For the past several days, the clouds kept returning to Memphis. Cool water, drinking water, water for keeping lawns, shrubs and grass alive; above everything else, water for the crops and growing crops of 100-degrees of dry heat during most of the week. Thoughts kept saying "IT WOULD RAIN." That affected everybody—grown up and children alike. What I write in my Comments this week under such adverse condi-

For the past few days, clouds gathered, drap a few drops of moisture, then slowly disappear. Parts of the county, nice weather would visit a few farms, the next day the same thing at some other farms. All week, Hall County finally had checkers on dry spots and spots—Wednesday evening people in and around Memphis received showers of various sizes to give us a breather. The TV tower seemed to be the west edge of the rain, various parts measured from a inch to around an inch of rain. (Continued on Page Twelve)

Seventeen students have enrolled in the two-week Red Cross Water Safety and Life Saving class being conducted at Fowler's Swimming Pool each morning. Doyle Fowler, who normally teaches the classes, said he is over-seeing the instruction in a supervisory capacity. The class is a large one so Jan is taking one half and Jone the other, Fowler said. Students taking the class according to the town are as follows: Memphis—Kay Wines, Jim Edd Wines, Neal Hughes, Vicki Jones, and David Lemons. Clarendon — Cheryl Fredric, Jim Risley, Leane Risley, Tommy Saey. Turkey—Charles Lyles, Jeanne Driskill, Sally Case and Larry Lyles. Estelline — Billie Collier and Nell Adram. Frank Foxhall Defends Golf Title With Three Under Par 65 Sunday

Frank Foxhall successfully defended his crown as the top golfer in Memphis Sunday afternoon in the final round of the City Tournament by shooting a three under par 65.

Jay Dunbar, one of the best high school golfers in this area, made a determined bid to match Foxhall's three under total by trying to hole a long, uphill eagle putt, but he had to settle for a two under par 66, one stroke behind.

Winning third place in the championship flight was Jerry Moss, another high school golfer, who fired a three over par 71. A large crowd of spectators was on hand to see the Foxhall-Dunbar battle which began on the first tee and continued until the last putt was down. The championship foursome racked up nine birdies on the first round. Dunbar and Foxhall finished the round with two under par 32s and Moss and Mackie Allen fired even par 34s. Through the 16th hole, Dunbar and Foxhall were tied each with two under scores. On the 17th, Dunbar missed a tricky downhill par putt to drop a stroke behind Foxhall. From the 18th hole tee box, Foxhall hooked his tee shot into a mesquite tree to the right side of the fairway. Dunbar drove his tee ball onto the putting surface of the 18th green. Foxhall was able to his his next shot onto the (Continued on Page 12)

Spotted rains Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon gave some relief to the hot dry July. In areas where the rains fell, good amounts were reported.

Here in Memphis Wednesday afternoon, varying amounts were reported. In the northwest portion of Memphis, some rain gauges recorded .25 to .40 of an inch, while in south Memphis reports as high as three-quarters of an inch.

Also Wednesday night, the Estelline area received one inch of rain as did the Parnell area. On the C. L. Sloan farm, seven miles west of Parnell, over one inch was reported.

The Plaska (Lodge) area received a pretty good rain measuring from one-half inch to an inch and two-tenths, closer to the river south, Tuesday afternoon.

Also, it was reported, the Brice area received good rains from one-half to over one inch.

The Lakeview area only received sprinkles from the rains, it was reported.

Tuesday night, the Turkey area received over one inch from a thunder storm. East of Turkey, good amounts fell, it was reported.

Indians Win First In Little League

The Little League Indians took a 11 to 1 victory over the Tigers Tuesday night to claim the league championship this season by winning the first and second half of play. Spencer Gilliam hit a late inning home run to claim a home run tie with Alan McNally of the Giants. Gilliam was the winning pitcher for the Indians and Kilpatrick was the losing pitcher for the Tigers. In the first game Tuesday, the Giants defeated the Yankees, 17 to 3, to win second place in the league. The winning pitcher was Ross and the losing pitcher was Pardue. The Giants' catcher, Murdock, hit two home runs, climaxing his season's play. Tuesday night's games concluded Little League play this season. The Indians placed first, the Giants second, the Tigers third and the Yankees last. Following the ball games, parents of the Little Leaguers treated their teams to refreshments. Some teams enjoyed watermelons and others had home-made ice cream.

Mr. Albert's Argument

There are two aspects to the controversy arising from the Supreme Court's sweeping opinions wiping out the legislative apportionment systems in many states:

1. The court offered relief to citizens who protested unfair districting of their states. In the first case, Tennessee, the legislature simply had refused to comply with the mandate laid down by its own state constitution. We think the voters were entitled to this relief, and the court's judgment was soundly based.

Later, in a similar opinion, the court ruled out a Georgia alignment of congressional district as unduly inequitable—and the Georgia legislature promptly did the job over, on a fairer basis. This was well founded.

2. But in June the Supreme Court went much farther. It knocked out state legislative systems only recently approved by the voters. It even held that members of state Senates, regardless of state constitutions, must be elected by districts evenly divided by population.

The United States Senate, by constitutional direction, is elected by states, the House, on a population basis. Most states have copied this system, and found the balance it provides workable and effective. Chief Justice Warren, author of the recent decisions, said when he was governor of California, a similar "balanced representation" in that state has "served us well and is strictly in accord with American tradition and the pattern of our national government."

In these cases, which had the effect of saying the people themselves could not establish their own state system, the court out-reached itself.

One answer to the confusion created by the June decisions of the court is offered by the Democratic leader of the House, Carl Albert of Oklahoma. He simply would bar the courts, by act of Congress, from acting on any apportionment cases. He says the judges are "not fit" for this task—which should be left to the political authorities.

But the political authorities (legislators) in many states for many years reneged on this responsibility. Which is why these cases got to court in the first place. Mr. Albert's plan would deprive unfairly treated voters of any relief at all.

A simpler and more effective solution is the constitutional amendment, already pending in Congress, which would permit the voters of any state to choose a Senate on geographical or other apportionment, while retaining a lower House elected on a population basis. This restores to the people of the states the option of selecting their own system, without depriving them of the right to contest obviously unreasonable apportionment of their legislative representatives.—Fort Worth Press

Newspaper Advertising DOESN'T INTRUDE

... It Goes Where It Is Invited!

People Buy Newspapers Because They Want All The News

They are as much interested in the advertising columns as the news columns because advertising is the news of what is available in goods and services at the stores they know.

There are no gadgets to turn off the advertising in newspapers. Nobody wants it turned off. Every survey ever made shows that people prefer to have the newspaper they buy contain advertising because the Advertising is News!

The newspaper is there all week. It is there for the whole family to read.

And They Do!

It is there to be read at the time and under the circumstances when the reader asks to be informed. It is there for the housewife to tear out the ads and take them with her when she shops.

And She Does

There are no dials to turn on. There is no problem of turning the dial at just the right time. There is never a question about whether the advertiser's message gets to the reader.

What Other Editors Say

Goldwater Rang A Bell!

Senator Goldwater's glib defense of extremism in his San Francisco acceptance speech has touched off reverberations which may still be echoing around the country in November... a reaction which, we suspect, may have come as a considerable surprise for the speaker, though it should not have.

Because the Senator said a mouthful: "Extremism in defense of liberty is no vice," the Republican Presidential nominee declared, "and moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

It's the sort of phrase which rolls trippingly off the tongue, and the Senator's speechwriters were undoubtedly proud of it. In a calmer era, less charged with emotion, it might even have been passed off as an oratorical flourish signifying nothing... one of those fine-sounding but meaningless maxims common to oratorical circles and cherished by those who talk in them.

But this one really rings a bell. Because, consciously or not, Senator Goldwater, in those eighteen short words, has neatly summed up a political philosophy to which his most ardent supporters subscribe most ardently.

What the Senator is saying is that the end, if it is good, justifies the means used to achieve it.

This isn't a new philosophy in this world. It has been used by zealots since time began to justify their actions... especially when those actions result in somebody's getting hurt.

Senator Goldwater argues that liberty is desirable... as all Americans must agree... and therefore, any means used in defense of liberty, no matter how extreme, are also desirable. That argument is as full of holes as Annie Oakley's target.

It's un-democratic and it's un-American. Our whole concept of government has been founded on the idea that the end does not necessarily justify the means... that extremism in the defense of liberty is not justified, and that moderation in the application of justice is at all times desirable.

Our nation was founded on sound concepts of law and order... upon a recognition of the fact that one man's liberty must inevitably come in conflict at some point with his neighbor's liberty, and that to preserve a maximum amount of liberty for all there must be an orderly system of control. As Abraham Lincoln once put it, "one man's freedom to swing his arms ends where another man's nose begins." This is the opposite of extremism... this is the epitome of moderation... but it has worked in the defense of liberty for the 189 years of our national existence, and if extremists are not permitted to take over, it will go on working.

But we applaud Senator Goldwater for stating his philosophy of government so clearly. In aligning himself so solidly and so positively with the extremists of the Republican's ultra-right wing, he has offered American voters what so many have demanded for so long... a clear-cut choice of political philosophies for the November election.

The Senator certainly said a mouthful. He has really rung a bell. And thoughtful Americans the nation over had better listen to its warning.—Canadian Record.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Shafter, Calif.
July 20, 1964

Dear Editor,
I wish to say I had the pleasure of a wonderful visit with my mother, Mrs. Stella Badgett, and my sister, Mrs. V. C. Byars and family of the Lakeview and Lesley Communities.

It's been many years since my sister and I attended old John Mann School, which no longer exists, but the memories do.

In church we sing a song titled, "Precious Memories," and indeed, we do have many precious memories of our old school days and being at home with our loved ones.

Every year when we go back to visit our mother and sister and family, we see the great change in the geography of dear old Hall County, which is still very dear to us. But we note the fact that while many people are farming, many more acres of land, many country dwellers have moved to town.

However, with all this I find the people still have that warm heart of friendship and hearty handshake and a cheery smile.

We got to see our friend, Mr. Lester Bevers, in Lakeview whom I had not seen in about 27 years, also saw Mr. Moore, another friend I had not seen since 1937. The only change I saw in the folks I knew there was the same change they saw in me. We are older.

Of all the people I didn't expect to see, but did see was my cousin, Roma Lee Newberry, and her husband, Ross, from Mineral Wells, Tex. I was so happy to see them. I'd never met her husband and it had been 20 years since I'd seen Roma Lee. She is the daughter of Mrs. Annie Lee Freel.

I enjoyed being with my sister and entire family so much. I only have the one sister and no brothers so I'm rather foolish about my sister, both of us are getting up in years and so is our mother.

I think God gave us one of the best mothers He had in store. She has been such a sweet mother and always so thoughtful of her children's welfare. There has never been a selfish thought about her. When I leave my mother to come home after a visit with her, I always wonder if we will be spared to have another visit together before our God takes us home.

I'm so glad my mother was the old-fashioned kind who believed in making her children mind and who very much unlike Madlyn Murray, believed in (and does yet) an almighty God who gave His only begotten son that who-soever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. I feel I can say the same for my mother.

I have felt like writing this way because it is facts first, and because there are so many who fail to pay any respect to their mother. If it wasn't for our Christian mothers just what would this old world be like? May God give us more christian mothers, fathers, brothers, and sisters.

Sincerely,
John Badgett.

J. H. Young, Pioneer Turkey Resident, Dies

Funeral services for John Henry Young, 80, long-time Turkey resident and father of Brigham Young, were held at 4 p. m. Sunday from the Turkey Methodist Church with the Rev. Williams, pastor of the Methodist Church of Cooper, and Rev. Darwin, pastor of the Turkey Baptist Church, officiating.

Interment was in Turkey Cemetery. Graveside rites were conducted by the Masonic Lodge of Turkey.

Mr. Young was born in Jeff, Mo., and moved to Texas as a young man. He was united in marriage to Pearl McCay in Decatur and the couple later moved to Turkey where they have resided for many years.

Until his retirement a few years ago, Mr. Young operated a service station and garage in Turkey.

Surviving are his wife of the home; three sons, Brigham of Memphis, Truman of San Antonio and Byron of Turkey; four daughters, Mrs. Dean Fletcher of Justin, Mrs. Roy Roberts of Amarillo, Mrs. David Guest of Turkey and Mrs. Lewis Eady of Turkey; 11 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Forrest of Big Springs and Mrs. Light of Denver, Colo.

Local Delegates Attend Jehovah's Witness Meet

Local delegates from the Memphis congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned home this week from Austin where they were in attendance with some 13,371 others at the group's "Fruitage of the Spirit" assembly.

The meet, held jointly at Municipal Auditorium and Ditch Field in English and Spanish, drew representatives from 17 states, Canada, Mexico, El Salvador and Honduras. According to Steve E. Lane, presiding minister of the Memphis group, the entire program at Austin was designed to assist the Witnesses in their Bible education and Christian quality growth.

"A highlight to me and others of our delegation was the final public talk on Sunday," Lane said. F. W. Franz, Watchtower Society vice-president, discussed, "Peace Among Men of Good Will, or Armageddon—Which?" Lane added, "Franz very strongly demonstrated how the Bible expression, 'Armageddon' means a fight God will have with world rulers, whether kingly, presidential, democratic or communistic. While religious clergymen object to what we say about the fate of earth's rulers who are members of their churches, the inspired Scriptures leave no doubt about this march to Armageddon, and the results."

According to Lane, the regular meeting schedule will be resumed at the local Kingdom Hall this week.

Don't Walk-In Behind Pointer

Many bird hunters make the mistake of walking-in behind a pointing dog to flush birds.

This not only encourages the dog to break point, but such an approach can scatter the birds. To flush birds, walk-in from the dog's side. Birds will bunch better when flushed, thus making better targets.

The 'Best' Kind Of Public Notice

By CHARLES L. ALLEN
 Director, School of Journalism
 Oklahoma State University

Abundance and variety are the distinguishing virtues of a free society such as we have in America. There are those who say we have too much of these goods and they come too easily today, and such great choice spoils us. We would trade today's abundance for any other country's abundance for any other period in our history.

Every man thinks he knows the "best." He builds the best car, drives the best car, eats the best breakfast cereal, goes to the best church, attends the best school, is a patient of the best doctor, and a client of the best lawyer in his town.

Why not expect on Public Notice who can tell you—whether or not he ever wrote, read, published, or was a party to one—exactly what constitutes the "best" kind of public notice. If all of these experts could but agree it would be a simple matter to settle all the problems of public notice, but their definitions of the best form of public notice are many, diverse, and confusing.

I
 Centuries ago, in the Greek and Roman eras, notices had to be conveyed by word of mouth or by posting in the public square. Needless to say, neither of these methods was efficient.

To be sure, there are those today who say that the best way to give a person notice about anything is to meet him face to face and tell him yourself. Sometimes this personal mouth-to-mouth method may be the best available, but the chances are 1,000 to 1 against it.

Consider, first, how easy it is to make a mistake in delivering an oral message. And, secondly, how easily such a message can be misunderstood by the hearer. Think also how that message will be mutilated in the transmission from one person to another as it travels across the market place, or the backyard fence, to the ears of many other. Word of mouth is never relied upon when a better method can be found.

What about posting a notice in the "Public Square"? First, let us make an obvious observation: Today there is no "Public Square" in the same sense that life in America centered around the village square 50 or 25 years ago. Communications media, so abundant in our time, were scarce or prohibitively expensive in grandfather's day. Nobody needs to run to the village square to hear the news nowadays. It is brought to businessmen and his personnel in their office, and to the family in the comfort of their own home. On those rare occasions when the family does go down to the village square they are not there to get information. Parades, festivals, fairs and the like are not conducive to reading public notices.

Mighty few of our citizens, even in smaller towns and villages, spend any of their time around the "square" or even around the county courthouse or other public buildings. It is nonsense to think that posting a public notice in this rocket age will accomplish its intended purpose. An infinitely small part of the interested parties would see it—perhaps less than .1 of 1 per cent.

II
 The "Offices of Intelligence," mentioned in the first article in this series, served an essential purpose in the 15th and 16th centuries. But, like the village square in early American life, the Offices of Intelligence were too cumbersome, too much bother and too slow in getting information to the people. They were superseded by printing and publications.

Newspapers were born because the life of the English people in the 17th century had become too complex for the existing outmoded means of communication. The Town Crier, the Village Square, the Offices of Intelligence, the printed handbill and the occasional newsheet all had become inadequate as purveyors of public information.

Life in England in the mid-17th century was very rudimentary indeed, compared to life in America in this orbiting economy of today. Yet it was moving so fast, compared with earlier centuries, and the population was getting so big, that a new method of public notice simply had to be invented.

The answer to the acute problem of communications in that era was the newspaper. No one expected it then, but it took only a few short years—actually from 1665 to 1688—for the newspaper to grow from the little two-page Oxford Gazette to the "Post" newspapers which flooded England and spread to Europe and America by 1700.

III
 Seek the reasons why the newspaper has long been the free world's method of keeping people informed and they came upon you in a flood:

1. The people cannot be well and currently informed unless there is a publication which is issued with absolute regularity. In 1586 there was a thing that passed for a newsbook called Mercurio Gollo-Belgicus. Just how it could be called a newsbook is hard to see because it was published every two years. The regularity of the modern daily and weekly newspaper, however, presents continuous opportunities for the publishing of important legal notices. Nothing else is so dependable. (And remember, too, please, that the newspaperman must somehow scrape together the money to put out this paper every week or every day for 52 weeks of the year. All this to insure the availability of a public information medium when you need it.)

2. The people cannot be adequately served unless the medium in which public notices are published has permanence. Matters of legal business, matters that affect the property, liberty and life of the people, cannot be written on the wind. There are numerous occasions when the parties of a legal action, lawyers and judges must be able to refer to a permanent record to prove that public notice was actually given on the dates provided in the law.

3. Proof of Publication. Public notice in a newspaper provides almost automatic proof of publication. Additional copies are supplied to lawyers and interested parties at little or no cost, and if greater quantities are required they can be obtained at little expense. Most newspapers maintain files of their back issues, or microfilms for ready reference or proof of publication.

4. The people cannot be informed unless the public notice is run in a medium that has good reader traffic. Many publications are subsidized by groups or associations and circulate only to a select technical or religious or fraternal membership. Obviously such publications do not pretend to be general nor to appeal to ordinary people. The newspaper, however, is read by most people day after day, and the reader traffic through the newspaper is both large and consistent. No one, to be sure, reads everything in any publication, but no other publication except the newspaper brings as many persons together who can see a public notice if it interests them.

5. A good public notice medium must be one in which the public has confidence. For more than a century many newspapers have been serving their communities, and millions of people say with Will Rogers: "All I know is what I read in the newspapers." The newspaper is literally both leisure reading and textbook to many people who read little else.

6. The fact that more than 60 million newspapers are bought every day, and that about 9,000 weeklies and other publications with less than daily frequency now exist, is proof that the public wants newspapers. What other medium of communications can make that many persons lay down their cold cash day after day to become and remain currently informed?

7. The newspaper is handy. It is a handy reference for advertising: mom shops with a list made from the ads, frequently with the ads themselves in her purse. It is a handy reference for dates of scheduled event. It is a handy reference for school and church meetings, political affairs, public affairs, for legal, credit, business and commercial transactions, parades and parent-teacher meetings—a handy reference for everything pertinent to people's lives. And it is a most convenient reference for public notices required by law.

8. The newspaper is acknowledged by the greatest businesses in America as the finest medium they can buy. Every year more money is invested in newspaper advertising than in all the other major media in the country. The newspapers will be awarded from 30 per cent to 33 per cent of all advertising money invested by American business. This is more than is spent in all three of the next most used media. Is further proof needed that the wisest businessmen believe the newspaper to be the best information medium?

9. Nothing throws the merciless glare of publicity on a man, a group, a movement or a plot like exposure in the columns of a newspaper. Is there a publisher in America who several times a month, yes, sometimes in a week, is not importuned to "keep it out of the paper"? This is as true for public notices as it is for news. Yet the very fact that someone wants an item, or a public notice, kept out of the paper is tacit endorsement of the newspaper's efficiency in informing the people.

10. This is the ATOMIC AGE. Rockets pierce the heavens. Satellites are created to orbit the earth. Men drive cars at 80 miles per hour on four-lane highways. It is an age of speed. The population is entirely mobile. They read as they run, as they fly, and few of them come within miles of the "public square." Public notice must be placed in the medium (Continued on Page 8)

Shower Honors Miss Deeda Hickey Fri.

The home of Mrs. Buster Helm was the scene on Friday evening for a lovely bridal shower given to honor Miss Deeda Hickey, bride-elect of Thomas M. Ford, Jr., of Perryton.

Guests who called between the hours of 7:30 and 9 o'clock were greeted by Miss Leslie Helm and presented to a receiving line composed of Mrs. Helm; the honoree, Miss Hickey; her mother, Mrs. Gerald Hickey and Mrs. Thomas Ford, Sr., of Perryton, mother of the groom-to-be.

Miss Dayna Hickey, sister of the bride-elect, presided at the register to secure signatures of the guests.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of yellow and white were noted in party decorations throughout the spacious entertaining rooms. In the dining room the refreshment table was laid with a white net cloth over an undershirt of yellow taffeta. The net cloth was adorned with beaded applique designs.

Centering the table was a silver candelabra with crystal epergnes filled with yellow roses and white rainbow asters. The candelabra held yellow tapers and the base and stem were entwined with miniature ivy. Other table appointments were also in silver and crystal.

Lakeview Young Homemakers Hold Meeting Monday

The Young Homemakers of the Lakeview Chapter met Monday, July 20, at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria. With seven members and two new members present, the president called the meeting to order. After roll call and reading of the minutes, the chair recognized a motion for discussion of business. Conflicting of revival dates and meeting dates for the month of August was brought to the attention of the club, and a motion was made and seconded to change the meeting dates to August 10 and August 24. This will be the second and fourth Mondays.

Suggestions were discussed for the coming "baseball game and ice cream supper," which is set for August 24. Tentative plans are to have an older men's team vs. a younger men's team and an older women's team vs. club members. All who are interested in participating, please contact Shirley Hodges or Brenda Pate.

The speaker, Mrs. Alene Crabtree from Crabtree Beauty College in Amarillo, gave a most inspiring talk on "Poise, Beauty and Charm". Valuable tips on these topics were graciously appreciated by all members.

The speaker for August 10 will be Mr. Spicer of Spicer Funeral Home, who will speak on first aid in the home. All persons interested in becoming members are urged to attend.

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

Quiet reigns supreme this week at our house . . . our five-year-old grandson, Kent; our seven-year-old granddaughter, Debbie, and their mother, Carnis, left for their home in El Paso Saturday after a visit of more than two weeks with us. We carried them to Carlsbad Saturday to meet Adrian, who had returned to El Paso the week before after a 10-day visit here.

Since neither the grandchildren nor Herschel and I had visited Carlsbad Caverns, we arose early Sunday morning and, along with hundreds of tourists, made our way out to the caverns. At this time of year, one can make the tour at just about any time. The tours begin at 7 a. m. and continue until 3 p. m. with groups leaving about every hour. We entered the caverns at 10:15 and it was 2:45 when we returned to the surface.

If you have not seen Carlsbad Caverns, we recommend that you do so. It is truly one of the wonders of nature and there are simply not words to describe its scenic and stately beauty. We made the entire tour which consisted of walking downhill for 800 feet underground, then uphill for 80 feet where we entered a completely modern lunch room. Box lunches were 75 cents and consisted of two sandwiches, a piece of cake and an orange. On sale were coffee, soft drinks of all kinds, milk shakes, etc., as well as numerous other items, such as film. The temperature in the cavern remains the same year around, 56 degrees . . . so a light wrap feels good once you enter the cavern.

Through the years, I had heard many persons tell of their trip through the Caverns . . . but no one had impressed upon me the vastness of this truly magnificent hole underground. I had assumed one would feel closed-in . . . like being in a basement or storm cellar. But this feeling did not exist for us . . . the rooms were so large, the beauty so great, the lighting so cleverly placed, and the trail-way so well-laid out that we hardly thought of being underground at all. All tourists are now taken out on the elevator which makes the trip less tiring than it was several years ago.

In our mail this week was a note from the Tommy Davis family of Amarillo, along with a word of thanks to local friends for their assistance in time of need. The letter stated that the twins are about the same and are still in the hospital; however, the doctors state they are holding their own. It is thought they will be in the hospital for at least another month.

Mrs. Seth Pallmeyer, former resident, is visiting here this week from Wichita Falls and is a house guest, along with several other local women, at Mrs. W. D. Dickey's Lake Cottage. For several years now Mrs. Pallmeyer and her sister, Mrs. Sue Kesterson, have spent the winter months as counselors at Brenau Academy, Gainesville, Ga. Mrs. Kesterson has been enjoying the summer at home.

Belated congratulations to the directors and cast of "The Music Man" . . . it was indeed one of the best performances given here by the high school group. Heard several comment that they enjoyed the local production more than the movie . . . so did we!

Two high school band students received honors and have returned this week after enjoying interesting and instructive trips. They are Suzanne Sexauer, who was a member of the U. S. Band and enjoyed a six-week tour which carried the band into Canada; and Bill Cosby, who received a scholarship to attend a six-week summer school in Kansas.

All local residents are invited to a reception Sunday afternoon at the Community Building to meet Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Doss, who moved to Memphis last week. Mr. Doss is the new superintendent of Memphis Schools. Hosts for the social will be members of the school board and their wives. Time for the social is from 2:30 until 4 p. m.

fooling A Bushy-Tail

Two hunters are better than one when it comes to stalking squirrels—if the hunters work together.

Squirrels know how to get out of sight when danger approaches, usually by slipping around to the other side of the tree.

So, the trick is for one hunter to remain perfectly still, while the other one makes a great to-do of approaching the tree from the other side. The squirrel then will scurry around to the side away from the noisy hunter.

This gives the lurking man on the opposite side a perfect shot.

Half-Year Sales Of Savings Bonds Is Over 50%

Savings Bonds sales in Hall County during the first half of 1964 totaled $95,994. This report was made recently by O. L. Helm, Chairman of the Hall County Savings Bonds Committee. Fifty-six per cent of the 1964 goal has been achieved.

Savings Bonds sales in Texas during the first half of 1964 totaled $75,465,762 or 50.3 per cent of the 1964 goal of $150,000,000.

"Owning U. S. Savings Bonds gives financial strength to every family and economic strength to the nation. For this reason the Treasury Department is conducting a 'Strong Families' campaign from Labor Day through Thanksgiving. The goal of this campaign is the purchase of a savings bond by every family. Already a great many National Organizations have pledged their full cooperation. I am confident that many of the people of our county who are members of cooperating National Organizations will join in this campaign and buy an extra bond where they work or bank," Chairman Helm announced.

11. "People are more interested in people than in anything else." This is an old saying seldom challenged. And it is also true that everyone is more interested in himself, his business, his family and his own affairs than in other people's.

This is why people read newspapers. The newspaper is the only communications medium which, day after day, tells about YOU, YOUR wife, YOUR children, YOUR schools, YOUR church, YOUR club, YOUR business, professional or industrial activities, and everything else that affects YOU.

The newspaper, come to think of it, is the only one of the major media that is always vitally concerned about you, your family, your friends and your business associates. It is certain to be read as long as its editor doesn't forget this inescapable journalistic fact: the newspaper's life depends upon a deep and continuing interest in the lives, activities and business affairs of its subscribers.

There can be no better place to put a public notice than in the medium that people turn to in order to read about themselves, their friends and their business.

12. The newspaper is the image of the town where it is published. It records the city council's plan for adding to the electric facilities, the progress in building of a new school, the campaign to remodel and enlarge the municipal hospital, the purchase of a new fire truck—it records the daily business transactions and each and every milestone in the history of your town.

This is another reason why people read the newspaper. And it is another reason why public notices will be read when they are published in the paper. We could go on. There are many more reasons why the newspaper is the best medium to turn to in the newspaper so many times every day and every week. The newspaper has become a part of American life.

Lastly, let us reiterate the necessity for publishing public notices together in a regular part of the newspaper, where they may conveniently be found, frequently referred to, and detached from the paper as required. It has often been said that people come to the classified ads in newspapers because they are looking for something specific. This must be true for the total income from classified ads in newspapers is two or three times as much as advertising.

How important it is, therefore, that public notices be printed together, or in convenient groups, easy to locate and easy to read every day. The "BEST" Public Notice medium is the newspaper.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Most hunted game bird in Texas is the mourning dove. One of the most trying of winged targets. And probably is the reason it is so high with sportsmen. When you go dove hunting, don't just take along one box of shells. Most hunters take two and sometimes more. A few expert shotgun artists can pass a dove with almost every shot. But let's face it—only a minute percentage of hunters are expert marksmen. The mourning dove is a small bird. It can't take a lot of punishment, and it's easy to kill. And this bird is the real challenge in dove hunting. It begins with the dove flies fast. Furthermore, its flight pattern is deceiving. For example, most birds will fly for altitude when shot at but not the mourning dove. It makes a shallow dive to pick up speed. This shallow dive confuses many hunters into believing they have a hit bird. Thus they follow up with a second shot. The dove's small size makes estimation difficult. With loads in a 12-gauge gun can kill doves at 40 to 45 yards. But at that distance the birds look mighty small. Some hunters pass up these shots because they think the bird is out of range. Many hunters wait until the bird is just 20 or 25 yards. At this distance, if they're using a full choke gun, they have the bird right in the pattern. Actually, at this short range, the pattern of a full choke doesn't open up enough. Quite often they'll shoot in front of or behind the bird. A modified choke is best for range. Open bore is even better. But an open bore gun is on long range shots.

Some hunters even wait to make their shots at 10 or 15 yards. Unless it's a straight-in shot, they'll usually miss at this close distance because of the difficulty in swinging the gun on a target crossing at 50 or 60 miles per hour. And when they do hit on these short shots, they literally blow the birds to bits. Doves are plentiful throughout Texas. Often you can get some choice shooting just outside the city limits. There are several ways to hunt doves. In dry years the best hunting usually is around a pond or farm tank. Take a stand and pop the birds as they sail in for water. You don't even need a blind. Just squat down in the grass and keep still. Good hunting is found in corn and rice fields too. Note where the birds are coming to feed and take a station accordingly. Dove hunting can get tough in a wet year. Then the birds don't have to use ponds and farm tanks for water. Wet-year hunting calls for jump shooting. Crisscross a field and take your shots as you jump the birds out of the grass. It's a lot like quail shooting, except that does will take to the air when you get within 30 or 40 yards of them. You'll have a lot of long shots. But it only adds to the sport. Improve your hunting by using decoys. Place the decoys on fence wires or on the limbs of trees. When picking trees for decoys, select only those with little foliage so doves can spot the decoys from a distance. You can place decoys on the shorelines of ponds and farm tanks. But pick spots where there is little grass so that the decoys will show up. Decoying doves differs from decoying waterfowl in that you only

AF RESERVIST—S. Sgt. Troy L. Moore of Rt. 2, Memphis, is currently training with the 9410th A. F. Reserve Recovery Squadron in Childress during their two-week summer camp. dove, some folks may think a small shotgun is needed. Well, you can drop doves with a .410 if you're a good shot, but if you check the hunters in the field, you'll find the 12-gauge is by far the most popular weapons. Shot size is a matter of hunter choice with the range going all the way from No. 6 to No. 9. Some hunters use No. 6 shot in a full choke gun for long-range shooting because the pellets carry better. Most popular shot size, however, is No. 7½ and No. 8. Both sizes have simple pellets to give a dense pattern, which is the key to success in dove hunting. You can judge the shot size to fit your need by noting the pellet count on various sizes. Now, these counts are for one ounce of shot. With No. 6 shot you'll have 225 pellets in the load. An ounce of 7½ counts 350; No. 8 counts 410, and No. 9 counts 584. No. 6 shot is okay for long-range shooting in a full-choke gun. You can use 7½ for long range if there is very little wind. Use 8 and 9 for those 30-yard shots. But if there is a stiff wind blowing, you can expect some terrible wind-blown patterns with the light No. 9 pellets. It's a good idea to carry several shot sizes and use the size that best fits the occasion. But remember this. Take along plenty of ammo. Doves are tricky targets, and you'll blow a lot of holes in the sky before getting your limit.

If essential soil elements are lacking, plants won't thrive.

Representative, 18th

State Sovereignty Further Diminished

We say it so often—"United States"—that some citizens tend to overlook the true meaning. The United States consists of just that—united States—separate political entities joined together in common purpose, forming one Nation in a complex "federal" relationship ordained by the Constitution. Our system is one of dual sovereignty. Our people stand in a twofold relationship to sovereign authority, as citizens of the national government and as citizens of their particular States. We are all familiar with the indisputable fact that the sovereign authority of the national government has become increasingly more powerful while that of the States has diminished. It is a trend many of us are doing our best to reverse.

A near-mortal blow to this system was struck one month ago by the United States Supreme Court. On June 15, the Court held that legislatures of six States are apportioned in ways that violate the Federal Constitution, specifically the so-called "Equal Protection Clause" of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The effect of the court decision is this: States must structure their legislatures so that all the members of each house represents substantially the same number of people. While cases involving only six States were before the court, the decision undoubtedly means that legislatures in all but a few of the other 44 States are apportioned in ways contrary to the Court's interpretation of the Constitution.

The June 15 decision has touched off a furor in Congress, which went back into Session this week after a two-week recess. More than 80 proposals have been introduced in the House of Representatives in an effort to overturn the effect of the court decision.

Most of the proposals call for an amendment to the Constitution to permit States to apportion at least one house of bicameral (two house) legislatures on a basis rather than population. Typical of these proposals is that introduced by Honorable Wright Patman of Texas, the dean of the Texas delegation in the House, whose resolution is supported by the Texas members, including me. The wording of Congressman Patman's proposed amendment is simple and to the point: "Nothing in the Constitution of the United States shall prohibit a State, having a bicameral legislature, from apportioning the membership of one house of its legislatures on factors other than population." It is my hope that Congress will not adjourn until an amendment to the Constitution identical or similar to that advanced by Congressman Patman is adopted by the House and Senate and sent to the States for ratification.

The Supreme Court decision on State legislative apportionment denies to the States the employment of a principle of apportionment which is incorporated in the United States Congress. The "Great Compromise" of the Constitutional Convention in 1787 settled a question that had threatened to block approval by the delegates of any compact establishing a national government. The "Great Compromise" satisfied the argument of the small States that a proportional system in both houses of Congress would fail to provide proper representation of their interests. Therefore, it was determined that the House should be apportioned by equal representation of population. The U. S. Senate was to have two members from each State, regardless of the size of its population or extent of its territory.

Justice Harlan, issuing a strong dissent from the majority opinion of the Court, said these decisions "have the effect of placing basic aspects of state political systems under the pervasive overlordship of the federal judiciary." Why? Because if the State legislatures refuse to correct apportionment, the Federal courts themselves will set out to set legislative district boundaries. This is totally unconscionable with Federal-State relationships as determined by the Constitution, law, and custom.

Singly, one by one, the Supreme Court settles the questions of constitutionality. Thomas Jefferson advocated that the Court be stripped of the right to determine constitutionality of acts of Congress or State legislatures. Until the people of this Nation demand that the Constitution be amended to permit Congress to override decisions of the Court declaring statutes unconstitutional, the problem typified in the legislative apportionment cases will be repeated time and time again. I am continuing to press for the adoption of a Constitutional amendment I have introduced to give Congress the power "by statute passed by two-thirds of each House of Congress" to overturn Federal Court decisions invalidating acts of Congress or State legislatures.

Laff Of The Week

"Well, I've looked everywhere but under your foot!"

False Worship

Thy shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thy serve.

—Deuteronomy 6:13-14

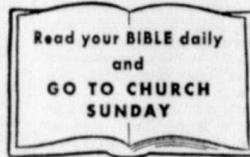

We moderns do not believe in the worship of idols. And, we find it difficult to understand that in some remote corners of the earth men still pay homage to false gods or to creatures real and imaginary.

Yet, we are not so perfect that there is no message for us in the above quotation. It is not enough that we worship and serve God at least once a week, and, having done so, feel "free" for six full days.

We do not worship idols. We know better. Yet, perhaps, some of us spend too much time in search of material things, too little in the service of God. We worship God—but what value do we place on other things—money, fame, social position, etc.

We need, from time to time, to examine our conscience—and measure our sense of values.

FIND THE STRENGTH FOR YOUR LIFE...

Worship together.

ALL-STARS REACH FINALS—The Memphis All-Stars reached the finals in the area play-offs last weekend at Clarendon only to be defeated 11 to 2 by Amarillo AFB team. Tips On Lawn Care Are Given By County Agent

To keep a lawn attractive throughout the summer, proper fertilization, watering and mowing are very important. Fertilization should continue throughout the growing season, says County Agent W. B. Hooser. Nitrogen is the key element in turf growth and should be applied every eight to 10 weeks at the rate of one to two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. It produces the deep green color that homeowners desire. Hooser says that lawns should never be watered until the grass shows a definite need. When watering, the soil should be soaked to a depth of six inches or more. Water should be applied only as fast as the soil can absorb it. Deep watering encourages a deep root system that is capable of utilizing plant nutrients more efficiently and is more resistant to disease. Light sprinkling will produce shallow root systems which encourage weed infestation and disease. The County Agent suggests that the lawn should be watered for a healthy root system during excessively dry periods in the winter since the root system is still alive. Improper mowing results in the deterioration of many lawns. Mowing too close encourages thinning of the turf, shallow rooting, soil drying and heat damage to grass during the summer. Clipping too high results in many of the same problems. Bermuda should be mowed at a height of 1 to 1 1/2 inches while St. Augustine requires mowing at 1 1/2 to 2 inches. It is a good practice to cut only one inch off at August lawn care at each mowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Scarbrough of Lubbock visited here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Koeninger, last weekend.

Rains

(Continued from Page 1) stures, the crops of Hall County were in need of moisture. Rains this week only gave relief to certain areas, and the amounts were not heavy enough to greatly improve the crop prospect, it was ported.

J. J. McMickin, official weather observer, reported his rain gauge measured .50 of an inch. Temperatures this week were record breaking, he reported. Tuesday, the high temperature reached a hot 110 degrees.

High-low temperatures for the week included: Wednesday 102-74, Tuesday 110-74, Monday 108-72, Sunday 105-72, Saturday 109-73, Friday 105-71, and Thursday 103-65.

July 25-26-27, 1940, Memphis and Hall County observed the Golden Jubilee of 50 years of existence. One year from now, the Diamond Jubilee 75th Anniversary of the county is to be a greater affair, it is expected. The 74th anniversary is being planned by the various committees to make this year's Picnic one of the best — September Sunday, third Sunday. Already, a beef has been offered.

The Hall County Committee of the Texas Historical Society is to hold a meeting Thursday night to work in getting Hall County Surveying, Marking, Preservation, historical early-day things for the future people to study. Otherwise, such things will disappear. Some money, assistance in gathering early-day items of interest — such can be shown at the Hall County Picnic—so much has been needed to put our county on the historical map.

In previous matches, Foxhall had defeated Dink Miller and Jack Norman. Dunbar defeated Barry Ward and Bill Gibson. K. D. Nabers fired a four over

In the second flight, Gene Lindsey won first place, Skitter Bray was runner-up and Harley Taylor received the consolation trophy.

In the third flight, Chuck Jones won the first place trophy. Coy Beckham placed second and Harold Smith took the consolation bracket.

Both men are well qualified both as singers and preachers, and we are fortunate to have this opportunity to hear the combined talents of these young men, Minister Posey stated.

Services will begin at 7:30 each night with Bro. Paul Hancock bringing the first message and Bro. Cassel leading the singing and bringing the first message in song.

Mrs. Gerald Knight will accompany at the organ. "The people of this community are urged to share with us in this meeting. Visitors are invited to attend," Minister Posey concluded.
