Claude's

The July 4th came on Sunday and many people stayed at home. Those who attended church services that morning didn't have to go elsewhere to hear Freedom, Independence, and Americanism. These sermons should cause the people to think more about the early-day folks who fought and died for independence of the new country they established and which many of us do appreciate—the Declaration of Independence.

The Fourth of July holiday had four days in which the people of America had plenty of time in which to visit, travel, stay at home, or fish—and in which 557 persons were killed on the highways. The National Safety Council called it a "heinous mutilation". Others who lost their lives in other ways are 165 drowned, 6 train crashes, 3 in fireworks, and 81 miscellaneous—total 812.

While the national congress is in session, the Commentor receives a copy of the Congressional Record, which records the proceedings of our national Congress. Everything said officially in the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives in Washington—from the invocation to the appendix—if you are interested in reading these world-shaking remarks in speeches, he or she may obtain our copy by coming by the Comment office. . . . Interesting reading . . . as proven by last issue which is dated July 1, 1965, and was received Saturday (as this is written early in week). More people should read the Congressional Record. It tells what is happening in Washington and much of it affects our lives. Come by any time—I'll try to dig up the copy you want.

Crops are late but hopes are high. Heard about showers southeast of us although weatherman predicted unusually low humidity over weekend. Late plantings of cotton has come up in fine shape. If no more floods, this late cotton will grow off in grand style . . . as usual in Hall County. The skip-row planting is interesting to watch up to planting time on dryland.

The 75th Anniversary Jubilee of Hall County is to be held just a short time of two and a half months. A lot has been done toward doing things to make home folks and visitors welcome the third Sunday in September and Saturday before. . . . Recently, a suggestion was printed in this column that the seats in City Park need paint before the September Jubilee takes place. This should be done soon—if we keep our promise in 1960 to Tim and Sara Ethel Paulsel of Fort Worth they furnished the material and Memphisians promised to build the seats and paint same. . . .

Another thing being done by the citizens, or most of them, is beautifying the city. The past weekend instead of going visiting or picnicking, many could be seen cleaning up around their own homes. There are a few places where there is no house or no one living therein. Such places, if not cleaned up, may keep a whole block from becoming a winner in the Beauty Contest. Such places will need action in some way. And, some old blocks may become winners in the final outcome in September.

Pam Williams of Turkey and Julie Rapp of Estelline were speakers at Memphis Rotary Club Tuesday. They are able speakers, and the Rotarians enjoyed their trip to Washington, D. C. recently. Both declared that all Americans (Continued on Page 10)

BUMPER STICKERS—Tomie M. Potts, president of the Hall County Picnic Assn., reported this week that bumper stickers are available at Potts-Tucker Used Cars office just off Boykin on South 5th St. He even offered to put them on the bumpers of cars of those coming by for them. Potts urges citizens who have the stickers to put them on their vehicles to advertise the celebration. The stickers, as pictured above on this editor's car, are red letters on blue background.

Turkey School Board Calls Tax Election

The election is being called to determine if the Turkey School Board shall have the authority to levy and collect a tax not to exceed $1.50 per $100 valuation, for the maintenance of the Turkey Schools.

Senate Bill 116 allows a school district to levy a tax not to exceed $1.50 per $100 valuation for maintenance purposes when approved by the voters.

The increase in rate is necessary to finance the Turkey School due to increase in teachers salaries voted by the legislature, increase operation cost, and to finance some needed repairs, the school board reported.

The election will be held in the

75th Year One-Half Gone

Time waits for no man and it certainly has not been waiting for the citizens of Hall County the past six months. It became evident to us this week that the 75th year of the foundation of Hall County, 1965, is past the half-way mark.

And so far, 1965 has proved to be a wonderful year for the celebration. Most of our farmers have had adequate or more than adequate moisture to bring on bountiful crops. The weather has turned hot which is what most cotton farmers want, as long as the wind doesn't blow too hard.

Work toward the celebration is progressing. One of the best programs established in Memphis is the Home Beautification Program, instigated by the 1913 Study Club in cooperation with the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, City of Memphis, and Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce.

This program, along with many others, will climax in September which has been set aside as the celebration month. The celebration will end with the Hall County Picnic on Sept. 19.

But before any celebration can be successful, the hosts must "get their house in order", and that is why we feel the home beautification program is so important. But for the program to really be a success, it will take a lot of work on the part of property owners, tenants, and city officials.

Most are aware that the inspection by the judges has already been made to find out what the alleys, lots, and lawns looked like when the program started. Judging will be made on the improvements seen in September.

The officials of the beautification program have received several complaints since the project began and these should be passed on to residents. One is the weeds growing on vacant lots around town. Being the responsibility of the lot owners, these create many problems to nearby residents. Secondly, some residents have not taken the time to clean up their alleys, or even purchase trash barrels, but have been using their neighbors barrels. Naturally, neighbors are reluctant to complain, in some instances, concerning these situations.

It has also been announced that citizens can expect a week-long cleanup drive a little later this summer.

The long list of committees have been announced and work is progressing for the celebration on many fronts. This week, bumper stickers advertising the celebration have begun to appear on the cars. Tommie M. Potts, chairman of the celebration, has these stickers and has offered to put them on the cars of those wanting them if they will come by his place.

Within the next few weeks, souvenir coins about the size of a half-dollar will go on sale at approximately 50 cents each to those wanting them. The number is naturally limited, so those wanting them should make plans to make the purchase as soon as they go on sale.

Members of the entertainment committee for the celebration has decided to make public the program for the anniversary as it is lined up so many stories are in the making for the next several issues.

For our celebration to be all that it should be and one citizens and guests can remember for 25 years to come, it will take a lot of cooperation and work on our part. Now is the time to get our house in order, cleaning up the eyesores, fixing up our town and county so we can be truly proud of our heritage.

Use Of Paper Increases

The American Paper Institute this week reported that new records are being set for the sixth straight year in the production of pulp, paper and paperboard. To the average person this means the newspaper, magazine of the cardboard box. Total sales of the industry was $14.5 billion in 1964.

Since the use of paper is the prime ingredient of newspapers and commercial printers, it is natural that we keep up with all the facets of the industry, and continue to use improved products. But the average person might ask, "So what?" To answer this question, we return to the latest report and find that the average per capita use of paper and paper products now stands at 479 pounds. That's a lot of paper used by each individual. This compares with Canada at 302 pounds, and the United Kingdom, 230 pounds. Russia and her satellite nations consume a total of 46 pounds. China uses an estimated 6 pounds per person.

A recent survey revealed that 41,300,000 tons of paper and paperboard was produced in the U. S.; add to this the 6,400,000 tons imported (mostly newsprint) minus the 1,700,000 tons exported, which brought total consumption in the U. S. to a record breaking 46,000,000 tons.

A check with the records of The Democrat revealed that last year this newspaper consumed over 32,000 pounds of newsprint alone. In addition several thousand pounds were used in the production of commercial printing.

The Democrat, over the past several years, especially since 1960, has been using more and more newsprint; because of a steady increase in circulation. The circulation has climbed from the 1900's in 1958 to the 2500's today.

What Other Editors Say

Talking About You

Did you ever have the experience of overhearing somebody talking about you?

It is sometimes a shocking experience to overhear a conversation, quite unintentional of course, where others are talking about you and some of the things they are saying are not flattering.

Most people have this experience at one time or another. Sometimes it is shocking. Usually such an experience is stimulating because other people just do not carry the same opinion of you that you do.

This is one of the lessons we must learn as we grow up. People talk about us just as we talk about them. No one is exempt or immune. And no one should be shocked or hurt to overhear it.

Of course, this sort of adult attitude is hard to achieve when people are saying unkind or untrue or malicious things about you. We have had our share of this kind of talk, because in any community a newspaper editor is cussed and discussed about as much as anybody, unless it be a public official.

It takes a lot of growing up to finally realize that what we cannot see in ourselves is painfully apparent to the outside observer. What we are vain about amuses others, and what we are ashamed of has no hiding place.

All of us have our soft spots, our conceits and distortions, our mannerisms and our ineptitudes. Most of us can't see these things, but they are there.

It takes a real Christian to abide by Jesus' saying: "Judge not lest ye be judged," to paraphrase the familiar saying. We are forced to judge people in a dozen different ways every day. And if ye judge things and situations, we also judge people.

We talk about people and the money they make and the money they spend. We talk about their mannerisms, about their peculiarities, about their friends.

And it is only human nature to talk about people in a way that makes us feel bigger and smarter and stronger. The vast generality of mankind gets nourishing from the defects of others—by pointing to these defects, our own are overlooked.

So one of the lessons that we must learn is that sometimes even your best friends may not tell you—but they will certainly tell each other about you. As you will each of them about the other.

It is no accident that what we overhear about ourselves is rarely flattering. That is the ultimate penalty for eavesdropping. We

By W. B. Hooser

Q. Why should I prepare and stock my own shelter when the government is marking and stocking public shelters?

A. For many reasons, public shelters are not available or will not meet the needs of many of our people. In a large number of our Texas counties there are no buildings that meet the specifications for government shelters and government stocking. In these areas and in all rural areas, families or groups of families need to develop their own shelter. Even in urban areas more family shelters are badly needed for adequate protection.

Q. Our local veterans auxiliary would like to have a Medical Self-Help training course. How do we go about it?

A. First, get the facts about the Medical Self-Care program from the local Health, Civil Defense, or Extension office. The Medical Self-Care program must be well organized in order to be effective. Any good leader in your organization can take this responsibility. Usually it is done under the guidance or leadership of Health or Civil Defense. Your county Extension office is experienced in organizing such a group and can help you locate a capable instructor.

Q. Should fallout protection be included in the design of new houses and barns?

A. Definitely. It will be easy to develop dual purpose shelters at little extra cost with proper planning for new construction.

Q. Are new school designs available with fallout protection included?

A. Yes, the Department of Defense, in 1962, requested that the American Institute of Architects conduct a National School Fallout Shelter Design Competition. Twenty-seven designs received claud?

Q. What emergency preparations has our food industry made?

A. Far too little, but a strong movement is now underway by both the USDA agencies and the Office of Civil Defense to develop adequate food industry emergency preparations. An important new publication has been released. This is the "Guide to Civil Defense Management in the Food Industry" Agriculture Handbook No. 254. This publication will help the food industry prepare.

approach for conditioning people against the hazards of all disasters. It makes as much sense in everyday living as in times of emergency.

A. It is simple things. Civil defense is a housewife, cleaning the attic. It is a school teacher, adapting fire drills to other emergencies. It is a family enrolling in a medical self-help course, or making plans for action in case of an emergency. It is your home, your children, your backyard.

Texas Tech during the past year set attendance records in both football (226,100 in six home games, an average of 37,684) and basketball (104,690 in 12 home contests, an average of 8,724).

Every litter bit hurts

In the parking lot or along the highway, grown-ups know that every litter bit hurts. But they forget. And that's how it all begins. Bit by bit the litter piles up and America the beautiful becomes America the ugly. The litterbug is catching, too. Don't let it spread. Help stamp out littering, by setting the right example. Always carry a litterbag in your car. Always use it. If Mom and Dad remember, the youngsters won't forget to Keep America Beautiful!

Mrs. M. Stephens Attends Nursing Home Meeting

The June meeting of the Golden Spread Chapter of Texas Nursing Home Association met at the El Rancho Restaurant in Amarillo with Mr. Jack Rude, president, presiding.

"The 15th Annual meeting of TNHA will be held in Houston at the Continental Houston Hotel on the 3rd, 4th and 5th of November and all nursing home administrators are urged to attend. There will be speakers from Texas Welfare, Texas Health, the co-ordinator of agencies on aging and many other notable speakers, as well as displays on the very latest equipment," Mr. Rude stated.

"I am sure that all of you realize that the nursing home image is changing and we do have a great opportunity at serving our elder citizens. Many adjust well in the atmosphere of the nursing home and we do have a great opportunity at serving our elder citizens. Many adjust well in the atmosphere of the nursing home, others never do. It is no fault of the operator. The family needs to encourage her loved ones to accept and be content in these new surroundings. We find that persons brought to a nursing home while their mind is still able to grasp and feel at home in the nursing home is a happy patient," Mr. Rude explained.

"By being encouraged and loved, a patient is not likely to feel at home if removed. Often if a patient is taken out for an afternoon, he is anxious to return, fearing that the others may have may have had a visitor that he will miss, or that a singing group may have come and he sure does not want to miss any activity. Patients often participate in these gatherings," he continued.

"We have 28 nursing homes in our area and many of them are members of the Association and the others need to be. Our next meeting will be at the Holiday Inn West and we will have a film, 'A Modern Nursing Home'. The meeting will be in Amarillo on the 29th of July at 7:00 p. m.," Mr. Rude concluded.

Those attending this meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rude, Mrs. Yphon Lowe, Vivian's Nursing Home, Amarillo, Lloyd Nollner, Thurmans Convalescent Home, Amarillo, Mrs. Mildred Stephens, Cousins Home, Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Bender, Mrs. Wm. A. Brown, St. Ann Home, Panhandle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore, Moore Convalescent Home, Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, Martin Nursing Home, Claude, and Eugene Thompson, Edward Abraham Memorial Home, Canadian.

and Clark explorers' camp, displays of frontier life, including reproductions of Old Fort Sherman, a fur trapper's cabin, a chuck wagon where cooks will bake sour-dough bread, and a shepherd's camp will be among the hundreds of attractions.

Two spectaculars will highlight the Roundup when the entire encampment gathers in a vast natural arena surrounded by groves of white pine trees. Each event will feature a cast of 700 girls in tableaux, music, and skits on a stage rivaling in size that of New York City's Radio City Music Hall. The first arena program will spotlight the Roundup slogan, "On The Trail To Tomorrow," and the second will use the Roundup theme, "A Promise In Action." Daily entertainment on a smaller scale will feature patrols of eight Girl Scouts presenting demonstrations reflecting the history, culture or industry of their home community. Demonstrations will range from a mock bullfight to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The "Bar-O" Patrol from this area will give a demonstration in square dancing. The girls, colorfully dressed in checked gingham, will "promenade all" with partners attired in matching gingham shirts and blue jeans to the strains of "Dance With Cindy Lou" and "Round and Round". Water is great to swim in, wish in and the perfect thing for washing the family car, but let's consider for a moment how important water is to your survival.

You can struggle along without food for weeks, but a few days without water and you have had it as none of the body's work can do without it. In fact, unless your air sacs in our lungs are moist, we cannot take necessary oxygen from the air. It is water which helps the kidneys to take wastes from the blood, and the intestines to eliminate food wastes.

SOIL SURVEY PROGRESS

Recently received from Mr. H. (Red) Smith, the State Commissioner of Soil Conservation Service, a report on the progress made in the 18th District in completing soil surveys. The surveys constitute detailed inventories of soil conditions, showing depth, structure, texture, stoniness, slope, erosion, and other features of each soil that determine its use and capability. Soil surveys are made out on a nationally coordinated basis in cooperation with federal agencies, the State Agricultural Experiment Stations, State agencies, county governments, and a number of local organizations.

It is glad to say that good progress is being made. In four of the counties of the 18th District, mapping has been completed and the surveys published. In six counties, the work is completed and publication should follow shortly. Work in other counties is in varying stages. In each county listed alphabetically, and with the percentage of land area mapped and the date for completion in each county, the situation in the District is as follows: Brown, 100%, published; Carson, 50%, 1970; Carson, published; Castro, 50%; Childress, 100%, published; Custer, 100%, complete; Dallam, 44%, 1966; Deaf Smith, 100%, complete; Donley, 14%, 1968; Gray, complete; Hall, 100%; Hansford, 100%, published; Hartley, 23%, 1972; Hemphill, 100%, complete; Hutchinson, 1972; Lipscomb, 39%, 1968;

Moore, 53%, 1968; Motley, 14%, 1969; Ochiltree, 100%, complete; Oldham, 35%, 1971; Parmer, 26%, 1969; Potter, 2%, indefinite; Randall, 99%, 1965; Roberts, 20%, 1973; Sherman, 0%, indefinite; Swisher, 34%, 1966; and Wheeler, 40%, 1967.

The primary purpose of the soil surveys is to make available to landowners and farm and ranch operators the facts on which to guide development of basic conservation plans. With a soil map and its interpretation, plus related information, a technician of the Soil Conservation Service is able to provide farmers and ranchers with proper planning assistance. Although soil surveys are being used mainly in developing and managing farm and forest lands, they provide information for other purposes. County and community planning officials use soil survey information to help locate areas that are suitable for housing, schools, shopping centers, roads, parking lots, industry, parks, and recreational areas. Banks, insurance companies find soil surveys helpful in determining the soundness of proposed investments in land. Engineers use soil surveys in locating and designing highways, airports, sewers, pipelines, buildings, and other structures.

In past years, a number of attempts have been made to reduce funds available for soil conservation programs, including soil surveys. I have always supported proper appropriations for soil conservation work, recognizing the great work done over the years in the Texas Panhandle, and have on several occasions helped lead fights to restore threatened cuts in appropriations. It now appears that the SCS appropriations for Fiscal Year 1966 will provide approximately the same amount of money as was available for the program in 1965. Many of us have been concerned because a $20 million cut was threatened under legislation to be offered increasing the extent of financial participation by cooperating soil conservation districts, landowners, and operators. However, this legislation has not as yet been submitted to the Congress and its fate, when it is submitted, is very much uncertain. Certainly we can ill-afford to handicap the soil conservation movement. Our treasured soil resources must be preserved.

The soil, water, range, and forest resources of the country are basic in the structure of our national economy. From that base comes our food; the bulk of our water supply for agricultural and municipal and industrial purposes; most of our clothing, paper, and other fiber; much of our shelter. In our growing nation, this most vital economic base must be protected and enhanced.

Add to that the savings in maintenance and electric compressor replacements and you'll see why gas is your best home air conditioning investment.

LOW DOWN PAYMENT, AS LITTLE AS $25/MO. FOR 28-TON UNIT

This new gas unit for medium-size homes both cools and heats... puts the world's finest air conditioning in reach of everyone.

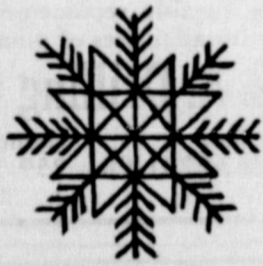

HOW GAS UNITS CAN LAST TWICE AS LONG AS ELECTRIC

Gas cooling for homes has no compressor. A simple gas flame is the heart of the cooling cycle—with few moving parts to wear or need repair. No wonder the life-expectancy of gas air conditioning is double that of compressor types!

SPECIAL SUMMER GAS AIR CONDITIONING RATES

Owners of gas air conditioners get reduced gas rates for cooling during the hot summer months. This makes for even more economy from an efficient gas unit!

CALL FOR A FREE ESTIMATE ON GAS AIR CONDITIONING. NO OBLIGATION.

Don't be fooled by "horseback estimates" on cost! Get a bona fide air conditioning price from Lone Star Gas and compare with the price of the same size electric unit. You'll find the little extra per month to buy a gas unit buys you a lot more air conditioning over the years! There are two types of gas systems for the home: a combination cooling and heating system and an add-on cooling system. Investigate the possibility of gas air conditioning your home now.

that effective Aug. 1, 1965, Ben Spear will retire from the City Police Force.

Federal Housing Board
In a special called meeting, Thursday night, June 24, the City Council appointed a five-man board with the job of determining whether or not the City of Memphis needs a low rent Federal Housing Program, especially in the Morningside area.

Named on the board were: John R. Fowler, chairman; Richard Avery, vice-chairman; R. S. Curran, Billy Thompson and Clyde Smith.

Over 3000 years ago the Pharaohs in ancient Egypt knew the art of veneering with beautiful figured wood. Annual production of veneer in the United States is now about 35 million board feet, valued at $1.5 million.

By VERN SANFORD

Teach the beginning fisherman the bait-casting rig, first. After he masters it, instruct him in spin-casting. And then spinning.

Finally, give him at least an introduction to fly fishing, if only to complete his education.

Most of the fish he seeks can be taken with a bait-casting rig. It's tops for black bass.

It's also okay for speckled trout and others of the smaller salt-water varieties.

Furthermore, when he goes to the Coast, then all he needs is to get a bigger reel and a longer rod and develop the two-handed surf casting toss. That is if he wants to hurl his bait far out and if he expects something sizeable to hit the lure. Anyway he will be familiar with the gear.

There are times when spin-casting is better. I use the two terms to designate the closed-face and open-face spinning rig.

Spin-casting—that's the closed-face reel—is so simple, so easy, and so efficient that it has made rod and reel fishermen out of untold thousands who never would have had the patience to learn bait casting. This is an American version of the ancient European thread-lining. It's designed to make everything easy for the angler. And it pretty well does!

At first the closed-face reels were full of bugs. But in today's brands these bugs have been eliminated. I wouldn't want you to be fooled, however, into thinking that you can't get into trouble with them. Trouble comes when you fail to keep a little tension on your line, or when you let the nylon monofilament form into loops and swirls.

When that happens, and the stuff gets bunched up, you might as well figure on cutting out the tangle and starting over. Nothing looks more hopeless than a knotted, tangled mess of monofilament.

But if you've got the time, and the patience, eventually you can untangle it. Best tools for the purpose are small tweezers and Mom's knitting needle.

Moral here is to avoid loose line. Then you won't have trouble with your spin-casting outfit.

One of the disadvantages is that you have to take it apart to see how much line is left on your spool. This is easy to do. And replacing old line with new is a simple operation.

Line deteriorates. So test it frequently. Line is cheap. So change it often.

Now, what about the open-faced spinning reel?

This is the rod and reel Europeans invented a long time ago. U. S. soldiers in World War II brought it home with them. We thought it was new, but it wasn't.

The English, French, Italian, Swedes and Norwegians have been "thread lining" for quite a few years.

Some anglers like spinning better than spin-casting. There are several reasons. First, your spool is there in plain sight all the time. You can see whether you have the right amount of line on it, or too little, or too much. And you can easily adjust accordingly without taking the thing apart.
