Estelline's Annual Homecoming Date Is Set for Saturday, September 5

All ex-students, residents and anyone interested in the Estelline community, are invited to Estelline Homecoming, beginning at 9 a. m. Saturday, Sept. 5, in the High School Building.

Registration will get underway at 9 a. m. and a coffee will be held in the Homemaking Cottage.

"We hope to have on display pictures, etc., for all ages, and we would like for all those who come to bring any pictures available to share and discuss," Louise Kindard said.

The senior mothers will serve a meal which will be served at $1.00 for adults and 60 cents for each child.

The business session will begin at 1:30 p. m. in the School Auditorium. A program will be presented at 8 p. m. in the auditorium, and refreshments will be served after the program.

"We would like to urge the local people as well as all ex-students and ex-residents to come and enjoy Sept. 5th with us," she concluded.

M. E. McNally, Sr., Local Business Leader, Is Buried

Marion Edward McNally, Sr., 85, who owned the McNally Insurance and Loan Co. in Memphis until his retirement, died Tuesday in Hall County Hospital.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. today (Thursday) at the First Christian Church with Tom Posey, minister, officiating.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery with services under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home. Born in Johnson County, Mr. McNally married Lillian M. Alfrey Dec. 29, 1909. The couple moved to Hall County in 1913.

Funeral Services Held Today For T. J. Dunbar

T. J. Dunbar, 82, well-known Memphis businessman, died Wednesday in Hall County Hospital where he had been a patient since suffering a stroke several months ago. Before he became ill, Mr. Dunbar was active in the operation of Dunbar & Dunbar Insurance Co., with his son, Allen, for many years.

Mr. Dunbar, who resided at 903 South 7th St., was born Nov. 21, 1881, in St. Jo, Tex. He was united in marriage to Miss Coy Allen on April 25, 1907, in Austin, Texas.

Funeral services were conducted at 4 p. m. today (Thursday) in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. J. B. Thompson, pastor, officiating.

Interment was in Fairview Cemetery with services under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home. Active in community and civic affairs. (Continued on Page Twelve)

The Memphis Cyclone will begin its 1964 football season Friday night at 8 p. m. in Cyclone Stadium when it takes to the field against the large, tough Crowell Wildcats in a first game thriller.

Football fans will see an all-senior line-up for Memphis going against a big, hard-hitting team from Crowell. Memphis Coach Charley Chambless said Wednesday he was not announcing the starting line-up until Friday night, but it would be evident with 16 seniors to choose from, the Cyclone will have experienced players on the field.

Eighteen seniors are listed on the program. However, two are on the injured list. Guard Mike Branigan will be out for approximately two weeks with a knee injury.

Also, Coach Chambless said, it was discovered early this week that Fullback James Waites will have to undergo surgery. The operation was scheduled for today, and it is not definite when he will be back in uniform.

"Both these boys were looking good, and we hate to lose them," the coach said.

Junior Jerry Moss, the team's No. 3 quarterback, and top prospect for next year's No. 1 position, received a broken collarbone. He will be out of action for the next six weeks.

Despite the injuries, Coach Chambless said the Cyclone team will be "a lot stronger than last year." He said the team will use the same line-up. (Continued on Page 12)

Burlington Industries Announce Pay Increase

The Burlington Industries plants at Post, Memphis, West and Sherman, Tex., have announced an upward revision of wages to be effective Sept. 13, 1964.

This increase is in keeping with the general wage increase expected to go into effect in all textile mills during the month of September.

This follows the voluntary wage increase of Nov. 1, 1963. Since that time Burlington Industries has also adopted the well-known profit-sharing retirement plan covering all eligible employees, Louie Burkes, plant manager, Postex Cotton Mills, of Post, stated.

Funeral Services Held Wed. For Mrs. Carrie Moore

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie Moore, 69, of Hugo, Okla., who died Monday in Bethany Hospital at Wichita Falls, were held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Spicer Funeral Home Chapel. Officiating was the Rev. Robert D. Griffin, pastor of the Lakeview Baptist Church, assisted by Tom Posey, minister of the First Christian Church in Memphis.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery with services under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Mrs. Moore, who was born Mar. 8, 1895, at Avery, had been a resident of Hugo for the past six years.

Survivors include her husband, E. C. Moore of the home; three sons, Sedney Stevens of Walters, Okla., W. A. Moore of Lovington, N. M., and J. W. Moore of Lubbock; four step-sons, William Moore of Toon, Tenn., Herman Moore of Claude, Elmer Moore of Memphis and Raymond Moore of Lakeview; and a step-daughter, Mrs. Edna Faye Walker of Fresno, Calif.

Pall bearers were Cap Byars, H. W. Spear, Gerald Hickey, John L. Burnett, James Skinner and Coleman Duke.

Honorary pall bearers were Joe Barnett, O. M. Hancock, Frank Menzinger, Earnest Godfrey, Horace Duvall, Bill Gowdy, M. D. Kennard, W. R. Scott, Red Hight and Troy Payne.

City Receives FAA Airport Approval

Memphis Mayor H. J. Howell announced this week that the city has received final approval from the Federal Aviation Agency, Fort Worth office, to go ahead with the paving of the Memphis Airport runway.

The approval was received here early this week and Mayor Howell stated that work on the project would begin immediately. Also, Mayor Howell said, the City of Memphis is in the process of spraying for mosquitoes. The city's spraying machine has been going up and down streets and alleys spraying the insect-killing cloud.

"We decided to spray at this time because of the reports of sleeping sickness (encephalitis) in areas around us," the mayor said.

Offield Construction Co. has the contract to pave the airport runway.

Earl Allen, Quail Rancher, Dies Unexpectedly

Earl Gainer Allen, well-known quail farmer and rancher, died unexpectedly at his home near Quail early Monday morning, shortly after suffering a heart attack.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Hedley Baptist Church with the Rev. Robert Estes, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery. (Continued on Page Twelve)

Lakeview PTA To Have Supper Friday

The Lakeview Parent Teacher Association is sponsoring a "basket-supper" honoring the Lakeview faculty and school employees and their families on Friday evening, Sept. 4, in the grade school cafeteria. The social will begin at 8 p. m.

All residents of the community are invited to participate. Those attending are asked to bring food, dominoes, cards and card tables.

John Boswell, Retired Farmer, Dies Sunday

Funeral services for John William Boswell, 83, of Memphis were held at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday in the Travis Baptist Church with the Rev. Leroy Gaston, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Mr. Boswell, born in Collin County, died Sunday in Hall County Hospital. He was married to Pearl Laird at McKinney and the family moved to a farm near Lakeview in 1937. He moved to Memphis after retiring in 1960.

Survivors, besides his wife of the home, include sons, Hazel Bill of Kress and John William, Jr., of Sweetwater; daughters, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Elliott of Electra and Mrs. Dorothy Irene Helms of Hedley; a sister, Mrs. Melisa McCann of Electra; 17 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pall bearers were J. M. Ferrel, Jr., T. B. Rogers, Roy Lee Helm, Clyde Davidson, Roddy Klinnert and Clyde Reed.

Sundays and then the Hall County Picnic—Sunday, Sept. 20. The weather should be just a bit cooler so all who attend the picnic will enjoy it the whole day. Many people of Hall County are former residents, whether they are old or young, lived in the area during early days or lived here a short time lately—all are expected to do a lot of fun during the next year's Diamond Jubilee.

For this year, very few mosquitoes have both the folks here due to a lot of weather, and the city has been doing a lot of spraying. Parts of Texas have quite a bit of "sleeping sickness" year.

Just read a few of the issues of The Democrat, started in July, 1908, and find that the people looked at things very much as we do today. Only they had to do them hard way. Farmers and merchants boosted Hall County as the best in the Panhandle. . . . The bond issue carried with a majority, with many voting for it because the outside building served the purpose. The amount of bonds to improve the sewer system was $20,000. This system with many additions still used. But the disposal has gone to the limit, and things may have to be done right away. A hotel, in charged $1.00 per day for food and meals; grocers sold seconds of coffee for $1.00; for 10 cents a loaf; Lewis rents. Prices now are much higher than 50 years ago.

The Hedley folks have been going about no other Hedley. They had to back up, for Hedley in Canada—other in Texas. But no cotton grown in Canada.

Items of interest in 1908: Reported that there are many wild turkeys on Little that can only be killed with shot. Recently a party of visited that section and shot back three turkeys and a quail. . . . At first of January, Ben F. Shepherd becomes of this newspaper, succeeded L. Vanderburgh (The other was Othar Brunley.) A 7-tract of land in Memphis and all buildings thereon, for $4,500. . . . R. P. Brice pair of ferrets and they are engaged in exterminating the city. . . . After the man celluloid collar on is ready by society, he can always lodge that will glad-hand. A clean up was ordered. This year of 1964, has been ordered.)

W. H. Moreman Deer Resident Tuesday

Ethel Irene Moreman, 85, died in Hall County since Tuesday in the Hall County Hospital.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. today (Thursday) in the Baptist Church with the Rev. John Rakestraw, pastor of Pleasant Valley Methodist Church of Amarillo, officiating.

Beef Cattle Outlook Slightly Brighter

According to the latest information from Washington, industry-government cooperation is getting results in easing the beef problem. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman stated that domestic per capita consumption of beef for January-March of this year was up eight per cent over a year ago with exports up, and imports down.

Since beef raising is one of Hall County's larger money makers, sometimes referred to as the second largest, the cattle market price paid for beef is important in this area. Cattle prices have been low for some time, and the situation is serious. It was reported that in recent weeks cattle prices have shown the first substantial advance in almost a year with most of the increase occurring in the price of fed cattle.

Secretary Freeman reported several things that were being done to relieve the situation. Some have received much publicity while others have not been mentioned by the daily press.

Freeman stated that imports are being reduced one-fourth below the high level of last year, or about equal to the 1959-63 average. Agreements have been signed with Australia and New Zealand, plus Ireland and Mexico. During the first six months of 1964 imports of beef and veal were about 11 per cent below 1963.

Beef exports are expanding, he reported. During July, buyers representing France and Italy came to the U. S. to make trade contracts and purchase beef. Some 1,300 head of feeder cattle were shipped to Italy, the first shipment of live U. S. cattle to Europe in more than 50 years.

Chile and Israel, along with the United Arab Republic, have signed agreements for 40 million pounds of U. S. beef.

European countries are currently short of beef, and, for the first time in many years, U. S. meats may now be able to compete. Exports during the first six months of this year were over 12 million pounds or three times as large as exports during the first half of 1963.

The Federal government has increased its purchase programs which include the Department of Defense and the schools, institutions and needy families programs.

Industry, along with the government, have begun an intensified drive to call consumer attention to abundant supplies of high quality beef. Large meat retailers have reported that beef sales are running between 8 and 25 per cent above a year ago.

Beef consumption per person has expanded sharply, rising from 63 pounds in 1963 to an estimated 105 pounds this year. However, production outran even this increased demand.

The year 1963 was a record year for the production of beef—seven per cent higher than in 1962. And the year 1964 promises to set another record. In the first six months of this year, the output of beef was 13 per cent higher than in 1963. The number of cattle slaughtered was 11 per cent higher. Beef output in June 1964 was 21 per cent higher than in June 1963, and 22 per cent more cattle were slaughtered.

With production expanding faster than the market, the problem of market price is serious. The industry-government cooperation in purchase and promotion programs and activities to expand exports may take months to have effect. Cattlemen can help by adjusting cattle numbers and market weights to bring production back into line with market demand, but here again, this type of undertaking takes time to show any effect.

We hope that every field for expanding the cattle market will be explored, and a satisfactory working market can be established.

The Reapportionment Issue

An argument that rings the bell with us in the heated debate over the Supreme Court's equal-population-basis decision for apportionment of state legislatures is this:

Why should it be unconstitutional for a state legislature to be set up along lines regarded as strictly constitutional for the federal legislature? To wit, one house on a population basis and the other on a basis including geography.

The Supreme Court gave short shrift to this line of argument in its controversial decision holding that under the 14th Amendment it is unconstitutional for either house of a state legislature to be apportioned on other than a population basis. The court majority said the federal-state situations were not analogous.

This decision now, of course, is the law of the land.

But there is great disagreement as shown by the strength of the Dirksen-Mansfield "breather" amendment in the Senate and by the 218-to-174 House vote for the Tuck bill to deprive the Supreme Court of jurisdiction over apportionment of state legislatures.

And just how important is the court's decision was stated best by Justice Potter Stewart in his vigorous dissent:

"The court's draconian pronouncement, which makes unconstitutional the legislatures of most of the 50 states finds no support in the words of the Constitution in any prior decision of this court, or in the 175-year political history of our federal union."

With the situation as chaotic as it is in many states and with the issue of such overriding importance, it seems mandatory for Congress to pass something such as the Dirksen-Mansfield amendment. This would give Congress time at its next session to decide whether to submit to the states the proposed Constitutional voters approve, to set up a legislature along federal lines—one house on a strict population basis and the other taking geography and other factors into account.

Such a constitutional amendment seems highly desirable. The states should be given some latitude on how they want to get up their legislatures.

Under the highly regarded federal system, for example, New York with 16.5 million people has two U. S. Senators and Nevada with only 285,000 citizens also has two U. S. Senators. That's constitutional and so far hasn't ruined the country.

Why shouldn't it be made constitutional for the voters of California, for instance, if they so choose, to set up one house of its legislature on an other-than population basis to keep Los Angeles County from dominating its

Contract Let For Quail FM Road

A contract for 18.1 miles of construction on FM Road 2166 in Collingsworth County has been awarded to an Amarillo firm, the State Highway Commission has announced.

The low bid for the project was $257,522.42, and Ivan Dement, Inc., received the contract.

Grading and structures from the Hall County line, northeast to FM 1056 south of Quail, is expected to take 150 working days, according to V. J. McGee, district highway engineer of Childress. This contract does not include base and topping, which will be covered in a separate contract to be let next spring, it was announced.

It does include the Buck Creek bridge, however, which will be 480 feet long. All other structures will be small L. Clyde Drake, resident engineer at Wellington, said.

The work is expected to be completed next spring.

B&PW Club Is Now Selling Birthday Calendar

The Business and Professional Women's Club is now holding the annual drive to sell Birthday Calendars for 1965. Myrtle Helm, president, has announced.

Calendars are $1.00 each, and birthday date and anniversary date are 25 cents each. In addition to individual birthdays and anniversaries, the calendar will list many community meeting dates such as school activities at Memphis, Lakeview and Estelline, club meeting dates, PTA meeting dates, etc.

"The calendars were very popular last year, and we feel that many more persons will desire to have one in their homes this year," Mrs. Helm stated.

Proceeds from the sale of the calendars will be used to purchase an ice maker for the community building.

Persons who have not been contacted and would like to have a calendar may call Cora Belle Alexander at Lemons Furniture Co., or Louise Howell at West Texas Utilities Co.

Hall Co. Farm Bureau Committee Meets Tuesday

The Hall County Farm Bureau policy development committee, composed of J. W. Longshore, chairman, and members met Tuesday night, Sept. 2, to discuss possible resolutions to be brought up at the annual meeting.

The committee issued the following statement:

"Most of us have forthright opinions about how things should be run in Washington and Austin and in Hall County. But seldom do those opinions find an effective means of expression except at the polls—and then only by voting for the party or persons whose platform or views most nearly coincide with our own ideas.

"And yet, ours is supposed to be a government of the people and by the people, as well as for the people.

In view of the fact that most individuals' expressions of opinion are restricted to cross-the-fence exchanges and sidewalk sessions, farmers and ranchers of Hall County should take seriously the opportunity that is afforded them by the Farm Bureau to register their opinions on important issues. Every year about this time, the organization sets in motion a procedure for developing its policies for the coming year. It asks the opinions of its members on important local, state, and national issues," the chairman stated.

"Any ideas advanced that have sufficient merit to withstand the test of give-and-take debate in open discussion among the membership can become official policies of the organization. Any that

Hall Grand Jury Gives Four True Bills Monday

The Hall County Grand Jury returned four indictments Monday after hearing four felony cases.

Louis Rocco Keer and Robert Louis Stevenson were indicted by the Grand Jury on theft charges. The two men are charged with the theft of two saddles from Robert Proctor of Turkey, on June 24, 1964.

A true bill was given the case of forgery against George Perkins, who is charged with passing a false instrument on May 4, 1964.

The Grand Jury indicted Billy Wayne Howard for a burglary charge of the Big O Restaurant on April 4, 1964.

Draft Boards Plan Study Of Unregistered

An estimated 6,000 to 8,000 18-year-old males, legally required to be registered under the draft law, are not registered in Texas currently.

That was the conclusion reached here Wednesday by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state director of Selective Service.

The estimate, Colonel Schwartz said, was based on 1946 male births in the state and rates of increase in the number of males at the 18-year-old level.

More than 45,000 males registered with Texas draft boards from January through July. The figure should be 51,000 to 53,000, Colonel Schwartz says, based on the best analysis of statistics at his disposal and current experiences of local boards.

One Texas draft board recently began a special project of investigation through the school census as well as taking other special actions and doubled its current registration rate of 18-year-olds, the state draft director said. He indicated some other boards were considering similar action.

Colonel Schwartz pointed out that the draft law makes it the responsibility of the 18-year-old male to register at the nearest local board on the day he is 18, or within five days thereafter.

"If he waits as much as six days to present himself for registration, he is late," Colonel Schwartz said, "and is subject to penalty of the law."

Maximum penalty for failure to comply with the draft law, upon prosecution and conviction of an individual subject to it, is five years in prison, $10,000 fine, or both.

Local boards may, if they decide to take the action, select men out of turn for immediate military service if they fail to comply with draft law provisions, including registration on time.

Practically all males born after August 30, 1922, except those under 18, are legally required to be registered under the current draft law.

The Lesley Baptist Church announced this week that revival services for their church will begin Sunday, Sept. 6, and will continue through Sunday, Sept. 13.

Rev. Raymond Earl Hall, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ector, Tex., will be the evangelist for the revival. Rev. Hall is a graduate of the Lesley Baptist College of Phoenix, Ariz.

Morning services are scheduled for 10 a. m. and evening services will start at 7:30 p. m., 8 p. m. and 9 p. m.

The church extended a cordial invitation to all to attend all services.

Rain Blamed For Two-Car Accident Sunday

A rainstorm seven miles south of Memphis on U. S. Highway 287 Sunday was given as the reason for a two-car collision which resulted in around $500 property damage and no injuries.

Investigating officer, Highway Patrolman Don Collins, said a 1953 Ford being driven by J. C. Clark, a Childress negro, hit the side of an automobile being driven by Dr. Harvey K. Jackson of Amarillo.

Patrolman Collins said that apparently Clark had been driving on the improved shoulder of the highway and was returning to the main line of traffic when he hit Dr. Jackson's car.

Both drivers said the rain at the time of the accident, 3:45 p. m., was so heavy that visibility was hampered.

Bird Cox and Miles Cox of Hart were here over the weekend to attend the wedding of Miss Velma Hutcherson and Mike Montgomery.

TO VISIT—Shown above is WAC Sgt. Juanita Roberts, who will visit in Memphis Wednesday, Sept. 16, to discuss WAC and ANC opportunities available for young women. She will be at the Post Office between 2 and 3 p. m. on that day.

Austin PTA To Meet Tuesday

The first meeting of the Stephen F. Austin Parent-Teacher Association will be at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 8, at the Stephen F. Austin Elementary School Building.

All parents are urged to attend by leaders of the association.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rogers visited in Pampa over the weekend with their son, Thomas Rogers and family. While there, they enjoyed attending the Top-O-Texas Rodeo.

Will Leslie Gives Country Boy View Of Trip To New York

By BILL LESLIE

In the summer I talked with a number of farmers about the fair. I decided to try them out. They told me there were 250,000 of them in a city that when you put them together was a frightful experience. I found out the bugs crawling all over you, etc. When Wilma was in New York recently she had the same feeling except that she was "human bugs" were crawling all over you, going in every direction and you simply can't get away from them.

My time was spent either in Manhattan or at the fair. Everywhere was the same. On Broadway, the Rockefeller Center, the Fair grounds, the hotel, in the east, people, people and more people. There were more people in New York than in Memphis on Monday. The fair grounds (and the fair grounds) were in the whole city. Only 55,000 of them got to see the exhibition game between the Mets and the Yankees that's all the park will hold.

There are hundreds of localities in New York, where there are people living on one square mile in the whole city. Memphis, in many of these apartment areas there will be ten or maybe twenty big apartments with from a hundred to a thousand apartments in each one, all crowded onto a land area of about four or five square miles.

You could imagine putting all the people who live in Memphis in the whole city, then you can get an idea of the way miles and miles of people are in mid-town Manhattan from about 8 a. m. until midnight (we generally went to bed by that time so we don't know how much longer that goes on). If you've ever seen a thousand or so cattle in holding and loading pens, then you can visualize what it's like at times on the subway trains. We tried to avoid the rush hour, but even so we experienced some of this. If you've ever stood and watched a red ant bed that is over-populated, you have a concept about the number and activities of the taxis on the streets of New York.

Helen Combs asked me to write about what we saw, did and thought of N. Y. I told her I did not have the time and the Democrat did not have the space for this but she said go ahead and write them, so here are random notes about the trip. Leave Memphis about 1 p. m., stop in Decatur and eat a free meal with your florist kinfolks, tell them you will have breakfast in N. Y. and watch their mouths fly open. Catch a plane (night tourist family plan flight) about 1 a. m.—an hour late—stop in Nashville, Washington, D. C., at dawn and at John F. Kennedy Airport in N. Y. at 7 a. m. Slept a little on the plane—and saved a night's hotel bill. Took two hours to get from airport to hotel. Freshened up a bit, caught a subway—going the wrong direction—to the Fair. Turned around and caught the right direction, and later made an intensive study about how to ride the subways. One of the few bargains in N. Y. is the subway. You can ride as long and as far as you want, transfer as many times as you want to for 15c. You can buy a book for $1.00 or borrow the one we borrowed from Hattie Dem Thompson and read about what can be seen at the Fair better than I can write it. To me, the Fair is not so awe-inspiring as their publicists would have you think. Even so, the General Motors, Ford, Coca-Cola, Johnson's Wax, Protestant and Orthodox, Vatican City, Mormon Temple, Masonic, State of Illinois, G. E., R.C.A., Hall of Science and many, many other exhibits are well worth the time it takes to see them. Incidentally, if you are going, even next year, you can save a whale of a lot of time by making some arrangements with Eddie Foxhall, the Ward Motor Co., Frank Phelan (Coke), and possibly others, before you go. I believe the thing that will be most vivid in my memory for some time is the "combo" that played in the Seven-Up pavillion while we were eating. They were from the British West Indies and their instruments were simply portions of old oil drums cut to different sizes and, some of them with the bottoms pushed in to different shapes. To me, they made some outstanding musical renditions on these gadgets. The permanent science exhibit will not be finished until next year. Also, the Belgian Village is not nearly finished. The show in the Texas Pavillion has folded and I heard the State of Louisiana is being sued for several hundred thousand dollars back rent on their joint. The Black Sea Scrolls are in the Jordan building. Japan has just about as much complicated and highly technical machinery—cameras, TV's, data processing, machine tools, etc., as we do. Judging from what we saw, they will soon—if not already—have wrist model TV's like you see Dick Tracy wearing. While we were there, a New Jersey grocer was the 25 millionth visitor since the fair opened.

The better shows, both stage and screen—and any other type of good recreation or diversion for that matter—have full houses for every performance. "Hello, Dolly" was sold out for months in advance: If you want to see it next year, you should get tickets now. We did manage to see two stage shows and one Cinerama. If you go, I would advise you to take a sack lunch for your refreshments.

Laff Of The Week

"Can't you ever forget that you were voted the best-dressed man in town?"

They have a long intermission and the refreshments are priced at four times what we are used to paying for them. Of course the theatre tickets, meals in the better restaurants and many other things are priced from four to ten times what we are used to paying here. We ate in a "joint" down the street from the hotel most of the time at reasonable prices. You can get a sirloin steak for $1.19 at dozens of places. It may be horse meat but thousands of people were eating them so we tried some. It wasn't bad. Just cooked a little too fast. The lights were quite dim so we couldn't really see how clean the place was. Another place on 7th Ave. just off Broadway, you could get a dinner for $2.50 with a girlie show on the side. We watched it a few minutes from the sidewalk but didn't go in. The New York Hilton Hotel is 44 stories high. It has 2,400 guest rooms. I'm sure most of them were more expensive than ours (we stayed there because that was the locale of our FTD convention) but using this as an average and assuming the hotel stays half full, the 5 per cent city sales tax from this hotel alone will yield the city $428,000.00 per year revenue. This 5 per cent tax also applied to food checks of $1.00 or more and I suppose it was imposed on most other items. J. C. Penney is building a new 50 story building across the street from this hotel. CBS is building a skyscraper just kitty cornered across the street. Many other huge building projects are going on in and around what is commonly known as Rockefeller Center. Both the New York Hilton and the Americana Hotels have been built in that vicinity since we were there in 1961. The sound of jack hammers, air compressors, etc., was deafening when you walked around those areas during the day. Late Saturday afternoon we came back to the hotel and saw the inside and outside swarming with police. It was not until the next day we learned Barry Goldwater addressed a convention of "ham" radio people in our hotel.

One of the highlights of the convention occurred Sunday evening with the presentation of "Living Line", a show presenting fashions in flowers and fabrics for everyday occasion. The fashion commentator for this show was the noted Pat Fontaine. The floral extravaganza was, of course, important to us but an added note of interest was the fact that all the fabrics for the fashions were furnished by Burlington Mills. We took great pride in telling our friends that this organization has an operation in Memphis, Texas. Incidentally, it used to be quite a problem to convince people in New York or Montreal or Minneapolis that there is a Memphis, TEXAS. Next year we will work on the job some more at San Francisco.

Conventions serve many purposes. We learn new ideas, see new products, keep abreast with new business practices, see our old friends from all over the U. S. and Canada and Mexico and make new ones. One person (and his family) we have learned to know real well is a florist from Daytona Beach, Florida, who was born and raised in Memphis. He is John W. Bagwell and says they used to live—the best I can judge from his description—somewhere out west or southwest of the golf course. He remembers most of the oldtimers' names. Every year we work up literally dozens of new intimate friendships at the conventions which serves us in real good stead when we send an order for flowers to these particular places for our customers.

Before we left New York, we had the pleasure of talking to the Scottie Grundys and to Jim Deaver on the phone. With an hour to kill at the airport before the Dallas plane left, we strolled over to the "International" building. This is the place where, I suppose, every airline in the world has flights coming in. We saw them from France, Swiss, Sweden, Sabena, Argentina, Trans Caribbean, Israel, India, Spain, and I don't know how many more. I remember reading in my grade school geography about this county being a "melting pot" for foreigners. The lobby of this building was it and I will not soon forget this sight. It's a pity these people couldn't get a quick look at some of the less-congested places in our country so they could have a better over-all impression of us and our country.

Left New York at 6:35 p. m. (EDT) and arrived at Dallas at 7:40 p. m. (CST) and on to Memphis at 2 a. m. Wonder how long it will be before we eat breakfast at home, fly to Europe or some distant land and eat supper the night before we left home.

Some of the best "sight-seeing" in N. Y. can be done a-foot. This is especially true for the ladies who like to window shop. Macy's and Gimbels on 34th are, of course, the major attraction but you can stroll a mile or more up 5th Ave. with window shopping good all the way, including Sach's. We walked thru there and a few others but didn't have much more than enough money to get us home so kept walking. Wilma says the prices of the clothes are reasonable. I don't pay much attention to ladies' fashions but the one thing I did notice, all the ladies' hose displayed were of the type worn by girls back in the twenties. Also, at the style show, all the models had on what I would call leggings. The commentator called them boots but one thing for sure, it wasn't a "leg show". Wilma might tell you more about this if you are curious.

To give you another idea of the bigness of N. Y., while we were there, the First National City Bank announced the opening of their 129th suburban branch.

Open Conventions To Nominate Party Candidates Started 156 Years Ago

The idea of holding an open convention to nominate a candidate has been tried in various states at one time or another. The Federalists held the original nominating convention in 1808, but it was neither national in scope nor successful.

The word caucus originated in Boston early in the 18th century when political parties began nominating their candidates by means of a congressional caucus. The most plausible origin of the word is that it comes from an Algonquian Indian word, kaw-kaw-was, meaning "to talk."

The election of 1828 marked the first time that the nominations were made by state legislatures instead of congressional caucuses. The Antimasonic Party held the first nominating convention in September, 1831, the National Republicans followed with a convention in December.

Twenty-four national nominating conventions have been held in Chicago, more than in any other city. Next is Baltimore, where 12 national nominating conventions have been held. Only two conventions have been held in New York City. The first U. S. presidential convention to admit women delegates was that held by the Progressive, "Bull Moose," Party at Chicago in 1912. However, a woman, Mrs. Victoria Clafin Woodhull, was nominated for the presidency by the Equal Rights Party in 1872.

A cartoonist, Thomas Nast, of Harper's Weekly magazine, created the popular emblems for both parties, the donkey in 1870 and the elephant in 1874.

The Democratic Party, beginning in 1792, at first used the title "Republican," derived in part from the emphasis on the newly established "republic" as contrasted with "monarchy." During the presidency of Andrew Jackson it came to be known under its present name.

Of the 65 presidential nominations in major party conventions through 1960, 33 were made by the party currently in power in the White House. Of these 33, 17 were renominations of an incumbent president, usually without much of a contest.

Franklin Pierce, defeated for renomination in 1856, was the only elected president who tried and failed to win a second nomination from the national convention of his own party. But others of the period declined the effort. James K. Polk had announced himself as a one-term president; and James Buchanan, who replaced Pierce, thought better of any second-term attempt.

All of the eight vice-presidents who succeeded to the higher office through the death of the president sought nominations to succeed themselves. The four who made the effort during the nineteenth century—John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson and Chester A. Arthur—were uniformly rejected. Four in the twentieth century—Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge, Harry S. Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson—were renominated.

Nominations in the party out of power have only rarely resulted in the renomination of a previous candidate. After Van Buren's failure to secure a third nomination in 1844, and Clay's final nomination in that year, no "titular leader" of a defeated party was seriously considered for renomination until Grover Cleveland's third nomination and second election in 1892. William Jennings Bryan was nominated in 1896, 1900 and 1908 but lost the election that followed in each case. In 1948 Thomas E. Dewey became the first defeated Republican to receive a second nomination, but he was again defeated.

CARD OF THANKS
I want to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation to the many friends who sent get well cards, letters, flowers and gifts, who visited me during my stay in the Hall County Hospital. I also want to thank Dr. Stevenson and the nurses for their wonderful care. It all made my stay in the hospital seem so short.

Micronaire Is Eliminated As Ruler 1964 Cotton Price Support Loans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today that cotton growers will not be required to obtain "micronaire" readings on their 1964 cotton to be eligible for price support loans.

The provision was taken to comply with the Agriculture Act of 1954 which prohibited the use of CCC funds to formulate a micronaire loan program.

The program which includes price support loans, is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The provision was enacted by Congress in the Agriculture Act of 1954 which prohibited the use of CCC funds to formulate a micronaire loan program.

The program which includes price support loans, is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

announced on April 28, 1964 (Press Release USDA 1405-64) that micronaire readings would be a quality factor under the 1964 loan program. Micronaire reading, a measurement of fineness and maturity of cotton, would have been made at the same time a bale sample was examined by Agricultural Marketing Service cotton classing offices to determine grade and staple of fiber. The farmer would have paid six cents per bale for the service.

This micronaire provision provided for a loan premium of 65c per 500-pound bale, for cotton in the most desirable range, with discounts applying to cotton with high or low micronaire readings. Schedule of these premiums and discounts will continue to be applied on loans disbursed through Aug. 29. Thereafter, micronaire readings will not be considered as a quality factor for cotton offered as collateral for loan.

The value of cotton under the loan program will be established, as in 1963 and prior years, on basis of grade and staple as determined by AMS cotton classing offices in accordance with regulations issued pursuant to the Cotton Standards Act, with discounts on waxy cotton, spindle twist cotton and cotton containing extraneous matter.

The voluntary micronaire reading service offered through AMS cotton classing offices will not be affected. Classing offices will continue to supply micronaire readings to ginners who have applied for the service as long as their applications remain in effect. Ginners now receiving the micronaire service may terminate the service by giving notice, preferably in writing, to the AMS cotton classing office.

The schedule of premiums and discounts based on micronaire readings now applicable in connection with CCC cotton sales programs will continue in effect, except that the schedule will not be used in calculating the loan rate for cotton sold under Announcement NO-C-16.

Walter Rogers To Be In Area This Weekend

Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa will be at home in the Panhandle over the Labor Day weekend.

His visit will be capped by a dinner Tuesday, Sept. 8, in Borger where he will be honored by the Hutchinson County Democratic Party for his work in advancing the Canadian River project. He will make a major address following the dinner.

The Congressman will leave Washington by air Thursday night for Albuquerque, N. M., where at noon Friday he will address the New Mexico Retail Merchants Association at the Schine Western Skies Motor Hotel.

Congressman Rogers said that he would speak to the New Mexico retailers on "the vital issue of maintaining proper representation in State legislatures." Congressman Rogers is among the leaders in the House of Representatives urging the adoption of a Constitutional amendment to permit representation in at least one house of bicameral legislatures to be based on factors other than population.

Following his address in Albuquerque, Congressman Rogers will go to Pampa, his home city, and spend the weekend there and in Amarillo.

Pvt. Jerry Scott Completes Army Signal Course

FORT GORDON, Ga. — Pvt. Jerry L. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Scott, 1409 Brice St., Memphis, Tex., completed an eight-week central office telephone switchboard operation course at the Army Southwestern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga., Aug. 28.

Scott was trained to help keep communication complexes running

County Agent Encourages Safety During Harvest

"Turn it off and take a break" — don't let an accident cause someone to get hurt.

This is sound advice for anyone operating farm machinery during this busy harvest season, believes W. B. Hooser, County Agent of Hall County.

Everybody gets in a hurry this time of the year, but it's a good idea to take a break at mid-morning and midafternoon. Experience has shown, says Hooser, that these are the times when most farm machinery accidents occur.

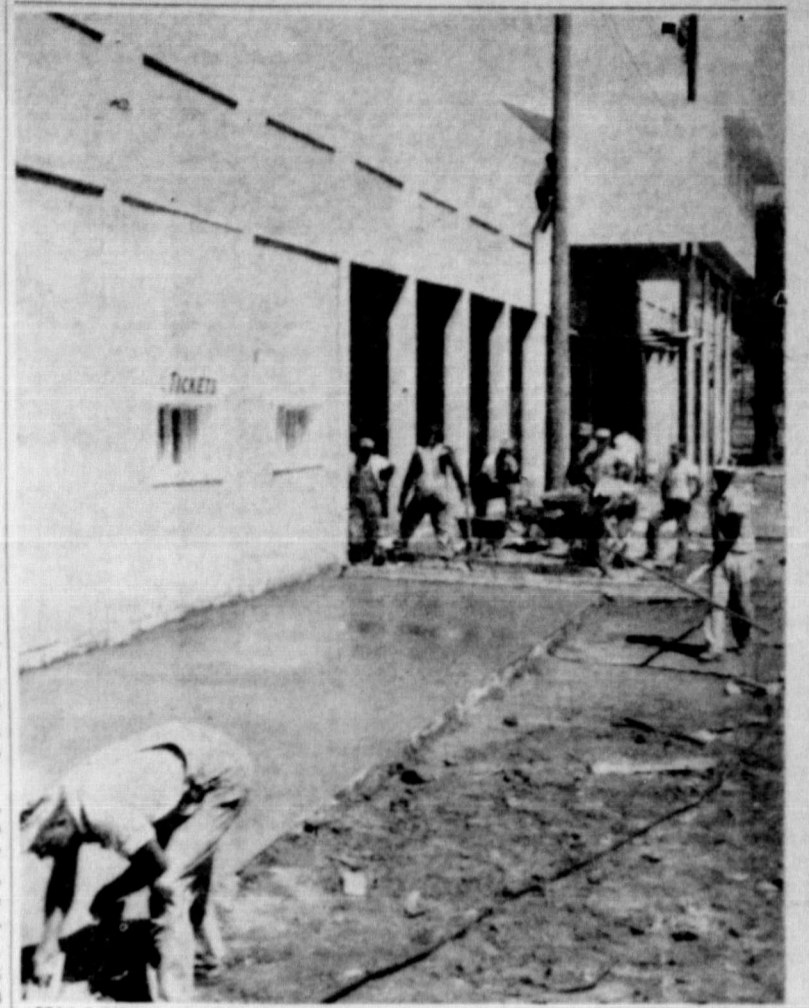

This is true mainly because machine operators often become drowsy and tired at these times of the day and accidents have a way of happening when operators aren't alert. The County Agent suggests a short rest period for a cup of coffee, glass of milk or drink of water to replenish energy and restore alertness. Safer work can then be done.

Even if you can't stop work, take an occasional stretch or do something different for a few minutes to break the monotony, advises Hooser. Always be sure you are wide away while operating any type of farm machinery.

Habit plays an important part in safe machinery operation, says Hooser. So learn how to properly handle the machines you operate. Practice what you have learned until habit will cause you to automatically react properly in dangerous situations. The habit "Turn it off and take a break" will help keep you awake, alert and out of dangerous situations, concludes Hooser.

The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in April 1964 and received basic training at Fort Polk, La.

He was graduated from Memphis High School in 1963.

WALKWAY—Shown above is the Memphis Compress Co. Crew pouring a concrete walkway from the visitor's gate to the main gate at Cyclone Stadium. The crew built the forms Monday and poured the concrete Tuesday. Pictured in the background is the newly constructed press box which stands on four supporting poles. The press box and walkway are major improvements to Cyclone Stadium this year.

Ronny Thomson, who has been employed this summer at Memphis Lumber Co., left Saturday for Shallowater to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomson and family for a short time before returning to school at Texas Technological College where he is classified as a senior.

Mrs. S. K. Jones of Estelline was a guest Wednesday in the home of her son, Noel Clifton, and family.

Mrs. Drucilla Householder of Amarillo visited her sister, Mrs. J. S. McMurry, and husband last weekend.

Services Held Wednesday For Mrs. Iona Montgomery

Funeral services for Mrs. Iona Montgomery, 41, of Corpus Christi where she had lived for the past five months, were held at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the Spicer Funeral Home with the Rev. Roland Farmer pastor of the San Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Mrs. Montgomery died Tuesday morning in Corpus Christi where she had lived for the past five months. She was born in Amarillo since her father moved to Corpus Christi.

Funeral services were held at the direction of her husband, Mr. J. H. Montgomery, who is in Fairview under the direction of General Home.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Dean Young of Corpus Christi; her mother, Mrs. A. L. Montgomery of Amarillo; two brothers, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Montgomery; two sisters, and two children.

Survivors were Johnny Gilchrist, Johnny Roberts, Jerry Taylor, Joe Wood and Roy Martin.

Funeral services for Mrs. Patricia Cole in Quanah, Texas, were held last weekend. Miss Cole is the wife of Mr. and Mrs. Ashford. She is employed as a nurse's aide at Cousin's.

GIRL SCOUTING

Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 187 attended a most enjoyable evening of ceremonies in Turkey Aug. 28. Leaders had prepared an inspiring presentation of "Fly-Up" for the Brownie Scouts to junior level and the promotion of junior Scouts to cadet level by leading their previous leadership, crossing over an attractive bridge to be greeted by the leaders and girls with whom they will be working.

"The Growing Up Tree," a song widely used today in the Scouting program, was emphasized at these promotions deal with the "growing up" of each of the girls.

Reta Sherman is neighborhood chairman for the Turkey group, working with Leaders Betty Driskill, Nelda Hartman, Vernell Cotton, Joy Turner and Wilma Eudy. May Fair Meacham is publicity chairman for the Scouting program.

A delicious picnic supper was prepared by parents and leaders.

A special guest was Mrs. Mary Graham, District 111 advisor, of Pampa. Mrs. Brode Hoover and Mrs. Elmont Branigan accompanied Glenda Bruce, Diane Gailey, Ginger Greene, Regina Hoover, Amy Hillhouse, Susan McQueen, Laurel Pounds and Carol Ann Voyles to Turkey for the evening.

Estelline Team Scrimmages At Turkey Tonight

The football picture in Estelline is looking brighter this year than it has during the past few seasons, Jimmy Don Adams, coach, reported yesterday.

The Bear Cubs will travel to Turkey at 6:30 p. m. today to scrimmage the Turks in a pre-season workout. Coach Adams said.

The scrimmage will be an 11-man contest. Coach Adams added that he wanted to work on defense primarily.

Twenty-one boys are working out for the Bear Cub team. The Cubs will play 8-man in district play, and will face two 11-man teams this season.

The coach said his team has more age and size than last year. "The boys' attitude is better. They have been working harder and complaining less," Adams stated.

Gary Walker, a sophomore, was looking real good in an injured list, according to Adams.

The Bear Cubs will open the season at Harrold Sept. 12, 1 p. m. They will play Cotton at home Sept. 14, and the game set up for a full 10-game season.

WE HAVE REMODELED

and invite the men and boys of this community to come in and let us take care of their barber needs.

We appreciate your past business, and are looking forward to serving you in the future.

Army Posts, New and Old

We think of conservation, we think of the term as applied to natural resources. A term that can as well be applied to human lives and talents. It was very pleased to read an article by Mr. Jenkin Jones, syndicated columnist of the Tulsa Tribune, on the vital work in the Retraining Group at Amarillo Air Force Base. The job of the Retraining Group is to "re-use" Mr. Jones' term, men who have run afoul of Army Regulations and who otherwise are certain to receive "discharges." The Retraining Group of these young airmen a second year after a training period of six months, two-thirds of the graduates of the Retraining Group are returned to normal duty. Not only is this extremely beneficial to the individual airman and his family, but it is also a boon to the taxpayer. For after years of duty, an airman's pay has cost between $7,000 and $10,000. If a trained airman is discharged, another must be trained to take his place.

Mr. Jones' article, which appeared in a large number of U. S. papers, did a great service for the Air Force and was excellent publicity for Amarillo Air Force Base and Amarillo. So in the majority of the article was the majority member of the Armed Services Committee, Senator L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, that he placed it in the Congressional Record.

Comment quoted by Mr. Jones of the well-known editor of the Amarillo News, Mr. Paul Timmons, summed up the purpose of the Retraining Group in three succinct words: "We've got a thing going—a human salvage yard. It doesn't just take men apart, it puts them back together. Putting men back together is indeed conservation in the best sense."

Fort Larned, Kansas, the historic post of the Santa Fe Trail, has been designated a National Historic Site in bills passed by the House and Senate. Located in the range of a single day's ride for Texas Panhandle residents who enjoy visiting famous landmarks of early Western History. Fort Larned has been designated as the most significant military post on the eastern portion of the Santa Fe trail. Its designation commemorates the eastern portion of the Santa Fe Trail in the same way that Fort Union, N. M., and Old Fort, Colo., have been designated as national historic sites to commemorate the trail's western and mountain segments.

Always favored the preservation of such sites as Fort Larned, so that present and future generations can be enriched by the accomplishments of the generations that came before us.

Fort Larned, N. M., and Old Fort, Colo., have been designated as national historic sites to commemorate the trail's western and mountain segments.

were on the warpath. Numerous depredations by Indians were occurring along the trail. Fort Larned, like Fort Union to the west, was the base for expeditions against the marauders. It was an important base in later campaigns of the late 1860's and early 1870's.

The principal physical remains at the fort site is the quadrangle of nine stone buildings. Among the best preserved are the utility shop used by the blacksmith and wheelwright, the quartermaster's building, the commissary, bakery, officers' quarter, and enlisted men's barracks. The structures were built between 1865 and 1868 of native sandstone quarried at Nearby Lookout Hill and of lumber shipped from Michigan. Also to be obtained for the site is a 60-acre parcel of land that has been retained through the years as unplowed grazing land and on which are located the authentic ruins of the Santa Fe Trail.

I'm sure that many folks in the Panhandle would enjoy a visit to Fort Larned when the National Park Service has completed work on a small visitors' center and museum and work to preserve the old buildings. In New Mexico, a most interesting couple of hours can be spent visiting the ruins of Fort Union, located north of Las Vegas, and the small museum there. Both of these old forts played important roles in the early, pre-settlement history of our Texas Panhandle.

NEWLIN

Mrs. O. B. Hooser and girl went to Fort Worth Saturday to help her daughter, Carolyn and husband, Bob Miller, move and get settled in their new home. Bob plans to go to school and Carolyn is thinking of a job for the winter.

Former Newlin residents in Newlin Wednesday to visit Mrs. G. E. Nelson were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davis of Panhandle, Mr. and Mrs. Moody McCollough of Plainview, Mrs. Pat Vardy and daughter, Anetta Sue, of Long Beach, Calif. The ladies were the daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kellison.
