Comments

Comments were not printed in the last issue of The Democrat due to too much late arriving; also late advertisements. Something had to be done about this thing has happened. This thing has happened to me for over 60 years, below are part of the paragraphs I wrote last week, as additions.

Members are getting ready to select as they select choice and overhaul planters. Late come grain sorghum. The has declined tremendously in the past several years in number of acres planted to crop. The land is plowing perfectly good soil moisture in the subsoil is wet, according to reports.

Member May is the month usually get thunderstorms accompanied rain—and some hail. Long-range weather prediction was that we had for five different percent of moisture-laden air. All is needed is such things "fronts" or "lows" to set off. Two have already—but watch for two or more before June first.

Which reminds your Comments that Congressman Walter introduced an amendment bill before his subcommittee which was taking testimony Lower Colorado River project. His amendment in West Texas and the Panhandle in a study of future water development and requirements in West and Southwest. This is important as the go by. In my opinion, it will be many years until there is a dam built across Mulberry Creek. It is my understanding that this will be potable water of the kind which is good for consumption.

Turnout of voters in last week's Democratic Primary was disappointing, not in Hall County but all over state. What is wrong with citizens? They have one of the most important rights given mankind and do not exercise it in the interest of betterment.

Last week I wrote what two of us discussed about hard in 1893 and the 1930's. I report that No. 3 that anvils were used to the ringing noise in years to help celebrate a great such as the Fourth of July. Such an event happened, folks who believed people be patriotic, gathered two They placed one on the and a handful of black was placed upon it. Then the first anvil was placed on top the first one, leaving only powder to act as a fuse. A red hot rod was dragged in the powder. The noise heard for miles. Crisis In the Countryside

This week, May 15-22, is Soil Stewardship Week in Hall County and in Texas, under the sponsorship of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Therefore it is important and proper that we turn our attention to this matter, and recognize the earth as the Lord's and we are His servants charged with caring for it and developing it to the best of our ability.

Today, this is indeed a crisis in the countryside — or rather, two crises. One is the continued wastage of the land through erosion and improper use. The other is the result of man's partial success. This is the crisis of complacency about conservation.

Governor John Connally said in his Soil Stewardship Proclamation: "The soil and water, the trees, the grasses and wildlife, in their beauty and their infinite combination and products, were put here for all of us, to help us grow together in dignity, distortion and spoilage of human life. The countryside is a wealth of enormous values and unending uses with benefits and responsibilities for Americans everywhere. It provides food and outdoor recreation, wood and water, and it is the home of agriculture and forest, parks and wildlife, trails and highways, deserts, plains and wilderness.

"The change underway on all sides imposes new tests on soil stewardship, and requires the assertion of leadership by those who take seriously their responsibilities to God for the soil, water and other resources entrusted to us."

D. A. Williams, administrator, Soil Conservation Service, explained complacency about conservation in this way. Perhaps it is because the need for increased conservation measures does not immediately strike the eye. The supermarkets are full today. The dust may not be blowing today. And so we concern ourselves with the big headlines—wars, space, missiles, murders!

These are serious matters indeed. But, we lose more of our land every year to silent erosion than we have ever lost, or shall ever lose, to a foreign foe. What is the battle cry for this?

What happens to the eroding lands in Missouri and Montana affects us more directly than our landing on the moon. Where are the pleaders for this? And—no matter what weapons of the future we develop—the most modern army in the world still travels on its stomach, still depends on the bountiful earth we take for granted.

Williams said he firmly believes that there is no work more important now or for the future, than conserving and enriching our own land, the basis of our life, our living, our national wealth.

Did you know that there is no work more important, now or for the future, than conserving and enriching our own land, the basis for our life, our living, our national wealth.

Did you know that we lose each year, through erosion and other forms of preventable damage, about 500,000 acres of formerly productive land. The bulldozer and the builder take another one and one-third million acres of the best land every 365 days for highways, factories, housing and so on. Our rivers continue to flood and destroy homes and hopes. Our water supply runs short, becomes polluted, erodes the land. And as much of our land disappears, our population and that of the world increases.

We still have our supermarkets full so our time has not yet run out. But, quite literally, the sins of our forefathers are being visited upon us. We cannot afford to be as wasteful in the future, if we desire our children's children to inherit an affluent America. We must plan more intensively, farm more wisely, care more urgently. And we must make sure the city man understands that what happens in rural America affects him immediately and profoundly.

If our land is to continue to be called "God's Country," let us clearly acknowledge it is our job to keep it that way. Farmers and ranchers, as the chief soil stewards, have the heaviest responsibility. They, of all people, know the conservation job is far from done. Thirty percent of our land is being properly treated. What about the 70 percent which isn't?

Thousands and thousands of dedicated men and women are working to keep our land rich and bountiful—especially the officials and cooperators of our 3,000 soil and water districts.

Our land and grasses are Hall County's number one resource. Let us keep it for our children and their children.

Secret Meetings

A choice item of debate around the state right now is the startling write-in victory for the mayor's post in Lubbock. Most of the major newspapers and many of us little ones around Texas are calling attention to it as a tremendous triumph of the average citizen against secrecy in government.

The suddenness and ferocity of the write-in sweep in Lubbock was remarkable. Just two days after the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal printed its discovery of the secret city council "workshops" and secret pay raises for top city officials—and the unopposed candidate for mayor upheld them—the voters stormed to the polls to write in the name of a man who was far from being a candidate. In fact, he was far from Lubbock, looking to a possible permanent move.

Secrecy in government is one of today's key problems any way you look at it. But the Lubbock case should strike fear into the hearts of politicians who may get the notion they and their activities are not to be revealed to, or questioned by the public.

Secret meetings go by several names. "Executive session" is one used quite often. But whatever the label, there's no place for them in responsible government, be it school board, city council, county commissioners, state legislature or Congress.

These secret meetings have cropped up here in Seminole from time to time, too. No need to re-open past sores by detailing them, and certainly, all of our local government agencies aren't guilty of the secret get-togethers.

However, it's our firm belief that any servant of the people—school trustee, city alderman, county commissioner—who takes an oath to represent the people and then takes part in a secret meeting, well, he's violating his oath and his public trust.—Free Barbee in Seminole Sentinel.

Rural Carriers Of County Aid In Distributing Cards

Postmaster C. E. Lindsey reminded rural patrons of the Memphis Post Office to be on the lookout for June Livestock Survey cards. Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

"USDA bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Mr. Lindsey explained. "It is important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: T. O. Pounds, Route 1; and I. S. Johnson, Route 2, Memphis. Also assisting carriers out of post offices at Estelline, Lakeview and Turkey.

Survey cards will be forwarded to Carl D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician, in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the State's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops, and the number of hens and pullets.

A total of $947.16 has been contributed to the American Cancer Society during the campaign to raise funds, Roselyn Williams, chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Club, stated this week.

The drive was sponsored by the B&PW Club, assisted by a number of other women's clubs of Memphis and Turkey.

Advice Given On Insurance After Medicare

Medicare, the new program of health insurance for the aged, begins on July 1, 1966, for all people over 65 who have signed up for it.

Many people are asking what they could do about their private health insurance plans. While this decision is a private one, Travis Briggs, social security district manager in Amarillo cautions: "do not cancel any other health insurance you have until your medicare coverage actually begins."

This warning also holds true for people who become 65 in the future. If they apply for medicare in the three-month period before their 65th birthday, their coverage will not begin until the month they are 65.

Briggs said that it is important that people approaching 65 do three things:

1. Obtain good evidence of your age well before your 65th birthday, so you will know when your benefits under medicare can begin.
2. Visit your local social security office as early as possible in the three-month period before your 65th birthday.

ity office as early as possible in the three-month period before your 65th birthday.

3. After you have established your age with social security, get in touch with the agent or company that provides your health insurance.

Local social security offices have pamphlets that describe the medicare program. You can get one by asking for pamphlet OASI-883.

Thanks, Friends

I appreciate the support I received in the Primary Election May 7th, and I want to thank all of you from the bottom of my heart for your vote and influence. I am deeply grateful for the support you have given me during the time I have served as your County School Superintendent.

I appreciate the fact that I did not have an opponent this year, and in returning to office for another term, I pledge my best efforts to the girls and boys of Hall County. It will be our goal to strive for "Another Service for Education."

Thank you,

Tops Gilreath

Hall County Superintendent

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media.

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people generally do. Not only do they read; they cut out and show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples. When people see an advertisement in print, they can compare designs . . . features . . . and prices of nationally known products and services. (And people do compare before they buy.) Advertising in print is a handy thing. You can always check back; the message is still there even if your attention is distracted. When you add it up, print advertising—the kind you read in this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales.

The Memphis Democrat

Sincere Thanks

To all my friends and supporters of Precinct No. 1 of Hall County:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to each of you for your vote and support during the campaign and election on May 7th.

As most of you know I was unable to get out and meet the people due to a car accident, but I certainly appreciate all that was done for me.

It is wonderful to know the people of the county had confidence in me and supported me for Justice of the Peace for the past twenty years.

There comes a time when we all must retire, and that time has come for me.

Sincerely,

J. S. Grimes

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

Knife Safety
Don't risk losing a good fishing knife overboard. Drill a small hole in the handle, attach a short length of line and a cork or plastic float so it will float if dropped overboard.

De-Kinking "Mono"
You can remove the coil set from monofilament line by washing it in mild soapy water and then stretch and dry it in the shade.

Nylon Care
Nylon rope on your boat trailer winch won't rot, but be careful of rust gathering on the winch handle, sides and spindle. This rust can cut nylon.

Occasionally remove the nylon rope from the winch. Carefully sand the spindle and sides and coat with a rust resistant paint.

Winch Caution
Before putting a strain on your boat trailer winch be sure the anti-reverse gear is engaged. A wildly spinning winch handle can badly bark knuckles and break fingers.

Handy Tape
Scotch brand tape No. 810 is a must for every tackle box and hunting kit. You can use it to tape on rod guides and tip tops, patch minor leaks in boots and waders and mend rips and tears in canvas tents, cots and boat covers.

This particular brand is water resistant and sticks tight.

Combination Bait
To jazz up a topwater lure that fish ignore, try adding a leader about six inches long to the back hook. Then add a single hook and minnow.

Often the fish will strike the minnow when they'll ignore the lure.

Shotgunners Don't Aim
You can improve your shotgun shooting by forgetting all about aiming. A shotgun, except when rifled slugs are used, was never meant to be aimed. Your shooting will improve by simply pointing the gun at the target.

State Approves 1966 Program For FM System

The State Highway Commission has approved the new 1966 Texas Farm to Market Road program, which raises to more than 38,200 miles the State's designated FM system. This includes roads approved for construction or already completed. Projections call for an ultimate 50,000-mile system.

The Texas Farm to Market Road System is one of the most highly developed rural highway networks in the United States and exceeds in mileage the entire highway systems of most states.

The 1966 program proposed improvements on 904 miles of FM roads at an estimated cost of approximately $23 million.

The total investment in Texas' FM system, including initial cost and improvement, amounted to about $885 million on January 1, 1966.

Boxcar Shortages

After year we on the have witnessed the prob- lem caused by a totally inadequate supply of railroad boxcars and demands at wheat and sorghum harvest time. We have seen grain piled on the next to elevators because it is not possible to obtain cars. This year we know of grain elevators in which grain has been unable to meet shipping demands because cars could not be obtained. The result has been that elevators have been un- derutilized by the Commodity Corporation for failing to meet shipping deadlines. Be- sides problems like these I had seen successive Sessions of Congress propose legislation to encourage railroad companies to purchase a more adequate supply of cars, to stop up their pur- chase of cars and to make better use of the cars available. In Ses- sion after Session the legislation effectively blocked by inter- ference with no understanding or realization of a problem that primarily one of Western have built and maintained suffi- cient fleets of boxcars at a time when the national car supply has been declining. But in the course of delivering goods to eastern markets and ports, cars from western roads have become tied up in the service of eastern rail- roads which have lacked suffi- cient numbers of cars of their own. It was less costly to rent cars than to buy them, and for railroads in deep financial trou- ble it was the alternative to mak- ing substantial investments in new equipment.

ORDAINED—Bobby Gene Taylor, former Memphis resi- dent and son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Taylor, was or- dained for the Christian Min- istry in services held Sunday at the First Christian Church in Hurst. Minister Taylor will receive his B. D. degree from Brite in Fort Worth this summer.

The bill passed by the House of Representatives and the Sen- ate authorizes the Interstate Commerce Commission in its set- ting of the rates of compensa- tion to be paid for the use of any type of freight cars to in- clude such elements as in the Commission's judgment will pro- vide just and reasonable compen- sation to freight car owners, con- tribute to sound car service prac- tice (including efficient utiliza- tion and distribution of cars), and encourage the acquisition and maintenance of a car supply ade- quate to meet the needs of com- merce and the national defense. By setting rental charges at high- er rates, if such action is called for, the Commission could thus encourage return to home roads of boxcars that the owning rail- road might require to meet sec- tional demands. This is one of the types of incentives covered in the legislation.

This action will not solve all the problems by any means. Box- cars are going to continue to be in short supply, but the legisla- tion is going to help. I am very much in hopes that additional steps can be taken to encourage railroads to be able to meet the ever-increasing requirements of U. S. business and especially the seasonal problems with which ag- riculture is confronted.

The campaign to make our city a more beautiful place to live seems to be progressing nicely. By a leisurely drive around town, one can see that many are already hard at work getting yards in shape, planting flower beds, and beginning that continuing fight against weeds, members of the C. of C. Beautification Committee stated this week.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce Community Improvement Committee urge you to get in on the ground floor with your projects also. Here is your chance to "keep up with the Joneses" and make it really worthwhile. The prizes of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00 are pretty attractive, so get out there and outdo your neighbor. Clean up those blemishes to your property, paint the trim, or do whatever you think will contribute most to beautifying our city, and winning that first prize for you.

Perhaps there are some who are not able to work in their yards as much as they would like. The committee has been notified that several of the Explorer Scouts are interested in doing yard work during the summer. Here is a chance to keep your yard beautiful and help these Scouts to earn some extra spending money. If you would like to employ one or more of these young men you may do so by calling telephone number 259-2494, it was stated.

"Keep up the good work and let's make our city more beautiful than ever," the committee members urged.
