Junior High, Elementary Bands Go To Quannah Band Festival Saturday

The Memphis Junior High and Elementary bands went to Quannah last Saturday and competed in concert, solo, and ensemble competition.

In concert, both bands were given Division I ratings and the Junior High band was awarded first place in Class B while the Elementary band was given second place in Class D.

Dr. Joe Haddon of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls was the concert judge.

Director of Bands Ronnie Wells stated the bands had several solos and ensembles competing in the contests; however, the official list of the ratings and the awards have not arrived from contest officials as yet.

"As soon as they arrive, we will release the results because the students did a real good job," he said.

The sweepstakes in each of the classes was determined by the rating in concert of the band and the total number of points scored by the solos and ensembles, Director Wells explained.

"I believe both of our bands placed second in the figures for the sweepstakes in their classes," he said.

Qualified voters of the Memphis Independent School District will go to the polls Saturday and vote for or against a proposal to provide additional school facilities, improvements, land and equipment.

The proposal calls for the issuance of $950,000 in bonds for the purpose of building a new high school building on a new site, remodeling the present high school building for junior high school use, and building and remodeling of both Travis and Austin Elementary Schools.

Voting will be in the Municipal Building between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. To be qualified voters, citizens must reside in the district, have property rendered on the tax rolls and have paid their current poll tax or are exempt due to age.

Absentee voting closed yesterday with a total of 17 ballots cast indicating the proposal has created much interest.

The Memphis School Board of Trustees called the election Wednesday, April 29, when they acted upon a petition signed by 73 taxpayers of the district asking that a bond election be called.

Listed in the modernization program for the district will be a complete new high school building including class rooms, science laboratory, commercial department, agriculture department, home economics department, administrative office and supply space, auditorium with complete stage, complete gymnasium, band room and facilities for music.

The plan also calls for the present high school building, built in 1923, to be converted into a Junior High School, and it will be remodeled to provide facilities for proper junior high use. The present gymnasium would be improved and used by the junior high pupils.

The present Junior High Building, constructed in 1915, would be demolished to provide additional playground space and eliminate the high cost of maintenance, the school board said.

Also being planned is four additional classrooms to the Travis Elementary School, and boys and girls dressing rooms to the present cafeteria. The dressing rooms would allow space to be used for elementary health, physical education and recreational programs. Also repairs and improvements will be made to the balance of the Travis School.

At Austin Elementary, an all-purpose room would be added to provide a combination cafeteria and space for health, recreation and physical education programs. Some remodeling and improving of the present building is also in-

Education, Our Primary Purpose!

Monday night approximately 100 citizens and taxpayers of the Memphis Independent School District met in the new, modern facilities of the Community Center to go over plans and to discuss the pros and cons of the $950,000 bond issue for the Memphis Independent School District.

Supt. of Schools Shannon Doss emceed the program and in his opening remarks he outlined the event which led up to the board of trustee's calling the bond issue. Voters will go to the polls and decide the fate of the issue Saturday, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m.

We heard the questions and answers, the pros and the cons, and the discussions presented in open public meeting.

The Memphis Democrat has long had a policy, and it is being re-expressed here and now, of not telling local voters how to mark their ballots concerning local issues. We feel that the citizens of our area are well informed individuals who can make sound and honest judgments concerning the needs of our county, city and schools. We know that many who may not have the facts at their fingertips will seek those who can answer their questions honestly and accurately before passing judgement.

The issue is out in the open, its costs and the plans for what the cost will bring has been spelled out for all to see. The school trustees saw that all taxpayers in the district have received a booklet and letter concerning the proposal.

The time has arrived for us to examine our course of action, and look into the future of our area. Education must always play a major role in any future we might foresee, for the children of today will be the leaders and business men of tomorrow. In foreseeing the future, we must realize the many advancements which are and will take place and the far greater demands which will be placed upon our education system.

This newspaper believes that the education of our young people is our primary purpose and the facilities we provide for this education is of major importance.

At the meeting Monday night, there was no question that all those present were in favor of improving the Memphis school system, but some disagreement was seen in the amount of the improvement. One statement brought polite applause from those present. The statement, made by a man who said he did not have children in the school system (and wasn't going to have any) carried the message that he was friends with many of the students and every year he gave seniors gifts. I want to see our schools the best we can afford and I'm willing to pay whatever it takes to make them the best.

There is one piece of advice we would offer our readers. If you are a resident of the district, a qualified voter having paid your poll tax or are exempt due to age, and have property rendered for taxation with the district, go to the polls Saturday and vote your conviction. This is the democratic way.

COMMUNICATIONS Your Tool for Progress

This coin telephone benefits you in TWO ways

First of all, it becomes a "friend in need" when a quick call is necessary... puts a telephone where you are and makes it available 24 hours a day. It is profitable to communities, too, providing new income when we are permitted to locate them on public property. There is an added advantage in some states where it can lower fire insurance rates because of the availability of prompt alarms. So the next time you see a coin telephone, consider it an example of convenience in Communications—Your Tool for Progress. What Other Editors Say

Grow Or Die

America's very small towns are in trouble.

Take the rough figure of 2,500 population (in the West it might be less and in the East more). Below that line most communities are going to fade. Above it many towns will grow and prosper. The economic reason for the American village has vanished.

This is a sad fact of modern America—sad because of the sentimental legend, still strong among us, that the village represented peace and virtue and friendly help as opposed to the coldness and wickedness of the city. Our folklore cherishes the clear-eyed country lad with his yellow button shoes and his wicker suitcase who came into the big town and out-slicked the city slicker. We overlooked the main point, which was that this country boy never went back to the country.

The country town in America has been wrecked by Henry Ford, the paved highway, Hereford bulls and contract harvesting. Henry Ford and the paved road made it possible for the farmer to shop in the county seat if not in the metropolis. The Hereford bull took a lot of marginal land out of crops into cattle. Contract harvesting made possible the corporate farm where the empty houses warp in the sunshine and no man watches the wheat grow. This walking-off-the-land has occurred all over America except in the shadow of the cities where suburbs has turned fields into lawns.

It is ironic that it is the city which is the little town's best friend if the little town is lucky enough to be close to the city. For those prosper best which lie within an hour's drive of the skyscrapers. They have the best chance for industrial payrolls. They are the only ones that benefit from the commuter's taxes.

In Oklahoma, although only 20 per cent of the area is within 50 miles of either Tulsa or Oklahoma City, half of the 80 towns over 2,500 are within these small circles.

Recently the University of Nebraska issued a study showing the "dominant towns" were increasing their market areas, while smaller centers that could not attract distant customers were drying up because the rural population per square mile was going down. A similar report by Kansas State University showed that in 30 years many Kansas county seats that had maintained their market raddi had really lost 20 to 40 percent of their customers.

What does it take to make a good town?

It takes stores where there is an adequate selection. It takes good schools. It takes reasonable medical services. And it takes enough opportunity for good jobs so that the bright kids won't pull out the day after their high school graduation.

Karl Fox of Iowa State University says a large supermarket needs a base of 2,000 families. (Continued on Page 8)

State-Shaped Litter Receptacles Are Erected Here On Major Highway

By BILL COMBS

A definite effort is being made in our state to help ease the trash litter problem on our highways and in our communities and cities. Here in Memphis, residents have seen Texas shaped litter receptacles erected last weekend.

The litter banks, as they are called, have been placed on Highways 287 and 256 in Memphis under sponsorship of local firms: Cafe 287, Western Motel, Parsons-Lockhart Pharmacy, Super Save Market, and Terrace Beauty Salon.

The receptacles are owned by Nabers Artistic Receptacles Co., K. D. Nabers of Memphis, owner, and the owners of locations where they are needed. The sponsors lease outdoor advertising space on the sides of the receptacles in the interest of keeping their communities clean.

The receptacles are made of fiberglass and are expected to have a life of 15 years. They are manufactured by Artistic Receptacles Co. with offices in Amarillo and the plant is in Taylor, Texas.

Citizens are aware that the Texas Highway Department this summer is passing out one-quarter million litter bags to out-of-state visitors. Governor Connally reported recently that the state spends $1.5 million annually cleaning up litter on our highways and in our parks.

The receptacles are placed in easy-to-reach locations and the willingness of citizens to use them will help keep our state clean. Through training, citizens can help in this litter problem, much the same way children are taught to keep their part of the home clean and orderly.

Neatness is a way of life, it causes less accidents; fewer fires, and makes our community a better place in which to live.

"Challenge of Growth" is the theme for Soil Stewardship Week to be observed in Texas and throughout the Nation May 23-30. "The primary purpose of Soil Stewardship Week," says Ernest Rea, Chairman of the Hall County Soil Conservation District Board, "is to remind everyone—city and rural resident alike—of his obligation unto God as a faithful steward of the soil."

Soil Stewardship Week is a time to reflect on the pleasures and benefits man derives from God's life giving gifts of soil and water. Never is there a moment when man is not sharing in some way in the benefits from our land and water resources.

God gave man authority over these material gifts. We are His stewards. In the divine plan, we have much to do with what happens to His gifts. We can destroy them through neglect and misuse, or we can bring about for ourselves manifold blessings from their wise use.

Today more demands are being placed on our land and water resources than ever before. New houses spread out from cities into agricultural land. New industries look for locations where water is plentiful. City folks look for open green places for recreation and relaxation. These demands upon our soil and water resources provide the challenge of growth.

As good stewards we must protect and improve our soil and water to meet the needs of an ever-growing population. The generations that are yet unborn cannot be responsible for what we are commanded to do. Each generation must be trustworthy, honest and faithful stewards over the things God has put in our care.

To accept stewardship brings great fulfillment. It brings a sense of well being when our land and waters are protected and productive, and sharing the job brings the brotherhood of man much closer to God.

The litter bank pictured above is the first of its kind to be placed on U. S. 287 between Amarillo and Ft. Worth, according to K. D. Nabers, distributor in this area for the receptacles. This is the first of three to be placed in Memphis at this time.

Flomot Has 12 Students With Perfect Record

Flomot—Mrs. Edith Timmons, principal of Flomot High School, announced that twelve students had perfect attendance for the 1964-65 school year. This was somewhat less than the fifteen of the previous year, but a very good record when the amount of measles and chicken pox in the community, which accounts for no perfect attendance in the first or second grades. In making the awards, Mr. Barron explained that a student is eligible to receive only one subject matter award each year. In addition, when a student has received an individual award in a particular subject, he is not eligible to receive that award again. For instance, if a freshman boy were to receive the award for the outstanding athlete that year, other boys would receive the award the next three years.

The following students received subject matter awards: Doyce Edwards, science; Clois Shorter, English; Sherrilyn Calvert, mathematics; Sandra Barham, commerce; Donnie Cruse, social studies; and Lynn Crowell, industrial arts.

Students receiving non-subject matter awards were: Glyndis Crowell and Donnie Cruse, American Legion Award for Outstanding Achievement; Donnie Cruse, outstanding boy athlete; Betty Gowin, outstanding girl athlete; Judy Mitchell, Betty Crocker Award; Clois Shorter, valedictorian; and Donnie Cruse, salutatorian. PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS IN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The new look of Ballinger ... shining example of community development

One of the most important factors in community development comes when private businesses engage in building improvement and modernization. The new look of Ballinger is a shining example. Recently, a total of 20 stores, offices, plants and other firms have modernized with new fronts, new interiors, new lighting, and in some cases, complete new buildings. It gives Ballinger, literally, a new look ... pleasant and inviting ... a true PATTERN FOR PROGRESS in community development. Pictured at the left is the recently remodeled interior of The Ledger, Ballinger's thriving newspaper. Such development improves chances for continued economic growth and attraction of new industry, plus making it a better place to live, work and play. Growth conscious towns are invited to contact their local WTU manager for assistance from our area development representatives.

Residents Over-urged To Apply For SS Benefits

Handle residents 65 or over have not yet applied for so-called security benefits were advised to file a claim now even if they are not planning to retire.

Following the above advice, Hal Amarillo social security manager pointed out that local people who applied for benefits by not applying earlier. "We have found," he said, "that the best way to protect their social security benefits is to apply when you actually retire, whether or not he intends working. Even if no benefits are payable right away, it is an advantage in having your claim already approved when you actually retire. Entitlement already established, the benefits can be started immediately when we are notified of retirement date."

He said that according to latest figures there are nearly 10 million Americans who are 65 or over. Of that total, more than 10 million have already established their entitlement to social security monthly benefits, and 1.1 million are insured for benefits but have not yet filed their claims. The latter figure includes the number of insured workers.

President Johnson designated May as National Citizens Month, Geldon called a special invitation for all over-65 residents who do not apply, to visit the social security office or meet with a social security representative in their area and file for benefits.

TEXANS PICK PLYMOUTH PACE SETTER

When Plymouth was picked as the official pace car for the Indianapolis "500," it didn't surprise many Texans. They picked Plymouth as a style and performance pace setter long ago. Annual Giles Picnic Is Slated For May 29

By VIRGINIA BROWDER

A wonderful celebration known as The Giles Picnic held each year on the banks of Old Creek is scheduled this year for May 29. For the first time in ten years' observance, May comes on Sunday. Therefore, the "steering committee" meet in the home of Virginia Browder Tuesday of last week decided to stage the picnic on Saturday of Sunday. Don't forget to change and tell your friends relatives.

With a few exceptions, the plans for an all-day celebration are as follows: Colonel Bob Ayers will keep the ball rolling as master of ceremonies. Fip Broedlove, Pete Landrum, will barbecue the beef even though they have to stand in the rain. Walter will see to it that spasms of music come and go all day long. The Hall County Singers will be there for "the hymn of the day", and, we hope, there will be square dancing on the concrete slab Saturday night.

O. Carriers Distribute Survey Cards

Postmaster Gene Lindsey requests rural patrons of the Memphis Post Office to be on the alert for June Livestock Survey cards. Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

USDA bases livestock and survey estimates on replies to this survey," Mr. Lindsey explains. It is important for everyone to get a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, the area's livestock and poultry holdings.

Carriers assisting with the survey are: T. O. Pounds, Route 1; S. Johnsey, Route 2. Survey cards will be forwarded to Mary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician, in Austin. After analyzing these cards, statisticians are able to estimate the state's milk production, and pig crops, lamb and wool crops, and the number of hen

Mayor of Giles by Blackie Johnson. Lowell Houston has acquired a new title, "The Country Squire." Since his defeat, too, by a younger man, Lowell thinks we should have a younger sheriff. Therefore, there is another campaign raging in these parts. Dave Browder has come out against Walter Johnson for Sheriff of Giles. Bob Ayers is Walter's campaign manager and Lowell Houston is promoting Dave's cause. At present, Dave is "constable." Sheriff Johnson and Deputy Gerald Knight will endeavor to maintain law and order on both sides of the creek during the celebration. However, they will not interfere in any way with the fun and foolishness, fellowship and feasting for which the Giles Picnic has become famous. If you have been to the Giles Picnic before you're sure to come this year. If you have not been to the festivities under the cottonwoods, come to our tenth celebration and find out what you've been missing. Put your tubs out before you come as it always rains, but the picnic grounds are sandy. So, we don our slickers and let it rain. Y'all come and join in the fun!

ROBERT MADDOX

Robert Maddox Is Area I FFA Secretary

Robert Maddox, a senior of Memphis High School, recently was elected FFA Area I Secretary at the Area Convention held in Amarillo.

He delivered the principal address to the Memphis Chapter at their picnic recently in which he encouraged the boys to accept responsibilities in FFA and compete in as many projects as they could. "It is rewarding to me as I have served in the many offices and worked with the boys from all over," he told the group. The area secretary post is just one of the many Maddox has served in FFA. He was Greenhand vice-president, chapter president, chapter sentinel, and chapter vice-president. Greenbelt District treasurer two years. He has attended, district and state conventions. Maddox has been awarded the outstanding Greenhand award, outstanding agriculture student at MHS, Star Chapter Farmer Award for two years and Lone Star Farmer Degree. Comments

The latest to go was Frenchy McCormick—this was where she spent the remaining years of her life, living among the ghosts of the men who had drunk at her husband's bar, had gambled at the tables where she dealt monte. When she died, old Tascosa died with her.

It is fitting to say the name of Tascosa represents the history of our great state. Rough and tough men had to be pioneers in the making of Texas, and as old Tascosa died in travail, a new Tascosa is known as "Youth's Reclamation Project."

In my Comments last week, I touched on Memory. So, let's look back on some memories of sweetheart days, as a writer wrote several years ago:

"A wagonload of youngsters went to a country home. When we reached the home, our horses were cared for and we went into the home, a groaning table awaited us—what a delightful feast. How skillfully our sweethearts parried the thrusts of love's eyes, as they sat opposite us at table, but could not conceal the blush of love and purity that rested on those sweet, dimpled, virtuous cheeks that the lips of man had never profaned. After refreshments, the dance opened with the old Virginia Reel, then followed by those graceful figures, the cotillon and quadrille. With flushed cheek, piercing bright eyes, peace, joy and love reigning in their young hearts, how skillfully and gracefully they responded to the step and time of the music until the "wee small" hours, and our hostess announced the time to retire. With reluctance we bade them good night, wishing them pleasant dreams. . . ."

"I was sitting by a grate fire, burned down to one small fading glow, while over the gray mountain top the evening star was leading up to the night. My wife was opposite on the hearthstone, those tapering fingers casting stitch after stitch over the bright knitting needles, preparing a Christmas present for some one in need. The flight of years had silvered the once beautiful brown locks, the dimple in the cheeks had faded, but the brilliant eyes retained the spirit of youth, as if it were but yesterday we participated in that enjoyable ride. About— Civil Defense

By W. B. Hooser
Hall County Agent

Q. What is Rural Civil Defense?
A. It is a program of education and preparation for the survival of people and livestock, protection of food, feed and water and plans to resume production in case of natural disaster or enemy attack in all areas of 10,000 or less people.

Q. What chance do I have to survive an enemy nuclear attack?
A. Research indicates that at least 90 per cent of the people outside the bomb blast area would survive if they make plans and preparations using the information and knowledge now available.

Q. Is there any danger in rural areas from a possible enemy attack?
A. Yes. Everybody everywhere is in danger of radiation from nuclear fallout. Rural areas would probably not be targets, but radio-the mantle, that had ticked off the days, months, and years of the past, continued its timeless efforts in recording history.

Q. What is radioactive fallout?
A. Radioactive material produced by a nuclear explosion that fall to the earth from the upper air is called fallout. When a bomb explodes close to the earth large quantities of soil and other materials are drawn up into the mushroom cloud and become radioactive. As the radioactive cloud carrying these particles is moved by the altitude winds, the particles fall back to earth and constitute fallout.

Q. What happens when a nuclear bomb explodes?
A. We are all familiar with the mushroom cloud that follows an atomic explosion. We also know that what goes up must come down. This is known as fallout. There are four main parts of a nuclear explosion; blast, heat, initial radiation, and residual radiation.

Q. What areas of Texas are safe from atomic fallout?
A. None. Fallout from a nuclear explosion, accidental or enemy, could be dangerous in any area of Texas from El Paso to the Louisiana border and from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley.

Q. What determines the fallout area?
A. There is no simple answer to this question because of the many variables such as size of weapon, materials used, wind and weather conditions, height of explosion, terrain, etc.

I would like to express many thanks to friends and neighbors for their flowers, cards and visits and other acts of kindness during my stay in the hospital following my accident.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

THE PAPERWORK JUNGLE

Federal agencies require and request more than one billion reports a year from business, industry, and the public. We Americans each year fill out the equivalent of more than five Government forms for every man, woman, and child in the country. One estimate of total cost—including the time required to make the reports—is $20 billion.

Recently a House subcommittee issued a summary of its investigation into the problem, and it is expected that corrective action will result.

Some reports are mandatory. The income tax returns to the Internal Revenue Service are perhaps the best-known examples of mandatory returns. Many reports to the Government are voluntary, however, and a large segment of the public apparently is unaware that a substantial volume of Federal reports and paperwork is neither specifically authorized by statute nor specifically funded in any appropriation act of the Congress. The fact is that aside from the tax-collecting and regulatory programs there are relatively few mandatory reporting systems.

Bureaucrats in the departments and agencies have taken few positive steps to clarify the voluntary status of their reports. In some cases, the subcommittee found, administrators have used deceptive language in the wording of questionnaires with the apparent intention of misleading the public into believing that a voluntary report is required by law. A statement such as this may appear on a form: "Under authority of Public Law _____, Section _____, we are requesting you to supply the following information." Most persons, I'd think, would interpret that statement to mean that Congress specifically authorized the survey. However, the citation of law may refer to nothing more than a continuing general authority granted by Congress for an agency to inquire into, for example, "the extent of illness and disability" of the U. S. population.

The public has a two-fold stake in Government paperwork—as taxpayers, whose tax dollars go to support agency programs which generate the need, real or imagined, for data called for in the reports; and, second, as respondents furnishing the information to the Government. While the costs to the Government, and thus to the taxpayers, can be estimated with some accuracy, it is difficult to assess the total impact through unnecessary man-hours of work and worry imposed upon our people. Some Federal administrators seem to have little regard for the costs, direct and indirect, to the public. The Internal Revenue Service told the subcommittee that the average time necessary for completing the "Individual Income Tax" form—the long Form 1040—was 20 minutes. The time required is more like 20 hours, as the IRS people must know. It would not be possible for an expert typist to copy some Form 1040's in 20 minutes, and that time would not include the hours necessary to assemble the needed data, do the arithmetic, and read and digest the complex tax regulations in an effort to avoid overpayment. Despite agency claims to the contrary, it was the conclusion of the investigating subcommittee that the IRS Form 1040 alone costs the public over $1 billion each year to complete, averaging man-hour costs between hired accountants and taxpayers.

One Bureau of Customs form for entry and clearance of vessels at U. S. ports require that merchant ships record the number of guns they mount. This form has undergone little change over the years, pointing up what is true of many Government forms: They are based on outdated or outmoded laws. The requirement that merchant ships report on guns they mount dates back to 1790. No change has been made to simplify the reporting forms—and so the paperwork mounts.

For a men's clothing store to produce $7,000 net profit a year it needs 2,680 customers. A hardware store needs 6,270. The young doctor of today is not content with an office over the drugstore. He wants to work in a clinic.

Dr. James Conant claims a first class high school ought to have 100 students in the graduating class. That requires a population base of 6,720 persons. Towns smaller than this need a consolidate school covering a wide land area.

The tragedy of the small town is that when it starts to slip forces are set in motion that cause it to slip faster. The more kids who leave town the older the population average grows and the less the town is inclined to spend on schools or civic improvements. Lack of these things makes it difficult to attract industrial payrolls, and this lack causes more kids to leave.

Dwight Nesmith stated in the U. S. Department of Agriculture Yearbook for 1963 that there may not be much that can be done for the rural village far removed from a city, but that small and medium-sized towns can go either way. They don't have the magnetic power of mass which, in an urbanizing nation, practically guarantees farther growth for all cities now above 50,000. But they have a future if they work for it.

With fewer people tied to the land the small city cannot count so much on captive customers. It must make itself attractive enough to bring in industrial and business payrolls, to lure the retired, to develop tourist income where the surroundings are favorable. It needs public officials who can hit the city hall spittoons, or, better yet, not require them. It needs schools remarkable for something beside the bands.

All this takes devotion. And—worst of all—taxes. But the little cities all over America, whether they know it or not, are in a desperate fight for life. For the centripetal forces drawing Americans into urban areas are strong and growing. The good little city can buck these forces. It's great to live in a town where you know the mayor and a picnic is not a safari.

Walters Protests Change In Skip-Row Planting Of Cotton

Walters' Note: Below is the text of the speech which Congressman Walter Rogers delivered before the U. S. House of Representatives last Monday when he protested the proposed change in skip-row cotton planting rules.)

Thousands of American cotton farmers will suffer a severe, and in some cases disastrous, economic loss if the Department of Agriculture places in effect its proposed change affecting cotton planting patterns. The change not only would result in a net income to cotton farmers, but would bring the end of sound conservation practices followed by a generation of cotton farmers, as well as in many other areas of the South.

In addition, the new rule would force current farming practices to be replaced by grain sorghum production in our Panhandle-Plains area. It would serve to keep grain sorghum in check, and would destroy the cotton farmers have in the current farm policy.

It is told that one of the objectives of current Agriculture Department policy is to provide parity for efficient farmers to earn parity of income. The Department seeks parity for all rural people, in new opportunity for small farmers. I find it impossible to believe these announced goals of the Department's proposed change affecting cotton when it is in skip-row patterns.

It is told that USDA officials have increased yields in skip-row plantings have, in words of a Department release, "contributed substantially to the increase in cotton production." The Department does not state the obvious truth that other modern-day farming practices — including irrigation, improved fertilizers, and insecticides—also contribute to the increased productivity of the American cotton grower. But only skip-row planting practices are the targets of the rule-making authority the Department of Agriculture seeks to exercise.

What is proposed in the rule is a fundamental change in farming practices followed by thousands of farmers. For more than 30 years, since long before the Government first established a cotton program, planting cotton by skip-row has been an established practice in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains, as well as other areas.

Skip-row planting has been a good and common practice in our part of the country because it is a practice that makes the best use of available moisture. The roots of the cotton plants are able to reach out to benefit from the moisture in adjacent skipped rows.

It is a good and common farming practice because it permits sunlight to reach the sides of the plants, cutting down on boll rot and improving the quality of the fiber.

It is a good and common practice because it enables our farmers to prevent damaging wind erosion, which threatens in late winter and early spring. Farmers are able to plant rows of grain sorghum in the skipped rows and thus check the wind by rows of standing sorghum stalks. This is a practice strongly endorsed by the soil conservation service.

It is a good and common practice because it permits so-called "interplanting," by which a farmer on irrigated land may plant alternate four-row strips of cotton and grain sorghum to the benefit of the quality of both crops. Estimates are that this practice adds from $6 to $12 per bale in the quality of cotton lint and seed. The sorghum strips, by holding the heat, permit the cotton to mature earlier at higher grade.

It has been tied closely to the Government grain sorghum program, enabling the farmer to count as diverted acres under the grain sorghum program the fallow four-row strips between four cotton rows. The effect of the proposed new rule, with its system of measurement, would force present four-row skip-row patterns into an impossible pattern of four rows of cotton and five of fallow—in order for the fallow to count as diverted grain sorghum land. Present four-row and eight-row farm equipment is obviously not built to accommodate such a scheme. Grain people are convinced that the effect of the skip-row proposal would be to encourage increased production of grain sorghum by farmers who now work that crop in conjunction with cotton.

The Department must give extremely careful consideration to this potential consequence.

The skip-row rule constitutes another damaging blow to an already depressed segment of American agriculture. Cotton supports have declined in three years to bring a reduction, in effect, of 30 to 40 percent of cotton farmers' net income after production expenses. The so-called cost-price squeeze has a very real meaning for the American cotton farmer, who now must face one more threat to his survival. The new rules are also causing considerable consternation, as they should, in local communities whose economies are dependent upon the fate of cotton farmers. The Commissioners Court of Childress County, Texas, for example, estimates that the imposition of the proposed rules would result in a $1 million drop in income within the county.

By proposing rules such as this one, the Agriculture Department is seeking to attain the goal of a workable balance between supply and demand at the expense of thousands upon thousands of bankrupt cotton farmers and depressed economies in the communities which have served them. The full impact of trying to attain this balance is being visited upon that segment least able to absorb it.

In formulating the new rules, the Department of Agriculture is following a practice I find altogether too common in the departments and agencies of our Government. Instead of seeking a correction of what are viewed as problems by coming to the Congress to ask for new legislation, the departments seek first—in too many instances—to exercise their authority to make rules and regulations. They, in effect, are legislating, and by doing so are invading the ground granted to Congress by the Constitution. When rules are imposed, citizens by the millions are affected by regulations which their duly elected representatives had absolutely no part in formulating. In our system of government, rule-making authority should not be used to circumvent the expressed will of the Congress or to avoid the more time-consuming process of enacting legislation. When rule-making authority is abused, the people can justifiably complain of rule by fiat, of power improperly exercised by unfeeling bureaucratic administrators. But action by the Congress, through legislation enacted into law, has the great strength of having been supported by majorities of representatives elected by the people.

In seeking the objective claimed for the proposed skip-row rule change, the Department has the alternative of coming to Congress for new cotton program legislation. The Department has as yet offered no proposals to the Congress affecting cotton, but when it does so it could very well incorporate into its request provisions that would make unnecessary any change in the skip-row planting rules.

The Department could, for example, make a strong case before the Congress for increasing the per-pound support payment on the domestic allotment for each farm, now placed at 4.35 cents per pound, to further encourage the voluntary cut-back of cotton production. I am convinced that an increase of a cent a pound or more in this phase of the cotton program would result in a substantially higher degree of grower participation. This would have the effect of lowering Government cotton stocks, thereby cutting the cost of the cotton program.

I am convinced also that progress can be made, under renewed and more aggressive effort by the Department, to improve the cotton export picture.

All aspects of the matter reserve thorough and careful review, not only in the Department but also in the Congress. In this connection, I have joined with the distinguished chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, the Honorable George H. Mahon of Texas, to ask that the House Committee on Agriculture hold a public hearing to permit cotton growers to appear and protest the proposed action of the Department of Agriculture. With Congressman Mahon, I would join growers in appearing before the committee.

If the Department should follow through with the skip-row proposal and place the rule in effect,

Rural Accidents Total 8 During April In County

There were eight rural accidents in Hall County during the month of April, according to Sergeant D. R. Dowdy, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in eight persons injured and an estimated property damage of $6,795.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county for the first four months of 1965 shows a total of 20 accidents resulting in no persons killed, 23 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $20,480.00.

In effect, Congress must act to correct the situation. The proposed rule is punitive, defies sound agricultural practices, would destroy morale and confidence among farmers and thousands of our farm families.

Principals Are Re-Elected At Flomot School

FLOMOT—On May 10, the Flomot Board of Education took cognizance of the excellent work done by the school principals; Mrs. Edith Timmons, high school, and Mrs. Lessie Pope, elementary, by re-electing them for the 1965-66 school year.

Mrs. Timmons is completing her third year in the Flomot School System, and her first year as high school principal. Supt. Barron reports that Mrs. Timmons has done a wonderful job of record keeping and taking care of the daily problems of running the Flomot High School.

Mrs. Lessie Pope has given many of excellent service to the Flomot Elementary School and the community as a whole. Every school system is heavily indebted to those devoted and loyal teachers who serve long periods of time in one system. It is through these teachers and other school employees of long service that makes it possible for school superintendents to follow through in spite of frequent changes in school administrations.

Mrs. Estelle Barber spent the weekend in Albuquerque, N. M., with Mrs. Douglas Barber and children.

Delphian Club Closes Year With Dinner Party; Installation Service

The Delphian Club closed its year Tuesday, May 18, with a gala dinner party at the Community Building with Mrs. A. Anisman as hostess. The U-shaped tables were covered with linen cloths. The head table held a beautiful arrangement of gladiolus, iris, pom-pom mums, flanked by garlands of ivy. The smaller tables held roses, honeysuckle and ivy. All the flowers were in the club colors of pink and white.

Routine business was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. C. Hodges.

Mrs. Gloria Wilson introduced the installation program, using the Prospectus, Telescope—to examine the future in depth. She then read the quotation, "The present is great with the future."

Mrs. F. A. Finch brought a very inspiring meditation, Clear Vision, using Proverbs 29:18, "Where there is no vision, the people perish." She stressed the necessity for the far look—the look that takes in the things of eternity. Too often we keep our eyes on the road and not on the beautiful distances, like the man who looked only downward, seeing only the muck of the road and missing the rainbow. Or like the busy housewife who went to an oculist for an eye trouble, only to be told to look at a beautiful landscape near her home for twenty minutes each day. To her surprise, the little cares fell away and seemed of little importance as she studied the beauty and the changing colors of nature. She realized that all she needed was the rest of the far look.

New officers were installed in an impressive installation service, "Let Your Light Shine," directed by Mrs. C. C. Hodges. Each outgoing officer presented the incoming one with a lighted candle and spoke of the respective duties of that office.

Incoming president, Mrs. Jo Bob Browning, received the Light of Leadership, from Mrs. C. C. Hodges, outgoing president; first vice president, Mrs. Rayford Hutcherson, the Light of Knowledge, from Mrs. Gloria Wilson; second vice president, Mrs. J. S. McMurry, from Mrs. R. C. Clements, the Light of Love, from

Oliver Circle Has Installation Service; Enjoys Salad Supper

The Oliver Circle of the Methodist WSCS met in the church annex Monday, May 17, with Mrs. John Binkley and Mrs. Van Howard serving as hostesses.

A candlelight pledge service and installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. D. F. Miller with Mrs. Loyd Becker, Larry McQueen, Bill Whitten, Van Howard, Shannon Doss and Bob Fowler giving the six resolutions that form the pledge for the year 1965-66.

Officers installed were Mrs. Harold Smith, leader; Mrs. Johnny Harrell, program chairman; Miss Nell Messer, secretary; Mrs. Cleve Evans, treasurer; and Mrs. D. F. Miller, reporter.

During the business session, Mrs. Bob Fowler read a poem that she had written in honor of the past leader, Mrs. Bob Hutcherson. She then presented a gift to Mrs. Hutcherson from the members of the Circle.

The new leader, Mrs. Smith, then appointed a telephone committee consisting of Mrs. Jack

Mrs. Rayford Hutcherson; recording secretary, Mrs. Neal Hindman; the Light of Recording, from Mrs. Jo Bob Browning; treasurer, Mrs. Carol Gardenhire, the Light of Accuracy, from Miss Maud Milam; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bill Lockhart, the Light of Expression, from Mrs. Neal Hindman; parliamentarian, Mrs. Mildred Stephens, the Light of Order, from Mrs. W. Finch, the Light of Recognition, from Mrs. Henry Hays; the Board of Directors, Mrs. Hodges, Browning, Hindman, Gardenhire, McKown, Hays, Dickey and Morris, the Light of Direction, from Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Mrs. Rayford Hutcherson gave a fitting tribute to the outgoing president, Mrs. Hodges, and presented her with a gift from the club.

A bountiful dinner of fried chicken and salads was served to Mrs. Roddy Rice, Gaylen Ariola, Mildred Stephens, J. L. Barnes, Clyde Smith, J. W. Stokes, Sim Reeves, Jack Boone, Jo Bob Browning, C. C. Auction Sale Nets $150.00 For Woman's Forum

Approximately $150.00 was raised in the two auction sales held recently by the Woman's Forum, Virginia Browder announced this week.

"We want to thank all those who contributed sale items and those who attended the sale," Mrs. Browder stated.

The Forum wants to especially thank Hollis Boren for the use of his building, Jack Norman for free electricity and light globes, Mrs. Carl Wood for lettering the window signs.

And, of course, without the able assistance of Bob Ayers, who cried the auction, the Forum could not have staged the sale, Mrs. Browder stated. "We do appreciate his help and his sale of straw hats to Tom Posey and Bill Leslie, and the yo-yo hoe to Hollis Boren," she concluded.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By BILL LOCKHART

Louis Pasteur, a French schoolmaster, must be considered one of the greatest figures in the history of medicine. Although not a medical man, Pasteur's effect on medicine reached out in all directions, opening great new vistas of research and leading to the establishment of the highly important field of bacteriology.

Although a few probing minds had long contended that many illnesses were due to infections, it remained for Pasteur to supply definite evidence that the germ-theory of disease was accurate.

For combating disease, prescriptions are becoming increasingly important. For your prescription needs and medical supplies, rely on PARSONS-LOCKHART PHARMACY, 115 South 6th Street, Phone: 259-3541. Crutches and canes for rent or sale. . . Cosmetics . . . Candies . . . A Walgreen Agency Drug Store.

Community Improvement Prizes Listed By Club

Plans for the 1913 Study Club Community Improvement program are shaping up and committees are working diligently to get information to every citizen of Memphis. Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard and Mrs. Mack Tarver, who are heading the planning committee, announced this week.

All yards and grounds in Memphis will be judged, they stated. Judging will be based on outside appearance of houses, yards, gardens and alleys.

Three prizes will be awarded: $25.00 for first place; $15.00 for second place and $10.00 for third place.

Decisions for contest winners will be based on how much the home dweller does with what he had to do with so that a modest home could win first as easily as a larger home with more space. Judges for the contest will be selected soon.

Ribbons will be awarded for honorable mention homes and for best kept alleys, and a commendatation for the best kept block in the city.

Members of the 1913 Study Club have expressed the hope that every citizen will enter into the beautification project to make Memphis a cleaner and more beautiful place to live.

Seed and Plant Exchange

The Memphis Garden Club is helping to sponsor the exchange of plants and seed. Persons who have plants or seeds to give away or those who would like to have plants or seeds to plant, should contact Mrs. G. D. Stephens, 721 South 5th Street, phone 259-2614.

"Later in the summer we expect to have a clean-up campaign and the City of Memphis will help to pick up trash from the alleys," Mrs. Kinard stated.

Committee members from the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce community improvement committee will work with the 1913 Study Club members to spearhead the beautification drive, Mrs. Kinard stated.

"Let's clean-up, paint-up, trim-up and tidy up the entire city," committee members stated. "We hope every citizen will make this his or her slogan this summer: 'We Belong to the Community Improvement Program—Do You?'"

The city has been divided into six areas as follows:

Group One: all area east of Boykin Drive and Highway 287 including Morningside. Mrs. M. G. Tarver, Mrs. Paul Montgomery, Mrs. Lacy Montgomery, Virginia Browder and O. R. Saye, chairman of C. of C. community committee.

Group Two: west of Highway 287 to 6th Street and all area south and north to Boykin Drive. Mrs. Guy Smith, Mrs. T. J. Dunbar, Mrs. Herschel Combs, Mrs. O. L. Helm and A. E. Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce committee.

Group Three: From 6th Street to Cleveland, all area south and west including Memphis Heights, Mrs. L. G. DeBerry, Mrs. F. W.

Foxhall, Mrs. Lewis Foxhall, Mrs. Joe Montgomery, Mrs. R. E. Roark, and Dr. H. R. Stevenson of the C. of C. committee.

Group Four: From 6th Street and Cleveland west to 13th, all area north to Boykin Drive, Mrs. T. M. Harrison, Mrs. Bray Cook, Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard, Mrs. Richard Avery, and W. E. Leslie of the C. of C. committee.

Group Five: From 13th to Cleveland, north to Grundy, all area west, Mrs. W. C. Davis, Mrs. R. S. Greene, Mrs. Oren Jones, Mrs. Ed Hutcherson, and J. D. Tuck of the C. of C. committee.

Group Six: From Grundy, all area west and north to Highway 287, Mrs. Bob Hutcherson, Mrs. George Ferris, Mrs. Gayle Greene, Mrs. Mills Roberts, and Lester Campbell, C. of C. committee member.

In addition Don Carmen of the Chamber of Commerce committee and Gene Hamill of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be responsible for the alleys around the square.

These committees will select block captains for every block in Memphis, and these names will be published as soon as the list is compiled.

cluded. The present cafeteria at Austin was constructed from a converted Army barracks.

The school board reported the present Morningside Elementary School will be closed after the 1965-66 school year, and the additional space is needed to take care of these students in the elementary system.

The board listed the following costs of the modernization program: new high school, plus fees, $646,187; remodel present high school and gymnasium for junior high, $84,505; addition to and remodeling of Travis, $97,587; new cafeteria and all-purpose room, plus remodeling Austin, $47,475; equipment, land, paving, extending utilities, drives, landscaping and fencing, $74,246; totaling $950,000.

The school board stated that it is estimated that an increase in school taxes of approximately 35 per cent would be needed to finance these additional school improvement bonds.

The board has advised that it is necessary to increase taxes approximately 10 per cent for maintenance and operation of the school whether there is a bond issue or not.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Reynolds and Margaret of Pittsburg, Tex., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ashford and Peggy Tuesday. Mr. Reynolds returned to Pittsburg and Mrs. Reynolds remained for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Ashford.

Rogers Introduces Bill To Prohibit Cuban Passports

Congressman Walter Rogers yesterday introduced a bill to prohibit the issuance of U. S. passports for travel in Cuba.

Congressman Rogers' bill would cement by act of Congress the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court upholding the right of the Secretary of State to refuse to grant passports for travel in Cuba.

Under the provisions of the Rogers bill, the President would have the authority to waive the provisions of the act "with respect to persons whose travel to or in Cuba is deemed by him to be in the best interests of the United States."

Congressman Rogers said the legislation is aimed at "further isolating Communist Cuba from the free nations of the Western Hemisphere and to prevent Cuba from using travelers to export subversion and revolution."

Also pending before the Congress is a bill introduced by Congressman Rogers to close U. S. seaports to ships engaged in trade or commerce with Cuba.
