GTC Announces Reorganization

General Telephone Company of the Southwest's northern division—an area of operation involving sixty-seven cities in north Texas and western Oklahoma—will undergo a reorganization effective January 1, 1964, according to the phone firm's president, E. H. Danner of San Angelo.

Under the new organization, which is designed to fit customer needs and improve service, district managers who are located in Memphis, Perryton, Ralls and Seymour, Texas, and Guyton, Oklahoma, will have direct authority over all functions in their districts and will report directly to the division manager, Mills Roberts in Memphis.

In addition a new division position, service and facilities manager, has been created and will be filled by Melvin Jennings of Memphis, former division plant superintendent.

The new organization places more responsibility and authority at the local level, Danner said.

According to G. H. Briggs, operating vice president, each of the districts have been "custom created" in order to most effectively use personnel to meet the greater customer needs of today.

District managers under the new plan are Wayne L. Goodrum, Memphis; C. M. Caldwell, Perryton; Sherron T. Lee, Ralls; F. A. Robinette, Seymour, and H. E. "Tony" Graig, Guyton.

Jennings, a native of Chico, Texas, joined General's predecessor company, Southwestern Associated Telephone Company in 1950. For the next eight years, he served in various capacities, including supervisor of General's plant training school in San Angelo, before coming to Memphis as plant superintendent in 1958.

General's Memphis district presently includes the cities of Clarendon, Claude, Dodson, Estelline, Groom, Hedley, Lakeview, Miami, Mobeetie, Panhandle, Quitaque, Turkey, Wellington, Wheeler, White Deer and Memphis.

Goodrum comes to Memphis from San Angelo where for the past year he has served as a commercial representative in the phone firm's General Office. Prior to that assignment he was a communications consultant in Littlefield.

A native of Fort Worth, Goodrum attended grade school in that city, then graduated from high school at Hobbs, New Mexico. He also attended New Mexico State University, and graduated with a BBA degree from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene in 1958. He joined General Telephone in 1959.

Goodrum and his wife, the former Betty McNiece of Abilene, have two children, Carolyn (4) and Bryan (1). They attend the Baptist Church.

The family moved to Lamar County, Texas, in 1903 and to Hall County in 1940. Mr. Jones was engaged in farming in the Plaska community until 1953 when the family moved to Memphis.

He preceded his wife in death on Nov. 11, 1957.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery with services under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Surviving are five sons, Willie of Riverside, Calif., Charles of Memphis, Lloyd of Amarillo, Hollis of Del Mont, Kans., and Hassell of Del Mont, Kans.; five daughters, Mrs. Alvie Nolan of Tulia, Mrs. Dalia Swindell of Memphis, Mrs. Elbert Haire of Memphis, Mrs. Mamie Jones of Amarillo, Mrs. Helen Jones of Amarillo, 39 grandchildren, 55 great-grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Jaycees Say 'Toys for Tots' Is Best Yet

The Memphis Jaycees' second annual "Toys for Needy Children" project was declared more successful than last year's project because more toys were donated this year, President Carroll Gardenhire said today.

Toys were delivered to 20 families and 70 children Monday night, Tuesday night and Wednesday by members of the Jaycee organization here. These families lived all over the county, it was reported.

Included in the toys were 10 rolling toys (bicycles, tricycles, etc.) and a large assortment of dolls, stuffed toys, and smaller toys.

D. D. Morgan, chairman, said he would like to thank all who had a part in the "Toys for Needy Children" project.

Serving on the committee with Morgan were Calvin Todd, Robert Hodges and Carl Morris. The project was a club endeavor and many members of the Jaycee organization worked to repair and paint the toys and helped deliver them to the families.

Memphis, Estelline To Enter Childress Meet

Supporting a four-four season so far, the Memphis Cyclone cage team will travel to Childress Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of the week to play in the Childress basketball tournament.

The Cyclone is scheduled to play its first game against Vernon B team beginning at 5:30 p. m. today (Thursday). If the local lads win, they will meet the winner of the Childress-Dodson game at 7 p. m. Friday.

If Memphis loses its first game, the team will play at 4 p. m. Friday.

Four of the eight teams entering the tournament will receive trophies, since trophies will be awarded to the first, second, third and consolation winners.

"Each team will play three games in the tournament, regardless of winning or losing," Coach Milton Miller said.

Teams entered include, Childress A and B, Vernon A and B, Quail, Dodson, Estelline and Memphis.

The Cyclone will go to the tournament with a four win, four loss record for the season, and

James Odom the season's leading scorer with 115 points in the eight games. This gives him a 14.4 point per game average

James Waites is the team's second high point man with 86 points and a 10.4 average while Bill Pounds has scored 71 points with an 8.9 average. Larry Helm has scored 54 points with a 6.8 average.

Others scoring for the Cyclone include Jimmy Harrison with 13 points, Jay Dunbar with 10 points, Randy Brown with 8 points and R. B. Spruill with 2 points.

Memphis has scored 442 points this season for a per game average of 55, while their opponents have scored 468 for a per game average of 58.

Contract Is Let To Pave Highway 287 In County

A contract for 6.43 miles of construction of US Highway 287 in Hall County has been awarded to an Amarillo firm, it was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission, subject to the concurrence of the Bureau of Public Roads.

Cooper and Woodruff, Inc. and Public Construction Co. submitted the low bid of $423,315 on the project. Grading, structure, foundation course, asphaltic concrete pavement from the Donley County line to 6.43 miles southeast, is called for in the contract.

The work is expected to take some 200 working days, according to Palmer Massey, District Highway Engineer at Childress.

William O. Hamm, Resident Engineer at Childress will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

Hall County farmers returned to their fields today to begin gathering what remains of the 1963 cotton crop, and by 10:30 a. m., trailer loads of cotton began arriving at some of the gins, it was reported.

After a week of cold, snowy weather, farmers took advantage of the adverse weather to celebrate Christmas. Wednesday was the first ideal harvesting day farmers have seen in two weeks.

The ginning total this week rose 2,641 bales despite the bad weather to make a year's total of 48,458 bales ginned so far, a telephone survey of the 14 county gins revealed this morning.

On December 27, 1962, 49,224 bales had been gathered.

As cotton harvesting passed the 80 percent completion mark in the Memphis office classing territory, lower quality was reflected in receipts classed through Friday, Dec. 20, according to K. E. Voelkel of the Agriculture Marketing Service's classing office in Memphis.

With a 15,000 sample back-log and receipts during that week, we were able to class nearly 24,000 samples. Through Tuesday of this week, the seasonal total rose to 163,031 as compared with a total of 114,184 on Dec. 24, 1962, he said. Tuesday, the office carried over 3,000 samples, and with limited receipts expected, we hope to be current after Friday, he said.

One classer was released Saturday to return to Memphis, Tenn., so the office has seven classing tables in operation now. Robert Clayton was released from the local office.

"Our micronaire crews are caught up and their operation has been suspended until receipts pick up," Voelkel said.

The grades, staple lengths and micronaire readings showed lower quality. This can be attributed to the method of harvesting and the fact that some cotton being ginned has not matured. More than 4 percent of the cotton classed, which was twice the amount of the previous week, was reduced in grade because of Bark, Grass and Preparing. Nearly 2 percent was classified as Wasty.

Based on statistical estimates, only 9 percent of the cotton classed during the week, was in the (Continued on Page Eight)

Johnson will secure the nomination of the Democratic Party; it is a farsighted man, and knows politics. Therefore, with the Republicans nominating any one of the three leading names mentioned above, I now forecast that President Johnson will be elected President of the United States in November 1964. All of this gives me more assurance that 1964 should be a good year.

1. TAX CUT. A tax cut will be enacted sometime during the coming session of Congress; and it will surely be made retroactive to January 1, 1964. The tax cut should help consumer buying; it may even increase general business.

2. CIVIL RIGHTS. Some sort of a civil-rights bill will be passed upon by Congress during 1964. The Administration wants to please the South and hold its Democratic votes there, but the civil-rights bill now before Congress is not satisfactory to the white people of the North. Therefore, I forecast that whatever civil-rights bills is passed before the election of 1964 will be considerably watered down.

3. NEGRO PEOPLE. The Negroes will continue to make progress and get more, but I predict that the gains will have to come largely through changing attitudes of the people. Otherwise, the situation will be much like the prohibition problem which the good people of the nation thought could be solved by legislation. Such reforms take place only as the minds and hearts of the people are changed for the better.

4. GOVERNMENT SPENDING. Of course, in the long run, the survival of a nation should depend upon its spending less than it takes in. Nowadays however, it is fashionable — for consumers or government — to have balanced budgets. Therefore, I predict that 1964 will see a bigger deficit than this year's.

5. DEPRESSION. Whether for better or for worse, the voters have been taught to believe they can and should get something for nothing, and only a severe depression could ultimately change this belief. I, however, look for no depression in 1964.

6. AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK. Although crops, prices, and farm income may be basically dependent on the weather, much of the world is short of food. Russia's and China's heavy purchases of grain will do more to bolster U. S. farm income than will government-supported prices in 1964.

7. DOW-JONES INDUSTRIALS. I forecast that the stock market as measured by the Dow-Jones Average will make a new high in 1964, but may sell lower after the elections. However, readers must remember that the Dow-Jones Industrial list, which everyone seems to think represents the market, may be very deceptive.

8. SPECULATIVE STOCKS. Of the approximately 1550 stocks listed on the New York Exchange, a majority have been going down while the Dow-Jones list of 30 which everyone watches have been going up. This is due to the purchase of Dow-Jones issues today largely by trustees, pension funds, mutual companies, and others that prefer fairly conservative and dividend-paying companies. I forecast that stocks not in the Dow-Jones list will do better proportionately in 1964 than they did this year.

9. SWITCHING. Based on my above forecast, and having learned that only buying can send stocks up I predict that 1964 may prove to be a good year to switch from some of the overcrowded Dow-

Jones stocks into other issues that are now overlooked.

10. GOVERNMENT BONDS. The only government bonds that interest me are the long-term ones which may now be purchased at a discount to use in payment at par for death taxes. I forecast that more governments will be issued during 1964 and that their prices may gradually sag as money becomes tighter.

11. CORPORATION BONDS. Those buying corporate bonds should either stick to issues of under five years' maturity or keep their money in the savings bank. I predict that long-term corporation bonds will drop in price in 1964 as interest rates rise.

12. TAX-EXEMPT BONDS. Likewise, I predict that long-term tax-exempt bonds will decline next year. They are even more overpriced than corporation bonds, because of heavy bank buying during the past two years. I do not look for this to be repeated in 1964. Therefore, I would certainly confine buying of tax-exempt to short maturities; and I would avoid revenue bonds.

13. INTEREST RATES. I forecast that interest rates will continue at least as high as today, and will possibly rise through 1964 in order to keep gold here in this country and uphold the value of the dollar.

14. DEVALUATION OF GOLD. I forecast that there will be no devaluation of gold during 1964. I am personally acquainted with conditions in Africa, and will say that those who wish to speculate in gold mines should consider America-South African Investment Co. Ltd. Readers should remember, however, that gold-mining stocks will go down as well as up, in accordance with many dict-

Poll Tax Is Required In 1964

Hall County citizens are required to have a poll tax as a qualification for voting in all elections during 1964. Therefore, residents in this county will need to make a trip to the nearest place and purchase their poll tax receipts in order to be eligible voters before the deadline, Jan. 31, 1964.

As of the first of the week, only 425 poll tax receipts had been sold in Hall County. Hall County Tax Assessor-Collector Mrs. Melissa Anderson said that due to the election held in November, a large number of persons did not pay their poll tax at the time they paid their state and county taxes in her office. She explained that the 425 poll tax receipts issued so far, are far short of the number normally issued at this time.

This newspaper encourages all residents in Hall County who are not exempt from paying poll taxes to make a special effort to pay them this year and to vote in each and every election held, primaries and general.

The privilege of voting your own mind in an election which determines who shall be the law makers is one of the basic privileges of a free people. In November, Texans were given the opportunity to do away with the poll tax as a requirement of voting. They chose to keep the tax.

Remember, the deadline is Jan. 31, 1964.

Christmas Behind Berlin's Wall

Residents of Berlin (East and West) found this Christmas different than last year in that for the first time since the Berlin Wall was erected, it was open for one-way visiting in the city.

The Christmas visits must resemble visitor's day at the penitentiary.

The wall went up in August of 1961, and for the first time, free West Berliners were permitted to cross over to spend a day with imprisoned relatives and friends. As many as 800,000 made the short trip.

But the East Berliners won't be permitted similar visiting privileges in West Berlin and the reason is plain. Their Communist masters fear, with good reason, that few would come back.

That is why the wall was built in the first place—to keep their so-called peoples' paradise from being depopulated. They have agreed to this visitation apparently on the theory it somehow implies recognition of their despotic regime. The Berlin Wall is a cruel reminder of those forces which deny freedom to those governed.

Perhaps nothing in the whole Soviet record has exposed the bitter hoax of Communism so clearly as the wall in Berlin. It is a daily reminder of failure and oppression, once more dramatically called to free world attention by means of these one-way visits.

What Other Editors Say

Mr. K's Turn-Around

A social-planning blunder of tragically vast proportions finally is acknowledged with Khrushchev's dramatic shift in farm policy.

Rapid industrial expansion is a Communist fetish in the worship of which vast resources in money and manpower have been diverted from agriculture.

This has produced sputniks, but meanwhile the Russian people have been deprived of the essentials of life — and up until 1947, at least, as Khrushchev admits, thousands even died the horrible death of starvation.

Khrushchev only indicated the depths of this vast well of misery when he told how Stalin exported grain while the people lacked bread.

The condition is not exclusive to Russia but prevails with a varying degree of uniformity in all of the Communist world, where country after country which formerly had food to export now must import or go hungry.

It even extends into much of the non-Communist, underdeveloped world where steel mills have been emphasized to the neglect of plows and fertilizer, often with the help of U. S. foreign aid.

Khrushchev's emphasis on chemical fertilizer is constructive, but it will take more than the allotted seven years to repair the blunders of four decades.

Much will depend on the willingness of the free world to extend credits for chemical machinery — a questionable thing since the Soviets, despite their multiple industrial plans, have not been able to produce much that anyone would want to take in exchange.

Khrushchev anticipated this difficulty in his reference to the "reactionary and embittered enemies of socialism" who are trying to exploit Soviet troubles.

When the list of the real enemies of the Russian people finally is compiled, Communist bunglers will lead all the rest.

Can't Find His Waste Basket

Around this time each year I begin clearing the top of my desk in preparation for the coming year. Looking at the debris as I throw most of it in the round file I find there are many things I wouldn't have known had it not been for the accumulation I've held on to over the year. For example, there were 1,799 agencies raising funds for everything from Ban the Bomb to Help Preserve Canaries, and all wanted their drives publicized. There are also approximately the same number of poets who would have been discovered by the world if The Banner had only printed their one masterpiece. Politicians are now asking their constituents how to run the government if questionnaires mean anything. There are roughly two cranks each week who are so mad at the editor or a city official for something we did that they didn't agree with or something we didn't do they thought should have been done that they actually wrote at least one letter to the editor. They just didn't have the nerve to sign their names to them. And certainly, we can't overlook the bunch of amateur photographers in town. These are the ones that feel the only place to get their pictures in print is the local paper. Subjects from all of them seem to be kid brother looking at the camera from between his legs as a very prominent hand balances him to keep him from falling over. And finally, the stack of notices from people claiming we owe them some money for something or other. But I try to completely clear the desk top for the coming year, so where is that wastebasket? — Marvin Tomme in Ralls Banner.

Howell Home Is Scene For Club Annual Christmas Party

Mrs. H. J. Howell presided at a gala Christmas party for members of the Howell Home Club and Professional Women's Club on Thursday evening.

The group enjoyed a gift exchange with Mrs. Helm acting as Santa. A special guest at the party was little Miss Nita Kay Thomas, a first grade student in Travis School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thomas, who was presented gifts by the club.

An assortment of sandwiches and candies was served with fruit punch from an attractively laid tea table.

CHRISTMAS 1963

In this season bringing the Feast of Christmas, the celebration of the birth of our Lord and Savior, we who are Christians reaffirm our devotion to Jesus Christ and His way, and dedicate again the conduct of our lives to the precepts of His teachings.

In the destiny of our private lives—and in the public affairs of our Nation—we rely on Divine Providence to be our strength and our guide and our succor. If anyone needs a reminder that faith in The Divinity is a continuing powerful force in American life, the prayers, conduct, and statements of our citizens, public and private, in the wake of the assassination of President Kennedy, should indeed provide strong reassurance.

Through all of our history has run the theme of Christian faith. Our Constitution determined that there should be a separation in American life of Church and State, that one must not control or dictate to the other, and in so doing our forefathers gave to Americans one of our most precious freedoms—the right to worship God in the manner we find most fitting. From our earliest history, the men who were charged with the responsibility of governing this Nation sought to invoke the blessings of the Supreme Being on the conduct of their offices and on the continuance, in safety and prosperity, of the United States. And so it is today.

Inaugural addresses of the Presidents show that each has sought strength and direction from Above, and that the Grace of God is the dependence upon which our future rests.

I'd like to quote for you, as space allows, some deep expressions of faith by our Presidents:

George Washington, April 30, 1789—"No people can be bound to acknowledge and adore the Invisible Hand which conducts the affairs of men more than those of the United States."

John Adams, March 4, 1797—"And may that Being who is supreme over all, the Patron of Order, the Fountain of Justice, and the Protector in all ages of the world of virtuous liberty, continue His blessings upon this nation and its Government and give it all possible success and duration consistent with the ends of His providence."

Thomas Jefferson, March 4, 1805—"I shall need, too, the favor of that Being in whose hands we are, who led our fathers, as Israel of old, from their native land and planted them in a country flowing with all the necessities and comforts of life..."

John Quincy Adams, March 4, 1825—"... I shall look for whatever success shall attend my public service; and knowing that 'except the Lord keep the city the watchman waketh but in vain,' with fervent supplications for His favor, to His overruling providence I commit with humble but fearless confidence my own fate and the future destinies of my country."

Franklin Pierce, March 4, 1853—"It must be felt that there is no national security but in the nation's humble, acknowledged dependence upon God and His overruling providence."

Abraham Lincoln, March 4, 1865—"With malice toward none,"

TIPPER FLINTLOCK says

"Whether you're hunting bear, or deer or grouse, for safety sake, wear a bright color blouse."

with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

William McKinley, March 4, 1897—"Our faith teaches that there is no safer reliance than upon the God of our fathers, and who will not forsake us so long as we obey His commandments and walk humbly in His footsteps."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, March 4, 1933—"In this dedication of a Nation we humbly ask the blessing of God. May He protect each and every one of us. May He guide me in the days to come."

Harry S. Truman, Jan. 20, 1949—"With God's help, the future of mankind will be assured in a world of justice, harmony, and peace."

Dwight D. Eisenhower, Jan. 21, 1957—"Before all else, we seek, upon our common labor as a nation, the blessings of Almighty God. And the hopes in our hearts fashion the deepest prayers of our whole people."

John F. Kennedy, Jan. 21, 1961—"Finally, whether you are citizens of America or citizens of the world, ask of us the same high standards of strength and sacrifice which we ask of you. With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessings and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."

Yes, in God we do trust. And in God we must continue to place our trust, and that of our Nation. From Mrs. Rogers and the children, as from me, a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. WALTER ROGERS.

17. PROFITS. I forecast that corporate profits will continue to rise in 1964, though possibly at a somewhat slower pace than recently.

18. COPPER PRICES. Commodity prices are dependent on two factors: Demand and supply. Take copper: I believe demand will continue to increase during the electrical area we are now in. And, since my visit to Africa, I feel the supply of copper is almost unlimited. Hence I forecast little change in price on balance in 1964.

19. OTHER BASIC RAW MATERIALS. With some few exceptions, the above applies generally to many of the basic raw materials, including iron and steel, and especially aluminum. The present firming in quotations will not carry much further and could be subject to setbacks later in the year.

20. SUGAR. Sugar prices, however, will hold in a generally high range all through 1964.

21. BUILDING—SUBURBIA. I forecast that new building will continue around present levels through 1964, with additional growth in "suburbia". This applies to single homes and to apartment houses which could easily be overbuilt as the hotels and motels have been.

22. PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION. Otherwise, strength in building will occur mainly in the public sector—especially roadbuilding.

23. REAL ESTATE. I predict that farms on the "right side" of cities will constantly increase in value during 1964. I say "right side" because every city seems to have some one best direction in which to grow. This usually is toward the higher land and offer to the west; but this is something subdivision developers must watch very closely.

24. RURAL AREAS. As I have said before, the way to buy real estate profitably is to drive out the main road from the city in which you live, on the "right" side. Every few miles, stop and inquire the price of land; so long as it is quoted by the foot, get back in your car and drive until it is quoted by the acre. Everything else being equal, I forecast that the purchase of this land in 1964 will show you a profit over the long term.

25. FLORIDA PROPERTY. There is still a lot of land in Florida, and there are many retired people who are hoping to move there. I forecast that your best Florida buy in 1964 will be waterfront property. God made only so much waterfront land; but there is an enormous amount of interior land which for many years will be good only for pasturage. Do not buy land—anywhere—until you see it; don't depend on blueprints, catalogs, and super sales organizations.

26. FLORIDA HOME. I believe a small home in a small Florida city, and ownership of the vacant lot on each side thereof, will prove a safe and attractive investment in 1964 for anyone who has a check coming in regularly from the North.

27. ADVERTISING. While TV advertising will continue strong for patent medicines and some other products, I forecast that honest newspaper advertising will hold its own. Newspaper ads can be cut out and kept for reference, which is impossible with radio or TV ads.

28. NEWSPAPERS. I forecast that competing newspapers will continue to consolidate; and there may possibly be a return to the days when newspapers represented the opinions of some one man with courage, influence, and personality rather than the decisions of a "cold" board of directors. Note that this is something television is already trying to develop in its news reports, and newspapers must match it.

29. STRIKES. I believe that 1964 will be free from large strikes. The "big show," of course will be the negotiations between the auto workers and manufacturers. However, I predict that both sides will arrive at a peaceful settlement before the deadline.

30. WAGES. While labor will not get all the pay increases it wants in 1964, it will get the equivalent in "fringe benefits".

31. EMPLOYMENT. I forecast employment will rise further in 1964, due to a prosperous economy with new and expanding operations. Unemployment will rise, too, because of the influx of young job seekers and displacement of unskilled workers by automation.

32. WORK WEEK. There will be continuing agitation to cut the 40-hour week in 1964 to a 35-hour week with the same pay. I forecast this will not be accomplished. There may be a compromise to 37½ hours, though this will depend largely upon President Johnson.

33. FOREIGN TRADE. Rising automation in the U. S. in 1964 will enable us to compete more effectively with lower per-man-hour labor costs in Europe. Labor costs in Italy are already rising, and inflation is threatening Europe... particularly Italy and France.

34. INFLATION. Like the rest of the world, we will be tempted to resort more and more to inflation; but I forecast this will not be a vital factor in 1964.

35. LIVING COSTS. There will be continued upward pressure on living costs during 1964, even though the Administration may soft-pedal any abnormal rise in the Labor Department's index to prove that costs are being held down.

36. RETAIL SALES. I forecast that 1964 will show an increase in retail sales and in installment purchases.

37. RECREATIONAL EQUIPMENT. I forecast that the great increase in leisure time and the consistent gains in personal income will give manufacturers of recreational equipment a prosperous year in 1964.

38. SYNTHETIC FOODS. I forecast that many new synthetic foods—cheaper than the natural, and just as healthful—will appear in supermarkets in 1964.

39. SYNTHETIC CLOTHING. I forecast that this new industry will develop notably in the United States during 1964, particularly as regards specialty work clothes.

'Obey The Law, Drive Defensively' Will Reduce Holiday Accidents

Citizens with a sincere desire to reduce deaths and injuries from traffic accidents during the holiday period can do so if they will follow the advice of Major Harry Hutchison, Commander of Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"There are two things every citizen can do," the Major said. "First, obey the law, drive defensively, refrain from drinking and observe the other behavior patterns which may be called self-control. Second, multiply the efforts of your Highway Patrol and Police by reporting violations quickly in order to control others who are apparently headed for an accident."

State-wide approximately seven hundred patrolmen plus one hundred fifty patrolmen from the other uniformed services of the Department of Public Safety will be on the job during the nine days from December 24 to January 1 and in addition local law enforcement bodies will intensify their efforts. However, Texas' sixty thousand miles of highway requires that each patrolman will have an average of seventy miles of highway to supervise traffic for on a twenty-four hour basis. The enforcement effort could be greatly multiplied if citizens will report the description and license numbers to the nearest enforcement agency ever time a hazardous act is observed, particularly where drinking is suspected. "Studies made each year show that speed and/or drinking are involved in almost all of the fatal accidents that occur in this region of the Department of Public Safety during the holiday season," the Major said.

No one in his right mind would intentionally be involved in a traffic accident, however, the Major pointed out that lack of attention and lack of keeping the proper lookout is the underlying cause of the majority of all traffic accidents. He also called attention to the significant fact that during the last holiday season, 62 per cent of the fatal accidents on rural highways involved only one vehicle, indicating that over one half of the accidents could not be blamed on "the other guy".

"The surest way to avoid traffic accidents in addition to keeping the proper lookout is to leave yourself an out regardless of what mistakes the other driver may do and voluntarily comply with all traffic rules at all times," Major Hutchison concluded.

RECORD TIME

We're approaching that time of the year when you'll start riffling through stacks of old checks, receipts, statements, etc., to see what you can do to whittle down your income tax.

If you're like the average Texan, the record-sorting will be quite a chore, for most people overlook the advantage of a simple record-keeping system.

Used to be a family's important date was confined to the flyleaf of the family Bible. But life's gotten complicated since then.

Now you need to keep track of birth certificates, insurance policies, social security, income tax matters, automobile titles, etc. You can make life easier for yourself, and your family when you are gone, if you follow a few simple rules in setting up your do-it-yourself record system.

1. Get a heavily bound folder or file folder as collecting point for all of your affairs.
2. Put your special papers in your safe box, but make a list of papers and a brief summary of their contents to put in your home file.
3. Get for your files birth certificates for all of the family. Add your license or at least a statement to when and where you tried and by whom.
4. Insert your will or, if your will is kept in a safe, include a note telling where it is found.
5. During the year, prepare your income tax statements and receipts and deductions which may be used. Then keep a copy of your tax return in the file.
6. Make a list of all of your bonds you own and their rates.
7. List all the places you have lived and worked, names of persons there you know. Include the schools you have attended and the left or were graduated.
8. If you may have coming under a profit-sharing plan, make a note of that too.
9. If you're in doubt whether an item should be included, put it in.

This takes time initially but will save you both time and money in the long run.

Mrs. Elmer Murdock and her family, Mary and Edith, Sonny, and Billie Jean, are on Monday for Davis, Okla., Christmas with relatives.

SWAB THE DIAL

One of the worst dial catchers around the house is the telephone dial. Because you use it so often, you want it to be clean and clear. When the phone dial begins to grimy, clean it easily with cotton swab... the kind a little stick. Dip the swab in hot water, touch it to a bar of soap, and— presto!— your dial is clean as quickly as you could dial the number of your best friend.

are you
living on this alone?

Nobody could neglect feeding his stomach for very long. Yet there's another part of you that requires nourishing just as much, or even more . . . your soul. You can't see it, or touch it, and it can't be removed like tonsils, or a nagging tooth. It requires so little to keep it strong and healthy . . . and yet so much: your faith.

Faith, unlike bread, isn't something you can buy. It's a gift . . . and a gift that you must develop and nurture. Have you tried to find it lately . . . in your church? You'll find a warm welcome waiting. Worship this week . . . with all the family.

FIND THE STRENGTH FOR YOUR LIFE...

Man and About People

Mrs. G. W. Kesterson, of Lakeview, Ga., sends the following concerning Rev. Cargill, former Memphis pastor, in a recent edition of the Atlanta Constitution: "I paid a tribute to you as follows: 'What a wonderful man he is and what a life he has led. Too bad we have more like him.' She was Mrs. C. T. Snowdon, who was Mrs. C. T. Snowdon's daughter. She was a member of the Atlanta Constitution for many years. When I retired I continued to do some of the work she had done. She was the Rev. E. C. Cargill, who was at age 87, and that he has been faithfully for the past 35 years—although it obviously was a pleasure to a chore for Mr. Cargill—is chaplain at the Aldmore Hospital for children."

Mrs. Cargill, "I visit all my afternoons." "I talk to my contact with the children and their families. Mr. Cargill spends each afternoon with the children and their families, helping in the many ways which have been over long years in the past."

Mr. Cargill, a retired minister, came to Memphis in 1958 after 42 years in Houston. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. Cargill, on the Houston Mill road.

Mr. Cargill said, "I talked to my daughter concerning something."

I went out to Emory. I met there, probably three or four and then I heard that they had a regular chaplain at the children's hospital, so I came here."

Laff Of The Week

SEE Texas FIRST

Buried At The Battleground
No silent grave for him—a battleground is where he is laid to rest.

They called him Reveille. He says many a battle where his remains now lay. And great battles still are waged on this battleground.

The site is Kyle Field at College Station, Texas. It is the stadium for A&M College, in Central Texas 'Brazos Country.

A "T" emblem in granite forms the marker for Reveille, who is buried beneath in a child's casket. Reveille was the canine mascot of the Aggies. He died in 1944.

Old Trails Not Forgotten
Very few of today's highways are known throughout the country. Even fewer will be remembered in the years to come.

This is not true of the old trails and the men who guided early-day travelers across the country.

Thanks to a Federal government appropriation to commemorate one hundred years of Texas Independence, a monument dedicated to the old Mackenzie Trail was erected at Plainview in Northwest Texas's Hale County.

This trail first was crossed by General Ronald Shidley Mackenzie, 4th United States Cavalry, in 1871. He was in quest of warring bands of Indians.

This unique monument relates the story of the trail by means of a poem written by Larry Chittenden. In part, it reads:

Where are now that trail's processions,
Winding westward sure and slow?
Lost: Ah, yes; destroyed by progress,
Gone to realms of long ago,
Nevermore shall bold Mackenzie,

Blanco Is A B-I-G Park
Yep, there are 110 acres on each side of the river where you can camp, fish, swim or picnic at Blanco Park. It's located where the Blanco River crosses U. S. Highway 281 north of Lubbock.

Fish are reported to be plentiful... and especially tasty when cooked right there in the open.

If you don't like to fish, it's a perfect place to just rest while the kids keep busy on the playground.

Best Known Town In Texas
How can a town of only 3,000 or so population become world renowned? Even if it is unique or has a lot

With his brave and dauntless band. Guide the restless, roving settlers. Through the Texas borderland. Yes; that soldier's work is over, and the dim trail rests at last; But his name and trail still leads us through the borders of the past.

Proud of First Shot
First shot of the Texas Revolution was followed by the cry of "Come and take it."

This was the response from a small band of Texans in answer to the Mexican Government's demand to surrender the now famous cannon of Gonzales.

Although the cannon was small and was loaded with chains and scrap iron, its mighty shot started the war that resulted in adding more territory to the United States than was acquired in the American Revolution.

Gonzales rightfully is proud of this moment in its history.

This is evident by the fact that any resident of this Central South Texas town gladly will tell you all about its historic past.

And you hardly can miss the city's imposing monument erected in commemoration of this great moment in history.

The President Slept Here
Texas, long known for its accommodating nature, also has been famous for its fine hotel accommodations.

Certainly among the latter you would have to include the old Excelsior Hotel, located at Jefferson, in Northeast Texas near the Louisiana border.

The Excelsior is not just a memory. It still stands today, equipped with its original furniture dating back to the mid-1800's.

Many tourists marvel at the original hotel register which includes such names as President Hays and Jay Gould.

Living In Borger
Your life will be safe when you visit Borger, Texas. But there was a time when this Panhandle town was as notorious as the gun slingers who walked its streets.

They used to say that you hadn't really lived until you spent a night in the oil town of Borger. Yet many who tried—didn't.

This colorful city still attracts many visitors each year. But the climate is much healthier now.

Buried City Found In Texas
It is said that Texas has most everything under the sun, and it appears to have quite a bit under the earth too.

Besides oil and other natural resources, Texas has uncovered a city that was buried beneath its soil.

This buried city, the Pueblo ruins, was discovered by archaeologists in 1907.

Located about 18 miles southeast of Perryton in the Panhandle's Ochiltree County, the ruins were those of the Panhandle Pueblo Indians. These Indians were agriculturists, stone house builders, pottery and basket makers.

It is believed that these stone houses were in ruins even when the great explorer Coronado was in this area around 1541.
