Babson's Forecast Predicts Labor Troubles, Price Increases

Babson's Reports Inc., Welles Hills, Mass., December 28, Our Forecast a year ago heavily laced with reasons for pessimism regarding economic and social prospects for 1972. In respect, our two key predictions proved to be correct. On the economic front we envisioned the emergence of a more hopeful attitude on the part of businessmen and consumers that would speed economic recovery. On the social front we projected a year for the stock market 1972, and indicated that the Jones Industrial Average would pierce the 1,000 mark in late summer or early fall.

once again stands somewhat apart from the herd and takes a more moderate view of developments over the next twelve months. Our opinion is far from pessimistic, but it does incorporate a healthy respect for some of the vital problems which the nation's economy may have to face in the new year. Hence, readers of this Babson Forecast are advised to be psychologically prepared to cope with possible disruptions of varying intensity along the labor front, on the monetary scene, in the fight against inflation, and in areas of high sociological sensitivity.

that more than 4,000,000 workers in a fistful of key industries will become involved in new labor contract negotiations. First at bat are the United Rubber Workers who are already facing the petrochemical companies to hammer out a labor part to replace the one just expiring. Bargaining will be due thereafter in rubber, cement, construction, apparel, retail trade, services, electrical manufacturing, and foods. Most important, however, are negotiations involving the Teamsters and United Auto Workers. The fact that both of these significant contract expirations will be quite close together is disturbing, since industrial production could plummet sharply for an indefinite period if either or both groups should strike.

This does not mean we have put inflation entirely at rest. Some price and wage inflation seems unavoidable in the year ahead; the primary question is just how severe it will be. Determining factors will be the behavior of labor, management, and the Administration. If labor is aggressive and adamant in its demands and if management makes the seeds will be sown for a potentially dangerous crop of inflation of the cost-push type.

public confidence. Overall, we are hopeful that price and wage hikes can be kept to around 6 per cent the coming year, leaving the normal productivity gain of 3 per cent to 3.5 per cent per annum as a partially counterbalancing influence. The Administration itself will be in the forefront of the inflation battle. While it would be overly ambitious to look for a balanced federal budget in either fiscal 1973 or fiscal 1974 (portions of both fall in the calendar year 1973), the Nixon Administration will aim for a moderate budget deficit by impounding funds allocated for certain purposes.

advance in industrial production include paper and pulp, containers, instruments and controls, machine tools, apparel, and both military and consumer electronics.

for the Vietnam war. In any case, such a truce should not be far off. How long such a cooling-off arrangement will last, however, is indeterminate. We are hopeful that this forward step can be followed by negotiations leading to a permanent peace treaty. Even if a cease-fire is achieved but fails to hold, any resumption of fighting will presumably take place without American forces. Hopefully, settlement in Vietnam may be only part of a favorable peace package which will incorporate agreements to maintain the integrity of all other Southeast Asian nations.

Harry S. Truman Is Dead!

Few men have ever served in the office of the President of the United States under times more trying than did Harry S. Truman, nor has any President of this country ever made decisions and judgments with the forceful determination, and accepted the responsibility of his decisions as this man did.

He is now dead, at 88 years of age, and in the final stages of his life, Harry Truman scrapped until the end.

He came into the Presidency upon the death of President Roosevelt, near the end of World War II, and his decision to use the Atomic Bomb against Japan is being considered as one of the most difficult decisions a human being has ever been called upon to make.

President Truman was possibly ill prepared to take over as President when he replaced Vice President Henry Wallace on FDR's fourth term ticket. He well knew that he would take office upon FDR's death.

Just as Truman feared, President Roosevelt died in 1945, with a raging war unfinished, with an upcoming post-war adjustment of monumental proportions facing the whole world.

Few if any men ever sworn into the Presidency with as much humility, as much apprehension.

Later, the new President said: "Within the first few months I discovered that being a President is like riding a tiger. A man has to keep on riding or be swallowed." Harry Truman rode, and he survived. Whatever else, he was a scrapper.

In a short time the war ended, first in Europe, then in the Pacific. The United Nations was organized. The post-war occupation of Germany and Japan was arranged, the Marshall Plan of aid for reliving Europe was developed, the Potsdam meeting with Churchill and Stalin was held.

The atom bomb decisions were typical of Truman. He was unconcerned about the philosophic judgment some time in the distant future. He was influenced by the practical matter at hand—ending the war with Japan and saving thousands, perhaps millions of American lives.

When he ran for a full term, Truman had shed his humility. He was the underdog, but his "give 'em hell" campaign made people think of a fighting gamecock. He was elected. Americans, perhaps, knew Truman had a sign on his desk which read: "The buck stops here."

Despite the deep-freeze scandals which beset his second administration, despite inflation, the cold war, the Berlin blockade, the Communist takeover of China, the Korean War, labor troubles and other problems, Harry Truman pugnaciously demonstrated that he was, indeed, the head man in the United States, and let no one think otherwise.

And, when it was over, he simply went back to Independence, Mo., where he had come from, without ever suggesting that he be judged for anything but what he was, a man who "had done his damndest."

And even some of his most bitter critics are saying, "Harry Truman's 'damndest' was remarkably good," and history may score him as one of the great presidents.

Be Tolerant Of The Opposite Opinion!

Senator Lloyd Bentsen made a speech in Beaumont the other night before a class of graduating college seniors in which he warned that an absence of honest, intellectual conflict has led toward a fragmenting of American society. The senator said that those who see only one side of the coin, who refuse to listen to other opinions, are not actually militant, but shun conflict because they exclude all those who disagree with them. These people gather in ever narrowing circles, talking only to one another, reinforcing their shared views, and deluding themselves into thinking because they never hear a dissenting word, that they constitute a majority, he said.

The senator from Texas has hit the nail on the head. One big thing wrong with this country is that it is populated with people who refuse to hear any viewpoint but their own. The McGovern people who swept through the Democratic party conventions believed that everybody in the United States was with them because they quickly swept out opposing views. The conservatives who gather together in Republican banquets find themselves breaking bread with those who share their views and think everybody must do so. All of us tend to gravitate toward people who think as we do, and this is natural. It is only when we refuse to see opposing viewpoints is this a dangerous thing.

Because people tend to avoid conflict, they avoid those with whom they disagree and Sen. Bentsen says this is not healthy. He says that those of us who hold strong opinionated viewpoints on any given issue should make an effort to talk to somebody who believes differently and attempt to see their reasoning. It may be that the other fellow has some merit in his viewpoint that can be helpful in resolving any given issue. What this means is that Americans need to be more tolerant, to try and understand other people even if they can't agree with them. The way it is now, American society is surely fragmented into groups, each proclaiming it has the only right way. If we could heed Senator Bentsen's advice, we would probably have a much more peaceful situation.

Parents Get Tax Break
If you're a working parent, you may be eligible for a new, little-known tax break on child care when you file your 1972 federal income tax return.
Under a clause in the 1971 tax law, which just went into effect this year, working couples and single parents can deduct up to $400 month, or $4,800 a year, the costs of child care and household help.
Previously, the maximum deduction for child care was $900 a year and applied only to working women who made less than $6,000 annually.
According to the new statute, you may deduct the wages of a babysitter or a housekeeper, cook or maid if her duties involve child care. The law points out, however, that the salaries of a chauffeur or gardener may not be deducted.
If your child is cared for outside your home—in a nursery school, summer camp or day care center—the maximum deduction for child care is $200 a month, including transportation costs between your house and the place where the care is given.
But another $200 can be deducted monthly for household help, as long as its purpose is to free the mother to work.
If you have two children, up to $300 can be deducted for outside care and $100 for household help. With three or more children, up to $400 can be deducted for care outside the home, but nothing for a maid or housekeeper.
You're Eligible for the deduction if you have children under the age of 15 or dependents over 15 who are physically or mentally unable to take care of themselves.
As with any tax regulation, there are several limitations.
All child care and household help records must be kept and the couple must file a joint return, using the long form and listing all deductions.
Four hundred dollars is the maximum that can be spent in any one month. In other words, you cannot spend $600 in January and $200 in February, then average the two months' costs to $400 a month.
If the two of you earn over $18,000 a year, your child-care deduction is reduced proportionately. You can figure the reduction by subtracting $1 from the deduction for each $2 earned over $18,000.

The "Slob" Hunter Not Needed
Anyone who has spent time in the outdoors here in Garza County knows what a "slob" hunter is. But he isn't confined to this county. The slob hunter's handiwork is everywhere.
The slob hunter is the fellow who gives the real sportsmen a bad image. He uses mail boxes for target practice. He kills more than his limit and fabricates justifications for his hunting buddies. After all, he says, there are other hunters somewhere who don't get their limit.
He doesn't limit his killing to game. He shoots anything that moves, although inanimate objects are by no means safe. He is out in hunting camp and urges them to go out bird hunting. It doesn't seem to matter that all birds except the English sparrows, European starlings and pigeons are either game birds or protected by law.

The fine points of sportsmanship are lost on the slob hunter. He is out to kill game. Hunting for it is done with as little exertion as possible.
The sport of hunting can do without the slob hunter.

Grade Schools Receive Copies Of Food Booklet

Elementary school students in the Hall-Childress Soil and Water Conservation District have recently been presented a booklet, "Food and the Land." This booklet contains a simple explanation of the role of soil and water conservation in the present world food crisis. It is part of a better environment series published by the Soil Conservation Society of America.

The distribution of "Food and the Land" was made possible by a number of firms cooperating with the Hall-Childress Conservation District. These firms were: First State Bank of Childress, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Childress, Peoples State Bank of Turkey, First National Bank of Childress, First State Bank of Memphis and the First National Bank of Memphis. These institutions are to be highly commended for working towards a better America through a better understanding of some of the important problems facing the country today.

The booklet places importance on food in the lives of citizens and in maintaining the ability to maintain the best source of food—productive soil. It points out that the United States farmer today produced food for 47 others. The hourly production rate is 3 times that of the 1950's and 8 times that of the 1930's.

The final thought in the booklet is, "Above all, soil and water conservation is the way we can be sure to keep food on our tables and in many other ways enrich the lives of all people."

Foxhall, Badgwell Vows Are Solemnized December 23

Miss Sylvia Lynn Foxhall and Dr. Jon Michael Badgwell of Grass Valley, Calif., exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony Saturday, Dec. 23, at 7 p. m. in the First United Methodist Church here. The Rev. Russell C. Sanders of Minneapolis, Minn., brother-in-law of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lesley Foxhall of Memphis are the parents of the bride, who has been living in Houston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Badgwell of Tulsa, Okla.

Three arched candelabra stood behind the altar which was marked with arrangements of white gladiolas and mums with lemon leaf. Pre-nuptial music, "The Greatest of These Is Love," was sung by Thomas Greene. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ann Chamberlain.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Mrs. John Nail of Amarillo. Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Russell C. Sanders of Minneapolis and Mrs. James B. Carter of Mill Valley, Calif., sisters of the bride. Best man was Dr. Jack Heaquist of Denver, Colo. Groomsmen were Phil Adamson of Tulsa and Dr. James B. Carter of Mill Valley. The bridal attendants wore floor-length rose-colored gowns with capped sleeves. They carried nosegays of pink carnations with candles. The mother of the bride wore a champagne silk suit. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a turquoise suit. They wore cymbidium orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University and served one year internship in medical technology at University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. County Residents Pay Increase In S. S. Taxes

NEW YORK — Residents of Hall County will soon have to pay more for the increases in social security benefits that were approved this year.

Beginning on January 1st, large earners and their employers will be hit with an increase in payroll taxes to finance a one per cent hike in pension benefits that went into effect in 1972. The added benefits provided for widows, disabled persons and others.

People who are covered by social security will begin to pay at the rate of 5.85 per cent on the first $10,800 of earnings. Matching contributions will be made by their employers.

The new rate represents a rise of 0.2 per cent on the first $10,800, which they are now paying.

As a result, a person in the local area who earns $10,800 or less will be paying $631.80 next year instead of the current $468. Self-employed locally will be paying a maximum of $864, up from $675 at present.

It amounts to, for residents of Hall County, an increase of approximately $150 over the total paid by employers and employees in 1972. Figures are based upon releases by the Social Security Administration, the Internal Revenue Service and others.

$6,000 in 1972 and paid $312 in social security taxes, the new cost will be $351. The $8,000 wage earner will have to pay $468 instead of $416.

According to the official figures, the nation's jobholders and their employers turned $37.8 billion into the social security trust funds last year. The total this year will be about $42.9 billion.

Hall County's contribution to that total will be approximately $1,514,000, it is estimated.

And next year, under the new rates, it will be close to $1,817,000, based upon the same number of workers.

Unless Congress votes a further expansion of benefits, the maximum tax will be reached in the year 2011, when a person earning $12,000 or over will be paying $876 into social security. Self-employed people will be paying a top of $1,014 beginning in 1986.

Give them a Faith to live by

Worship with them this week

Naturally you want them to have all the good things in life . . . a happy home . . . a good education . . . plenty of chances to meet other nice young people. But be sure to give them the most precious gift of all . . . Faith.

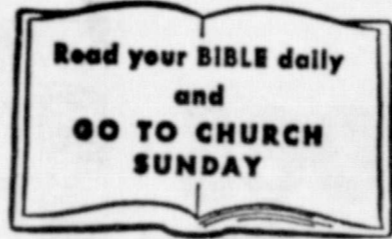

The wonderful part is that faith is yours to give . . . no matter who your are, what you do for a living, how much money you have in the bank.

Faith is the gift you give a little at a time. Every week you worship with the children at your church. The youngsters see you . . . the biggest, smartest, most important people in their world . . . asking God for help, thanking Him for blessings. Then it's clear to them . . . here they can always find the strength they need, always find the happiness they want.

Then you've done the best a parent—any parent—can do.

He restoreth your soul . . . Worship together this week

Babson's Forecast Calls for Continued Spending which exists on an international scale. We forecast an increase in foreign commerce for the United States in the new year. Stupendous though the increase may be, we can tap only a fraction of the basic market of the world. The United States does not have enough dollar or trade credits. Sales on a credit basis require negotiations to establish such transactions. Even so, however, the worldwide system of the international system will result in improvement in this situation. The solution will not be found in 1973. Nonetheless, there is a better showing in our trade balance and a less deficit in our annual balance of pay-

Year For Farmers
Step-up in grain exports last year has stiffened rural commodity prices and 1972 is winding up one of the best years in the nation's farmers. Net income could reach $1 billion, a total which would be the previous peak of $1.7 billion reached back in 1967. Income next year should be at this all-time-record level. Domestic demand for agricultural products will remain strong, exports are expected to be on the upswing. Farmers are "champing at the bit" to begin and planting 1973's crops. The farm-equipment boom is booming, and demand for fertilizer and seed will be strong. Farm real estate prices are strengthened.

Consumer Psychology
The nation's consumers are looking forward to a good year. There will be some disinflation over prices as well as tremors among workforces by labor-management confrontations, but the over-optimism will be heartening. The government should move above the rate already achieved in 1972. Already the "Help" newspaper sections are reporting an increase in numbers of openings. On the other hand, unemployment will shrink from the current 6.5 percent of the civilian labor force to the Administration's target of 5.5 percent. This is scarcely satisfactory for leaders, but it must be noted that it is difficult to get jobless totals-even when the economy is on the rise-if there is a massive influx into the labor force of young people and motoring part-time or full-time. And this will be the case in 1973.

The pattern for raises and fringe benefits for the ensuing three years may well be determined by contracts inked in the key trucking, auto, and construction industries in the new year. With multiyear agreements usually for the lion's share of the overall increase in the first year, average wage rates in American industry will show a significant rise in 1973, tempered somewhat by whatever controls are in effect. All of this will mean an upward push in both gross and disposable personal incomes.

Spending Will Rise

The combination of full employment, soaring wage rates, and new highs in personal income will, of course, put consumers in a spending mood. For that reason the staff of Babson's Reports looks for a substantial rise in consumer spending for 1973. The continuing advance in consumer expenditures will be spurred to some degree by a decline in the rate of savings. The trend toward putting away a smaller percentage of disposable income has been in evidence since the third quarter of 1971, after hitting a peak in the preceding quarter when consumers channeled 8.8 percent of their disposable income into savings. For the full year 1971 the savings rate was 8.2 percent, but we estimate the 1972 figure will prove to have been reduced to 6.6 percent. With little chance for much reduction in food prices and with consumption per capita still climbing, a fair portion of the increase in personal incomes will go for food and beverages. Consumers will also spend more for eating away from home. With new housing starts in 1972 holding up longer than was earlier expected, furniture and home furnishings are likely to remain strong areas of buyer interest. Purchases of new autos were extremely heavy during the bulk of the past year, and there is no indication that this tendency will soon be reversed. It should be noted, however, that we look for considerably less of an upward flip in home furnishings and auto sales in 1973 than was seen in 1972. In both instances, it is getting late in the upward phase of the selling cycle. We do expect, however, quite positive gains in consumer spending for leisure-time activities and products, and for apparel and accessories.

Capital Expenditures

Business capital expenditures will help to stimulate the economy during 1973, but not with the same potency as in previous business booms. It is probable, in fact, that a good chunk of capital spending will be not for increased productive capacity but for items of high social priority. Most firms will be laying out more money to comply with anti-pollution regulations, and companies in the oil and gas industry will expend huge sums in the search for new reserves. Major gas distributors are so hard-pressed for fresh supplies of natural gas that they are advancing millions of dollars to help pay for exploration and development costs in exchange for the right to purchase a major part or the entire output of a given area. All in all, business capital expenditures in 1973 could show a gain just about matching the 10 percent marked up during the past year.

Interest Rates-Bond Market

Since the consumer will be spending more and business will be building up inventories and pouring out more funds for capital-equipment programs, there will inevitably be some upward pressure on interest rates. But we stress once more that we do not anticipate another traumatic credit crunch such as occurred during the closing years of the 1960s. The brunt of any interest-rate rise is likely to come at the short end of the money-rate scale, with only a moderate firming of long-term rates. Keep in mind that the total of new housing starts will probably ease a bit in 1973. Moreover, corporations are generally in good financial condition after building up their resources over the past two years with the aid of the investment tax credit. The Babson staff looks for corporate profits after taxes to go up about 12 percent in the new year compared with 16 percent in 1972. Even this small gain, however-coupled with the freeze on corporate dividend disbursements-will enhance business liquidity. One area of danger in the money-rate picture may be traced to the government's doorstep. The U. S. Treasury is slated for fairly active refinancing in 1973, and the unusual and unexpected tax receipts that have come in during 1972 through overwithholding will not be seen in the new year. Whether the Treasury's debt-management efforts will pose a problem depends on inflation prospects. If, as now seems to be increasingly accepted, the general public feels that inflation is being restrained, the federal refinancing projects are likely to occur within undue pressure on interest rates. Hence, bond prices will probably show sporadic signs of softness in the short to inter-

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

It's that time of the year again when people all over the country sit down to write their New Year's resolutions. Or if we don't do that, we at least think about ways to improve the quality of our lives and attempt to accomplish certain goals. Texas health officials urge you to place "good health resolutions" at the top of your list this year.

Here's some thoughts on resolutions for you and your family, from the Texas State Department of Health.

Promise to give your body at least as good care as you give your car. Periodic examinations are the best way yet devised to detect bodily disorders while they can still be treated successfully, so let your doctor look you over thoroughly at least once a year whether you're ailing or not. Make it twice yearly if you're middle-aged.

Dental troubles may not kill you, but sometimes they can make you wish you were dead. So check in regularly with your dentist, too.

If you are putting on weight, resolve to start passing up the candied yams, boiled potatoes and the cream-filled tidbits which almost invariably spell extra pounds and perhaps an early demise.

Too much weight contributes to high blood pressure, and may be associated with hardening of the arteries and various forms of heart disease. Also, it means impaired vigor, greater surgical risk and greater danger from otherwise minor illnesses.

A good, approved exercise regimen will keep your body in shape, tone up your heart muscles and put the spring back into your step. There are many pursuits which people of all ages may undertake in order to get the needed exercise. While jogging might be all right for some, brisk walking may be recommended for others.

The statistics linking smoking to cancer and heart disease continue to pile up, and it is tougher and tougher to rationalize the habit. If you still smoke, now's the time to quit. Resolve also to impress the health hazards of smoking on the minds of teenagers in your home.

When driving, consider that every other car is being driven by a madman, and when walking trust motorists only as far as you can see them. Never mix drinking and driving. Most vehicle deaths stand far above accidental deaths of all other types.

Resolve to take full advantage of every advancement in medical science aimed at benefiting you and the family, but always on competent medical advice. Start by checking the immunization records of your entire family as a safeguard against diseases and their complications. Remember, certain immunizations are now required by state law for all school children.

Getting plenty of sleep is another resolution which will be of benefit. In the rushed-up pace of modern living, an individual may overlook the importance of rest. But it is essential if your body is to recharge itself after a day of activity.

Nutrition goes hand in hand with proper rest. To provide your body with the essential nutrients to make it function properly and most efficiently, proper diet is necessary. Our stores are crammed with different, tasty and nutritious foods, so resolve to put the proper ones on your table.

Promise to obey local and state laws pertaining to health protection. For example, if your town has a dog leash law, adhere to it. It is a public protective device and you are the public. If you own pets, be certain they are kept in good health.

Last but vitally important, give an occasional thought to such awesome problems as water conservation, pollution abatement, juvenile delinquency, drug abuse and the growing number of elderly people in our society. Lend your support as a responsible citizen to community efforts to solve them.

Your health should be of great concern to you. So get the good health habit by putting some healthful resolutions to work. You'll be happier, live longer and enjoy life more.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gentry and Cade of Loop spent Christmas here visiting with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gentry and Mark and Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Bruce and Boyce.

The refinery capacity of Texas is 3.5 million barrels of crude oil daily, which is 26.5 per cent of the U. S. total.

Babson's Forecast

mediate sectors of the Maturity scale. But on the long-term end price should be generally well maintained. In general, 1973 should offer ample opportunity to make selected purchases of bonds and preferred stocks of good quality for investors who need to nail down a fair amount of fixed income from their investments. Wherever possible, however, some inflation hedge should be sought, even to the point of sacrificing a little income on a portion of investment capital. This part of investment funds can be placed in some attractively priced convertible debentures and convertible preferred stocks.

Bigger Tax Bite?

The outcry for tax reform, the staggering projected federal budget deficit, and the need for help at state and local levels indicate that somewhere along the line in 1973 there must be a heavy tax wallop. The staff of Babson's Reports does feel, however, that by closing tax loopholes of the more glaring sort and putting some restraints on public spending, the federal government can avoid an outright increase in both corporate and personal income taxes in the coming year, over and above the social security tax hike that is already scheduled to take effect January 1, 1973.

Stock Market Outlook

The stock market during 1973 will have three powerful factors in its corn: (1) The element of peace; (2) the generally healthy economic climate; and (3) the decisive hurdling of the 1,000 mark by the Dow Jones Industrial Average which is whetting the investment appetite. These are considerations that tend to stiffen investment confidence substantially. On the assumptions that corporate profits can post another gain during the coming year and that inflation can be prevented from running away, the Dow Jones Industrial Average can be expected to work into still higher territory over the next twelve months. The possibility of a move past the 1,100 mark, to even a small edge of the 1,200 level, should not be ruled out. However, there may not be a smooth jet flight for the stock market, if only because of the overlooking danger of labor troubles which will threaten for virtually the entire year ahead.

Nevertheless, barring an unpredictable major adverse development, many of the stocks which have been in the doldrums will have an opportunity to catch up with the parade. Among the groups that can give a good account of themselves in 1973 are those related to the energy crisis: the reawakening laggards such as steels, chemicals, and insurance

Promising though the stock market outlook may be at this transition period-1972 into 1973—the staff of Babson's Reports is of the opinion that investors should employ a healthy measure of conservatism in their investment moves. Resolve, for instance, not to chase stocks which already have gone whizzing try to operate on a semi-vestments game plan. Give consideration to the fund quality of investment and to securing at least a degree of diversification your portfolio. In addition on hand some investments at all times.

By BYRON BALDWIN

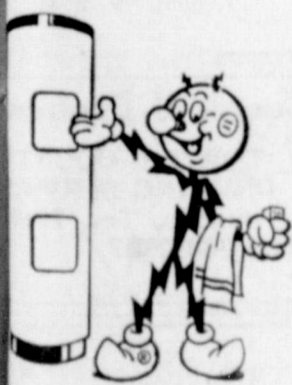

had a short visit with one of my early day friends and co-workers in my younger days. The name was Mae Simmons, the sister of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simmons, who moved to Hall County in 1908. Mr. Simmons operated a grocery store at the corner of 6th and Noel where Hart Pharmacy is now located. Mae Simmons passed away in 1934. Mr. Simmons in 1934. I worked with Mae in the grocery store on the east side of the square. I guess her feet were tired with long hours, any time she decided to go to college in Texas State in 1922. Mae was quite a career of teaching—years in Oberlin, Ohio, two at Kalamazoo, Mich., nine at Bowling Green, Ohio, years in Amarillo Public Schools and 19 years teaching in Texas State before she retired in 1946. She did not retire entirely as after teaching career, she served as a volunteer worker in High Plains for five years. She is a creator of art in metals and other materials in original designs for herself and gifts. She had another hobby now which was "Keep working trying to publish something". The child of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Simmons now living are Floyd (Mapah), Okla., who was a teacher here in the early days; Ivy (Dallas), Lorena of Chandler, Katie of Grand Junction, and Mae of Canyon. Mae's sister, Katie Posey of Grand Junction, Colo., were visited by Mae Simmons' daughter, who is now Mrs. R. B. Jones, and her granddaughter, Wayne Sweatt.

During a short visit with Gene Tension of Arlington, I learned the Tension family was having a reunion at Brownwood Dec. 23 and all would be there except Grayson who is now serving as a foreign missionary. Gene's wife will be remembered as Gloria. They now have a 21-year-old son.

met Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller of Fort Worth the weekend who were here for the 1963 class reunion. I asked about Rev. Fern and his family and he replied that he did not know, as they left their three children to entertain them. He just wanted to have a picture with these three good looking young people.

and Mrs. Mike Vandeventer of Amarillo were visitors in County Heritage Hall the week. Mike is the son of Loyd Vandeventer (Lester Vandeventer) who formerly lived in Hall County and moved to Amarillo in 1957. Dr. Goodall brought to this world Dec. 23, 1972. Mike is the grandson of Inez Vandeventer. Mike married Evelyn Clayton, N. M., six years ago. He served six years in the Army and will re-enlist in the Army the 29th of December, having been assigned to serve in Germany.

Tony Monzingo and Mark Hansard of Lamesa were visitors in Heritage Hall. Tony will be remembered as the son of the late Ed and Mrs. Monzingo, now of Ralls. Tony graduated from MHS in 1965 and his brother, Don now of Lubbock, graduated here in 1948. Tony has been teaching and coaching in Lamesa the past four years. He was very much surprised that we had such a collection and displays of artifacts.

We received cards from Mr. and Mrs. H. Byrd of Elgin and the Gladys (Mixon) Turner family of Sacramento, Calif., sending their love and best wishes to all of their Hall County friends.

Our thanks to Lewellen Stout for his continued interest in Hall County Heritage Hall with another contribution for 1972.

I had a conversation with the Rev. W. R. Lawrence, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clarendon for the past 14 years, but who has resigned as of January 1. He told me that his church on Sunday, Dec. 19, presented him and his wife with a ticket for a trip to the Holy Land. I asked him if it was a one-way, and he replied, "I forgot to look at the ticket and it could be a one-way."

I imagine most of us will think our gas bill a little high on the next billing as we had our hard winter in the fall. We will try to count our blessings as we do not have to have kindling wood to start the fire nor bring in a coal shuttle of coal and then have to take out the ashes. That was "the good days" (I don't think).

Visiting in Hall County Heritage Hall were Mr. and Mrs. Arvell Hyer with their three children, Brian, Julie and Douglas, all from Hemet, Calif. Mrs. Hyer will be remembered as Earline Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ellis who were former residents of Hall County but now living in Hemet. Chas.' father and mother were early day residents of the Plasko area. Chas. married Alma Jeffers. Twin girls were born to them in 1939, Earline Hyer of Hemet and Ilene of Narco, Calif. Two other children now living are Dorothy of Fontana, Calif., and Marshall of Mississippi. Earline reported that Dr. Odom brought her and her sister into this world in 1939. The Chas. Ellis family moved to Hedley in 1947 and on to Hemet, Calif., in 1950. Earline married Arvell Hyer in 1961.

Other visitors in Heritage Hall were Russell Smith of Memphis and Lubbock and Pam Harris of Amarillo and Lubbock. They are both students of Texas Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Webster were passing through last Friday on the way to see three of their children who live in Ft. Worth, Dallas and Keller where they spent the holidays. J. D. will be remembered as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Webster and his

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin and Lonnie Martin of Cedar Hill, Tenn., were visitors in Heritage Hall last Saturday. Donald and Lonnie are sons of Marion Duren Martin and grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Duren.

D. R. Kelly brought us two copies of the 1932 Literary Digest the past week which were very interesting after 40 years. The three items here were copied from one of these editions:

"Our idea of the meanest guy in the world is the guy who was deaf and never told his barber."

"A hick town is the one where the folks know all of the news before the paper comes out, but takes the paper to see whether or not the editor got the stories the way they heard them."

"For the third time the mother had told her young son to wash his hands for dinner. The young fellow looked over his hands and said, "Mother, they aren't really dirty, just kind of blurred."

"Happy and Prosperous New Year!"

The following is a correction of some information which was published in this column recently.

Recent visitors in Hall County Heritage Hall were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell of Wellington; and along with them were Mrs. Bell's brother, Coy Jones from Anchorage, Alaska, where he has been with a Computer Service for six years. He and Mrs. Bell, who was known in school as Gladys Jones, are children of Mr. and

Mrs. Henry C. Jones (now deceased). The family moved to California from Here in 1938. There were 10 children in this family and nine are living. These are Perney of Salinas, Calif., Auther of Tucson, Ariz., Dannie of El Centro, Calif., Gladys of Wellington. Solita of San Jose, Calif., Leonard of San Mateo, Calif., Nita Belle of Sunnyvale, Calif., Lois of Milpitas, Calif., and Coy of Anchorage, Alaska. Since leaving Hall County, he has lived in Madera, Calif., where he finished school and was in the Armed Services for two years. He then lived in San Francisco and Portland, Oregon, and from there to Anchorage. Coy says 20 degrees below isn't so bad in Alaska. He is a computer supervisor. This was the first time he and his sister, Gladys, had seen each other in almost 28 years. Coy has one son who also lived in Alaska. Coy was born in Memphis in 19-25 and was 12 years old when they moved to California January 1, 1938.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

By Crawford C. Martin
Attorney General of Texas

Fair Credit Reporting Can Be Important

Do you pay your bills on time? Have you always paid your debts in full? How much do you own right now and to whom?

You, of course, know the answers to these questions. But so do Consumer Reporting Agencies because they are in the business of collecting this type of information. Every time you apply for credit, employment or insurance, the potential creditor, employer, or insurer will probably purchase whatever information a Reporting Agency has on you.

Therefore, it is important that information these agencies circulate about individual consumers be as accurate and up-to-date as possible. Until recently, it may have been difficult for you as an individual to determine the accuracy as well as the nature of the information these Consumer Reporting Agencies were including in reports made about you.

However, you now have legal protection to insure your basic rights in this area. This is because of the new Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act which is administered by the Federal Trade Commission. You, as a consumer, are entitled to protection against circulation of erroneous, incomplete or obsolete information on which an unsuspecting firm might rely in deciding whether or not to do business with you or to offer you employment.

Some of the most significant of your rights as a consumer are:

1. The right to know the nature and substance of all the information (except medical) in your file at the particular Consumer Reporting Agency.

2. The right to know the sources of information.

3. The right to know who has received a Consumer Report on you within the last six months (or within the preceding two years if the report was furnished for employment purposes).

If you have been denied credit, insurance, or employment because of information in a Consumer Report, you have the right to be told the name and address of the Consumer Reporting Agency that furnished the report. You then have the right to request and receive all the information mentioned above from the Consumer Reporting Agency free of charge. If there is incorrect or incomplete information in your particular file, you have the right to challenge it. The Reporting Agency must, in most instances, re-investigate the challenged information within a reasonable period of time. If the information is found to be inaccurate or cannot be verified, it must be removed from your file.
