Bill Combs Wins Golf Club Title

Sixty golfers competed in the final four rounds of the Memphis Country Club's Annual Championship tournament Saturday. Bill Combs won the championship flight over golfers competing to be the Club Champion for 1973. Combs, who shot the best medal score of 72, of the four golfers in the final, captured his championship, having won it in 1967. Larry Parks defeated Barry Monzingo in the consolation match to win the top flight medal. The first hole of a sudden death playoff between Combs and Parks was won by Combs. Parks won the consolation match by a score of 75. Competition was tough in the first flight of the tournament as Joe Bob Browning posted a one-under par, 67 to win the flight and second place went to Melroy Cofer, who was only a few strokes back. Winning consolation in this flight was Darrell Collins. In the second flight, Clyde Smith won the flight with C. E. Voyles taking second place and Lester Campbell winning the consolation. The third flight was won by 12-year-old Tina Foxhall, who won a sudden death match from Bill Maddox after the two golfers were tied for 18 holes. Lynn Maddox took second place. Lynn Monzingo won the consolation portion of this flight. Saturday's match play round created a lot of excitement as several of the matches were decided either on the final hole or with extra holes necessary to determine winners.

Rotary District Gov. Formby Is Speaker Tuesday

District Rotary Governor Marshall Formby of Plainview, in his annual visit to the Memphis Rotary Club, told the members at Noon Tuesday that it is time Americans quit looking at the gloomy side of everything and took a look at the brighter side. "About all that we hear today is how bad things are going and how tough it is in this country," Formby said, "I think it is time we took a look at how well things are going, and give thanks for what we enjoy in this nation." He pointed out that America today is the most affluent nation since the dawn of civilization and that we are surrounded by luxuries available to the poorest person that were once beyond the dreams of even the very richest people. Formby, who serves on the College and University Coordinating Board for Texas, pointed out that some young people today have a flaw in their education which causes them to be ashamed of their country, their parents, and the economic system that has put America in the lap of luxury. "I want the kids of today to know where the money comes from and to learn that it is not sinful to make a profit on a business transaction," he declared. Formby complimented the local club for their Rotary activities and urged the continued support and enthusiasm of its members towards the projects of the Club for the coming year. Governor Formby met Monday evening with Club President Bill Combs, Vice President Bill Wood and Secretary M. L. Van Arsdale, along with Directors Grady Simpson and Coy Miller to discuss the program of work of the committees of the club. Rotary Ann's enjoyed a coffee in honor of the district governor's wife in the home of Mrs. Herschel Combs.

Farmers Invited To Meeting On New Man-made Grain, Triticale, Wednesday

Farmers in this area will be introduced to a new higher protein grain, Triticale, a combination of wheat and rye, at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 29, at the Memphis Community Center. The food will be followed by a 35mm film slide program on the history of the development of the new grain crop sponsored by Tritifood Corporation of Muleshoe, Texas. In making the announcement, Charles E. Briggs of Tritifood Food's Corporation said, "Our company would like to thank the First National Bank of Memphis for introducing our firm and product to this agricultural community." Farmers who have capabilities of planting and harvesting wheat or rye are being asked to attend the meeting, enjoy the pancakes made from Tritiflour, and Jimmy Dean's sausage, and hear the program. Briggs said that details of planting allotments on a contract basis, will be discussed. Testing and helping to develop Triticale has been the Food and Nutrition in the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech. Mrs. Sharon Clements, formerly of Memphis and a former employee of First National Bank here, was among those working with the testing of the man-made cereal. Some varieties of the man-made cereal, triticale, which is produced on South Plains, have a higher yield and contain more protein than their parents, wheat (Triticum) and rye (Secale). Tritiflour and Triticake Mix are being marketed in clear poly-protective 22 ounce, three and five pound bags. Their distinctive white labels feature a stylized Triticale grainhead in sun gold and bright red. Briggs said that the grain crop can be grazed by cattle during winter months. It is harvested in the late spring like wheat, although it is much larger than wheat. High-protein Triticake Mix makes unusually tasty pancake and waffle batter from grain naturally containing 40 per cent more protein. A little goes a long way in satisfying family appetites. Dr. S. P. Yang and staff of Texas Tech conducted careful studies and found that Triticale contains 17 per cent or more protein, while commonly available wheat flour and rye contained only 12 per cent or less protein. Triticale was first observed in nature in Europe during the 1890's. It's a cross between wheat and rye, using very recent laboratory techniques to produce fertile seeds. Although presently concentrated in Muleshoe, Triticale can be grown in any country in the world where wheat is a crop.

Thomas A. Atkisson, native of Childress County and a teacher for past seven years in Campton, Wolfe County, Kentucky, has been employed by the Hall County School Board as Counselor for the Schools of Hall County. Mr. Atkisson attended school at Carey, and farmed for several years at Tell. He received his B. S. degree from Texas Tech, Lubbock, and his Master's degree in Education from Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Ky. Mr. Atkisson in his prior teaching experience has taught Vocational Agriculture, Math and History. Mr. Atkisson is married and has two girls, one is in Memphis Junior High School and the other one is attending Stephen F. Austin School. The family is living in their home, 508 Memphis Street. The schedule for the Counselor calls for Monday and Tuesday at Memphis schools; Wednesday at Estelina School; Thursday at Lakeview School and Friday at Valley School. The Counselor will work directly with people in personal relationship to assist pupils in achieving their goals or improving their situation. The Counselor sometimes gives tests. These usually include standardized aptitude, as well as interest and personality inventories. It will be the Counselor's job to know other specialist who can assist the students of each school. It is believed the students of the various districts will be benefited by having a Counselor available. Estelina Lakeview and Valley schools have never had a Counselor available. These schools have only had available the services of County Supervisor.

Woody's Conoco Is Damaged By Fire Sat.

Memphis Firemen have been kept busy the past few days working fire reports, and the added problem of far too many spectators have added to their problems. At 5:15 p. m. last Saturday gas fumes ignited in the wash and grease room of the Woody's Conoco Station on Boykin Drive and Main Street. A station wagon was being worked on clearing gas lines when the fumes ignited. Firemen brought the blaze which destroyed the vehicle and caused considerable damage to the wash and room under control. Fireman also said that so many spectators had gathered around the service station that if an explosion had occurred, many would have been endangered, in warning citizens not to be spectators at fires. Woody Floyd, operator of the station, reports the business will be closed until repairs can be made. Monday, firemen were called to the Horace Brock home on East Main when smoke was discovered. Firemen report the smoke was caused by burnt food on the stove, but smoke damage was all that was discovered. Tuesday, firemen fought a grass fire in Lakeview on the W. M. Gowdy, Jr. property. Tuesday evening, a car belonging to Bill Hill caught fire on 16th Street and firemen answered the call. Traffic congestion was so heavy for several minutes that traffic on the four-lane street was blocked. Every so often, firemen have to warn citizens to please not allow curiosity to get the better of judgement and create traffic or spectator hazards at fire scenes. The City of Memphis has an ordinance against chasing fire trucks to scenes of fires, and if the problem becomes a major one official steps would probably result in tickets being issued to unauthorized persons.

FIRST PLACE WINNERS— Miss Shellie Ann Thompson and Michael Morris were named "Master and Miss Hall County" at the B&PW Club beauty contest Saturday evening. Shellie Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ed Thompson while Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Morris.

The Memphis Cyclone, Junior Varsity and Freshman squads will be involved today and tomorrow with scrimmage sessions against the Stinnett teams. Beginning at 6 p.m. tonight, Memphis and Stinnett B teams and freshmen will be scrimmaging at Cyclone Stadium in the first warm-up sessions of the season for these athletes. Tomorrow night, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Rattler Stadium in Stinnett, the varsity squads will match their talents against each other. Memphis Coach Clyde McMurray said Wednesday, "Some of our players have injuries which are keeping them from going full speed in workouts. At this time I'm just not sure whether or not some of these players will see much action against Stinnett." "We are going to Stinnett and try to give a good accounting of ourselves," the Coach said. He then added, "We will be facing one of the best quarterbacks in Dennis Cobb, 6-1, 160, recognized as an all-state candidate at both the quarterback and defensive halfback positions." Stinnett has six offensive returnees from last season, including Glen McCormick, 6-1, 180, guard-linebacker. Coach McMurray said he understands that Stinnett Coach Jerry Elbert has selected the pro-set offensive alignment, similar to the one the Cyclone used last season. "With a passing, running quarterback like Cobb, this is going to give us a real defensive testing," Coach McMurray said. About the Cyclone, he said, we feel we have good athletes, a lot of experience returning, especially on defense. Offensively, the coach said "fans will notice a decided difference in our offensive attack at this point in our season. It differs from the last two years in that we will primarily be running power-type football, concentrating inside the off-tackle holes." The last two seasons, our running attack centered around two ball carriers while this year ball carrying duties will be about equally divided between all four of our backs," he said. The coach said that even though the local team will be in the T formation, or Winged-T formation, this doesn't mean that the offense won't come out in the Pro-set on occasions. ### Bread for Wines

Sen. Percy of Illinois reports that when he flew over his home state the other day on a visit he looked down and saw they were growing corn in the cemeteries. He was kidding, but with farmers looking at $5 wheat, $3.50 corn, and $10 soybeans they certainly should be planting up to the doorways.

Farmers couldn't be happier, though some of the warier of them may be starting to wonder if the current prices reflect not only a surge in demand but a surge in speculation. Risk money has been flowing from stocks to commodity futures; governments have been stockpiling food, perhaps in some cases beyond actual needs; and various types of investors have been fleeing paper currencies into commodities. The break in the gold price, which dipped to $95.50 yesterday after being as high as $127 in recent months, may be the first sign of an unraveling that may yet also touch food prices to some extent.

Still, there have been increases in world demand for food that are likely to persist regardless of speculative passions, and consequently prices are not likely to tumble enough to pacify the U. S. consumer. Yet whether they realize it or not, consumers benefit from those high prices in ways that are not obvious to them, even if they do recognize that $5 wheat is a compelling incentive to plant up to the doorways and maximize prospects that supply will rise to meet demand.

What also needs to be recognized is that we can now buy a barrel of foreign crude oil with less than a bushel of wheat, and a year ago it took almost 2 1/2 bushels to get that barrel. While the U. S. dollar buys 20 per cent less abroad than it did 18 months ago, the value of our chief exports has risen by 200 per cent to 300 per cent.

The export of U. S. food and feed grains should be seen from this perspective. The United States is not simply selling farm produce abroad. The nation is engaged in trade, in swapping some of what we have that others need or want for quantities of what the have that we need or want. Should the government now decide to restrict the export of wheat, as so many voices are demanding, the working of the international marketplace would inevitably deny U. S. consumers that which they would have received in exchange for the wheat we wouldn't sell.

Advocates of export restriction will argue that we shouldn't export more than we need for our own purposes. But while this sounds like a reasonable proposition, it simply asks that the government substitute its judgment for the judgement of the marketplace and choose to hold on to a bushel of wheat and do without a barrel of oil, or a bottle of Scotch, or wheat-never foreigners have that they are willing to trade for a bushel of wheat.

Left to itself, the marketplace would certainly not take all of our grain, or even more than we willingly choose to trade. At some point the prices would go so high that the foreigners would not be willing to trade what would be necessary to get a bushel of wheat. At what point would an Italian stop bidding for American wheat for his loaf of bread? A bottle of Chianti? A pair of shoes? A new Ferrari? Why should the U. S. government decide that one of its citizens should have a loaf of bread instead of the wine, the shoes, or the sports car?

Of course, the housewife and consumer doesn't understand that this is what trade is all about. In fact, we hear from economists every day who don't understand it. They make no connection when the government restricts the export of soybeans and the dollar plunges on the foreign-exchange markets. And they make no connection now, when the United States is the only nation exporting grain and the dollar is sharply rising again other currencies.

Unhappily, Washington swarms with people these days who know what Americans want better than the individual Americans themselves know. They're the people who have given us the beef shortage, the gas shortage, the fuel-oil shortage, & all the other shortages. They're now thinking of restricting the export of wheat, which will not only have farmers pulling back from their doorways, but also mean shortages of everything we now buy abroad.

ACROSS THE DESK

What Other Editors Say

New police priorities
From a political point of view, it's easy to understand why the Nixon administration is remaining discreetly detached from the latest federal report on what to do about crime.

The report proposes that all civilian handguns be outlawed by 1983; that penalties be reduced for "victimless" crimes like gambling, prostitution, pornography and marijuana use, and that drunks and vagrants no longer be prosecuted as lawbreakers.

In some quarters, this might be considered a radical document except that it was compiled by a distinctly unradical commissioner of police and penal experts headed by Russell W. Peterson, former governor of Delaware.

The commission said, in effect that law officers should spend less time in trivia and more time on the crimes that people worry about most—murder, rape, assault, robbery and burglary.

Any crime report that appear to be "soft" on pornography and marijuana can expect plenty of opposition. President Nixon, for one, has taken a hard line on both subjects.

Nor is it politically popular to advocate tough gun controls in a nation of 30 million handgun owners.

But the report is right on target in at least two respects: It recognizes that Americans are far more concerned about crimes of violence than about crimes of public nuisance and moral turpitude.

And it regrets the time wasted by policemen and judges in dealing with the village drunk, the neighborhood hooker and the Friday night crap game in Eddie's garage.

The new crime report doesn't have all the answers, but it raises questions about police priorities that deserve more than a passing glance.

Wildlife poaching detrimental
The high cost of eating is making itself felt in more places than the local market. Law enforcement personnel of the Oklahoma Department of Wildlife Conservation report deer poaching and other game violations in the wake of the beef shortage have increased more than 200 per cent. The result has been increased vigilance, with many game rangers now working as many as 18 hours a day in efforts to halt poaching activity.

Enforcement Chief Clem Pattillo reports violations involve the sale of fish without a commercial license, illegal possession of game birds (dove) out of season.

Federal Highway Funds Are Made Available Today

AUSTIN — Federal Highway funds became available today following a two-year logjam as President Nixon signed the three-year $20 billion act.

State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry said the compromise bill was the result of hours of hard work led by Texas' own Senator Lloyd Bentsen and Representative Jim Wright in the 101-week Senate-House conference committee sessions.

"Passage of the act means we can go forward with dozens of highway projects throughout the state which have been pigeonholed," DeBerry said. He pointed out there will remain a backlog of vitally needed projects.

DeBerry said, "One provision, sponsored by Senators Tower and Bentsen, freed the state to complete the San Antonio North Expressway with state funds. Twice the project has been caught by changes in Federal law and procedures as a Federal-aid project and for some years the resulting impasse has denied the needed roadway to the people of San Antonio. This legislation should greatly shorten the time required to complete the project."

The new highway act, which for the first time contains funds for mass transit, also contains more than $2 billion for safety during the three years, DeBerry said. High on the list of such projects in Texas are replacement of narrow bridges and elimination of hazardous intersections and rail crossings. This is in addition to the increased safety benefits accruing from construction of modern highway facilities with more built-in safety features. "This act does not solve all our money problems," the state highway engineer said, "But, even though it is not everything we need here in Texas, it a good act."

For FY 1974 the Highway Trust Fund revenues stay the same as in the past; beginning on FY 1975 urban funds can be used either for roads or purchase of buses, up to $200 million. In FY 1976 all or a part of urban funds may be used for highway buses or fixed rail transit with State Highway Department concurrence.

DeBerry said the act will now allow Texas to proceed with vital highway projects. The State Highway Department cancelled the July highway lettings due to the lack of federal funds.

State highway agencies across the nation have been without new authorizations of funds for months. Texas has been financing some badly needed projects using leftover funds authorized in previous highway acts and 100 per cent state monies.

The Highway Trust Fund revenues are derived from federal taxes on gasoline and specified vehicle accessories. Texas is one of the "donor" states, sending more to the federal government than is returned in funding.

Interstate highway construction continues to be funded with 90 per cent trust fund money and other highway construction receives 70 per cent Federal trust fund money under the new act. The new highway act also

Vic Rosen, Grandson of Lakeview Couple, has Room of Museum Items

Vic Rosen, son of Mrs. Pat Rosen of Amarillo and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Davenport of Lakeview, has added another unique piece of furniture to his bedroom . . . a sarcophagus!

Vic got the idea for the mummy-type case from the Munsters television show. He first sketched the case and then constructed it of scrap lumber. The project required two or three weeks.

When the case is open you find a tier of shelves which hold his record player, records and other paraphernalia indispensable to a 16-year-old boy.

An old barber chair standing in a corner of his room took about a month to restore. He found the chair in the garage of an old house bought by his family two years ago in Hugoton, Kans. He sanded and stained the wood on the chair arms, oiled the gears so the chair would ride smoothly up and down as it had in better days and painted it red and white. He estimated the chair to be more than 80 years old.

A cash register used 40 years ago at the Argus Hotel in Hugoton now holds vic's small change. He must ring up the register cash any time he wants to get any money out. And he can lock it when he leaves.

Vic says he picked up his knack for making and fixing things from his grandfather, B. E. Davenport of Lakeview. He has visited with his grandparents during the summer months in Lakeview for years.

Vic is handy with a paintbrush too. He started about three years ago doing pencil sketches around Lakeview. He painted his first oil in 1970, a landscape which now hangs in the Rosen living room.

He has done paintings of ships at sunset, silhouetted palm trees and a Kansas sandstorm, which he sprinkled with salt to give it a more realistic effect.

Vic has three ribbons won last year at the Stevens Country Fair in Hugoton for his artistic efforts.

He has a first-place ribbon for a painting of the Dallas Cowboys, second place for a pirate paperweight and third place for an eagle plaque.

Vic, a native of Amarillo, will be a junior at Amarillo High School this fall.

Veterans Are Eligible For Two New Benefits

Two new veterans benefits part of the National Cemetery Act approved by the President June 18, will become effective in August and September, according to Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director.

For veterans who die on or after August 1, 1973, the Veterans Administration can pay a plot or interment allowance of $150 in addition to the $250 maximum already authorized.

Starting September 1, payment of funeral expenses up to $800 is authorized for veterans who die of service-connected causes.

Coker pointed out that VA has for some time paid allowances to funeral directors or other persons who bore veterans' burial expenses, provided claims were filed within two years of permanent burial or cremation.

The agency also pays transportation costs of veterans whose deaths occur in its hospitals or domiciliaries, or who die while hospitalized or being treated at the agency's expense.

Coker said the current maximum $250 burial allowance has been in effect since 1958, and traced this history of burial allowances;

War Risk Insurance Act of 1917 provided up to $100 toward burial expenses of certain persons whose deaths occurred before discharge from military service.

In 1923, allowance extended to veterans with insufficient funds to cover burial expenses.

Economy Acts of 1933 reduced $100 allowance to $75.

Allowance restored to $100 by executive order in 1934.

Assets limitation on allowances removed in 1936.

Maximum allowance increased from $100 to $150 under Public Law 79-529 in 1946.

Public Law 85-674 increased allowance to current $250 maximum in 1958.

Excessive on-the-job noise levels can not only be hazardous to workers' hearing abilities, but can also lead to reduced employee efficiency and can be a contributing factor to industrial accidents, warn officials of the Belton Crusade for Hearing Conservation.

B. B. Shots

By BYRON BALDWIN

While watching the school-age kids doing their shopping and getting ready to start to school, it brought memories back to me when I started to school the first year in Logansport, La., which was about 70 years ago. As well as I remember, the only school supplies I had to buy to start on were a slate, tablet and cedar pencil. The superintendent of schools in this town was Professor Leak, who later became a minister and was pastor for a short time in Memphis at the First Christian Church. I remember one of the songs they sang that first day of school for me was "Trust and Obey". The supt. had already given us a talk on obedience and if the pupils did not obey the teacher, she would use "Hickory Oil". I had already learned the definition of this medicine at home and knew it meant a long, slender hickory switch that would sting! The only song I remember them singing that first day was "Yield Not To Temptation". The only temptation that I had that first day of school was to get my cap and pull out home from that smell of chalk and hickory oil.

Mrs. Ted Young of Childress had as her guests in Heritage Hall the past week, Mrs. Chas. Jones and Mrs. Bob Steed of Childress. Mrs. Ted Young lived in Hall County about 50 years before moving to Clare and then to Childress. Ted passed away in 1950. She has three sons and three daughters living. Mrs. Young has been a regular contributor and supporter of Heritage Hall since its beginning.

Mrs. Chas. Cowart had as her guests in Heritage Hall, her brother, Bill Gresham, and children, Cinda, Lawrence and Larry of Hobart, Okla. Mrs. Cowart and Bill's parents were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gresham who moved from Erath County to Flomot in the early days, where they were reared. Mr. and Mrs. Cowart moved from Turkey to Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Brookshire of Commerce were guests of Mrs. Bill Wood who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brookshire. I tried to get a good true story to tell on their daughter, but neither would talk about that.

Jim Fitzgerald of Amarillo was a visitor in Heritage Hall. He was very complimentary of the collection we had in so short a time.

We had a spry young lady from Amarillo visiting in Heritage Hall the past week. She was born in Hall County 81 years ago when her family was visiting the father of the late Geo. Dickson in the Brice area. She will be remembered by many of you as Ruby Sanford, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Sanford who lived on the Bitter Lake Section for a number of years. Ruby attended school at Lakeview and Memphis. She married Roy Blanks who passed away in 1967. They had five sons and two daughters, all now living except one. She has 18 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Ruby is the mother of Jack Blanks of Memphis and Jack's wife had to keep on the move to keep up with this young 81-year-old lady.

The B&PW Club sponsored a pre-school style show last Saturday night to feature "The Little Master and Miss Hall County" and it was carried on over until Sunday morning as I noticed that these little models were all primed up for Sunday School. I wish we had a better world to pass on to these three and four year olds who will soon face the battles of life.

Olin Cowan of Littlefield was a visitor in Heritage Hall the past week. He was reared in the Parnell Community where he attended school. He married Dennie Neely in 1936. He and his wife lived on the Shorty Hughes Ranch east of Memphis in 1937. They have been living in Littlefield since 1948. They have two sons and eight grandchildren. Mrs. Cowan's sister, Opal Neely, is also now making her home in Littlefield.

I happened to meet Mrs. Malcolm Glass a few days ago while they were here on a visit. They moved down state a few months ago. She reported that she and Calcolm had been busy catching and putting the cat fish in their deep freeze.

It looks like we are going to cover ourselves up with our own garbage, as it was quoted on television a few days ago that people in the United States have about 10 pounds per person of garbage a day. I think New York is going to make a mountain out of this garbage and have a ski resort.

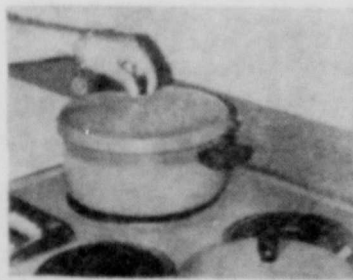

Lee Vardy, president of the Hall County Picnic Committee, is really on the ball. He does not ask a person if they want to do a certain thing. He just says you can do it, and he is getting splendid co-operation and that is what it takes to put anything over for profit or non-profit.

Several have called about the date of the Hall County Picnic

Wilma Leslie last Sunday stating that they got out of Las Vegas O. K. only losing $14 and had decided to go on the rest of the trip. They reported on some of the shows in Las Vegas. The ones they saw and heard were Elvis, Phil Harris, Harry James and Frank Sinatra. They left Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday, Aug. 16, on a flying bird with 359 other people, mostly Japanese. There were 71 in the florist group. Five hours flying time to Honolulu and on to Tokyo where they will find the $14 a pound steaks. They sent their best regards to their friends and coffee drinkers here.

Several have called about the date of the Hall County Picnic which is for all and not old settlers as I hear some say. The date is Sept. 15-16; barbecue on Sunday.

I had a short visit with Joe Miles Kinard and his wife who will be remembered as Virginia Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith. She and Joe Miles married in 1951. They have three sons, ages 17, 19 and 20. Mr. and Mrs. Kinard and the boys all live in Ordway, Colo. Joe taught school for 20 years. He will be remembered as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Almond Kinard, Almond now deceased and his mother, Mrs. Emma (Grundy) Kinard, living in Memphis. The other members of this family, now living, are Jack of San Antonio, Paul of Clovis, N. M., Glenn (Frances) Bruce of Memphis. Joe Miles reported that the good "Rocky Ford" cantaloupes had just come on the market a few days ago.

A remembered quote: "Middle age is that time of life when a man can't decide which he has more of-age or middle."

In conversation a few days ago with Judge Ruby Roden, I was informed that she had married four couples since being sworn in as Justice of the Peace. I asked her if she kissed the groom each time. She said she did not; she left that to the couples. With all of these whiskers, I think she should even propose this with Grover.

Headlines in one of the daily papers last week, "India's 26th Birthday Not A Time To Rejoice". The prime minister of India, Indira Gandhi, is the target of mounting criticism, but has cautioned that the country's multiple crises are only a "Passing Phase" and are part of a "World-wide phenomenon". But such exhortations have done little to quiet discontent growing out of India's "10 Plagues"-food shortage, violence, unemployment, labor strife, corruption, drought, floods, price rises, dwindling industrial production and political instability. Economic problems are not India where the per capita annual income is about $50 compared with about $1,000 in the U. S. Persons close to Gandhi say she is battling good summer monsoon illness. We have a great plague in the United States to purchase food if we can't find it. Sometime we wonder when (Continued on Page 7)

I drove down on the square to check on the "Moonlight Sale" that local merchants sponsored.
 This was about 7:30 p. m. and as a rule, by that time of day, there are only four or five cars on the street. To my surprise there were about 200 cars parked over town, so the sale must have been a success to draw that many people.

I guess we will hear some good fish stories from Mr. and Mrs.
 Elmont Branigan and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ferrel, as they left week.

Hall Countians Are Spending More On Food

NEW YORK, July 14—With Hall County residents earning more and spending more, the local economy has been moving into higher gear.

Figures just released show that per family spending for goods and services were at a relatively high level in the past year.

The details are contained in the annual market study made by the Standard Rate and Data Service.
 It indicates just how much was spent locally by the average family for food, cars, furniture, clothing, drugs and other items.
 Comparable data is given for families in other parts of the country.

In Hall County, it is shown, the largest part of the consumer dollar went for food.

Expenditures in local grocery stores, supermarkets, delicatessens, bakeries, butcher shops and other stores selling food for home consumption added up to $3,634,- 000, and increase over the previous year's $3,462,000.

In addition to this outlay, a sizeable amount was spent in restaurants, lunch rooms and other places where food and drink are consumed on the premises.

In effect, about 22 cent out of every dollar spent in local retail stores went for take-home food.
 It was more than in many localities.

If the total bill for food bought for home consumption were divided equally among the local population, it would average out to $1,722 per family.

This compares with $1,242 per family elsewhere in the West South Central States and with $1,335 in the State of Texas.

The SRDS report also shows how much was spent in the year by local consumers for various other kinds of articles.

Their expenditures for automotive equipment, including cars, motorcycles, boats and the like, amounted to $2,787,000, as against the prior year's $2,465,- 000.

In stores selling general merchandise, their outlays reached $55,000. The former total was $494,000.

Purchases of wearing apparel, including all kinds of clothings, shoes and hats, came to $709,- 000, compared with the 1971 figure of $675,000.

In stores selling furniture and other home furnishings, they spent $494,000. The previous total was $434,000.

Most retail lines ended the year on the upswing but a considerable part of the increase in their gross was due to inflation.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fowler on Sunday were her sisters, Mrs. C. N. Penix and Mr. Penix and Janice of Greenville and Mrs. L. F. Bennett of Amarillo; and her mother, Mrs.
 Zack Salmon of Memphis. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Randall and Zee Ann of Dallas;
 Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Tipton, Pam and Kelli and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Strygley and Jeff, all of Amarillo.

After English colonists from Virginia captured Nova Scotia from the French, King James I gave the territory to a Scotsman, Sir William Alexander.
