1913 Study Club Enjoys Tour Of Lakeview Area

Twenty members of the 1913 Study Club met at the local ASCS office the afternoon of Nov. 3 and from there enjoyed a guided tour of the Lakeview flood plain area relative to the study of "The Local Habitat." Three cars with three men from the office made the trip out toward Lakeview and looped back through Plaska. The official guides were Henry Gregory, Lee McDonald and David Seitz.

As the group passed by, the guides pointed out the conservation practices in progress on the various farms, named the owner of each tract of land and when that individual had implemented the program for the improvement of his farm. The planting of rye along the edge of the land in cultivation to prevent blowing has been a popular practice, it was pointed out. Parallel terracing is another innovation which has proven practical. This entire conservation program is aimed toward preventing erosion by wind and water of the acreage within the Lakeview flood plain. A great amount of money has been approved for the building of dams on the creeks of that area.

joyed as well as an instructive tour.

The members then gathered at the home of Mrs. M. G. Tarver for the business session and refreshments. Mrs. F. W. Foxhall gave the meditation entitled, "Texans Cover Ecology." During the business session, Mrs. Paul Montgomery, the president, called for a report from the treasurer and had a reading of the minutes but dispensed with the counselors' reports. Mrs. Tarver reported that only two bottles of Supreme flavoring were left and more had been ordered.

Delicious refreshments were served following formal adjournment. Mrs. Greene was recognized after some weeks absence.

Save space if freezing a combination main dish; freeze the casserole in a foil-lined bowl. After frozen, lift the food from the dish and wrap for re-freezing. Casseroles freeze in uniform shape, then they can be stacked easily.

SPORTS CORNER

By BILL COMBS
I've been trying for several weeks to get a column written but time and space have been against me. Now there's so much that needs to be said.

Congratulations to the Cyclone team for their excellent victory at Clarendon. The Cyclone offense was outstanding, while the defense played well, forcing the Bronchos to punt six times and coming up with one key interception. This is championship type football at its best.

I've been asked how many minutes Memphis had the football out of the 48 minutes in the game. Frankly, that's one statistic I just don't keep up with. However, I can say that Memphis ran 72 plays while Clarendon had 53 offensive plays in the game.

Memphis now has the honor and privilege to go to White Deer Friday night for a rematch with the White Deer Bucks. I have seen a steady improvement in the Cyclone squad all season and note the best two games Memphis has played were both on the road, against Crowell and against Clarendon. The best home game was against Wheeler.

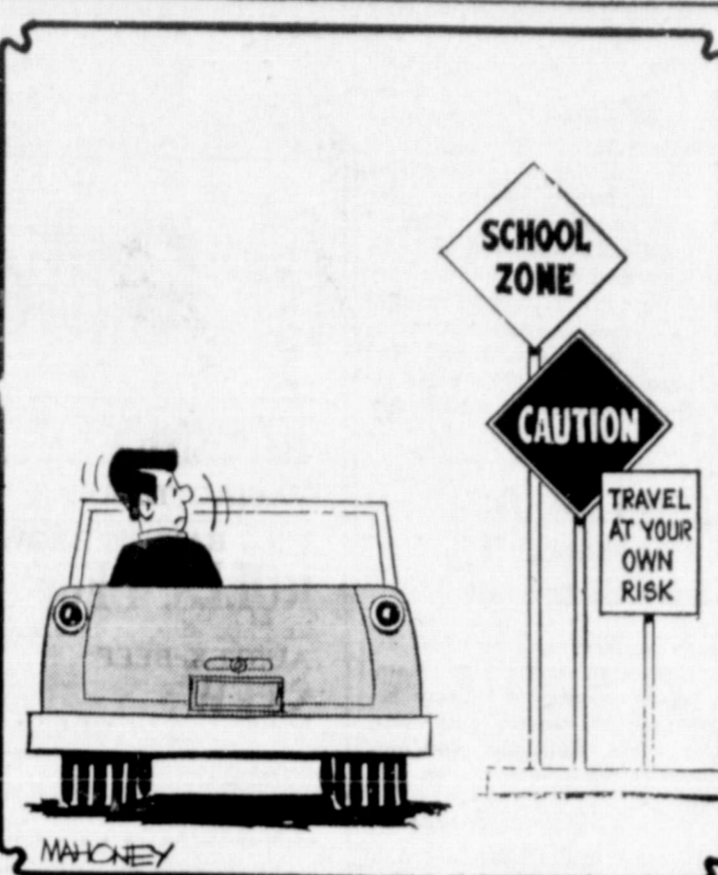

This Bi-District game is one of the important ones, for the winner could well eventually emerge as the state champion. This state has many fine Class A ball clubs in the play-offs and White Deer is ranked No. 2. The Cyclone lost what right it might have had at statewide rating when the Bucks won the season opener over Memphis by a one-sided score, although the statistics of the game were far from being one-sided.

Spirit has a lot to do with the outcome of any high school ball game, if this spirit goes into physical effort and execution in blocking and tackling. At Clarendon, one outstanding feature of the game was crisp, clean hitting by the ball clubs. On the field, I saw little or no "extra curricular" acts by either team. Penalties were almost nonexistent.

White Deer has a strong team with big backs and a fine passing attack. Memphis has a ground eating offense and a defense which has been improving all season. To win the game, Memphis may even have to call on a better effort than they have put forth all season, but I feel the local team is capable of this kind of effort. If the game turns into a scoring contest, I believe Memphis is one of the few Class A teams which could match the Bucks at putting points on the board.

A victory by Memphis over White Deer could well be the greatest victory in the history of Memphis High. White Deer has all the glory, a 10-0 season, state ranking, the home field advantage, an easy game behind them last Friday night, and the highest scoring offensive unit in the Texas Panhandle, plus an early season victory over Memphis. Memphis has spirit, an improved team with a good blocking line, hard running backs, a good passer and capable receivers, an offense which has put an average of 34 points on the board every Friday night. Most of all, Memphis wants to win the game more than anything else. Memphis also knows what it is to fight its way to the top with every man on the team having to play to the best of his ability to win. The game is a few hours away. Whatever the outcome, we're confident that the Memphis Cyclone will make a good showing. We are also confident the local lads will win the game if they can. This is the biggest game for Memphis in five years, and it's been since 1953 that a Memphis team was victorious in Bi-District. That was when Springlake, heavily favored and 10-0 for the season, was upset by Memphis on Thanksgiving Day.

The Cyclone has two strong points, spirit and team depth. Coach McMurray said Tuesday at a packed house of Cyclone Boosters that the squad's depth is a comforting thing to him. He cited that Lenis Simpson came in at offensive tackle against Clarendon and played most of the night, not because Donnie Carroll was ailing, but to let Carroll rest and because Lenis has developed to the point he does an outstanding job. Now we have two tackles for this position. We have a lot of juniors and our two sophomores, Jim Dixon and Mark Bradshaw, who are ready to go in and play fine football for us, the coach said. "This is one advantage that post season play allows," he added. "It gives the younger boys, who develop later in the season, more opportunity and more time to mature."

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for your kindness to us in our sad hour.

Especially do we wish to express appreciation to the High-tower Class for the many things done, the memorials, food, and kind expressions which means so much to us.

TOUGH YARDS—HB Louis Davis is shown surrounded by Bronchos as he goes down on the Clarendon 3-yard line after making three tough yards last Friday night. Cyclone linemen are shown lying all around. Coach Clyde McMurray described the Cyclone line play as "beautiful to watch" as they opened holes all night.

EYE BALL TO EYE BALL—QB Mike Browning and a Clarendon linebacker seem to be eyeing each other in this picture but that's not the case as Browning makes a fine move and picks up four big yards on Memphis' first scoring drive. Browning had his best running night against Clarendon averaging 6.6 yards a carry. He also completed five of his seven passes. No. 40 is Paul Fowler.

JUBILATION—With the scoreboard reading Visitor 27, home 13, shown in the right background, the Memphis team had won the crucial game over Clarendon and it was time to celebrate. When the game ended, handshakes were exchanged, then the team assembled for the playing of the School Song. Coaches were carried off the field as best as could be managed. Moments later, the team learned of Wheeler's victory over McLean which added to the jubilation. All were well pleased with the performance of the Cyclone against Clarendon.

Toxic Substances In Laundry Detergent Causes Ailments Where Enzymes Used

Allergic reactions ranging from dermatitis to respiratory distress are numerous and violent among factory workers who handle and package products containing the so-called enzymes.

According to Dr. Rene Dubos of Rockefeller University the "enzyme" preparations used as pre-soaks or mixed with laundry detergents contain a multiplicity of different enzymes, plus various cellular constituents derived from the bacteria from which the "enzyme" is made...

In a paper in Science, Dr. Dubos focuses his attention on the fact that certain of the bacterial constituents and metabolites which accompany the enzymes have biological activities that render them potentially dangerous.

Twenty-two different enzyme preparations, free of detergents, were subject to five different kinds of tests: hemolytic and hemagglutinating activity, antibacterial activity, toxic activity in mice, and effect of the enzyme preparations on susceptibility to infections.

Many of the preparations, but not all, exhibited one or more of the following activities: hemolysis, hemagglutination, inhibition of bacterial growth. All preparations of Bacillus subtilis (the so-called enzymes) tested were capable of causing a rapid loss of body weight when injected into mice...

It seems clear, says Dr. Dubos, that the profound differences observed among the various preparations may be related to genetic characteristics of the different strains of Bacillus subtilis used in the preparations. The different "enzymes" also differ in immunological specificity and sensitizing ability—a fact that greatly complicates establishing suitable safety controls for manufacture and use of these preparations.

Risks Greater For Farmers — Farmers today face greater legal liability risks than they did a few years ago, and they need enough personal, employee and vehicle liability insurance to cover possible court action.

Insurance as a hedge against risks is becoming more important because of the capital outlays needed to equip and maintain a farm business," says County Agent W. B. Hooser. "A sizeable judgement resulting from an accident due to carelessness might reduce a farmer's capital severely or even cause him to lose his farm."

Farms are becoming such large investments businesses that farmers have higher asset valuations and are subject to larger liability suits than before, Hooser points out. As additional power equipment is used, machine-caused accidents and exposure to these hazards increase.

"Because risks in an individual cause are so unpredictable, a farmer should do everything possible to prevent accidents," Hooser explains. "But accidents do happen on farms, and adequate liability insurance is a must, especially since laws are making it easier for injured persons to collect damages."

A farmer risks several kinds of liability. As an individual, he may be held liable for his negligent acts. As the head of a family, he may be held liable for the negligence of family members. As a landowner and property owner, a farmer may be held liable for negligence in the upkeep of his property or for damage done by his livestock. As an employer, he may be held liable for harm to employees or injury to other persons by his farm machinery, cars and trucks, adds Hooser.

Avoid Plow Pans As harvest operations are completed, producers in Hall County will be plowing under the crop residue and preparing the land for next year's crop.

CANDY

BY TOM DORR

pleted, producers in Hall County will be plowing under the crop residue and preparing the land for next year's crop. However, the soil should not be worked with heavy equipment while it is wet to avoid plow pans, says County Agricultural Agent W. B. Hooser.

Plow pans are compacted zones in the soil that may form as a result of the compressing action of cultural implements on wet or overly moist soils. Medium and moderately fine-textured soils are particularly susceptible to this hazard. Plow pans can seriously reduce soil productivity by restricting root penetration and the downward flow of water in the soil.

Plow pans become a problem most often when a field is plowed to the same depth with the same type of tillage implement for several years, points out Hooser. Therefore, he advises that the depth of tillage and type of plow be varied from year to year.

If producers have experienced problems with plow pans in some of their fields, the soil's physical conditions can be improved temporarily by deep subsoiling and chiseling. But preventing the plow pan from developing in the first place by good soil, crop and residue management is a much more effective and economical practice, points out Hooser.

New Brake Law Affects Trailers Owned By Farmers

Farmers and ranchers as well as others in Hall County should become familiar with the new vehicle brake law passed recently by the Texas Legislature, points out County Agent W. B. Hooser.

The new law applies to every trailer, semi-trailer and Pole trailer equipped with air or vacuum actuated brakes and every trailer in excess of 3,000 pounds. These trailers must now be equipped with brakes acting on all wheels which can be applied automatically and promptly and remain applied for at least 15 minutes upon breakaway from the towing vehicle.

However, there are some exceptions to the law, adds Hooser. Trailers with a gross weight of 3,000 pounds or less and those weighing 40 percent or less of the towing vehicle are exempt.

Also farm trailers or semi-trailers moving temporarily on highways at speeds of 30 miles per hour or less and having a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or less are exempt from the brake requirements if they are otherwise exempt from vehicle registration laws.

In addition, cotton trailers weighing 15,000 pounds or less moving temporarily at speeds of 35 miles per hour or less are exempt if they are exempt from vehicle registration laws.

Other special brake requirements were added from mobile homes, certain vehicles in driveway operations, and certain trucks and truck-trailers having three or more axles.

Officers of the Texas Department of Public Safety have more specific information on the new brake law as well as the effective date of the various provisions of the law.
