Cyclone To Travel To Rocketland Fri.

Memphis football fans need to know that the Memphis Cyclone Skyrockets football game will begin at 7:30 p. m. Friday night at Powell Field and is the opening game for the two teams in District 2-A competition.

The 2-A competition gets underway with White Deer playing at the McLean Tigers, then travelling to Canadian to play the Memphis Cyclone going to Rocketland.

Memphis-Wellington game is to be a real thriller due to the outcome because the Cyclones have a real rivalry with the winner of the contest for the all important district and the possible chance to win the strong White Deer for the District 2-A.

Coach Chamberless said Wednesday, "our boys will be hitting hard and will be giving some all they have."

Coach Chamberless said the Skyrockets are by far the best team we have played this season. "They are big, and play almost flawless and making very few mistakes."

Team weights go, Memphis is getting the Skyrockets 20 lbs per man. Memphis has a slight advantage in the speed department but not experience wise, the Rockets have a heavy advantage because Cyclone has only one returner from last year's squad, Bobby Carroll. The Rockets experienced boys in most positions.

Memphis Cotton Classing Office Is Now Open

The USDA Cotton Classing Office at Memphis is open and began receiving samples Monday. K. E. Voelkel is in charge of the seasonal office. This is the seventh season of operation for the Memphis sub-office, and the fifth season for Mr. Voelkel to be the officer in charge.

Early ginned cotton in the Memphis territory has been classed in Altus. C. E. Cox, in charge of the Altus office, reports "the 1965 cotton harvest is getting off to a slow start again this year. Only a little over 1,100 samples have been classed through Oct. 8 for the 58 gins in the Memphis classing territory."

Mr. Voelkel said the sub-office here is now staffed with Wiley Cain of Abilene, a classifier and himself, one laborer, one chief clerk and three clerks.

"We will have classed 1,500 samples by tomorrow night. This compares to 3,000 samples in 1964, 5,500 in 1963, 11,000 in 1962 and 33,000 in 1961, on the same date," he said. "Harvests are getting later each year."

The Memphis territory covers 18 counties and has 58 gins. One new gin has been added this year and is in Wheeler County.

Singing Convention Attracts Approximately 1,500 Persons

The Oklahoma-Texas Singing Association Convention in Memphis last Saturday and Sunday attracted approximately 1,500 persons including many fine singing groups.

President Elmo Hudgins of Pampa stated that he felt the convention was one of the finest the association has had even though the number attending was not as large as some.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Clifford Farmer stated the convention committee and the officers of the chamber would like to express its appreciation to the families who opened their homes to visitors or offered bedrooms even though they weren't needed.

The convention showed Memphis leaders the limitation of Memphis as a Community Center was packed with approximately 900 persons in it. There were a few over 800 chairs set up and many were standing around the walls and outside where a P. A. system was set up.

In the business session of the convention, the following executive board was elected: Howard Johnson, Olustee, Okla.; Floyd Dudgeon, Dell City, Okla.; Grady Jack, Amarillo, Virginia Glennan, Wichita Falls, R. H. Isbel, Wellington.

The convention voted to meet in Pampa, Texas, next year.

Officers elected were: Elmo Hudgins of Pampa, president; Lawson Walker of Elk City, first vice president; Andy Lynch of Rocky, Okla., second vice president; Mrs. Nell Conn of Rt. 3, Childress, secretary-treasurer.

Mayor H. J. Howell Sunday afternoon extended the Memphis welcome to those attending in an address.

The response was made by Don Butler, president of the Stamps

Music Co. of Dallas.

Those attending the convention heard a lot of singing by professional and non-professional individuals and groups.

Among the groups present were the following: Templetones of Dallas, Conn Trio of Dallas, Sapp Trio of Orange, Adaire Sisters of Canyon, Wills Family, senior and junior quartets of Arlington, the Revival-Aires of Wichita Falls, and many more.

Pianists playing for the group singing were: Mrs. Nell Conn of Childress, Mrs. Bonnie Spahn of Kingfisher, Okla., Mrs. Lawson Walker of Elk City, Okla., and Mrs. Joe Calabrese of Elk City.

A show of hands Saturday evening at the convention indicated that two-thirds of the crowd was from outside the Memphis area, with one-third outside the State of Texas.

Tech-OSU To Play Saturday At Lubbock

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech and Oklahoma State collide here at 7:30 Saturday night to climax a memorable week-end.

For one thing, it's Dad's Day. That means that two more Texas Tech greats will be inducted into the Athletic Hall of Honor—gridder (1935-37) Ed Smith, who later served on the athletic council and with the Red Raider Club, and the late Volney Hill, baseball and footballer in 1925-27. State Sen. Walter H. Richter will speak at the luncheon.

For another, Tech is in the midst of its Fortieth Anniversary observance, and Alvin Allison's board committee has chosen to honor the 1938 football team. This group of gridgers posted a 10-0 record, the only perfect mark in Tech history, en route to the Cotton Bowl.

Also, Oklahoma State, the Raiders' foe, is a part of Tech grid history. The two teams first met in 1935, Tech's 10th year and the Raiders hold a 7-5-3 record. The last two games played here, in 1964 and 1965, were stirring 13-13 ties.

OSU, including a win over Tulsa and a close loss to Arkansas in its 1-3 record, should prove formidable, and the chances are good that late arrivals won't miss any excitement. After all, the Raiders, in their 28-24 win over Texas Christian last week, didn't post their final touchdown until

2:20 to go, and two weeks ago, in the 20-16 victory over Texas A&M, the lead changed hands three times with less than three minutes to go. No telling what might have happened in the 26-7 win over Kansas, if more than 56 seconds of the final period could have been played. A tornado alert prevented any excitement. (On the gridiron, that is.)

Plenty of reserved seats are available for the contest.

Selective Service Gives Information On Draft-Age Men

Draft-age men who married before August 27 may be called by some Texas draft boards in November to help fill a quota of more than 6,000 men for physical-mental examinations, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

Currently, men in the 19-25 age range who are single and those married on August 27 and since are being tapped, in accordance with an executive order issued by President Johnson in late August.

The Johnson order provided that married men who married before August 27 would not be processed for armed service unless single men and men married since August 27 are not sufficient to fill quotas. The order did not pertain to married men with children, who are referred for dependency if boards are advised of a child or expected child in the family.

The decision to permit the forwarding of men married before August 27, Colonel Schwartz said, was made because some local draft boards may not have enough available men unless the move is authorized.

"If calls are kept at their present level," the state draft director said, "the men who married before August 27 likely will be needed for induction about January. We have to take preparatory steps in view of the expected situation that will face us about the first of the year."

Colonel Schwartz said that he understood from his contacts with other state directors that the move also is being made in other states.

Texas local boards are scheduled to be sent their November induction quotas Friday involving a state call for 1,231 men. This compares with state quotas of 1,504 and 1,458 for October and September, respectively. The November quota of 6,245 men to be examined is also scheduled for mailing Friday.

The November state quota of 1,231 for induction is the Texas share of a national call for 32,450 men, 28,400 for the Army, and 4,050 for the Marine Corps. An earlier request by the Navy for 4,000 men was deleted in an amended call on the states.

Colonel Schwartz also said his office had received calls for 62 physicians, 15 dentists, and 6 veterinarians, to be supplied in January.

Local board already have been instructed to forward doctors, dentists, and veterinarians for examination preparatory to filling these quotas.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sneed over the weekend were Mrs. Sneed's sister, Mrs. M. B. Graham of Amarillo and mother, Mrs. A. D. Wallas of Borger and Mr. Sneed's sister, Mrs. Sam Powers of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Just David and Wayne of Borger here over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crow visiting with his parents over weekend was Mike Crow, employed with General Tool Company in Guymon, Okla.

Mrs. Myrtle Howard and Gip McMurry visited in Ar with relatives Tuesday and Wednesday.

Eating Your Fish Bait

Ever get hungry enough to eat a horse?

Well, should there be no horses handy, you can eat your bait when appetite calls. That is, if you are lucky enough to be fishing with live crawfish.

Just take out half a dozen of the biggest ones (be sure they are alive) for each person to be fed, dump the crawfish in salted boiling water, and cook about 10 minutes.

You'll have the finest meal of pee-wee size lobsters you ever ate. Don't be alarmed if the crawfish turn red when cooked—they should.

Mr. and Mrs. Hap Johnson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Preston Russey of Fort Worth over the weekend and attended the Texas & Oklahoma game on Saturday in Dallas.

T. J. Spry, Jr. Is New Manager At Tindall Gin

T. J. Spry, Jr., was named manager of the Tindall Gin in Memphis Tuesday afternoon. The appointment was made by J. M. Tindall, owner, who made the announcement.

Spry is well known in Memphis and in this entire area. He was born and reared in the Plaska community. During most of his adult life he has been engaged in farming and cattle raising. During World War II, he served four years in the Air Force, most of the time as an AAF supply technician.

He was married Feb. 6, 1943, to Miss Frankie Masters. They reside at 720 South 5th Street, and are the parents of a son, J. Frank, who is in the first grade this year.

The J. M. Tindall Gin was established in Memphis in 1945. It was managed by S. J. King for approximately 15 years prior to his death here last week.

Tindall stated that there would be no change under the management of Spry. The services of the gin will continue as in the past, and the same individual attention to their customers will be given.

Spry stated that he would continue with his farming operation along with the management of the gin.

Stiffing Flames

The bane of a camp cook's existence is to have his fire burst into flames, when what he wants is hot coals.

Experienced cooks have found a way to instantly douse these unwanted flames.

They merely sprinkle a handful of common table salt over the fire and— presto—the flames disappear.

CORRECTION

The names of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Crump of Lubbock were unintentionally left out of the list of those who attended the Crump family reunion in Amarillo last week.

Retouching Duck Decoys

When you touch up the worn paint spots on your decoys, be careful what sort of paint you use.

Flat paint is best, as it has no shine to scare away incoming flights. Use turpentine as thinner since linseed oil will tend to add shine.

After the paint dries, give the surface a few licks with fine steel wool to dull the paint more.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks to my many friends for the cards, flowers and gifts I received during my illness. The food that has been given me since I returned home.

WISHING WELL: It is time to draw again from the Wishing Well—and guess who got their wish? Nora Smith—her wish was for a clothes hamper. Nora, I'll be looking for you in to select the hamper that you want. Also Pansy Srygley and Ruby Goodnight will receive a small gift from our Gift Department as their names were drawn also. Hope that they will like their surprises. I have not called them and I hope that they read this so they will know about their names being drawn. We will draw again in about three weeks, so if your name is not in the well, now is the time to get it there.

ART CORNER: Lucky you who have in your possession some pieces of old tin, plain, pierced, or decorated; Tinware has risen in value over the years as more and more casual collectors have become aware of it. Even the crude, unpainted pieces have been snapped up for decoration and the restoration of original patterns by many who have learned the art of painting upon tin or Tole Painting, as we call it. We now have on display some of Mrs. Regnal Greenhaw's decorated tinware. Mrs. Greenhaw lives in Amarillo and most of you know her as Wilma. Wilma is an art student—and sometimes assistant—of Mrs. Walter T. Price, Jr., also of Amarillo. Mrs. Price has the distinction of being the only graduate student and registered teacher of the Decorative Arts Institute, Inc., of Wichita, Kansas, in this area. With so many in the market for something different to decorate your homes with, you might find just what you need in this selection of Toleware—all originals and hand painted by Wilma. She does beautiful work and I am getting her to do some trays for me, using the children's first grade art work. She takes the actual art paper and imposes it on the tray and then puts the finishing touches, making an attractive tray for hanging. They will be keepsakes forever and this is a wonderful way to preserve those precious mementos that are so dear and near to a Mother's heart. If any of you would like her to do some of this work for you, I'll be glad to contact Wilma. But back to what I started out telling you—tinware goes farther back than the 1800's, but it did not come into common use in America until after the Revolution. America had no tin and England preferred to export tin articles rather than the metal which put the sources of Welsh mines to good use. Old tin is not like today's tin. It was a sturdy product made by coating a thin layer of iron with a tin facing. However, England did export a japanned ware to this country made expressly for the American trade. Not so long ago one could pick up an old coffeepot or measure or tea caddy for a few cents at a country sale. Now, it is almost impossible to find them, and if you do, you will have to pay with real folding money. But in the event you are lucky enough to find some of the old original pieces you can have it refinished to your choosing by Wilma. However, if you prefer to select some of the pieces that are on display, you will still have an original as no two pieces are alike. It will be yours alone in design and decoration. The Pennsylvania Dutch liked tinware to apply their peasant designs. The Yankee peddler in the early 1800's carried tin to the eager housewives and if it was a painted piece it was probably reserved for show rather than use. Some of the most popular pieces, then as well as today, are the trays, tea caddies, coffeepots, bread trays, apple trays, pitchers, boxes of all kinds, and spice cans—all of which you can select from in our display. Almost every showroom at the Dallas summer market had some of Tole painting for sale. However, I did not stock it because the price was prohibitive and furthermore it was all from mass production. You will find the price of Wilma's art work very reasonable and it will always carry the mark of being hand painted. Since tinware is being hunted by antique collectors and dealers, it stands to reason that the price will go up and in the years to come it may be impossible to buy it at any price.

THE YOUNGER SET: We have had some very young customers in the store lately. Little Lynn Monzingo was in to get a package for his Mommie. He informed me that his "big" brother, Matt, was in school and he HAD to run the errands now. So very important! And the man of the house! Also Brad and Brock Whitten were taking care of little sister while their Mommie shopped. Brad asked me out to see the new addition and both informed me that her name was BROCK-KELL—pronounced very distinctly that I would know that the name came from Brad and Brock. They were so pleased with the baby. In fact, I learned all about her recent illness, how much they helped their Mother, and how good both of them were! Terry Shadid was in and guess what—I couldn't get a word out of her. That is the first time I have ever known Terry to be speechless. I can't figure it out. And one of our newcomers, Kathy Boone, came to help her Mother buy a mop. She seemed to be a little leary of the store and was in somewhat of a hurry to be off. Maybe she will come back when my balloon supply is replenished. Guess I'll have to work on her. Have any of you been collecting soft drink bottle caps? Hope this will not be a repeat in the near future. I feel so foolish going around getting caps for Matt's collection. Maybe all of you will understand—at least those of you who have been through this collection age with your children. Helen Combs is saving them for her Grandbaby—and I really have to hurry to beat her to them.

This Fine Gin Plant Is Ready To Serve You

As you know, the Lesley Co-Op is recognized as one of the finest gin plants in this entire area. And, as we go into another season, we point with pride to the record of doing FINE GINNING for our customers since this new plant was built.

The farmers of the Lesley area, who own this gin, take pride in telling others that there are three 177-saw gin stands, with an individual lint cleaner behind each. There are two stick and green leaf machines, two bur machines, two tower dryers, and there are hydraulic press locks on the press. They will tell you that there are individual motors on each unit in the plant, which mean less "down time" when the rush season starts.

No detail was overlooked during the past months as we did seasonal repairing. Everything is now ready to handle your 1965 cotton crop.

You are invited to take advantage of our bur hopper, which makes it possible for you to return your burs to your land. Our bur truck is available for your use.

You are invited to gin at the Lesley Co-Op. We are offering the best ginning service it is possible to give. It is our desire to give full cooperation to the farmers in our community. Just let us know how we can serve.

THE RECORD SHOWS:

This farmer-owned gin pays back all profits it earns to the people of this area who bring their cotton here.

Methodist WSCS
Continues Study
Book of Acts

Alpha and Oliver Circles Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday, Oct. 11, 8 p. m. in the Methodist Annex to continue the study of the Book of Acts. Oliver introduced the study for the morning's study, the study of the Christian life to the world.

Bob Fowler gave a provocative discussion concerning the tension with the world. He stated that more than 50 churches have been formed in the last few days. Thus the rise of the church is a common theme of the rise of the Christian world.

W. V. Coursey answered questions. "What is God's will for the world today?" in an inquiring manner, saying that he was challenged to overcome obstacles which could be God's opportunity.

E. S. Greene gave an inspiring talk. "The World as a Field." She said that the purpose of the church is to bring people into growing Christianity to be a sanctuary of living men.

M. G. Tarver gave a clear picture of the necessity for Christians to communicate across barriers. To illustrate this, Mrs. Roy Spruill, David Smith and Lee Brown presented meditations from the "Book" written by people of various races. The first concerned meeting with people of other races; the second was about the second coming of Christ; and the third had to do with Christian witnessing as demanded by the cross carrying of Stephen, the first martyr in the Book of Acts.

Today as Christians bear witness to the closing prayer of the Prayer Calendar. The prayer was presented other than the usual manner by Mrs. Davila, Myrtis Phelan, W. J. Miller, O. M. Gunstream, Ed Crum, Bess Crump, W. C. and F. W. Foxhall.

May Cooper of Nocona presided over the weekend service. T. J. Brock.

SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION—Pictured above are some of the 1,500 persons who gathered in the Community Center Sunday afternoon to enjoy some fine singing. The occasion was the convention of the Oklahoma, Texas Singing Assn. The convention was sponsored by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce with the members of the Hall County Singing Assn. serving as hosts. The event attracted singing groups and individuals from all over Texas and Oklahoma. The 850 chairs set up in the auditorium were filled throughout the 2-day event.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

The problem of winter legumes "fading out" of pastures is probably due to two reasons, explains County Agent W. B. Hooser. They are: inadequate fertilizers and thick grass sod.

Legumes, says Hooser, have poor root systems while grasses "eat at the first table", leaving the legumes to get the plant nutrients remaining. Legumes should be fertilized in the fall and phosphorus and potassium should be included since they make for strong seedlings.

Fertilizing grasses during the spring and summer encourages the development of strong root systems and intensifies the problem of establishing legumes, says Hooser.

As an aid to getting legume seed germination and plant establishment, the county agent suggests that grasses be grazed closely or cut short for hay in the fall. And further that a soil test be made to determine whether or not lime is needed and the kinds and amounts of fertilizer required. If lime is needed, it should be applied as early as possible and the fertilizer before planting time.

A cool season grass, such as rye, is suggested as a companion for the legumes to increase forage production and reduce the bloat hazard in cattle.

Persons interested in more details in winter pastures are invited by Hooser to come by his office in the county courthouse for a copy of L-259, "Winter Temporary Pastures." Recommended varieties and seeding rates for legumes are given in the bulletin.

Pink Bollworm And Boll Weevil

Pink bollworms and boll weevil in cotton crops are a growing concern to Hall County farmers, says W. B. Hooser, County Agricultural Agent. Destruction of cotton stalks is alone an important harvest is still the most economical means of combating pink bollworms.

Shredding and plowing under cotton stalks is alone an important aid in reducing the winter carry-over of boll weevils, bollworms and tobacco budworms. Stalks left standing in the field after hand harvest or fields allowed to begin regrowth after desiccation or defoliation furnish food and breeding places for many cotton pests.

Early stalk destruction with shredders and general farm clean-up reduces insect populations through mechanical destruction as well as preventing further breeding activity for the season.

Standard rotary-type stalk shredders will kill up to 50 percent of the larvae during the shredding operation. Tests with the flail-type rotary chopper show that up to 90 percent of the larvae will be killed.

Hooser says to prevent winter carryover of pink bollworms, shred residues and volunteer cotton to a minimum depth of 6 inches.

Hot sunshine and hot soils will kill a high percentage of pink bollworms in shredded stalk and boll residue when spread thinly on the ground. To prevent winter carryover, all bolls should be destroyed and special efforts should be made to clean up all scattered seed cotton.

Although cultural control requirements apply in many Texas counties, pink bollworms occur in practically all other cotton-growing areas of Texas. Hooser urges county wide participation in the early stalk destruction program.

Community Center Has Another Piano

By VIRGINIA BROWDER

There is something new under the ceiling of the Community Center Building. Well, not exactly new as it is a used but well cared for piano. Fine musical instruments, like fond memories, mellow and sweeten with age. So, the fact that it has been used and cared for are recommendations.

Since the Thespians combined their talents with the Cyclone Band to produce "The Music Man," a need for a piano on floor level at The Center has been indicated. So, when, following the death of Mr. Blythe Scott and his widow's departure from Memphis, their piano was found to be a fine instrument in a mahogany cabinet and offered for sale, it seemed a likely supply for the need.

The combined contributions of interested friends sympathetic to this need have made possible the purchase of this piano and already it has proven useful. The Hall County Singers had it tuned for their recent regional convention of Oklahoma and Texas gospel singers.

Around and About
By HELEN COMBS

The last section of the backyard fence is painted! That is a project at our house that was continued over from last summer. Saturday afternoon, the beautiful sunshine led us to make a rash statement: "if we had some white paint we'd finish painting the fence." We knew fully well the lumber yards were not open on Saturday afternoon!

But the hubby was equally aware that paint could be secured in other stores, so off he goes and a few minutes later we were provided the necessary paint. There was nothing to do but don our painting clothes and get busy! While we painted . . . the hubby watched the ball game, coming out between innings to oversee the project!

The Community Center was filled to capacity Saturday and Sunday as people came from far and near to attend the Oklahoma-Texas Singing Convention. Everything seemed to go off in fine fashion . . . and we thoroughly enjoyed the portion of the program we were able to attend.

Several professional groups appeared on the program, and all who attended must have been dedicated singers . . . we understand most of the crowd remained in their seats during the noon hour rather than go out to eat. The Band Booster Club had prepared food for 300 people or more—and served less than 60 plates. The Fire Department also had a lot of food left. Guess singing and eating just don't go together!

But the Band Booster food is not a loss . . . the mothers just dashed about town storing the food in freezers and will bring it out one night this week and serve the band members dinner. This was a planned social anyway . . . so now the food is already prepared.

Kermit and Lee Vokel arrived in town Friday and everyone is delighted to have them back for another season. Kermit is with the Consumer Marketing Service and is officer in charge of the local cotton classing office.

We are looking forward to Friday night when we journey to Wellington to meet the Skyrockets in the annual football game.

This game is of special interest to us since Wellington is our alma mater. We may have a warm place in our hearts for the Skyrockets . . . but will do our "yelling" for the Cyclones.

Since there seems to be an abundance of home-grown tomatoes this year some of you might like to know how one Memphis woman preserves the tomatoes for winter use. This is an original idea and proved to be very successful . . . you simply freeze the extra tomatoes from your garden. Wash the tomatoes and place them on a cookie sheet to freeze separately. Then, when the tomatoes are frozen, seal them in a plastic bag for future use. When ready to use, take out as many as desired, hold them under the hot water tap for a few seconds, then skin off the peeling. They are wonderful when baked inside a meat loaf to keep the meat loaf from being dry and they can be used in any recipe calling for canned tomatoes.

This being National Newspaper Week, we want to pass on to you an article brought to us this week by a friend. The story goes like this:

An earnest young student of journalism was assigned to write an essay on newspapers. "Of what value are newspapers in a community?" she asked in a letter to the country editor.

"We are greatly surprised at this question," replied the editor. "We thought there was no one who did not know that a newspaper stands alone as a community utility and service."

"When we were a very small child in school, we learned that there is nothing that equals well-chewed newspaper for making spit-balls. They have a sting and sticking quality not to be found in any other paper."

"Newspapers are used everywhere by housewives as a covering for shelves on which pots and pans are stored. Newspapers can be and are spread on chairs when standing on them to hang pictures and prevent scratching the varnish."

"They are also used to wrap things which are to be packed in an attic, as the printer's ink discourages moths."

"Housekeeping can not be carried on without newspapers. A newspaper of wide circulation, crumpled in hand, makes an excellent mop with which to polish windows. The newspaper is unequalled for starting a fire, or for lining garbage cans."

SERVING IN VIET NAM—Pictured above is Gunnery Sergeant J. P. (Sonny) Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller of Memphis, who is with the U. S. Marine Corps in Viet Nam. Sergeant Miller, a veteran of the Corps, is pictured as he was sworn for another tour of duty. He entered the service Nov. 21, 1952. In a letter last week to his parents, he told of the conditions of that country, and decried the protest of certain groups in the U. S. who do not understand the overall reason why this nation's fighting men are there.

"In cold weather the editorial page of a newspaper, spread over the chest and buttoned under a coat, will keep out the cold. Newspapers wrapped around a leaky pipe can be used as a temporary measure. The society section of a newspaper is valuable to spread on a floor when painting.

to keep paint stains off the linoleum.

"Oh, we can go on for hours, narrating the various things for which a newspaper may be used, and still not name half of them. And if all else fails, one can sit down and read the measly thing. What else in the community has this flexibility?"

Hal Geldon's Social Security Advice

If you have a student in school and you are trying to figure out how to keep him there, perhaps social security can help. There are students in this area who may be eligible for social security benefits as a result of recent changes in the social security law, Hal Geldon, District Manager of the Amarillo Social Security District Office, said today.

Under the new law, if a child was receiving benefits on a parent's social security record and these benefits stopped when the child reached 18, the child may be able to start receiving benefits again if he is a full-time student under 22 years of age and not married. Even if he never drew payments before, if he is under age 22 and unmarried, he may begin receiving benefits if he is a full-time student, Geldon said. These benefits are payable only on the record of an insured parent who is receiving retirement or disability benefits, or who is deceased.

Benefits are not automatic, Geldon cautioned. They must be applied for by the parent or child.

George Staf Is Salesman With Houston Agency

Mr. and Mrs. George Staf returned to Memphis last weekend to make their home. He is with Houston's Chrysler-Plymouth, and is serving as salesman.

They came here from Lake Chapala, Mexico, where they spent the past four weeks. He announced that he had sold his farm in Missouri, and guessed that "this good gyp water brought us back."

Mr. Staf formerly owned and operated the Staf Implement Company here, and was the International-Harvester dealer as well as the Pontiac dealer.

He invited all his friends to drive out and visit with him at Houston's.

More than 1,800 Texas communities are totally dependent upon highways for their economic survival.

Mrs. Roy Rea visited last Thursday with her niece, Linda Medart, who is a student at LCC. She also visited with her sister, Mrs. Henry Medart of Quanah, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Crawford of Abernathy. There she attended a style school and last attended a college cafeteria.

'66 CAPRICE

BY CHEVROLET

Caprice Custom Coupe—with exclusive formal roof line that comes on no other Chevrolet.

Caprice Custom Sedan—with superb new Body by Fisher elegance inside and out.

Caprice Custom Wagon—with fine new look of hardwood paneling on sides and tailgate.

Everything it takes to create a distinguished luxury car has gone into these new Caprices.

Beneath the formal styling elegance that sets the Custom Coupe apart, for instance, you'll find thick wall-to-wall carpeting, comfort-contoured seats and the look of hand-rubbed walnut on the instrument panel, glove compartment and inside door panels. You can order a finely instrumented console, together with new Strato-bucket front seats.

In the Custom Sedan, a new Strato-back front seat is available with bucket-type contours separated by a fold-down armrest. And in the equally opulent Custom Wagons, offered in 2- or 3-seat models, you can even order carpeting for the cargo area.

Each model rides super Jet-smooth. And for incomparably smooth power, you can specify Chevrolet's advanced Turbo-Jet V8 in either a 396- or 427-cubic-inch version.

The price of it all? Somewhat more than you're used to paying for a Chevrolet. But less, as your dealer will happily confirm—than the select class of fine cars these new Caprices invite comparison with in every detail.

Thermometers Air Fishing
A smart fly fisherman adopts any method that promises to improve his chances for success. One wrinkle is the use of a thermometer to register water temperature.

For instance, in water 55 degrees and warmer, use lightly submerged nymphs and flies.

If the water is 45 to 55 degrees, use weighted nymphs and wets with streamers.

If colder than 45 degrees, go way down deep with your flies, or spoons.

Sixty-three per cent of highway funds are spent for construction among all the states; in Texas, 78 per cent goes for construction (five-year average 1958-63). The national average cost for highway maintenance is approximately 25 per cent, in Texas 15 per cent.

ulation, with her grand palaces and colonial architecture yielding to glass and concrete sky scrapers. Mrs. Kinard gave a vivid description of the contrast of life in Peru today as she told of the people living in shanty towns in shacks made of cane, mud and tin.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served from an attractively arranged table, covered with a beige applied cloth over yellow. Atalantean Club Has Federation Workshop Wed.

"Diamonds Are In Order" was the title given to the afternoon meeting of the Atalantean Club which met Wednesday, October 6, at 2:00 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Robert Harvey, Jr.

Mrs. Robert Sexauer presided at the business session which was opened with the pledge to the American Flag and the Texas Flag.

The Federation song was sung by all members with Mrs. K. B. Chick leading and Mrs. Glynn Thompson accompanying at the piano.

Quotations from Atalantean Club By-Laws were given by each member in answer to roll call.

The afternoon's program was presented in the form of a workshop and introduced with this quotation from Bolingbroke, "It is a very easy thing to devise good laws; the difficulty is in making them effective."

Mrs. Eddie Foxhall, Parliamentarian, prepared the first half of the workshop on "Parliamentary Briefs." Gamma Kappa Chapter Members Enjoy Luncheon Meet At DeVile Restaurant

Miss Inez Blankenship, President of the Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, presided at the October luncheon held in the DeVile Restaurant in Memphis. Mrs. Homer

The Woman's Culture Club met Oct. 6, in the home of Mrs. A. W. Howard for a program on Art. The devotional was given by Miss Alma Bruce, using verses from Psalms on beauty of nature telling of the power and greatness of God, who created all things.

Mrs. Frank Ellis, program chairman, introduced the program with this quotation, "Art is the gift of God, and must be used unto His glory" by Longfellow. She then introduced Mrs. Ray Toft of Childress, who, along with her husband, is a talented artist.

Mrs. Toft began by giving her childhood background. She was reared on a ranch in Cottle County and rode professionally. She performed in Madison Square Garden in New York in 1942. She met her husband at Childress during World War II. They have one son, age 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Toft began their study of art in 1960. She told about having their paintings in several New York art museums. They recently presented a two-man show at Nichols Gallery in Amarillo and their paintings have become prized, particularly among West Texans and friends who find their western paintings symbols of their beloved part of their country.

Mrs. Toft continued that she and her husband have been studying under some of the top instructors of the nation. They have studied oil, water colors, portraits, and sculpture with Lord Fitz, Elaine de Kooning, and Leon Smith. She also studied with Charlie Bunnell and has finished classes with Louise Nevelson.

At the conclusion of discussion, Mrs. Toft showed several paintings. Among the types of art shown were still life, pastels, water colors, and oils. The couple also do abstractions, portraits, and wood sculpture.

During the social hour refreshments were served to guests, Mmes. Ray Toft, Childress, Julius Stevens and Melving Jennings, Memphis, and the following members: Mmes. Bob Ayers, Nat Bradley, R. B. Clark, Guy Cox, Frank Ellis, Clifford Farmer, Bert Glascock, Ward Gurley, Jeanette Irons, Robert Moss, L. G. Rasco, L. A. Stilwell, Theodore Swift, Misses Alma Bruce, Sybil Gurley and the hostess, Mrs. A. W. Howard.

Tribble summarized the current two-year program of the international organization consisting of more than 60,000 dedicated women teachers:

"The Nature and Nurture of Creativity." Mrs. Tribble stated that "now in the last half of the twentieth century, men of wisdom and foresight are reminding us that the hope of the future rests upon creative efforts. The dangers of stagnation threaten societies that become complacent, passive, and conforming. Perhaps, creativity may be most directly related to the purpose of having each person become an intelligent, functioning member of a world society."

Mrs. Clarence Morris, in introducing the day's program, "Show and Tell," philosophized that teachers have learned to do much with little, and that they willingly share with each other their findings. Thus, she said, grows the uniqueness of each person; he becomes a creative person. She asked the members to present examples of their interests or hobbies. Mrs. Gertrude Watkins of Childress discussed and led in the singing of some ice-breaker songs, which she, her students, and other teachers had paraphrased for particular school occasions.

Mrs. J. R. Brandon introduced the Clarendon women. Miss Edgar Mae Mongole displayed articles of Swedish weaving and of copper tooling. Mrs. Otis Naylor showed her oil painting and expressed her delight in this creative hobby. Mrs. Fred W. Bourland showed a tote-bag built on burlap binding and hats made from pheasant feathers. Miss Blankenship exhibited a most artistic picture made of stuffed and enhanced tapestry. Mrs. Brandon showed vases made from detergent bottles.

This Is National Newspaper Week

Once a year, a week is set aside in recognition of the role which the newspapers of this nation play in the overall scheme of things. It is the week of Oct. 10 to 16 this year, and receives commendation all the way from the President of the United States to the local citizens.

Newspapers, as a whole, are too modest to open their columns to the enumeration of the part they play in the course of this nation's progress. The week often goes by unnoticed by the general public. The people take the newspaper in stride. Most readers do not recognize that it represents one of the basic freedoms guaranteed by our Constitution.

To our desk recently came the following, from the White House in Washington:

"To the Newspapers of the United States: It is with both pride and pleasure that I participate in this traditional tribute to our nation's newspapers.

Too often taken for granted, America's countless daily and weekly papers have been vital guardians of her time-honored traditions and eloquent spokesmen for the cherished ideals of her freedom-loving people. Taken together, our nation's newspapers constitute the world's most responsible and effective organ of current information.

It is up to us to safeguard the freedom of our papers to inquire, to criticize, to express divergent views and to stand as sentinels for the public wherever the public's business is being transacted. Newspapers and their readers are partners in freedom, and if we fail to defend the freedom of our press, we neglect our own.

I am confident that Americans everywhere wholeheartedly join me during National Newspaper Week in high recognition of the indefensible role our free press in the everyday life of our beloved nation. (Signed) Lyndon B. Johnson, President."

Your average hometown newspaper operates closer to the people than any other segment in community life, possibly with the exception of our churches. It represents a lot of hard work by dedicated people, both in the editorial department and in the printing plant. The reward we receive is a means of making a living, but that which makes us inspired is the result of our efforts in handling the news as our neighbors make it. The long hours do not count if they are spent in getting details and printing them in the form of news and pictures. The night work of the printers in the plant, under pressure of making a deadline, is taken in stride—for the subscribers are the determining factor in publishing a newspaper.

At this time, we impose upon our readers, an attempt to answer the age-old question: "What is a Newspaper?"

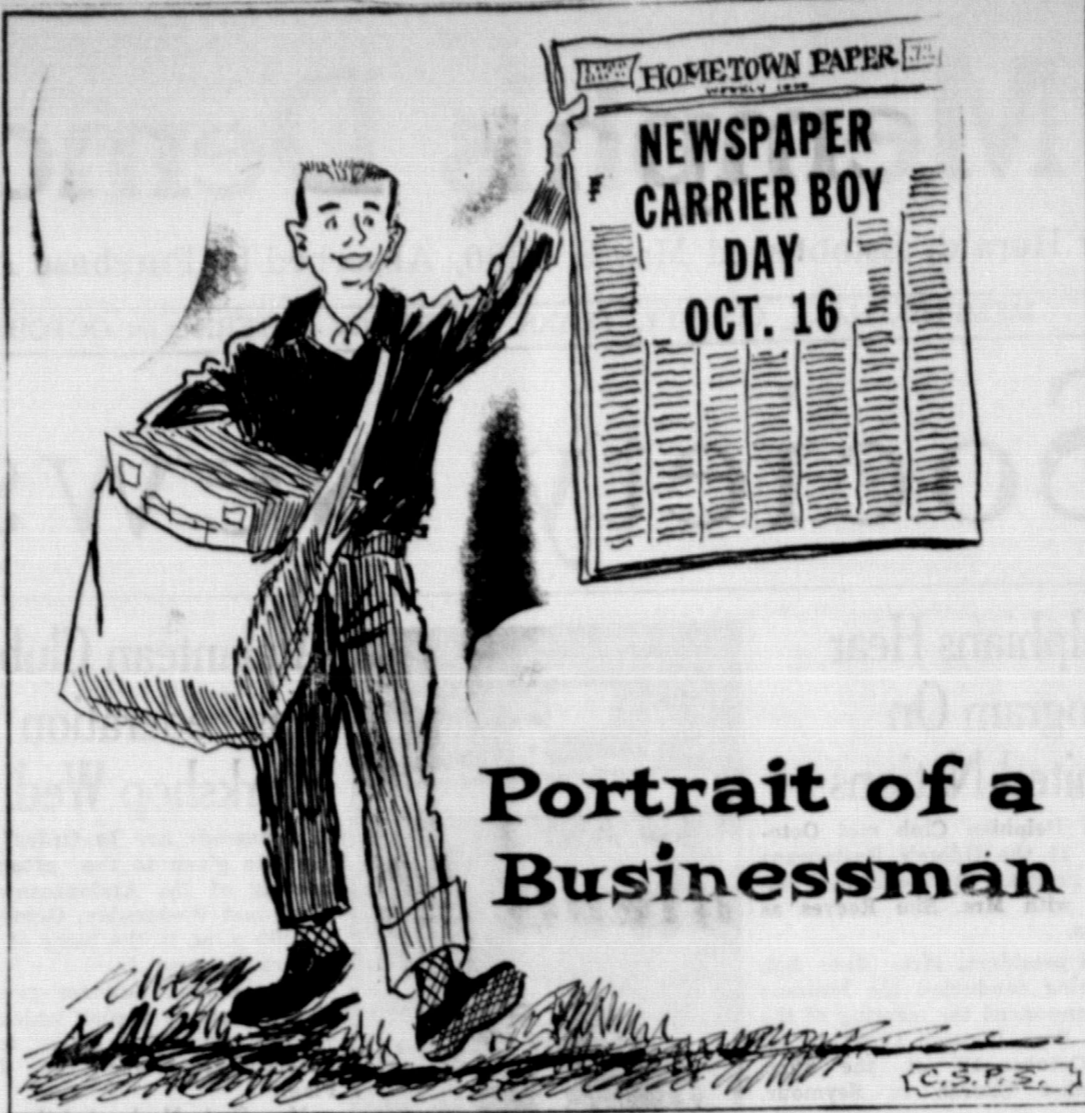

It announces your birth, and from then on becomes an irreplaceable part of your life. It relates the happenings as you go through school and make news. Your wedding details are printed, and your achievements in the realm of making a living and advancing in this changing world are related for all to read. And last, the obituary is printed.

Also your newspaper publishes grocery specials, clothing news and the huge array of things which the advertisers have to offer the general public. There are the news stories of your school, city, county and state government; the march of progress as the new highways are paved and the new industries which are established. The disasters which befall us are printed as well as the joys which come as the result of unusual accomplishments in all walks of life.

A newspaper is all the life around us, well and briefly told in type and photography. It's a happy thing when the home town wins, a sad thing when a baby dies, a shocking thing when corruption is exposed. It might be added that a newspaper is a prod to make you think, a bargain that hurries you into a store, a challenge when editorials stir you into action.

It has been said that a newspaperman is a person with ink in his veins (and the females, too), who are realist in all things and try to be a driving force when change should come.

Here at The Democrat we shall continue to do our utmost to be an integral part of this community . . . and be the chronicler of all those events that affect everyone of us.

What Other Editors Say

Grand Children!

Grandparents who don't have a couple of grandsons to take out some of the monotony of mid-summer living don't know what they are missing.

We realized that things were going to be different around our house when Dan, age 3, who had the entire yard to explore, proceeds to squat himself down in the middle of the street and fill his pockets with rocks.

Not to be outdone, Carl, 5, the elder brother, started dismantling a brick pile and hoisting them over the wall.

Through the ages philosophers and others have tried to arrive at a reasonable definition of a boy. Some one has wisely observed that after he outgrows diapers and acquires pants, freckles, and so much dirt that relatives don't dare kiss him, he becomes a boy.

A boy is nature's answer to that false belief that there is no such thing as perpetual motion. A boy is a growing animal of superlative promise who can swim like a fish, run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, balk like a mule, bellow like a bull, eat like a pig, or act like a jackass—according to climatic conditions.

A boy, if not washed too often and kept in a cool, quiet place after each accident, will survive broken bones, measles, hornets, fights, and nine helpings of pie.

A boy is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite—a noise covered with smudges. A boy is a problem of our times, the hope of the world.

Every boy born is evidence that God is not yet discouraged with men.

Boys can ask questions nobody can answer, make enemies out of friends, alienate neighbors, wake you up at dawn and do more to disrupt homes than any other object that goes around with a runny nose, wet pants, and two live lizards in his pocket.

Yet when they're gone the house just isn't the same any more. You wish somehow they'd come back soon.—The Raymondville Chronicle.

Family Cars Are Loaded

Now that the tax statements have been mailed and no doubt you have received yours, it is time to raise an old question—why are automobiles the only personal property put on the tax rolls, for individuals, that is?

The family automobile is already the most tax-burdened item of popular ownership. It is subject to sales taxes and excise taxes and virtually every other kind of tax imaginable.

On every gallon of gasoline that goes into it is imposed a sales tax amounting to more than a fourth of its cost, perhaps a bigger percentage than any other consumer item except tobacco.

The automobile owner pays license fees and inspection fees and taxes on the things that go to repair it.

The personal property tax on automobiles is imposed by law and some cities and counties and school districts diligently collect it. But a great deal do not, and unless a property owner also has some real property upon which to levy, he can get by without paying the tax on his car by letting it go delinquent.

Taxing the family car has never been fair, and it is time to change. The real property owner is the one who gets stuck with it.

Uncommonly good cooks use clean, modern gas

Why does gas cook cleaner? When you turn off a gas range it's off. Cooking stops. There's no hangover heat to cause scorching, burning and boilovers. Broiling is cleaner, too. Because you can keep the broiler door closed. The flame consumes the smoke. And with a gas range, all burner parts can be washed easily. Even the oven and broiler doors come off on many models. Uncommonly good suggestion: see the modern gas ranges now on sale at your favorite Gas Appliance Dealers—or Lone Star Gas.

Brief Explanation of 'Medicare'

Dept. Of HEW Gives Facts Of New Health Insurance

(Editor's Note: Due to the enormous amount of inquiries personnel of this newspaper have received during the past several weeks regarding the law recently passed by the U. S. Legislature pertaining to "Health Insurance for the Aged," the following is taken from an official document, published by the Social Security Administration, U. S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. It will help clarify much of the misconception regarding "medicare.")

Health Insurance For The Aged
The 1965 social security amendments established a broad program of health insurance, known popularly as "medicare," for people 65 or older. This program is important for persons now working, for they will have this protection in later years. But if you are already 65, or will reach that age soon, you especially will want to have the information this leaflet provides on how these health insurance programs will protect you when they start in July 1966.

Two Kinds Of Health Insurance
Hospital Insurance—to help pay when you are hospitalized. The program also provides payments for skilled nursing care and other services in an extended care facility after hospitalization, outpatient hospital diagnostic services, and home health services. This insurance is financed out of special contributions paid by people while they work, with matching contributions from employers, so that people will not have to pay for this protection when they are old and not working.

Medical Insurance—to help you pay the bills for doctors' services and for a number of other medical items and services not covered under the hospital insurance program.

The medical insurance program is voluntary. You decide whether to enroll for protection under the Medical Insurance program. You can have this important added protection at a low cost ($3 monthly) because the Federal Government will pay an equal amount toward the cost.

How People 65 And Over Qualify
Most people will not have to go to the social security office to qualify for protection under the hospital and medical insurance programs.

You will not need to go to your social security office if—

You are getting social security or railroad retirement benefits. You qualify automatically for hospital insurance, and an application card for medical insurance benefits will be mailed to you in September or October with a leaflet explaining both of these programs.

You are receiving a Federal civil service retirement annuity. You will get information and the necessary applications by mail.

You will be told if it is necessary to go to the social security office later.

You are receiving public assistance payments. In most cases, the public assistance agency will assist you in applying for hospital insurance and will advise you about enrolling for medical insurance.

You should go to your social security office if you are not receiving any of the above payments and if—

You have worked under social security but have never applied for benefits. The people in your social security office will help you apply for hospital insurance. They will also advise you on how you can enroll in the medical insurance program.

You have never worked under social security. Get in touch with your social security office between Sept 1, 1965, and March 31, 1966.

Hospital Insurance

Nearly every American 65 or over will be protected under the hospital insurance program when it starts in July 1966. If you qualify, these are the benefits for which you will be eligible:

Hospitalization for up to 90 days in a "spell of illness"—the program pays for covered services during 60 days of care in a participating hospital, except for the first $40, during a spell of illness. If you are hospitalized for more than 60 days during your spell of illness, the program will pay all but $10 daily for covered services during an additional 30 days of care.

There is a lifetime limitation of 190 days on payments for treatment in mental hospitals.

Outpatient Hospital Diagnostic Services—the program will pay 80 percent of the cost for diagnostic services you receive as an outpatient of a participating hospital during a 20-day period, except for the first $20 of each $20-day period.

(1. Some Federal employees and former Federal employees who are not eligible for social security benefits are not eligible for hospital insurance. They may, however, enroll in the medical insurance program.

(2. Aliens who are not eligible for social security cash benefits will be eligible for the hospital and medical insurance programs only if they were admitted to the United States for permanent residence and have actually resided in the United States for 5 years.

(A "spell of illness" begins on the first day you receive covered services as a patient in a hospital or extended care facility. It ends after you have been out of a hospital or extended care facility for 60 consecutive days. You may be discharged and readmitted several times during a spell of illness, but a new spell of illness cannot begin until you have been out of a hospital or extended care facility for 60 consecutive days.)

Posthospital Extended Care in the kind of skilled nursing home or part of a hospital which qualifies as an extended care facility—after a hospital stay of at least 3 days, the program pays for 20 days of extended care during a spell of illness. If you need this care for more than 20 days during a spell of illness, the program will pay all but $5 daily for an additional 80 days.

Posthospital Home Health Care Services—the program will pay the costs for up to 100 visits during the 365 days following your discharge after a stay of 3 days or more in a hospital or extended care facility, if these services are furnished under an approved plan. Services of visiting nurses, physical therapists, and other health workers (but not doctors) who come to your home to furnish health care services are covered. Doctors' visits are covered only under the voluntary medical insurance plan.

Effective Dates—the benefits described above will become payable beginning July 1, 1966, except for posthospital extended care benefits which start on January 1, 1967. After the $40 deductible, benefit payments will cover the cost of your room and board in semiprivate accommodations, ordinary nursing services, and most other items of service you receive which are customarily furnished for the care of patients by the hospital or extended care facility.

Supplementary Medical Insurance
The hospital insurance program will help you pay your hospital bills, but it does not pay doctor bills. You can provide in advance toward paying your doctor bills, though—and other medical bills, too—by signing up for the medical insurance program.

When you enroll for medical insurance, you agree to pay a small premium ($3 monthly) with the Federal Government matching this amount.

The medical insurance program pays 80 percent of the reasonable costs or charges for the services, except for the first $40 in a calendar year.

Since the program does not begin until July 1, 1966, no one can count toward the $50 for the services covered under the program.

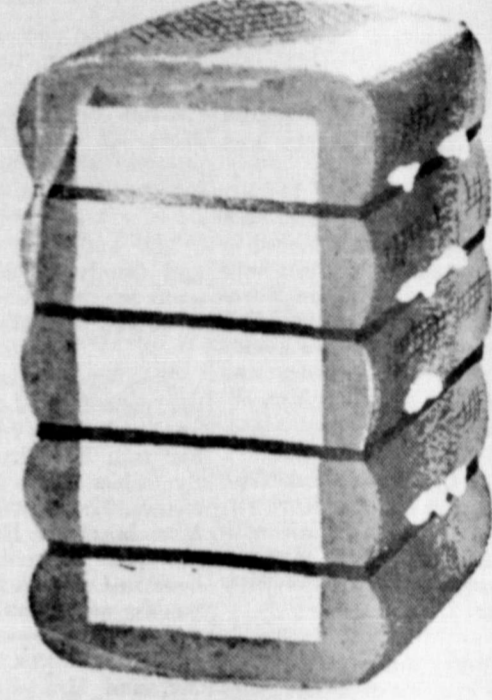

The services covered under the program include: Physicians' and Surgeons' services; no matter where you receive the services—at home, in the doctor's office, in a clinic, or in a hospital.

Home Health Visits: up to 100 home health visits under an approved plan each year will be provided for prior hospitalization. This is in addition to the benefits provided under the hospital insurance program.

Other Medical and Health Services: regardless of where you receive them, including such things as diagnostic X-rays, etc.; laboratory services; X-ray or treatment; surgical dressings; splints, casts, certain ambulance services.

Ginning at the Friendly and Efficient
Estelline Co-Op Gin

This farmer-owned gin here in Estelline made its finest record during the 1964 season, and we take this opportunity to express our thanks to the farmers of our community who are our customers. We are now operating your plant and are ginning as the bales roll in, and determined to give our friends and neighbors an even better service as this crop is harvested. As you know, the Estelline Co-Op Gin plant has been put in top shape throughout. The gin stands, with individual drive, which proved valuable last year, are the means of giving you a higher capacity of production, which is important as the pressure arrives.

As in past years, burs will be available to our customers who wish to return them to the land. You will be glad to know that we have installed a new bur hopper (catcher) which will make it more convenient for you. The burs are free of dirt and all foreign matter like weed seeds and trash. If you want burs hauled to your farm, we will make the arrangements.

YOUR GIN WILL BUY YOUR COTTON THIS SEASON

Again this year, arrangements have been made with Plains Cotton Co-operative to buy your cotton, and prices will be posted in the gin office each day. Checks will be passed immediately to growers. No cotton will be turned down. The association will buy all grades and staples from green cards. The price will be as good or better than the Government Loan rate. Ask us for details.

When cotton has been sold by the association, profits made will be returned direct to each individual farmer.

1966 Oldsmobile Lines Is Being Shown Today

Oldsmobile is introducing for 1966 a completely restyled line of F-85's, longer and lower looking 88's and 98's, and the long-awaited Tornado with front wheel drive, the first truly unique American automobile in many years.

The 1966 Oldsmobiles are on display at Ward Motor Co., Inc., today, October 14, it was announced today by Dennis Ward, dealer.

In addition to the Tornado, the public will see two other Oldsmobile models for the first time: the Cutlass Supreme, a new F-85 four-door hardtop sedan; and a convertible in the Delta 88 series.

Disclosing details of the new Oldsmobiles, Ward quoted Harold N. Metzler, Oldsmobile general manager and a vice president of General Motors: "Mechanically, all 1966 Oldsmobiles, including the F-85's, Vista-Cruisers, Jetstar, Dynamic and Delta 88's and the 98's, have undergone significant mechanical changes to improve ride and handling, performance, comfort and safety. The 88's and 98's have been redesigned, giving them a longer, lower look, and styling for each series is more distinctive. In the F-85 lineup, interiors and exteriors are completely restyled, with more emphasis on Oldsmobile 'family' appearance."

In discussing the new Tornado, Metzler described it as "an American original." He said it is a car designed for those who want the unconventional, the newest, in whatever product they buy. "The Tornado will set new standards for the industry in styling, handling and roadability, and its appearance dramatically strengthens Oldsmobile's world-wide reputation for automotive engineering leadership," Metzler said.

"The Tornado displays styling like that of no other car on the road today. Its flat floor provides for extra interior room and full six-passenger comfort, and with front wheel drive its driving traction and handling characteristics are outstanding."

All driving components of the Tornado are combined into an integrated unit under the hood. The specially-modified 385 h. p. 425 cubic-inch Tornado V-8 is mounted slightly to the right of center. The transmission's torque converter is attached conventionally to the rear of the engine. But the remaining section of the Turbo Hydra-Matic is mounted along the left side of the engine, facing forward. A silent-operating link chain transfers power from the converter to the transmission gear box. A planetary differential feeds torque through two drive axle shafts to the front wheels.

Torsion bar suspension contributes to the Tornado's road-hugging ability, vibration-free performance, and virtual freedom from the effects of cross winds on the open highway. Driving traction on snow or ice is matchless, Metzler declared.

The Tornado is built on a 119-wheelbase, is 211 inches in overall length, and is 52.3 inches in height. Tire size is 8:25x15.

It is offered in one body style, a six-passenger hardtop coupe, and is also available in a deluxe version. Special features of the Tornado include a draft-free ventilating system which eliminates the need for corner vent windows; vacuum operated headlamp retractors; optional headrests; wide doors for easier entrance and exit; and a rear-seat door opener lever on the deluxe model.

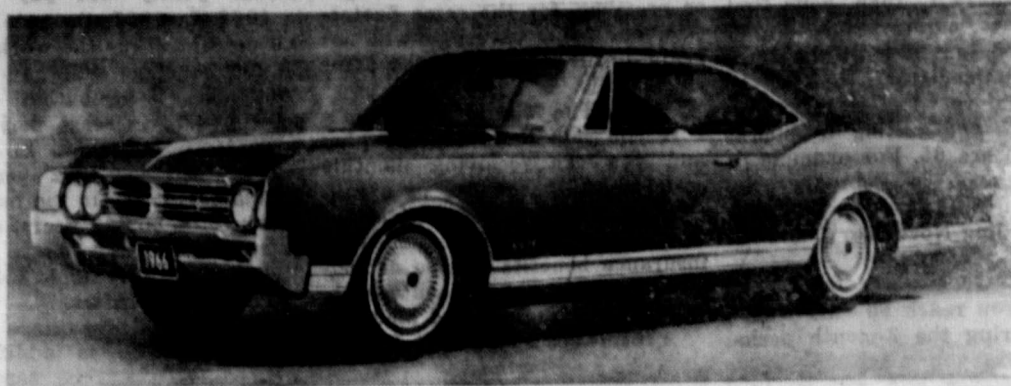

Styling of the new 88's and 98's is more distinctive for each series, and includes completely new front and rear end appearances. Rectangular headlamp housing and new grilles add to the impression of width.

The Starfire coupe has undergone even more extensive exterior changes, giving it extra flair and distinction. New "Strato" bucket seats are standard, with the full width "Strato" bench seat optional.

Basic styling of the new F-85's provides these cars with a smoother, longer, and younger look. For the first time, Oldsmobile is offering a four-door hardtop in the F-85 lineup. "The Cutlass Supreme, with its optional vinyl roof and extra-luxurious interior, may well become one of the top young-family prestige cars," Metzler said.

Oldsmobile continues to offer its 330-cubic-inch Jetfire Rocket on F-85 and Jetstar 88 models. All Oldsmobile engines, including the 425-cubic-inch Super Rocket which powers the Dynamic and Delta 88's, and the 98's, utilize the new Quadrajet 4-barrel carburetor developed for Oldsmobile by Rochester Products Division of General Motors. This new carburetor results in increased engine output, better performance, improved economy of operation, and better idle characteristics.

The highly efficient Jetaway automatic transmission continues as optional equipment on F-85 and Jetstar 88 models, while Oldsmobile's famed Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission is available on all 88's, including the Jetstar 88. It is standard on the 98's.

OLDSMOBILE—88's and 98's for 1966 have been redesigned, giving them a longer, lower look. Styling is more distinctive for each series and includes completely new front and rear end appearance. As seen on this 1966 Delta 88 Holiday coupe, rectangular headlamp housings and a new grille add to the impression of width. The Delta 88's are powered by Oldsmobile's 425-cubic-inch Super Rocket engine.

A new 3-speed manual transmission, fully synchronized in all forward gears, is standard on the F-85's and the 88's. Optional, except on the 98's, is a floor-mounted 4-speed fully synchronized manual transmission.

Several new and very useful equipment and accessory features are being offered for the first time on the 1966 Oldsmobile. Available on full-size cars only is Comforton, a unique all weather control system which combines the heater and air conditioning units to automatically maintain a pre-set temperature in the passenger compartment, regardless of varying outside climatic conditions.

A manually adjustable reclining front passenger seat is available on those models utilizing the "Strato" bucket or bench seat. The backrest tilts 30 degrees for maximum comfort.

Headrests for the driver and front seat passenger are also optional on "Strato" seats.

Cruise Control, which automatically maintains a pre-set speed for highway travel, was introduced earlier as an optional accessory on full-size Oldsmobiles. It is now available on F-85 models.

In all, Oldsmobile's 1966 lineup includes total of 35 models, 19 full-size (including the Tornado) along with 16 F-85's and Vista-Cruiser station wagons.

In an age as we are, where antibiotics are increasing in stature in the medical field, we might point out that antibiotics is now nearly as new as many might imagine. The word itself was coined by a French physician, Vuillemin, in 1889 and Pasteur, as a matter of interest, flirted with the idea of antibiotics when working with ANTHRAX in 1877.

In general, an antibiotic is a substance produced by one living organism for the destruction of another.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

For A Careful Review

According to some accounts, there has been so much work done so far that there will be little to do in the next year. This is not going to be a year of history-making. While some history-making bills were enacted in this session of the 89th Congress, the next year's Second Session will be certain to bring another round of proposals. Some of the proposals already have been passed in Congressional hearings, deliberations, and the essential preliminary work to be done by the House and Senate. Congress is expected to adjourn within a few days, but committee activity will continue at an abbreviated pace as legislation is shaped for the next session.

The opportunity to do so will come as the House and Senate act on appropriations for Executive Branch departments and agencies and the activities they conduct. For example, I have for years sought to end the inefficient and ineffective foreign aid program by working and voting against the appropriations bills as well as the bills authorizing foreign aid activities. It's this simple: No foreign aid appropriations, no foreign aid program. And those who would downgrade the Constitutional role of Congress should bear firmly in mind that Congress holds the Federal government's purse strings.

The year 1966 could be the year in which Congress exercises what is too often a neglected responsibility, that what is called "oversight of administration" or "legislative oversight." These terms simply mean that Congress, having authorized and funded a government activity, has a responsibility to see that it functions as Congress intended. Thus, Congress "oversees" program administration by conducting reviews and investigations. In a second sense, Congress checks for "oversights"—things it failed to take into account—in the original legislation authorizing a program or activity. Major Congressional investigations are often held in the exercise of this vital function. An example of one such highly publicized probe was the television quiz show investigation conducted by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee's subcommittee on legislative oversight, of which I was then a member. The purpose of the hearing was not only to expose the deception practiced against the public through rigged TV quiz shows but also to formulate new legislation giving the Federal Communications Commission and the courts authority to deal with such abuses in the future.

Laugh Of The Week

"I still think there are better ways to find out who your REAL friends are."

I have often pointed out that Congress sometimes enacts major legislation without providing sufficiently detailed guidelines to insure that Congressional intent is carried out. Measures too broadly outlined become distorted in the hands of bureaucrats who administer them. When administrators are given the ability to fill in details of loosely drawn legislations they are, in effect, legislating. Congress not only has abdicated its responsibilities, it has also permitted further erosion of the Constitutional principle that the Federal government is to consist of three separate and distinct branches. A year in which exercising the "legislative oversight" function is paramount could be as productive, in its way, as this year has been. By concentrating on this area of its responsibilities, Congress could regain its proper role in supervising Government operations.

Approximately 195 Medals of Honor have been awarded to men of the Marine Corps.

County-Wide Art Exhibit Is Being Planned For Nov. 13 In Memphis

A County-Wide Art Exhibit will be held all day Saturday, Nov. 13, it was announced this week by a committee in charge of making arrangements for the show.

Members of the committee include: Mrs. John Deaver, Mrs. Joe Allen Ballard of Estelline, and Mrs. Lewis Foxhall.

The purpose of the art exhibit is in keeping with the "excellence in education" tenet expressed by Governor John Connally and as stated in the Democratic platform adopted under his leadership. The Committeewomen of the State Democratic Executive Committee instituted in 1963 the first state contest art exhibit.

The reception of this new concept of involvement by a political party is an aspect of the fine arts was so outstandingly successful that Governor Connally requested that the exhibition be continued on an annual basis.

The aim of this annual exhibition, with its tangible awards for excellence, is to encourage young people to become interested in an continue their studies in the arts and humanities, and by this, and similar efforts, to enrich the personal contact between our elected state leadership and all citizens in our unique land of legend and opportunity—the State of Texas. The committee stated.

The art exhibit will be held in the City Council Room of the Municipal Building in Memphis.

The art exhibit will contain two contest divisions the committee stated.

The purchase scholarship division is open to any artist currently enrolled in a public, private or parochial school in Texas, in the 9th, 10th, 11th, or 12th grades and who is a resident of Texas and of the senatorial district in which the local contest is held.

The merit division is open to any artist of any age who is a resident of the State of Texas and of the senatorial district in which the local contest is held, and who does not derive more than one-half of his annual income from the sale of art work. Former winners of scholarships and merit awards at the state level are not eligible to compete in the same division again.

State awards, in the name of the Democratic women of Texas, will be presented by the Governor of Texas, and will consist of: $500 first purchase prize; $300 second purchase prize; $200 third purchase prize. These scholarship awards are to be used for formal studies in the arts and or in the humanities.

The merit division award is $100 presented to the artist whose work is judged to be outstanding in the merit division at the state contest.

Before an artist is eligible to enter the state contest scheduled for February, 1966, he must first win a district contest like the one here in Memphis.

Entries may be of any single media or of any combination of the following: oils, pastels, tempera, watercolors, casein, plastics (Polymar, etc.) and pen and ink drawings. Entries must be original and completed within the past year.

Persons interested in entering art work in the contest are asked to contact Mrs. John Deaver of Memphis for further information.

"We are announcing the art exhibit date now so artists will have time to prepare their exhibits," the committee stated.

Sept. 22, of this year. Mrs. C. D. Morris spoke on "International Co-Operation Year." She stated that our work over the years and our present programs of helping others through Project Hope, the Care Vocational Training Program, and helping to raise funds to construct a model village in Korea are proof of our continuing cooperation. During this 1964-65 administration, nine children's libraries have been established in Peru, and the members of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs have every right to be proud of this accomplishment. It takes only $100 to establish a library. They are being founded through the Alliance for Progress program. Peru is the country Texas Federation selected to help this year, and a friendship has been established through the exchange program which has been most effective. Delicious refreshments served to the following: W. C. Dickey, J. M. McClyde Smith, R. C. Glendon Rayford Hutcherson, Keith Stephens, O. B. Goodall, Wherry, Bill Combs, C. D. FROM THESE TWO FARMER-OWNED GINS—

The Record Speaks

WHETHER YOU HARVEST YOUR COTTON CROP

By HAND or STRIPPER

IT MEANS MORE MONEY WHEN YOU BRING IT TO EITHER THE GIN AT

MEMPHIS or PLASKA

A check of the record gives us reason to be proud of the kind of service which these two farmer-owned gins have established. Our entire operation is aimed at giving the growers of this area the finest ginning possible . . . and other services which are needed.

AS WE BEGIN ANOTHER SEASON, WE TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO THANK EVERY FARMER WHO HAS GIVEN US THEIR PATRONAGE. THIS BUSINESS IN THE YEARS GONE BY IS SINCERELY APPRECIATED. WE SHALL CONTINUE TO SERVE THE GINNING NEEDS OF OUR FRIENDS THIS SEASON.

Both the plant in Memphis and the one at Plaska are as good as new in every respect. Each piece of equipment has been repaired and checked completely. New electric motors have been installed at Memphis. The bales which have already been ginned at both plants show everything is in first class shape.

WE WILL BUY YOUR COTTON THIS SEASON

With special arrangements with the Plains Cotton Co-operative, we will be able to buy your cotton again this year. Basis will be posted on cotton each day in our gin office. Payments will be made immediately to each grower.

Again this year we will be operating a water truck for the convenience of our customers. Call either gin office, and a load of water will be delivered free of charge without delay.

VALUABLE HUMUS CAN GO BACK INTO YOUR SOIL

You can return your burs to your land when you gin here. Again we are making it possible for our customers to haul them away as time permits. Our Bur Fans meet government regulations.

THE MORE YOU GIN AT THESE FARMER-OWNED GINS, THE THE BIGGER YOUR DIVIDEND CHECK WILL BE EARLY NEXT YEAR!
