Cyclone Golfers Win District Wed. At Clarendon

The Cyclone golf team overcame adverse weather conditions and shot a respectable 329 score to best their district rival team from McLean to win the District 2-A golfing championship Wednesday at the Clarendon Country Club course. The victory was well earned by the golfers from Memphis High as they battled 60 miles per hour winds and the psychological disadvantage of knowing that the McLean team had posted a 322 score against them in an earlier match this year. However, the Memphis golfers managed to beat their district rival team at Tascosa Club in Amarillo last Friday and Saturday in the Amarillo Relays, as the local team finished with the best score of any Class A team entered in the Relays. Mack Miller posted an eight-over-par 79 to earn medalist honors by edging out his teammate, Bruce Rose, by two strokes for this honor. Rose's 81, along with Eddie Foxhall's 83 and Phillip Bray's 86 combined to give Memphis the winning 329 total, 28 strokes better than McLean, which had a 357. The team's number five man, David Cofer, had an 89. The Clarendon team finished in third with a 410 total. Claude was represented by two boys seeking medalist honors. Next for the Cyclone golfers will be the Class A Regional golf matches, scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, April 19 and 20, Coach McMurray announced.

Five Die In Wreck Sunday Near Hedley

One of the worst wrecks in several years in the Southeastern Panhandle occurred Sunday night about 10:45 p. m. when a 1970 model Ford Mustang crashed into the rear of a parked truck at a road side park 7.2 miles northwest of Memphis, killing five persons and leaving a sixth in critical condition. The five victims, two men and three girls, are Jerome Carlyle Franklin, 20, and Richard Earl Coffey, 19, both of Borger, Shellie Williams, 4, of Pampa, Miss Margie Ree Williams, 18, of Dallas, and the six-month-old daughter of Mrs. Anise Delaine Wilhite, 22, also of Dallas. Mrs. Wilhite, at the time of this writing, was in critical condition at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo, where she was rushed from Hall County Hospital, the night of the accident. The northwest-bound car, belonging to Coffey and being driven by Franklin, veered into the roadside park after slamming into a curb, crossing grass, and entering the access road to the roadside park, before crashing into the back of the truck. Driver of the truck, Kenneth Dale Murphy of Moriarty, N. M., was asleep in the cab of the vehicle, Highway Patrolman Tex Seates said. Coffey and the three girls were dead at the scene while Franklin died about 3 a. m. at Hall County Hospital. Funeral services of the two men are to be conducted in Borger. The girls were taken to Pampa where funeral services are pending. Wrecker and ambulance crews from Memphis worked almost an hour at the wreck scene, pulling the crumpled car from under the truck and spreading the frame in order to remove the six passengers.

The Overlooked Factor

Austin correspondents were no doubt taken by surprise when Rep. W. S. Healy relinquished the chairmanship of the House Appropriations Committee at the opening of the special session last week. His action brought to a close the longest tenure as chairman of a major committee in the State's history. But it was not in keeping with the image members of the Capitol press corps had been building over the years.

In making the statement a day prior to the opening of the session, Mr. Healy said he did so in order to eliminate the possibility that he might be an issue in the Speaker's race. The election of a Speaker came off without incident and expected controversy didn't materialize.

It is common knowledge that Mr. Healy is not exactly the public official most admired by Austin correspondents. Over the years no opportunity to give him adverse publicity has been overlooked. Part of the explanation is personality, but more than anything else is the fact that a top position in the Legislature can be held a long time by a member from a rural district.

Mr. Healy's competence in handling the complicated task of spending billions of dollars of taxpayers' money has never been publicly challenged. Nor has his knowledge of State Government been questioned.

Admittedly Mr. Healy isn't the most tactful person in Texas official life. Even his friends agree he would make low marks as a politician of the traditional pattern and could very well do with less brusqueness and could use some of the Dale Carnegie philosophy for winning friends and influencing people.

But from the time he first went to Austin as a freshman Representative he has held choice committee assignments. This, colleagues from big cities and members of the Austin press corps have been unable to understand, although the explanation is quite simple. When other members are partying Bill Healy is boning up on legislation and studying reports from the Comptroller's office which show where the State's money comes from and how it is spent.

There is no substitute for work, even in public office. Speakers have given Mr. Healy membership on significant committees because he will work and knows what he is doing. If, as some of his critics affirm, he has been top man in the House for the past dozen years or so, it is quite a compliment, because the record has been good. The public service has been improved and expanded to meet the needs of a growing state, while costs have been held to relatively low levels. This is the point his critics miss.

What Other Editors Say

Life magazine ran aspread a while back showing how residents of the larger cities are living these days, huddled inside their apartments behind heavily barred and locked doors and windows, afraid to answer the door, afraid to venture outside their homes at night.

In this issue, the magazine invited its readers to express their own opinions on the subject of crime.

There was a brief questionnaire which 43,000 readers filled out and sent in. Some of these readers also wrote letters to the magazine expressing their views.

The results of this inquiry paint a grim picture of a nation besieged by criminals.

There were 78 per cent of the people who said they feel unsafe in their own homes. Eighty per cent in big cities are afraid on the streets at night.

The inquiry also showed that 43 per cent of families were crime victims last year. Thirty per cent keep a gun for their protection.

Forty-one per cent say their police protection is inadequate. The vast majority oppose any effort to take away their guns and render them further defenseless when the criminals attack. These views of citizens who are experiencing first hand what it means to be the victim of a criminal should be heeded by the politicians who would strip away the guns they need for their own protection.

One lady in Salt Lake City wrote that "every criminal is a potential killer and a target for a populace legitimately armed."

The small owner in New York City who was hit by holdup men seven times last year and who killed four and left the other three on the floor is appalled for his courage instead of being condemned for killing other people.

While there are still a lot of liberal do-gooders who are still obsessed with concern for criminals and their rights, the majority of the American people are tired of it.

This country needs a revolution—against crime and criminals.

It is a national disgrace that American citizens are warned not to venture on the streets of Washington, D. C., our nation's capitol, after dark.

It is a national disgrace that

Glamorous Gloria was not the second coming of Sarah Bernhart; but she does make sense when she starts talking about taxes. We should have a depreciation allowance for teachers, preachers and doctors; for carpenters, painters and plumbers; for farmer, rancher and ginners. Americans everywhere have to cover in their homes and fear for their lives while criminals are allowed to roam at will.

It may be that we will have to return to the vigilante days when men banded together with guns for the protection of themselves and their families. In the great preoccupation with spending government money for social ills, politicians seem to overlook one of the greatest needs—the need to get rid of criminals.

an employee of Champlin Refinery Co. from 1929 until his retirement in May, 1966.

He and Mary Bowden were married in 1922 at Sherman. Darnell was a member of the Trinity Methodist Church, the Garfield Lodge No. 501, AF&AM, Chapter 36 Order of Eastern Star and the Oil Workers Local No. 220.

In addition to his wife, Mary, he is survived by three sons, one daughter, four grandchildren, and four brothers.

The American Cancer Society reports that one life in three is now being saved from cancer but it could be one in two without a single new research discovery if people understood the value of early detection and prompt treatment.

Mrs. Beasley Is Honored With House Warming

The 69ers Club members appeared at the home of Alice Beasley Wednesday afternoon, April 5, for a surprise "house-warming" party. Mr. and Mrs. Beasley recently moved to their new home at 822 North 14th St. from their country home west of Memphis.

Mrs. Beasley was presented individual beautifully wrapped gifts which she unwrapped amidst much laughter and merriment, being "white elephants" or gag gifts from the members—several with original sayings or poems. Lastly, she was presented a beautiful vase from the club.

Cookies, punch and mints were served to the honoree, Mrs. Beasley, and to Ruth Misenheimer, Maggie Martin, Opal Waites, Edna Lester, Faye Maddox, Susie Coleman, Inez Aspgren, and two guests, Jan and little Kimberly Waites; also to Mr. Beasley who came in before the group dispersed.

Hosting the celebration held at the Immanuel Southern Baptist Church were the couple's children and their spouses: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards of Woodland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Culture Club Enjoys Program Concerning Music

The Women's Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. L. G. Rasco for the annual musical program. The theme for the program was "Contrasts in Music".

Miss Sybil Gurley presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. R. E. Clark.

Mrs. May reported that the draperies were up in the home economics department at high school in connection with the club project to purchase the drapes.

Mrs. Alvin Pyeatt president—elected for 1972-73, Mrs. Pat Lewis and Mrs. L. G. Rasco attended the Santa Rosa District convention at Quannah. Mrs. Pyeatt gave a report of the convention; and during her report, she told of Mrs. L. G. Rasco winning first place in the arts and crafts division. Her entry was a hand made hook rug. Mrs. Rasco also played selections on the piano for "Fashions for Fun" which was narrated by Mrs. Blackwell of Childress.

Mrs. Jeanette Irons introduced the program with the quotation: "Music, once admitted to the soul, becomes a sort of spirit, and never dies".

Mrs. Frank Ellis gave the invocation, after which, Mrs. L. G. Rasco gave a short review of the life of the band master who stirred the world with his music, John Phillip Sousa. Sousa could play any of the instruments that were used in his band, she said. He was the conductor of the Marine Band for 12 years after which, he organized his own band. He toured the world with his famous Sousa Band. For the conclusion of her part on the program, she played Sousa's famous "Stars and Stripes Forever".

Mrs. David May discussed the life of Van Cliburn. "Van Cliburn is a native of Kilgore, Texas, & his mother's family was among the founders of Baylor University from early childhood, Van wanted to be a concert pianist. He won the award to permit him to play in Carnegie Hall at the age of 13. Even as a youth, he stressed the fact that it was God's gift to him. At the age of 23, he was invited to Russia to play in the Tchaikovsky Competition and won the first piano prize. Cliburn's most impressive achievement is his ability to keep the feeling and meaning of music before his audience as he performs. Playing the piano has been the public expression of Cliburn's faith in God. love of people and a vision of a better world," she concluded. Mrs. May played a recording of Van Cliburn's "Tchaikovsky's Concerto No. 1."

The program was closed by club members singing "The Federation Jubilation Song", written by Virginia Browder.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mmes. Nat Bradley, Frank Ellis, Ward Gurley, Jeanette Irons, Jim Lange, Pat Lewis, David May, Robert Moss, Alvin Pyeatt, L. A. Stillwell, Misses Alma Bruce, Sybil Gurley, Esta McElrath and the hostess, Mrs. L. G. Rasco.

Mizpah Guild Completes Plans For 50th Birthday Party Sunday, April 16

By VIRGINIA BROWDER

The local members of the Mizpah Guild of the First Presbyterian Church are elated over responses to their invitations to out-of-town former members. From all directions these former members plan to be present and participate in the observance of the Guild program and party celebrating its 50th birthday on Sunday, April 16.

Organized in 1922 in the home of the pastor's wife, Mrs. Kuntz, this church auxiliary has remained active all through the years. It is to be hoped that some of the charter members will be here. One, Miss Juntine Keeling, has already answered in the affirmative and the Waring Walkers of Plainview are coming.

What we believe to be a delightful program of narration and music will begin in the sanctuary at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 16. Following the program, the guests will ascend to the Upper Room for refreshments and reminiscing. Those who cannot climb the stairs will be carried up via the very reliable "pack saddle method."

Interested persons will be most welcome to come and join in our gala observance of the 50th birthday of the Mizpah Guild.

1913 Study Club Meets In Home Of Neville Wrenn

Seventeen members, including a newly elected member, Mrs. L. L. Newman, came together when the 1913 Study Club met in the home of Miss Neville Wrenn Apr. 5. The meeting was opened with a meditation given by Mrs. Herschel Combs.

During the business portion of the afternoon's session, the president, Mrs. Paul Montgomery, extended congratulations to Mrs. Bray Cook who was recently elected to the office of Santa Rosa District president. Mmes. Frank Foxhall and D. L. C. Kinard, as delegates and club representative Convention in Quannah, gave reports of the proceedings there.

The 1913 Study Club was fortunate enough to receive a certificate for leadership. Mrs. Sherman Lee was judged the Outstanding Club Woman of the Santa Rosa District.

The TFWC Convention will be held in Dallas in May at which time Mrs. Cook will be formally installed.

Following the reports of the departmental counselors, Mrs. Clyde McMurray as program chairman introduced the program. Virginia Browder made brief remarks concerning the local Carnegie Library, one of the six remaining such endowed structures left standing in Texas.

Mrs. Byron Baldwin reviewed the Life of Andrew Carnegie, a most amazing little man who came as an immigrant lad with his parents from Scotland; and, by his own ingenuity and industry, amassed a fortune and became a prominent steel magnate. In fact, Mr. Carnegie at his zenith was controller of the steel industry of the United States. He was an untiring philanthropist who distributed his great wealth among worthy causes, none the least of which was the public libraries. Mrs. Baldwin gave a most interesting portrayal of his life and times to an appreciative audience.

Tasty refreshments were served by the hostess and the meeting was adjourned.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Cook at which time Professor Bill Taylor from Clarendon College will be a guest of the club, and will speak on the subject, "The Peculiarities of Texas Laws," it was announced.

Specialist Says Children Need More Exercise

Recently there has been an outcry against children watching too much television. One reason for the protest is that children sit quietly by the TV hour after hour and don't run, jump, climb or throw enough.

"In a sense these children suffering from TV addiction simply don't get the proper exercise that helps large muscles develop," said Texas Agricultural Extension Service life specialist Dorothy Taylor.

Miss Taylor said muscle-developing activities are essential to a child's development.

"Parents can do much to provide children with a variety of activities that will help a child grow and develop," she said. "It's been said that a child will naturally develop his muscles. This is true—up to a point.

"It's still true that every parent who cares for his child wants the youngster to develop in the best way possible. A parent can stimulate and encourage the child to new and different activities to aid muscle development."

The specialist told the story of a mother who visited a kindergarten and become very upset because four-year-old children were using real saws to saw soft wood.

"After the mother's initial flurry of words," Miss Taylor said, "the teacher explained why the children's use of the saw just might be worthwhile activity. Children learn many things from using wood. They like to cut wood and are capable of learning how to use a saw carefully."

The specialist said that real tools are far better than some plastic tools that don't do anything except look like the real tool.

"But possibly the most important reason for the child's using the saw is that it helps him develop his large muscles and his large-muscle skills. He also learns how to control his muscles and use them in activities."

As a child develops his large muscles, he also gains confidence in his ability to deal with his environment. He gains confidence in himself as well.

Some activities that help a child develop his large muscles include: throwing balls through a hoop, throwing bean bags at a target, pounding nails, swinging in a swing, balancing by walking on low boards, climbing a rope ladder, climbing a tree or jungle gym and running—sometimes barefoot—on sand or grass.

"Each parent can praise his child as he acquires new skills and new coordination," Miss Taylor pointed out.

In the last school and city election that was held here I did note the election judges and clerks were all women. So I guess we are carried out for Women's Liberation on a lot of things. I can remember when only men would be the elections or sit on juries. I am glad we still have "His" "Hers".

A few days ago in reading Frank Tolbert's column, he was commenting on Gonzales County the abundance of water supply from their artesian wells. One in particular that I did make note of in Gonzales County was of in Nixon, which has a town of 1925 people. He did give the chicken population, he does say that it has been "Chick-shippingest Town in Texas", as they process about 10 thousand chickens per day, it takes 10 gallons of water in each chicken cleaned ready for the butcher. Sounds like a pretty good water bill us over 850 thousand gallons per day for cleaning these chickens. They should have a lot of feather there with a lot of feathering!

bet they have a lot of gizmo and chicken manure. In driving by our school yards a few days ago, it brought back memories of recess in the early years, when the girls were jumping rope and the boys would be spinning tops, playing marbles, mumble peg. I did not see of these games being played. In the daily papers that this yo-yo year. The information given by Everett (Bunny) Martin who is the World's Champion YO-YO performer. He recently put on a yo-yo show in front of a crowd of 8,000. The next day every store in town sold out and were looking for more stock to arrive to give everyone the yo-yo spirit. After years of experience, Martin is particular with his YO-YO as skier is with his skis. They are perfectly balanced, the one in his left hand a little lighter than the one in his right hand. He was serving as associate director of college affairs at Mary Baylor College until he resigned in March of this year. He has converted his hobby to time work in the growing of Christian entertainment. In any case, will get out my yo-yo that my daughter gave me last year on Father's Day and practice up a little more before becoming an expert.

congratulations to Mrs. A. Wilborn of Amarillo who celebrated her 100th birthday last Saturday. She was an early day resident of Hall County.

Mrs. J. W. Hembree of Dallas celebrated her 100th birthday last year. It won't be long before she will belong to the 101 club. She was a former resident of Hall County. Another longtime resident of the county, Frank Ogden, will celebrate his 100th birthday in September.

A quote from Joan Rivers says, her husband never complains about the meals; "Why should he criticize his own cooking?"

We had as guests in Hall County Heritage Hall last Monday the first year Troop No. 163 Brownies with Mrs. Onnie Davis, leader, and her assistant, Mrs. Eddie Gable. There are 12 second grade girls in this troop and with the following names listed looking the displays over and finding their mother's and dad's pictures in the school room: Rhonda Gable, Kelli Liner, Debra Davis, Cheryl Phelps, Kelli Fisher, Karen Davis, Kathy Boone, Kari Posey, Mary Alice Beasley, Kim Johnson, Karen Callahan, Patti Cruze, Robin Gable and Darrell Davis. This was a very fine group of young ladies with all ears and eyes to gain knowledge of some of the (queer to them) items on display. We are always glad to have groups come in to take a view of Heritage Hall.

A quote from Barefoot Hollow: "I really can't see any future for a man that always lives in the past".

In conversation with Barry Ward a few days ago, he said he lost his taste for pork chops after having an undated meeting of his motorcycle and a 150-lb. hog.

It seems like the hogs and cows should study their highway department rules and regulations a little more. Floyd Hardin of Matador had a silent conversation with a couple of cows that came in contact with his pickup. The pickup demolished, the two cows passed on, but we are thankful that Floyd survived even though he is pretty well out of commission for activity. I don't imagine Floyd will crave cow meat for some time either.

A quote from Barefoot Hollow: "Uncle Jake says almost all marriages are happy. But it is livin' together afterwards that causes all the trouble."

I noticed in the 1938 edition of the Memphis Democrat that S. T.

Brogdon of Stephenville, candidate for governor, spoke here. The main provision in his platform was the annexation of Texas and Mexico and his motto was "Make Texas lead the nation". I guess he did not win, as we do not have Mexico with our states.

In 1938 we showed a population of Hall County as 16,966, with only 261 people unemployed in the age group of 15 to 75. Not very much money in circulation in that year, but a lot of work going on with the faith for rain and next year.

It did not take so much money in that year as I noticed that Leo Fields was selling 2 lbs. standard brands of coffee for 55c.

I had a short visit the past Saturday with John R. Scott, now of Littlefield, who was a former Hall County resident. He is the son of J. C. Scott. While in Hall County, they farmed the Uncle Bill Wilson place for several years and later lived in the Fairview Community. This family moved from here in 1938. John married Alma Ramines. They have one son, Dale, who is now with the corporation court in Dallas. John is now in the cattle business. The other members of this family now living are Cecil, in California; Jim, in Anton, Texas; Mary and Theima, both of Amarillo. We have furnished population at Littlefield with a lot of our good citizens.

In checking with our local agriculture office a few days ago, we find that we have 245 thousand acres of farm land in Hall County. Only 12 farms have any peanut allotments, with a total of 208 1/2 acres with the allotments from 10 to 25 acres per farm. As much peanut butter as some of us living in Hall County eat, it seems that we should have a few more home grown peanuts.

Some of the out-of-town visitors we had in Hall County Heritage Hall were P. D. Hunter of Minneapolis, Minn.; Roy Rogers Helm of Pampa; Mrs. Gloria Kennedy and son, Bill, of Hedley; Jim and Jackie Baldwin of Dallas; and Linton Gardenhire of Lakeview.

It seems impossible to note how time flies. Flora Webb Reed had visiting with her the past week her little daughter, Donna, who is now Mrs. Cooper of Borger. Donna said she graduated from MHS in 1953. That has been 19 years. Along with Donna were her two daughters, Kelly and Robin, who are now teenagers.

If my information is right, there have been 12 different women candidates for governor since 1845. We have had only one lady for governor and that was Ma Ferguson, who served two terms, I think is right.
