City Council Buys New Fire Truck

The Memphis City Council opened bids to equip a new International Harvester truck the city has already purchased to provide Memphis with a new fire truck Tuesday night.

The truck itself cost $8,065.00 and the low bid submitted by Boardman Co. of Oklahoma City of $14,118 which was accepted by the council over the other two bids submitted brings the total cost of the new fire truck to $22,183.00. Fifteen years ago, approximately, the Big Mack cost the City approximately $18,000.

The Fire Appliance Co. of Texas of Wichita Falls submitted an equipment bid of $14,450 and the Howe Fire Appliance Co. of Anderson, Ind., submitted a bid of $16,479.

A Fire Dept. Committee checked the specifications on the bids before the Council accepted the low bid of the Boardman Co.

The new fire truck will be delivered within 230 days by the calendar, the bid specified.

It is a state requirement that a city replace fire trucks every 25 years or lose the key rate on the Fire Rate Structure. Memphis is replacing the red fire truck which will be 25 years old soon.

The City Council has been putting back money each year in a special fund to purchase a new fire truck and due to certain increases brought about by the City Sales Tax, the City of Memphis has the money to pay for the new truck without calling for a bond issue election or by passing warrants.

It is fitting to note that the opening of bids at the regular council meeting date, happened to fall right in the middle of Fire Prevention Week when the firemen have been busy conducting the fire prevention poster contest and taking the school children on rides on the Big Mack fire truck. By next year, the school children will have a new fire truck to ride during the special week.

In other action by the City Council, the gasoline and diesel bid of Continental Oil Co. was accepted to provide the City with gasoline and diesel for the next year.

Survey Of Farm Labor In County To Start Soon

Hall County has been selected to participate in a statewide survey which will begin in early October to collect data on the effect of extending federal unemployment insurance coverage to farm workers.

Texas A&M University's Department of Agricultural Experiment Station and the Agricultural Extension Service. Texas A&M University is neutral on the program and is cooperating with the study at the request of the U.S. Department of Labor. The information must be collected and submitted to the Department of Labor so that any proposed changes in Federal law will come only after all the consequences for both agricultural employers and workers are understood.

According to W. B. Hooser, Hall County extension agent, key agricultural leaders throughout the state were contacted prior to the initiation of the survey. These leaders concluded that if such a survey was to be conducted, they desired that the land-grant university undertake the study.

Texas is one of 18 states participating in the national survey. These states have about half of all hired farm workers in the United States.

The upcoming survey stems from Unemployment Insurance legislation that was passed by Congress in August. In this legislation a research program was established to study the impact of extending coverage to excluded groups, farm labor in particular.

The legislation passed in August extended coverage to nearly five million workers, bringing the total number of jobs covered by federal and state unemployment insurance laws to more than 65 (Continued on Page 12)

James M. Norman, Pioneer Resident, Buried Here Today

James Mabry (Bud) Norman, long-time Memphis businessman and farmer, died Tuesday morning in Wichita Falls General Hospital following a short illness.

Funeral services for Mr. Norman were held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday (today) in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Tommy Nelson, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Norman was the owner and operator of the Norman Radio and TV Service here, and also had farming and ranching interests near Crowell.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Memphis and the Memphis Masonic Lodge.

Survivors are his wife of the home; a son, James Frank Norman of Austin; a daughter, Mrs. Ann Ford of Kress; two sisters, Mrs. M. D. Fry of Dallas and Mrs. Everett Shipp of Midland, and five grandchildren.

Pall bearers were Tommie Potts, C. A. Williams, Louie Goffinett, J. J. Palmer, Cap Byars, John Deaver, Harry Aspgren and J. D. Evans.

DAVIS CARRIES—Tailback Louis Davis, Memphis junior, is shown above making 14 yards in the Cyclone's final drive to paydirt Friday against Wellington. Davis made 256 yards in 18 carries against Wellington and scored two TDs on runs of 81 and 95 yards respectively. No. 12, Denny Carter (left) of the Rockets makes the tackle on this play.

Memphis Hosts Speedy Crowell Wildcats Friday

The Memphis Cyclone will play host to the Crowell Wildcats Friday night in the last non-conference game of the season with the opening kickoff scheduled for 8 p. m. in Cyclone Stadium.

The Cyclone has one last game to sharpen offensive and defensive abilities before entering the war of District 2-A, and the visiting Crowell Wildcats of Coach Scott Boyd are certainly a worthy opponent as the Wildcats have speed to burn and are undefeated for the 1970 season, supporting a 3-0-1 record.

The Wildcats talented offensive machine has been shut out only one time this season, and this was by Electra in an 0-0 contest two week's ago. Last week the Crowell team defeated Knox City 34 to 6.

The Wildcats romped over Quannah 45 to 19 in the opener, then defeated Matador 18-0 the following week.

Crowell's passing and running attack will be a real test for the Cyclone defense because of its explosive nature. Split End Kenneth Sellers (160, Sr.) is fast, with exceptional moves, and a good pair of hands at catching passes thrown by QB Mike Weathered (157, Sr.). Weathered is also a fast boy on rollout plays, throws well and has break away speed on bootleg plays.

FB Jim Tom Smith, 197, is one of the biggest backs Memphis has had to face. He is a good blocker and hard runner with good speed. No. 22, George Eavenson, 150-lb halfback, is possibly Crowell's best running back, and he is another fast boy. Besides these backs

Lee (left) and a check from the Memphis Compress Co. for 40 cents per pound, presented by (right) B. P. Degan, manager of the Turkey branch of the Compress. ### Clothing On Fire!

This week, October 4 through 10, has been proclaimed Fire Prevention Week and Memphis Volunteer Firemen have been doing their part to make the week mean something to the youngsters here.

The Fire Prevention Poster contest has been conducted and the posters are on display at the Fire Station for those desiring to see the handiwork of local elementary students. Also Kindergarten through third grade students were guests on a fire truck ride, Tuesday.

The Memphis City Council Tuesday night opened bids for the equipping of a new fire truck, which when the new truck arrives after being outfitted, will continue to bring local equipment up-to-date. We can think of no more timely date to open bids than during Fire Prevention Week for City Fathers to consider this matter.

But, despite local efforts, or efforts on the part of insurance groups, safety associations, and all other groups vitally concerned with curbing the ever climbing tragedies of fire, the American public is still beset by one ever-growing danger which is not at this time being curbed as it should, and that is the danger of flammable clothing.

The textile industry has on the market today, many, many items of clothing, especially in children's sleep wear, which are highly inflammable. The following story brings this close to home.

"She was helping me. She leaned over to remove a piece of French toast from the skillet. Her pajama sleeve brushed the skillet, and she ignited, literally ignited. And in getting the fire out of her hair and protecting her ear and face, I sacrificed her right arm." Thus Mrs. Robert Root of State College, Pa., describes how her daughter, Kathy, 9, recently received third-degree burns to her arm in a clothing fire. It was a type of fire that probably would not have occurred had several laws passed by Congress, some as long as 17 years ago, been fully implemented.

Regulations against marketing flammable fabrics are minimal. The Commerce Department is only now getting ready to issue the first regulations proposal under the 1967 laws empowering the department to set standards to minimize or eliminate the type of accident that maimed Kathy.

The Senate has passed a bill and sent it to the House giving more power and money to be used in eliminating flammable fabrics. Passage by the House is uncertain, but according to Richard J. Medalie, a lawyer and former adjunct professor of administrative law at Georgetown University Law Centers, the dangers from flammable fabrics will not decrease even if the proposals eventually become law. He says:

"The textiles industry is dragging its feet and it has, I think, exercised considerable influence within those sluggish agencies responsible for formulating need flammable-fabric standards and in enforcing them." Mr. Medalie is a member of an investigative team that recently prepared a special report on Federal safety legislation for the National Commission on Product Safety.

"Barred acts of God or a public enemy, we should get out the proposed standard on children's sleepwear in October," says William M. Segall, assistant director of the Commerce Department's Office of Textiles. The standard will ban certain kinds and sizes of sleepwear that can catch on fire.

Delays and industry-sought exemptions have plagued practically every effort to deal with the flammable-fabrics problem. The problem is major: since Congress asked for tough fabric standards in 1967, an estimated 400,000 persons have been injured and 6,000 killed in accidents similar to Kathy Root's.

The effort to regulate use of flammable fabrics began in 1933. Then, shortly after 20 persons wearing sweaters made of a new fabric were seared within a few days, Congress passed the original Flammable Fabrics Act. Just before the law was to take effect in July, 1954, the industry won an amendment that softened the law and the standards. The amendment made it possible to market 250,000,000 yards of sheer organdies, tantes, and georgettes, which otherwise would have been banned.

The modified standard still prevails. Although some 54,000 persons have burned to death in clothing fires since 1953, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has never found that the fabric involved in a fatality has violated the standard.

In 1967, Congress passed the purportedly tough amendments to the Flammable Fabrics Act. The amendments expanded the law to cover all fabrics—those used in beds, upholstery, drapes, and the like—not just the cloth in garments.

Mothers, when you are purchasing clothing for your children consider the danger of flammable clothing. It's still on the market. Also on the market are items which have been specially treated and given anti-flame protection.

Our firemen do a tremendous job of educating our young children of the dangers of fire, with the "Sparky" fire books and pamphlets, "Sparky" badges and fire prevention posters. All this can go for naught if the child is wearing flammable clothing and gets severely burned.

Merry Christmas

As another reminder that Christmas is just around the proverbial corner, we received last week a notice from an Alexandria, Virginia, firm that it was providing a "unique" service to business and professional "leaders" in the D. C., Virginia and Maryland areas.

This "unique service" turns out to be "computerized... maintenance of Christmas mailing lists, the imprinting of cards, addressing, insertion and mailing."

That is right up a computer's alley no doubt; and we don't question the firm's promise that the computer "can handle large Christmas Card mailings more efficiently because it eliminates much of the time and labor factors."

We think we've got a better idea. If you haven't got the "time and labor factor" to take the trouble of sending Christmas cards yourself, save everybody the problem of dealing with them and don't send them at all. That will save "time and money factors" for the already-overburdened Post Office, and it will save "time and money factors" for the guy who was supposed to read the card. He can now save all of his time and energy to read the cards from those of his friends who didn't mind taking the trouble to send him a card without using a computer.

It might be a little tough figuring out whose written signatures some times. But, we'll take a scrawled signature and a hand-addressed card any day to the neatly printed, legible greetings of a computing machine.

Somehow, we've always doubted the sincerity of the written messages which we have received from a computer.

Weightier matters

God gave man the ability to think and to reason for a specific purpose. By the proper use of thinking man acquires faith. He learns to trust his keeping to a Higher Power.

No doubt Mary, the mother of Jesus, must have wondered why it was necessary for her to suffer the discomfort of giving birth to her child in a stable. Couldn't she have performed her divine task just as well in more comfortable surroundings?

Had she prostituted her ability to think, she could have become bitter, unhappy and resentful. But by using it for the purpose for which it was intended, she found comfort and satisfaction through simple faith.

All of which spotlights the fact

Memphis Outlasts Wellington 28-14 Friday

The Memphis Cyclone, sparked by two TD carries by TB Lewis in the third quarter, overcame a two TD deficit to defeat Wellington Skyrocket team 28 to 14 Friday night at Powell Field in Wellington.

The Skyrocks, hoping to get into the winning column the first time this season, opened the game with a good runback on the kickoff.

It took the Rockets only three plays to score, with the scoring drive a 23-yard pass from QB Bobby Saied to FB Teddy McLain. Saied's 36-yd. quarterback roll-out keeper play set up the score. Jackie Pendleton carried for two yards and the score was 8-0.

The Cyclone moved for one first down with a 12-yd. carry by sophomore tailback Larry Johnson at the home 33, but gave up the ball four plays later on a punt to Wellington's 29.

The Rockets began an 80-yd. drive to paydirt. Highlighting the drive were passes to FB McLain and to End David Hodges, and costly penalties, one for 15 yards and one pass interference giving Wellington a first down at the Memphis 12-yd. line.

The Saied to McLain pass combination added six more points, but Saied, despite a penalty which kept the ball on the one and a half yardline, could not carry over for the two-point conversion.

The Cyclone came back after the kickoff, trailing 14-0 and drove deep into Wellington territory as carries by TB Johnson and Lewis Davis, along with a good pass by QB John Carmen setting a first down on the Wellington 40-yd. line. But the Rockets defense stopped TB Johnson for one yard gain, then held Davis for a two-yard gain on two consecutive carries. A pass on the fourth down went over the head of the receiver and Wellington took over on their own five-yd. line.

The Rockets punted on a fourth down after failing to make a yard, and Mark Hundley fielded the ball near the 40-yd. line and on one of the really fine returns of the night raced to the Wellington 44-yd. line. The Rockets were penalized half the distance to the goal line and Memphis had a first down to go on the six.

Mark Hundley made one yard to the 5, and TB Davis fought his way to the two-yd. line, a gain of two. On the next play, TB Johnson blasted his way over for the score. The try for points by Davis was shy by a foot as Wellington led 14-6.

Tension mounted during the halftime as the favored Cyclone regrouped for the second half. Memphis got the opportunity to score first receiving the kickoff which Hundley returned to the home 19-yd. line.

Hundley, who alternated at tailback and fullback most of the second half, with Johnson and FB Roger Kehr got the first call, tested the right side of Wellington's defense and was stopped at the line of scrimmage.

Then, QB Carmen pitched the ball to Lewis Davis. The Cyclone line charged, made several key blocks, and Davis hurdled a pile at the scrimmage line, cut to the right, broke one tackle and faked out another defender and raced the remaining distance to the goal line on an 81-yd. touchdown gallop. Hundley carried on the two-point conversion play but was stopped shy, so the Rockets still led 14 to 12.

The Skyrocks, seeing their lead diminish, mounted a strong effort after the kickoff to score. Pendleton got the drive going with a 12-yd. carry to the Wellington 46. Then, Mark Killian paced off carries to the Memphis 36 and was tackled by John Carmen, and to the Memphis 20 where Carmen again met him.

A 9-yd. pass from Saied to McLain and a four-yd. carry by Killian set Wellington up with a first and goal from the Memphis 7.

Then, the Cyclone staged a goal-line stand as Guard John Orr tackled QB Saied for only one yard gain. Then Killian tried the right end and Hundley met him for only a one yard gain. The offensive play to the right side was stacked up and Killian was dropped by Billy Ballew and netted only one yard. On the fourth, Gary Wright tested the left side and was met by a host of Cyclone defenders and Memphis took over on the 2-yd. line.

TB Davis wedged out three yards to the 5. Then, on the second down, Davis found daylight, zigzagged his way through the Wellington secondary and was off to the races as he scampered 95 yards to the goal line. TB Johnson got the call for points and plunged over for the conversion behind good blocks by FB Kehr, TB Davis and QB Carmen and the left side of the Cyclone line.

Leading for the first time, 20 to 14, the Memphis stands gave the local team a standing ovation as they came back for the kickoff.

Wellington's quarterbacks Saied and Denny Carter, on roll out pass patterns accounted for most of the Rockets' offensive punch in the final portion of the game, however, Cyclone defensive ends exerted pressure and dropped the signal callers for several long losses.

The Cyclone came into possession and got a drive going with Hundley almost breaking for 15 yards to the home 27. Then, Davis made 13 yards to the 50-yd. line. On the next play, a fumble was recovered by Wellington.

The Rockets made a first to the Cyclone 40, and Carter got loose and was dropped by Linebacker Terry Wynn on the Memphis 29. But here, two fine defensive plays, one by LB Wynn dropping HB Wright for a 10-yd.

loss and the other by End Larry Jeffers dropping Carter for 8 more yards forced Wellington to punt.

Early in the fourth period, the Cyclone got another drive going which began on the Memphis 47 and moved for the final score of the evening.

The offense alternated carries by Davis and Hundley marched for one first down to the Wellington 41, and a 14-yd. carry by Davis moved to the 24-yd. line. Wellington was called off sides on a carry by FB Kehr, and then Davis picked up the remaining yards for a first to the 14.

TB Hundley knifed into the line on two consecutive plays for 5 and 3 yards respectively. Then, Memphis departed from the usual power offensive pattern for the first time of the night as QB Carmen faked the power sweep and bootlegged the ball across the goal line from six yards out, catching the Wellington defense napping. Again, TB Johnson drove for two points on the power play and Memphis led 28 to 14.

The Rockets tried desperately in the waning minutes to score but the clock ran out.

Lewis Davis stepped his way for 256 yards in 18 carries for an outstanding 14.2-yard per carry average, the highest single game offensive effort of a Cyclone ball carrier in a single game in the past decade, according to unofficial records kept by this newspaper. So far this season, Davis has gained 605 yards on 62 carries and is well on his way to breaking the 1,000-yard mark. Mark Hundley gained 46 yards in 10 carries and TB Larry Johnson made 58 yards in 13 carries. FB Roger Kehr carried one time for two yards and QB Carmen had the ball four times for a minimum two yards.

BIG, BEAUTIFUL PLYMOUTH—Quietest ride ever is offered in the 1971 Plymouth, which introduces Torsion-Quiet Ride to the standard low price field. The new Plymouths are on display at Hickey Motor Co. in Memphis. A new 360 V-8 engine is also featured. Shown above is the Sport Fury two-door hardtop, one of several models available.

New Plymouths On Display At Hickey Motor Co.

Plymouth Fury, Chrysler-Plymouth Division's entry in the standard-size car market, is on display at Hickey Motor Co. in Memphis and in dealer showrooms over the nation. The Fury offers a new front and rear appearance, a new 360 cubic inch V-8 engine, and engineering refinements and improvements for the 1971 model year.

"The improvements we have in the Fury line this year puts us in a good position to increase our share of the large standard size market," Gerald Hickey stated. Hickey also is dealer for Chrysler cars and Dodge cars and pickups.

"One of the major additions to the 1971 Fury line is Torsion-Quiet Ride, previously available only on the more expensive Chrysler and Imperial models. The 1971 model is the quietest riding Fury we have ever built," Hickey declared.

"The new 360 engine has been designed to contribute to smoothness and quietness and, with automatic transmission, it is more responsive because it delivers quicker acceleration at low speeds."

Fury offers 19 models in five series: Fury I, II, III, Sport Fury and Sport Fury GT. The latter is available only as a premium two-door hardtop with 440 CID four-barrel V-8. All other Furies are available in both two and four-door models.

Fury is built on a 120 inch wheelbase and has an over-all length of 215.1 inches. With an over-all width of 79.6 inches and height of 55 inches, it is one of the roomiest cars in its price class. Torsion-Quiet Ride is a blend of anti-rattle Unibody construction, front torsion bars and sway bar for maximum stability, and a new isolation system utilizing rubber mountings.

A much quieter car results from the elimination of continuous metallic paths which otherwise would transmit noise and vibration to the body.

A new 360 CID V-8 engine, rated at 255 horsepower, is optional on all models except the Sport Fury GT. This engine has been expressly designed for full-size cars and its operation emphasizes smoothness, quietness, and low-speed torque. It uses regular gas, and the two-barrel carburetor is calibrated to meet emission standards.

Don't let the politicians take your vote for granted on a blind party appeal, look at the man and the issues.

(Pol. Ad Paid For By Larry Combest)

Announcing our new ones.

It's 1971 and Chrysler-Plymouth is coming through for you.

We're coming through. We're coming through with variety: Five completely different car lines—76 different models. More kinds of new cars than anyone else in the business. We're coming through with value. Every Chrysler and Plymouth is built and engineered with extra care. To make sure you get a dollar's worth of automobile for every dollar you spend. We're coming through with brand-new options. Like a Stereo Cassette Tape System available with a microphone. You can record your own voice or record directly from the radio. It's 1971. And Chrysler-Plymouth's coming through for you.

Plymouth Satellite Sebring It's the newest idea in two-doors. From front to back it's designed exclusively to be a two-door. With no compromises. So you get the styling and handling of a specialty car—all for the price of an intermediate car. And every one of our four-doors (Satellite, Satellite Custom, Satellite Brougham) was designed from the ground up to be a four-door. The result? People who take a back seat in our four-doors, don't take a back seat.

Chrysler New Yorker The New Yorker lives up to its look of quiet authority. It's one of 15 different Chryslers coming through. Coming through with the size, room, comfort and power you want for all the living you do. With new options like an electric sun roof, to let in the light of the sun, or the moon.

Chrysler Imperial Chrysler Imperial comes through for all the living you do. It contains all the luxury you want, with personal touches. Like the exclusive optional rear seat heater. This allows your rear seat passengers to maintain their own level of comfort—cool or warm.

Plymouth Sport Fury It's coming through for you with a lot more car. Everything about Sport Fury comes through big: the seats, interior room, body, engine and brakes. Plus, we've added Torsion-Quiet Ride—with a Sound Isolation System that separates road noises from you.

Plymouth Duster Our success car is coming through for you: Still small enough. Still big enough. Small enough to fit in about 3/4 of a parking space. Big enough to seat five, comfortably. And still small enough to fit your budget. Duster. The big difference in small cars.

Plymouth Barracuda The super-tough sporty car that comes through with torsion-bar suspension for better handling. Coming through for you with economy in Barracuda. Coming through for you with luxury in Gran Coupe. And coming through for you with great performance in 'Cuda.

See them at your Chrysler-Plymouth Dealer's today.

AUSTIN—State Health Department's new and unique Drug Abuse Program promises state-wide services that are now available in dealing with the dope menace.

The program was outlined by a Health Department official at a recent hearing of the House Committee to Study Psychiatric Problems of Youth.

It will be carried out in three steps, offering laboratory services, clinics and an over-view of health factors in the drug area.

Initial action calls for setting up facilities next year in Nueces, Bexar, El Paso, Bowie, Web and Lubbock Counties (serving 1.7 million people). Beginning in 1972, the program will be established statewide. Cost may be three to five million dollars for the second period, $1.2 million for the initial pilot program.

Laboratory services will provide surveillance of drug-abuse patients and detect those needing treatment. Department proposes urine tests of patients to determine if illicit drugs still are being used.

Second stage calls for state-wide clinics, especially for the median age 19 group, and informational workshop mostly conducted in schools.

Continual study will use computers to correlate facts from the viewpoint of health personnel who deal with the problem daily.

Department believes the program will fill these three basic needs not presently available, and without which little chance exists for success in drug abuse control.

Courts Speak

State Supreme Court, following the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, rejected the plea of La Raza Unida party for mandamus directing that its 15 local candidates be placed on the November 3 ballot in Dimmitt, LaSalle and Zavala Counties. Party already has won a place on the ballot in Hidalgo County and will go to federal court to continue its appeal in the other three.

Austin district judge refused to lift restrictions against the Alcoholic Beverage Commission's enforcing the stringent guest rule covering private bottle clubs pending clubs' appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Landowners who oppose building a new University of Texas branch at Odessa filed notice of appeal after District Judge Herman Jones of Austin threw out their suit on September 17.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin sued General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, claiming they conspired to fix prices and eliminate competition in bids on vehicle purchases for governmental units in Texas.

Martin turned an additional 12,744 to the state in anti-trust recovery from the Brass Mill Tube and Pipe case. Recovery now totals $111,345.

Pollution Book Released

Attorney General Martin released copies of an 188-page booklet on the principal pollution laws of Texas, for the guidance of local governments.

Band Boosters Sponsoring Money Making Project

The Cyclone Band Booster Club is making a drive to get name listings on a Community Birthday Calendar which the organization is sponsoring as a money making project, it was announced this week.

The calendars are $1.00 each and listings of birth and anniversary dates are 25 cents each.

The Community Birthday Calendar is familiar to most area residents as this project has been sponsored in past years by the B&PW Club.

Money made from the project will be used to buy instruments for the band or for some other expenses for which it might be needed.

Persons who have not been contacted and would like to purchase a calendar should call Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Gayle Greene or Mrs. Bill Cosby.

Officers of the club said they would appreciate the community cooperation with the project by purchasing calendars or by putting their name on the calendar.

"how to do it" suggestions for preparing a pollution suit and exchanging information with state agencies.

Martin said he hopes the publication will provide closer cooperation between local units of government, the attorney general's office, the Texas Water Quality Board and the Texas Air Control Board.

Draft Priority Set

Men whose draft lottery numbers were called by local draft boards in 1970, but who were not ordered for induction, will be the top priority group for calls in the first quarter of 1971.

State Selective Service issued the announcement, as did the White House and national draft headquarters.

First quarter draft calls will go to the carry-overs. If calls do not require all of them, they will be placed in a lower priority. Those whose numbers have not been reached all during the year will be placed in the lower priority group on January 1.

National Selective Service chief said that exposure is limited in keeping with the "12 month draft vulnerability policy."

Friends Of Library To Hold Book Sale October 17

The Memphis Friends of the Library headed by Johnny Farnsworth have scheduled a used book sale for Saturday, Oct. 17. This sale will be held outdoors on the Carnegie Library premises at the east side of the building from 10 a. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Three years ago this month such a sale was held in the vacant building east of F.W. Drug and owned by Hollis Boren. The money derived from this sale, as before, will be used to renovate the existing conditions of the library building.

More than two years ago, the members of the Atalantean Club improved the physical appearance of the building by having an attractive front door installed.

The Boy Scouts of Memphis will assist in handling the books and the club women will help in the sorting and sale.

Please leave any books in good condition you wish to contribute in the foyer of the public library any time between now and Friday, Oct. 16.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S ☆ REPORT ☆

Just a few days ago I introduced a landmark bill into the Senate of the United States. This was called the Post-Secondary Education Act of 1970 or the Free Universal Junior College Education Act.

The purpose of this bill is to extend the concept of free public education in America beyond the high school years to include two additional years of what the educators call post-secondary education, or what we normally call junior college education.

This bill provides for a system of educational assistance allowances to be paid directly to the eligible students — a certain amount for each academic year of full-time study for a maximum of two years. It also provides for cost of instruction allowances to be paid to the colleges involved.

The eligible persons would be high school graduates and the eligible schools would be those legally authorized and accredited schools offering not less than two years of work beyond the high school level. And these would include not only academic institutions but also technical institutes and vocational schools which required high school education first.

We have come a long way in this country in our efforts as a nation to give each individual an equal chance when it comes to educational opportunity, but we have not progressed far enough along that road in this age of technology and technological advances and automation.

Thomas Jefferson believed that a free and prosperous people must be intelligent and educated. In Thomas Jefferson's time, a majority of the adult people could not read and write, but Thomas Jefferson demanded free schools for the people — free public schools. He was unable to demand more than three years of free schooling though he believed that more was needed. He was after what he could get.

Jefferson also thought that basic free education was the means to discovering—hidden out among all the people—the finest talent in the general population, whether that talent was rich or poor. He believed it might be diffused anywhere. Time has proven him right.

By 1850 the battle for acceptance of the idea of free public education through the elementary grades—the 6th, the 7th and the 8th grades—had been won. By 1900 free public education through the high school years was generally accepted as a step that had to come.

Now these two steps of educating all of our youth through high school, tuition free, are regarded as a natural right—a provision so society made in the interest of an enlightened citizenship and a more economically efficient and productive working force. This type of education was accepted because society itself demanded it for its protection, its stability, its progress. I am asking that this same general principle be extended beyond the high school years through the 14th year of education as the new minimum level of free public education.

Those tumbling tumble weeds also have a poetic name. They are identified as the "roses of Jericho."

Estelline Bears Win 26-22 Over Northside Fri

The Estelline Bears won a 26 to 22 decision from the Northside (Vernon) Indians by scoring two TDs in the final quarter to capture the victory. The Bears are open this weekend.

Estelline QB Paul Bryant figured heavily in the scoring for his team as he passed to Doug Fowler 8 yards for the first TD, passed to Bob Collins for 9 yards for the third TD and a conversion pass to Ricky Pierre.

Bryant scored with 39 seconds left on the clock, from the one-foot line, on the fourth down to win the contest.

Doug Fowler scored the second TD on a one-yard carry.

Northside's Clarence McGee was a thorn in the Estelline defense side all night as he ran all over the field and was hard to bring down. He scored all three of Vernon's TDs and figured heavily in Northside's 22 points.

American Legion Has Membership Drive Underway

A Membership Contest is now underway at the American Legion Post here, according to Jay Stone, commander. Three legionnaires are participating, including Jay Stone, Bill Ballew and Royce Frisbie as contest chairmen.

The drive is being made to collect all dues before Nov. 11 as dues will be raised from $7.00 to $10.00 following this date.

"Persons should pay their dues now in order to get the $7.00 rate and can also aid the contest leaders by handing the dues to one of the three men listed above," Stone said.

Chicken Supper

On Thursday evening at 7:30 members and their guests will enjoy a chicken supper at the legion hall.

Plans are also being made to hold the annual Veteran's Supper on November 10.

In making the review of the past year's activities, the commander said the Legion had assisted in five military funeral and folded flags for every veteran.

The post has also sent three boys to Boy's State this past year, given Christmas baskets, and led parades in Clarendon, Memphis and Hedley.

By BYRON BALDWIN

A few days ago along with the other members of the post office party to get my mail, I could see in the P. O. Box a pretty blue envelope with pink paper in it which looked like it might be for a pink and blue shower. Dot Webster was right ahead of me and opened his letter up, and I heard a groan from him and I knew it was not a shower, so I opened my little envelope and glanced at the pink paper and that made two of us with a groan. I do not know how many more had the same reaction. After thinking it over, I thought of the man who complained about not having any shoes until he met the man without any feet. Anyway, if you did not own anything you would not have to pay any taxes. I have heard it said, that there were two things in this world you had to do, one was to pay taxes and the other to die. I had rather pay taxes while longer if I can. Beyond the sunset of life, we are told there will be no pain, heartache or sorrow of any kind, also no insurance policy, property taxes or income taxes to pay. Let us hope and pray that we can so live that we will be qualified to enter through the pearly gates.

Fern Abbott Bodine of Kermit visiting in Heritage Hall. Fern, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Abbott, who moved here from Quail, Texas in 1912 and lived on their farm north of town. Fern said she thought there was an Abbott kid that matched in age with all the McMurry kids. She remembered going to school here with Thelma Lee Hattenbach, Evelyn McMurry, Ada Alexander, Herbert Sisk and Hall McMurry. Other Abbott children were Matt who lived in Canyon (now deceased); Lydia Abbott Bible of Lubbock, Zilla Abbott Souden (deceased), Ernest of Amarillo, Mildred Abbott Salisburg of Lubbock.

Tobe Abbott Aris India (deceased), Ona Lee Abbott Browning of Amarillo (deceased). The Abbotts sold their farm to W. R. Fickas. Duke McMurry worked this place after the Abbotts left. Fern Bodine's daughter married a Memphis boy, Gene Paschall, and they are living in Kermit now. This girl said she was working in a drug store when she first met Gene, but she liked his looks to start on, but could not find anything to talk to him about that they had in common until one day Gene said he was from Memphis and that set things off as her grandpar-ents had lived here and her mother had gone to school here. So the name Memphis brought old Dan Cupid around and now they are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Paschall.

I noticed an ad in the newspaper a few days ago that you could buy Ladies panty hose from a lumber yard, but it did not state in the ad what kind of wood they were made of whether oak, cypress or pine.

In shopping around town, I found a display of assorted colors of toilet paper with advertisement of a special on pins with this paper. I had never seen this combination before, and I asked one of the lady clerks about this if it was a mistake and she said it was not and how about selling me some of this combination and I told her "no". I had rather have a powder puff with the paper.

I met Mr. and Mrs. Durwood McCool in a local eating place last week. They have been living in Dumas since 1946. Mrs. McCool is the former Estelle Craver whose parents were Mr. and Mrs. Port Craver (both now deceased). They were early settlers in Hall County. Their son Port died April 7, 1944, while testing a plane in Sardinia as he was in the Air Force of World War II. The sisters now living are Pat Washington, D. C., Ruth of McLean, Ann and Frances of Pampa. Durwood is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McCool who made their home in Memphis for many years. He was a barber. One other son was Roger McCool who is now living in Susana, Calif. Durwood and Estelle have three daughters, 7 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren. Estelle is retiring from teaching after this year. Durwood says it is easy for him to keep up with his age as he was born in 1909.

Well, the old bird just keeps flying around over Memphis and Hall County. The first time he flew over all I could make out was January, 1971. The next time he flew over I could see the name A. C. Sams and that gave me a lead to know that Ellen Lenoir Sams was going to be married to a grandpa in January. Best wishes for the old bird on a good landing and "a happy New Year" to this family.

Two of Mrs. T. E. Lenoir's granddaughters visiting in Heritage Hall from Greeley, Colo. They are the daughters of Robert Leo Hendrickson and Carrie Dell Lenoir Hendrickson. Carrie Dell is a graduate of MHS. These daughters are Marsha and Caroleen. Caroleen was born in Clarendon and Marsha in Monte Vista, Colo. They have a brother, Tommy, now 15, born in Greeley, Colo. Other daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lenoir are Eugenia Williams, who graduated from Paris High School, and now living in Seattle, Wash., and has four children, Margaurite graduated from Lakeview High School and is now Mrs. Margaurite Williams living in Lompac, Calif. They have three boys. The other daughter is Ellen, now Mrs. A. C. Sams. They have two children, one son Roddy and Susie. The father of this family was Tom Lenoir, who passed away in 1955.

and his wife still resides in Memphis.

Lottie Read Kinard and Lucile Read Wright reported on a good visit they had with Mr. and Mrs. Jet R. Fore in Los Angeles, Calif. Mrs. Fore, the former Dora Read, sister of these two ladies. I think they traveled by air and rode one of those jets, with the change of time, you get to California before you leave Amarillo. That is pretty fast travel. Jet Fore's father and mother were early day settlers in Hall County and operated a general store. Their four children I knew were Lester (deceased) Lena Fore Milam (deceased) Jet of Los Angeles and Frank of Beverly Hills, who married Willie L. Clower, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clower and sister to Pete, now deceased.

Jet is not in very good health and is in a wheelchair a part of the time. He does not let that get him down. He has a one man band, with his guitar and harmonica. It is a one man band until his grandchildren and great-grandchildren come over for a visit with their flutes, drums and horns and there it is a big band. Jet was one of the first members of the Gold Medal Band here, and this fever has passed on to his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The grandchildren call him "Bumpy". Jet used good judgement when he selected his wife, homekeeper, cook and nurse as she is still up and "at-um". Jet is out of that 39 year old class. I told Les Foxhall about Jet's band and he said it should be called "Jetsters Band".

Going to California with Lottie and Lucile was another sister Mrs. D. M. Foster (Katherine Read) of Canyon. Others visiting them during this reunion were brother, Albert B. Read of Torrance, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Jet A. Fore, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert May and Diane, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Middleton and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fore of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The Read clan are the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Read, who arrived here in 1904. Others in the Read family I can remember are Wesley and Charlie of Lubbock and also John of Lubbock who did not get to attend the reunion of the sisters. I first remember this family in 1907 they were living on 16th street and had the best well of water in the Panhandle, and it furnished irrigation for the garden where the tank would run over. I asked Lottie where the A. W. Read children were born and she replied "all over Texas". Made me think of the station master in Ft. Worth in railroad passenger days, calling all town on this railroad. That is the way Lottie gave me their birthplaces: Sherman, Hillsboro Fort Worth, Cleburne and Memphis. The father of this clan was very active with the commercial club here and a booster for Hall County at all times. If you want to write these old friends the address is Jet Fore, 1621 Barry Ave., West Los Angeles, Calif 90025.

Visiting in Heritage Hall a few days ago were Paul Cunningham and Mike Vandiver of Amarillo. Mike is the son of Dorothy Lester Vandeverter and grandson of Inez Lester. Mike gave us the loan of his buffalo laprobe when we started Heritage Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rowell of Childress in Heritage Hall and they liked it very much. Tom is the son of the late "Pistol Bill" Rowell that a lot of old-timers knew with his two guns and his string of gold coins, big hat and colorful handkerchief around his neck. Tom said his grandfather wanted to make a Methodist preacher out of Bill but never had any luck making one out of him. I would call "Pistol Bill" an individualist or an early day Hippie. Speaking of preachers we lost another good one a few days ago when he resigned and moved to Hurst. I think nearly every pastor from the different churches have made an upward move when they left Memphis. Best wishes to the John Bobo family and the new pulpit committee of the First Baptist Church.

Pros And Cons Are Given On Seven Proposed Constitutional Amenrments

(Editor's Note: Below is the second of a series of weekly articles outlining the Constitutional Amendments which will be voted upon at the General Election Nov. 3. The analysis was prepared by the Texas Legislative Council. Two amendments are published last week.)

AMENDMENT NO. 3—S.J.R. No. 15

...the legislature to provide for the establishment of a uniform system of assessment of ranch, farm, and forest lands based on the capability of the lands to support the raising of livestock to produce farm and forest crops.)

The proposed amendment to Article VIII, Section 1-d, of the Texas Constitution authorizes the legislature to provide by statute for the establishment of a uniform system of assessing ranch, farm, and forest lands based on the capacity of the lands to support the raising of livestock and/or to producing farm and forest crops rather than on the value of such lands and the crops growing on them. The present provision of the Constitution requires no enabling legislation since it prescribes in detail the procedure for designating land for agricultural use and the assessment of such land for tax purposes on the basis only of factors relative to such use.

The proposed section differs from the present section in several respects. The present section is limited to land owned by natural persons while the proposed section contains no such limitation.

The present section is applicable to land designated for agricultural use, and agricultural is defined as "the raising of stock and growing of crops, flowers, and other products from the soil under natural conditions as a business venture for which business is the primary occupation and source of income of the owner." The proposed section is applicable to farm, ranch, and forest land, and no reference is made to the primary occupation of the owner. The present section provides that the special land shall be assessed for purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to agricultural use as defined above.

The same basic idea is contained in the new section which provides that the special land shall be assessed upon the basis of its capacity to support the raising of stock and/or to produce farm and forest crops rather than upon the value of such land and the crops growing on them. The present section contains provisions relating to a landowner who wishes to have the land assessed for special valuation to file a statement with the local tax assessor designating the land and its use and directing the assessor to determine whether the land qualifies for special assessment. It provides that no land will be assessed for special valuation unless it has been exclusively used or continuously developed for agricultural use for at least successive years immediately preceding the assessment date.

In addition, it provides for an additional tax in the event the special land is subsequently sold for a purpose other than agricultural use. Finally, the present section contains a provision stating that the valuation assessment of any minerals or surface rights to minerals does not come within the provisions of the section. These items have no counterparts in the proposed section, details being left to future enabling legislation.

Arguments For
The real estate taxes per acre have increased by more than 22 percent, according to data compiled by the Economic Research Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and there is a need for the tax relief for owners of such property which the proposed amendment would authorize.

The constitutional amendment approved by the voters in 1966 has not provided tax relief urgently needed by farmers and ranchers who use for agricultural purposes land which has greatly increased in value due to its potential use for other purposes, such as urban development. The proposed amendment would enable the legislature to provide such relief.

The present system of assessing forest lands for ad valorem tax purposes is inequitable and unrealistic. Timber is now recognized as a "farm product" exempt from taxation as are other growing crops. Timber is accordingly taxed with, and in addition to, the land. The result is that tree farmers pay an ad valorem tax each year on their land on the current year's "crop" (represented by the growth of the trees), and on the crop product in each prior year since the stand of timber was planted. The tree farmer does not recover any portion of these tax payments until the trees are harvested some 20 to 50 years after they are planted. The proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to provide a fairer system of property valuation for taxation of forest lands.

Arguments Against
Enabling legislation for the proposed amendment has not been passed; therefore, the voter has no idea how far the legislature may go in providing property tax considerations to the owners of farm, ranch, and timber lands.

The proposed amendment could result in a tax ceiling for rural lands while urban Texans would be in a different category.

Lower property valuations resulting from implementation of the proposed constitutional amendment might reduce tax revenues of county, school, and other taxing districts. This could possibly handicap these political subdivisions in performing essential governmental functions and services unless other sources of income are found.

AMENDMENT NO. 4—H.J.R. No. 15

(Amending Article III, Section 51-b, Subsection (a), to reconstitute the State Building Commission as a three-member appointive commission.)

The proposed amendment establishes the State Building Commission as a three-member commission to be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. Members would serve six-year terms on a staggered basis, and the governor would designate biennially a member as chairman.

Background: In November, 1954, the Texas electorate adopted the present Section 51-b of Article III. This section created a State Building Commission, composed of the present membership, with a provision that the legislature may designate some state official other than the chairman of the Board of Control to the commission. It also created a State Building Fund into which is paid the revenue which is paid the revenue which remains from a 2 cents on the $100 valuation that ad valorem tax after payment of Confederate pensions. This tax may not be levied after December 31, 1976, by virtue of a constitutional amendment adopted in November of 1968. The first structure erected under this section was the State Supreme Court Building. Since then the Capitol Complex has continued to expand. At the time the original amendment was adopted, a person desiring to visit most of the state agencies in Austin had to go to almost 200 locations scattered about the city. The cramped quarters provided by the Capitol also deprived members of the House of Representatives of office space. The amendment was designed to eliminate such situations by the creation of the Capitol Complex.

Arguments For
The governor, attorney general and chairman of the Board of Control do not have the time to consider all of the details of the additional duties imposed upon them as ex officio members of the State Building Commission.

The governor has recommended the creation of the three-man appointive commission as proposed by the amendment in the belief that a commission so constituted could function more efficiently.

Arguments Against
Since the State Building Commission makes recommendations concerning the expenditure of large sums of public money, it would seem inadvisable to change its present membership of elected officials responsible directly to the people to an appointive membership which is answerable to the voters only through the governor.

After terms of the initial appointees under the proposed amendment have been terminated, succeeding members of the State Building Commission would serve full six-year terms. The long tenure which would be provided for members of the State Building

'OL SENATOR GLIB OUGHTA RUN GOOD. HE'S USUALLY WELL OILED.

Commission, in contrast to the two-year elective terms of two of the ex officio members (the governor and the attorney general) as the commission now exists, could possibly open the way for abuse in the spending of state funds before the natural expiration of terms would permit new appointments.

Bill Lockhart Is Guest Speaker At Cousins Home

Employees of Cousins Home met Friday for the regular monthly staff and in-service meeting with Mrs. Mildred Stephens presiding. At the meeting employees discuss needs, activities, and problems of patients.

Following the staff meeting, the consulting pharmacist, Bill Lockhart, discussed, "Common Poisons and Anecdotes for Poisons".

Mr. Lockhart explained some household poisons. He said, consider the type of poisons before giving medications or common methods of combating the poison. If a person has swallowed acid, clorox, or cleaning chemicals, one should not induce vomiting but give raw eggs, milk, baking soda, or cooking oil as the anecdote, he explained.

More children die from common poisons than from all children's diseases. Keep all medications out of the reach of children; never give medicine to children prescribed for adults; either keep medicine away from the house or so high children will be unable to reach it.

Be very careful in giving digitalis, especially if you have a patient transferring from another home or hospital, notice closely if he is taking digitalis and tell the doctor so he may be familiar with the amount being taken as this can be fatal, he said.

Be careful about taking or using nose drops especially if they contain an oil base. The oil can collect in the lungs and be harmful, he concluded.

Staff members present were Alma Hemphill, Zula Ann Hueka by, Kedron Stephens, Sophia Hernandez, Verda Steptoe, Frances Watson, Wilmuth Wilks, Emma Lee Nabors, Dorothy Elem, Juanita Wilson, Willie D. Brooks, Laverne Fields, Alice Scoggins, Margarita Marines, Anna Mae Mitchell, Ester Fields, Eula Belle Hall, Wynona Scott, Elmon Braxton and guest speaker, Mr. Lockhart.

Memphis Junior Teams Have Full Schedule For Games For Tonight

The Memphis junior football teams are all busy today as the Junior Varsity team travels to Shamrock, the Freshman team goes to Paducah, the 8th graders go to Silvertown and the 7th graders hosts Shamrock at home.

The 8th grade schedule has two games set for tonight, Coach George Berry said. Our first team will go to Silvertown and our second team will play Shamrock here.

Injuries have been so costly in the 8th grade camp that the teams first quarterback will have to miss the Silvertown game.

Last week, the 8th grade downed a tough Clarendon team 38 to 14. Don Davis got the scoring rolling with a kickoff return of about 70 yards. Gary McKay added the two points on a carry. Then Davis returned a punt for another long run and six more points.

A James Beck to McKay pass added the next TD and Beck put two more points on the scoreboard on the conversion. Davis added the next score on a 5-yd. run and a McKay to Candy Reyes pass was good for two points. The final score came on a 30-yd. carry by McKay with Beck carrying on the conversion.

The Memphis 7th grade, playing the Wellington 8th grade, came out on the short end of a 62 to 32 score. Charles Pryley scored 7 TDs for the local 7th graders and Joe Reyes added a conversion. Ricky Miller scored the other TD for the 7th graders.

The 7th graders of Coach Phillip Lillard were out mugged by the older Wellington squad but made a good showing against Wellington.

The Memphis J-Vs and Freshmen were engaged in a real tussle at Wellington Thursday, but finally won the contest 26 to 25.

Despite the containing defense of the local squad, Wellington managed to come up with big plays, kickoff returns and long runs to stay in the contest.

FB Paul Fowler caught a TD pass from QB Mike Browning for one score. Ronald Canida scored two TDs and Browning scored one TD and a two point conversion.

Absentee Voting Starts In Texas Wed., Oct. 14

Wednesday, Oct. 14, to Friday, Oct. 30, inclusive, is the period for absentee voting by personal appearance in the Nov. 3 general election, Mrs. Ruby Goodnight, county clerk, announced this week.

Any qualified voter in Texas who expects to be absent from the county of his residence on Nov. 3 may cast an absentee ballot. To do so, he should take his voter's registration certificate to the county clerk's office during its hours of operation in the Oct. 14-Oct. 30 period.

In addition to state, district and local races, the Nov. 3 ballot will include seven proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

By subject, the proposed amendments relate to: (1) censure and removal of judges; (2) authority for mixed beverage law; (3) assessment of farm, ranch and forest lands; (4) reconstitute State Building Commission; (5) county road bonds and assessed valuation; (6) increase value of homestead exemption from forced sale; and (7) authority to consolidate functions of government.

Texas has a record 4,150,645 registered voters this year. Normally, absentee voting accounts for approximately five per cent of the total vote turnout.

The spaghetti supper has been held for several years by the council members and has been highly successful in the past. The proceeds from the supper are used for home and foreign missions.

Local Board 20 Explain Random Number Selection

Local Board No. 20 Executive Secretary Mrs. Frances Starkey announced Friday that random selection number 141 is the highest lottery selection number reached in 1970.

However, the board spokesman said, it may be necessary to go to a higher random selection number than the previous high number in order to satisfy the remaining 1970 draft calls.

Executive Secretary Mrs. Starkey said that in compliance with the White House Executive Order announced recently, all registrants of Local Board No. 20 who hold the highest reached number or numbers below the highest reached number and who have not been issued orders for induction due to any circumstances, will be considered for carryover into the extended priority selection group if they are classified I-A as of December 31, 1970. Such young men will have their liability extended for the first three months of 1971.

The Local Board spokesman said that the Executive Order states that registrants who held numbers above the highest reached number of Board No. 20 and are classified I-A on December 31, will be placed in a lower draft priority group on January 1.

Memphis Hosts

Tight End Jimmy Glover is 171-lb. senior and another good receiver. Interior linemen for Crowell average 172-lbs. per man. The Wildcat's center is a 210-lb. lad, the largest lineman.

The Wildcats' defensive unit hasn't been scored on many times this season and has been stingy giving up ground.

Coach Clyde McMurray said "Crowell's offense is so versatile that our defense could play at most flawlessly and we'd still get scored upon."

"With their speed, they could break any play they get their hands on the football," he said. This apparently is one game Coach McMurray is hoping the Memphis team will be hogzied about giving up the football.

"Crowell's defense, with its superior speed, recovers from mistakes so quickly it is difficult to get the long gainer from them," Coach McMurray said.

About the Cyclone

Coach McMurray announced the starting lineup for the Cyclone will be about the same as the lineup against Wellington last week.

"We will have Jimmy Phillips starting at tailback this week," Coach McMurray said. Phillips is also a defensive safety back for the local team which adds more depth in that area.

The Memphis coach praised Cyclone linemen for their play against Wellington last Friday. "We're honoring Tackle Glen Miller, and Ends J. E. Vick and Donnie Carroll as Cyclone linemen of the Week, primarily for their exceptionally fine blocking on defense."

The Coach said that Louis Davis has been named Cyclone Back of the Week. Davis was recognized this week by the Amarillo Globe News as a co-holder of the Class A back of the week for his play against Wellington.

Coach McMurray said he was proud of the Cyclone's shifty tailback, but he was even prouder of the fine blocking of the Cyclone line against Wellington for opening the holes they did to spring local backs.

Coach McMurray also expressed pleasure of another kind this week and that is the real good workout attendance he is receiving.

"We have a rule that if you don't work out that week you don't get to play Friday," the coach said. "Our boys never bring the rule up, they just come to work out if they are at all able."

The Cyclone has now battled to a 3 and 1 record and has been ranked tenth in Panhandle Area Class A teams. Now, as District 2-A play is only one week away, it is important to note that four of the six District 2-A teams are ranked in the Panhandle top 10.

Not ranked are McLean and Clarendon, both capable squads so on the last Friday night before conference begins, a big question mark looms as to which squad will finally emerge as the district champ.

A win this Friday could well provide the momentum needed any of the six teams vieing. Local fans are hoping the Cyclone can and will overcome Crowell Friday to give the local lads that momentum.

Survey

There are now more than a million farm workers in the U.S. who are not protected by unemployment insurance.

Hooser points out that the survey will gather information on farm labor use and the farm work force that is needed. Additional Extension educational and research programs will be established as a result of what is learned. The impact of current and proposed labor legislation affecting agricultural workers and employers will also be studied.

Some 3,000 agricultural employers and about the same number of agricultural workers will be surveyed throughout the state. The employers selected at random, will receive a questionnaire in the mail while the farm workers will be interviewed individually. Hooser anticipates that a few farm workers in Hall County will be interviewed after approval from the employer.

The agent emphasizes that all information collected in the survey will be held in strict confidence. Data collected will be computer-processed and will become available to farm organization leaders and other interested groups as they develop programs which involve farm workers.

Everyone in the county who is contacted concerning the survey should give his fullest cooperation. The information is needed to help Texas' agricultural economy strong and competitive, says Hooser.

First Cotton

Flat, Jim Robison, manager. The first bale weighed pounds and was harvested a field planted May 25. Last 57 variety of cotton seed planted. The field was damaged hail it was reported.

Sherron T. Lee, president of Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development presented Mr. Lee with the check of $56 given by chamber for the first bale of cotton.

B. P. Degan, manager of Turkey Branch of the Memphis Compress Co. presented Hall with a check of 40 cents pound for the first bale of cotton.

The first bale of cotton ginned in Memphis was presented at the Farmers Union Co-Op here Wednesday. It was given by W. D. Stewart in the Newlin community and weighed 465 lbs.

The bale was purchased by C. Allen, Jr., manager of Memphis Compress Co.

In making the announcement John L. Burnett, manager of gin, estimated that harvesting the 1970 cotton crop will be in earnest in about two weeks.

Everyone in the county who is contacted concerning the survey should give his fullest cooperation. The information is needed to help Texas' agricultural economy strong and competitive, says Hooser.
