Cyclone Opens Season At White Deer Friday Night

The 1972 football season has opened as the Memphis Cyclone team traveled to White Deer Friday night for the opening gridiron game. The Cyclone will play both of these Class A games at 8 p. m. at White Deer.

The season opener appears to be as high as the Bucks have had in a regular season ball game in three years.

Clyde McMurray said in a press conference after the game that the ball game will be decided by a touchdown.

The Cyclone is not as high as they were last year, losing eight offensive touchdowns and seven defensive touchdowns last year's Class A season. The Cyclone's offense is expected to be the signal caller and run the Cyclone's pro-set offensive attack, with running backs Paul Fowler and Ronald Canida, flanker Larry Don Johnson rounding out the backfield. Canida moved into a starting position this year.

The Cyclone's backfield this season is heavier than the backfield of the 1971 team, averaging 175 lbs. per man.

The Cyclone line, however, is a different matter, as far as returning regulars is concerned. All District center Matt Thompson is back, but both starting guards and tackles and ends are new, with one exception. Tackle Lenis Simpson went most of the games against Clarendon and White Deer last year as a starting tackle. Guards was described by local coaches as played under game-type conditions and hard hitting. Coach McMurray said the local squad received more pluses out of the scrimmage than minuses.

"We found out one thing of real importance," the coach said, "and that is that at some positions we have abundant, talented depth, but in other areas our bench strength is not nearly so strong."

The second, and biggest blessing from the Quannah scrimmage, Coach McMurray emphasized was that the entire Memphis program, all 61 athletes, came through the scrimmages, freshmen, B team and varsity, without any injuries.

The coach indicated the Cyclone will go into the White Deer game with all players able and ready to compete. QB Mike Browning is expected to be the signal caller and run the Cyclone's pro-set offensive attack, with running backs Paul Fowler and Ronald Canida, flanker Larry Don Johnson rounding out the backfield. Canida moved into a starting position this year.

All District center Matt Thompson is back, but both starting guards and tackles and ends are new, with one exception. Robert Snider and Mark Bradshaw, although possibly lacking a little bit in quickness from last year's starting guards, Glen Miller and Chris Limer, bring more muscle and weight to the position. Tackles Simpson and Terry Wheeler are also well seasoned.

Offensive ends, Coach McMurray has several to choose from, with Bobby Hall starting at tight end and Ronnie Browning at split end.

Fans could possibly expect to see substitutions from the Memphis bench throughout the night.

White Deer Bucks

Memphis fans still have the vivid memories of the final game of last season, and local coaches, apparently, have had some thoughts along those lines also.

Coach McMurray said, "White Deer is not the team of last year, nor is Memphis the team of last year." Harris Ratings list Memphis the underdog going into the game with White Deer.

"White Deer is more our size this year," Coach McMurray said, "and in many respects the two teams compare equally." The coach said it will be the opening game and errors are expected on.

The parade route will be from the Memphis Junior High School parking lot, east on Main Street, around the square and breaking up shortly after leaving the square.

The judging stand will again be located on the west side of the courthouse and entries will be judged and ribbons awarded. Additional details will be announced next week.

The Turkey Trotters along with square dancers from Tulla and Plainview are to gather at the Memphis Country Club for an evening of "swinging and calling" Saturday, Sept. 16, beginning at 8 p. m.

This toe-tapping festivity is to be a part of the entertainment prior to the Hall County Picnic and barbecue on Sunday.

Also being planned for Saturday evening, at 7:30 p. m. in the Recreation Room of the Low-Rent Housing project, located south of the square on 3th Street, is the community singing. Buck Lancaster of Turkey, president of the Hall County Singing Association, and Al Rogers of Memphis, vice president, are working on this feature of the celebration. All singers are asked to make plans to attend.

Party Loyalty And Suchlike . . . !

We've heard more talk about "Democrats for Nixon" efforts than we have heard "Republicans for Nixon" in recent weeks, and when we received Secretary of State Bob Bullock's explanation on this situation we felt it was most refreshing. Secretary of State Bullock makes the point that there is no such thing as a "Democrat for Nixon." There may be "ex-Democrats for Nixon," Bullock admits.

Bullock's reasoning behind such statements is both sound and true. In this land of the free, where the privacy of the polling place is an American tradition as deeply ingrained in our system of government as freedom of worship and freedom of speech, and closely akin to both, any voter marks his ballot as his own reasoning directs.

Secondly, there is a great fallacy in thinking because a person votes for one candidate or the other, then that person automatically becomes a member of the political party of which the candidate of the voter's choice is a member.

Regardless of how many efforts are made by the political parties to maintain "the purity of the primary", there is no way in the American system of free election to make all voters who vote in primaries loyal to that party's nominee. Printing "party loyalty" pledges on the ballots won't do it. There is no way, short of changing the Constitution itself, of requiring voters to make binding commitment to membership in any political party.

Let us seriously examine the full scope of potential voters and their relationship to political parties. Basically, they can be divided into three camps, Democrats, Republicans and Independents.

The Independents include the largest group of voters. Although some voters do not realize they are actually independent voters, their actions place them in this category. Independents are those who vote for the man, not the party, support the man, not the party, and by and large, offer no party support whatever.

A true Democrat or Republican, in the sense of party affiliation, is the voter who not only votes for the candidates of his party, but works for them, gives money to them and to his party uses his time, talents, and influence, and in so doing, performs an invaluable service for the American political system.

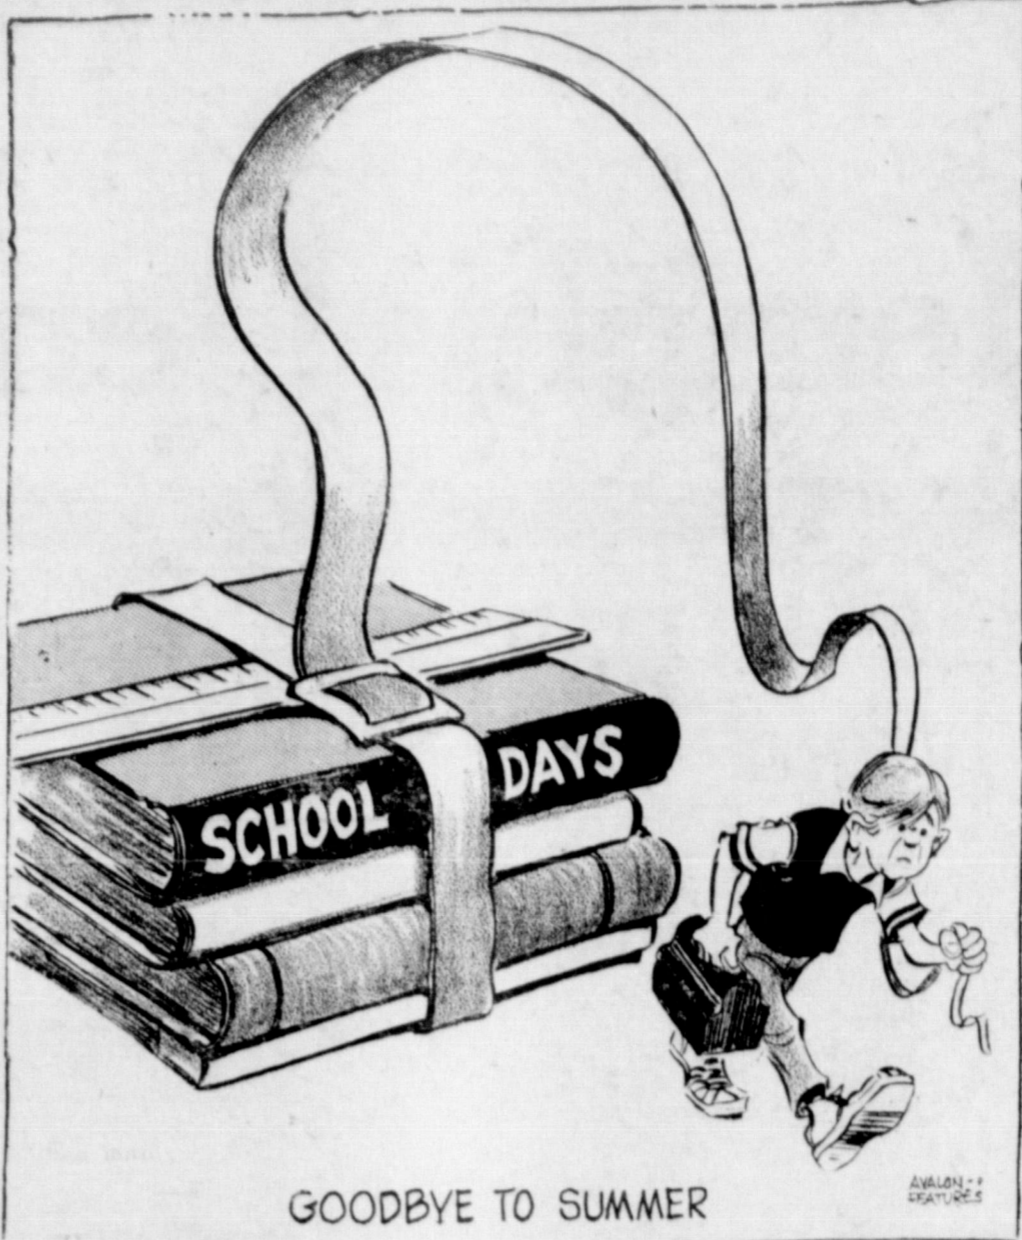

Candidates and party-line loyalists reap the major financial reward for their efforts in the political arena. They use the party machinery and the party prestige to gain public offices and to achieve public positions.

When an American voter decided to change his party choice from one election to the next, or mix his choices in any general election, as frequently as he chooses, so long as he doesn't run a-foul of state laws by trying to vote in two different primaries in the same election series, he is doing nothing un-American or illegal, just maintaining an independent status and freedom of choice at the polling place.

But when a John B. Connally, an Allen Shivers, pulls the old switcheroo, it may be something else again . . . because the John B. Connallys have used the political party process for entirely different ends than the average voter. The Connallys have made public declarations of their political affiliations, and have used the party machinery and the party prestige to gain offices and to achieve public positions.

Now John Connally has the same right under the constitution to switch party loyalties, but this is not what is being advocated in the "Democrats for Nixon". Apparently what is being advocated is the use of Democrats, party organization, funds, influence, to elect a Republican. We feel, as Bob Bullock feels, that no party leader has the right to represent himself as a leader of one party while he publicly supports the candidates of another . . . and the party loyalists like Bob Bullock are truly within bounds when they call them turncoats and traitors.

The simple fact remains that voters can vote for candidates of their choice in our elections. Those who want to acquire party-loyalty tags can do so. Those desiring to leave the ranks of loyal party affiliations can also do so, at will, but this old business of a man trying to serve two masters should be recognized for what it is.

Help When It's Needed

All young people are not hippies even if they wear long hair, and the younger generation could teach their elders some things about helpfulness and consideration. At least that's the opinion of Mrs. Ruby Lee Malaney and Mrs. Edy Lou Deuschendorf of Perryton who had car trouble in Bellville, Texas recently while en route from Houston to Temple. The two Perryton women stopped at a drive-in in Bellville, and as they started on the highway, the car stalled and steam poured out from under the hood. Neither knew what to do about it, but they knew they were in trouble with a breakdown far away from home.

While pondering the situation, a group of teen age boys came up to see if they could be of assistance. They looked under the hood and thought the water pump had ruptured, meaning considerable delay for repairs. The boys pushed the Malaney car down the street into a service station where the attendant said it would be the next day before it could be repaired. The boys insisted upon finding the two Perryton women a place to stay and located a room at the Hotel Wayne. They insisted that the Perryton women accept a ride to the hotel even though it was only a few blocks to walk. Ruby Lee said that she had never encountered nicer boys than these and she and Edy Lou were most impressed with the hospitality of everyone they met in Bellville.

Mrs. Aiva Alexander, who runs the hotel, got into conversation with them, and insisted on getting her car out and taking the two Perryton women on a tour of Bellville. They saw nice homes, attractive yards, and a most pleasant community. The next morning, about the time Ruby Lee was wondering how long it would take to get the car repaired, the maid knocked on the hotel door with the message from the service station that her car was ready to go. Both Perryton women were most impressed with Bellville, and with the young boys with long hair who were most courteous and helpful to a couple of strangers from up in the top of the Texas Panhandle. Both women went on their way with a warm feeling that everything is going to be all right in this country and that the adult generation had better not sell the younger generation short.

A Big Secret

"Why," asks Wellsville Globe, and like jesting Pilate does not wait for the answer, "are prices so high?"

Sh-h-h. It's a dead secret! But economists have been working on the problem for six months. The report will be ready and will be published in six months.

It will occupy seven closely set columns of a newspaper. But an intelligent synopsis of the report may as well be given out now.

It is this: Prices are high because the people pay 'em!

After that, the rest is anybody's guess.

found. At the state level throughout the country, even less effort in directing manpower activities was evident. With no precedents, traditions, or guidelines to draw from, Texas was clearly setting out on a pioneering effort—and a massive one, at that.

The project is in the research stage now. The policy development committee is soliciting input from the grass roots level before getting down to the business of policy drafting.

"All too often, those of us in government make decisions without adequately consulting those we plan to benefit or affect," he said. "Therefore, we are attempting to gain input from citizens throughout the state before the manpower policy is drafted."

The input is currently being solicited through two means: seminars and a mail survey.

The seminars are being held in Harlingen, Dallas, and Houston. The other medium for citizen input—the survey—is being conducted by means of questionnaires which are being mailed to some 600 Texans who are concerned with manpower—civic officials, chamber of commerce, leaders in education, war on poverty directors, and others.

After collecting and analyzing the citizen input, the policy development committee will begin drafting the manpower policy.

Our basic concern," Dudley said, "is to develop a policy that will best serve the citizens of Texas. It is important that state government stay aware of requirements of its citizens and provide an adequate response."

After Texas' proposed manpower policy has been drafted,

Education Costs Are Up For All College Students

NEW YORK—For Hall County parents who have children enrolled in colleges and universities this fall, the bad news is that the cost has gone up appreciably since last year.

A survey shows that tuition bills are running about seven per cent higher, on average. In addition, there has been a hike in room and board charges.

This year, because of the number of local students involved and because of the higher rates, Hall County families will be confronted with overall costs of approximately $120,000, it is estimated.

The college picture, with data on the number of students enrolled, the fees charged and the financial aid available, comes from the U. S. Office of Education, the Census Bureau and others.

Nationally, they show, although more than 8.5 million young men and women are enrolled in institutions of higher learning, there is still room for an additional half million or so. Some institutions, in fact, are actively seeking students.

According to the latest figures, Hall County contingent will total close to 40. This compares with 12 from the local area in 1960.

The amount they will have to pay will depend, to a large extent, on the type of college and its geographical location.

A survey by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association reveals that the lowest median cost, $1,246, is for a boarding student from the home state attending a public college in the South.

In the West it would be $100 more, in the North Central region $200 more and, in the Northeast, $300 more.

For out-of-state students there are additional charges of between $600 and $700 ordinarily. The average basic cost at a private school in the South comes to $2,342. It is about $450 more in the Western and North Central states and $1,000 more in the Northeast.

These figures cover tuition, fees, room and board. Not included are transportation, clothing, books and allowances.

All told, for those in public colleges, it comes to $2,250 on average and, for those in private colleges, $3,750.

The $120,000 overall cost for Hall County families is based upon half of the local students going to public colleges and half to private ones.

The chilliest thing you can encounter in midsummer is a company economy wave.

Employment Commission Reports That First Manpower Policy Is Shaping Up

AUSTIN—The first comprehensive manpower policy in the state is taking shape right here at the Lone Star State. The need for a manpower policy has mushroomed in Texas in recent years, according to Texas Employment Commission Chairman Harold K. Dudley, who is coordinating the policy-development effort.

He brought about the urgent need for a manpower policy: decentralization, or the shift of action from federal to state and local levels, and the growth of vocational training programs for the disadvantaged.

"In 1963, there were some 10 individual federal manpower training programs funded for approximately $8.0 billion. It is estimated that there are now more than 1,000 grants funded for almost $40 billion. The programs have evolved into a complex system so that now the participating agencies at federal, state, and local levels often compete in trying to secure funds to serve closely related or overlapping purposes."

"Add to that situation," Dudley continued, "the fact that Texas has begun inheriting new manpower responsibilities as a result of decentralization. Obviously, coordination of all these factors is sorely needed, as is a plan that would diminish, if not abolish, overlapping of programs, duplicated efforts, wasted resources, and failure to move toward specific goals."

Governor Preston Smith took up the matter with Dudley who recommended that the governor convene representatives of the state agencies directly concerned with manpower activities. The governor called together a group who promptly recommended the formation of a program-coordinating body, the State Human Resources Council. That organization later joined a 17-member citizens' advisory group to form the State Manpower Policy Development Committee. Members represent a variety of interests including business, labor, education, community service, and government.

The committee made a preliminary survey of past efforts in the manpower field. Results showed that at the federal level, the policies that had been made were fragmentary. Programs pertaining to manpower had generally been legislated in response to a crisis. No guidelines for coordinating all the programs were

What Does the Bible Say?
QUESTION: "Does God have a purpose for me?"
By ART SMITH

In answering this question we sought the answer to 3 other questions. 2 of them have already been answered in this paper. 1. Our Origin? answer: God. Gen. 1:27; 2:7. 2. our Purpose? Answer: To Glorify God Through obedience and service, John 4:34; Eph. 2:10.

3. What is our Destiny?
"He that heareth my word and believeth Him that sent me, hath eternal life. (Jn. 5:24) OR "He that disbelieves shall be condemned" (Mk. 16:16). From these and other passages we can clearly see that when one leaves this life, it is not the end. (We are not dead all over like the little dog rover).

The Hebrew writer stated "and inasmuch as it is appointed unto men once to die, and after this cometh judgement" (Heb. 9:27).

But the Lord is "not wishing that any should perish, but that all should come to Repentance" 2 Peter 3:9. There is only one way to God. Jesus said "I am the way" (John 14:6).

If one does not obey Him, eternal destruction is the penalty (Acts 17:30-31), but for the faithful Christian, Heaven's richest blessings.

Christ is the Answer. Read Col 2:8-10.

neat sight, but it did keep kids warm.

So many visitors at some of the homes on "Labor Day" you might think they had opened a used car lot.

J. F. and Betty Gene Neel had as their guests in Heritage Hall this past week Betty Gene's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Shows and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Joe Armstrong of Barry, which is just out of Corsicana. Mrs. Shows and Mr. Armstrong are the niece and nephew of the late J. W. "Buster" Stokes. Buster Stokes moved to Memphis in 1909. He later moved his wife, Leola, and his daughter, Katherine, to Memphis in 1911. Buster passed away in 1935.

The Armstrongs are dairymen and they have 200 head of registered jersey cows. It has been 37 years since Charlie Joe Armstrong visited the Panhandle and he saw many changes.

The Shows are ranchers and they have 200 head of commercial cattle. Mrs. Shows and Mr. Armstrong are brother and sister. Mrs. Shows lives in the house where she was born. Her father lives with her and her husband and he (Mr. Lige Armstrong) is 90 years young. He goes to the pasture every day, jumps on his horse bare-back, rides the horse to the house, saddles him and rides four and five hours every day.

When asked how they liked Heritage Hall, they said it was just wonderful. We want to thank them for their donation to Heritage Hall for their visit. We hope they will visit again soon. It was interesting to me that five generations had been born and lived on the land where they live.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Neel were enjoying good cantalopes and watermelons the past week that had that "home grown" flavor. J. F. and Betty had about a ton of this fruit in the trunk of their car. We were some of the fortunate ones to taste the good melons.

We will need hosts and hostesses for Heritage Hall during the Hall County picnic. Mrs. Otis (Ruth) Cobb will be chairman for the ladies and Hubert Dennis for the men. Contact them if you can serve on Saturday or Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin of Pampa were visitors in Heritage Hall the past week. Clyde's parents lived in Hall County in 1924 to 1926 west of Memphis on the Snowdon farm. Joe Miller, grandfather of Clyde, first moved to Hall County in 1915. Mrs. Martin will be remembered as Bess Jones, daughter of Tom Jones who operated the Hulver store a... bout 1918. She attended school at Hulver and Parnell and she remembered the Britts, Copes, Ferrels and Myrtis Moorhead and a number of others. Clyde was a basketball player and at one of these games, Bess met her husband-to-be. They married in Plainview in 1924. There were 10 children in the Tom Jones family (five now deceased) and the five now living are R. E., Gertrude Verden, Bess Martin of Pampa, Mrs. Clara Wright of Longview and Jewel McLaughlin of Lockney. They moved from Hall County to Briscoe County in 1926 on to Pampa in 1935.

Stoney Jackson was in Heritage Hall for a short visit and is bringing his family the next time to look over the many items. He remembered his father telling him about drilling an oil well in the Deep Lake area. Stoney recently made a trip behind the iron curtain, but I don't think he wants to go again soon. Some of the pictures he showed me made me think they were very primitive.

Mrs. J. W. Ivy had as her guest in Heritage Hall her daughter, Sandra (Ivy) Collins of Stinnett. She was a graduate of MHS in 1967 and married Dan Collins and they left Hall County in 1969. They now have two children.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Johnson and Alden Edwards had as their guests, their brother, Woodrow Edwards, and his wife of Fort Worth. Woodrow married a Wise County girl, Ruth Willingham. They have one son, one daughter and one grandchild. They have lived in Fort Worth for over 30 years where Woodrow has been employed by General Dynamics.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Edwards moved to Hall County in 1926. There were five children in this family (two now deceased). The ones now living are Mrs. Ben (Elva Edwards) Johnson and Alden of Memphis and Woodrow of Fort Worth. It would take more freight charges to haul Woodrow back here now than when he left only weighing 100 pounds and row with the middle-age spread 210 pounds.

The grass mowing season is about over and there are two men that I know of that found out that lawn mowers would cut fingers as well as grass. Ask Lee Vardy of Turkey and Ace Gailey.

More families live in a National Home than any other home in the World

In last Thursday's edition of the Dallas News in the "Trend" section, we read an article which was headed: "Others Feed on Experts' Knowledge". This article covered the work of a former nutrition researcher, Dr. Ercel Eppright, who is now consultant to the dietetic interns at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School. This story was especially interesting to us as it was written by our Hall County girl, Nene Foxhall.

I overheard "Sug" Lemons over a cup of coffee make that remark that Saturday, Sept. 2, was two anniversaries. He and Beth married Sept. 2, 1930, and the other anniversary was that was when the depression started.

I did hear that K. B. Chick and his wife celebrated their 25th anniversary by going to Colorado fishing for trout. I understand this was K. B.'s first trip for trout fishing and he was calling his friends to find out which end of the pole to use.

Anita Snowdon, daughter of the late Chas. Snowdon and Margaret of Memphis, was visiting in Heritage Hall. Anita graduated from MHS in 1966 leaving here in the same year to move to Amarillo. She is a graduate registered nurse since 1969. She worked in Amarillo for about three years before moving to Houston last March where she is working in a doctor's office. The other members of the Chas. Snowdon family are Thomas of Austin, Fred Earl of Fort Worth and Elaine Baker of Houston. Anita had as guests with her, Sandy Steglich and John Huntshire of Houston.

Mrs. Lynn Jones had as her guests in Heritage Hall, her daughter, Dorothy (Jones) Williams and three of her children, Joel, Pama and Sidney, all of Mineola. Dorothy graduated from MHS in 1948, married W. L. Williams in 1952, moved from Memphis in 1968. They have six children and one grandchild. Also, in the group were Helen (Jones) Crisman of Lubbock, another daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Lynn Jones, their granddaughter, Karen Crisman, and Ruth Ann Stewart and great-grandson, Paul Stewart.

Another visitor we had last Saturday was Ross Noles of Clarendon. He has worked for the W. J. Lewis family the past 39 years.

The sun shines on Hall County more ways than one. The farmer's sunflowers that turn their faces to the sun were rather small this year. I did take particular note of the sunflowers of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Eooth on West Montgomery St. They gave me the measurements of one of these sunflowers and they came up with 16 inches in diameter and a circumference of 44 inches. I think that is something to brag about.

I read an article a few days ago where a Portland, Oregon, cafe man hired a 309-pound topless go-go dancer with measurements of 54-46-59, which sounds like she should be the whole show!

A quote from "Today's Best Laugh": A man complained that his wife is getting fat. "I hate to see all of that lovely cheese cake turn to pound cake," he said.

I did notice a quote from Joan Rivers: "Women have a tougher time than men. Women have to clean, cook and sew-and that is hard to do without getting out of bed."

See you at Hall County Picnic Sept. 17. Newcomers or old timers, all come and meet your friends!

WEeping LOVEGRASS—Pictured above is Henry Gregory Conservationist, examining a pasture of Weeping Lovegrass in Wheeler County. A tour, sponsored by the Hall-Childress SWDC, will leave Memphis at 8 a. m. Friday to inspect the use of this grass on sandy soil in Wheeler County.

Tour To Study Sandyland Pastures In Wheeler County To Leave Friday

The Hall-Childress SWDC is sponsoring a sandyland pasture grass tour to Wheeler County Friday, Sept. 8. Plans are to meet at 8 a. m. at the SWDC Building, 10th and Noel Sts., Memphis.

Lee Scrivner, chairman, asked that all local farmers having sandy land attend the tour. It will include management requirements and production results from dryland weeping lovegrass.

A similar tour was made by Soil Conservation personnel two weeks ago. Henry Gregory reported that over 100,000 acres of sandy land had been converted to pastureland in Wheeler County. Several Wheeler County farmers stated that the income per acre from weeping lovegrass far exceeded that from any other land use on this sandyland soil.

Church. Rev. Coffman comes to Memphis from the University Baptist Church in Lubbock where he had been for the past two years.

From 1956 to 1959, he served as pastor of the Hurlwood Baptist Church and went from there to the Parkway Drive Baptist Church in Lubbock. Both of these congregations built new auditoriums while he was serving as pastor. The Lubbock congregation also built a new educational building, purchased a new parsonage, built a cabin at Plains Baptist Assembly and began an R. A. and G. A. program.

He served as Associational R. A. director in 1969-1971; chairman of committee on committees, Lubbock Baptist Association and has served on the evangelism committee.

Mystery Revue To Be Presented Here Saturday

The famous mystery revue, "20th Century Phantasies", will be presented here Saturday evening under the sponsorship of the Memphis Lions Club, according to D. H. Pope, president. The show will start at 7:30 in the Community Center. It was originally billed to be presented in the Memphis High School Auditorium, but servicing of equipment there has caused the change of location.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from any member of the club, O. O. (Dec) Saye, who is in charge, stated. Persons desiring tickets up to show time may obtain them by contacting Mr. Saye or Monty Alewine. Price for adults is $1.50. Students pay 75 cents each. Also, they may be purchased at the door to the Community Center but will be at a higher price.

For theatregoers who like magic revues, the appearance of Fred Storey and Company in "20th Century Phantasies" is an adventure into the impossible. The public will see sleek and sophisticated trickery which requires slight of hand at close range. The performance will run for two hours and will utilize over two tons of equipment.

The Bucks have Terry Rhodes (160) at quarterback, a capable passer and runner, FB Kim Slagle (175), and Lineman Shuman (195) and Thurman back from last year. Rhodes was back-up quarterback for the Bucks last year. Actually, there are two Thurman brothers on the Bucks team, the older one, Terry, has been injured and it is not known whether he will play against Memphis Friday or not. Both Thurman brothers weigh over 200 lbs.

The Bucks are running much the same type offense they used last year to be the Class A runners-up. Winged-T, Straight-T, Pro set and I formations. The Bucks use nine players both ways, offense and defense.
