Kilgore, Former Resident, Died Sunday

D. Kilgore of Los Alamos, N. M., 41, former Memphis resident, was one of four persons aboard their Cessna 210 airplane which crashed and exploded about 7:30 a. m. Sunday on the J. V. Voyten farm east of Antelope, and about 19 miles from Jacksboro. The crash killed Kilgore, his wife, Valina E. Sears, his wife, Valina E. Sears, about nine, all of Alamos. A 17-year-old son had remained in Dallas relatives.

The plane left Love Field at 7:30 a. m. on a flight to Santa Fe, according to the FAA.

Witnesses reported the plane came out of a thunderhead, flying northward, and into a spinning nose dive about 500 feet in the air.

Funeral services for Mr. Kilgore were held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the funeral home in Dallas.

McMickin Retires As Weather Observer After Fifty-Nine Years

Texas' oldest weather observer, in length of service resigns. John J. McMickin, cooperative weather observer at Memphis, who has served in this capacity longer than anyone in Texas' history resigned July 8 because of ill health. Mr. McMickin completed 59 years of service in April of this year. He is 82 years old.

A cooperative weather station was established at the Fort Worth and Denver Railway station in Memphis in July, 1905. Mr. McMickin, at the age of 16, went to work at the station office in December, 1906. Four months later, in April, 1907, the station agent gave him the job of keeping the weather records, which he did continuously thereafter for more than 59 years.

Mr. McMickin has served many organizations and his community long and well. He treasures a 57-year service pin from the Burlington Railway, a 50-year pin from the Masonic lodge, and a 50-year pin from the U. S. Weather Bureau now under the Environmental Science Services Administration. Mr. McMickin retired from the railroad in December, 1963.

An article, commemorating his long service to the Weather Bureau appeared in "The Cooperative Weather Observer," an ESSA Weather Bureau publication, released in 1965.

The nation's cooperative weather observers have a proud tradition of more than 100 years of voluntary public service. Many individuals have observed the weather every day for 30, 40, or 50 years, but only a very few have served as long as 59 years. Today, with the information gathered by cooperative weather observers throughout the years, ESSA has a vast storehouse of records of the nation's climates. With all the advances of modern technology, including satellites and automatic stations for observing the weather, the services of the volunteer observers are more needed and more valuable than ever. These private citizens who keep official records of the weather at more than 12,000 places throughout the United States—more than 1,000 places in Texas alone, serve for little or no pay on a seven-day a week basis.

Mr. McMickin once cancelled a long-planned two-week vacation trip to California when he was unable to find someone to take over his observational duties during the planned absence.

Mr. McMickin adds this bit of philosophy about his long service as a cooperative observer, "My years have had many pleasures, and I consider these pleasures my pay. In dollars and cents, the pay has been small but the trust and honor large. We all are honored by how useful we have been."

Mr. McMickin has been replaced as the official cooperative weather observer at Memphis by Rayford E. Hutcherson.

McMickin is presently in a Fort Worth hospital where he is reported to be recovering nicely after having one of his legs amputated.

Charles Brown To Attend SMU School Of Banking

Charles Brown, assistant vice president of the First National Bank, will be among 470 bank executives from across the country who will attend the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking on the Campus of Southern Methodist University in Dallas. The school will open on Sunday, July 17, and continue for two weeks.

Bankers, who are chosen for the school, attend three consecutive summers. This will be Mr. Brown's first year to attend.

While at the school, the bankers-turned-students will receive advanced professional training from 120 of the nation's leading bankers, lawyers and educators. Instead of classes with lectures and textbooks, however, the students will meet in groups to discuss cases written by the faculty of the school portraying various banking situations. Faculty Chairmen and Counselors for the cases use these discussions to guide students and practical solutions to realistic problems.

In addition to participating in case discussions, students will attend a series of evening lectures delivered by outstanding members of the financial community. These speakers will discuss matters of current interest to bankers.

Though the programs of the school run from 8:30 to 9:00 p. m. and work sessions on cases often last until late in the evening, the student bankers are active in athletic and cultural events during the program. In cooperation with the SMU School of the Arts, the Banking School has planned seven short evening entertainment programs ranging from Dixieland to opera which will be presented before the evening lectures. The students themselves produce for the last evening a variety show that traditionally closes each session of the school.

Lakeview Tennis Tournney To Begin

Play begins next Wednesday in the annual Lakeview Tennis Tournament being held at the courts north of the high school building, Barney Bevers, sponsor, said.

Over 80 entries have already signed up for the tournament. Entry deadline is Tuesday, July 19. Entry fee is $1.00 for each event. Those desiring to enter can contact Bevers or call his home in Lakeview, 867-2601.

The tournament will be concluded on Sunday, July 24. Spectators are welcomed. The concession stand will be run by the Lakeview Tennis Club.

The annual Lakeview tournament always attracts the finest high school and adult tennis players in this part of Texas, and Sponsor Bevers said that competition this year will be as tough as ever.

Brackets will be drawn up in all divisions after the final entries are in, probably late Tuesday. Play in the Grade School division will begin at 9 a. m. Wednesday, July 20, Bevers stated.

The High School division play will begin at 5 p. m. Wednesday, and the Open division play will start at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Tennis players entering the open division can enter the men's singles or the women's singles, or play doubles in the mixed doubles bracket.

Also, two special brackets, the men's doubles and women's doubles, will be set up for players who are not in shape or practice but would like to get out and bat the ball around, Bevers said.

Five brackets will be set up for high school netters entering the tournament. Brackets will include: boys singles and doubles, girls singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Three Scouts Ride Bicycles 50 Miles Wed.

Three Memphis scouts, members of Boy Scout Troop 35, completed requirements for the cycling merit badge Wednesday morning, which entailed they ride their bicycles 50 miles within a 10-hour period.

The boys, Byron Tuck, a star scout, Gary Sims, a life scout, and Ronald Bradshaw, a life scout, began riding their bicycles at 4 a. m. Wednesday on county farm-to-market roads and completed 52 miles of cycling by 10:30 a. m., averaging about 8 miles per hour.

Scoutmaster Les Sims said the boys fared pretty well over the 50-mile trip, but they reached a point where they would not stop to rest for fear their legs would get stiff, and they would have to stop before finishing.

The cycling merit badge also has several shorter trip requirements which are preliminary for the big 50-mile trip.

Mid-year financial report of the four banks showed an all time high for Hall County in both the total assets and total deposits as far as mid-year reports are concerned.

The June 30 report is traditionally the low point of the year according to banking records in the Cotton-feed-wheat and livestock oriented economy of this area.

The total assets figure as of the close of business on June 30 was $14,694,947.83, an increase of $1,862,490.25 over the June 30, 1965, total assets figure of the four Hall County banks.

Total deposits followed the same trend, reaching $13,252,287.76, an increase of $1,824,738.37 over the June, 1965, figure, which was in the neighborhood of $11.5 million.

The combined loans and discounts figure for this June was $6,859,001.24, an increase of $1,142,984.01, over the 1965 mid-year total.

A comparison of the June total assets figure with the record high set the first quarter as reported in April, showed a loss. In April, the four banks' total assets were $16.2 million, while in June the total assets are about one and a half million less.

The figures for the mid-year financial report are taken from Statements of Condition published elsewhere in this issue from the First National Bank of Memphis, First State Bank of Memphis, First National Bank of Lakeview and the People's State Bank of Turkey.

Enforce The Old Laws First!

If American casualties in Viet Nam during any three-day weekend approached the numbers killed and wounded on this nation's highways during the Fourth of July weekend, there'd be fireworks in Washington and in State Capitols across the land which would make Independence Day displays look puny by comparison.

We Americans, however, complacently take our peaceful holiday slaughter in stride . . . viewing it, perhaps, as a small part of the price we pay for our affluent society.

Of course, there are many outcries against it in high places . . . and many high-flown plans advanced for its curtailment. In Washington, Congress is hell-bent on legislation to force automobile manufacturers to make their products "safer" under federal regulations . . . and in Austin, Governor Connally is proposing new laws to curb highway speed and the soaring costs of automobile insurance.

But automobiles, in spite of the fact that they are capable of greater speeds than ever before, are safer, mechanically, than they were twenty years ago . . . with more efficient brakes, better lights, better tires, better vision. And even an automobile armored like a Sherman tank would be no safe vehicle in a head-on collision.

The human element, not the mechanical, is responsible for most accidents.

It's an old joke, but still true, that the most dangerous part of the automobile is the nut behind the wheel . . . particularly when it's tight.

Before we break out in a rash of new laws designed to control the nut, however, we'd like to see some of the old ones given a fair trial with strict, and uniform, state-wide and nationwide enforcement.

In Texas we already have so many traffic safety laws that are unenforced that it seems ridiculous to pass more. Let's put some teeth in the ones we've got.

The license to drive is a good place to begin. The law recognizes that driving an automobile is a privilege to be controlled by the State . . . but fails utterly to make effective use of suspension or withdrawal, of that privilege as a measure of enforcing control. Even the convicted drunk driver whose license is suspended by the Courts often continues to drive, while the hometown officers who know of the suspension wink at the offense and those elsewhere never learn of it until he is caught in another offense. Sometimes this is too late for someone else.

And driver responsibility is another. Texas law requires all persons who drive to carry adequate insurance or be otherwise able to show financial responsibility, but enforcement is lax . . . and all too often, the only check for compliance is after an accident, and the driver-at-fault with no insurance, leaves his victim holding the bag while officers shrug their shoulders and walk away. It happens.

And Texas law requires safety inspections, once a year and minimum at that . . . and even this small requirement is often disregarded or handled ineffectually.

So what can be done about it? Well, for a starter, how about requiring proof of insurance and a safety inspection certificate as a pre-requisite to the annual licensing of the automobile itself . . . thus insuring that at one time during the year, anyhow, the law is being complied with? And toss in a requirement for proof of valid drivers license for the person, at least, who is licensing the vehicle.

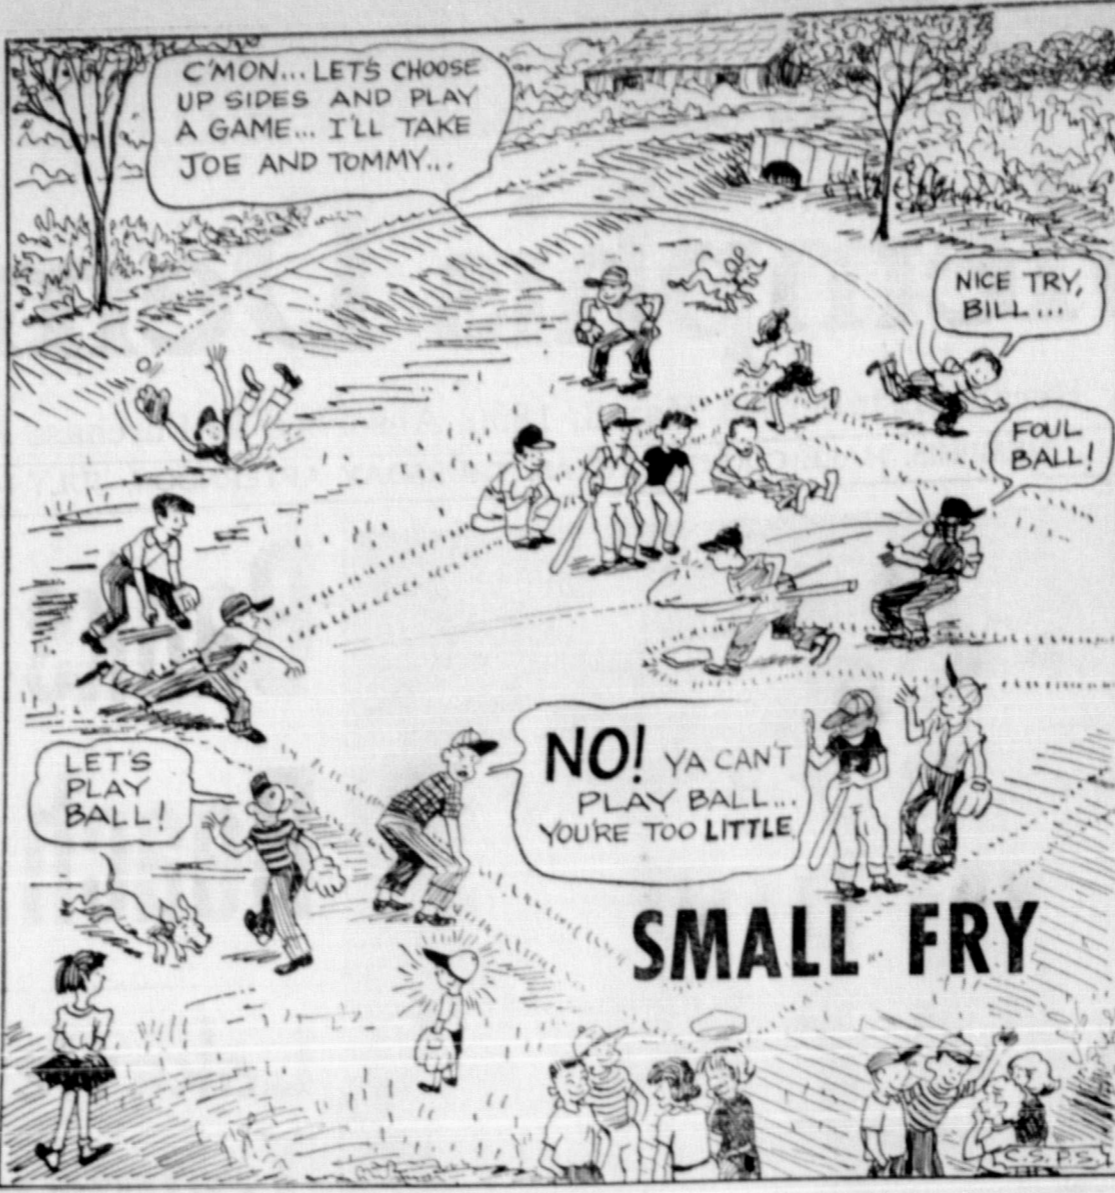

Next let's try a uniform enforcement code . . . providing for suspension of driver's license, rather than ineffectual fines for traffic violations. A two or three day suspension perhaps for minor violations, ranging up to a year's suspension for chronic violators.

Then, let's enforce the driver licensing requirement . . . and see if the privilege of driving isn't important enough to people to be earned through responsible behavior on streets and highways.

We'll make the Governor a wager that when the only way to pay for traffic violations is through loss of driving privileges instead of cash, we'll have a better class of drivers on the highways of Texas.

But please, let's not create any new laws until we've tried enforcing the old ones.

What Other Editors Say

A Fair Draft

Millions of American homes are shadowed these days by the prospect of military service for their draft-age sons, and there is more and more complaint about the fairness of the draft.

In fact, a Congressional committee is looking over the draft laws and procedures right now, with a view toward changing them if found not fair.

Of course, it is just about impossible to devise an absolutely fair draft law because most of those concerned want a draft law that would take others first.

But most young men accept their draft status willingly and abide by the regulations. When their time comes, they go.

What are some of the complaints about the present draft law?

Well, a lot of parents seem to think that the deferment plan is too heavily weighted in favor of the collegians who are exempt as long as they are in college and make their grades. This has led to a great popularity in higher education, extending even to the area of higher degrees. A really enterprising fellow can stay in school long enough to pass the magic age of 26 and thus reduce his draft odds.

The draft brings out a lot of uncertainties. Once a young man reaches 18 and registers, he has at least four years where he must face the prospect of having his plans interrupted by the draft.

Another complaint is that draft quotas are weighted so that they take more men from rural areas and small towns than from cities. It does so because the quota applies to both draftees and enlistees, and city enlistments far outstrip rural ones.

The policy of exempting certain occupations comes under fire, too. Some critics see no reason for deferring farmers on the grounds that the nation might starve if young farmers are drafted. Other occupations, such as shipbuilders and aircraft workers can get deferments on the grounds of vital need when actually they could be replaced if they had to be.

But the biggest complaint is that the draft exempts college men and takes the others. The reasoning being this it that a nation needs all the trained brainpower it can get and it would be wasteful to put these brains into the army.

This is outmoded, of course, because the military needs brainy people more than ever. It doesn't seem like sound national policy to draft the mediocre and exempt the intelligent, if such a thing were to be done.

Maybe the selective service system should be overhauled and made more fair. The trouble is that nobody seems to agree on what fair is.

County's Cotton Insect Report Is Released

Fourteen cotton farms scattered over the county are checked weekly for cotton insects by the Extension in Hall County. A great deal of the late planted cotton in Hall County began squaring during the past week and will soon reach the 'one-third grown square' stage.

Light infestation of thrips were reported in Hall County but no problem exists. Light infestations of aphids were observed in a few fields.

Fleahopper infestations continue to build up in Hall County in the older cotton. Overwintering bollweevil population have not been reported on any of the farms being checked.

Hall County cotton producers should check their fields for overwintering bollweevils and punctured squares. No bollworm populations have been observed in Hall County.

Many beneficial insects were reported. As yet, no cotton square borers have been found. Lygus bugs and stink bugs were reported in several fields. Cabbage loopers were reported in one field. Grasshoppers are causing damage to borders of cotton fields and they have stripped the native grass and weeds in the range pastures in Hall County.

For control recommendations, please refer to L-508, Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects. Copies of this publication may be picked up at the county agent's office.

The information used in this Insect Report was compiled from reports received from the Rolling Plains Insect Survey Teams, County Agricultural Agents and Extension Service Entomologists.

He was cited for his outstanding skill, knowledge and job proficiency.

The sergeant, now in Vietnam in the fight against Communist aggression, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces which provides offensive-defensive air power for the U. S. and its allies in the Pacific Far East and Southeast Asia.

Sergeant Montonot attended the Mamou High School.

His wife, Mildred, is the daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Jennings of Hedley.

Mrs. Dora Faye Klutts and daughter of Corpus Christi are visiting here this week with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Mc-Bee.

Income Tax Q. And A. Column

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Are you getting refunds out any faster with your computers?

A. Yes, we are processing refunds faster and computers are partly responsible. Over 27 million refund checks had been mailed by April 15, 10 percent more than for a comparable period a year ago. In other words, computers helped get refund checks to nearly 3 million more taxpayers by April 15 than received them last year.

Q. What about expenses connected with attending military reserve meetings in the evening. Is anything deductible?

A. The cost of your uniform, less any nontaxable allowances, will be deductible but not the travel costs to and from your reserve meetings unless you also worked at your regular job on the same day you attended a reserve meeting. Then the cost of a one-way trip from your regular job to the meeting can be deducted from your gross income.

Q. I need someone to help me appeal my tax case but your people won't recommend anybody. Why is that?

A. There are many qualified tax practitioners and the government cannot be put in a position of favoring one over another. Officers of your local chapters of legal, accounting or tax practitioner associations will give you the names of those who can represent you.

Q. Do you have any publication that tells taxpayers what to do if called in for an audit?

A. Yes, IRS Document No. 5202, "If Your Return Is Examined." It can be obtained without charge by writing to your District Director of Internal Revenue.

Q. My return was audited and I actually got a larger refund than I claimed. Does that happen very often?

A. Yes, it happens fairly often. One object of our audits is to make sure that the correct tax is collected from each taxpayer. We find many taxpayers who have overpaid as well as those who have underpaid.

Last year $145 million was returned to taxpayers as a result of audits where claims for refund had not been filed. On the other hand, our examination of returns resulted in the assessment of $2.7 billion in additional taxes and penalties.

Q. Is it true you have to get permission from the Internal Revenue Service to leave the country?

A. The law requires that most aliens must show their tax affairs are in good order before they are granted a sailing permit.

To establish this, copies of 1963, 1964 and 1965 tax returns, as well as a statement of income and expenses for 1966, should be brought to your local Internal Revenue office. You should also bring your passport and re-entry permit as well as certain other papers and documents. For a detailed discussion of these requirements you may obtain Internal Revenue Service Document No. 5589, "U. S. Tax Guide for Aliens," free by writing to your District Director of Internal Revenue.

These requirements do not apply to U. S. citizens, although U. S. citizens who are delinquent in payment of Federal taxes should arrange with the Internal Revenue Service for payment before going abroad.

Jehovah's Witnesses Meet In Dallas August 3-7

Jehovah's Witnesses plan to meet in the more than 100 congregations at the August 3-7 assembly at Dallas' modern Hall. According to Steven E. Lane, the program information this year is kept a secret until the delegates until they have been whetted in advance. The program feature, "A Right Foundation of Resistant Materials," as "Any Christian knows difficult maintaining Bible in these critical times."

And one glance at this particular subject reveals it is not a run-of-the-mill treatment of generalities, but a hard and factual analysis of Christian responsibility for today."

Commenting on the program Lane noted that part of the program will deal with dramatizations offering vivid portrayals of Bible accounts that are filled with meaning for all Christians now. "Imagine, seeing the integrity-filled lives of Daniel, Jeremiah and Joshua unfold before the eyes, and with application. This is something to look forward to."

"It is material such as this," he said, "that is real enough for modern use. This way we can effectively combat the current religious fad that 'God is Dead' as well as keeping strong in a materialistic, atheistic, sadistic and morally corrupt system."

The highlight of the program will be reached at 3 p. m. Sunday, August 7, when the public lecture, "What Has God's Kingdom Been Doing Since 1914?" will be given.

THOMPSON BROS. CO.

Taxes—with its what, where, why, who and because—raised its unpopular head in the Texas capitol this week.

Texas Committee on State and Local Tax Policy presented a report to Gov. John Connally and the Texas Legislature.

Everybody's request for more money indicates that the spending program to be presented the 1967 Legislature will eat up the $75,000,000 state surplus—and will require new money to finance.

Higher education, pay raises for teachers and state employees, water development, state park and recreation expenditures, the Texas Highway Patrol—all want in on the act.

The tax policy committee is headed by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, who asked the Texas Research League to list possible sources for new taxes.

Proposed were:

1. Increase the states sales tax from its present two per cent to two and a half or three per cent, raising $72,400,000 to $144,800,000 a year;
2. Corporation income tax of 4.4 per cent (average of those in the 37 states which levy it), raising from $18,000,000 to $106,000,000 a year;
3. Graduated personal income tax, raising $75,000,000 a year. (There are 36 states with personal income taxes).

Draft Call

Texas' part of fulfilling the national draft call for 31,300 men in September includes furnishing 1,381 men in July; 1,837 in August; and 1,585 in September, says Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director.

In addition, between 4,000 and 5,000 Texas men will be called for preinduction physical and mental examinations in September.

Grain Farmers Cautioned

John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, advised Texas grain farmers to "make certain your harvest is stored in a state-licensed warehouse and to demand a valid Texas Grain Receipt." Approximately 70 warehouses have failed to renew their licenses this year, though the grain harvest is well underway in many parts of the state. Grain stored in these warehouses is not protected by bonds and license required by law, said White.

More Boat Ramps

Thirty-three new boat ramps across the state, making a total of 94 such ramps, have been approved by the Texas Highway Commission.

Twenty of the new ones are adjacent to farm-to-market or park roads.

These new ramps will increase launching facilities by more than one-half and will cost $241,800, or an average of $7,327 each. Source of money, provided for under the Texas Water Safety Act, comes from Certificate of Number fees collected from Texas boat owners.

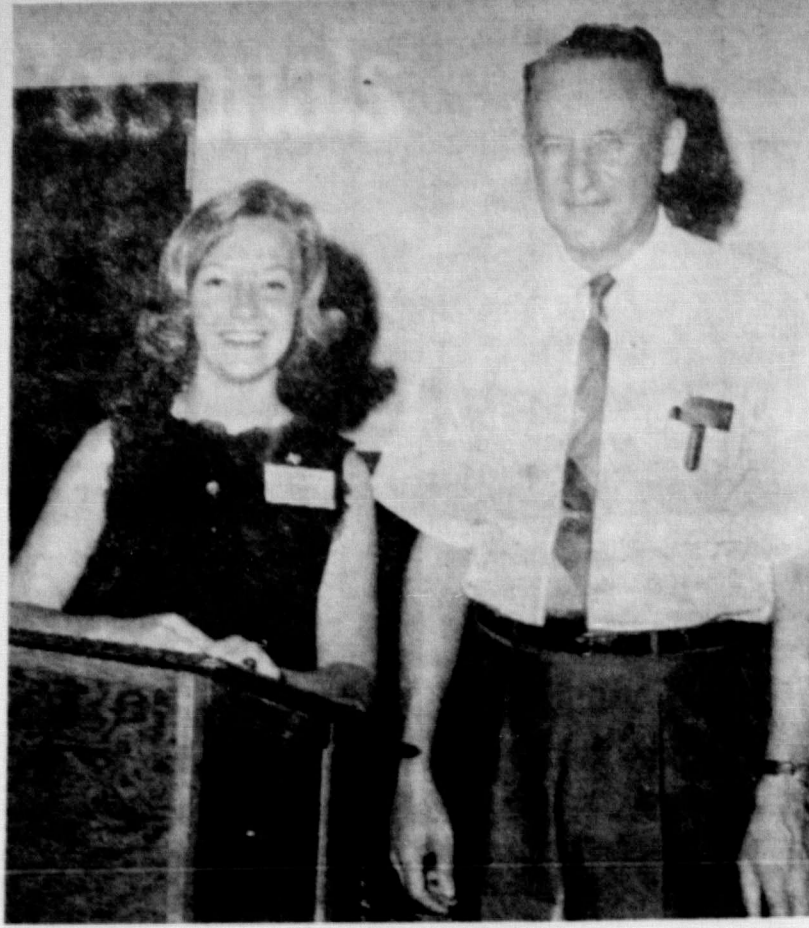

And, speaking of boats, new boat inspection fees and unclaimed boat gasoline sales taxes are reaping about $100,000 a month for the state.

According to the State Parks and Wildlife Department, a new system is being set up so that fines collected for boat safety law violations will go to a State fund, rather than to county funds where most other law-breakers' fines are deposited.

Big Thicket Endorsed

State Parks and Wildlife Commission endorsed "in principle" the creation of a Big Thicket State Park. It will embrace some 15,000 acres of the 300,000 acres in Liberty, Hardin, Tyler and Livingston Counties known as the "Big Thicket."

Will Odom of Austin, commission chairman, said endorsement would be made "specific" after the Parks and Wildlife staff has studied the proposal. Then all the Commission needs is legislative approval.

ROTARY GUEST—Miss Suzette Smythe, delegate to Girls State, was welcomed to Memphis Rotary Club meeting Tuesday by C. E. Voyles, the incoming president of the club. Miss Smythe gave the program brought to the club by Mills Roberts. Mr. Voyles took over the presidency from Bob Fowler on July 1.

Other Parks Need Repair

According to William M. Gosdin, park services director, state parks' buildings need repairs to the tune of $970,000.

State Parks are expected to get $2,200,000 for improvement from federal sources during each of the coming two years. But Gosdin said a complete statewide outdoor recreation plan is needed by 1970 to keep the state qualified for federal aid for park construction.

County Government Study

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed the following as an advisory committee to the Legislative Council Study Committee on County Government:

Harold Green, president, County Judges and Commissioners Association; L. D. McCormick, president, County Treasurers Association; O. D. Ginegan, president,

County Tax Assessors-Collectors Association; V. G. Young, assistant director, Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University; Joe G. Resweber, Harris County attorney; Dick Kirby, president, County Auditors Association; and Bill Waters, president, District and County Attorneys Association.

Contrasting Job Situation

Texas employment is continuing its upward trend, but at the same time, unemployment is rising too, the Texas Employment Commission reports.

Total employment rose from 3,867,600 in April to 3,898,000 in mid-May, while the unemployment rose from 121,000 to 124,000 during the same period. The number of workers on non-farm payrolls rose by 6,500 to 3,585,300, and farm employment jumped 23,900 during May. The 3,000 increase in unemployment was caused by early entrants into the market from schools.

Short Snorts

Governor Connally has approved nine grants under the Economic Opportunity Act. Fort Worth and Tarrant County got the biggest chunk of money—$368,980—for use in planned parenthood services, family-neighborhood services, poverty centers and dental care. Waco and McLennan County received $346,130 for day-care services, booster education, remedial and summer education, expansion of Planned Parenthood.

Department of Agriculture designated disaster areas Carson, Lipscomb, Wheeler, Hemphill and Collingsworth Counties.

Dr. Hal Potts, Dallas, is new district program consultant for Texas OEO, appointed by Governor Connally.

Graveside Rites Held Monday For Tina Jan Hurst

Graveside rites for Tina Jan Hurst, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Hurst of Lakeview, were held at 3 p. m. Monday, July 11, at the Lakeview cemetery with the Rev. Clarence Tedder, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Lakeview cemetery under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Other than the parents, the infant is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miles and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hurst, and two great-grandmothers, Mrs. C. F. Martin and Mrs. Mattie Redmon, both of Lakeview.

Cottonseed meal is rich in nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash.

formances, free barbecue, parade, old settlers reunion, queen contest and dances.

If you've ever tried to track down a rumor, or unscramble a piece of gossip, you know how elusive is the spoken word! Continuity in the decorating scheme is achieved with the unusual use of the same cotton fabric for couch cushions, window shades, and ceiling panels. It's Waverly's "Country Squire" cotton clipper cloth—a print inspired by the rustic symbols of Early Americana.

495 Offenders Caught Without Fishing License

The "hard luck" sports who can't do anything right are moving from outlaw hunting to good summer time fishing but with the same negative results.

That is, the latest Texas Parks and Wildlife Department arrest report swings the emphasis from hunting in closed seasons, hunting at night and such to fishing without a license.

The gunning bracket included only 59 cases yet no-fishing-license violations totalled 495.

Individual fishing licenses cost $2.15. The fines usually start at $27.50 plus costs.

There also was an upswing in selling without a license with a total of 63 cases.

Licenses to sell fish, in several categories, ranges upwards from $3.00.

Some of the outriggers tried to get theirs the easy way and were filed on for netting in closed waters.

The tariff got rough in a few instances, like the Houston man who paid a $200 fine plus costs for killing a doe deer out of season in Wharton County.

One fish netter paid a $50 fine and costs and another $25 and costs. Both were in Morris County.

Water safety violations included 24 for lacking life jackets for each person in boats. Fines and court costs for the month totalled $16,578.47.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

"Feed" Is Largest Expense Of Cattle Business

"The largest single item of expense in a beef cattle operation is feed for the cow," says County Agent W. B. Hooser.

A cow uses feed for body maintenance, reproduction, growth and milk production for the calf. Her feed intake must be adequate to provide food nutrients for these requirements. Feed preparation can be important in getting the cow to eat enough to meet her total requirements.

There are three reasons for preparing a feed different to its natural feeding value. Any processing or preparation adds to the total cost of a feed. Cows will clean up alfalfa hay in its natural state. Grinding it adds to the cost, but makes very little, if any, change in palatability or value. It's a different story for whole in its natural state. Grinding sorghum grain will be only 40 to 50 percent of some degree for livestock will be profitable. Grains of sorghum grain, corn, barley, oats may be dry or steam-tion and may improve digestibility, but add $3 to $5 per ton of feed.

The publication has information on weed control in alfalfa, corn, cotton, rice, sorghum and in establishing coastal bermuda grass and other crops.

The final responsibility for safe use of any chemical rests with the user. Nearly all herbicides are potentially dangerous, but they likely will not cause injury if used properly.

For more information on chemical weed control and safe use of chemicals, the publication B-1029 is available in my office, concludes Hooser.

Delayed Hay Harvest Will Decrease Quality

Delaying harvest of your hay will increase tonnage—but the quality will be lower, says County Agent W. B. Hooser. Unless you want to sacrifice quality for quantity, do not put off harvesting hay.

A good general rule to follow is "cut hay before the forage matures and forms seed heads." For best quality, Johnsongrass or sudan sorghum hybrids should be cut in the boot state—just before seed heads emerge.

Midland Bermuda makes few seedheads, so plan to cut Midland when the growth is about 4 weeks old or less. Alfalfa should be cut when it's one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom.

Cutting hay at these stages gives the highest production of total digestible nutrients. Delaying the harvest usually increases the tonnage, but the increased production is in the form of increased stalk, and fiber.

It's important to conserve the quality of the hay by baling as soon as possible after cutting. A hay conditioner may be helpful to hurry up the drying process. After baling, topdress with fertilizer immediately for faster, high quality regrowth, advises the county agent.

Cotton linters are very short fibers left after regular staple fibers have been removed.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

What's On The Label?

Pesticide products are thoroughly tested before they are sold for your use, says W. B. Hooser, Hall County Agent with the Texas A&M Extension Service. Research results are available for all to read on the label of the many home pesticides, explains Hooser. Take your time when you buy, and read the label carefully each time you use the product.

Each pesticide container is labeled with information so that you will know how to use the product in the right amount and in the proper way. The label contains warning and caution statements regarding the safest way to use the product.

Most of the pesticide products designed for home use have labels that are written in "layman's language." You will find a few new terms, but look them up in the dictionary before you use the product.

You may also be faced with a term that is so new that it is not in a dictionary. In that case, contact the county agent's office where a listing of pesticide terms is available. She will look up the word you don't understand.

Nothing is left to chance by the manufacturer as he develops, tests and checks the product before it is put on the market. Each product takes three to five years of testing and research work at a cost, to the manufacturer, of around $2 million for each new product. Yet, this time, effort and money will be wasted if you neglect to read and understand the information on the label, which is there to help and protect you.

Never use a stronger concentration than is recommended on the label. It is not true that if little is desirable a lot more will be that much better.

Recommendations for weed control with chemicals are based mainly on effectiveness of control. Suggestions for "Weed Control with Chemicals," Extension publication B-1029, lists current suggestions for use of chemicals to control weeds and weedy plants in Texas.

The bulletin also gives suggestions for safe use of Herbicides.

The recommendations for weed control are based primarily on results of the most recent research tests by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and demon-

Mrs. Henry Scott Enjoys Vacation Trip To Louisiana

Mrs. Henry Scott has returned home this week after enjoying a 12-day vacation trip. She left Memphis on July 1 to join her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tension, and son, Robert, for a sight-seeing tour of a number of historically famous places.

From Wichita Falls they drove to Houston where they saw a ball game at the Astrodom between the Astros and Cincinnati Reds. From there they went to Galveston where Robert and his father enjoyed surfing.

They drove from there to Beaumont, then to Orange over the high bridge, and on to Lafayette, La., where they visited Mrs. Scott's daughter, Mrs. D. Jack Battle and family.

On July 4th they went to see the Rosedown Plantation at St. Francisville, La. In order to reach the plantation, Mrs. Scott said they had to cross the Mississippi River on a ferry. The plantation was built in 1835, and has recently been restored to its original beauty, taking seven years. "It is the most beautiful place you could imagine and I just wish everyone could see it," Mrs. Scott added.

While gone they also visited numerous other places of interest in Louisiana.

En route home, Mrs. Scott stopped for three days in Fort Worth where she visited her sisters, Mrs. Bill Hadley, Mrs. D. S. Vaughn and other relatives.

Texas Governor's Group On Aging Reviews Reports

The Governor's Committee on Aging, at a recent meeting in Austin, reviewed reports of activities for the first six months of operation of the Texas State Plan for Implementing the Older Americans Act.

Miss Leota Lane, Texas A&M University Extension specialist in family life education, explains that Mrs. Carter Clopton, executive director for the Governor's Committee, presided at the progress report session.

Mrs. Clopton said that during the "tooling up" period the Committee put into effect most of the provisions of the proposed State Plan. This plan included the establishment of an interdepartmental Advisory Council, setting up criteria for Title III project review and funding, an accelerated program of direct services and consultations to local areas of the state, and increased its staff.

Additionally, the Governor's Committee announced the final approval of six Title III projects contracts totalling $91,548 by June 30, end of the first six months of operation under the Texas Plan for Implementing the Older Americans Act. Total cost of direct service projects benefiting the senior citizens of Texas was $134,030 according to figures brought before the Committee for approval.

Walter H. Richter, Committee chairman, explained that the six projects range in service from expansion of senior center facility to the implementation of a physical fitness program for older persons.

Administration expenses for 1967 from Administration on Aging Title III funds approved was $16,096 matched with $17,034 of State funds, much of which is represented by "in kind" matching contributions.

Title III Project Contracts were approved for 12 months as follows: College Station, $15,660 for developing Aging Programs through Program Building Committee; Agricultural Extension Service; Temple, $22,048, for techniques for greater utilization of senior center; Austin $5,900, physical activity for seniors through recreation; Houston, $13,360 for development - implementation of geriatric nursing curriculum; Dallas, $12,000 for case-worker and counselor for senior citizens; Austin, $22,616 for demonstration of the effectiveness of a coordinating agency.

The cooperative agreement between the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Governor's Committee on Aging with funds provided through the Older American Act resulted in the addition of the position of specialist in family life education last March. Miss Lane, who holds this position, has responsibilities for guidance in the organization of Committees on Aging in Texas and in-depth programming with these committees and their Extension Service advisors.

For additional information, contact your local County Committee on Aging chairman Dr. O. R. Goodall, County Extension Agents, or write directly to Miss Lane, specialist in family life education, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Hall County Committee on Aging:

Dr. O. R. Goodall, chairman, Dr. H. R. Stevenson, vice-chairman, Mrs. Cleo Grimes, secretary-treasurer.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Safe Use Of Electrical Appliances Depends On Adequate Wiring

The increased use of labor and time saving electrified devices in homes and on farms has made adequate electric wiring a must, says County Agent W. B. Hooser.

Its importance can't be over emphasized, especially in building and remodeling plans. The efficient and safe operation of all electrical appliances and equipment depends on it, Hooser adds.

The electric service entrance, most commonly known as the fuse box, should have a capacity large enough to handle the electrical needs of the home, and it needs to provide enough circuits for the necessary wiring to be connected. In most modern homes, a service entrance with a 100 ampere current capacity is the minimum.

A separate circuit from service entrance should be provided for all major electrical appliances and special equipment. These appliances include water pumps, washers, air conditioner, freezer, dish washer, and garbage disposal.

The correct number of circuits should be available to handle lighting and small appliances. A 20 ampere circuit for each 500 square feet can supply all lighting circuits throughout the house, and all convenience outlets except those in the kitchen, dining area, and laundry. A separate circuit should be provided for the kitchen and dining area, and one for the laundry area.

When considering changes in your electrical system or when you have problems with it, your power supplier representative or a reliable local electrical contractor will be glad to help you, says County Agent W. B. Hooser.

 a man who had never Washington brought his to see the sights. After Dulles Airport, the refused his request to because his driver's expired, and from that his visit was haunted by He and his son took the 26-mile ride to Washington and were to find, upon arriving, for the journey was Later, touring the city,

 an Institution, a pick-made off with the man's of course, all its contending his cash and credit being informed of the management of his ho-to let him sign checks and to permit him to personal check for the end of their stay. How-final blow came the next day when the man and his son ordered breakfast in their hotel room. The man stepped out of the room before the breakfast check came, instructing his son to give the waiter a quarter tip and sign the check for their meals. However, the waiter informed the son that the proffered 25 cents was not acceptable; that the minimum was 15 percent of the check and the waiter would see that the percentage was added after the son signed the check.

The visitor, understandably, called his Congressman. "Get me out of this city," the visitor said.
 "And I'll never come back."
 The Washington Convention and Visitors Bureau attempts to make the tourist's stay a happier one by providing maps and other useful information. Some of the material is misleading. For example, one tract states that . . .

 spring, summer, and early fall are excluded. In those seasons, with so many individuals and conventions in the city, hotel and motel reservations are all but a necessity. While rooms abound in the winter months, the seasons of family travel bring so many visitors that accommodations are booked weeks in advance. Recently, it required sixteen telephone calls to locate lodging for a Panhandle visitor who found it necessary to make a quick business trip to the Capital. With the throng of visitors coming here, the criminal element beeps up its own forces, and efforts to protect visitors from them are not fully successful. The police of Washington are drawing criticism, not only of the rising rate of general crime but because of the increase in thefts of money and articles from tourists, who are attractive targets for criminals because they come from far away and can't afford to return to testify against arrested sus-

Years ago, Washington was a small and pleasant city with an easy-going manner. Since World War II, however, with the boom in government activity, Washing-metropolis with metropolitan dan-pleasant, but be wary.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Hot Weather Brings On
 'Fading Out' In Lawns Fading out of lawn grasses is prevalent in many areas of the state beginning with the hot season, according to County Agent
 W. B. Hooser.

Some growers incorrectly refer to it as brown patch but this occurs in the cooler weather of spring or fall. Brown patch can be identified by the fact that leaves are easily pulled from the stolons, appear in a circular pattern and the stolons are not killed. The opposite of these is true with fading out, says Hooser.

Certain insects, such as chinch bugs, may cause symptoms that

Memphis Democrat—Thurs., July 14, 1966

can be confused with fading out.
 Presence or absence of insects can be used as a deciding factor here, however.

The agent warns that fading out is most difficult to control.
 Fungicide applications are not usually sufficient for satisfactory control and an attempt must be made to eliminate factors which are reducing the vigor of the grass and hereby lending to the problem of fading out.

The following steps are suggested for most effective control of fading out:

1. Prevent the development of a thatch by catching grass slippings at the time of mowing. Organisms that attack living grass stolons build up to high levels in thatch and make normal development of grass difficult.

2. Proper nutrients helps plants tolerate disease attack and the balancing of nutrition levels according to soil tests is recommended.

3. Thorough but less frequent watering should be practiced as shallow watering may encourage disease development.

Hooser suggests that after the above practices have been carried through the fading out should be treated with maneg. Two to three applications should be made at 14-day intervals to protect the grass during the recovery period.

 Agricultural Agent, for Extension

School Board Studies Classroom Shortage

The Memphis School Board met Monday night, but before adjourning, the members called another meeting for 12 noon Friday, July 15, in the Big O Restaurant.

Supt. A. E. Greer stated the purpose of the called meeting tomorrow is to discuss, and possibly take some action on the problem of adding classroom space at Travis Elementary School.

Supt. Greer said the Memphis school system needs five additional classrooms in the elementary schools by the time school starts.

"We have three special reading teachers in grades one through five, and two in Junior High. Also our school system has qualified for two special education teachers, one for elementary school and one for Junior High School," Supt. Greer said.

"We can utilize the old cafeteria at Austin if the board decides to take that step, but at Travis we are already out of room," he added.

School patrons were reminded that the Morningside Elementary School has been closed and the new classrooms built onto Travis in the last building program, which will be completed late this summer, will be needed for general classroom work.

The Memphis Schools were notified in a letter from the Texas Education Agency that Memphis qualifies for the two special education teachers. The letter was dated June 23, 1966. Until that time, the local school board was not aware of this additional need of classroom space.

In other business before the board, Supt. Greer reported to the members that the Memphis system is presently in need of nine teachers.

"I am really concerned about the shortage of classroom teachers, especially since we lost 5,000 teachers to the special reading program instigated last year," the superintendent said.

The Memphis schools need one second grade teacher, two third grade teachers, two fifth grade teachers, two special education teachers, one junior high math teacher and a high school science teacher.

Supt. Greer announced that the board has offered a contract to Bill Lorraine, an assistant coach at Duncanville, and Mr. Lorraine has accepted the contract. Coach Lorraine is a WTSU graduate and a varsity football player. He played on the Buffalo squad which went to the Sun Bowl in the full-back position. He was a regular.

Coach Lorraine will also teach

Junior High science.

Robert Breedlove, a long-time Memphis resident, was hired by the Memphis Public Schools at Monday night's meeting as a full time employee. He will serve as the school's maintenance man.

Mr. Breedlove will not take over his duties with the school until sometime in August, it was announced.

The Memphis School Board granted a one-year leave of absence, until Sept. 1, 1967, to Mrs. Ruby Person, a teacher.

The board handled other routine matters before adjourning.
