Dave Browder Horse Is Winner

J. W. Lindley Rides Nat'l. Champ. Arabian

Dave Browder of Goodnight and J. W. Lindley of Lakeview, all smiles Tuesday morning, proudly displayed four trophies and four rosettes "Derringer" won in National Championship Competition at Oklahoma City Monday.

"Derringer" is the name of an Arabian cutting horse, owned by Dave Browder, who says he owns an Arabian for the past five years, and only recently decided to enter his horse in the Futurity cutting horse competition in Oklahoma City, the big show for the United States, and considered the nationals by many horsemen. Actually, competition for many breeds will be going on all week in Oklahoma City, but the Arabian cutting horse finals were held Monday.

To win, "Derringer" and his trainer, J. W. Lindley, had to score well enough in two preliminary go-arounds to be selected as one of the best five to advance to the finals. After final scores were tabulated, scores on the two go-arounds and the final were totaled together to select the National Champion, which went to "Derringer."

When asked about winning cutting horse shows, Browder admitted that they had never before. About the future, Browder said, "we'll probably let the horse go with light work this year before working hard next year for possibly some shows. Some of the trophies are perpetual ones which will carry the names of "Derringer," Dave Browder, owner, J. W. Lindley, rider; on the name plate for 1972. Two of the trophies are permanent ones presented by the National Arabian Cutting Horse Association.

The horse and rider had to win out over a field of approximately 30 Arabian cutting horses at the Oklahoma City show. The horses represented the best in this country.

Groundbreaking For Site 4 Is Scheduled

Ground breaking ceremonies for Site 4, Lakeview Watershed, are scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, on Bitter Creek Ranch, according to an announcement this week.

Paul Montgomery, chairman of the Hall-Donley Water Control and Improvement District, announced that plans for the ground-breaking are not complete.

Site 4 of the Watershed is located on Bitter Creek Ranch, 21 miles west of Memphis on Highway 256 to the Brice Gin, then five miles north on Highway 70, then four miles southeast down a new road.

Montgomery will call the session to order, and will introduce L. B. Hagy, owner of the property where Site 4 is located.

A background of the watershed project will be given and Area Conservationist Douglas Cunningham of Pampa will explain small watershed program under Public Law 466.

All the sponsoring organizations will be recognized, including contractors, Depaw Construction Company.

Project Engineer Ralph White of Stephenville will give the construction data on the site. Byron Depaw will discuss construction work and progress.

The public is cordially invited to be on hand to see the construction begin on the first of many sites of the Watershed Project. This climaxes over a decade and a half of planning.

Set Clock Back One Hour Sunday

Clocks over the nation will be set back one hour on Sunday, Oct. 29, to Standard Time. This announcement was made last week by the National Weather Service.

The federal law which established Daylight Saving Time calls for the change back to Standard Time "on the last Sunday in October."

All persons are reminded to set clocks "back one hour," and move all schedules to the old "Standard Time." The early morning lost hour will be no more.

Memphis Voters To Cast Ballots In Community Center

Voters who reside in election precincts No. 1 and 13, Memphis, will cast their ballots in the Community Center of the Municipal Building, Ruby Goodnight, county clerk, reminded this week.

In prior years, voting was held on the second floor of the courthouse, and ballots were marked in the hall. The new polling places have been established by the Commissioners Court and the Memphis City Council, who agreed that the new location was more convenient to residents of the two precincts.

Voters in precinct No. 1 will cast their ballots in the north portion of the Community Center. This is the area being used by the Memphis Rotary and Lions Clubs and other organizations for meetings, and is familiar to local residents. Precinct No. 13 residents will vote in the south section of the auditorium of the Community Center, and will enter the west door. Signs will be placed upon each door designating the voting place, it was announced.

At Estelline, citizens will again cast ballots at the city secretary's office, located next door to the Post Office.

As usual, residents of the Turkey voting precinct will go to the City Hall and mark their ballots. The Elementary School Auditorium will be the polling place for residents of the Lakeview voting precinct.

Mrs. Goodnight reported that 131 ballots had been cast to Thursday morning. The total in- (Continued on Page 10)

The 4th Annual Cottonboll Enduro, now a nationally sanctioned endurance motorcycle event, will get underway at Memphis at 8:01 a. m. Sunday, Oct. 29. Starting numbers, having already been drawn, will be the first of the 400 entries to leave the line in groups of four.

Walter Johnson, the publicity chairman of the Amarillo Track and Trail Riders, reported today that all is in readiness for the event.

The 125-mile Cottonboll Enduro draws entries from the Southwestern states; but this year, top contestants from Ohio, Florida, California, and Missouri will be among the 14 states represented in the one-day event.

Among them will be John Penton, many times the national Enduro champion, and famous as the developer and founder of Penton motorcycles.

The Cottonboll is a stern test of the riders' skill at negotiating in all types of terrain, river beds, draws, rocks, hills and salt cedars, all the while trying to maintain a 24 m. p. h. rate throughout the course.

Both the start and the finish lines are located in Memphis at the DeVillie Motel here is the headquarters. Various observation points are provided around the 125-mile course. One of the major ones will be the Red River bridge on U. S. Highway 287 just north of Estelline.

This is the first Nationally Sanctioned enduro to be held here, and the field has attracted both A and B riders, ages 12 to 65, with boys, girls, men and women riding.

Overall championship trophy is more than four feet high, and there are 35 other trophies to be awarded in various classes, father and son and women's classes.

The entry field is closed as the deadline is past. The entry is off what it was last fall, however, sponsors explain that the course has been made especially difficult to provide a true test of skills of the A riders. A riders are (Continued on Page 10)

Cyclone To Tangle With Wheeler Fri.

The Memphis Cyclone plays host Friday night to the Wheeler Mustangs in a District 2-A clash which has a lot of significance for Wheeler is undefeated in district play.

The Mustangs, recognized as a relatively young club, have victories over Wellington, 29 to 20, Silverton 14 to 12, and Valley High, 35 to 6.

Due to the circumstances, Wheeler being undefeated, and Memphis just off a bruising, crippling loss to Clarendon, the contest could prove to be a real tester for the Cyclone squad.

Obviously, the Mustangs want to remain undefeated, and Memphis must have a victory if hopes remain for a possible three-way tie for the title. Actually, Clarendon's squad did not get out of the Memphis game without injuries either, as both their star performers, Shields and King, left the field nursing injuries.

The Cyclone camp had regrouping chores, along with a morale boosting concern. The turf of Cyclone Stadium still bears the marks of last weekend's contests, as rains turned the field into mud puddles.

Coach McMurray announced that Fullback Jim Dixon and Halfback Jim Melton are getting starting nods this week, replacing the injured Ronald Canida and Paul Fowler. "Ronald and Paul will definitely not see action Friday against Wheeler but we hope to have them back for Wellington," Coach McMurray said.

With Dixon and Melton in the backfield, the Cyclone will have QB Mike Browning and HB Larry Johnson. Linemen will be Ends Bobby Hall and Wayne Davis, Tackles Len Simpson and Terry Wheeler, Guards Robert Snider and Mark Bradshaw, and Center Matt Thompson.

Annual Cotton Guessing Contest To Open Friday

The Memphis Democrat's Annual Cotton Guessing Contest opens Friday, Oct. 27, Her- Combs, publisher, announced this week. The contest will end Saturday, Nov. 18.

This will be the 26th consecutive year the contest has been held, with readers of the newspaper trying to guess the number bales of cotton harvested in the county.

Readers of the Democrat are invited to enter a guess in the contest. Guesses are made by the probable number of bales harvested in Hall County this year.

Winners in the Cotton Guessing Contest will be named after The Democrat receives the official figures from the Bureau of Census in March or April. No entries will be taken over the telephone under the rules of the contest, primarily because no proof of the actual guess could be retained in the permanent file on telephone conversations.

Hall County has approximately 81,240 acres of cotton planted this year. Last season, approximately 80,000 acres were planted which means there are 1,240 more acres in cotton this year.

Reports indicate that a bumper cotton crop will be harvested in the county. A few farmers have started harvesting already, and soon harvesting will get underway in full swing.

Winners in the Cotton Guessing Contest will be named after The Democrat receives the official figures from the Bureau of Census in March or April.

First place winner will receive a three year subscription to The Memphis Democrat; second place winner a two year subscription, and third place a one year subscription. In case of a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Last season Hall County harvested 53,044 bales of cotton. First place winner was D. B. Koen with a guess of 53,313. Mrs. Bertha Gomez, Rt. 2, Lakeview, won second place with a guess of 53,330, and third place went to Mrs. Hollis Boren and W. D. Dickey, both of Memphis, who guessed 53,333.

Hall County ranked 15th of all Texas counties raising cotton in 1971.

HOLDS GRAND OPENING—Bylow Food Store will hold its Grand Opening this weekend. The new firm is located at the corner of 9th and Noel Streets. EDITORIAL

A Prepared Voter Is A Wise Voter!

How many times have voters been hoodwinked into believing one thing when actually the opposite viewpoint would be a lot closer to the truth? How many voters would be happier with themselves and their country if they would take a little time to study the issues, candidates and circumstances before marking their ballot?

The strength of the American system lies in the true knowledge of the citizens to cast ballots intelligently, fairly and honestly in the public interest and for the best interest of their state, country and themselves. Democracy was never meant to operate in an environment where the minority ruled, despite efforts throughout the history of this country of minorities trying to take over the reins of power.

This is the second part of a two-part editorial series on the constitutional amendments of which voters will decide the fate on November 7. Amendments Nos. 1 through 7 were discussed last week. The final seven amendments are discussed below:

Amendment No. 8 is an amendment which would provide four-year terms for the offices of governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney general, comptroller of public accounts, treasurer, commissioner of the general land office, secretary of state, and certain statutory state officers. Arguments pro and con on this matter are, by now, general knowledge. Pros say a four-year term gives elected officers time to implement and execute their programs of reform, before having to face the voters again, allows more time to duties of office and less time to campaigning, reduces the expense of running for office, and that 39 states now have governors with 4-year terms. Cons on the matter say that long terms alienate the officials from the electorate, and that long tenure in office and political corruption run hand in hand. Considering recent developments in Austin, and in recognition that over half of the states which have 4-year terms also have provisions against the service of consecutive four-year terms by the governor, this amendment bears study.

Amendment No. 9 is a proposal which would authorize certain individuals who hold one civil office to also serve on the boards of soil and water conservation districts. It would also allow state employees to serve on these boards.

Amendment No. 10 is one voters should especially notice. Basically it is an amendment which would change the way proposed amendments are introduced by the legislature and the time and method of publishing notice of proposed amendments. In brief, this amendment would allow the legislature to publish a description of the amendment instead of the amendment itself. It is dangerous to commit to any individual the authority to prepare the official statement of what an amendment does, for even a review by the attorney general is not sufficient guarantee that the statement would be objective and unbiased. Publication costs would likely be higher as proposed by Amendment No. 10 than under the present system. Moreover, the instances of emergency calling for a speedy submission are very rare.

The Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives would receive from the public treasury an annual salary of $22,500 if Amendment No. 11 is passed. These officials do have a much greater work load than do other senators and representatives. Presently, they do not receive compensation. Amendment No. 11 should be studied carefully.

Amendment No. 12 would allow state employees and certain other persons eligible to serve on the governing bodies of school districts, cities, towns, and other governmental districts without forfeiting their state salary, and the amendment otherwise revises the general restrictions on dual office-holding and dual compensation. Since state employees represent a large number in certain areas and they have great interest in the standards of their schools and cities, this amendment would allow some well qualified citizens to serve. On the other hand, the danger of the abuse in dual office-holding would be intensified.

Amendment No. 13 would allow the legislature to increase the maximum interest rate which may be borne by certain bonds issued under constitutional authority by adding a new section to Article III. This amendment is necessary if Texas wishes to sell any bonds, especially those for parks and wild-life and veterans land programs. This would cost Texas citizens in added interest, and encourage both state and local governments through their various agencies to rely even more on created bonded indebtedness as a means of financing future needs.

The last amendment on the ballot, No. 14, is one which would permit the Commissioners Court of a county to reduce the county permanent school fund and to provide for the per scholastic distribution and use of the money obtained from this reduction. This particular amendment would only affect those counties of the state which have a permanent school fund.

Readers who would like to have a sample copy of the 14 proposed amendment issues will appear on the ballot may get them at The Memphis Democrat office free of charge.

ACROSS THE DESK

What Other Editors Say

A Vote Of No Confidence

Nothing in the record of the 62nd Legislature, or of the 61st for that matter, could be persuasive to the voters of this state that the members of the Texas Legislature can or should be trusted to draw up a new Texas Constitution. There is no present evidence that the 63rd Legislature, which will convene next January, will be much better... since its ranking members and its leadership must necessarily be drawn from the ranks of its predecessors, even though a substantial amount of new blood will be injected at the upcoming election.

Yet this is precisely what is proposed in Constitutional Amendment No. 4 which will appear on the general election ballot Nov. 7, and there is already a predictable propaganda push coming out of Austin to persuade the voters of Texas to approve it.

If this amendment is adopted the 63rd Legislature will be empowered to appoint (probably from its own membership) a constitutional revision commission charged with the responsibility of drafting a new state constitution. This commission would be required to submit its recommendations to the 63rd Legislature not later than Nov. 1, 1973.

Members of this same Legislature would then convene themselves in January 1974 as a Constitutional Convention to draft the new Constitution for the state. Needless to say, the amendment itself provides for the financing of the Constitutional Convention, including expenses of members of the Legislature who will make up the convention, and for special staffs and operating expenses... opening the state treasury for drafts on the general revenue fund for this purpose. ***

The old Constitution has had a lot of patchwork put on it, it is true, but this doesn't necessarily mean that it is hopelessly outmoded. Since it contains within itself the means for being amended as needed, it has been and can continue to be kept up-to-date by the actions of the people at the polls... and while this may, at times, be an inconvenience, it may also be a much safer procedure than creating a new Constitution which could be subject to the unrestrained processes of the branch of government which created it.

We think Amendment 4 should be defeated. It places entirely too much faith in a Legislative body which has done little but shake the public faith in recent years.

Mr. Kermit Voelker, who was a member of the Texas Cotton Raisers' Association in 1970-71, found some interesting facts on the cotton industry in Texas. Mr. Voelker is now with the Cotton Economic Research at the University of Texas in Austin. Quote, "The history of cotton in Texas: In its wild or natural state it is known to have been grown in the year 1530. The Spaniards reportedly cultivating cotton in the year 1745. Records also indicate that the French, in their settlement of the Southeastern portion of Texas were using wild cotton in the making of cloth. The wild cotton was often called 'wool', and the fiber was 1/4 to 1/2 inch long.

The introduction of cultivated cotton varieties was by Grose, who signed with F. Austin as a member of 'original three hundred' for a Texas from New Orleans. Grose established his cotton plantation (six Spanish land grants of 67,000 acres) four miles west of the present town of Grose in Waller County. He raised his first big crop in 1800 when he harvested 100 bales. The 100 bales were moved by boat to Harrisburg (near Houston) and then by boat up to New Orleans. Col. Grose is considered the father of the Texas cotton industry because of his many contributions to the business. He assisted in the formation of the shippers and traders union in Harrisburg area, which was the forerunner of the Houston Cotton Exchange. He owned the steamboat line operating out of Texas ports. He operated a boat crossing the Brazos and he produced a thousand cotton crop in 1833. He died in 1838. His son, Leonard, later took over his father's business. Leonard Grose operated a general commodity warehouse, including storage of cotton for export purposes. The Grose quotation for receiving, storing and marking a bale of cotton was 23 cents with the daily storage rate of 12 1/2 cents.

The Texas archives show that in 1834, the first cotton merchant was in Texas. His name was Doby, and records indicate that he paid $60 for a bale of cotton. It is also recorded that a two-hand can compressor was operated near Galveston in 1841. Cotton industry has made a lot of advances in Texas the past 200 years."

On Tuesday, Oct 17, we had as guests in Heritage Hall, the sixth grade World History Class with their teacher, Wayne Preston. There were 28 members of this class and they seemed to be very interested in the ways of early day living, also finding the pictures of their parents and grandparents in the school room.

Bill and Mary Lee Miller had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ledbetter of Atlanta, Ga. They were both reared there. They said where they lived, that a good many times people did not get very far away and married the next door neighbor. Mr. Ledbetter is in the roofing business and Mrs. Ledbetter is one of the Judges of the nationally credited flower shows. I did find out that Bill and Mary Lee had been visiting in Georgia for six weeks, and the Ledbetters came back with them to try out Texas foods. From all accounts, they had a good time driving over this part of the Panhandle area, also having a "sing-song" with Mary Lee playing her old fashioned organ (a beautiful antique). I found out Mr. and Mrs. Ledbetter had recently sold some land near Atlanta, Ga., for $6 thousand per acre. I encouraged them to move here.

In reading up on the Dallas State Fair, we noticed that it was chartered in January of 1886 when Dallas was a town of about 20 thousand people. The first 80 acres they bought was called "a hog wallow", as it was so muddy. The State Fair showed its first profit in 1893 when they had 400 horses there for the races. During the first 18 years of this fair, they went through 3 bankruptcies and four reorganizations with the exposition building and other buildings burning down. The first Texas-Oklahoma game was played at the fair in 1914 with a score of 32-7, Texas winning. It took a lot of fight, finances and determination to meet the reverses and come back with a fair that over 3 million attend each year!

A quote from Kirk: "A boy becomes a man when he stops asking his father for an allowance and requests a loan."

Mr. R. L. West of Las Cruces, N. M., was a visitor in Hall County Heritage Hall. This was his first trip back to Hall County since he left here in 1920. He remembered working here for Ike and Seth Thomason in 1920. He married a Parker County girl, they now have one son and one daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller of El Paso were other visitors in Heritage Hall. Bill is the brother of Mrs. Wiley Orr, who was the former Mattie Miller and taught school at Salisbury in the early days. The Miller family moved to Hall County in 1906 and first lived in the Mayfield house two miles east of Memphis. Bill attended the Memphis schools. He and his wife lived in California several years before moving to El Paso. They spent the past summer in Idaho and California, but I think the smog was a little too much for them. They have been world travelers for several years and have just about covered the globe. One of our first bus drivers on Highway 287 drove an expanded sedan or touring car. One of the early day drivers was George Copeland; and from information from Bill Miller, George is now living at Possum Kingdom where he has been for several years.

Mrs. Gayle Greene had as her guest in Heritage Hall, her sister, Mrs. Hal Hewitt of San Antonio.

Other guests in Heritage Hall were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thornthorn of Fort Worth and Candler Hawkins of Houston.

Harold (Pookin) Thrasher of Turkey was a visitor the past week. He is the son of the late Claude Thrasher. Harold has lived in Turkey all of his life except the three years he was in the service of Uncle Sam. Claude Thrasher and Dick Jones worked in the gins together for several years. Other children of Claude now living are Claude of Waco, Eulliss, Dan and Odane of Dallas, and Nell (now Mrs. Lee Gregory of Childress).

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bronsaaad, their son, Albert, and four daughters, Bobbie, Tammie, Kay and Cheryl, all of Burleson toured Heritage Hall Saturday.

A quote from Earl Wilson: "When a woman is 21, she believes in long engagements, when she is 41, she does not believe in long introductions."

The story in last Sunday's Dallas News was headed "Big Time Rocker" by Alan Wilson. It was 15 hours after Loretta Lynn had become the first woman honored as country music's best entertainer. She was born a coal miner's daughter in Kentucky, when she was 18, she had been married four years and had four children, and at the age of 23, she had six children. Her husband, "Mooney", gave her the inspiration to start her singing career when he heard her singing while rocking the babies to sleep. She and Mooney left the kids with her brother and they started traveling in their antique car, peddling her singing. They did not stay in plush hotels and motels, but would sleep in the car in a roadside park and eat nothing but cheese, bologna and crackers. Three months later she was a hot item in the country music market. This does show us that where there is a will there is a way. After reading the honor bestowed on this young mother, we may hear of a lot more young mothers singing while rocking their babies to sleep.
 Quote: "Some modern girls show a lot of style. Some modern styles show a lot of girl."

Is spiritual schizophrenia a business disease?

You see it often enough: one code for the conduct of personal affairs, a quite different one applied in business and governmental matters. The belief seems to prevail that we are less responsible as individuals when we make "business" decisions, that business has a different code. Not so. Neither the business nor the cause changes the priority of values. We are born to the community of man first; the others are secondary allegiances. Make your individual morality work where you work.

The community of man... God's club. It's not exclusive. It includes you and me.

CITY, S.D. — Captain Billy Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lane of Rt. 1, Turkey, has been honored for rescue work during and after a flash flood that devastated 30 per cent of near-by City June 9-10.

Lane is a missile commander with the Air Command's 44th Missile Wing, which received the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Award for exceptional achievement from July 10.

The flood, triggered just before 9 p.m. when heavy rain surrounding hills caused a dam to break, took at least 10 lives and sent property estimates beyond the $100 million mark.

Ellsworth personnel in initial emergency response and for the next 48 hours helped the city clean up to normal.

Lane will wear a distinction ribbon to mark his achievement.

Presbyterian Guild Meets For Study On Religions

The Presbyterian Guild met in the home of Boodie Grundy on September 27.

Virginia Browder, president, called the meeting to order. After roll call the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given by Glen Cosby; and donations to the Children's Home in Amarillo and suggested items for next month's donation were announced by Gladys Montgomery.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Robert Sexauer who brought the second series of the Guild's study, "Our World of Many Faiths" — Mormonism.

Mrs. Sexauer gave a most interesting and informative talk on the beliefs and work of the church of Latter-Day Saints, founded by Joseph Smith in 1830 at Fayette, New York.

She told how the young men on becoming of age, serve two years in the mission field and then later as business men they give one day a week to informing, training and helping people who live in their city or community, as well as serving as guides for thousands of visitors who yearly visit Salt Lake City.

World famous are the Mormon Tabernacle and Temple—Also the Tabernacle Choir which is a volunteer unpaid organization with a membership of more than 350 singers whose programs and concerts are heard by millions over TV and radio.

The Tabernacle organ has been in use since 1867 and was originally built by Utah Artisans. It has been rebuilt and enlarged from time to time. It is known the world over for its excellent tonal qualities.

The Mormons tithe regularly and no Mormon needs a "hand-out" or "welfare" — they care for their own and there is always a bountiful supply in the "storehouse" when needed.

The Mormons work, pray and live their religion. They believe in miracles and the power of God. Tasty refreshments were served to three guests, Mildred Stevens, Loraine Tarver and Elizabeth Ricker of Kansas City. Members present were Virginia Browder, Glen Cosby, Elsie Hoover, Wilma Leslie, Agnes Nelson, Gladys Montgomery, Lois McGarity, Mary Jo Newman, Gladys Power and hostess, Boodie Grundy.

The Presbyterian Mizpah Guild met on October 11 in the home of Mrs. Bill Prince.

Virginia Browder, president, presided and the order of business was the same.

Mrs. Lois McGarity gave the third study, Judaism — the Monotheistic religion of the Jewish people, tracing its origin from Abraham through the Kingdoms of the present day.

She brought enlightening facts and thoughts for a better understanding of the Jewish people. The Jew has no simple organized church. He has no Priests. The congregation Rabbi is a teacher, not a Priest.

The central prayer of Judaism is the Shema: "Head, O Israel, The Lord our God, the Lord is one". This is the heart of every Jew.

1913 STUDY CLUB HOSTS TEA — Mrs. F. W. Foxhall, president of the 1913 Study Club, and Mrs. Gayle Greene, vice president, are pictured above at the tea table on Wednesday afternoon at the R. S. Jewish service.
From God to Man, From his Fatherhood to our Brotherhood — This is the second meaning of the Shema.

The prayer which after the Shema has the deepest hold on all Jews is the Kaddish. Honors the dead and is recited for a year after death and then on anniversaries of death. It's solemn phrases Ealt the name of God and pray for the coming of His Kingdom.

The Torah (rules and laws of the Jews) lists 613 commands. Micah (a Hebrew prophet of the eighth century B.C.) reduced them to three: "to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly before God."

Mrs. McGarity also gave some interesting statistics. There are 11.8 million Jews in the world; 5 million in U.S. First came to America 1654 most came in 1880 during Czarist-Russia — most in New York City. Found a nation they could call home.

They have superior earning power, only 3.5 of population, they receive 10 per cent of the nation's income. Twenty per cent of millionaires are Jews.

Traits: temperance, industry, family solidarity and a zeal for education. They have a smaller proportion of prison inmates and a larger proportion of college graduates. When the Jews were chosen, they received not a crown but a yoke, so what they do not understand they fear; what they fear they hate. Out of this fear and hate have every come persecution, even making service and suffering one for the Jews.

At the close of Mrs. McGarity's talk, she introduced a "booklet of Letters" written to Jewish Friends by Elizabeth Thomas of Russellville, Ala. Mrs. McGarity's mother. The last paragraph in the book reads:

"Again I want to express my feeling of deep gratitude for your fathers, who first received the message of God, and through whom God prepared for the coming of Christ. For through Christ both Jew and Gentile can have unspeakable joy of being members of the 'household of God.'"

Tasty refreshments were served to eleven members.

Mrs. Helen Crisman and Karen and Mrs. Don Stewart and Paul, all of Lubbock, visited their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn B. Jones, over the weekend.

Statistics Show Movements Made By Hall Residents

(Special to The Democrat)
NEW YORK—Compared with people in other areas of the country, just how restless are Hall County residents? How often do they pick up and move to new locations?

A recent report from the Department of Commerce, based upon figures compiled in the course of the latest national census, indicates that Americans as a whole are highly mobile people. In the past year alone, it is found, more than 36 million of them changed addresses. In 1970, at the end of the five-year period covered in the Commerce Department's report, nearly one person out of every five in the nation was living in a different home than he had occupied in 1965.

Related to moving habits generally, local residents are less transient-minded than the majority of people in the United States, it appears.

Some 2,222 residents of Hall County, over the age of five, had changed their addresses at least once in the five years, the figures show.

Of this total, 1,283 had merely moved to new locations within the county. The other 939 were people who had come from other counties to take up local residence.

No figure is given for the number who may have moved to other sections of the country.

What the report reveals, for the Hall County population, is that 40 out of every 100 people were living at different addresses after a period of five years.

This mobility rate was lower than in most parts of the United States. The average, nationally, was 47 out of 100.

In the West South Central States it was 43 per 100 and, in Texas, 46.

What impels people to move from one place to another? The survey shows that changes in family situations and in economic opportunities are among the principal motivations.

In some cases it occurs when young people leave home to get married and set up housekeeping on their own. At other times it is divorce, separation or death in a family that causes a change.

Job openings, as well as the lack of job openings, are also prime reasons for moving from one area to another.

New Look By Researchers Shows That Aspirin May Be Intolerant To Some

Aspirin—known chemically as acetylsalicylic acid—comes close to being a miracle drug; it is safe, cheap, and relieves an unbelievably variety of pains and discomforts. But aspirin is not a perfect drug. A relatively small number of aspirin users show signs of aspirin intolerance characterized by asthma, inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose, and other reactions. Aspirin has also been implicated as the villain in a number of other human pathologic states, but the mechanisms of aspirin action, either beneficial or harmful, have remained unknown. Medical researchers Drs. David Hawkins, Neal Pinkcard, and Richard S. Farr of the Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation, La Jolla, Calif., report in "Science" how aspirin alters the serum albumin in the blood of humans.

Earlier research by Dr. Farr and others had shown that the blood serum of many patients, as well as normal subjects, who had taken aspirin showed an enhancement of binding of a substance found that the chemical structure called acetylzoteate. Later, altered by direct treatment with eture of human serum albumin was permanently and irreversibly aspirin. These findings were followed by the discovery that the albumin is altered by the transfer of an acetyl group from aspirin to the blood protein, and it is this transformation that accounts for the binding of acetylzoteate which initially prompted the study.

But it is not yet known what physiological consequence might follow from the acetylation of human serum albumin by aspirin, for these findings are largely based on test tube experiments. Dr. Farr and his co-workers have found that aspirin seems to acetylate other human blood serum proteins, and they are now seeking to find out if the test tube reactions also take place in the human body.

Mindful of the widespread and often indiscriminate use of aspirin by children and adults, and in view of the lack of knowledge about what the transfer of acetyl groups from aspirin to other body proteins may mean, the importance of further research on the biological properties of aspirin is clear.

sale of farm goods, an estimated 83 per cent came from crops and 12 per cent from livestock, etc.
Inflation Cuts Net Income
As for net income, that is another story. Inflation wiped out a good part of the prospective gains because prices paid by farmers for production items, interest, taxes and wages rose considerably during the period. The rise was about five per cent in 1971, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Hall County Farm Bureau Holds Convention

The annual convention for Hall County Farm Bureau was held October 21 in the Community Center. Although the weather prevented J. T. (Red) Woodson from attending, Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Chaloupka, state director and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cockrell, district supervisor of Dalhart and Canyon, respectively did drive down to the meeting.

R. B. Phillips, county president, presided over the combination chili supper and business meeting in attendance was furnished by the "Happy Side" of the First Baptist Church of Memphis.

Election of directors was held and directors re-elected were Exie Hughes, W. M. Davis, Jerry Montgomery, Linton Gardenhire and G. W. Lockhart. New directors elected were Everett Williams, George Proffitt and Milton Beasley, Jr.

Door prizes were donated by local merchants and were awarded throughout the convention. Officers elected for the 1972-73 fiscal year were: R. B. Phillips, president; Leon Helm, vice president; Jerry Montgomery, second vice president; and G. W. Lockhart, secretary.

During the business meeting, Phillips announced that, at no additional cost to the membership, Hall County would extend two new services to its members. First, Hall County Farm Bureau will carry an accidental death policy on each member and his family. The amount is $1,000.00 on each member and his spouse, and $500.00 on each child under age 19. Second, Hall County Farm Bureau has begun participation in a property protection program for its membership. Under its provisions, Farm Bureau will pay $200.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person trespassing or committing theft, arson, or malicious mischief on property of a current member of Farm Bureau. Metal signs are available at the Hall County office at a cost of 50 cents each.

As many as 6,000 kinds of foods and food preparations are available at the supermarkets today. Each year, more than 1.5 million trees and seedlings are planted along highway rights-of-way.

Jane Bartlett, Spelling Bee editor, Amarillo Globe News wrote a letter to the director last week thanking her for the help given and stated all 24 Regional Spelling champions had been located and this week were starting first series of letters to them.

Rebecca Smith, now Mrs. J. M. Alberts, 510 Toro Canyon Road, Santa Barbara, Calif., was champion in 1949 from the Estelline School. She is the daughter of the late Sam Smith, brother of J. Henderson Smith; Sandy Smith, Star Route, Memphis, was champion of 1954 and was a student in Memphis School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of Star Rt., Memphis, and is married to the former Theresa Neal. Billy Don Lane is now Captain Lane, 612 St. James, Rapid City, South Dekota, was champion of 1958 and a student of the Turkey School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill J. Lane, Route One, Turkey, and Miss Jana Davis, student in Memphis School, was the Regional Champion in 1972. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis of 1119 North 16th Street, Memphis, Texas.

The Globe-News is making plans to honor these Hall County champions with the other twenty at the Silver Anniversary, Amarillo, on April 28, 1973. Hall County has had four champions in the area of 46 counties participating during the 25 years and some student will win the championship again this year and it is hoped Hall County can crown another winner. New booklets will be available soon. They may be purchased from the Amarillo Globe-News, P. O. Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 791-05. The price is 25 cents. The booklet will be new in design and content, and contains more than 3,000 words.

Each county director is in charge of the local Spelling Bee and may conduct the contest as a "verbal battle of words" or it may be written. However, the contest in the Regional Bee are oral and for that reason Miss Gilreath stated the contestants will spell orally for county winner. Junior Spelling Bee will be conducted on the same date as the Spelling Bee, and they will, also, spell orally.

USDA Declares Natl. Emergency On Hog Cholera

Swine producers in Hall County should take special note that the U. S. Department of Agriculture has declared a national emergency due to hog cholera. The action was taken to protect the consumers supply of pork products, according to County Agent W. B. Hooser.

To provide further protection, the USDA also recently banned imports of live hogs and fresh pork from countries where the disease exists.

Recent outbreaks of the swine disease in a number of midwestern and southeastern states are a threat to the nation's $4.5 billion pork industry. However, there have been no outbreaks in Texas since July 28, and all state and federal quarantines have been lifted.

Yet the USDA still lists Texas along with Nebraska, Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, New Jersey, North Carolina and South Carolina as those states that are not "hog cholera free."

As part of the emergency action by the USDA, regulations have been changed to increase the federal share of indemnity from 50 to 75 per cent in infected states, provided these states maintain an adequate identification system for feeder and breeder swine. State indemnity is set at 25 per cent for infected states.

Hooser points out that by declaring a national emergency, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to acquire funds and people necessary to carry out an all-out disease eradication campaign against hog cholera.

The agent calls on all swine producers to lend their full support of the eradication effort by promptly reporting any sickness in their swine herds to their local veterinarian.

He earnestly cautions producers against feeding raw garbage to swine. Feeding of uncooked garbage is a prime source of the hog cholera virus and is unlawful.

Hooser outlines the hog cholera eradication procedures as follows:

1. Destruction of all infected and exposed herds, with indemnities paid to owners.
2. State and federal quarantines of areas where infection is discovered.

3. Investigation and traceback on all cases of hog cholera to locate and eliminate the source of the disease and any possible spread.

4. Tight enforcement of shipping rules and market regulations. This will include veterinary inspection at markets and inspection of garbage-feeding operations.

Significant strides have been made in recent years to eliminate hog cholera from this country, Hooser said. However, as long as a trace of the virus disease remains, the potential and danger for continued outbreaks of hog cholera remains. Nothing less than an all-out effort by the entire pork industry and state and federal governments is essential to eradicate the costly swine disease.

Highway Dept. Urges Motorists To 'Pitch In'

AUSTIN—The Texas Highway Department is taking the lead among State agencies in asking the motoring public to join the "Pitch In" anti-litter campaign.

The campaign has been sponsored by industry leaders throughout the nation in efforts to pare the wasteful cost of litter pickup along the highways and elsewhere.

The Highway Department has been placing litter barrel decals on receptacles posted along the 70,000-mile State highway system to encourage motorists to "Pitch In." There are approximately five thousand litter barrels in roadside parks, safety rest areas and highway turnouts.

In addition, the Department is affixing "Pitch In" bumper stickers to Department autos, trucks, station wagons and pickups.

The Department also plans to distribute the bumper stickers to other state agencies for their vehicles. The green and white vinyl bumper stickers were made available by the U. S. Brewers Association, Texas Division, which one of the sponsors of the anti-litter program.

The task of pickup after highway litterbugs falls to maintenance forces of the Department, which costs the taxpayers Texas more than $3.3 million a year.
