A few months the Hall County Hospital has been in busi-ness deaths and a number of accidents have happened due to fast driving. Other accidents and probably deaths happen at any time unless zones are placed north and south of the hospital and city. The hospital save lives by having speed zones south, and we understand the Highway officials speed zones north of hospital. I have been told that the Howell and State Highway department have been working on speed zone ordinance for the area.

There is only a margin between success and failure—but there is a BIG difference between a mere desire to do something and a strong determination to accomplish it. City Council Calls $70,000 Bond Vote For Tues., June 1

The Memphis City Council Tuesday night called a sewer system improvement bond election for Tuesday, June 1, in the amount of $70,000.

The bond issue, if passed, would be used to construct a complete sewage disposal plant for the City of Memphis. The $70,000 is 70 per cent of the cost of the proposed plant while the Federal Government, thru the State Health Department, will provide the remaining 30 per cent of the cost.

In order to provide payment for the bonds, the city's sewer rate will be raised one-third, the City Council stated. For residents now paying $1.50 per month, the raise would amount to 50 cents or a total monthly charge of $2.00.

For resident paying annually, the raise would be from $15 to $20. Commercial rates vary, the council explained, but they would be increased either monthly or annually the same percentage.

Spending On Public Schools

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States last month released figures of a study conducted by that organization concerning spending on public schools of noteworthy interest. Citizens should be aware that the figures presented, however, are on a national average.

Spending on public schools has been increasing almost three times as fast as pupil enrollment, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

In the last decade enrollment increased 43 per cent, while spending rose 157 per cent. About 95 per cent of the increased spending came from local and state taxes and bonds. Five per cent came from the federal government.

During the next ten years, states and communities will have the resources upon which to draw to continue accelerating school spending faster than enrollment. While in this period enrollment will rise only 15 per cent, national income will rise two-and-a-half to three times as much. National income, of course, pays not only federal income taxes, but local and state property and sales taxes that support school systems.

Due to the fact that these figures are national averages, they report a far greater increase than has been seen in school districts in this part of the country. It is obvious, however, that continued increases in spending are in order to upgrade educational plants with the bulk of the spending coming from local and state taxes.

A man who knows his own imperfections is just about as perfect as it is possible for anyone to be.

IT'S TEAMWORK

Riding a bicycle built for two is a simple matter of teamwork. And, it's fun, too. We don't often think of things in exactly the same light, but teamwork keeps things humming in the local business community. In one way or another, each of us "sells" a particular product or service in the local market. And, in return, we buy the things we need from our friends and neighbors. It's a good arrangement. It works smoothly because we need each other, because whether he sells a product or a service, the individual local businessman is concerned with the "long pull." He plans to do business tomorrow as well as today. He knows that his business depends upon such things as quality service and guaranteed satisfaction.

Whether you aim to buy or to sell, you'll find smoother sailing when you do business in the local community.

Ten Pillars of Wisdom

At the New York World's Fair there is a pavilion, the Hall of Free Enterprise, where visitors can receive answers to questions by pressing buttons. The exhibit is a powerful advocate of free enterprise, and prominently displayed are 10 "Pillars of Wisdom."

These are foundation stones of the free enterprise system, truths that should be learned and recognized by every American interested in keeping freedom in this country as we know it.

Here are the 10 Pillars of Wisdom:

1. Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere or go nowhere, nor can it be free; everything in our economic life has a source, a destination, and a cost that must be paid.

2. Government is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.

3. The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more than it has thus received, that extra money is created out of thin air, through the banks, and when spent, takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings, and insurance.

4. In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security; if there are no customers, there can be no payroll and no jobs.

5. Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when he cooperates with management in doing the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in a spirit of understanding and cooperation.

6. Because wages are the principal cost of everything, widespread wage increase, without corresponding increase in production, simply increases the cost of everybody's living.

7. The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

8. All productivity is based on three factors: (1) Natural resources, whose form, place and condition are changed by the expenditures of (2) human energy (both muscular and mental), with the aid of (3) tools.

9. Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase without limit, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the temporary self-denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure, and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

10. The productivity of the tools—that is, the efficiency of the human energy applies in connection with their use—has always been highest in a competitive society in which the economic decisions are made by millions of progress-seeking individuals, rather than a state-planned society in which the economic decisions are made by a handful of all-powerful people, regardless of how well-meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be.

Just imagine an economy believing in and living according to these principles. Thus there would be hope for the future of our country once again. — Ochiltree County Herald.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to take this means of saying "Thanks" to the doctors, nurses and the whole staff at the Hall County Hospital for their tender care and kindness to me while I was there; also to my neighbors, friends and loved ones for the beautiful flowers, lovely cards and gifts and for their prayers.

FHA Makes 247 Loans Under New Ec. Act

L. J. Cappelman, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, announced that 247 loans to individual families have been made in Texas under the provisions of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, which is one of the powerful weapons of Agriculture being used in President Johnson's all-out War On Poverty Program.

These loans were made to individual farmers and rural residents in most sections of Texas. A farm family is a family who is operating a farm they own or lease, and is producing at least a portion of their subsistence from crops or livestock. A rural resident is classified as one living in a town of not more than 2,500 population.

Economic opportunity loans to farmers may be made to improve their farming operations; to buy more land, livestock, machinery and equipment; to construct needed farm buildings; and to pay annual operating expenses for feed, seed, and fertilizer. These loans may be obtained by farm and rural families to finance rural-based, non-agricultural enterprises.

Loans may be used to purchase and construct buildings, buy and install equipment and pay normal operating expenses of a variety of non-agricultural enterprises such as farm machinery repair shop; and radio repair shop; ladders, spraying equipment and tools to be used by painters and carpenters; septic tank and sewage disposal system servicing; custom grass setting and land preparation; saw and lawn mow-sharpening shop; portable sheep shearing equipment; and goat shearing equipment.

Economic opportunity loans are for the purpose of helping low-income rural families raise their income level. Rural families who need a small amount of capital to improve their incomes may borrow up to $2,500 for 15 years at 4-1/8 percent interest. These loans are secured by a promissory note by the borrower and a loan agreement scheduled in accordance with his ability to repay.

Families and single individuals with incomes which are too low to cover basic needs, and who, with the assistance of the Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, are successful in developing a plan of operations which will provide reasonable prospect of increasing their earnings through a small amount of credit from a farming operation or other non-agricultural enterprise, and who are unable to obtain adequate credit on reasonable terms elsewhere, are eligible to receive the loans.

Mr. Cappelman also advises that Economic Opportunity Loans may be made to finance processing, marketing, purchasing and service type cooperatives which directly benefit low-income families living in rural areas. These loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 30 years at an interest rate of 4-1/8 percent. The cooperative must pledge as security for a loan a property lien and pledge of revenue.

Some examples of cooperatives which might receive a loan are those packing, selling and shipping products grown on members' farms; marketing items constructed in home workshops of members, such as handicraft items; processing farm products; providing custom farm work for members; and wholesale buying of essential farm operating items such as machinery, seed, and fertilizer. These loans may be made to established or newly formed cooperative associations made up of a membership of 2-3 of whom are low-income rural families, and serving predominantly families in this group.

Mr. Cappelman stated that additional information concerning this program may be obtained from county Farmers Home Ad-

Gamma Kappa Chapter Fetes School Administrators Sat.

Members of Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma observed Guest Night at a banquet in the Community Center, Memphis, Saturday evening, May 1. Honored were school administrators and their wives, and husbands of Gamma Kappa members.

Mrs. Roy Sullivan of Pampa, first vice president of Alpha State and chairman of the Committee on Personal Growth and Service, was the speaker. Mrs. Sullivan informed guests of the purposes of this international society of women teachers, listed accomplishments of its thirty-six years, and outlined plans for future service to women in education.

"The twelve founders of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society prepared the soil and planted the seed for our international honor society of dedicated women educators," began Mrs. Sullivan. "We, the members, have the responsibility of cultivating, fertilizing, tending the plants, and the privilege of harvesting the fruits of their labor. Have we succeeded in our responsibility? What are the fruits of our harvest? Let's examine the purposes," continued Mrs. Sullivan.

"In general, the purposes are to better the position of women in education. First, 'to unite women educators of the world in a genuine spiritual fellowship' our hand of friendship has been extended to the far corners of the world through various intercultural relations projects. Many chapters and members individually send supplies to teachers and schools abroad. They have adopted schools as well as students who are in need. We have sent thousands of magazines abroad through a Magazines for Friendship project.

Every chapter in Texas has a library assignment in the Philippines or in India. Many are participating in the People-to-People programs such as letter exchange with teachers of other lands and the School and Classroom program—all designed to encourage the exchange of ideas, methods, and materials. Special courtesies and orientation are given foreign exchange students and teachers. Through our World Fellowship Fund, our national organization has been awarding two fellowships of $2,500 annually to enable foreign teachers to study in the United States. This fund is provided through our voluntary contributions," continued Mrs. Sullivan. "Through the society, members have studied in South America, in Russia, and will study in the Far East this summer. A $4,000 grant to one of our members is to be made for research in some type of affiliate membership for those women of other countries found to be seriously in sympathy with the aims and purposes of Delta Kappa Gamma."

"The second purpose, to honor women who have given distinctive service in any field of education, has enlarged membership in the society to 89,000 women in 900 chapters in 50 states, District of Columbia, and six provinces of Canada. Honorary membership of nearly 3,000 has been extended to women not in the teaching profession who have rendered notable service to education. Achievement awards go annually to members who have given outstanding service in education and to our society at both state and international levels. Every two years the society grants the Educator's Award of $1,500 to a woman for the most significant contribution to education through publication."

Mrs. Sullivan then discussed the progress made in recent years in accomplishing the third purpose of Delta Kappa Gamma, to protect the professional interest of women in education and to eliminate unjust discrimination. Though much has been accomplished, much remains to be done.

The fourth purpose, to sponsor and support desirable educational legislation and initiate legislation in the interest of women educators, has stimulated support of laws which have guaranteed better schools for children and of those laws concerning women's rights. Responsibility for participation in legislative programs is directly upon the individual membership and chapters.

The fifth purpose of the society is to endow scholarships to aid outstanding women teachers in pursuing graduate study. Yearly the international society grants six graduate scholarships of $2,500 each. In 1954, members contributed nearly $68,000 to a special Silver Anniversary Scholarship Fund, and 53 awards of $1,300 were granted to members. In 1960, a special scholarship project provided 57 scholarships of $2,500 each. In addition, many graduate scholarships are granted annually by the state organizations. In the 1st biennium, $120,000 was given for Grant-in-Aid awards made to students who plan to be teachers. Texas annually awards two long term scholarships and 26 summer term ones.

The sixth purpose, to initiate and develop a continuous program of teacher welfare designed to improve the economic, social, and political status of women, involves work toward improvement in single salary scale, adequate sick and maternity leave, favorable working conditions, retirement, academic freedom and privileges of taking part in political and social life of the community.

The seventh purpose of the society is to inform membership of current economic, social, political and educational issues to the end that they may become intelligent functioning members of a world society. Committees of a world are designed to bring information, provoke discussion, clarify ideas, and to involve members in active roles of service to all mankind.

"Let our purposes serve as a focal point for future action," concluded Mrs. Sullivan. "Time has not altered their importance. It has been a greater implementation of them a necessity. We must forego the self enjoyment of a comfortable status quo in favor of a rigorous plan for self-improvement. We must expand our cultural horizons to all parts of the world. We must convince women that higher education is as important for them as for men. We must destroy the barriers that hold women back and promote the cause of equal opportunity and challenge women to accept

Local Drivers Are Asked To Watch TV Show

AUSTIN — One hour in May could spell the difference between life and death for Texas' some five million drivers, S. Ross Carr, President of the Texas Safety Association, declared today.

In announcing TSA support of a 60-minute educational driver testing program to be conducted this month on a national television network, Carr said:

"Texas drivers will have the opportunity to test their knowledge of driving in today's traffic by participating in this coast-to-coast televised test."

"What they learn about themselves and driving could make the difference between whether or not they become traffic fatalities."

The audience-participation test, being presented by the Columbia Broadcasting System between 9 and 10 p. m. (CST) on Monday, May 24, has been labeled the National Drivers' Test.

Its primary objective is to alert drivers to the absolute necessity of developing new (and sharpening old) driving skills to cope with today's complex transportation system.

The Association President explained the program also is the "opening shot" of a coordinated, concentrated effort to improve defensive driving skills of everyone on the roads of America.

Following on the heels of the National Drivers' Test will be a multi-million-dollar Advertising Council campaign to promote driver improvement. The third step in the concentrated effort on driver improvement is the promotion of the new Driver Improvement Program of the National Safety Council. This program is designed for drivers who are already licensed, but would like to improve their driving and learn how to "defend" themselves in traffic.

Carr urged individuals and groups to join in taking the National Drivers' Test. Viewers may obtain test forms from local CBS-TV stations and Shell Oil

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Insecticides come in many forms, and this is important in their use, says County Agent W. Hooser.

Among the more common forms available are dusts, wettable powders, soluble powders, emulsifiable concentrates, oil solutions, granulated materials and spray bombs.

Dusts don't mix with water and should never be used as sprays. Their chemical content may vary from one-half to 20 percent. They come as dry powders ready for use.

Wettable powders are for spray use. They contain a wetting agent and may contain from 15 to 85 percent of the actual ingredient.

Soluble powders are chemicals that readily dissolve in water. They can be applied with low-pressure, low-volume sprayers.

Emulsifiable concentrates are liquids carrying the insecticide in a suitable solvent and emulsifier. Emulsions can be applied with a low-pressure, low-volume sprayer.

Oil solutions are ready for use and may contain from a half to 10 percent active ingredients.

Granulated materials are ready for use in insecticides in or on particles of a carriers. They are useful for controlling soil insects because they last longer than other formulations.

Aerosols and spray bombs contain one or more insecticides, an oil solvent and a propellant gas. The bombs produce a fine mist or a coarse spray. Fine mists (aerosols) are used to control flying insects and the coarse sprays for leaving a residue of the insecticide.

In addition, baits, insecticide-fertilizer mixtures, insecticide-herbicide mixtures and moth-proofing agents are some of the special formulations available, the county agent said.

Regardless of the form of insecticide used, Hooser emphasized the need for following label directions to the letter and using them only for the purpose stated on the label. Also that insecticides be treated with care and stored out of reach of children.

Mrs. Keith Barry of Amarillo visited here Sunday with her grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Richards.

Mrs. Lizzie Trussel of Ft. Worth and Mrs. Ida Hutcherson visited with Mrs. W. W. Richards Saturday evening.

Miss Evelyn Milam of Sherman visited with her aunt, Miss Maud Milam, Monday afternoon.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By: BILL LOCKHART "Way back in 1789 the most outstanding physician of his day was Benjamin Rush, who was one of the last leaders of a medicine not yet graduated from the medieval tradition. For example, Rush maintained that there was but one disease, and all treatments were to be reduced to one as well. These treatments were rather harrowing by today's standards; consisting in the main of blood-letting and purging, intended to cure the unfortunate patient's physical ills through "depletion". Many of today's ills are cured quickly and safely through use of prescriptions prescribed by modern physicians. Changes Proposed For Skip-Row Cotton Planting Change in the rules for measuring cotton planted in a skip-row pattern for 1966 is being proposed by the USDA. The Department of Agriculture has confirmed that skip-row planting has contributed substantially to the increase in cotton yield which is expected to be about 13.4 million bales on just 1, 1965, Lynn L. McKown, cotton manager, Hall County, announced this week. The purpose of the proposed change is not to eliminate skip-row planting, but to bring skip-row acreage for allotment determinations more nearly in line with production increases due to such planting, he said. The following examples illustrate various skip-row patterns and how the proposed rule changes would apply: Two rows cotton, one row skipped (present rule charged as 66 per cent cotton) 86 and two-thirds per cent charged as cotton under proposed rule.

Two rows cotton, two rows skipped (charged as 50 per cent) charged as 65 per cent cotton under proposed rule. Two rows cotton and four rows skipped (present rule charged as 33 and a third per cent cotton) charged as 43 and a third per cent cotton under proposed rule. Four rows cotton and four rows skipped (present rule charged as 50 per cent cotton) charged as 57 and a half per cent cotton under proposed rule.

Almost anyone with a lawn to mow will admit that "man's best friend" in the summer time is a power lawn mower. Although power mowers are tops among labor saving devices, they pose some potential hazards. They can save you time, money and back-breaking efforts, but they can also kill and maim. In a recent year, some 70,000 accidents involving power mowers were recorded. Lost in the carnage each year are approximately 50,000 toes and 18,000 fingers, not to say anything about other injuries and the loss of life itself. Perhaps we need to have power mower handling courses just as we have gun handling courses to promote safety. A rotary blade on a mower—whirling at some 4,000 revolutions a minute—can hurl a hard object such as a stone or nail much like a bullet. These missiles can have the impact of a 22-calibre bullet, with enough force to kill anyone in its path. Safety with a power mower—as in any event—lies with the individual. An understanding of the mower and a respect for its potential could save you a limb, or even a life. Before you mow next time, make sure your mower is in good shape with all safety devices secured and all nuts and bolts properly tightened—especially the one holding the blade. Check the fuel before starting the motor. And never add gasoline while the engine is running. Clear your yard of all children and pets before you begin. If your neighbors are in a nearby yard, wait until they leave before you mow. You wouldn't schedule a shooting match with people standing about at random. Protect yourself with proper clothing when you mow. Wear long trousers, shoes and work gloves. Watch where you go, particularly for slopes and any objects ahead. And when you leave the mower, stop the motor. Your power mower can be your best friend this summer, if you treat it with respect and handle it with care. Mrs. H. B. REDDY TIPS to Give You More Comfort from Your AIR CONDITIONING at a Lower Cost!

Aren't you happy you have air conditioning to keep you cool and comfortable through these long, hot summer days... and nights... while outside temperatures are sizzling up to the 100 degree mark and past?

For your sake Reddy hopes the temperatures will take a tumble. But in case they don't, he's bursting to give you these valuable tips on how to get maximum efficiency at the lowest cost from your air conditioning—whether you have a central system or window units.

Reddy learned long ago there's nothing better than a long-term, satisfied customer. So, he wants to see that you get the most for your air conditioning dollar by saving you wasted expense.

West Texas Utilities Company

KEEP FILTERS CLEAN... PREVENT WASTED DOLLARS

Take the "straps" off your air conditioner and your budget. A dirty filter restricts air flow, makes your unit work harder to keep your home cool, costs you more in operating costs. Almost one-half of their trouble calls are traced to dirty filters. And filters are inexpensive to buy—easy to install and clean. Fiber glass throw-away filters can be cleaned well with a vacuum cleaner. Metal permanent type filters are best cleaned with water. Save money! Check them periodically.

AIR CONDITIONING COSTS DROP WITH PROPER INSULATION

A home without proper insulation lets cool air out, hot air in—and vice versa during winter months. Insulation is not only a terrific bargain leaves up to 57% on summer and winter operating costs, it offers bonuses by absorbing noises and preventing dust from drifting in. Makes house-work easier, living more pleasant.

AN OCCASIONAL CHECK-UP PAYS

Your air conditioning unit is a fine piece of equipment. A check-up keeps it "in tune," prevents sluggish operation and sometimes reveals that a unit is low on refrigerant... this condition prevents operating costs. Your serviceman can keep your unit charged with the right amount of refrigerant. He'll open up free air flow, too, by cleaning accumulated dirt, mold and algae from the cooling coil "fins," and fans. He'll make sure the motors, wiring and thermostats are working properly, and may even point your unit with rust preventative for longer life. You'll be glad your serviceman called.

SAVINGS TIP: WEATHERSTRIP

All leaks around doors and windows are comparable to leaving your refrigerator door open—cuts down efficiency and adds to air conditioning operating costs. Save up to 10% instead by placing weatherstripping around doors and windows. It goes hand-in-hand with insulation in making your home a more enjoyable place by keeping out dust and noise.

TIPS TO REMEMBER

Prevent cool air from escaping up the chimney! Remember to keep the damper closed. Reduce the heat entering your home still more by using blinds, shades or draperies to block direct sunlight.

THE THERMOSTAT SETTING IS THE KEY TO SAVING MONEY

The "just right" temperature for comfortable indoor living is 76 to 78 degrees F., although some might want it a little cooler and others a little warmer. The engineers say it will cost you as much as 10% more to operate your unit for each degree below the ideal 76 to 75 degrees F. How's that for a money-saving tip?

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

are presently pending the Committee on Inter- and Foreign Commerce of Representatives several bills requiring that any ship- containers manufactured in the United States from imported steel be marked so as to indicate the country of origin of the steel. These bills bears my name and I expect to do everything in my power to see that it is passed. It may be difficult to accomplish because of the marked opposition by the Administration and several Departments concerned. A similar bill was before Congress and was actively opposed by the Federal Trade Commission, the Department of Commerce, the Department of Treasury, the Bureau of the Budget, the Department of Justice. The opposition was based on the premise that such a provision would be inconsistent with international trade and would set a precedent.

Legislation has two major purposes. First, it would permit the use of steel containers to know foreign steel is used in the manufacture of these containers when foreign steel is used. Secondly, it would serve to protect the use of steel produced in our own country. Until 1958 the United States imported more steel than it imported. However, between 1958 and 1962 nearly tripled, rising to nine percent of world imports, compared to four percent in the earlier period. Although world trade in steel mill products has more than tripled the 1950 volume, U. S. imports continued to rise and approach 5 million tons in 1963. In 1964 steel imports were over six million tons. This means that unless some positive action is taken the position of the American steel industry will be seriously jeopardized in the domestic markets as well as the world trade markets. It has been estimated that if the U. S. steel industry had maintained its average participation in world export trade and had prevented further erosion of its domestic markets by imports, the industry in 1962 would have provided employment for an additional 50,000 workers and paid out over $350 million in wages and salaries.

It must be kept in mind that the bills pending before the Congress on this subject do not prohibit the use of foreign steel. These bills simply require that when a steel container is manufactured in this country from foreign steel, that fact be made known. In other words, it provides the opportunity for the purchaser of steel containers or the purchaser of products contained in a steel container to know the origin of the products with which he is dealing. It simply affords the prospective buyer the freedom to make a choice—an old American custom which seems to be fast fading away.

The present laws require that a product imported and intended to be sold at retail in this country shall be identified as to the country of origin. No law presently provides that there be any identification of a product manufactured in the United States, even though the material used in the manufacture may have come from foreign countries. The boards and bureaus of the Federal government argue that to pass any law requiring these latter manufactured products to be stamped would be to open the door for chaos, and require that the most minute products of all types be so stamped. So far as I am concerned, I know of no reason why the facts as to the foreign origin of manufactured products or materials should not be available. However, the argument of the bureaus and agencies is simply begging the question. Every one of them knows that the steel industry is one of the basic industries upon which the economy of this nation rests, just as is agriculture. Hence, it occurs to me that the people of this country should have the right to make a choice with reference to steel products, and have full information upon which to base that choice.

The choice may not always be in favor of U. S. producers. I have in mind a large rancher in Why today's brides choose modern gas cooking...

Mrs. David Bronstad cooks on a new gas range

Gas broils cleanest and coolest (no smoke ...the broiler door stays closed!)

Some range manufacturers suggest an open broiler door. Gas is different. You close the broiler door and let "the little blue flame" eat up the smoke. No smutty, hot kitchen for you — just savory, flame-kissed broiling without smoke! Like today's smart young brides, you'll cook cleaner and cooler with an automatic '65 model gas range. Now's the time to buy it — at gas range dealers and Lone Star Gas.

18 of the 20 charter members living. Might be a good time to come up and check on the several activities we have going on. . . Probably the one most interesting to Memphis is the bridge across the river to McLean. They have all kinds of heavy equipment on both sides of the river working 11 hours a day.

This would put McLean in some 40 miles of Memphis and 26 from here. It is now 51 miles from here to McLean. The big thing is they have about 7,000 acres cotton allotment and only one old gin, no compress or market. Hedley and Memphis should be able to draw a lot of business. . . They are also putting in some bridges on the farm to market road north from McKnight that will connect with this road. . . Our new school building is going up real fast now since we have had some working weather. They say it will be ready by Sept. 1.

One of the most interesting things going on is the micro-wave tower for coast-to-coast wireless telephone. It is going up on the H. P. Wilson place, just south of Highway 287 about 1 1/2 miles west. The altitude there is above 2700 feet and the tower will be 275 feet high.

I notice a lot of gravel piled along the right-of-way on Highway 287 between here and Memphis. I presume they intend to widen or otherwise improve our present road. I think they will use part of it at least on the four-lane from Memphis to Clarendon. I heard they had the route of the 4-lane worked out hadn't bought any right-of-way.

As to the Greenbelt, they have the foundation run and are ready to erect the 2-million-gallon steel water tank. It will be erected on Mrs. J. S. Hinds' place about 1/2 mile S. E. of town. They are now working on the pump station on Lake Creek on the Van Kennedy place about 4 1/4 miles N. W. The 24-inch pipe line from the tank is now laid past Hedley and on its way to the pump station. The 21-inch pipe is completely from the tank to Childrens Quannah. They will have water to Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis and Wellington have good water supply, industry Quannah seem to be interested in getting the water. With the drought, folks up here are getting more irrigation needed. We have hit several good inch wells last fall.
