Seven Hall County Boys To Go To Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle

Seven boys from Memphis, Lakeview and Estelline have been chosen by the Hall County Salvation Army Service Unit Committee for a free one week vacation beginning Sunday, June 18, at the Salvation Army's 370-acre Camp Hoblitzelle near Dallas.

"Our boys will be among 900 others sponsored by Salvation Army Service Units all over Texas who will attend the camp over a four week period this summer," Brunetta Morris, the committee's camp chairman said. They will go to camp by Trailways Bus with all expenses paid.

Boys attending the camp from Memphis are Mark Taylor, Mario Lopez and Curtis Doss. Kevin Kinard and Kerry Kinard will attend the camp from Estelline, while Gilbert Pina and Albert Mortecheo will attend the camp from Lakeview.

At Camp Hoblitzelle the boys will live in redwood and brick cabins and will receive well-balanced meals in the camp's dining room. All organized activities are supervised by coaches and counselors and include boating, fishing, archery, horseback riding, swimming, crafts, movies, sports—everything it takes to keep a boy busy for a whole week.

The Salvation Army operates the camp year round for people who could not otherwise afford to go to camp. During the summer months over 4,000 will Memphis will be the site of the Area Tournament of Little League All Stars in July, President D. C. Messick announced Monday, following a weekend meeting with Little League officials.

The dates of the area-wide tournament have been set for Monday, July 17, Tuesday, July 18, and Thursday, July 20. Three nights are required to accommodate the five teams competing in the area tournament, the president said.

Also, volunteers from the Memphis Little League association are making a business house canvas this week seeking donations to sponsor the baseball program.

President Messick said it takes from $1,200 to $1,500 per year to operate the program and most of this money comes from business firms and civic and other organizations, along with the money taken in from the concession stand.

Major items of expenditure are the equipment and electricity to light the field, he said.

Although it will be in July before the Memphis All-Star team will be selected and announced, pairings have been made for the area tournament.

Teams playing Monday, July 17 include: Childress vs. Clarendon at 6 p. m., and Carson County vs. Pampa American. The Memphis All-Stars will play the winner of the Childress Carson County game on Tuesday night, July 18.

The winner of this game will play the winner of the Carson County-Pampa American on Thursday, July 20.

The over-all winner will advance to the District No. 1 tournament Monday, July 24, to be held at Dimmitt, President Messick said.

President Messick said that Pampa has two chartered Little League programs, the National and the American. This year the Pampa American league has been placed in this area so their All-Stars will be competing in the area play-off here.

President Messick said it had been several years since Memphis has been selected the site of the play-offs. "We want to have everything ready," he said.

County Farmers Sign Up

Set-Aside Acreage Provisions Of '72 Farm Program Explained

The principal requirements in set-aside acreage provisions of 1972 farm programs have been outlined by a local farm official in response to many questions from farmers.

The 800 farmers in Hall County signed up in the feed grain, cotton and cotton programs have an interest in knowing and complying with set-aside rules in order to earn full farm program payments, according to Larry B. Rogers, executive director of the County ASCS office.

The purpose of set-aside in the grain, wheat and cotton programs under the 3-year Agricultural Act of 1970 is to help reduce the potential American agricultural surplus for excess crop production.

Farmers in the set-aside programs give up the use of some of their productive acres in order to achieve an effective balance between supply and demand.

For that reason, farmers are required to select land for set-aside that has the same average productivity as the program cropland on the farm. Farm payments may be reduced or lost if the average productivity provision is not met, Rogers said.

Set-aside land must be designated and certified by August 1. Farmers producers must come to the ASCS County Office by that date to give the location of set-aside land, he said.

A farmer certifies that he has selected the acreage and has agreed and will continue to comply with set-aside rules," Mr. Rogers said. After set-aside is designated and certified by a producer, his farm may be spotted at any time for compliance. If the farm is not in compliance, the producer may lose some, or all of his program payment.

At a nominal cost, the ASCS County Office offers set-aside inspection and measurement service which can provide farmers ahead of time with a guarantee of both acceptable quality and quantity of set-aside acreage. There is still time to obtain this service before the deadline date for designating set-aside, Rogers said, if a producer calls the ASCS office.

Mr. Rogers explained that provisions were recently changed to allow set-aside acreage to be designated and certified by the latest certification date for program crops. However, farmers are being encouraged to designate and certify set-aside acreage as early as possible in order to be assured of early program payments.

Set-aside payments will begin promptly with the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1 for farm program participants who have made early certification of compliance in the 1972 feed grain, cotton, and wheat set-aside programs.

Farm program payments are dependent upon producer certification, Mr. Rogers pointed out. "Early certification means an early payment," he said. "However, no one should make certification until he knows he is in compliance."

When a farmer certifies compliance, he reports the exact acreage of his set-aside land and

Rains Of 1 1/2 To 2 1/2 Inches Are Blessing To County Cotton Fields

Hall County farmers, for the most part, are pleased with the rainfall they've had this week, as accumulative totals range from one and a half inches to over two and a half inches.

Although it is difficult to acquire a complete picture as to the exact amounts and how general the rains have been, it does appear that all the county north of Red River received good rains. Reports are sketchy from the county south of the river, however, those reports which have been received indicate some rain.

Since it began raining the first of the week Memphis has received an official accumulative total of 1.65 inches according to Rayford E. Hutcherson, official weather observer.

Another report from east of the area indicated an accumulative total from three separate rains of two and a half inches. Rainfall was lighter in the Newlin area itself, it was indicated.

Also reports from Lakeview, Brice, Plaska and Deep Lake areas indicate good rains fell in these areas.

Before the rains came, one agriculture observer reported that the county had about 90 per cent of the cotton up, but at that time, some of it possibly needed to be re-planted.

How much cotton will be replanted following the rains this week could only be determined by a farm to farm survey.

County farmers, generally, are pleased with the way the moisture fell, with almost all the rains coming over several days and in amounts of one inch or less.

Most farmers interviewed felt the county was in good shape at this time for a good cotton crop.

University Grads Uncertain About Job Market!

Ever since the close of World War II, and even before that time, the college graduate has found ready employment. It used to be the pot at the end of the rainbow for those lucky enough to get a college education.

But the last three years the amount of gold in that pot has steadily diminished. Many students leave college as uncertain about their foothold in life as they were when they left high school. At least this is the report from surveys conducted this spring at Michigan State University, Northwestern University, Southern Illinois University, and the University of Chicago.

There are certain fields where graduates still find jobs headily available. However, according to S.I.U. Placement service Counselor, Charles Gray, recruiters now want someone who is specifically trained for that type of work. Gray said, "They no longer look for potential but for someone who will be immediately productive. While there used to be many recruiters who would talk to all majors, the only one I can think of right now is Hallmark Cards." He said this especially hurts liberal arts majors, who are not specifically trained in technical fields.

College placement services have been doing extensive research with the nation's leading employers, and find that many have no plans for stepped up hiring this spring and summer. AT&T, the nation's largest private employer, is planning cutbacks as in General Foods, General Motors and Sears Roebuck forsee possible cutbacks and generally no increase in hiring this year.

What fields are hot, and what are cold, as far as employment is concerned, varies from semester to semester, fields of more vocationally orientated training, have been rather successful in placing graduates. For example, vocationally-oriented mortuary science, achieved 100 per cent job placement in 1971, while about 52 per cent of the government majors found jobs either teaching or working within their fields last year.

In a school by school breakdown, the only bright area was from the Vocational Technical Institute where on the average, 95 per cent of the graduates found employment. And, of those who didn't, most were young ladies who selected marriage to employment after graduation.

Some others report that employment is up over last year. Right now, the only field that is actually restricting admissions because of overcrowded job markets is the education field in the State of Illinois.

What has brought about this situation of fewer demands for college graduates can be summed up in figures of the nation's gross national product, and the state of the national economy.

First, this nation experienced a boom in technology, the appliance boom with home appliances and electrical entertainment leading the way. The United States was the leading manufacturing nation in the free world, after World War II, with all American products being in world demand.

Today however, other nations not only compete with the U. S., but in many respects, produce items of equal quality cheaper. This especially true in the business machines field, as typewriters, adding machines, calculators, etc., are manufactured out of the U. S. and shipped here for marketing.

For the time being, college students appear to be shying away from crowded fields, and are seeking schooling in fields promising employment.

The fact that the 185 companies surveyed by the Northwestern Placement Service had an average of 42 applications for every position filled by a college graduate last year is blunt testimony to the fact that no equilibrium has been reached as yet.

The reason technically trained students are finding employment more easily than college graduates, is obviously the preference of employers for employees with special skills to pull their own weight in various industrial or technically skilled fields.

Apparently the time has arrived when this nation needs technicians more than it does intellectuals, repairmen more than designers and in general, blue collared workers more than white collared workers.

Every profession where people earn an honest wage for honest labor is respectable, but in past years, parents have urged their youngsters to prepare themselves for "a better life than their old man has," and have made the sacrifices to provide their children with fine educations.

But inflation and present economic conditions are bringing about a change in the circumstances. Ten and 15 years ago, when junior graduated from college, it was almost the rule that he stepped into a job which paid twice as much as the one his father held at the time of junior's graduation.

Today, however, the graduate needs to be at the top in his field to find employment. He must have the qualities of personal character his employer wants and desires in an employee; but possibly, most important of all, he knows when he is hired that he has to be productive and loyal to keep his job.

Despite the adversities, the best bet for any young person wanting to improve his or her lot in this nation is to further his or her education. The job market is normally a competitive one, and it appears it will even become more competitive in the future.

What Other Editors Say

Man And The Creation

With all the books being published on how to attain wealth, improve the personality, increase the speed of reading and many other self improvements, we may soon have a nation of wealthy people. Of course some of us without the special training will need to remain as foot soldiers to protect the economy through the almost obsolete method of work. Some miracles must have come out of new training. Those, however, who have access to large inheritances are probably out in front.

It would be convenient if the fragrance of fresh rain could be bottled into an essence, to use at intervals when the spirit is at low ebb. Various tinctures might be perfected, including sage, prairie grass and wild plum blossoms.

The distress of tension can build up in most of us to a point when simple details become out of proportion and demand more space in the pattern of activity. The problem is not simple but most of us should avoid tension at its source and provide a more orderly flow of events.

The Creator must have used some of the plans in Paradise when He planted the carpets of wild flowers in West Texas. When the seasons are favorable they line the roadways and extend on to the prairie, making almost any trip one of beauty and providing a measure of tranquility to troubled hearts.

Fan of Dan Blocker's!

Not everybody in the American televising audience, we must assume, was a fan of Dan Blocker's, but there were scores of millions of Americans who were, and it's hard to imagine that there was anyone who could have actively disliked the big man.

He was certainly no matinee idol, but "Hoss Carwright" attracted a loyal following which no matinee idol has ever matched. He was a fine actor, and an extraordinarily likeable one... and his interests ranged widely outside his strictly professional field, encompassing athletics (where he was once a good performer) and politics, where he was an active campaigner for candidates and causes he believed important. He was also a dedicated father and family man... in short, a good citizen of his country.

The Ponderosa will never be the same without the lumbering "Hoss" and it is hard to imagine that there is any other entertainer in television today whose death would have a greater impact on American audiences. "Hoss Carwright" and Dan Blocker will both be sorely missed on the American scene. He has left a vacancy in proportion to his size.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. George Schubert of Hobbs, N.M., while the groom is the son of Mrs. Robert Benjamin McMillen and the late Mr. McMillen of Lakeview.

Miss Jennifer Leigh Schubert of Hobbs, N. M., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Barnard of Hobbs, N. M., and Miss Jane Tompkins of Andrews.

The attendants wore identical formal gowns of hand-screened printed stripe voile in shades of green on white, featuring a belted waistline and white chiffon sleeves shirred above the elbow for a Victorian effect. Each carried a large white silk rose centered in a cascade of English ivy and baby's breath. Headresses were crowns of English ivy garlands.

Gary Phillips of Hereford was best man and groomsmen were Ronald McIlroy and Robert Daniel, both of Lubbock. Charles Schubert, brother of the bride, was usher.

Music for the wedding was provided by Mrs. Richard J. Downey of Hobbs, N. M., organist; and Elmer Kiekhaefer, also of Hobbs, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza, peau and re-embroidered Alencon lace, designed along princess lined silhouette and with a detachable chapel train. The sculptured bodice and ring collar were overlaid with imported lace which extended over the sheer organza shoulder line to form the scalloped caps of the Dresden sleeves. Chapel length veil of imported illusion was applied with matching alencon lace motifs and attached to a lace covered Camelot hatlet.

Her bridal bouquet was a formal cascade of white gamellia blossoms arranged against a background of English ivy garlands and baby's breath.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the holiday inn.

The bride is a graduate of Hobbs High School and a pre-nursing student at Texas Tech. She plans to continue her education at Southwest Texas State, San Marcos.

Miss Mylina Miller Is Shower Honoree

The home of Mrs. Lewis Foxhall, on South Tenth Street, was the setting Friday evening, June 9, for a lovely pre-nuptial shower honoring Miss Mylina Miller, bride-elect of Mike Helm.

Guests arrived between the hours of 8:00 to 9:30 o'clock to be greeted at the door by Mrs. Herschel Combs and presented to the receiving line composed of the honoree, Miss Miller; her mother, Mrs. James Miller and Mrs. Leon Helm, mother of the groom-to-be.

The Foxhall home was beautifully decorated for the occasion featuring a color scheme of gold and white.

In the dining room the table was laid with a gold linen cloth trimmed in lace and centered with a beautiful arrangement of gold daisy pom poms flanked by brass candelabra holding lighted tapers. Table appointments were in brass and a branched candelabra on the buffet also featured lighted tapers.

Miss Dena Gardenhire laded punch from the brass service and Miss Cindy Phillips served the ribbon sandwiches and mixed nuts.

Miss Carol Foxhall presided at the registration table which was laid with a floor-length cloth and held a miniature arrangement of daisies.

A lovely array of gifts was displayed in two rooms of the party suite. Tables were covered with white floor-length gathered cloths and decorated with nosegays of white daisies featuring yellow centers.

Hostesses for the courtesy, other than Mrs. Foxhall, included Meses. Bengy Godfrey, Jim Goldston, Hubert Jones, Phaeton Alexander, R. B. ## Alpha Circle Of Methodist Women Meet Monday

The Alpha Circle of the United Methodist Women of the First United Methodist Church met Monday, June 12, at 12 at 3 p. m. in the home of Mrs. M. G. Traver.

The president, Mrs. Ed Hutcherson, announced that the school of mission would convene July 24-27 in Abilene.

Mrs. Tarver, as program chairman, discussed the "Social Principles" adopted by the church at the 1972 General conference in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. F. W. Foxhall gave the meditation entitled "Straight Talk about Christ" by Dr. T. C. Oden. She stated that if Christ is still awaited in our lives then it tends to make the now a time of emptiness. Thus the Christian's good news announces the end of all our Christ guests.

Mrs. W. V. Coursey gave an informative discussion on literacy with the Frank Laubach method of "Each-One-Teach-One" being used in Arkansas. This state ranks 45th in the nation in illiteracy. She stated that as "the word gets around" more individuals ask for lessons and more tutors dedicate themselves to the task of freeing them of the "stigma" of illiteracy. One example of Methodist women launching a program to benefit society.

Those present, other than the ones already mentioned, were Meses. J. J. McDaniel, R. S. Greene, W. J. McMaster and Bess Crump.

Mr. and Mrs. Candler Hawkins have returned to their home in Houston after visiting here with relatives and friends. Mrs. Hiram Crawford accompanied them to Houston where she will visit with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bengy Estes.

Premium Rate For Medicare Goes Up 20 Cents Per Mo.

The basic premium rate for the medical insurance part of Medicare will go up from $5.60 to $5.80 a month beginning July 1, according to Travis C. Briggs, social security district manager in Amarillo.

The medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay for doctor bills and a variety of other medical expenses for people 65 and over. The program is funded by individual premiums matched by the Federal Government.

"The 20-cent increase in the premium in July compares to a 30-cent increase in 1971 and a $1.30 increase in 1970," Briggs said.

The low increase this year reflects savings in the administration of Medicare as well as lower anticipated medical costs because of the Price Commission's guidelines limiting physicians' fee increases to an average 2 1/2 per cent a year.

The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of the medical insurance program. The premium rate is adjusted to cover the estimated medical expenses of Medicare patients during the 12 months beginning July 1.

Longer Life Span Can Be Expected By Local Citizens

NEW YORK—Today, for the average Hall County resident the chances of living to a ripe old age are better than ever.

A child born in the local area at the present time may look forward to a life span of 70.5 years, according to national statistics. It is somewhat more than that for females and somewhat less for males.

This life expectancy at birth is much greater than it was a generation or two ago. In 1950, the records show, it was 68.2 years and, in 1930, only 59.7.

The improved outlook is attributed to the dramatic progress that has been made in the fields of medicine and public health and in the care of older people.

As a result, there has been a 63 per cent increase in the nation's over-65 population since 1950, compared with an increase of only 34 per cent in the total population.

In Hall County, there are now some 461 men and 660 women in that age bracket.

Because of the great gains in longevity, more married couples are now reaching the age of retirement together, according to insurance company statisticians.

Furthermore the odds are better than ever that both husband and wife, after reaching that point, will live at least 13 years more. That is what the latest figures on life expectancy show.

For a man, the period of maximum family responsibility begins when he gets married. It continues for about 30 years

Our thanks also to the many who brought food and rendered other thoughtful and helpful services. We appreciate also the services of Dr. Goodall and the hospital nurses and staff. We appreciate deeply every expression of sympathy.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for your kindness to us in our sad hour.

We are indeed grateful for the beautiful floral offerings, memorials and words of sympathy. May God's blessing be upon you, is our prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Brode Hoover thereafter. His survival through this period, when there are likely to be dependent children, is of great social and economic importance.

Based upon the current statistics, the 20 or so men in Hall County who are now at the average marrying age of 23 have 88 chances out of 100 of surviving to their 54th birthday. By that time, the children may be expected to be off and on their own. Back in 1940, his chances of reaching that point would have been no more than 83 out of 100.

Despite the longevity achieved in the United States, this country lags behind 17 other industrialized nations in this respect, the figures show. The leader is Sweden where the expectancy at birth is 71.9 years for males and 76.5 for females.

Larry Jay Welcher is in Diane with his sister, Cherry Jones. He plans to be in the Jones home for a while and will be joined in two weeks by his sister Lynn Welcher, Memphis, who will also be there.

York City, but he spends most of his time in Dallas. He is now a CPA. Suetta Lemmon was a graduate of MHS in 1964 and a graduate of West Texas State. She has been teaching in Kermit for the past four years.

Another one of our early-day settlers was in Heritage Hall the past week, Matt Ward of Tyler. His family, the late Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ward, moved to Hall County in 1906 from McCloud, Okla., in a covered wagon. Matt remembered riding horseback behind the wagon on this trip. The family lived on the Snowdon place north of Memphis when they first came to Hall County and later moved to the Lee Thornton place near Newlin. Matt's mother and father were buried in the Newlin Cemetery. Matt was the young man who discovered the body of a man who had been murdered and thrown off the freight train at the north end of Red River railroad bridge. The man that committed this crime was tried and convicted and was the last man to hang in the Panhandle at Clarendon in 1910. Matt was one early day race drivers that souped the motor up to make 85 or 90 miles per hour. That was pretty fast in that day with a short race track. He operated a drug store for a good many years and retired from this business and started growing peaches. At one time, he was the peach orchard "King" around Pittsburg, where he owned and operated 500 acres of peach orchards. About 12 years ago he sold out this peach orchard operation and has since made his home in Tyler, but has been a consultant for the peach growers since he retired. He and two more couples from Tyler have their hotel or motel room hitched to their cars and are making a drive through to Canada. Best wishes for them on this trip. Matt did tell me that his grandfather moved the first year after the Civil War with his ox team and settled on the edge of the Trinity River, now the location of Fort Worth.

The past week Bill D. Hart sent us for Heritage Hall a Road Overseer Commissioner's book of road precinct No. 7 dated 1895. This was issued to Ed Pritchett and D. A. Grundy was County Clerk. This, he brought along with a Deterson straight-edge razor that belonged to Hugh Hart, father of Bill D.

Well, Mrs. Carl Wood has two more rocks, one from the state of Maine and the other from Iowa, presented to her by friends who had visited these states on recent trips.

Another couple in last week looking Hall County Heritage Hall over could qualify for the "Old Timers Club". Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Land are from Ft. Worth, where they have made their home the past 15 years. W. R. was the son of J. J. Land who filed on land in Hall County in 1880. W. R. Dick, as he was called, was born at Tell in 1881, where he attended school and also attended the Mill Iron Ranch while Rux Eddleman was Wagon Boss and he also remembered Arthur Eddleman driving the "Hoodlum Wagon". Dick spent 20 years of his life in Wyoming working for the Diamond Cattle Company and also lived at Elko, Nev. He spent several years following the rodeos as a professional cowboy. He said he never made any money out of this rodeo business but he broke even and had a lot of fun even though he did get a leg and an arm broken and knocked out a few times with a hit on his head. He remembered crossing Red River in 1898, with a herd of cattle before there were any bridges. Dick married Margaret Tribble, sister of Homer, in 1938. I asked Dick if they had any children and his reply was that they never did live close enough to school to raise a family. He was a cowboy for over 40 years. He brought a picture of the Land family made in 1900 for Heritage Hall. The ones in this picture are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Land, C. Land, Nolan, Zeb, Dick and J. J. Land, also Mrs. Billy Walker and Ola Meadows; two sisters and a brother of W. R. are now deceased.

I did read a very unusual story a few days ago in the daily paper, which I guess you would call a celebration and I do not think you would call it traditional, according to the 60 guests who were invited to a "Wedding in Reverse" to celebrate this man's divorce. The wedding cake topped with black icing and a tiny plastic groom without a bride. This man wore a black carnation. Guests arrived in an antique car with "Just Divorced" painted on the side and a large suitcase tied on the back labeled "Divorce Case". The man said he would have invited his former wife, but he did not know where she was living. Some party!

This happened in one of our larger cities I was told a few days ago. A man in this city sent out invitations to a number of friends to come to a cocktail party for a memorial to his wife who passed away a year ago!

I wonder what kind of parties we will have next-

Others visiting in Heritage Hall were Lucy and Margaret Deleon of Sinton, Texas; Roy Alvin Massey of Dallas who was here to take his grandmother, Pearl, to a hospital in Dallas. Roy Alvin helped us get started with Heritage Hall and our thanks to him for his help. He was on his way around the world and I think he has made this trip three times. More recently he has been in South America on the Caribbean, Panama, Rio, Peru, Bolivia and sailed the seven seas. I think he told me that he had visited every continent of the world that was inhabited. Among the other members of the Alvin Massey family are Margaret Ann Leeds of Beverly Hills, Calif., who is now in South America; Abbie Louise Cottell of San Antonio who is now in Canada; Ouida Bradshaw of Fort Worth, who is now on the Canary Islands. I would say this family is pretty well scattered.

Thanks to Bill Kilpatrick who brought an unusual display item for Heritage Hall the past week. It was a mesquite root which measured 32 feet in length. I imagine this root absorbed several gallons of water before being pulled out of the ground.

Visiting in Hall County Heritage Hall the past week was one of our former Hall County boys, Billy McMurry, now of Amarillo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed McMurry of Memphis and grandson of two of our pioneer families, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. McMurry and Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Webster. Billy graduated from MHS in the 1948 class. He married Coetta Mackey and served 4 years in the Navy and two years of that time spent in Korea. He and his wife lived in Amarillo since 1955. They now have four children ages 16, 14, 9 and 3.

Others who visited Heritage Hall the past week were Lee Ann and John Kilgore of Plainview. They interested in seeing parents' and grandparents' pictures in the schoolroom.

In visiting with Adelle Harrell the past week I found out another thing that happened on my birthday June 3. Gwen and Jennifer Ray were married that day in their parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Ray of Lubbock. Mrs. Ray will be remembered by many of you as Nell Walker, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Walker. The two brothers of Mrs. Ray are Ingram and Jack.

While visiting in Hall County Hospital the past week, I met two Philippino R. N.'s who are now regular employees there. They are Rebecca Benson and Judith Tan. My observation I would guess they would weigh about 98 pounds each, and like all the other nurses and employees, I noticed they had a smile for their patients and others they met, so I guess they know that song, "Smile and the World Smiles With You". We welcome them to our community. I think they are getting acquainted pretty fast as I noticed they knew the words "hamburger" and "okry".

I noticed Mrs. O. M. Gunstream in her wheel chair at the hospital traveling around making visits with other patients. I did ask her if she was going to try to make the "Saturday Night Dance", and she replied that she might go but all she could do was "The Rabbit Hop".
