Enrollment Is Down In Local School System

The Memphis Public Schools completed enrollment Wednesday at Supt. of Schools C. L. Chambless said that due to shifting in enrollment loads from one building to another, some teacher transfers are having to be made. It appears now that Memphis School and Memphis Jr. High have about a 30 pupil decline last year while the elementary schools, Travis and Austin, have approximately the same enrollment, Supt. Chambless said. "Naturally, we won't know any definite until about next Friday. These figures are just tentative now," he said.

In order to balance the teaching load in the different buildings, Supt. Chambless said, Mrs. Lette Irons will be moved from School to Junior High. She continues to teach mathematics, the superintendent said, and strengthen the math program in the school system. Mrs. Irma Bruce will move from Travis Elementary to Supt. Chambless said to help balance the teaching load in that building. These teacher transfers are being made to improve our school and to balance teaching.

Scrimmage With Stinnett Planned Here For Friday

Cyclone Band To Be 69 Strong

The Memphis Cyclone Band, 69 strong after school enrollment, will begin the 1970 school year under the capable direction of Miss Carol Blain.

Miss Blain directed the Wellington Skyrocket Band to Sweepstakes honors last year and announced the same goal for the same year for the Cyclone Band this year. "We are shooting for Honor Band and I think we can do it," Miss Blain said.

The new Memphis band director is a remarkable young lady full of enthusiasm. Her first major problem was to locate players for bass horns and she reported Wednesday that three of the girls in the band have begun working on these instruments.

Miss Blain says the band will have "a totally new look, a real nice new drum section with new marching drums, and the marching will put on college type half-time shows."

Half-time shows will have one number featuring the twirlers, one number of concert where the director will be on the field directing the band, and marching routines featuring diamonds and triangles.

The band went onto the field for the first time to march and play and Director Blain said that the band looked real nice in their first attempt at marching and first attempt.

The new director, oddly enough, is not a music major but she participated in Texas Tech's band for five years. She majored in German and minored in French and has three-fourths of her masters work done in foreign languages.

She is the national treasurer of Tau Beta Sigma, the national honor society for bandwomen, a society which provides social, service as well as honor activities on college campuses. The society is branching into high schools, she reported.

"I guess one of the major reasons I am active in a music program is the society's requirement for this to hold a national office," Miss Blain said.

"I'd like to have a few more students in band this year. We have 69 signed up now," she said. Drum major for the band will be Lu Gay Godfrey with Ramona Ballew the asst. drum major. Twirlers will be Dena Gardenhire, Carol Godfrey and Diane Clayton. Band President is Bobby Cosby.

Lakeview Welding Short Course To Be Sept. 7-10

The Welding Shortcourse for Lakeview farmers has been changed to Sept. 7 through 10, instead of the dates announced in the news story on Page 3 of this issue.

The date change was not announced until Thursday morning when Lakeview Advisor Barney Bevers was contacted by the Area Supervisor. Actually, the date was set up one week, he reported.

Attracts Wrong Attention— Community Bulletin Board Is Vandalized

The Community Bulletin Board, located on the southwest corner of the courthouse lawn in Memphis, has been vandalized several times during the past few weeks. The black letters on the board have been removed and sometimes broken or lost, and at a cost of over $1.50 each letter, and the scarcity of the letters makes the situation even more critical.

Sponsors of the board report that messages placed on the board have even been changed to read differently by those engaging in the vandalism. City officials have been noting the vandalism and issued a warning that those responsible may face legal action if the practice isn't stopped. Another item of annoyance reported by city officials is the setting afire of litter in barrels on the public square in Memphis. These barrels are located within the fire zone in Memphis and are not to be burned. The barrels have been painted to look more attractive and the burning in them causes the paint to peel and chip.

Friday afternoon, beginning at 4 p. m. or shortly thereafter, the Stinnett Rattlers are due to arrive in Memphis for a scrimmage with Coach Clyde McMurray's Memphis Cyclone.

Memphis football fans are invited to the scrimmage which will start with the B teams first as soon as Stinnett can arrive. "Stinnett has already started to school so their teams may not arrive until after 4 p. m. when the B team scrimmage is set. We'll just begin scrimmaging when they are ready," Coach McMurray said Wednesday.

Memphis lads are two weeks deep in workouts in pads and the team is beginning to take shape; however, Coach McMurray told the team Wednesday he wanted to see how well certain individuals do in the scrimmages with Stinnett and Spearman before deciding a varsity lineup.

Last Saturday afternoon local fans got a look at the local team involved in an intrasquad scrimmage. Coach McMurray said it was hard to tell with the sides fairly evenly divided like they were really how strong his team may be at this point.

The coach invited local fans to come out and see the scrimmage with Stinnett. The varsity scrimmage.

School officials reminded fans that during the scrimmage Friday, the east stands gate will be the only gate open at Cyclone Stadium. There will be no admission charge for the scrimmage but to facilitate crowd control school officials decided to close the other gates. Fans should park their cars in the east parking lot and go into the main gate, Supt. C. L. Chambless said.

Also, local fans are invited to attend the Cyclone Booster Club meeting in the Visual Aids Room Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. to see the films of the scrimmage.

Fans Friday can get some indication of possible starters when they see the local team go against Stinnett. Several starting positions appear to be contested between several boys at this point.

Coach McMurray reported that Ronnie Browning, one of the teams younger quarterbacks, broke a colorbone in Wednesday (Continued on Page 10)

Directing Energies Toward Productive Goals

Individuals, communities, states and even nations find themselves at times without productive goals or aims. On the part of communities, states and the nation, this situation is the primary responsibility of the leaders. However, it becomes a personal thing on the part of each individual if the situation is to be corrected.

One of the more recent studies into human behavior and mental health has revealed that preventive psychiatry is far more successful than corrective psychiatry.

Man is constantly struggling in his environment, working out solutions to his problems, reaching his goals and then setting new ones, and normally the major portion of his energies are directed toward useful purposes.

Dr. Karl Menninger said in The Human Mind, "When a trout rising to a fly gets hooked on a line and finds himself unable to swim about freely, he begins a fight which results in struggles and splashes and sometimes an escape. Often, of course, the situation is too tough for him."

In the same way the human being struggles with his environment and with the hooks that catch him. Sometimes he masters his difficulties; sometimes they are too much for him. His struggles are all that the world sees and usually misunderstands them. It is hard for a free fish to understand what is happening to a hooked one."

What happens when an individual loses sight of lifelong goals or these goals are denied completely, or when these goals are finally attained. Depression often arises unless the individual quickly sets new aims and goals for himself and devotes his energies toward them.

Although personality characteristics of the young adult and the mature adult are vividly different, none escape the depression which comes from not having goals to obtain.

From the time a young child enters school, until he reaches retirement age he is engaged in productive work tasks. The only exceptions is when young adults by-step the work route to engage in idealistic crusading.

When one retires, he or she must find another work task to do. The concern about society and the estate of mankind and the nation, often becomes the work task for retirees.

Dr. Herbert L. Klemme of Topeka, Kansas, a director of the Division of Industrial Mental Health, of the Menninger Foundation, defines the problems of Middle-Life as the Mid-Life Crisis. This is typically in women sometimes referred to as the "change of life," but Dr. Klemme writes that this is only an escape phrase, and that mid-life crisis is psychological and cannot be explained away. It is found in men and women.

There are some ways of dealing with mid-life crisis. First, one must recognize the validity of the crisis beginning in the late 20's and extending through the 40's with the peak in the mid-30's.

Periodically one should pause to reflect and to assess where he (or she) is in life, and to examine the important relationship with wife (or husband) and with children. He should appraise his goals and objectives and determine what re-evaluations and adjustments need to be made. Realizing what is or isn't possible is an important step in redirecting one's energies.

Another coping measure is to find new and gratifying areas of psychological investment such as hobbies, community activities, or even shifts of interest in one's vocational area.

Collecting energies and directing them toward resolution of the tasks at hand is an important way of working through the crisis, although none feels he doesn't have the energy he once had, he must redirect his energies to cope with the here and now tasks in the home, at work, and in the community rather than expend them in self-criticism.

ACROSS THE DISK

What Other Editors Say

"Imperialist" U. S.

In May, 1945, when the European phase of World War II ended, we had absolute control of much of Western Europe, including all or most of the following countries: Italy, France, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. If we had territorial designs, we could have subjugated these people indefinitely. In August, 1945, when the Japanese surrendered, we had control of most of the oriental Far East, as well as the Philippines and sundry other islands in the Pacific. If we had imperialistic designs, we could have permanently dominated these countries as well.

Instead, what did the United States do? It immediately undertook a massive foreign-aid program, which in large measure was responsible for rebuilding these nations. We restored their industrial capabilities with machinery and equipment more modern than our own. Then, not only did we allow these nations to resume foreign trading, we also permitted them to compete for the U. S. dollar in our own country in competition with American manufacturers. The other major allies of the United States, with the exception of Russia began a process of diversification which culminated with independence being granted to the majority of these countries' colonial possessions. Notable among these were India, Pakistan and the African states.

Russia, on the other hand, maintained dominance over Eastern Europe politically, economically and militarily. When the neo-colonial possessions of the Soviet Union tried to assert their inalienable right of self-determination, they were immediately invaded and their quest for freedom from Russian domination was thwarted.

Hungary was invaded and its freedom flights were annihilated. Czechoslovakia was overrun.

In the light of these incontrovertible historical facts, it seems to me that our current crop of budding scholars should reappraise their positions with respect to the motives of the major powers and the roles they are playing in shaping the future of freedom-loving people on this good planet earth.

—Rep. Burt L. Talcott of California

Regulations For Students

Students at Austin College in Sherman will face a seven page list of student regulations which they will be required to sign before they can enroll this fall. The president, John D. Mosely, says those who do not sign the pledge calling for the student to abide by these school rules and regulations will be asked to withdraw from the college. The pledge applies to drugs, alcohol, premarital sexual relations, hazing, gambling and "acts of obstruction or disruption of operation or deliberate destruction of property."

The regulations state "It shall be the duty of the president or his designated representative, to suspend immediately any person, student, faculty or staff, who engages in acts of obstruction or disruption of operation or deliberate destruction of property."

This is refreshing in a time of college campus anarchy. As the president of Austin College says, there is nothing compulsory about a college education and his college is not interested in enrolling those who do not want to abide by the rules and regulations. If they feel their rights are infringed upon, these students can seek their education elsewhere.

Other meetings in the series of meetings will be held Tues., Sept. 15, Wed., Sept. 16, and Thurs., Sept. 17. During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Edwards will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Barney Bevers.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools, Mr. A. P. Jones, or the teacher of vocational agriculture, Mr. Bevers. An entry fee of $5.00 will be charged. Farm Welding Short Course Certificates are to be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions.

Mr. Edwards states that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such subjects as safety in welding, factors controlled by the operator in running a bead, striking an arc, types of electrodes, preparation of joints, distortion, cutting, hardsurfacing, and pipe welding.

"Short courses in welding, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the new cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," stated Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef cattle, farm management, farm electrification, farm arc welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, dairy science, oxyacetylene welding, and pasture.

Merle Kilpatrick Reports To Camp Of West Texas Buffaloes Sun.

Merle Kilpatrick, an all around athlete for Memphis High during his high school career, reported last Sunday afternoon to the West Texas State University Buffalo football camp.

Kilpatrick has been offered an athletic scholarship at West Texas to play football for the Buffaloes. Merle reported that he understood that he would be punting the football and be given the opportunity later to try out for other positions on the team.

Merle wants to play a split end or wide receiver, which has always been his favorite offensive position. West Texas State coaching staff got interested in Merle's ability to punt the football after Merle had displayed a remarkable talent in this aspect of the game.

Merle, last season, punted the football 65 times for Memphis and maintained a 42-yd. punt average. Merle attributed his ability to kick the football to the practice he received while playing five-step, one of his favorite games.

This summer, Merle has been running a lot to keep in shape, and has been working on a maintenance crew for the Highway Department.

Merle was an all around athlete for Memphis earning letters in football, basketball and track.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Agent Advises Feed Minerals
Due to the current grazing conditions, stockmen are advised to check the diets of livestock on pasture to make sure they are getting needed minerals.

While minerals are not "cure-alls," points out County Agent Hooser, they are essential along with proteins, carbohydrates, fats and vitamins for good animal nutrition.

Cattle under normal grazing conditions require sodium, calcium phosphorus, Chlorine and additional trace minerals. Trace minerals are supplied in adequate amounts from natural forage and water.

Sodium and chlorine are obtained from ordinary salt. Cattle should have free access to salt, preferably granular, at all times, advises the county agent.

Calcium and phosphorus are obtained from green grazing but under conditions which now exist, they may be deficient. Unless the deficiency is severe, steamed bone-meal fed free choice should supply the needed elements. It's a good idea, says Hooser, to keep bone-meal available to cattle at all times.

Phosphorus is usually more deficient than calcium in most parts of Texas, and results in loss of appetite and weight, decline in milk production, poor calf crop and failure to breed. Prolonged deficiency causes cows to become lame and stiff in the joints. Should this condition occur, phosphorus should be added directly to the drinking water.

Mineral should be placed in a sturdy container divided into two sections. Loose salt should be kept in one section and bone-meal in the other. Mineral boxes should be placed in shady areas and near water supplies, says the county agent.

Agent Lists Best Grain Varieties For Hall County

Small grain planting time is at hand and next year's grain harvest or the amount of grazing from the crop may well depend on the variety planted.

County Agent W. B. Hooser suggests that the best seed available or varieties adapted to whether the crop is seeded on dryland or irrigated, low or high fertility conditions, whether used for grazing or grain or both and its resistance to diseases and insects. It is also well to consider shattering and lodging characteristics and quality, especially in the case of wheat.

The recommended wheat varieties for this section of Texas include Caddo, Improved Triumph, Tascosa, Quannah and Concho.

Recommended oat varieties include Wintok, Winter Excel, Bronco, Buboio, Cimmaron, Norlino. Barley varieties include Will, Rogers, Harrison, Meimi, Chase and Kearney. Rye varieties recommended for Hall County are: Elbon, Gator and Bonel.

Early maturing varieties are desirable as a means of partially evading disease during growth and adverse weather conditions during harvest. Short, strong-strawed varieties will resist lodging and subsequent loss of yields.

NEW TRAINING AIDS—Memphis athletes are utilizing new training aids this fall during football workouts. The Cyclone Booster Club purchased a new seven-man sled for the local program. Also added is a "blaster" a device to help backs during fumbling drills and the above pictured blocking device which helps linemen sharpen blocking skills. Local coaches are utilizing the training aids in workout sessions. The blocking device helps linemen to keep their feet while applying pressure and then retain their balance when pressure is suddenly released by the device.

A phenomenon of the younger generation has been its passion for loud music and the outgrowth of the rock festival.

The intensity of the music has proved damaging to the ears of the avid listeners. And the rock music festivals can be dangerous to the health of the participants, says the Texas State Department of Health.

There's evidence to support the belief that rock festivals are on their way out, and a Texas festival at Bastrop during the Labor Day Weekend may be one of the victims of this trend.

But what about the danger to the health of participants?

In addition to massive traffic jams and incidences of drug use which all too often accompany a rock festival, the lack of adequate sanitation facilities presents a primary health problem. Due to the overwhelming crush of young people attending a festival, it has been impossible to provide sufficient facilities for food, water, toilets, shelter, and refuse or sewage disposal.

At a festival just outside Rivermore, Calif., most of the chemical toilets were filled to overflowing by 10 a. m. on the first day of a three day festival.

At last summer's Woodstock Festival at Bethel, N. Y., an apparently good plan went up in smoke when upwards of 400,000 people clogged access roads and overflowed into areas without sanitation or food or water supplies. Hundreds of acres were turned into a muddy sea of hungry, thirsty humanity.

Most people who attend rock festivals bring their own food, but numerous commercial food vending operations normally are located throughout a festival area. In many instances there are no hand-washing facilities provided for use by food handlers after using toilets. Improperly stored or handled foods are the rule. Food is dispensed from vans and pickup trucks, displayed on blankets on the ground and distributed in virtually every conceivable way.

From this small com- munication network—many of wants and needs of the strick- area became known quickly. he day after the hurricane, 20 artment water trucks were put service. The trucks furnished king water for Taft, Gregory, land, Ingleside, Aransas Pass, Port Aransas and Rockport.

Some of these communities were able to get their public drinking water systems back in operation in about two days, but for others it took longer. Meanwhile, the water trucks shuttled continuously from water sources to places of deployment.

Two days after Celia struck, crews worked to put up temporary "Stop" and "Yield" signs at dangerous intersections.

At one time more than 200 Highway Department personnel were working around the clock because of the storm. This included crews from Pharr, Yoakum and San Antonio.

Long said there are now about 100 men trying to clean up after Celia.

He said two crews from Districts 13 and 21 (Yoakum and Pharr) were in Corpus Christi to get the traffic signals operational.

He said the men would probably stay in Corpus 10 days and that they were sleeping in the hearing room of the District office building because of the shortage of rooms in the city.

Far from the southern coast of the State, in the West Texas city of Lubbock, the 200-mile-per-hour winds of the May 11 twister struck about 9:45 p. m.

Shortly afterwards, US Highways 82, 87 and 84 were covered with debris from wrecked homes and businesses that once stood along the right of way.

"Clearing the highways was our first goal," said James King, district maintenance engineer. "Once this was accomplished, we turned to assisting other organizations in rescue and cleanup operations."

"Some of the men worked two days without sleep, some even longer. They came willingly to help others who had been dislocated," said C. W. Nall, Jr., district construction engineer.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal recognized the efforts of the District's some 305 employees when it reported their efforts "significantly contributed toward initial recovery operations after the disastrous May 11 tornado struck Lubbock."

The newspaper continued: "Uncomplaining THD crews logged an almost countless number of double shifts, ranging from 16 to 18 hours and more, before sufficient progress was made to allow adequate time for rest."

Maintenance Engineer King added: "They were great. Many left their own damaged homes and went into areas covered with downed electrical wires and filled with gas fumes to rescue injured residents. They really did a fine job."

Virtually all of the Department's trucks and front end loaders from 14 counties were used in the cleanup and rescue operations.

Never Forsaken

"The Lord will fulfill his purpose for me; thy steadfast love, O Lord endures forever. Do not forsake the work of thy hands."

Whatever befalls you, never allow yourself to believe that the course of your life has been permanently changed. Never believe that you have been forgotten by God. Never doubt there is a real and meaningful purpose to your existence.

Reach out and you will find faith sufficient to endure the longest hour of darkness. The clouds that cover your corner of the world will soon go away.

You need only believe. You need only have faith.

in 1908. There is one other daughter, Blanche, who is now Mrs. Fleming and is living in Weatherford. The Hershals were very complimentary of Heritage Hall and they are donors to the Hall. Thanks!

Also visiting in Heritage Hall was Mrs. Ruby Hopkins, daughter of Bill Suddeth who lived in the Estelline area. They first came to Hall County in 1930, now of Childress. Mrs. Jewel (Monk) Suddeth of Hugoton, Kansas. She was born in Hall County in 1906, the daughter of J. H. Monk. Beatrice (Huddleston) Adams of Childress was born in Estelline in 1913 and was the daughter of Elam Jasper Huddleston. Wilma (Huddleston) Caldwell Rogers of Childress was born in Hall County at Estelline and was also the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elam Jasper Huddleston.

Well, we had a little check-up on the J. K. Gibson family who moved to Hall County from Tarrant County. The youngest daughter of Marietta Gibson, Melinda Gehley of Downey, Calif., was in visiting Heritage Hall the past week. She has a sister, Marisa, of Downey and brother, Gary, of Hermosa Beach. Jess Gibson, oldest son of J. K., is living in Huntington Park and is still active. Pete's family is still carrying on his furniture business. Pete passed away about a year ago. Marzella married Duvall Brumley and they are still operating their store. Jim is still in California and Ode of Memphis, and the other girl of the Gibson family is Mrs. Howard Leak, now living in Shamrock. Melinda Gehley, a college girl now attending Cal. State in Los Angeles, Calif. She liked Heritage Hall very much, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Ledford of Wichita Falls were visiting in Heritage Hall last Saturday. Hershel graduated from MHS in 1943, was married to Bettie Sue Peabreath of Boswell, Okla. Asked Hershel what he thought of Heritage Hall and he replied, "I think this is one of the nicest things that has happened in Hall County."

Mrs. Homer Raney of Hamlin, guest of Mrs. W. D. Young, looked over Heritage Hall over. Others from out-of-town the past few days were Sheila Bagley, Pam White and Ruth Swindle, all of Altus, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Davis were in Heritage Hall with their grandsons, Coy and Joy Youree of Borger. The boys were asking questions and Grandpa and Grandma were giving the answers.

I visited with David Hudgins over a coffee cup the other day and note he is doing pretty good with his Loran Greene sideburns. I asked him how he got them and he raised his hat and I could see the surface was about clean on top.

New items added to Heritage Hall displays the past few days that have not been mentioned are: car coat worn by Eula Boren, former wife of Hollis Boren. This coat was worn in their first Ford they bought in 1915 and was the 10th car sold in Hall County.

Historical newspapers and advertising fans along with the picture of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dial, early settlers of Hall County in 1890. They were the father and mother of Mrs. Vera Dickey who sent these items in.

The following items brought in by the Womack family—baby dress made in 1896, worn by the three Womack girls, Pearl, Lela and Mabyn. The dress has a lot of embroidery and is long enough for three babies. Wedding slippers of the late Mrs. W. A. Womack. She was married Oct. 14, 1880. The slippers were made of white kid like a glove. A letter written by the late W. A. Womack to his mother in Whitesboro July 30, 1892; a long old fashioned apron brought in by Mrs. Frances Finch, which she made in 1913.

We had a letter from Mrs. Will Gammage a few days ago. Said they were doing fine except Will's eyes give him trouble and he could not see much. I could tell Bill mini skirts are going out and crops are pretty sorry, so he won't miss much.

Dick Fowler reports that their fishing trip was good in the mountains, but they were disturbed when Ace and Jerry Gaubrey came in the park with their trailer house which was six inches too long. But they finally worked this out all right as they remeasured it after they cut six inches off the tape line and it measured out ok.

Oren Jones brought to Heritage Hall 5 warranty deeds. One of these deeds was dated Oct. 31, 1891, and deeded by J. C. Montgomery to the First Baptist Church of Memphis for the consideration of $1.00, lots 23 and 24 in Block 27. Deeded to B. G. Kelly, A. C. Wilborn, Sr. and A. C. Wilborn, Jr. and successors in office of deacons in this church. Ben Kelly, notary public, and S. A. Simpson, county clerk of Hall County. Another one of the deeds was for the sum of $1.00 deeded by W. M. Pardue to the First Baptist Church, Lots 15, 21, 22 and as stated in the deed, "For the purpose of promoting and maintaining the cause of righteousness in Memphis, Texas. R. A. Dunbar, notary public, and S. G. Alexander, clerk of Hall County, dated 12th day of November, 1904."

Well, we may have something in Hall County we did not know about. It is a combination worm and bug as described to me. It was taken to our local agriculture office, and they had never seen anything like it or even had a picture that resembled it, so it was sent to A&M. It came back as they did not have anything that could come up with the answer. So they suggested that it be sent to the United States Scientific Research. We are waiting for an answer. It could be a worm that makes milk out of peach hulls, as it was found in Dick Fowler's pecan grove.

We have always heard of men threshing their children and sometimes their wives. Well, the modern thresher is called a combine and I heard of a man this week who had his wife helping him combine and some way she got caught in this and took a threshing. Louise Kinard has a lot to be thankful for in not getting hurt any worse than she did. I bet Jack is more careful with his modern threshing next time.

MRS. JEFF LEE JUSTICE

Angela Dawn Monzingo, Jeff Justice Are Wed In Wichita Falls August 22

Angela Dawn Monzingo of Wichita Falls became the bride of Jeff Lee Justice, also of Wichita Falls, in vows exchanged at 7 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 22, in the chapel of the Floral Heights United Methodist church in Wichita Falls.

The Rev. Danson Jones, associate minister, read the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with a large arrangement of pink and white carnations and gladiolus and flanked by two floor candelabra. The chancel rail was adorned with garlands of greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Q. Monzingo of Wichita Falls, formerly of Memphis, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Justice of Coleman.

Miss Pauline Robertson, soloist, sang "More" and the "Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet." Organist was Mrs. Gerald Deatherage.

The Bride

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza in princess style, ruffled at the neck and cuffs. Venice lace created a bolero effect on the bodice and pink satin ribbon edged with lace ran down the front and was noted on the cuffs. The gown was also fashioned with bishop sleeves and a chapel train edged in lace. Her floral headband of pink and white silk flowers framed her face with a shoulder-length veil. She carried a tansy bouquet of pink tea roses surrounded by miniature white carnations and baby's breath.

For "something old," she wore the wedding ring of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Siles Wood (Leora Dee Wood) of Memphis.

Attendants

Maid of honor was Miss Ann Hodshire while bridesmaids were Miss Linda Hodshire, Mrs. Stan Jones and Miss Tara Monzingo, niece of the bride, who served as junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of pink dotted swiss over pink satin fashioned with full skirts, fitted bodices with high collars, full sleeves with tight cuffs and wide belts of pink taffeta ribbon centered with embroidered apple blossoms.

Their headpieces were of pink silk organza roses, pink velvet leaves on pink net, and they carried tansy bouquets of pink carnations, miniature white carnations, ivy and stephanotis.

Serving as flower girl was Miss Michelle Monzingo, niece of the bride, while ring bearer was Michael Monzingo, nephew of the bride.

Best man was Ralph Sassi of Stephenville and groomsmen were Dan McClure of Stephenville and Monty Monzingo, brother of the bride. Usher was George Hays of Burk Burnett.

Mrs. Monzingo chose for her daughter's wedding a champagne colored sheath with matching coat of reembodyered lace and matching accessories.

Mrs. Justice, mother of the groom, wore a pink linen sheath with matching accessories.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Camelot Club.

Noted on the tables were brandy sniffers containing pink carnations surrounding pink tapers. The bride's table held the wedding cake and a five-branch silver candelabra decorated with pink carnations.

Members of the houseparty included: Mmes. Monty Monzingo, Nat Hancock of Amarillo, Bobby Ray Mataska of Petrolia and Misses Jan Schroeder and Cathy Winn.

For a wedding trip to Dallas, the bride chose an A-line sheath in white, turquoise and brown with brown jacket, brown patent shoes and bag and a corsage of pink roses.

The couple will reside at 1710 A. Fillmore, in Wichita Falls.

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

My column has a way of appearing in print when something is needed to fill up a "blank" spot on the society page. This seems to be the situation this week, according to our shop foreman, James Miller.

When school begins we think of that as being the end of summer, and according to many people with whom we have chatted of late . . . they are glad it is over even if it is rushing time. Frankly, we have never seen a spring and summer like the one just passed. It has been depressing for the area as a whole to see fields, usually green, lay barren.

We watched the dark clouds through the spring and early summer thinking surely, "this cloud will bring rain." A few persons were lucky in the county and were in the path of the thunder showers, while others have not received enough rain to plant their fields.

Visiting here this week with her parents is Lynn Foxhall of Houston. Lynn has just returned from several weeks in Europe. She must have many interesting things to relate to relatives and friends here. Also visiting here is her sister, Jo and her husband Rusty who is a graduate student at TCU in Ft. Worth.

We watched the women present the Today Program Wednesday morning in celebration of the 50th anniversary of Women's Right to Vote. Frankly, we didn't enjoy the news . . . a woman's voice is not pleasing to the ear and is difficult to understand. And we didn't agree with many of the things they advocated.

We must be a little old-fashioned and out of step with the times. Personally, we don't feel down-trodden at all and enjoy our place in life as the wife and mother of the family. We still believe God created man and then saw he could not be happy alone so he created woman to be his helpmate.

Plans are coming along fine under the capable hands of President Carl Hill for the annual Hall County Picnic which will be held the third Sunday in September. We hope all our out-of-county friends will make plans to attend. The many former county residents who return at this time each year always seem to enjoy coming back to Hall County and meeting old-time friends.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grimes this past weekend were his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jenkins, Sr., of Amarillo.

Blum-Smith Nuptial Vows Read In Church Rites At Lakeview

Miss Pat Blum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Blum of Lakeview, became the bride of David Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith of Memphis, at 6 p. m. Friday, Aug. 14, in the Lakeview Methodist Church.

Jim Smith of Lamesa, brother of the groom, read the double ring ceremony.

Music for the wedding was provided by Paul Thompson, organist, and vocalist, Arthur Smith of Dallas, brother of the groom. Mr. Thompson played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional and accompanied Mr. Smith as he sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white lace over satin. Her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible, a gift from the groom, topped with a cascade bouquet of white carnations tied with white satin streamers.

Attendants were Mrs. Linda Ballew who served as bridesmaid and Kenneth Mitchell of Denver City, who served as best man.

Ushers were Bobby Tribble and Skipper Murdock.

Mrs. Blum chose for her daughter's wedding a rose knit dress accented with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Smith, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a pale green frock complemented with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Miss Tonda Hatley registered the guests.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth imported from Belgium and centered with silver candelabra holding white tapers. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, and blue punch was served from a silver punch service.

Mrs. Paul Thompson was reception hostess. Mrs. Jim Smith, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Holly Clark presided at the serving table.

For travel, the bride chose a tan knit dress accented with brown accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Lakeview High School and the groom is a graduate of Memphis High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, parents of the groom, were hosts for a lovely rehearsal dinner at their home in Memphis on Thursday evening, Aug. 13.

The newlyweds are at home near Lakeview.

Charlie McIntosh Is Guest Speaker At B&PW Club

The Memphis Business and Professional Women's Club has started the New Year with interesting and active programs, the president Shirley Binkley, has stated.

On August 12, the club met in a joint meeting with the Rotary and Lions Clubs to hear the State Representative W. S. (Bill) Heatly.

On August 20, Tops Gilreath was in charge of a program entitled "Personal Development."

She presented a guest speaker, Charlie McIntosh, who brought a very interesting program on T. B. stressing the importance of skin tests.

He extended an invitation to all who could to attend the Third Annual Nurse Seminar in Amarillo Sept. 26.

Mr. McIntosh stated, "TB takes three million lives in the world each year. It has taken more lives than all the wars of history combined."

Don't depend on the chest x-ray to protect you from TB," he said. "Chest x-ray cannot rule out TB infection. That takes a TB skin test. The x-ray only reveals damage after it has already occurred. But the skin test will show the infection long before the damage takes place in most cases."

"In case a person has a positive TB skin test" he said, "A preventive medication call INH can be given to stop active TB from developing.

A former TB patient himself, McIntosh urged his listeners to have TB check-ups after traveling abroad. "If you fly to Acapulco have a skin test when you get back. TB is not a souvenir you want."

Mrs. W. C. Dickey has returned home from Temple where she went last week for an eye check-up at Scott and White Clinic. While in Temple she also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Martin, former Memphis residents, who are now residing in the Temple area.

WATER MAIN TROUBLE—The crew of Donley County WCID, which supplies Memphis with water, were busy this week splicing an 8-inch water main at the corner of the U. S. The hair-line crack appeared to be an old one, Frank B. Foxhall reported.

Six Big Industries Able To Clean Up Waste At No Cost, Says Expert

Six big U. S. industries can clean up their industrial wastes at no cost, or with a profit, using present "desalting" techniques, says a report in Chemical and Engineering News.

A very large market for desalting plants in general, involving both industrial and municipal control of wastes and water supplies, is anticipated by Dr. Eric C. Bovet, economic advisor to the Office of Saline Water (OSW), U. S. Department of the Interior, according to the American Chemical Society weekly. Dr. Bovet estimates a potential market for desalination equipment for public water supplies of several hundred million dollars in 1970, and probably well over one billion dollars before 1980. To this he adds the sizable markets for desalination equipment to industrial waste water which were revealed in a two-year study commissioned by OSW and conducted by Aqua-Chem, Inc., Waukesha, Wisconsin.

Various industrial areas were studied to find which yielded technically recoverable by-products with commercial value equal to or in excess of desalting costs. Economically feasible or profitable recovery of by-products was found in six areas: cheese and dairy, pulp and paper, iron and steel, plating and metal finishing, nuclear power plants, and acid mine drainage (coal mining).

An estimated potential one-time market for desalting equipment of $1.55 billion is foreseen by the study, with an anticipated $100 million being spent between now and 1975, $200 million between 1975 and 1980, and $1.2 billion after 1980.

"The cheese and dairy industry is an important potential user of desalination equipment for by-products recovery," according to the study. "In cheese-making, 1.25 billion pounds of whey solids are released annually in dairy water. About 70 percent is wasted and constitutes a pollution problem."

"Whey contains a high concentration of nutrients, including milk protein and milk sugar. It also contains about 6,000 parts per million of soluble salts. . . . According to the Aqua-Chem study, the salts can be eliminated by a combination of desalination techniques."

The study estimates that a mere one per cent of whey is being thus treated for human consumption today, although the technology is at hand. A high protein food supplement could be produced with a market value of about 25 cents a pound, at a processing cost of only 10 cents a pound, Aqua-Chem estimates. The study foresees a sales potential—including use in infant formulas and synthetic milk products—of as much as $300 million annually, if all whey products are recovered.

"The OSW-sponsored study has found that the largest potential application of desalination for pollutant recovery is in the pulp and paper industry. Wood pulping and paper production generate substantial volumes of water-carried wastes. Only half of each tree in used as pulp."

"The total estimated market for desalination equipment in the pulp and paper industry would total at least $745 million, about $173 million before the end of the decade. The Waukesha Company also calculates a unit value of by-products of 5 to 25 cents per pound, depending on applications and markets developed, and unit processing cost of 5 to 10 cents per pound.

"Iron and steel production generates several processing chemicals which can pollute waterways and which are amenable to recovery by desalination techniques. Aqua-Chem calculates that unit value of the by-products would about balance the unit process cost of 7.2 cents per pound (in term of pounds of iron). Although any profit would probably be marginal, by-products recovery would pay the cost of pollution control."

"The plating and metal finishing industry produces highly toxic waste products, including chromic acid from chromium plating, nickel sulfate from nickel plating, cyanides from plating with copper, zinc, cadmium, and silver. The study estimates that some 6,000 plating shops would yield a potential market of $50 million (half by 1975, the balance by 1980) for electrolysis equipment. The unit processing cost is calculated to be 5 to 10 cents per pound, while by-products sales would yield 40 to 60 cents per pound, plus a saving of another $1.00 to $2.00 per pound by eliminating the cost of destroying the waste products. Thus, the plating industry would be the most profitable one for by-products recovery."

Aqua-Chem estimates a market for desalination equipment in nuclear power plants of $50 million ($20 million by 1975, the remainder before 1980), reports C&EN. The by-products value is calculated to be 20¢ a pound, obtained at a processing cost of 2¢ a pound. Control of acid coal mine drainage leads to by-products to which prices cannot readily be attached—pure water, a return of flora and fauna, and the creation of land values.

"The Aqua-Chem study is oriented toward cases where the commercial value of by-products might exceed the cost of recovery. But America is at a crossroads now where industry will not have the choice to combat pollution only where it pays to do so. Industry will be ordered and is already being ordered to clean up its effluents. There will be a hard core of pollutants for which a market cannot be found, and which must be treated whether this is economical or not."

"The Aqua-Chem study was a modest one with a modest budget, and did not examine all the possibilities of economical by-product recovery from industrial wastes. No consideration was given to the chemical industry and the petroleum industry, which probably present as complex a waste picture and as large a desalting equipment market as all the industries studied together. Dr. Bovet told C&EN that no study of by-product recovery in these two large industries is yet being planned. He believes money and authorization should be sought for such a study.

(In calculating recovered by-product values, current market prices were used, and no allowances were made for any future technological process changes, the magazine points out).

Committee in local administration of Government farm programs and help keep farmers informed on how the programs affect individual operations."

Others who may vote are: spouses of eligible voters; a minor who supervises and conducts the farming operation of an entire farm; a legal guardian who manages a farm for a child; and a person representing a legal entity such as a partnership or corporation.

The ASC Director pointed out that producers who have farm interests in more than one community may select the community in which to vote, but may vote in only one community in the county.

Voting by proxy is not allowed. Voters who certify their ballots with an "X" for a signature must do so before a witness and obtain the signature of the witness in order for the ballot to be counted. A list of known eligible voters is open for inspection to the County ASCS Office. Any person who believes he is an eligible voter but who is not listed should get in touch with the County ASCS Office as soon as possible, Rogers said.

He also said that any voter who has not received a ballot in the mail within a few days after September 1 should call the County ASCS Office to arrange to receive a duplicate ballot if necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ginn of Dimmitt visited Sunday afternoon and Sunday night with Mrs. John McWhorter. Also visiting Sunday afternoon was Mrs. Faye Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Lon Moore and Marlene of Newlin.

77 County—

in the food stamp program in Hall County and this family is authorized $244 per month in food stamps.

In general, families eligible for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food Stamp Program include those who work for low wages, or receive public assistance or a small pension check, and who cook food at home. Food stamps cannot be used to pay for meals at restaurants, and are not good for imported foods or non-food items, such as soap, paper goods and liquor.

Food stamps give low-income families more food-buying power. For example, a family of four with an income of $155 a month will pay $42 each month and receive food coupons worth $106.

The difference is made up by "bonus" coupons paid for by federal funds.

Food stamps are used just like money at local groceries authorized by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service to accept them, and are redeemed at cooperating banks through the Federal Reserve System.

County officials said the 77 households which participated in the first food stamp selling day is only a portion of those in Hall County who are eligible to participate in the program. It is being estimated that the county may have over 300 households eligible to participate. These must be certified by either Mrs. Phelps or the State Welfare Office before participation is authorized.
