The Memphis City Council was petitioned to call a $135,000 bond election for the construction of a new Municipal Building late in the year, and about the same time the contract was let to Rose Construction Co. of Abilene to build the Hall County Hospital.

Church held ground breaking this year. The year 1968 recorded additional progress. The contract was let on the hospital's new wing; Brice-Lesley Water Supply Corp. contracted a water system.

EDITORIAL

Those New Year's Resolutions!

If you're the kind of person who is looking to the future, planning for a better tomorrow, and in the practice of making
New Year's Resolutions to bring about self improvement, then this editorial will do some good. But if you are the type of person who doesn't love and care for your own body and your own health, then we'd suggest a more spiritual approach in your New Year's resolutions.

All of us need to improve on the life we are living. It would do us all well to resolve to lead a balanced life with plenty of rest and exercise. Maintaining good health requires a little time and forethought, but it's much cheaper and simpler than trying to regain our health after we have lost it by abusing our bodies.
Resolve to eat a balanced diet. Nutritionists say eat regular meals with some of the basic four each day. These are meat or a meat substitute, bread or cereal, milk or dairy product, and fruit and vegetables, especially one rich in vitamin C.

Resolve to see your doctor and your dentist for yearly check-ups. Also resolve to protect your family against preventable diseases—smallpox, lockjaw, whooping cough, polio, measles, etc. . . . Keep your immunizations up to date.

Resolve to practice good personal hygiene every day, brush your teeth after meals, take a daily bath, wash your hands before eating. A clean body and sanitary surroundings foster healthy living.

Exercise is also recommended. You don't have to lift weights or run a mile, but almost anyone can take a leisurely walk each day. Your health is valuable to you.

Reaching For The Moon!

Remember that old expression? Whenever somebody proposed something supposedly impossible people would dispose of it by saying "Why, that's reaching for the moon!"

Now that we've reached the moon, it's time to tell the doubters that progress is always possible. What seemed hopelessly visionary only a few years ago has already come true.

Which reminds us that January is March of Dimes month.
The older generation remembers when the March of Dimes "reached for the moon" by setting the elimination of polio as its goal. Now that polio is rarer than typhoid, the March of Dimes has its sights on preventing birth defects.

Did we hear someone say, "Why, that's reaching for the moon."
He should reach for his checkbook instead.

What Other Editors Say

"The Soaring Sixties"

We called them "the Soaring Sixties" back when it all began . . . a short decade ago. And we rode the crest of a wave into an era of optimism and promise.

We had licked the economic "recession" which shook our confidence briefly in the mid-fifties . . . our gross national product was a record-breaking $503 billion, the Dow-Jones Industries averaged a record 685.47 as the 1960's began . . . and we were on our way to the moon and beyond.

We made it, what's more . . . the Gross National Produce nearing $900 billion and the Dow-Jones average peaking above 800 before the end of the decade. The Cost of Living Index unhappily kept pace. But somehow the sixties missed the mark.

We Americans reached the moon, all right, and probed the nearer planets beyond . . . but at the same time our feet were mired in the mud of Vietnam, and our national attention distracted by death, disaster and disruption here at home.

Looking backward from our too-near vantage point, we find "the Soaring Sixties" a not-quite-accurate label for our passing time. We might, just as aptly, call it "the Deadly Decade".

Robert Frost spoke of the bright promise of the sixties on that blustery Inauguration Day nine years ago, calling it "A golden age of poetry and power, of which this noonday's the beginning hour . . ."

The old poet is dead, and so is the young president whose rise to power he heralded. Perhaps it was the death of the President . . . at the hands of an assassin in Dallas in 1963 . . . which really set the pattern and the tone for much of the violence of the decade. John F. Kennedy, who promised his fellow Americans that this nation would put a man on the moon before the end of the decade, was not the first . . . and not to be the last of our notable public figures to die during the sixties at the hands of assassins on our national scene . . . but it was his death that shocked the nation into acute awareness of the divisions that would rend us before the decade was ended.

Negro leader Madger Evers, gunned down by an assassin in Alabama, preceded him by a few months to a martyr's grave; just as another Negro leader, Dr. Martin Luther King, would precede the dead President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, by a few months at the hands of other assassins in 1968.

Violent death in the sixties was no respecter of persons. The war in Vietnam would claim 39,000 young Americans before the end of the decade, and shock waves from mounting Vietnam casualty lists would spark protests and violence at home . . . in the streets and on college campuses . . . but almost unnoticed has been the flies on our own highways and freeways during the past ten years. The annual highway death toll, which was 38,000 in 1960, was to approach 60,000 in 1969 . . . and the ten year toll of traffic would come close to matching the total number of troops in Vietnam . . . almost 480,000.

We are not approaching extinction however. In spite of the rising death toll, and in spite of that other phenomenon of the Sixties, The Pill, the U. S. population which started the decade under 180 million was well past the 200 million mark by 1969 and booming right along . . . births exceeding deaths from all causes by more than one and a half million last year alone.

And for all its tragedies and trials, the 1960's may be best remembered, in the long view of history, for America's brightest achievement . . . the flight to the moon and return. For the first time Americans, and all other peoples of the world, have got a good look at our own planet and found it inspiringly beautiful and amazingly unique in our solar system.

This may be the inspiration which our tired old strife-torn globe desperately needs; because if there is one shocking fact which has been brought into sharp focus in the Sixties, it is that we are in imminent danger of destroying our environment by man-made pollution of earth, water and air.

The most important task of the Seventies could well become the preservation of "our star". Our men on the moon have shown us, with their earth-viewing television cameras, that our Earth is indeed the most beautiful star in the heavens. May we be inspired in the next decade to keep it that way!

The Bride

Her three-tiered finger-tip veil of tulle was attached to a white satin bow studded with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations, satin and pearl leaves and tied with gold velvet streamers.

Guests were received at the church with Miss Tanya Wood, sister of the bride, securing the names for the register. The registration table was marble covered Victorian with a lighted memory candle. Guests registered with a white plume pen.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white satin draped with gold and green bows. The bride's bouquet centered the table at the base of a silver candelabra holding gold votive cups.

The four-tiered wedding cake of white and gold with green held white doves on top. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The piano was lighted with votive cups decorated with fern.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM SABIN

Virginia Chappell Weds Capt. Saban California Rites During Holidays

Virginia Chappell became the bride of Captain William Saban Saturday, Nov. 15, at Wayfarers' Chapel in Portu-Bend, Calif. The marriage was read by Rev. Neal McIn Lloyd Wright's unique "Church" located on a bluff above the Pacific Ocean.

The autumn morning ceremony Miss Chappell chose a length Bridal Creation gown to sink organza over bridal. Designed in princess fashion dress featured a re-emerald aleon lace bodice with red neckline and sleeves. The lace was repeated on a mini-A line skirt. Her bridal tiered silk illusion was tied to a petal headpiece with satin-organza roses and seed pearls.

Given in marriage by her older brother, James E. Chappell of Memphis, the bride carried a bouquet of ivory roses dramatically decorated with one large spider lily. To carry out the tradition, Miss Chappell wore her mother's wedding band as "something old," a diamond dinner ring (gift of the groom) as "something new," a blue garter, borrowed leather shoes, and a lucky six-pence in her shoe.

Mrs. Glenda Jordan of Hacienda Heights, Calif., was matron of honor, and Mrs. Chris Ellis of Olding Cove, Calif., was bridesmaid. They were attired in identical floor-length empire-waisted gowns of sapphire blue velvet with scoop necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Their headpieces were designed with tiers of blue nylon illusion gathered by a single velvet rose. To flatter the blue of their gowns, the girls carried bouquets of three large green spider mums with cascades of lime ribbon and greenery.

Gary Bailey of Tempe, Ariz., served as best man, while Donald Jordan of Hacienda Heights was rostrum. Ushers were Paul Iethvin of Tulare, Calif., and Mr. Carl Ellis of West Covina.

Mrs. J. W. Chappell of Memphis, mother of the bride, wore blue and green polyester knit dress fashioned in a princess style with scoop neck and short sleeves. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Clyde Saban of Greybull, Wyo., chose a similar design in red knit. Both mothers wore black accessories and white orchid shoulder corsages.

Preceding the recitation of the vows, two musical selections were sung by Mr. Tom Hall of Glendale, Calif. One, a song entitled "Lovely Are You," was especially written for the bride to be used in her wedding by Mr. Jonathan Troy, a friend and Hollywood playwright. The second selection, the musical arrangement of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's sonnet XVI, "How Do I Love Thee," is a favorite poem of the couple.

In keeping with the simplicity of Wayfarers' Chapel, no floral arrangements were used in decorations other than flowers carried by members of the wedding party and those which grow naturally inside the sanctuary. Save the candelabras, an open Bible, and a simple cross which graced the central altar, the church was austere, its glass walls and ceilings affording a view of the landscaped grounds and Pacific sea coast. The natural stone altar where the couple took their vows and knelt for the benediction prayer was triangular shaped symbolic of the Trinity) and typical of the basic architectural design of the church.

Following the wedding ceremony a luncheon reception was held in the Harbour View Room of the S. S. Princess Louise, the luxury liner docked in Los Angeles Harbor and transformed into a restaurant. There an informal receiving line composed of Mrs. Chappell, Mrs. Saban, and the bride couple greeted 65 guests. Miss Maria Biennetzky and Miss Mary Amelia presided at the guest book while Miss Judy McAdoo received the gifts. To carry out the bride's color scheme of blue and green, separate luncheon tables were set with center pieces of mums in shades of green and ivory with touches of blue. Larger arrangements of the same flowers interspersed with small white doves decorated the head table, the buffet serving area, and the punch table.

The round, satin-skirted cake table, placed in front of the ship's wheel, was centered with a three-tier wedding cake frosted in ivory and topped with a fresh floral arrangement of ivory roses and greenery. The glass-enclosed room enabled the guests to observe ship traffic in and out of the Port of Los Angeles.

After the reception the couple left for a nine-day honeymoon in Mexico where they visited Mexico City, Puerto Vallarta, and Guadalajara. For her going-away costume the bride chose an ensemble with a white wool dress and matching leather-trimmed red felt coat and black accessories.

The bride graduated salutatorian from Memphis High School and obtained her BA degree in sociology from Texas Woman's University before going to Tulane for a Master of Social Work. Since graduation Miss Chappell has worked as a medical social worker with the Artificial Kidney Unit in Los Angeles County-University of Southern California Medical Center.

Captain Saban graduated from Basin High School in Basin, Wyo., and attended Northwest Community College in Powell, Wyo., before receiving his degree from North Texas State University. He attended law school at SMU before entering the Air Force where he now serves as chief, Security Police, Miswa Air Base, Japan. Just prior to his present assignment Captain Saban served in Vietnam as chief of security in charge of defense of Tan Son Nhut Air Base. There, in performance of his duty, he was awarded a Bronze Star and a Vietnamese Honor Medal First Class.

Other than friends and relatives from various parts of California who attended the wedding, out-of-state guests included Mrs. J. W. Chappell, James E. Chappell, and Mrs. Robert Galloway of Memphis, Mrs. Charles Galloway of Amarillo, Mrs. Clyde Saban of Greybull, Wyo., and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bailey of Tempe, Ariz.

Courtesies and Parties
Numerous social functions were held in conjunction with the wedding.

On Oct. 29, 1969, Miss Sheila Gilchrist, Mrs. Ruby Baker, and Miss Joan Allen were hostesses for an office Koffee Klatch and Housewares Shower. Miss Maria Biennetzky and Miss Mary Amelia entertained Nov. 2 with a miscellaneous shower and luncheon. And, on Nov. 8, the bride was feted to a patio party and lingerie shower by Mrs. Carl Ellis, Mrs. Donald Jordan and Miss Judy McAdoo.

Other festivities included a Mexican dinner on Nov. 5 given by Mr. Danny Perez and Miss Mary Amelia, and a going-away coffee given on Nov. 12 by staff members of the Artificial Kidney Unit to honor Miss Chappell.

On Nov. 25 Miss Judy McAdoo entertained Captain and Mrs. Saban and close friends with a farewell Poudou Supper prior to the couple's departure for their new home in Japan.

dress with beige accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Robert Lee Baisden, 34, of Littlefield, who was employed by Brown-McKee, Inc., of Lubbock, was fatally injured at a feed mill construction project near Hitchland, Texas, Monday, Dec. 22.

the holidays here of late you kind of mixed up as we have had so many and would have to look laundry basket to be sure Monday or not. Of course blue Monday you would be one on which you get back to work.

we were invited to open house Dr. Stevensons and M. E. N. but with so many programs going on, they had their little late, so we set the time for 7 o'clock so we could be home by 7:30, but of course they failed to go off as I thought they would. Anyway, we missed it. A lot of fun was had for all. The lady was talking about a party that night where she would shake a leg. I told her to do that kind of party and go and sit down and get someone to shake my leg down, but it is nice to have memories of by-gone days and you thought you might do better, but never did mater.

than could get out of a southern couple. I gather this couple does not ever get mad at the same time.

I observed what a good-looking and smart bunch of college kids were at Rotary College day. Judge Reynolds encouraged them to do something now and not procrastinate until they were old. He cited so many great achievements made by people before they were forty years old. I thought for a time the speaker was not going to say a word of encouragement to us older ones, but he finally looked at one or two of us and told about one or two more past 84 so that gave us some food for thought in the older age bracket. I thought of that quotation, "Let nothing discourage you never give up." A lot of these students will finish college with their degrees and go on for their master's degrees. There is another degree I have been thinking of, and I think I would call it the "super-master degree" and that is of making a home the right kind of home where citizens of tomorrow are born and reared to carry on the world's work and solve some of its problems.

It is a pretty big challenge to start out to get this super degree, marry and have children. It is doubly hard for the papa to bring home the bacon this day and time as there are so many kinds of bacon and washing powder with payments of this and that. It takes something for today's modern living of "push the button."

The wife has a rough time on this degree at first trying to get the right detergent and the best frozen dish as so many are advertised, as time goes on she will get down to good old home cooking trying to please the head of the house, who he thinks he is for only a short period of time. She tends to the children with their ups and downs, does the washing, ironing, cooking, mopping, scrubbing, going to P.T.A., church work club work and keeping all ends going. She still wants to look sweet and be loved even though she may resemble Carroll Burnett in her make-up by the time for breakfast the next morning. We could go on and on, but to sum it up, to get this super-masters degree, it takes some big hearts with love to qualify.

Some of the people I visited with in Heritage Hall during the holidays were Mrs. John Ward of Colorado Springs, Colo. The former Joyce Widener, who graduated in the MHS Class of 1957, moved away from here in 1958. She now has one daughter and one son. Gene Paschall of Kermit said there were 6 of the Mack Paschall kids home for Christmas. Gene is very much interested in Heritage Hall and makes a visit when he comes to Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Leach of Childress visiting Heritage Hall were very complimentary and surprised that we had this nice place had a short visit with Faye Wheat Street of Graham and in talking to her found out she was one of the girls who had a courtship in the first car that came to Memphis, the two cylinder Buick but she did not marry the Buick car. Mrs. Street is a sister of Mrs. Baskerville.

Mrs. Minerva Allen of Amarillo here for holidays, graduate MHS. Don and David Moore here visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore.

John K. Milam of Sudan here visiting Heritage Hall while visiting his sister, Maud. Looks like Maud is back in circulation. Saw her driving her car the other day.

Eugene McElreath and daughter of Mont Vista, Colo., visiting Heritage Hall. Eugene in MHS Class of 1932. Joyce is making an RN and Randy at home. The Mrs. McElreath was former Rebecca McCann, lived in Mont Vista 26 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Denny Roberts of Dallas visiting with his grandmother, Ora Denny. Denny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Roberts of Abilene. Jake is the son of the Mrs. Bob Roberts and the late Mr. Roberts. Denny inherited some of his father's characteristics, one for instance was picking Susie his wife and the other he is in the highway department in Dallas. Denny grew tall and I imagine that is the reason they put him in Dallas so he and Big Tex could look over all those freeways they have there.

Mable Godfrey Bell of Longview, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Godfrey. Mable was reared here and left here about 30 years ago after she and Ben King Boswell married and moved to Kingsville. Ben King passed away several years ago. Mable remembered two of her old class mates in school here, Enid Moses Grimes and Maritta Martin McQueen.

Hubert Dennis is still working on the school room, and if you find old school pictures of days of the schools in Hall County, bring them in. Mrs. Ted Barnes was in Heritage Hall with her grandson, Steve Paris of Borger. He is the great-grandson of Mr. Barnes who killed "Three-Toes".

J. C. Hickman visiting in Heritage Hall said he was in the jewelry business here in the building on the north side with Bob Queener, 1943-1949 moved to Sunray and is now living in Spearman and operating his business. J. C. was a graduate of Hedley High School. He informed us that he was the first polio victim in this area. Said Max King and Homer Mulkey got him to the right place to be treated and now he is still carrying on. D. Max helped a lot of people along life's way that was not published and those he helped are still carrying on. I know some of them.

Doc Saye finally finished his pecan crop with about 150 pounds besides what the squirrels got. We had about 100 lbs. off one tree. Willie Mae picked them up.

Dick Fowler still thinks he had 8 pecans this year, but cannot find but seven of them. The squirrels must have snatched one. Hope he has better luck next year with those 75 trees.

I questioned Bill Cosby about his new service he was rendering, but he said, "nothing new just lost the 'T' off my sign."

I met Mr. Y. Z. Foss of Le Grange, N. C. with his wife and 3 children who were visiting in the Dennis Ward home. It seems he and Dennis are working under the same kind of franchise and had met on trips together that were awarded them. I believe they met on the Bermuda trip the last time and just from side talk I heard, I think they are working toward a trip to Europe. Very interesting man to talk with. He gave me the true story of his initials. Y. Z. said his mother told him he was the 21st birth, and she had run out of names and knew there would not be any more, so she called his Y. Z.. Each one of them seemed to like the Panhandle of Texas. Did not get any history of his wife, but I did come to this conclusion that Y. Z. went down to Georgia and the Peach festival to get her.

Hope John and Patsy Clark had a safe trip home with their youngsters after having such a close call coming down from Michigan. I noticed it scared all the curl out of John's hair.

We still need show cases and donations for Heritage Hall.

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful to friends and neighbors for their many kind acts of sympathy during our sad bereavement. Our appreciation cannot be adequately expressed.

May God bless you all.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Salem and Tim of Turkey visited here Christmas with Mrs. Salem's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Campbell and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Thompson enjoyed having their children home during the holidays. Here were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ed Thompson of Canyon and Mr. and Mrs. David Peters of Fort Worth.

If we were to name the decade just past, as far as our area is concerned, we would call it "The Progressive 60's."

To continue the work which has begun is vital to the future. May the 1970's be even more progressive.

messages, visits, letters and the other acts of kindness you rendered to us while we were in the hospital and on our return home as we have recuperated from injuries sustained in the automobile accident. You friends in Hall County mean more than we can ever express in mere words. I have often said and I repeat there are no better people in the world than the people of Hall County. I am glad I live here with you. Thank you.

"It has been a pleasure and a privilege to serve you in our official capacity as County School Superintendent and I want to thank you, the good people of Hall County for your splendid cooperation and support. I appreciate the fact that you have allowed me to serve you during this past term of office. And, at this time I would like to announce to you, my candidacy for the office again, and ask your continued support, vote and influence in the coming primary. "Service" is the motto in our office and it is our aim this coming year to give more and bigger services and perform the several duties for the schools of Hall County. Our office is ready and willing at all times to perform any duty or act that you ask or demand. We feel as a County Official we owe it to you people to do this as efficiently and courteously as we can for we believe the true power is with the people."

fare of our school children in the Cooperative Teachers' programs; and we plan to continue serving as a link between school and the many agencies which are involved in our school programs. Services which are rendered in this office can help you make healthy local control and enjoy advantages usually found in larger systems.
