day of fun, of course. There were games, complete with prizes for young and old alike, running the gamut from three-legged races to shooting matches. There were the family picnics, and sturdy old tables groaned under them. There were the fireworks, now banned almost everywhere, except in formal displays, for safety reasons. There were the orators—they ran the full gamut from good to indifferent to bad, but they all had one thing in common—dedication, passion, pride in nation, its heritage, and its future.

There were the great brass bands, the members standing tall in their pressed, polished uniforms. There were the roll calls of the towering names in molding and making a nation fit to stand with any nation—Washington, Madison, Monroe, Jefferson, the Adamses, Franklin . . . And the flags, proud against the sky, flew everywhere.

We still celebrate the Fourth. It's still a national holiday. But something vital has gone out of it. Whatever the reason, the nation is poorer, weaker and smaller because of that. Times have changed. We have grown, prospered, learned sophistications, enjoyed vast material progress. But is the old pride, the old sense of faith in nation and in its destiny, the old courage, still with us?

Each must answer for himself. But let him ponder deeply and honestly before answering as another Fourth comes near. —Turkey News

Simple Values

We now live in a fast-moving world. Few among us are able to retain the simple fundamental values in all our dealings with our fellow men.

The urge to earn the dollar is tremendously important. The urge to follow the crowd is sometimes almost irresistible. The urge to deviate from the truth is often powerful.

Yet the greatest men and women of our era are those who retain the simple and basic personal virtues. They may not always agree with the crowd. They may speak the truth when it is unpopular. But in the end, they wind up with the respect of their fellow men.

Simple, straight forward integrity and honesty will nevertheless bring permanent satisfaction and happiness when the short cuts will not. Therefore, reinforce your faith in the traditional Christian values of life and living.

Our lives are short. We can never come back over one day spent, again. Opportunities to do a good turn may never reoccur. Sooner or later we must look back over a life completed—and look

Sarah Porter, George Archer Wed In Brady Rites June 17

Nuptial vows were solemnized at 8 p. m. June 17 at the First Baptist Church in Brady for Miss Sarah Darline Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Porter of Killeen, and George Franklin Archer, son of Mrs. E. G. Archer of Memphis.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. D. L. Turner of Mineral Wells, uncle of the bride, who also officiated at the wedding of her parents and brother and sister. Assisting with the service were Rev. T. F. Collier of Dublin and Rev. J. J. Jordan of Brady.

The nuptial space was decorated with a sunburst arrangement of white stock and mums under an archway of white votive lights. Two swirl candelabras completed the center arrangement which was flanked by greenery trees and three and seven-branched candelabras holding votive lights.

Mrs. Guy Jones of Dublin, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Misses Karen Jo, Sammie and Terri Self of Brady as they sang "O Perfect Love" and "Breathe O'er Our Waiting Spirits, Lord." At the close of the ceremony, the bride and groom knelt and sang "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead."

Miss Soundra Harris of Lancaster, college roommate of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a street-length dress of pastel blue lace accented with white accessories. She wore a bandeau of white satin to which was attached a short veil, and carried a long stemmed white mum.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Porter of Waco, Miss Mary Kinsey of Oklahoma City and Miss Jo Baren Lohn of Brady. They wore pastel pink and blue dresses of sheer nylon and lace with white accessories. They, too, wore white satin bandeaus with short veils and carried long stemmed mums.

Sharon Archer of Alamogordo, N. M., niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of white net over taffeta. Kenneth Wayne Porter, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Rev. Bill Archer of Alamogordo, N. M., served as his brother's best man, and groomsmen were D. D. Archer of Albuquerque, N. M., brother of the groom, and Bob Fisher of Dublin and Jamie Lohn of Brady.

Ushers were Kenneth Porter of Waco, brother of the bride, and Royce D. Turney of Dublin.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline outlined with iridescent sequins and the long lace sleeves came to petal points over her hands. The lace ruffled tiered skirt was accented with iridescent sequins and fell to a chapel-length train in the back.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a single white orchid in a nest of white carnations atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Porter, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a peacock blue nylon dress accented with white accessories while the groom's mother, Mrs. Archer, wore a pink crepe and lace dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall.

The serving table was laid with an appliqued net cloth over blue taffeta and was centered with an arrangement of white mums and white and pink summer flowers. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with swans and topped with a miniature bridal couple under an archway of pink and white roses.

Betty Fowler served the wedding cake and Mrs. D. L. Turner, aunt of the bride, labeled punch. Mrs. Jamie Lohn, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book to secure signatures of the guests.

Following the rehearsal at the church Monday noon, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Porter, parents of the bride, entertained the wedding party with a luncheon in Fellowship Hall.

For a wedding trip to Big Bend National Park, Davis Mountains, and points of interest along the coast, the bride chose for travel a beige linen dress with matching three-quarter length coat accented with brown and green accessories. She was wearing the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Brady High School and attended Howard Payne College, Brownwood. The bridegroom is a graduate of Memphis High School, Howard Payne College and is now a student in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

He is serving as minister of music and education in the First Baptist Church in Dublin. The newlyweds will be at home at 519 N. Patrick, Dublin.

SEAT BELTS SAVE LIVES

The Texas Safety Association reports that research shows approximately 5,000 lives could be saved annually in traffic if occupants of automobiles used seat belts.

"If your car does not have seat belts, now is a good time to have them installed—before it's too late," a spokesman urges.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

The Fourth of July "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. . . ." So declared the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, on July 4, 1776.

Not only did these brave forefathers of ours thereby dedicate themselves to freeing the young country from the yoke of British oppression, but also by their Declaration of Independence they laid down a philosophy of government that has been of paramount influence through all the days of the Republic.

On this occasion of the 187th anniversary of that first Fourth of July, Independence Day, let us pause a moment to remember that Thomas Jefferson and the other Representatives of the United States of America were declaring their intention to establish a government more in keeping with distinctly American ideals than that government which had exercised such tyrannous power over the colonies and their peoples. The founders were not declaring their intention to do away with government, to substitute anarchy for "absolute Despotism." They declared it was their "Right...their Duty" to be free of British rule "and to provide new Guards for their future Security."

The "new Guards" were, of course, to be a new Government. The founders of our Nation said WE will provide for ourselves as a self-governing United States, a government to be characterized in the immortal words of Abraham Lincoln, commemorating a battle fought 100 years ago this Independence Day, as "...of the people, by the people, for the people."

Those Americans who declared Independence and then fought to make it stick were opposing a government of such little regard for American feelings and desires that its leaders, from King George III through the Parliament, were THEY—and not WE.

This early-American feeling that THEY—not WE—constituted the governing authority persists in some quarters today. Despite the demonstrable fact that through history our representative form of National government has remained responsive to the will of the majority while providing protections to minority rights, there are many Americans who decline to regard themselves as members of their government as citizens holding the franchise, the right of free speech, the right of petition and other rights assured by the Constitution.

How many times on this Fourth of July will orators remind their audiences that WE Americans control our destiny through OUR voice in government, that the government is of US and is OURS. Many times, I hope, because that continues to be as true today as when the drafters of the Constitution chose to begin its magnificent expression with the words: "WE the People of the United States..."

Unfortunately, many citizens have fallen into the THEY habit in thinking of the government. On this Fourth of July, I would commend to them a re-reading of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and any good, thorough history of the United States.

As a boy, like most American youngsters, I expended more pennies that I should have in buying firecrackers to commemorate Independence Day. Now, many States and most cities have enacted laws to protect citizens from the dangers of pyrotechnic celebrating. Noting this fact, and to provide an appropriate substitute, the Senate and House this week enacted a resolution declaring that "the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence should be observed each year by the ringing of bells throughout the United States at the hour of 2 o'clock, eastern daylight time, in the afternoon of the 4th of July, or at such other time that day as may be determined by local authority."

The tolling of the Liberty Bell at Independence Hall in Philadelphia at 2 o'clock on the 4th day of July, 1776, proclaimed the signing of the Declaration of Independence. We've had Fourth of July bell-ringing since that time, and I'm glad the Congress has provided through the new resolution further encouragement of that practice.

In the Panhandle, 2 o'clock eastern daylight time, will fall at noon. I hope everyone within reach of a bell goes forth to ring it proudly and that a great, if non-explosive, din will ensue.

Two County ROTC Cadets Attend Camp At Ft. Sill

Two Hall County ROTC Cadets left last month for Ft. Sill, Okla., where they will attend the six-weeks ROTC Summer Camp.

Cadets Michael Cope, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cope of Parnell, and James L. Sexton, son of Mrs. Irma L. Zigler of Memphis, are two of the 1891 Reserve Officer cadets attending the General Military Science ROTC Camp at Ft. Sill, to become future Army officers.

Records were checked, physical examinations taken, clothing and equipment issued to cadets upon their arrival June 14.

The cadets began their intensive training Monday, June 17, and for the next six weeks will learn how to become an expert firer with the M-1 rifle on the trainfire range.

The cadets will learn to fire and handle many weapons along with the intensive athletic requirements during the six weeks training.

Maj. Gen. L. S. Griffing, Post Commander, in his welcoming address to the cadets said, "Here you will be tried and tested to see whether you have it in you to become a good Army officer."

The ROTC program in college is designed to permit progressive evaluation of college students and to insure selection of those best qualified for commissions. It produces nearly 15,000 officers annually and is the primary source of officers for the active Army and its components of reserves and national guard.

Three Memphis students and one Lakeview student were among 340 junior high and elementary music students who participated in Texas Tech's annual Summer Music Camp, June 24 to July 3.

Those enrolled in the band section from Memphis were Donald Aronofsky, Vicki Hooser and Vee Latimer. Jay Ben McMillen enrolled from Lakeview.

The band section included 217 students. A choir section of 35 members and an 88-member orchestra completed the camp.

Visiting here Sunday in the Elmton Branigan home were Mrs. H. T. Branigan of Hollis, Okla., and Mrs. Johnny Freeman and son Norman of Martin, Tenn. Norman remained in Memphis to visit for a few days.

Best Cotton Available For Testing of the cotton produced in this area will be eligible for the "Mike" test offered for the first time to farmers throughout the state.

It was pointed out today by the state cotton administrator, in charge of the Altus office. He added that toward the middle of last season, testings were offered on a basis to farmers in parts of Texas and Oklahoma.

The "Mike" test is made only on cotton which is classified for the "Mike" test. Mr. Cox explained that last year, the Altus and Dallas offices classified a combined 378,776 bales for farm-land over 95 per cent of the area in this 22-county territory.

The "Mike" comes from a special air flow instrument which is used to determine the spinning utility of cotton. The "Mike" reading indicates the maturity and maturity of cotton is related closely to the amount of waste, yarn appearance, finishing and processing efficiency in manufacture of goods.

In cases, cottons having a reading of 3.5 and above are suitable for most mill plants, according to Mr. Cox.

Farmers who have their cotton baled should be in a better position to market it on the basis of the "Mike" test.

Farmers in Smith-Doxey improvement groups are eligible for the "Mike" service, which costs 8 cents per bale. Cotton is classified for Smith-Doxey improvement.

Farmers are filing applications for the "Mike" testing service. They are urged to apply early, as the deadline for applying is July 15.

REV. AND MRS. ROBT. GRIFFIN

Robert Griffin Is Lakeview Baptist Pastor

Rev. Griffin and his wife, Faye and their son, Dale, who is one, moved to Lakeview Tuesday of last week.

Rev. Griffin said he was still attending Wayland Baptist College at Plainview and he is expected to finish next May.

The Griffins are natives of Borger where both graduated from Stinnett High School.

Rev. Griffin served two years as pastor of the Friendship Baptist Church in Dickens County, prior to coming to Lakeview.

Fires Cause Record Farm Losses In 1962

Farm fire losses in the nation during 1962 reached an all-time high of $175 million, according to estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This is 7 per cent above the $163 million for 1961 and a million dollars higher than the previous record set in 1959.

The estimate, made by USDA's Economic Research Service, was based on the farm fire loss experience of a sample of 226 farmers' mutual fire insurance companies in 27 states and on the valuation of farm buildings as furnished by crop reporters.

The volume of insurance carried by these companies amounted to approximately $11 billion at the end of 1962, and their fire and lightning losses totaled about $16.9 million last year. For 1961 and 1962 combined, their loss rates averaged about 15 cents per $100 of insurance.

Farm fires continued to strike about two out of 100 farms each year. The "burning rate" (percent of value destroyed) for farm and rural property is about six times that for urban property, according to annual reports of state fire marshals in three midwestern states.

Buildings and their contents accounted for about 85 per cent of fire losses paid by the sample companies. Dwellings and contents accounted for 42 per cent barns and their contents, 27 per cent; and other buildings including rural churches and schools, 16 per cent.

Personal property, chiefly machinery and equipment, livestock and unstored produce, accounted for the other 15 per cent of losses paid. About 80-90 per cent of the losses paid on livestock were due to lightning.

Keith Gard of Amarillo is visiting this week with Karen and Matthew Smith.

Lawn Mowers Are Dangerous

A common sound these days is the one made by operating power lawn mowers. They are a necessary tool for keeping the lawn mowed and in good shape, but, warns the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, they can become a lethal weapon when improperly used.

The rotary type mower can become a real accident hazard not only to the operator but to persons who may be nearby when used to mow lawns or weeds where rocks, bones, pieces of wire, nails or other debris are present. The Council reports that about this time of the year the number of accidents involving lawn mowers begins to increase and that chances are good of someone in your neighborhood has been a victim.

The cutting blade can be broken by striking a hard object and hurled through the air. Wire can be cut in short pieces and hurled at bullet speed. Be sure, warns the Council, that the area being mowed is free of such objects and that the mower is constructed so as to prevent objects being hurled toward the operator.

The Council suggests safety measures which, if followed, could prevent many accidents involving lawn mowers and other power tools. Never, they say, try to make adjustments to a mower while the engine is running. It could cost you a finger or hand. It's good business to remove the wire from the sparkplug before attempting to repair or adjust the cutting blade or remove accumulations of grass or weeds from under the mower.

Children should never be allowed to operate a mower nor should a person who is barefooted or wearing open toed shoes. The engine should be cool before refueling and if an electric mower is used be sure the extension cord is in perfect condition.

The folks who make lawn and trimming equipment are concerned about the user's safety and have made recommendations to insure a long and useful life for the machine and operator. They put this information in an operator's manual. The Council strongly recomommends that all power tool operators become familiar with their manual.

Velda McClung and James Dickey, both of Amarillo, visited here Sunday with James' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dickey. On Sunday afternoon the group enjoyed an outing at Burson Lake.

Highway accidents in the U. S. took a record number of lives in 1962. About 40,500 people died on the nation's highways last year, and more than 3,345,000 were injured.

Lure In Predators

Calling predators has become a popular sport. But you need not wait until darkness — or use a caller — to get results.

Put several baby chicks in a wire box and place the box in sparse cover. Then conceal yourself well.

The loud chirp of the chicks will attract any predators in the neighborhood.

It is possible to leave Wake Island on January 21 and arrive at Midway Island on January 20.

A. J. Welch, husband of the former Pat Combs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Combs, was one of three electrical engineers recently awarded fellowships for work on measurement of brain activity by the Tulane University School of Medicine, New Orleans.

The study is aimed at providing clues to behavior in psychiatry and neurology at Tulane, and the fellowships will be supported by the Edward G. Schlieder Foundation Scholarship program which was initiated March 1, 1963, as one part of a plan to develop a bioelectronics unit in the Department of Psychiatry and Neurology for studying correlations of brain activity and behavior.

The two men, other than Welch, who received fellowships were Harold Childress, research associate at Baylor University and employee of the Gulf Aerospace Corporation of Houston; and Bernard Saltzberg, senior scientist with the Bissett-Berman Corporation of Santa Monica, Calif.

Welch, who has served as an instructor of electrical engineering for the past three years at Rice University while fulfilling his graduate course requirements toward a doctor's degree, is a graduate of Texas Technological College, and holds his master's degree from Southern Methodist University.

Welch has spent a considerable amount of time during the past three years working in the field of medical electronics.

Next year, he will devote full time to developing and experimentally verifying a mathematical model which may be used to describe certain brain processes.

Greenbelt Game Address July 27

The Greenbelt Bowl Football Game will have a special address on July 27, as the game will be the 75th anniversary of the celebration of Childress. The celebration will start on Sunday and will end on Sunday.

Memphis Artists Show Paintings In Art Galleries

Several Memphis artists have had pictures shown in galleries in Texas and New York City during the past few weeks.

Selected to show in Amarillo were paintings by Mrs. Jack Rose, Mrs. Lynn McKown and Miss Maud Milan.

Paintings by Mrs. H. R. Stevenson and Mrs. Frank Ellis were shown recently at the Art Gallery in Dallas.

One painting by Mrs. Lynn McKown was sent to New York City where it was shown at the Burr Galleries during May.

An art class was held in Memphis last year. Instructor for the class was Dord Fitz of Beaver, Okla., who has an Art gallery in Amarillo. A noted artist, Mr. Fitz taught art at the University of Kentucky for 14 years.

people of Childress have prepared a warm welcome for the boys and their given nominees, as they will be given passes to the swimming pool, the theater, and will be given a hospitality picnic by the citizens of Childress.

The public is invited to attend all of these functions.

Local Boys To Play In State Jaycees Golf Meet

Jay Dunbar was in Pampa Friday to play in the regional Jaycee Golf Tournament. He qualified in the meet and is now eligible to play in the state Jaycee tournament to be held later in the summer.

Also qualifying for the state tournament from Memphis is Larry Parks who played recently in Childress.

Mrs. Allen Dunbar and Jan accompanied Jay to Pampa.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

By RICHARD MYERS
Range Conservationist

Most every day ranchers are trying to produce more pounds of beef at less expense and yet, improve their rangeland. According to research and experiments at the Texas Ranch Experimental Station at Throckmorton and the Experimental Ranch at Sonora, rotation—deferred grazing is one answer to the problem. There are several definite systems which can be set up but they are not the only way to achieve the same goal.

At the ranch experiment stations these are the systems set up: (1) the two-pasture or Switch-back, (2) the three-pasture and (3) the four-pasture rotational—deferred systems. The two-pasture system or South African Switch-back consists of two pastures of the same size with the same number of cattle, that would normally be on both pastures, switched back and forth in a definite pattern. The three-pasture system involves three pastures of equal size with the group of cattle normally grazing these pastures divided into two groups and placed into two of the pastures. At the end of six months one group is rotated and at the end of the next six months the second group is moved, thus begins the rotation at six month intervals. The four-pasture system is similar to the three-pasture system except that all of the cattle are placed in three pastures and one of the groups is rotated every four months.

There are several advantages to rotation—deferred grazing. But the main one that is of most importance to the rancher is that the number of cows need not be decreased to rest a pasture and yet, get improvement of the grass.

Girl Scouts To Hold Car Wash On July 10

Girl Scout Troop 195 will hold a car wash at May Mobil Service July 10, according to an announcement made by leaders this week.

It was pointed out that all cars will be picked up and delivered by an adult.

Anyone wishing to support the Girl Scouts in this project may call 259-2217. The washing will begin at 7:30 a. m., and appointments will be made until 6 p. m.

The troop expressed thanks to all who have supported their fund raising campaigns.

"The citizens of Memphis and the surrounding territory have been most receptive, as well as encouraging in activities sponsored by Girl Scouts," leaders said.

It was announced that Linda Lemons and Mary Hubbard, troop leaders, will chaperon the forthcoming trip to "Six Flags Over Texas."

old building, they would take them out and install them in the new building at an added cost of $2,543 over their base bid.

The council agreed that this was the most economical way, and approved the using of the old cell blocks.

Alderman Allen Dunbar made the motion and Alderman B. O. Shankle seconded it, that the contract be let to Rose Construction Co. to build the building for $141,045.91.

The company's contract calls for 180 working days to complete the structure. The building will be built on the city's eight lots, located east of the First Presbyterian Church.

The council discussed several topics but took no official action on any of them, other than authorizing bids to be taken on a used tractor with mower attachment.

They accepted the reports and approved the paying of the bills.

Visiting this week and next week in the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. McBee, are Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McBee of Pittsburg, Calif., Mrs. Mary Akard of Rio Linda, Calif., and Mrs. Lillie Burnett of Sacramento, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Klatts and daughter of Corpus Christi.

HOME GROWN PUMPKIN — The almost basketball size pumpkin shown above ripened this week at the Keith Cunningham home in Memphis. The story behind the fruit started last Halloween when Keith cleaned out a pumpkin to make a jack 'o lantern for his children, throwing the seeds in a flower bed. This spring the seeds came up and resulted in the early pumpkin. There are several other pumpkins on the large vine.

will begin work in earnest next Monday, and more workers will be added as they learn to do the work properly . . .

Cousins Home is to be completed next week and ready for occupancy as soon as the rooms are equipped. A visit to this much needed institution will leave a good impression upon the visitors. The building is modern in every respect, and will be very home-like to those who are to make it their home . . .

Hall County Hospital is rapidly getting to look more hospital-like, with a lot more work to be done inside that will make sick people want to take advantage of the latest in hospital facilities. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy before the end of 1963 . . .

Contract has been let for an up-to-date municipal building and community center, which is expected to take six months to complete . . .

A number of residences are under construction and others soon will be. There's something doing every minute in Memphis, for she is on the GO GO.

Web worms and Army worms, the past several days, tried to destroy a lot of cotton. They succeeded to some extent, but the hot weather has proven too much for them—"too hot for me" were their last words as they curled up and gave up the ghost.

From the Farwell Tribune: The County Health Officer this week recommended the public take special precautions because of the number of mosquitoes present in the area. He especially urged parents to protect their children against mosquito bites, to prevent their getting a virus. It has been proven that mosquito bites chickens and birds which have a virus, and then later may bite a human being, passing on the virus. He said, spray around the homes, get rid of stagnant water, and take precautions so that young children won't receive bites. (This could apply to Memphis, jcw.)

Orchids to the Memphis Lions Club, for showing a remarkable growth during the past year, as revealed at the banquet of members and ladies one night last week. The report showed that the Lions are active, wideawake, and pressing forward, and that Memphis is on the GO GO.

John Tuttle, manager Lakeview Farmers Co-op Gin, hands in the following to use in Comments: WHAT IS A FARMER?

A farmer is a paradox—he is an overall executive with his home his office; a scientist using fertilizer attachments; a purchasing agent in an old straw hat; a personnel director with grease under his fingernails; a dietitian with a passion for alfalfa, amino acids, and antibiotics; a production expert with a surplus, and a manager battling a price-cost squeeze.

He manages more capital than most of the businessmen in town. He likes sunshine, good food, State fairs, dinner at noon, auctions, his neighbors, his shirt collar unbuttoned and, above all, a good soaking rain in August.

He is not much for droughts, ditches, thoroughways, experts, the eight hour day, grasshoppers or helping with housework.

Farmers are found in fields—plowing up, seeding down, rotating from, planting to, fertilizing with, spraying for, and harvesting. Wives help them, little boys follow them, the Agriculture Department confuses them, city relatives visit them, salesmen detain them and wait for them, weather can delay them, but it takes Heaven to stop them.

A farmer is both Faith and Fatalist—he must have faith to continually meet the challenges of his capacities amid an ever-present possibility that an Act of God (a late spring, an early frost, tornado, flood, drought) can bring his business to a standstill. You can reduce his acreage but you can't restrain his ambition.

Might as well put up with him—he is your friend, your competitor, your customer, your source of food, fiber, and self-reliant young citizens to help replenish your cities. He is your countryman—a denim-dressed, business-wise, fast-growing statesman. And when he comes in having spent the evening hopes and dreams, he is changed anew with the words: "The market's up. Copy by Station KMA doah, Iowa.)

Mrs. Harley Gordon, dren of Dallas are visiting this week with her mother and Mrs. Louie Gifford and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Toner of Amarillo, Tex., returned to their homes. They came to see their mother, Mrs. Clyde M. Toner, and receiving treatment at local hospital.

Bob Prewitt of San Diego, Calif., visited with his family in Memphis and area this week.
