Guy W. Smith Named County Chairman Of Brush Control, Range Association

Guy W. Smith of Memphis has been named chairman of the newly organized, statewide Brush Control and Range Improvement Association for Hall County.

The BCRIA was established last November by a group of livestockmen to fight one of the state's major agricultural problems . . . brush invasion of land throughout Texas. Each county has a leader representing the association.

Mr. Smith said the BCRIA is a non - profit organization and is not directly associated with any university or company. The goal is to obtain 1 cent per acre, each year, for five years from landowners and other interested individuals and organizations to greatly increase brush control research.

He said surveys show that about 82 percent of Texas rangelands are infested with brush, cutting the animal carrying capacity by 50 percent or more. Despite much research in the past, greater financial help will be needed if the problem is to be solved.

Funds obtained at the county level will be pooled and used to support research and education projects on brush control and range improvement. A project evaluation committee, appointed by BCRIA Chairman John Matthews of Abilene, will approve research projects submitted by universities and other agencies.

A total effort by more than 200,000 landowners in Texas will go a long way toward beating back the brush invasion of rangelands.

City Sales Tax Check Arrives

City of Memphis this week received a check for $9,421 as net payment to the city for the fourth quarter Municipal Sales Tax Allocation from the State of Texas.

Memphis is one of 279 Texas cities who received $28.3 million municipal sales tax receipts during the fourth quarter (thru Dec.) of 1968.

As of April 2, 1969, the local one per cent municipal sales tax had been approved by voters in a total of 353 cities containing more than 80 percent of Texas' urban population.

City Secretary A. L. Gailey estimated that the City of Memphis will receive approximately $25.5 million from the sales tax this year.

He explained that the fourth quarter receipt is expected to be the highest due to the peak Christmas season in retail sales.

Frankly, this is higher than had expected which indicates a healthy condition of retail in Memphis," Secretary Gailey said.

What the City will do with the money, residents will remember that the 1968 - 69 City of Memphis budget for this year was $149,375,98 and it was the surplus from the municipal sales tax that made up a great portion of the receipts to meet this budget. Ad valorem tax receipts are expected to bring in $92,200. The police dept., cemetery, swimming pool, and gross receipts will have to make up the rest of the budget.

The additional money from the sales tax will just mean that the City of Memphis will be able to solve a few more of the ever - present problems and will not have to increase ad valorem taxes in the near future.

Without the municipal sales tax, Sec. Gailey said, "it would have been impossible to balance our budget without increasing ad valorem taxes."

Healthy Retail Sales
The document released by the Municipal League which shows that the 1968 - 69 City of Memphis bears out the healthy condition of retail sales in the City of Memphis.

Memphis' gross quarter allocation was $10,094 of which $673 was held by the State of Texas and 76 percent of the gross as retained amount held by the City. The remaining amount was held by the State and other circumstances make it impossible for the State to collect local sales tax. Most of this 4.76 percent will later be returned to the city.

An examination of other towns approximately Memphis' size (3,500) are: Anson (3,000) $6,687; Bastrop (4,101) $6,161; Cockrell Hill (3,500) $4,085; Devine (3,356) $5,996; Elgin (3,850) $7,078; Hamlin (3,791) $8,665; Henrietta (3,200) $6,001; Karnes City (3,000) $7,683; Tahoka (3,507) $6,759; and Woodway (3,500) $6,596.

Children is among the 23 cities in which the Municipal Sales Tax took effect on Jan. 1, 1969. Quallah is another of these cities.

It is interesting to note that Wichita Falls received $313,357 for the last quarter while Lubbock received $646,905, and Dallas received $5,050,424.

Funeral services for Daris Travis Phelps, 58, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, April 12, in the United Pentecostal Church here with Rev. N. J. Pope officiating.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home. Full military graveside services will be conducted by the American Legion, Simmons - Noel Post.

Mr. Phelps passed away Wednesday, April 9, in the V. A. Hospital in Amarillo.

Davis T. Phelps was born Sept. 10, 1910 in Gainesville and moved to Hall County in 1925. He was united in marriage to Miss Mattie Inez Bradley Dec. 15, 1935, in Memphis. The family residence is 519 N. 9th St. Mr. Phelps was a retired employee of O.K. Rubber Welding. One son, Darrall Wilfong, preceded him in death.

Where Urban Growth Is Being Seen!

The U. S. News and World Report in the March 31, 1969, issue, quotes the U. S. Census Bureau on key changes in population patterns now underway in this nation and names the 25 urban areas that lead the growth parade.

What is so surprising to us is that of these 25 cities, five are located in Texas and of the 25 fastest-growing cities, all but two—Brockton, Mass., and Madison, Wis.—are either in the South or west of the Mississippi River.

It is also smaller or medium-sized cities, not the huge ones, that are gaining at the fastest clip.

The big metropolises of the North and East, in particular, with their problems of crime, congestion, tensions, and high living costs, seem to be losing their appeal as places in which to live.

Also, it seems, the urge to move toward cities, on the whole, is slackening. Population still is rising faster in urban areas than in smaller towns and rural areas. But the "growth gap" is narrowing, as migration from the countryside slows to a crawl.

The article also pointed out that the Census Bureau figures indicate that in some of the major industrial and manufacturing centers—Pittsburg, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati and St. Louis, as examples—more people will be leaving than entering.

Houston is listed in 16th with 23.4 percent increase, followed by Lubbock in 17th, Dallas in 18th, Amarillo in 23rd and Austin in 25th.

The Census Bureau figures suggest that the big movement of people in coming years will be not from farm to city, but from cities of the North and East to those of the South and West.

California and Texas, each with five cities named, and Florida with four appear to be the fastest growing states. Climate is a major factor favoring these states, particularly for retired people. So is a holdover of the "frontier spirit," with opportunities for new ventures in business and trade.

The article also pointed out that percentage figures do not reflect on the actual number of people involved in the shift. Today's 10 largest urban areas will still be the 10 largest in 1975, although the ranking of a few of these cities will change slightly. New York and Los Angeles will remain first and second in population, though the gap between the two is fast narrowing. Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit will follow, maintaining their present position.

It appears to us that the great exodus from rural areas in our nation to urban centers is about over. Whether or not the population in small towns will begin increasing will depend largely upon the availability of job opportunities in the small town.

Industry is continuing its interest in locating plants in small cities and towns, breaking up huge industrial complexes. One industrial executive stated that the reason for this is realization of total shutdowns due to a minor strike in one segment or the other of the complex.

Also, huge industrialists are finding it harder and harder to get top executives to move to headquarter operations in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago and some other big cities due to the poor and sometimes dangerous living conditions.

The Department of Labor survey issued last month shows that the cost of a "moderate standard of living for a family of four" in about 40 cities, using late 1966 figures, rated New York City 25 percent more expensive than any southern city.

Another trend may be seen as the result of continued inflation. Pensioners or those living on a fixed income may soon be forced to live where living conditions are the cheapest in order to stretch their fixed incomes to cover their needs. This could be the decisive factor in a migration trend to rural communities.

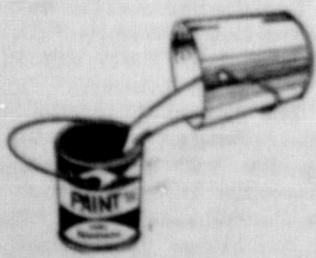

The Bureau of Census is predicting this trend but we will just have to wait and see how accurate this prediction may be.

Spineless Leaders

The campaign by colleges and universities to abolish or reduce academic credit and departmental standing for Reserve Officers Training Corps programs is a step in the wrong direction.

It is an outgrowth of militants who protest military presence on the campus.

It is also an outgrowth of spineless college administrators who appear to be running like rabbits when confronted with a student demonstration.

On college campuses across the country, these militants who seem to be above the law and above the rules of conduct that govern other students, have attacked Army and Navy recruiting offices and have protested vigorously the presence of uniformed ROTC cadets on the campus.

Instead of throwing the militants off the campus, some of the colleges are doing away with ROTC.

At Stanford, Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and Bowdoin colleges, ROTC is on its way out.

It is still very much alive in other parts of the country, namely Texas A&M in this state. In fact, we would be interested to see what would happen if a group of militant students demonstrated on the Texas A&M campus and attempted to drive ROTC cadets off the campus. We suspect there would be some head knocking.

The ROTC program is important to education and the national welfare. Officers trained in the ROTC program occupy positions of responsibility in this country and we need more trained military leaders instead of less.

We also need college administrators with spines instead of jelly in the backbone.

— Perryton Herald

A fine line of guidelines

Guidelines laid down by the United States Supreme Court for campus conduct, in which the court ruled in two recent "freedom of speech" appeals that dissent and protest must stop short of "violent and destructive interference with the rights of others" has been hailed by some area editorial writers as an indication that the high court is beginning to reverse its field and that the "pendulum will now swing to the right".

This may be wishful thinking on the part of conservatives who have seen dangerous "leftist" tendencies in every decision the Supreme Court has made in the last decade. We see nothing in the to disrupt classes and destroy property.

In short, a demonstration which does not interfere with the orderly pursuit of education by others is constitutional . . . but a demonstration which disrupts the studies of others, and interferes with their freedom to attend classes without obstruction, is not.

The Constitution of the United States is a remarkable document which sets out to insure orderly government by the majority and at the same time guarantee that the rights of the minority will not be trampled. Inevitably the ruling majority has, at some times, done some trampling . . . and just as inevitably the Supreme Court, in moving to protect the trampled, has incurred the displeasure of the majority.

But that's the way the American system works . . . and the fact that it does work reasonably well constitutes something of a miracle. Once again in defining the limits of individual freedom as the point at which this freedom begins to interfere with the freedoms of others, the U. S. Supreme Court is drawing that remarkably fine line between the end of the arm and the point of the nose, and has done it, it seems to us, with a remarkably steady hand which is calculated not to tip the scales of justice at all.

Hall County Insect Control Association Answers Questions On Boll Weevils

Lesley Community meeting on boll weevil control was held Thursday night, April 3, in the Lesley Gin Office, according to Doug Burgess, president of the Hall County Insect Control Assn. Farmers present voted for a planting date of from May 1 to May 24. The dust or spray for control of overwintered weevils will be the first week of July, Burgess said.

Lakeview - Plaska combination meeting for control of boll weevil was held the following night in the Lakeview Auditorium. All farmers present voted for a cotton planting date which averaged out to May 12 to May 24. Thus, their control date for overwintered weevil will also be the first of July.

Brice Community had previously set their planting date for May 1 to May 14 with their control date the third week of July.

Questions which have been asked at these meetings include: What insecticides should be used?

For dusting - Seven, for spraying - Guthion or Malathion. Will these insecticides control the Thrip, Fleahopper and Weevil?

Yes. If the weather or soil conditions are not right, do we have to set these dates?

You are not bound in any way to plant within these dates. You are asked to follow these dates in an effort to have a uniform cotton plant in the community - thus following with uniform dust and spray in each community for the purpose of eliminating the hands of overwintered boll weevils that will come out into the field some 45 to 50 days from the day the cotton is planted. If weather or moisture is not suitable in your community a new planting date should be arranged.

Q. If the State Appropriation is made for money to pay half the cost of a late summer Boll Weevil diapause spraying for Hall County, can I participate?

A. Yes. But first you must be a member of the Hall County Insect Control Association. The formation of this association was necessary for us to make application for such an appropriation from the State, and secondly, the State will grant money only to members of such an association. It is possible that the state will ask us for a list of members and their cotton acres when this appropriation is made, with the amount of the money made available based on membership and their total acres. "If you are not already a member of the Hall County Insect Control Assn., you should become a member as soon as possible," Burgess said. The membership fee is $5.00. You may contact your local gin or one of the following board members: Doug Burgess, J. J. McDaniel, Robert L. Moss, Jan Turner, B. J. Robinson, Harold Burk, Billy Hancock, Q. N. Clark, Jack Montgomery, C. V. Murff, Olton Pate, J. Robert Hanvey, Roy Gresham, George Helm, J. R. B. Rapp, Elam R. Orcutt or Clyde Collins," he concluded.

Rev. and Mrs. Martin come to Lakeview from Margaret, located in Foard County, where he has been serving as pastor for the past seven years.

Rev. Martin has served as a pastor for more than 30 years beginning his work in Arkansas in 1938. In 1945, the family moved to Texas and he has served as pastor of various churches since that time in the Texas Conference of the Methodist Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Martin have two sons. Rev. Deon Martin is now pastor of the Green Mountain Methodist Church in Denver, Colo., and their other son, Ray, is a teacher in the Abilene public schools.

Trouble is, there is too much interest in one field and not enough in another. As the prime interest rate goes up the crime interest rate goes down.

Price Introduces Bill To Repeal Gun Control Act

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price introduced a bill today to repeal the Gun Control Act of 1968. He had previously sponsored another bill to eliminate ammunition registration.

"I opposed this legislation when it was enacted and still believe it violates the constitutional rights of the individual citizen to own and bear arms," Price said.

"I voted against the bill in its original form as it was passed by the House and again after it had been amended by the Senate and gutted by a House and Senate Conference Committee," Price said. "The bill was the result of a wave of misguided emotionalism and a surrender to the bleeding hearts who believe that registering the guns of peaceful and law-abiding citizens will have any effect on the crime rate or act as a deterrent to any criminal who owns or wants to own and use a firearm."

Landowners Are Reminded Of Water Rights Law

Hall County land owners were reminded this week of the regulations governing claims for water rights and regulations of the Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967 by the Hall County Farm Bureau.

The Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967 requires that:

- (2) All claims to impound, divert, or use public waters for other than domestic or livestock purposes for which no permit has been used;
- (3) All claims of water rights under the Irrigation Act of 1889 and 1896 which were not filed with the State Board of Water Engineers in accordance with Irrigation Act of 1913;
- (4) All other claims of water rights other than claims under current permits and certified filings must be recorded with the Texas Water Rights Commission on or before Sept. 1, 1969.

Failure to file this statement, or claim of water rights with the Water Rights Commission shall lose such rights. This recordation claim does not apply to underground water, nor to the use of water for ordinary domestic and livestock purposes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Memphis Democrat:
Enclosed is my check for another good year's reading of the home town and home town people.

The first thing I look for is Rayford Hutcherson's rain report, then head lines to see if I have lost any old-time friends, then I take it from there to Byron's old-time reminiscing. I knew him when he was a high school lad working on Saturdays in his father's dry good store. I was a young lady school teacher in town on Saturday to spend that big check, $50. per month. Then as now, he was a good salesman and I didn't leave out with much of it unspent.

Ate that Saturday lunch at a Mrs. Shaw's boarding house. I think about where Dr. Odom's Hospital was. One thing I remember "Fatty" Randal said Mrs. Shaw always cut her pie in eight nice large slices. The noon meal cost twenty-five cents. Made the round-trip by train which is more than you can do now from Newlin. Then I settle down to not miss an item in the whole paper. Pure Enjoyment. Best wishes.

Ernest Rager Gets Unique Welcome To Memphis Fri.

Ernest Rager, who is the director of the Grand Prairie Symphony Orchestra, and is also director of orchestras of Grand Prairie Schools, was greeted at the Bus Depot when he arrived in Memphis Friday, by an group of local musicians.

Actually, the group called themselves the Memphis Symphony Orchestra and was made up of friends and relatives of Mr. Rager, the former Brenda Duncan.

A street-long banner with the words, "The Memphis Symphony Orchestra welcomes Ernest Rager" was displayed while the group banged on pans, tooted noise makers and generally made what appeared to be a unique rendition of "The Saints Come Marching In."

"O He's A Jolly Good Fellow" rounded out the short concert.

Rager came off the bus with a smile on his face escorted by local Policemen, and entered to the fun of the occasion. About 30 people made up the group of welcome.

These men know cotton... and they know what Paymaster's Certified Lint Block Program means to all High Plains Cotton Growers.

Dr. L. L. Ray
Associate Professor, Texas A & M University
South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock

"The Texas High Plains has made tremendous progress in upgrading the quality of cotton fiber. This was accomplished by planting better varieties, using better quality seed and marketing through lint blocks or similar programs. The image of this area is greatly improved and it has meant millions of dollars to growers. I am concerned that we do not lose ground. We must (1) plant varieties that will produce fiber the mills want and can use; (2) plant the best quality seed; (3) do a good marketing job."

Harry E. Arthur
Assistant Director, Textile Research Center
Texas Technological College, Lubbock

"A planting program wherein Certified seed is used is certainly a great step toward production of a more uniform fiber. A Certified lint program would help to assure the mills of a reliable supply of quality cotton from which they could choose to produce a given fabric."

Melvin Bagley
Lively-Bagley Gin
Kress

"We've been in the Paymaster Certified Lint Block Program for 3 years and I'm convinced it's a good deal for the farmer," says Melvin Bagley. "He gets real good quality and is guaranteed an average of 50 points over loan for 3.5 mike or better. Certified Paymaster cotton seed produces quality fiber that sells real good and makes more money for the farmer."

Carl Weathers
Kress

"Paymaster's Certified Lint Block Program could mean the difference between success and failure this year," says Carl Weathers. "Cotton prices are close to the break-even point — and an extra 4¢ or 5¢ premium for quality can make a big, big difference. Paymaster Certified lint has the qualities mills want. I think it's the best... after all, Paymaster knows our area and our growing problems and they have the research to come up with answers that help. I plan to plant about 200 acres in Paymaster Certified 111 and the other 60 acres in Paymaster Certified 202."

IN MEMORY OF MRS. N. A. HIGHTOWER
 To the members of the Atalantean Study Club.

We, the undersigned committee, submit the following resolutions in memory of our beloved charter member and twice past president.

WHEREAS: Our Heavenly Father swung open the gates of Heaven, to welcome one of our members, Mrs. N. A. Hightower, who completed her journey of human life on Saturday, March 8, 1969. She gave of herself in service, and her faith in God and fellowman was real and unswerving. Her words of kindness and her cheerful attitude, enhanced by the beauty of her life, shall always abide among us as a loving and lasting memory.

The poet has said, "Words are the windows of the soul through which our friends view the emotions of our hearts." Would that we were possessed of the eloquence to express all that is in our hearts of appreciation and love for this devoted member who has by her charming graciousness of manner and thoughtfulness of heart endeared herself to all of us. In her going we deeply feel the loss of her warm personality, her constant courtesy and sincerity, her eagerness to work and cooperate, her perfect accord in all that might be for the advancement of our club. Her wise counsel was ever a beacon light to guide other club members in the performance of their duties. She was also loyal and true to her church, to the Order of the Eastern Star, and to her many friends.

Our Atalantean Club year began with gladness
 And all the world seemed bright;
 No thought was there of sadness,
 No shadow to dim our light.

But as the months did lengthen,
 The shadows began to appear,
 And once more our club chain was broken,
 Death's clouds were hovered near.

God's angels appeared from the Heavens,

And bore our dear Lattie Hightower away;
 To be with Him in Glory,
 In the land of the uncloudy day.

We would not sigh or murmur,
 At the toll of life's evening bell;
 Nor the works of an all-wise Father,
 Who doeth all things well.

But we would pause to remember
 Our dear Lattie, who quietly

slipped away
 From the pains and sorrows of this earth,
 To the land of cloudless day.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family, a copy be recorded in the minutes of the Atalantean Club, and a copy be sent to the Memphis Democrat.

Respectfully submitted,
 (s) Mrs. Henry S. Foster
 Mrs. Herbert Estes
