Kids Of Working Mothers Can Eat Nutritiously

The notion that children of women who work outside the home subsist on convenience foods and snacks is probably a myth.

According to a survey study published recently in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, working mothers feed their families seven percent salads and 8 percent more eggs than mothers who do not work outside the home.

The study showed that working parents' children under age 12 eat more vegetable dishes, more bacon, more unsweetened cereals, and less candy, pizza and salty snacks.

"This study does not measure whose diet is actually healthier," says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt.

She points out that it also does not include meals eaten away from home, and families with working mothers eat 10 percent more of their meals in restaurants and fast food outlets than families with full-time homemakers.

"The children in any family can get balanced meals if parents will make sure they are getting meat, poultry or other protein foods, dairy products, grains and cereals, fruits and vegetables each day," says Hunt. "In addition, parents should limit the amount of extra fat and sugar their children consume."

The key difference in the nutritional value of children's diets may depend more on what parents know about nutrition than whether the mother works outside the home or not, she adds.

Creative Living

with Sheryl Borden

Three topics of information will be presented on "Creative Living" on May 6 and 10. Jhane Barnes, a designer of men's and women's wear, will introduce a contest sponsored by Cheer. It's called the Cheer Leaders Awards for Design Excellence, a unique challenge to the best and brightest design students in America. Jhane will also discuss laundering principles for high fashion garments and explain her role as a consultant to All Temperature Cheer. She is from New York.

Nancy Boyle, Manager of Product Development and Training with Sharp Electronics, Paramus, NJ, will demonstrate how a gourmet meal can be prepared in the microwave oven.

The show will conclude with an interview with Mary Bernardon, Director of the Hoover Home Institute, who will tell about her role as a home economist at Hoover. Mary is from North Canton, OH.

On May 8 information on flowers and personalities, pad stitching by machine and kids and electrical safety will be presented on the show.

Dominique Isbecque is a floral and color consultant and serves as a spokesperson for 800-FLOWERS. She suggests choosing flower selections to complement our personal coloring or to make a provocative personal statement when you send flowers to someone else, and she will explain how to accomplish this. 800-FLOWERS is a new, nationwide flowers-by-phone service that enables consumers to order top quality floral arrangements, anytime day or night. Dominique is from New York.

Susan Wright, Clothing Specialist with the NMSU Cooperative Extension Service, will demonstrate how to do pad stitching by machine. Pad stitching is an important step in good tailoring-it provides shaping and contributes to long wear of a tailored jacket or coat. Traditionally pad stitching required hours of tedious hand-stitching to accomplish the purpose, but now it can be done on the machine, and Susan will show how to do it.

"Electrical Safety from A to ZAP" is a comic book for kids, put out by Southwestern Public Service Co. Vickie Jones is the Marketing Home Economist for SPS in Roswell, and she will discuss why children should be taught to respect electricity and learn the importance of electrical safety.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on KENW-TV, Channel 3, Portales, on Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon and on Saturday at 2:00 pm. (All times ar Mountain Standard).

THE HARMONY OF COLORS AND FLOWERS

The first step toward complete color harmony is understanding your seasonal palette. Spring personalities are care-free, fresh and animated, with bright, clear, crisp-eclectic colors. They tend to have golden, strawberry and golden-brown hair, often paired with blue, green or aqua eyes. Clear, vivid colors are the rule for energetic springs: ivory, warm grays, golden browns, light and royal blues, turquoise and aqua, rust, coral, mint green, warm peachy pinks, medium violet and clear golden yellow.

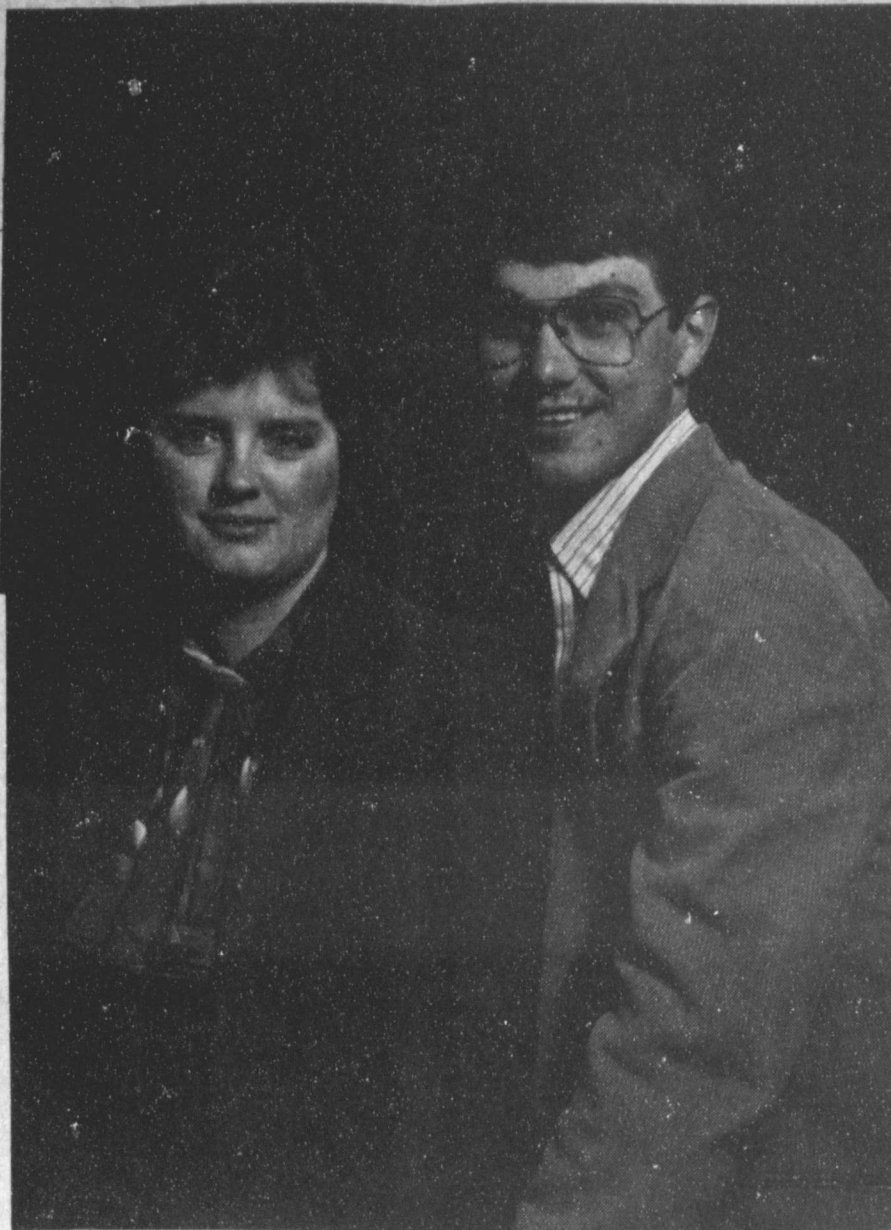

Colors signifying the gentle summer season are muted, blended and delicate. The color tip-off is hazy and romantic-a relaxed pastel palette with blue or pink undertones, very suitable for blue-eyed summer blondes ranging from dark ash to towheads. Look for soft pinks, plum, mauve, lavender, sky and powder blue, serene blue-greens, dark and cocoa browns, lemon yellow and silver.

Autumn's colors are deep, traditionally earthy and strong, but mellow. Eyes are in the warm brown range, topaz, or green with gold flecks, complimenting brunettes, redheads and yellow-gray blondes. Colors are oyster white, warm beiges, camel, teal, periwinkle, lime to forest green, rust, wine, copper and gold metallics. Autumn qualities are protective, dependable, and nurturing.

Winter's striking colors are electric, intense and dramatic. They reveal a decisive yet sharply contrasting individual. Winter skin contains pink and blue undertones, and hair color runs the gamut from blue-black and brown to charcoal and silver-gray. Eyes are notoriously deep: blue-violet, gray-blue, turquoise and brown. Sharp contrasts are characteristic of the winter palette: pure black and white, cardinal red and evergreen are their most complimentary tones. Shocking pinks, royal violet, icy and charcoal grays, true and Chinese blue, hot turquoise, pure red and burgundy, clear lemon and icy yellow form the perfect backdrop for dramatic, assertive, powerful winter.

Knowing your physical characteristics and your seasonal type is just the beginning of developing a personal style. Once you've determined your palette, you can make flower selections to make a provocative personal statement or to thoughtfully surprise a close friend with a harmonious bouquet.

Stress in a child may be hard to recognize because it often takes the form of misbehavior. But you should be aware that a family's financial problems, like other stresses, will affect children, too. However, child development experts tell us there are several ways to support a child who is stressed.

Listening is the first suggestion. Children's concerns are real to them. It may not seem to you that what they are describing is important or worth worrying about, but it is to them. Children may have exaggerated fears that the loss of your job, a drop in farm income, or some other family financial problem will mean they won't have anything to eat or they'll have to move right away.

Reassuring the child and sharing what positive steps the family is taking to deal with the problem can help reduce such fears. Letting the children help by making from-scratch cookies, clip coupons, save aluminum cans, or other money saving jobs, will let them feel both helpful and important.

Allowing children to express their feelings is also an important way to help them deal with stress and to let them know it's "ok" to worry. Adults can comfort children by telling them in words or with a hug, that you appreciate their concern and that they don't have to bear their burdens all alone.

Sometimes it helps to read a story or tell a story about a child in similar circumstances. This can also convey the sense that the child is not the only one who feels bad.

It's also important to provide many opportunities for children to exercise vigorously, to play creatively, to work constructively, to feel needed, and to rest soundly.

A final suggestion is to maintain basic limit setting. This sends a message to the child that you are interested enough to care what he or she does and that is crucial to the child's sense of security.

CRP Acres Sought With New Bidding

The bidding process for the Conservation Reserve Program that was initiated at the first of the year will be reopened for the period of May 5-23. At the same time, the initial bidding process for the 1987 program will start.

This will allow producers whose bids were not previously accepted to revise them or to submit new bids this year and also to submit bids for 1987, points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Producers interested in submitting bids for either of the program years should contact their county ASCS and SCS offices to initiate the sign-up procedure, says Tanksley.

The 1986 sign-up held in March fell far short of the acreage expected to be accepted into the program, notes Tanksley. Nationally, about 838,000 acres of highly erodible cropland on 10,307 farms were entered into the CRP, with accepted bids ranging from $5 to $90 per acre. Texas did not fare as well as the rest of the country, with only 29,052 acres on 151 farms accepted into the CRP.

USDA had hoped to put some five million acres into the program in 1986, with about 825,000 of those in Texas. Over five years, the USDA has targeted some 45 million acres for the program, with 11.5 million of those in Texas.

Landowners considering the upcoming sign-up period will need to remember that the CRP calls for a 10-year contract and establishment of permanent cover (grass or trees) to protect land from wind and water erosion, explains Tanksley. Costs involved in establishing this cover will be shared 50-50 with the government.

Bids on the cropland to be taken out of production should be based on what that land would produce if it remained under cultivation, says Tanksley. A special worksheet is available at the county Extension office to help a producer determine a bid price.

Tanksley reminds producers that annual rental payments on the land will be limited to $50,000 per farmer and will be in addition to annual commodity program payments.

of the statewide project, notes, "The Hands Around Texas" project has been much more than an art competition. The program has invited seventh, eighth and ninth grade students throughout Texas to consider the people, events, and places of historical significance in their county, and that's unusual. County history rarely receives attention."

The exhibition is scheduled for the Dallas City Hall beginning September 1st and the State Fair of Texas beginning September 26. Afterwards, the exhibition will be available for touring the counties in Texas.

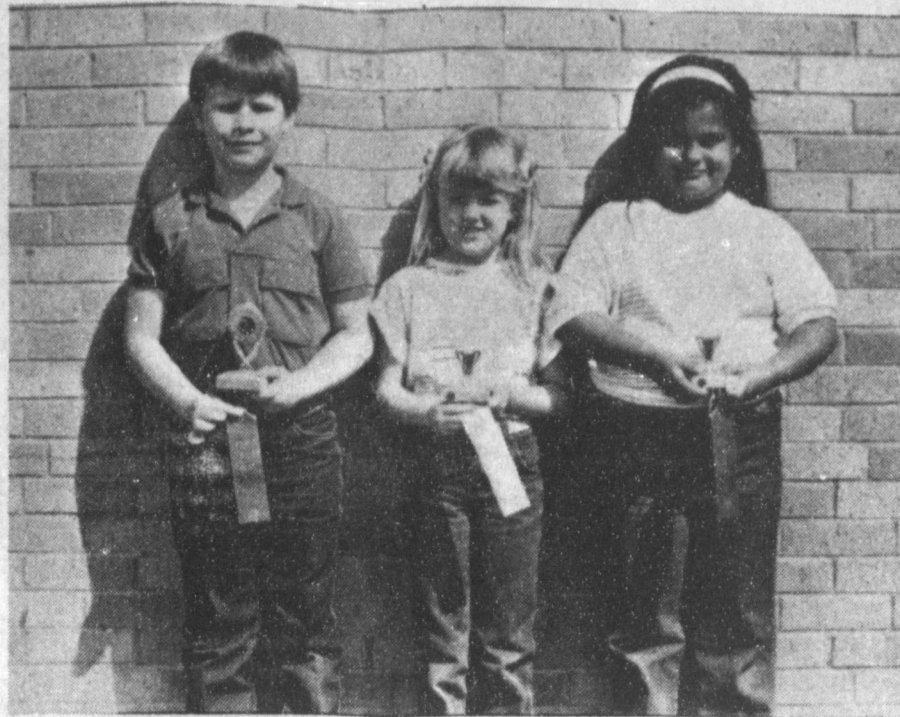

Hands Around the World is a citizenship program for young people throughout the world that features continual exchanges of art work. The program was created in 1975 as a bicentennial project in DeSoto, and since that time has involved art exchanges by students in more than 76 countries around the world.

City Police Report

Two burglaries lead the list of activities for the Muleshoe Police Department during the past week. A local resident reported a stolen bicycle, and a burglary of the School Store near high school was reported.

Also, arrests were made for public intoxication and resisting arrest; evading arrest; two for failure to appear on warrants; one on an alias capis and one for a worthless check charge.

A resident reports that someone kicked in a door, and one two-vehicle accident, without injuries, was investigated.

Chief Petty Officer DePalma said he fully agrees with the U.S. Action taken against Libya, and expressing regrets that a child (Khadafy's adopted child) was killed, commented, "It's better his child than mine." He is the father of a four and a half month old daughter born during his eight months at sea.

DePalma explained that two Libyan missiles had been launched after Khadafy ordered the U.S. to stay out of waters, recognized as 'international waters', and drew what became known as the 'Line of Death.'

According to the Naval officer, no U.S. target was hit by the missiles, but it was determined to go in and blow up the missile sites. He said most of the Soviets, who had apparently provided the missile

MSB Display All Historical Texas Flags

History of the Republic of Texas will be on display at the Muleshoe State Bank during the week of May 5-10. The bank will commemorate the Texas Sesquicentennial with an exhibition of replicas of eleven historic flags representing Texas as it went from independent country to 28th state.

"These flags chronicle the battles of independence and the political establishment of the republic," said Jackie Scoggin.

The flags are limited edition museum replicas containing the historic emblems of Texas. Only one of the original flags from which the replicas are made has been preserved, explained Mrs. Scoggin, who said the rest were destroyed in battles or have been lost. The flags on display were replicated from eyewitness accounts written by men and women in Texas 150 years ago.

Each flag is entirely handmade from silks and cottons that match the fabrics used 150 years ago and show the years of wear, burns, stains and frayed edges.

"These historic Texas flags represent the most important moments in our state's early days," Mrs. Scoggin added. "Some date from the fight for independence from Mexico in 1835 and 1836.

"Others are from the time of the Republic of Texas, a time unique in American history, since no other state was ever an independent and sovereign country."

Silver Hair Legislator Vote Starts

Glen Williams of the Agency on Aging local office, said absentee voting for the Silver Haired Legislature will begin on Monday, tomorrow, and continue through May 23.

The absentee box will be in the Aging Office in the Bailey County Courthouse, and Glen Williams will conduct the voting.

He said there are two candidates in the district, Nathan Tubb of Levelland and W.A. Leigon of Brownfield, who have each published position papers that will soon be available.

According to Williams, in order to vote, a person must be a registered voter and must be 60 years of age or over. Absentee voting will be between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday through Friday-- beginning May 5, and continuing through May 23. The election will be May 30.

"All senior citizens are urged to come out and vote," said Williams, who added "They must bring their voter registration certificate."

"The Silver Haired Legislature is an important forum, created by the State Legislature to serve the best interests of the senior citizens of Texas."

"Those elected as representatives will meet in Austin in formal sessions patterned after the state legislature to discuss matters and questions of interest to senior citizens of Texas. And then they will make formal recommendations to the legislature."

"Thus, it is very important and can be a force for good for the senior citizens, which will, in turn, be good for all citizens," he concluded.

site equipment left Libya when the situation with the U.S. 'heated up.'

Also, DePalma explained some of the modern technology that allows ships to keep up with and tracking as many as 20 potential targets at a time from one ship. American ships keep track of all U.S. subs, and most others from around the world, and seldom lose 'track' of one, added DePalma.

DePalma, his wife and daughter, have been visiting his mother, Elizabeth DePalma and his sisters, in Muleshoe.

"Skill-Bingo" by Mail Is Illegal in Texas

You may have recently been offered a chance to win a new Cadillac simply by playing a so-called "Skill-Bingo" game through the mail. It's easy and the official entry blank only requires that you send in one dollar in order to play. But if you read the fine print, you learn that there are several "playoffs" after the initial entry. What you don't learn is that you could spend at least $75 getting to the final game—and that the final game is so difficult that the vast majority of entries are wrong.

The California company mailing out this promotion claims that it is not illegal. While that may be true under California law, it is not true under Texas law. Whenever you are asked to pay money to enter a contest, you should be suspicious.

WHAT THE LAW SAYS

Under our state's penal code, a bet is an agreement that a person will win or lose something of value, dependent on chance, even though accompanied by some skill. When you send in any amount of money along with your entry, you are betting that you will win the game. In addition, our state law defines a lottery as "any scheme or procedure whereby one or more prizes are distributed by chance among persons who have paid or promised consideration for a chance to win anything of value, whether such scheme or procedure is called a pool, lottery, raffle, gift, enterprise, sale, policy game, or some other name."

WHEN BINGO IS LEGAL

Any lottery is illegal, even if conducted for charitable purposes. On the other hand, regular bingo games may be legal if conducted for charitable purposes and in accordance with the Bingo Enabling Act, Article 179d, V.A.T.S. This lengthy and complex law allows bingo to be played for money on a limited basis by organizations registered to do so with the Comptroller of Public Accounts. It is not illegal to play bingo at home for amusement if entry fees and prizes are "nominal" and there are no more than 15 players. Nursing home and retirement home residents may also play bingo for fun if fees and prizes are nominal. If you wish to set up a charity bingo game, you should contact a lawyer in your area.

IT'S A BAD BET, ANYWAY

If you have spent money on a mail bingo game or other type of lottery, your chances of winning are extremely small. However, your chances of receiving more entry blanks in the mail are great. Next time you get one of these entry blanks, and the accompanying letter requests you send in money, the best place to file that entry blank is with the trash.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres ponders a Congressional matter this week.

Dear editor:

The other day Congress, whose members make, who are paid, $75,000 a year plus a lot of other things like free airplane trips, free telephones, free mail, free office rent, etc. voted to increase the amount they can get from making speeches and writing articles from $22,000 to $30,000 a year. Under the law, a Congressman can't be paid more than $2,000 per speech or article.

I don't understand this. I've heard Congressman talking on television and I've never heard one of them deliver a speech I figured was worth $2,000. Every voter in the country gets letters from Congressmen several times a year and I'd like to hear from just one citizen who figured what a Congressman wrote was worth $2,000.

Of course when you turn the rock over you discover the people who pay $2,000 for a speech are paying it to a Congressman whose vote they need on special legislation. If a bankers' association pays a member of the Congressional Banking Committee $2,000 for a speech at its national convention, it doesn't expect to get any new ideas from him on banking. In fact, he could be overdrawn for all they care. They just want him to vote right, like a defense lawyer wants a jury to vote right.

The way Congress voted to increase its speech-making and article-writing allowance was masterful. With few members present, a bill was introduced raising the limit from $22,000 to $30,000. Under a special rule, the Speaker simply announced: "Unless there is opposition, the bill is passed." No recorded vote needed.

This is like announcing to 6-year-olds at a birthday party: "Unless some of you object, everybody can have a second helping of ice cream."

Unfortunately, for columnists, when Congress' voting chicanery was brought to light, members quickly reversed themselves and agreed to get along on just one helping of ice cream.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Sudan Schools Hold All Sports Banquet

The 1985-86 annual All-Sports banquet honoring the Sudan Hornets and Hornettes was held Tuesday night, April 22 in the high school cafeteria with 164 persons attending.

The athletes tables were decorated with black and gold individualized placemats and accented with trophies the students have won this past year.

Coaches and their wives were seated at the head table, which was covered with white cloths and black and gold streamers. The senior athletes jerseys were hung along one side of the cafeteria and the cheerleaders pom poms and megaphones completed the decorations.

The invocation was given by Dean Richards and was followed by the head football coach, Royce McAdams who added a few comments and introduced the girls head coach, Jim Kirkland, who in turn introduced the administrators of the school, the school board and Son Qualls and then he introduced the Sudan Hornettes.

Coach Gregg presented each with a medal as Kirkland stated what each girl had participated in. He stated that Girls Cross Country team were District Champions, Regional Runners-up, State Runners-up and had one Hornette, Dannette Provenca, who made All-State.

The girls basketball team was presented with each receiving a medal. Kirkland stated that the girls were District Champions, Bi-District champions and had a record of 20-40. Three Hornettes, JoAnn Wolley, Kim Crowson and Krista Kirkland were named All-District and JoAnn Wolley and Krista Kirkland were named All-South Plains. JoAnn also was named TABC All-State.

He introduced the Girls Track team who are District Champions with Regional Qualifiers, JoAnn Wolley in Shot and Discus; Cindy Brotherton 1600 Meter Relay; Melissa Nix 400, 800, 1600 Meter; Shannon Peck and Darlene Hanley both also in the 400, 800 and 1600 Meter and Kim Brotherton 1600 Meter and 100 Meter Dash; Dannette Provenca 3200 and 1600 meter runs and Krista Kirkland 800 Meter Relay, and 800 Meter Dash.

The Girls Golf team also placed as District Runner-up and Regional Qualifiers. Lauri Damron was also recognized for her assistance in everything she has been called upon to do.

Royce McAdams stated that in Sudan he has found out the athletes play for their team and school and not just for their self. He introduced the Hornets and Coaches David Quisenberry and Ed Henley presented each with their medals. The Outstanding teams were recognized, with each 59 Hornets receiving medals.

Hornets participated in Cross Country, Basketball, Football, Track and Golf included: Cross Country team placed First in the District; Football team was Zone champs with first team defense team members, Charles Kessler, Gordon Martin, Johnny Montez, Ronald Williams, Jeff Kinzie; first team Offense, Blake Laceywell, Mike May, Manuel Limon, David Wood, Jeff Kinzie, Ronald Williams, and Jeff Kinzie First Team offense punter; second team defense team, Mike May and Dean Richards.

Honorable mention went to Lee Bartley on defense and second team offense members were Jeff Taylor, John Taylor, Gordon Martin, Brent Kirkland with Brad Smith Honorable Mention.

In Basketball, the Hornets were Bi-District Champions with All-District Jeff Kinzie, Brent Kirkland, David Wood. Making All-South Plains were Ronald Williams, Mike May and Manuel Limon and third team All-State members, Mike May, with Manuel Limon being named to second team All-State.

In Golf the Hornets placed second in District with Regional Qualifiers, David Wood, Abel Perales, Ronald Williams, Anthony Williams, Donald Williams, Jeff Kinzie, Jimmy Glasscock and John Taylor.

Sammy Crowson, Booster Club president, presented gifts of appreciation to Qualls and to the coaches. The senior boys then presented an appreciation plaque to Coach McAdams and also to Coach Kirkland. Shannon Peck on behalf of the Hornettes presented a gift to Coach Kirkland.

Kirkland then presented the Hustlin Hornette Award that went to Shannon Peck, who is a sophomore and has participated in four sports. McAdams presented Jeff Kinzie the Hustlin Hornet Award for all his participation and cooperation.
