Democrat's Fall Cotton Guessing Contest Begins

The Memphis Democrat's annual Cotton Guessing Contest will get underway Friday morning, Oct. 2, at 8 a. m. and will continue through Saturday, Oct. 24, the editors announced this week.

This is the 18th consecutive year the contest has been held and a wide variety of readers have won free subscriptions to the paper during this time.

The contest is one in which readers of The Democrat match their knowledge, their wits and their luck against the many elements of weather, insects, etc., in an effort to estimate the amount of cotton Hall County farmers will gin this season.

All readers are eligible to enter. All a person has to do to enter is come by the office of this newspaper and make a prediction. Or, if more convenient, mail a card or letter to The Democrat, Box 192, Memphis, Texas, and list your name, your address and your guess. No entries will be taken over the telephone.

Remember entries must be in by Saturday, October 24.

The person guessing closest to the actual number of bales ginned will win a three-year subscription to The Democrat. Second place winner will receive a two-year subscription and third place will receive a one-year subscription.

This contest is not restricted to residents of this county only, or just residents of Texas. Any readers of the newspaper may enter. The total number of bales ginned in Hall County will be the figure used to determine the winner.

The Democrat will publish the names of the winners when the final figures are released on the 1964 crop by the U. S. Department of Interior. This report generally arrives the latter part of March each year.

According to Lynn McKown, office manager of ASCS, approximately 90,000 acres are planted in cotton this year in Hall County. Last year 84,500 acres were planted in cotton and the year before the total was 92,797.

According to the official report Hall County's cotton yield for last season was listed at 60,271 bales; Glen Cope of Cardiff, Calif., won first place in last year's contest with a guess of 60,390 bales, which was 119 bales above the actual yield.

Mrs. Fred Butler of Arlington, Texas, won second with a guess of 59,999 and Mrs. Ola Gowan won third place with a guess of 60,666.

Zone 1 Supervisor Of County Soil Conservation Dist. To Be Named Tues.

Zone I voters in Hall County soil conservation district will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, in the Hall County courtroom to elect a farmer or rancher to serve as their supervisor and representative on the Soil Conservation District board for the next five years.

Eligibility to vote is determined by whether an individual is 21 years of age, a landowner in Zone I, or the wife of a landowner.

County Agent W. B. Hooser said this is a most important election because voters will have an opportunity to elect a supervisor of their district, who will represent them in soil and water conservation matters.

Wayne Hutcherson has served the past five years as representative from Zone 1, and this year is serving as vice chairman of the Soil Conservation District board. The overall district covers portions of several counties. Each zone in the district elects a representative.

The County Agent, officials of the Soil Conservation District and other agricultural workers urge eligible voters to be at the County Courtroom in Memphis, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, to elect a representative for Zone 1.

Every Texas landowner has a vital stake in conservation of soil and water, and landowners and their wives in Zone 1 have the added responsibility of electing a supervisor on Oct. 6 to help administer the affairs of the Soil Conservation District, Hooser said.

Highway Week, Oct. 4-10

Next week, October 4-10, will be observed as National Highway Week in Texas. The theme for this observance is Mobility: Your Fifth Freedom. And what could get nearer to the backbone of Texas business and industrial economy, and the lives of every Texan than our Highway System.

Think what would happen to the economy of this area if all the highways leading to it suddenly should become impassable! There would be no fuel for vehicles . . . food supplies soon would be exhausted . . . the sick might want for medicine and drugs . . . industry would want for raw material and would not be able to deliver their product to market . . . no one would have anything to sell, because needed merchandise would be stranded in far-away supply centers . . . and agriculture would not be able to move machinery or products.

Virtually everything Texans make or use, buy or sell moves over our vast 66,000-mile highway system at some time.

Did you know that Texans drive on the world's finest highway system? More than 1,800 of the State's communities are totally dependent upon highways for transportation.

A good highway system accrues three obvious benefits: safety, economy, time. Also, wealth can be added as a by-product.

Thomas McDonald, now deceased, who served as chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, one said. "We were not a wealthy nation when we began improving our highways. But the roads themselves helped up create new wealth, in business and industry and land values. So it was not our wealth that made our highways possible. Rather, it was our highways that made our wealth possible."

The dedicated Texas highway system amounts to nearly near 66,000 miles—approximately 3,000 miles of Interstate, 26,000 miles of Primary and 37,000 miles of Farm to Market, or secondary highways. More than 1,000 miles of highway are under construction in Texas on any given day.

The Interstate and Defense Highway System has been described as the greatest engineering project in the history of mankind. Begun in 1956, when completed in 1972 the 41,000-mile Interstate system will link 90 per cent of the nation's metropolitan areas of 50,000 or more population, and all but one of the capitals of the 48 adjacent states.

Total cost of the Interstate system is expected to amount to approximately $40 billion, of which the Texas portion will be about $2.2 billion. Texas will have more Interstate mileage than any other state—approximately 3,029 miles.

We are living in a "Space Age", and in Texas—where space may be said to have been invented—we have conquered this problem with the motor vehicle.

Mobility—as exemplified by our highway system—makes it possible for us to live in the country and work in the city, or live in the city and seek recreation in the country.

The four freedoms were enunciated in the Atlantic Charter: "Freedom of press and speech, freedom from want and from fear."

Texans enjoy another, "Fifth Freedom" which enhances all the other four. That is why it has been picked as the theme for Highway Week in Texas, Oct. 4-10: "Mobility: Your Fifth Freedom."

What Other Editors Say

Your Freedoms

It has got to be stylish, in recent years, for American citizens to sound off frequently and in terms of alarm about how we are "losing our freedoms". If you've never said it, or thought it, this doesn't apply to you . . . but if you have, name one!

Just which of the many freedoms guaranteed you by the Constitution of the United States have you lost later . . . or have been deprived of? Freedom of worship? or not to worship? Has anybody in the government tried to forbid you to pray in public . . . or tried to force you to pray in public? Well, speak up, man!

Because your freedom of speech sure hasn't been abridged. Has it? We hear a lot of conversation every day about how lousy the government is . . . and we haven't any of these plaintiffs peering nervously over their shoulders to see if some storm trooper is listening. Seems like if the government was going to restrict freedom of speech it would start with some of the critical characters.

How about your right to own property? Has anybody been interfering with that (besides, maybe, the fellow who owns the mortgage?) or has anybody searched your home lately without a warrant (or even with one) or told you you can't own a car or buy a TV set or have a telephone?

Have you been denied the right to own a gun? The Constitution says you can keep and bear arms . . . but it doesn't say you have a right to conceal 'em or touse 'em in defiance of law . . . because it guarantees other people's rights and safety, too.

Has anybody held you in jail without bond, or kept you from getting a fair trial . . . before a jury and in open court, if you've been accused of a crime? If so, you've got a right to complain. Let's hear it.

Has anybody denied you the right to vote in public elections, to use public transportation, walk in public parks or play golf on public courses or swim in public pools, or to order a meal in a public restaurant (if your skin is black, don't answer those questions).

So just what freedoms have you lost? Freedom from taxes? Well, that one never was guaranteed by the Constitution in the first place. It wasn't even implied. What the Constitution set out to do, as expressed in its preamble, was "to establish justice, insure the domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty, to ourselves and our posterity. . ."

Seems to us it's succeeded pretty well in those aims. Sometimes we wonder about the "domestic tranquility," but the establishment of justice, the common defense, and even the general welfare are progressing pretty well.

And as some early critic once remarked, probably to General Washington, "The government guarantees us the freedom to pursue happiness but, confound it, sir, what assurance are we offered that we can catch it?"

The Canadian Record

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The keeping of records is a favorite subject with the Internal Revenue Service. For quite a few years the good tax folks have been encouraging taxpayers to keep better records. On occasion this "encouragement" takes the form of disallowing the taxpayer's deduction during an audit because he can't prove the deduction. The new series of public service TV spot films issued by Internal Revenue Service points out that the changes in the law make it more important than ever to keep tax records.

Guess we had better get around to straightening up those receipts and posting up the family books.

Alpha and Oliver Circles of WSCS Meets for Study

The Alpha and Oliver Circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service met Monday, September 28, at 9 a. m. in the Methodist Church Annex.

Mrs. L. G. DeBerry introduced the Foreign study, "The Church's Mission Among New Nations." She stated that there were 54 newly independent nations, including one-third of the world's population, since World War II.

Mrs. Dink Miller gave the meditation in which she read a quotation of praise of God by David from I Chronicles. Then he asked himself the question, "Who Am I?" which was the subject of Mrs. Miller's devotion. She enlarged on the theme in an impressive way, says that each individual of every race is a child of God.

Mrs. DeBerry led the prayer of new nations.

Some of the members represented the voice of the people of various countries answered by the voice of God, then making a decision to become followers.

Mrs. DeBerry introduced the study books and their authors, giving interesting information on the nations to be studied in Africa, Asia, and the Middle East. She stated that we would evaluate the future for the church in these areas. With the racial problem being world wide we are each called to a deeper dedication toward our part in the church's mission. At present nationalism seems more important to the new nations than the kingdom of God.

Seven members gave high points in the history of some of the nations under consideration.

Those present other than the above mentioned were: Mrs. Harold Smith, Ed Hutcherson, M. G. Tarver, M. N. Orr, R. S. Greene, J. W. Oliver, Bob Hutcherson, W. J. McMaster, Waller Diggs, O. M. Gunstream, J. B. Thompson, Myrtis Phelan, and F. W. Foxhall.

Miss Pat Cole visited in the home of her parents in Quanah Tuesday and Wednesday.

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

As usual at this time of year, football takes the spotlight . . . and "ole man weather" smiled on Memphis last Friday night, with skies clearing to produce fine weather for the Memphis-Sanford-Fritch game here. Even though the score declared Memphis the losing team, local fans were well pleased with the performance of the Cyclone squad.

And, speaking of the weather: Memphians who attended the Tech-Texas University game in Lubbock Saturday were not so fortunate weather-wise and more than one got a good "soaking." According to those attending, it did more than "drizzle." It simply poured down—but the college hands kept right on with half-time activities despite the rain, and so did the two football teams. Jones Stadium was packed, but less enthusiastic fans began to leave as the rain turned into a "down-pour."

Among Memphis visitors last week and guests in the Ross Gentry home were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Boyd, who live in Maracaibo, Venezuela, where Mr. Boyd is an engineer with Richamond Exploration Company. Mrs. Boyd is a former Memphis resident and has many friends here. The Boyds enjoy a visit to the States each summer.

Wilma Martin left Monday for Dallas where she met Christina Eliaich of Stockholm, Sweden, the former Christina Giesler who spent a summer in Memphis as a guest of the Memphis Rotary Club through the foreign student Wilma and Christina will enjoy visiting in Dallas this week while Dr. Eliasch is attending a medical meeting in Los Angeles, Calif. While here Dr. Eliasch is scheduled to lecture at several medical meetings. From Dallas Wilma plans to drive to Austin on Saturday to attend a board meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Hall County Picnic and 74th Celebration seemed to succeed as comments are coming in. R. B. Gillis, brother of Mrs. Pritchett, says he certainly to be here next year aftering all the favorable comments this year's picnic. . . and Mrs. Roy Leverett of Abilene writes that they will be back. Byron Baldwin handed us a program for publication sent by Street expressing her regret.

Memphis Little Theater Begins New Year With Morning Coffee Wednesday

A morning coffee opened the fall season for Memphis Little Theatre in the lovely new home of Nita Bess Coppedge with Ida Anisman serving as co-hostess.

Anette Boswell is serving as president and in her welcome address said, "I had never realized that a president had anything to do during the summer, but I have found that she is busy, setting up committees, co-ordinating programs with the program committee and making numerous telephone calls."

Mrs. Boswell expressed her appreciation to the members for helping with the program from the Middle East, the Hootenanny and to help with Santa Rosa District Federated convention slated for April 1 and 2, 1965.

The club voted to do a one act play for the Founders' Day Tea for PTA in February, 1965.

Mary Helen Sexauer is serving as program chairman and dedicated this year's study to the quotation, "A great deal of the joy of life consists in doing perfectly, or at least to the best of one's ability, everything which he attempts to do. There is a sense of satisfaction, a pride in surveying such a work—a work which is rounded, full, exact, complete in all its parts—which the superficial man who leaves his work in colt only, slipshod, half-finished condition, can never know. It is this conscientious completeness which turns work into art. The smallest thing well done, becomes artistic," by William Mathews.

Book reviews, play reviews and one act plays are planned for this season.

Mrs. Anisman and Mrs. Coppedge served delicious refreshments from a beautifully laid table to Emma Deaver, Peaches Harrison, Nell Beeson, Tomacile

Faith In America

The United States of America is the finest and the greatest nation in the history of mankind. No civilization, modern or ancient, can produce any comparable accomplishments in the government of mankind. No country in any civilization in the history of mankind has approached our country and its philosophies in guaranteeing, insuring, and preserving the basic rights and dignity of the individual man.

Because of our position, brought about by the blood, the sweat, the tears, and the devotion to duty of our own ancestors, we have living evidence to substantiate the faith and confidence we should all have in our philosophy of life, in our form of government, and in our understanding of the needs of man. As far as I am personally concerned, this faith and confidence is absolute and concrete, and it is my whole-hearted feeling that we, as a nation, meet and destroy any challenge from without or within. I believe that a great majority of other Americans feel as I do, and it is because of this that my confidence in the future is and shall remain unshaken.

On the other hand, we have a vocal and bitter group in our own midst who continually defile over governmental structure, demean the basic principles upon which freedom has been founded, and viciously attack their fellow Americans. It is these Americans who disturb me, not because I think they will ever mount a force sufficient to destroy America and what it stands for, but because I feel that they are contributing to the cause of those in foreign areas who are deeply jealous of our accomplishments and who would try to destroy those things which we have built.

I have no difficulty in understanding why Nikita Khrushchev would condemn and demean our institutions, our philosophy of government and our achievements. He has visited our country for only a short stay. However, he saw enough to convince him of the great strength, of the great faith, and of the great confidence enjoyed by the American people. Certainly it would be his mission to return to Communist Russia and try to belittle our institutions, our government, our resources, and our ability.

The same could be said of Mao Tse-tung, except that he has not visited our country. He, too, is a party in interest with Khrushchev to try to destroy the United States of America and all that it stands for. He is a Communist at heart and bent on the domination of mankind in this world.

The same rule could be applied to Castro who has known this country much better than any Communist. Castro is fully familiar with our country, our government, our philosophies, our principles, and most of all, our people. He has enjoyed the great luxuries that have been made possible for mankind through the ingenuity of our people in this great country.

We could name others in Communist countries or in borderline countries who are always ready, able, and willing to downgrade, to jeer, to condemn, vilify, castigate, and to eventually destroy us and what we stand for. Yes, I can understand these people who are either misguided or acting with malice aforethought. They feel that they have something to gain.

But what I cannot understand are those American among us who leave no stone unturned to cast every suspicion on our government, our institutions, our activities, our way of life, and even their own neighbors. People who, in many instances, are living in the lap of luxury, enjoying every conceivable benefit that has yet been produced by man. Some of whom have not even had to work for the riches they now enjoy and many of whom have received the richest blessings of God and their fellowman, and who, because of their material wealth could help measurably in the solution of many of the ever-present prob-

I would hope that they would re-evaluate their positions, their activities, and their attitudes, and realize that an unintentional dis-service is as damaging as if it were intentional.

Our country, its institutions, its resources, and all of its people need these other Americans for a united front in the furtherance of the basic philosophy of the freedom and dignity of man as an individual, the bedrock upon which this country stands.

Casualty Insurance exists to "indemnify".

Webster's defines indemnify as "to secure against loss or damage; to make restitution or compensation; to reimburse; to make good a loss".

Well aware of the reason for the existence of their reputable companies, insurance executives are ready, willing and anxious to fulfill their function . . . "to reimburse, to make good a loss."

First, however, they must make sure a real honest-to-goodness loss exists so their POLICY-HOLDER'S PREMIUM MONEY will not be paid out without good cause.

Then, they must determine the extent or amount of the loss and fairly reimburse it immediately.

This is the proper function of the insurance company.

Some claimant's attorneys charge their clients a contingent fee . . . an arrangement whereby the client agrees to pay the attorney from 33 1/3% to 50% of the total gross amount of any award made by a jury or court to the client. This system, which originated in England, has long since been outlawed by English courts, and a lawyer in England is now prohibited from becoming a partner in a lawsuit by taking a fee only if he wins for his client.

Whether the contingent fee system is good or bad, or whether the percentages of the awards are being abused, we don't know, but it is . . .

Something to Think About.

County 4-H Clubs Elect Officers

The Hall County 4-H Clubs are in the process of re-organization for this year, and this week are conducting a membership drive, County Agent W. B. Hooser announced.

"We are putting special emphasis this week on the membership drive in observance of National 4-H Club Week," he said. County Judge E. (Gip) McMurry has signed a proclamation designating Sept. 26 to Oct. 3, 1964 as 4-H Club Week in Hall County.

Hall County has six 4-H Clubs and 16 adult leaders helping with the program. Approximately 600 students are listed on the six clubs' rolls.

The following Hall County 4-H Clubs have been reorganized: Estel- line, Turkey, Lakeview, Travis and Austin.

More Mothers Are Needed To Aid Girl Scouts

(Editor's Note: The following article was written by one of the adult leaders of the local Girl Scout program, and is published in an effort to find additional women to aid in the project.

"Let us, the mothers of Girl Scouts or girls desiring to become Scout, read a portion of the 'Constitution of the Girl Scouts', which reads in part:

"We do dedicate ourselves to the purpose of inspiring girls with the highest ideals of Character, Conduct, Patriotism, and Service that they may become happy and resourceful citizens.

"We believe that the motivating force in Girl Scouting is a Spiritual one.

"We maintain that the strength of the Girl Scout movement rests in the voluntary leadership of its adult members, in the cooperation and support of the community.

"We hold that ultimate responsibility for the Girl Scout movement rests with Volunteers.

But, where are our volunteers? Some work, some hold membership in a number of clubs, others have too many children. Very few mothers who are contacted readily say, "Yes, I'll assume leadership of a troop of girls." Why is this—lack of time and interest, this—lack of time and interest, it?

Lack of time isn't much of an excuse, because we usually find the time if it is something that benefits us personally or financially. Well, let's be unselfish and do something that will benefit this group of girls who are the future women of our community.

If you feel that you haven't the ability to take charge of a group of girls, why? We have excellent leaders here who are ready, willing and able to assist you in any way and they make available training courses for the purpose of teaching you to be a leader. We have a number of mothers who will bring the girls to the meetings, serve refreshments, and so forth. But, please, let's have more who will contact these leaders and say, "Yes, I'll take a group of girls."

CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this method of expressing our sincere thanks for the many lovely and useful gifts presented to us after the loss of our home by fire. Each gift was deeply and sincerely appreciated. We also want to thank the Memphis Fire Department for their effort to save our home. May God bless each of you.

'Cleopatra,' World's Most Heralded Motion Picture, To Open Here Sunday

The motion picture which has been more talked about and written about than any other in the history of the industry, "Cleopatra" will open here on Sunday, Oct. 4, and run through Tuesday at the Tower Drive-In, Bill Boren announced this week.

The mammoth 20th Century-Fox romantic spectacle, starring Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and Rex Harrison, has been shown in the capitals of the free world and in major cities throughout this county on a road show basis with seats reserved, Mr. Boren stated.

"Cleopatra" was a year in the making at Rome's great Cinecittà studios and on location in Italy, Egypt, Spain and London, with an international cast.

For his critically-acclaimed portrayal of Julius Caesar, Rex Harrison was nominated for the "Best Actor" Oscar in the recent Academy Awards sweepstakes.

"Cleopatra" is the first attempt to combine both the Caesar and Anthony stories into one dramatic entity. In their approach to the complex story, the writers included many factual incidents never before used dramatically.

Although history has not been altered, the story emphasizes the relationships among the protagonists and how they affected or were affected by these events. The film revolves around the four figures who were of the greatest importance in the establishment of the Roman Empire—Cleopatra, Caesar, Anthony and Octavian.

The large cast was chosen after careful deliberation. Actors of star stature were selected, as well as dozens of others who were picked because each was the best possible performer for the particular role.

Approximately 26,000 costumes were created by Novarese for the men and by Rnie for the women. This does not include the 59 costumes designed exclusively for Miss Taylor by Irene Sharaff. Three hundred wigs were created for actors in various roles in addition to the 30 Miss Taylor wears.

4-H Member Gives Views On Experiences

The following is an article written by David Longbine concerning his experiences as a 4-H member.

Four-H is an organization that has helped me greatly in the past six years. I have learned many things through the 4-H program set up in Hall County. I think that the experience in leadership I have gained has helped me not only in 4-H, but also in my school, community and church life.

Through experience gained in showing my beef cattle, I have not only learned about showing, selecting and grooming animals, but I have also learned the sportsmanship of winning and losing.

Four-H work ties in naturally with me since I live on a cotton farm. I have crops and beef cattle as my main projects. In 4-H work I have a chance to develop myself and what may be my life's work.

While serving as president of the Estelline 4-H club, I have firsthand information on the county 4-H program. We work as a group or committee to plan the work and activities of the club. Four-H is not all work. We members have a recreation program which features good clean fun and is hard to beat.

Four-H is an organization that offers information, experience and recreation to anyone between nine and twenty years of age. If you are interested and qualify, join me.

Mrs. Gerald Hickey and Mrs. O. L. Helm were in Canyon Saturday to attend the tea at McCasins Hall, West Texas State University. The tea was honoring parents of WTSU students.

Life is very much like Christmas—you're more likely to get what you expect than what you want.

Time is that expanse of space between paydays.

4-H Council Chairman Writes Article Concerning 4-H Program, Its Value

(Editor's Note: The following is an article written by Danny Longbine, chairman of the Hall County 4-H Council and county-wide club. The article is written in observance of 4-H Club Week in Hall County and he makes appeal for more members.)

What is 4-H anyway? I often hear the skeptical teenager raise this question in a rather deceitful manner. I always rebound with this answer, the 4-H Club is an organization of young Americans, some two and one half million strong, who learn by doing to make the best better.

There are fourteen willing adult leaders in Hall County to advise the 4-H member and help him with his projects. There is wide variety of 4-H projects available, including: agriculture production and marketing; electrical, automotive and tractor engineering; soil, water, and forestry conservation; foods, nutrition, home beautification, money management, and family living; and personal development in leadership, career and public affairs.

Along with teaching the member to give demonstrations, and judging standards, 4-H is also a family affair. Much 4-H club work is centered around the home and family, therefore the success of the 4-H club members depends a great deal on the parents. The education with 4-H has to offer supplements the training in the home, church and school.

I have been a 4-H member for the past six years, during that time I have had many experiences which I will never forget. I have worked with many of the projects offered in 4-H and from them I have learned to manage and show livestock, hold offices and conduct club meetings and lead the younger members, give demonstrations, judge livestock, build household electrical appliances, and to meet and get along with people.

The 4-H club has a promising future and today it is molding its young leaders for tomorrow's future.

Now you ask, what are the qualifications for becoming a 4-H member? Any boy or girl between the age of 10 and 19 may join a 4-H club by agreeing to work on a project and follow the 4-H standards.

Why don't you join your local 4-H Club?

Senior Class Holds Try-Outs For Annual Party

The Senior Class of Memphis High School held its try-outs for the Senior Play Tuesday night.

However, through the efforts of several boys who were present enough boys were found to fill the male parts, it was stated.

Judges were from Clarendon and members of the class wish to extend thanks to them and an invitation to attend the play.

Date for the play is scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 20 and 21.

about the 28-6 victory over Warriors.

Estelline did all their scoring in the first half. Ronald M. Estelline's first TD and Walker ran the two-point conversion.

Melvin Long score on yard run and on another run. Estelline's other score made on a 12-yard pass Jodie Rapp to Jerry Cooper.

What about tonight's game with Childress B? Coach said that as it now stands, it will not be in the contest, a back injury, but he felt he see action against Mobeetie weekend.

Coach Adams said that expects Childress B to be an opponent.

Around and About

being able to attend the picnic.

While the Picnic is for everyone . . . the "old-timers" really have a reunion and it is beyond doubt their day! There are many old-timers here . . . but Memphis has something new in recent months . . . "Newcomers." While Memphis wants to be known as the "friendly" town, it is sometimes hard for new residents to feel right at home in new surroundings . . . especially the women-folks who are confined to their homes with small children and household duties.

This week something new is being added—a "Newcomers Club". Approximately 20 women met in the home of Mrs. Dennis Ward to organize a club for all new residents. We think this is a splendid idea and an excellent way for newcomers to be made to feel a part of the community and to quickly find friends with mutual interests.

We understand the Newcomers Club is for all Hall County women who have moved here during the past three years. No invitation is needed to become a member . . . and those who would like to become members are cordially invited to attend the next meeting on October 13 at 10 a. m. in the home of Mrs. Waller Diggs, 718 North 11th Street.

It was quite a scramble around our office last weekend as the old Babcock press on which the local paper has been printed for more than 50 years was moved out and replaced by a Miehle. Part of the back wall in the building had to be torn out in order to get the presses in and out of the building. Since it couldn't all be done in one day, everyone pitched in and served as nightwatchmen around the clock. Finally, Sunday afternoon the new press was properly adjusted and the Houston workmen who were here to install the Miehle left for home.

Since the press had been in storage for sometime it had been coated with a protective solution to prevent rusting . . . all that had to be washed off with cleaning fluid, etc. Anyway, your newspaper is coming to you this week printed on the new press and the whole Democrat staff is very pleased with this new piece of equipment . . . especially Jeff Moore, Jerry Lebow, and Tommy Moore . . . our high school pressmen.
