'Outstanding Citizen Of The Year' To Be Announced Sat. At Banquet

Cyclone Band Wins Sweepstakes Again

The Memphis Cyclone Band, in its first year under the direction of Ronnie Wells, returned home yesterday with the coveted Sweepstakes trophy for winning first divisions in concert, sight reading, and marching.

One bus load of the band students was ushered around the square in a victory procession accompanied by many cars and a lot of horn blowing. The second bus load was several minutes later and missed the victory parade.

Band Director Ronnie Wells stated, "The band worked very hard and deserved it (the sweepstakes). A very fine job by a fine band."

The Memphis band had all Division I's circled on their judging sheets in concert and sight reading Wednesday morning. Some of the judges' comments were:

"The intonation was a little shaky in spots in two movements of 'Lincolnshire Pasy' . . . need a fuller brass sound . . . woodwind quality in this band very good . . . Personally, the performance was very pleasing, nice style, enthusiastic, brilliant, etc. (Joe Hadden) . . . very creditable job, congratulations to players and directors . . . very good job on sight reading."

Director Wells said, "I don't think we could have played them (the three numbers in concert) much better."

Memphis was the only Class A band to receive Div. I in sight reading and concert at Amarillo Wednesday. Naturally, they were the only sweepstakes band in Class A out of all the Class A schools in the Panhandle region.

Climaxing the Installation Banquet of the Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the selection of "Outstanding Citizen of the Year", which will be presented by Master of Ceremonies David Duncan, Saturday night.

The banquet will be held in the Community Center beginning at 7:15 p. m. (sharp) Saturday, April 10. Tickets are on sale to the general public at $2.50 each.

"We would like as many as can attend the banquet," President Gene Hamill of the Jaycees, said.

The identity of the outstanding citizen is not known at this time since balloting is still going on. The Jaycees will leave the boxes

Cyclone Track Team Brings Home Four Trophies From Chillicothe, Kress Meets

Memphis High School is fielding one of the best track teams this year in the school's history, it appears, and big plans are being made to win the coveted district track title from Wellington coming up next Tuesday at McLean.

Coach Charley Chambless and Asst. Coach Bert Glascock both feel that the Memphis lads have been able to chalk up an outstanding showing in previous events and are expecting great things at the district meet next Tuesday.

Wellington has won the track meet for the past two years and they are trying to win it again this year.

Four Trophies

The Cyclone squad brought home four trophies this past weekend from track meets at Chillicothe and Kress. Also, new records were set in both meets by the Cyclone runners, which attest to their excellence in running.

At Chillicothe, Coach Chambless stated the team was at full strength, personnel wise. The quality of the performance was evident in that Memphis placed first with 135 points over the 11 teams entering the meet. Also, the Memphis boys took six first places in the meet, winning both team relays.

"We carried everyone to Chillicothe Friday and all the boys did a fine job," Coach Chambless said.

Cyclone sprinter, Jack Stargel, won the high individual trophy at both Chillicothe and Kress.

At Chillicothe, he set a new 100-yard dash record of 10.1 to win that event. (Old record was 10.4.) John Ferrel placed third (tie) in this event.

Also, Stargel won first in the 220-yd. dash with a 23.9. Ferrel placed 4th.

Relays

The Memphis 440-yd. relay team (Ferrel, Sturdevant, Jones, Stargel) set a new meet record in winning this event with a 44.6 time. The old record was 45.5.

The mile relay team, composed of Hoot Jones, Jimmy Sturdevant, Roy Long, Dannie Peters, also won first in that event with a time of 3:41.0.

Hoot Jones set a new record in the 440-yd. dash at both meets, running a 51.6 at Chillicothe and a 49.7 at Kress.

Jim Odom won first place in the 180-yd. low hurdles with a 21.8 and Jimmy Sturdevant won second with a 21.9 at Chillicothe. Odom also placed second in the 120-yd. high hurdles.

Others placing at Chillicothe included: Hargrove, 4th in 880-yd. run; Mike Limer, 3rd in mile run; Donnie Bridges, 2nd in pole vault with 10'8"; James Waites, second in the high jump with 5'7"; and John Lemons, 3rd in the discus with 131'2".

Kress Meet

Memphis team won first at Kress with 55 points, slightly ahead of Ralls and Idalou, both with 53 points.

Memphis' fine 440-yd. relay team ran their fastest time of the season, a 43.9, only to place second behind Idalou, who had a 43.8.

Jack Stargel ran the 100 in 10.3 (qualified with a 9.9, to match meet record), and took first in the 220-yd. dash with a 22.9.

The high point of the meet for the Memphis team was Hoot Jones' tremendous effort in the 440-yd. dash with a new meet record time of 49.7. To our knowledge, Jones is the only quarter man in the school's history to run faster than a 50-flat in a track meet.

Local Girl Scout Leaders Meet For Training Course

Girl Scout Leaders of Memphis and Turkey attended a Leaders Training Course March 31, April 1 and 2. Indoor session were held in the Presbyterian Church in Memphis and the outdoor cook-out was held at the City Park. Mrs. Norma Whitley and Mrs. Faye Terrell conducted the training. Both of these women are from Pampa, and Mrs. Whitley has been assigned as Field Advisor for District III, which includes Memphis and Turkey.

This course included films on camping activities, instructions on making sit-upons, bed-rolls, knots, lashing, buddy-burners, and vag-abond stoves as well as covering sanitation. Courses such as this one have been given all over the Quivira Council within the past three weeks. The weekend of April 9-10 will conclude this training as all the leaders enrolled in the course will meet for an over-night trip to Camp Del Davis, which is the Girl Scout Camp near Lefors, Texas. At the meeting, all the skills learned in the separate sessions will be applied. Leaders will attend from Pampa, Borger, Tur- Memphis and Shamrock.

Taking the training from our district were Dorothy Bachman, Wilma Eudy, Betty Driskill, Charlottee Smith, Nina Walters and Louise Davis.

Girl Scouts Hold Camp-out

The first practice camp-out for Senior Girl Scouts of the delegate and alternate patrol for the 1965 Girl Scout National Roundup was held at the Giles Picnic grounds April 2-3. Threatening rain made the event seem typical as reports show that mountain showers are frequent at the site of the Round-up in Idaho, so the conditions for pitching camp were realistic. The first evening was spent in setting camp and preparing the evening meal. This was the first opportunity any of the Scouts had to become acquainted with any of the Roundup equipment so progress was somewhat slow. However, the adults attending the camp-out report that all the girls did very well under the circumstances, and that the entire weekend was a success.

After the usual chores of preparing and cleaning up the breakfast meal, the remainder of the morning was spent in practice on the demonstration. Since the theme selected to follow is the Western There, the Scouts chose to perform square dancing. Jerry Beasley graciously consented to meet with the group to instruct the dancing. Everyone was very pleased with the selections Jerry made to teach the girls and the girls themselves picked up the steps rapidly.

After lunch, everyone began the task of striking camp and loading all the equipment. Plans for the camp-out May 14-15 were completed. In the absence of Pamela Purcell, Borger, Patrol Leader, Elmonette Branigan, Memphis, assistant Patrol Leader, led in making the plans.

Guests, Mrs. Ruby Garrett and Mrs. Della Rae of Borger, and Scouts Peggy and Amanda Sorrels of Borger spent the week-end with patrol members Elmonette Branigan, Glenda and Regina Hoover of Memphis, Lynn Wright, Cheryl and Sharol Hawkins of Pampa, Janie Easley of Borger, Davis and Ann Brewer of Pampa and Lalynda Sherman of Pampa. Miss Celia Fowler, District Advisor of Borger, and Florida Igan, Memphis, and Florida Sorrels of Borger, are training the Roundup patrols.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Daylilies are extremely easy to grow in Hall County. They thrive in any soil and in practically all garden situations. Many grow well in full sun or semi-shade. While they do best when planted where good drainage is provided, many sorts give good satisfaction in moist areas as well, says W. B. Hooser, Hall County Agricultural Agent.

Unlike many flowering garden subjects, they have a wide variety of landscape uses in the garden. They can be planted for mass effect, mixed with other perennials in the flower border, used in individual clumps, located near trees or shrubs, or can be grown in tubs on the terrace or patio.

They require a minimum amount of time and care. Insect and disease problems are almost non-existent and little or no spraying or dusting is required. The only fertilization needed is one application of a 1-2-1 ratio complete fertilizer when the flower buds are beginning to form.

In spite of their extreme adaptability, daylilies are also beautiful garden subjects and they fill the need for good color in the summer garden. Even though some varieties bloom as early as April under some Texas conditions, the main blooming season is during the summer months. Some varieties will also extend the blooming season up to the first hard frost.

The flowers are borne on tall, graceful stems, with many flower stalks producing 30 or more buds. The well formed flowers on the strong, slender stems rise above fountain-like clusters of leaves.

Daylilies perform another garden function well. They are planted near and among spring flower bulbs such as bulbous iris and daffodils that must be left with their foliage intact until it turns yellow and dies to the ground if these bulbs are to flower again the following year, the fountain-like foliage of the daylilies will cover this foliage and keep the garden attractive during this period.

The flower colors of daylilies range from purple and brown tones, through chocolates and gold on to yellow, clear red, through the pastel shades to creamy white. They are also many varieties with bi-colored flowers.

There is a wide selection of flower types available, varying from small to large flowered varieties. Double-flowered kinds may also be selected. The growth habits of various varieties range from dwarf to very large growing forms.

While the plants may be divided every four or five years to provide additional plants for new garden locations, there is little other garden maintenance required from year to year.

Because of the great garden satisfaction derived from these plants, the interest in them in most Texas areas has increased rapidly during the past few years.

They are easy to plant and should be spread two feet apart. While this may seem a considerable distance when new small clumps are planted, by the time the plants mature this space will be desirable. Small divisions will usually bloom the first year, although it will usually require two or three years for most varieties to reach the peak of perfection.

At the present time there are about eight or nine thousand named varieties of daylilies available. While this may seem to be a confusing number for the beginning gardener, many of these are of little interest except to the most avid daylily collector who may be willing to pay as much as $20 for rare new introductions.

There are many beautiful, inexpensive daylily varieties on the market in a wide selection of varieties, sizes, shades and tones that will fulfill any of the needs of the average gardener.

Space permits the listing of only a few varieties that will give good garden satisfaction throughout the season. Some of the following should provide considerable enjoyment in Texas gardens meeting of the Santa Rosa District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, I drew the crystal compute given by you for a door prize and wish to thank you for it.

We enjoyed our stay in Memphis. The people are very hospitable and did much for our pleasure and comfort.

Vernon, Texas

Dear Sirs:

It was so thoughtful and kind of the First National Bank to present one of the Santa Rosa Convention members with such a lovely Lannox bowl, and I was the lucky one! Thank you so very much. I will certainly enjoy using it and will think of the two wonderful days in Memphis.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert Kincaid

tones, through chocolates and gold on to yellow, clear red, through the pastel shades to creamy white. They are also many varieties with bi-colored flowers.

There is a wide selection of flower types available, varying from small to large flowered varieties. Double-flowered kinds may also be selected. The growth habits of various varieties range from dwarf to very large growing forms.

While the plants may be divided every four or five years to provide additional plants for new garden locations, there is little other garden maintenance required from year to year.

Because of the great garden satisfaction derived from these plants, the interest in them in most Texas areas has increased rapidly during the past few years.

They are easy to plant and should be spread two feet apart. While this may seem a considerable distance when new small clumps are planted, by the time the plants mature this space will be desirable. Small divisions will usually bloom the first year, although it will usually require two or three years for most varieties to reach the peak of perfection.

At the present time there are about eight or nine thousand named varieties of daylilies available. While this may seem to be a confusing number for the beginning gardener, many of these are of little interest except to the most avid daylily collector who may be willing to pay as

Small Fruits Tops For Home Garden Plants

"Texas homeowners can have a satisfactory and dependable source of home fruit by using the four small fruits," says Blueford Hancock, Extension horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

These small fruits include figs, grapes, strawberries and blackberries.

"The small fruits have numerous advantages over the tree-type fruits, Hancock explains. They are quick to come into production, easy to propagate at home, extremely dependable in production, have fewer disease and insect problems, and require very little room for growth.

Small fruits will always produce the season following planting while tree-fruits often take much longer to produce, Hancock said.

Also, varieties of small fruit are adapted to a wide range of Texas soil and climatic conditions, while tree-fruits require different varieties for different areas, Hancock adds.

Hancock recommends the following varieties of small fruits for Texas soils:

Figs, The Texas Everbearing variety which produces a large vigorous plant with large golden fruit, and the Celeste variety which is commonly known as the little blue sugar fig. Both varieties are excellent for preserves and fresh fruit.

Grapes, The Fredonia variety which produces an excellent dark colored juice and jelly and the Siebel 9110 variety which produces a white eating grape with practically no seed.

Social Security Gives Advice To Self-Employed

Self-employed business and professional persons were reminded today that their earnings must be reported for social security purposes at the same time they file their final Federal Income tax returns for 1964.

Hal Geldon, Social Security District Manager in Amarillo, explained that a self-employed person's earnings are covered for social security if he had a net profit of $400 or more. If net profit is $400 or more, social security tax must be paid.

To report his earnings for social security purposes, a business must complete Schedule C (Profit or Loss) From Business or profession) and pay the self-employment tax due. The tax is 5.4 percent of his net profit up to $4800. In cases where no income tax payments are due, the self-employment tax still must be paid and the tax return filed with the Internal Revenue Service.

Geldon emphasized that tax payments to the social security program may help provide protection to the taxpayer and his family in the form of monthly payments if the taxpayer retires or becomes disabled. Payments may also be made to the family if the taxpayer dies.

Geldon advised any self-employed person who wants more information to get in touch with the Social Security District Office located at 1066 Adams Street, in Amarillo.

Citizens From Three Counties Meet Turkey, To Meet Again Saturday

Approximately 60 men and women of Hall, Motley and Briscoe Counties met with Bob Allen in Austin on Friday, April 2, in the Turkey Elementary Cafeteria to discuss the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 (EOA). The meeting was decided at the meeting of the three separate counties. It was decided that the counties should have meetings to propose projects for their counties and cities. Then, representatives will meet at Turkey on Saturday night, April 10, for general organization and setting forth projects.

Loran Denton of Turkey, president of the Turkey County Citizens, was elected General Chairman.

Allen discussed briefly all aspects of the EOA which have special significance and importance for public education, rural and urban, but he spent most of his time at length on Community Action Programs.

It was pointed out by Mr. Allen that the Federal Government help local communities develop support anti-poverty programs, however, federal assistance will depend on the community's determination to meet the stipulations: mobilize public and private resources; develop programs of self-help; determine the scope and size that give the best chance of eliminating a cause; help the poor in developing and maintaining the anti-poverty program; coordinate the Community Action Program through public and private non-profit agencies or combination of both.

In small communities, he explained, and those with more limited resources, local leaders can lead a Community Action Program in stages. For example, a community might start with a pre-employment program coupled with a health service clinic, these would be followed by other specific coordinated programs.

Illustrations were given of the kind of program that could be developed; providing training services and activities; develop new employment opportunities; providing after-school study center, establishing a program for the benefit of pre-adolescent children; reducing adult ill-literacy; providing Community Child Care Centers and youth activity centers; improving housing, living facilities and home management skills; providing recreation and physical fitness service and facilities.

Mr. Allen listed the following factors to be considered in projects: number of families of low income, particularly those with children; number of migrant or transient low income families; school drop-out rates; adequacy of community facilities and services, etc.

Mr. Allen stated the Federal Government will pay up to 90 per cent of cost of Community Action Programs in the first two years. The balance to be furnished by local Community Action Groups, can be in cash or in kind such as services and facilities, to support local programs.

It was pointed out the first steps were to bring together appropriate voluntary and government agencies in welfare, health, education, and employment as participants in developing a Community Action Program. Include leaders from the areas in which the program will operate and include representatives from business, labor and organizations, assemble all available information on poverty problems, list the problems in order of priority; develop a set of proposals; determine the local resources available to support programs; develop projects in order of importance and ability to carry them through, Allen told the leaders at the Turkey meeting.

Mrs. R. S. Greene Gives Book Review At 1913 Study Club Meeting Wednesday

"Gay As a Grig", memories of a north Texas girlhood by Ellen Bowie Holland, was ably reviewed by Mrs. R. S. Greene Wednesday afternoon before members of the 1913 Study Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. George Ferris.

Adding to the program was a medley of Texas songs sang by Tommie Greene and Pat Wilson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ferris. They sang "Texas, Our Texas," "Beautiful Texas," and "Home on the Range."

Mrs. Greene said that Ellen Bowie Holland grew up in a house at Weatherford, Texas, which had the "motherly look of a large and gallant hen hovering over by too many chicks" and which was inhabited by a "lively, warm-hearted family."

"Gay As a Grig" is the author's record of the "whole world of little things" which enriched young lives" in her small town.

"Blessed with a discerning and sympathetic eye, the author had much happiness to remember and record, and she employs a charming combination of nostalgia and comedy as she brings to life again those bygone days. Her childhood experiences are illuminated by the wisdom of maturity, and the whole is indeed infused with a deft humor, developed through her skilled use of fantasy and through her ability to laugh at the pretensions of the Victorian life she saw," Mrs. Greene stated.

"Mother was born on Columbus day, and she and Columbus had a lot in common. She liked to discover things for herself and nothing pleased her more than to nicely finish off a job that she had been told could not be done."

"Father, silk-hatted, or swallow-tailed, distinguished almost beyond belief. . . I never heard him raise his voice or laugh aloud. Father was not butty, but he had an absolutely delightful sense of nonsense," Mrs. Green said.

Through the book the reader shares the author's consciousness of the vast difference between her own childhood and that of the grandchildren to who the book is dedicated—a distance created by rapid technological change.

"From my window I look over an air-conditioned city and I see jets streaking across the sky and occasionally I hear one of them breaking the sound barrier. . . When I really want to awe myself I think about the fact that only one generation ago Mother saw friendly or marauding Indians roaming these same acres. . . Those of my age have come into a span of years where living conditions of all kinds have changed so abruptly, where obsolescence sets in so rapidly, that there is little in common between our infancy and our present," she concluded.

During the business session, Mrs. M. G. Tarver gave a report on the 5th annual convention of Santa Rosa District held here and made mention of the awards won by the club.

Mrs. R. S. Greene, president, presided at the business session.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Ferris to the following members: Mmes. Frank Foxhall, Swede Roark, Virginia Browder, Oren Jones, Ed Hutcherson, Bob Hutcherson, R. S. Greene, Richard Avery, W. C. Davis, L. G. DeBerry, T. M. Harrison, D. L. C. Kinard, Paul Montgomery.

Just 15 minutes of vigorous activity

Just 15 minutes of vigorous activity—during a daily physical education period—can improve the physical fitness of our nation's youth. One third of our children lack the strength and endurance to pass simple physical achievement tests! Your child—if he's as inactive as most youngsters nowadays—may be among them. That's why you should know as much about the physical education program in your child's school as you know about its academic program. Just how much time is given to physical education daily? Precisely what kind of activity does it include? Unfortunately, in too many schools, physical education programs are geared to the development of athletically-gifted students. Consequently, those who are not inclined to participate in team or competitive sports, do not get the physical conditioning they need. Find out if there's sufficient emphasis on this important phase of your child's education. And to help you evaluate the fitness program in your school, write for the free booklet offered by The President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D. C.

Accuracy Climbs In Federal Tax Returns—IRS

The percentage of correctly prepared Federal tax returns has increased sharply in the past few years. But says Hubert B. Hamill, Administrative Officer of the Amarillo office of Internal Revenue, numerous simple mistakes continue to show up. Mr. Hamill said, "The best advice we can give on filling a return is that when you complete it, don't put it in the mail right away. Set it aside for a day or

Social Security Number Is Needed On Tax Return

Don't forget to list your social security number on your Federal income tax return. The law requires it. If both husband and wife have income, they each should list their numbers on a joint return. If only one has income only his number is required. Administrative Officer Hubert H. Hamill of the Internal Revenue Amarillo office said social security numbers are being omitted on some returns. Taxpayers should double check to make sure that social security numbers are complete and accurate. Omission of the number will delay processing of your return. This is time-consuming and inconvenient for you and the government.

If you do not have a number, ask the nearest Internal Revenue office or Social Security office for application Form SS-5. Application Form SS-5 may also be secured from most local Post Offices.

two. Then give it a thorough review for omitted income or deductions, errors in arithmetic, printed name and current address, social security number, correct copies of W-2's, and signatures." Quite often, Mr. Hamill pointed out, the taxpayer will find that a review of his return will turn up mistakes he did not notice previously. "A careful review by the taxpayer before mailing may prevent delays in processing your return or the issuance of a tax refund or savings bond."

State Draft Is Set At 518 For Next Month

The state draft quota for April calls for 518 men compared to 15 for March. Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Tuesday.

The state quota of 518 for April is the Texas share of a national call for 13,700 men, all for the Army.

The state Selective Service director also announced that state draft boards will forward around 4,170 males for Army mental-physical examinations in April, 2,364 of whom will be 18-year-olds.

These tests for 18-year-olds are the result of President Johnson's action in 1964 which ordered the Director of Selective Service and the Secretary of Defense to examine all newly registered men who are out of school and available for service. Males married at 18 and those known to be in school at that age will not be examined. Colonel Schwartz stressed that

Early Lawn Fertilization Has Advantages

Applying a complete fertilizer to lawns soon after spring growth begins has many advantages, according to Neal Pratt, an Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University.

Pratt says spring lawn fertilization encourages early growth and early green color, improves water-use efficiency, and increases hardiness and drought resistance because fertilizer helps the grass to develop a stronger, deeper root system.

Complete fertilizers are those containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, Pratt said. Common examples are 12-12-12 and 10-10-10. The numbers represent the pounds of the nutrients in each 100 pounds.

Pratt emphasizes that fertilizer should be brought on the basis of its guaranteed analysis.

The rule-of-thumb is applying fertilizer to lawns is to use 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet, according to the agronomist. With the complete fertilizer recommended for early application, the two other nutrients will naturally be applied at about the same rate.

As an example, Pratt says a fifty-pound bag of 10-10-10, which would contain five pounds of each of the nutrients, would be just right for the spring application on 2,500 square feet.

The agronomist says that during summer an application of fertilizer that is high in nitrogen should be made every eight to 10 weeks.

About Your HEALTH

As Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of youth, so we today seek the quick, easy route to good health.

Unfortunately, neither of these exists. But there are ways to keep your mind and body physically fit.

Take a look at the seven paths to fitness.

One essential is proper medical care. This means preventive services—periodic medical examinations and an immunization schedule. Give your physician your confidence, follow his advice and obtain prompt care when you are ill.

Nutrition is an important part of fitness. Gorging yourself one day and going without food the next is not the way to become fit. Your daily food needs include meat or meat substitutes, milk and milk products, bread and cereals, (enriched or whole grain), fruits and vegetables, plus other foods to complete meals.

Proper dental care is important not only for good appearance and better health, but to permit proper chewing of food and to prevent distress and pain. Visit your dentist every six months or oftener as he advises. Brush your teeth properly, as soon after meals as possible—or if you can't brush, rinse your mouth with water. And go easy on the snacks, particularly those high in sugar, between meals. Regular visits to your dentist can prevent dental distress, forestall needless pain and expense, and help to prevent premature loss of teeth.

And believe it or not, exercise is an important element in fitness. Choose any exercise which suits you—your age, sex and physical condition—and that you enjoy. You need exercise enough to bring on healthful fatigue... vigorous enough to tax the power of your muscles... and regular participation using all parts of the body.

Exercise improves the action of the heart, blood circulation and breathing function. It steps up muscle tone and helps in weight control. And it gives you an overall feeling of zest and well-being.

A person also needs to have satisfying work, healthy play, recreation, and adequate rest and relaxation. Include these seven paths to fitness in your life. You won't have fountain of youth, but you'll feel better.

Methodist WSG Meets Sunday

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church was invited to a salad luncheon on Sunday, April 4, to the Childress, Semi-Annual meeting, held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Powell, chairman of the Childress, Paducah, Vernon and Clarendon in attendance.

The theme for the meeting was "I My Brothers' Keeper?" Mrs. Jack Davis, District Secretary, presiding.

Joe Ritter led the opening prayer, followed by the welcome of John Fowler, local president. Mrs. J. F. Powell conducted a brief pledge service. Miss Goodnight presided over the selection of and installation of officers.

Those elected were Mrs. Jack Davis, president; Mrs. R. C. Lemons, Memphis, secretary; Mrs. Jim Marshall, Childress, chairman of the committee on missionary education; Mrs. Joe Ritter, Clarendon, chairman of the committee on Christian social relations; Mrs. Tomson, Childress, and Mrs. E. Bartlett, Wellington, representatives from the Woman's Society Christian Service; Mrs. John Clarendon, Memphis, Mrs. R. C. Clarendon, and Mrs. H. O. Quannah, nominations committee.

H. E. West introduced the special guests, Rev. and Mrs. Bill Welch, pastor of the Methodist church of Crosbyton, Rev. and Mrs. Jacinto Alderte, Spanish-American Mission, Crosbyton.

Mrs. Kent gave a most inspiring devotion taken from the New English translation. She gave a thought provoking poem, "I Hear the Voice of a Child," by the Methodist Bishop serving Uruguay, Argentina and Bolivia.

A panel entitled "Myth and Fact Equal Reality", with Mr. Kent acting as moderator, was most interesting. He asked Mr. Alderte how he felt concerning the position of the Spanish-American people and he replied, "They are the lowest on the totem pole, one normally thinks it's the Negro but in reality it is not. The two World Wars have helped considerably toward the improvement of the Spanish-American in their everyday living, but much remains to be done."

Mrs. Alderte is very fair skinned and would easily pass as an Anglo, but she is proud of her heritage and wants to be known and liked for what she is.

She illustrated a fight their young son, Wesley, had at school. Wesley said, "We had a fight at school today, the Spanish-American and the Anglo and we won." "Who do you mean won, the Anglos or the Spanish-Americans?" Mrs. Alderte asked. "The Anglos, of course, who did you think?" he answered.

Then it was up to the mother to explain to him, his heritage. You see, Wesley did not speak any Spanish at that time, but he can speak it now.

Mr. Kent told of Methodist Youth Fellowship group that meets in Kerrville, with leaders of Negro, Latin-American and Anglo for a week, living, studying and learning together, to break down cultural problems.

"In a kindergarten that Mrs. Alderte has in Crosbyton, there are 8 Spanish-American and two Anglo children and at the end of the first 6 months the Spanish-Americans have made a tremendous step forward for having gone to school with the Anglos," she concluded.

In summarizing, Mr. Kent said, "Each cultural group takes satisfaction from each other, combining the two heritages as one in Christ Jesus. Spanish-Americans are not one people, but many. Mrs. Alderte's father has been president or on the school board for 21 years at Socorro, New Mexico, her former home. A great deal of the problem lies in lack of challenge, part of the reason comes from the home, the town, the community and the school."

"Migrant workers take their children out of school in mid-March and do not return to Crosbyton until November, so the children are not attending school during this period. The migrant worker does feel the importance of education as they feel if they are educated, they will still only be the driver of a tractor or laborers. A migrant worker will not work for 60¢ an hour because of his pride, but he does not fail to accept welfare," Mr. Alderte explained.

"There are one million unchurched persons in Texas that do not belong to any church," Mr. Kent continued. "Every unchurched person in a community is a threat to the community. We must remember they will not come to us—we have to go to them. Giving of one's self is the answer," he concluded.

Those attending the meeting in Memphis were Mrs. Jack Davis, Mrs. Gorman Owens, Mrs. Betty Welch of Wellington; Mrs. J. F. Powell, Mrs. H. D. Foster of Paducah; Miss Ila Pool of Pampa, conference secretary; Mrs. Ruby Hutton, Mrs. J. R. Brandon, Mrs. Ellen Bryan, Mrs. Frank Phelan, Sr., Mrs. Lucile Naylor and Mrs. Mrs. Mildred Ritter, all of Clarendon.

Also Miss Louise Goodnight, Mrs. Juanita Smith, Mrs. Cora Swindell, Miss Alice Magee and Mrs. Vera Wells of Quannah; Mrs. Jim Martindale, Miss Fredia Miller, Mrs. Lillie Mae Sims, Mrs. Duetta Graham and Mrs. Gertrude Watkins of Childress; Mrs. W. P. Thomas, Mrs. Mary Ross, Emma Lu Hughes, Mrs. Edna Laweis, Mrs. Maxine Cardwell, Miss Myrtle McCroskey and Mrs. H. E. West, all of Vernon; Mrs. L. C. ## Revival To Open At Estelline Methodist Church

A Spring Revival will open at the First Methodist Church in Estelline Easter Sunday, April 18, it was announced this week.

Which Paint?

There is a correct paint for any type surface. For bricks where the mortar is less than a year old, it's a good idea to use masonry paint. On older walls, quality house paint will give a satisfactory performance. Metal casement windows which are prone to rust must have a metal primer on the bare metal. If they're aluminum, they need painting, but any quality exterior trim paint can be applied next to the metal or as a topcoat.

May 10th will be an important date for the youth of this community.

Government Versus The Governed

basic right of private ownership of property is being seriously challenged. The method being effected only a few people at the expense of the rest of the country. Hence the subject has received little publicity. It is the exploit of the right of eminent domain that has been defined by the Federal government. The Supreme Court as "The power to take private property for public use." More recently, it is the right of the state or the sovereign or those to whom the power has been lawfully delegated, to appropriate the ownership of such property for public use, on paying the owner compensation to be ascertained by law. This right in the sovereign to take property is supposedly justified on the existence of a community and interest of the community that overrides the right of the individual. Exercise of the right of eminent domain by the sovereign is usually and commonly called "condemnation." I was taught in law school that condemnation was a harsh procedure because it was the action of the all-powerful government taking property from a private citizen without his consent. It is true that the private citizen is entitled to just compensation; however, the owner of the property might not want to sell it for any purpose. Since such action by the government was unusual and harsh, it was generally taught that there must be a present need for the use of the property for public purposes; a present need or necessity that completely overshadowed the rights of the individual owner.

In recent years there has been a marked change in the thinking of government officials on this subject. A school of thought has developed on the theory that "anticipated" needs of the government should be ample justification for taking private property from a private citizen. In other words, if government officials think that the government might need some land for highways, reservoirs, building sites, recreation purposes, military establishments, or any other purposes in the future, condemnation proceedings would be justified to take the property and hold it in government ownership until a need arose. This is in direct conflict with the basic proposition that there must be a present public need and necessity for the property. However, this conflict does not deter the government-minded bureaucrats, many of whom have been raised in government by borebearers who were in government, and have never had to meet a payroll or past due rent in their lives. An excellent example of the wrongs that can occur under such thinking took place within the shadow of the Capital. Some years ago government officials decided that a new airport site was needed near Washington. They chose what was called "The Burke Site" in northern Virginia near the Potomac River and very close to the Capital. They condemned this land, ran landowners off the land whose families had occupied it for some 200 years. This property was then held by the government without being used for airport purposes or any other purpose. It was subsequently determined that a grave mistake had been made and that an airport could not be properly located at this site. The government officials then moved further up the Potomac and chose a place near Chantilly, Virginia (which is the present location of Dulles International Airport). They started condemnation proceedings against the landowners in that area. Some of the landowners at the Chantilly site were the identical landowners who had been kicked off of their land at the Burke site. They told the government that they would be most pleased to trade their Chantilly land to the government for the land that had been taken away from them at Burke, or that they would repurchase the land at Burke from which they had been ejected at the same price that they had been paid. The government officials advised them that this could not be done, even though the Burke site had never been used for the purpose for which it was condemned. These citizens, who were being ejected from land which they owned as private owners twice in a few short years by their own government, were told by government officials that the land at the Burke site had increased in value due to the expansion of the city of Washington and its environs, and that if they wanted their former homes it would be necessary that they pay the Federal government a profit. Several of us in the Congress tried to correct this situation but we were overruled.

We are presently undertaking another movement to put a stop to Federal bureaucracy trampling on the rights of individual citizens in this manner. We hope to be successful this time.
