A Borden County High School senior has been named as a semifinalist in the Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation competition. The nation's largest business-supported scholarship program selected 1,700 semifinalists nationwide, from a group of more than 53,000 applicants. Semifinalists in the $1.5 million program will compete for 150 college scholarships.

Eighteen-year-old Cody Stone, son of Mr. & Mrs. Jerry Stone of Gail, will now submit an original essay, recommendations, and an official school transcript. If selected as one of the 150 finalists, he will advance to the National Competition in Atlanta, Georgia, April 19-21, 1990, with all expenses paid by the Foundation.

At the National Competition, each of the finalists will compete for designation as a National Scholar or a Regional Scholar. The 50 National Scholars will receive renewable awards of $5,000 per year, totaling $20,000 over the course of a four-year undergraduate program. The remaining 100 finalists will be designated Regional Scholars, receiving four-year, renewable awards of $1,000. Students may use their award to attend any accredited, U.S. college or university.

"Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Inc. is very pleased to support this program and the educational aspirations of our young people. We see it as an investment in the future of our area and our country," said Charles F. Stephens, Executive Vice President and General Manager. Odessa division manager Chris Mullen adds, "Every employee of this company will keep cheering for these outstanding students from our area--right on through the selection process."

In recognition of their achievements, the centers of Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Inc. presented each of the semifinalists with a $100 U.S. Savings Bond on Thurs. February 22. The presentation was held at the Odessa division offices.

Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Inc. was established in 1987 and services approximately 142,000 square miles in four states. The company serves communities in

The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation seeks to reward individuals on the basis of personal, as well as, scholastic merit. Consideration is given to a student's leadership potential, character, and intellectual ability. Recipients will include some students who have overcome unusual adversities, who are often not identified for merit-based scholarships, but who demonstrate potential leadership abilities.

By selecting individuals on the basis of leadership, motivation, commitment and service to others, the Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation anticipates achieving its goal of recognizing and helping develop those who will lead our country in the years ahead.

The Coca-Cola Foundation is governed by a Board of Directors composed of four Coca-Cola bottlers and

Introducing the Number One Killer of Young Americans

Improve Your Odds. Wear Your Safety Belt.

Teen Belt Use Up in '89; Spring Break Around Corner

Belt use among teenage drivers reached 54.1% in June 1989, the highest level ever recorded in Texas Transportation Institute's 18-city survey.

For the first time since TTI began conducting belt usage surveys in 1985, over half of male drivers aged 15-19 were observed wearing their belts. An even 51% buckled up in June, compared to 41.8% in a survey conducted in January of last year.

Teenage females also showed the highest usage rate ever, with 61.9% buckling up in the driver's seat. The rate for this group in January 1989 was an even 50%. The previous record high, recorded between January and June of 1986, was 51.9%.

Taken altogether, teen driver belt use showed an increase of over 10 percentage points between January and June of last year. The buckle-up rate among passengers in the same age group increased from 45% in January 1989 to 49% in June 1989.

No other age group showed an increase of that magnitude.

The bad news is, however, that teens still lag behind older Texans in belt use. The 18-city average for drivers aged 26-60 was 61.2%. Senior citizens buckled up at the rate of 65.2%.

Student councils in Texas high schools will try to convince the remaining 46% to exercise restraint in their "Safe Spring Break" programs, most of which will take place in February and March. The coalition supplied materials and information to almost

Snacking Can Be Good For You

It's so easy to grab a candy bar or munch on some potato chips when between meal hunger pangs strike, but why load your body with empty calories? There are plenty of nutritious and satisfying snacks that are easy to prepare and many others that require no preparation at all.

Next time it's snack time, just say "no" to a candy bar and "yes" to the following appetizing ideas:

- Any kind of fresh fruit
- Unbuttered popcorn
- Dried fruits such as prunes, raisins, or apricots
- Small handful of nuts
- Whole grain bread or apple wedges spread with peanut butter
- Cottage cheese on toasted bread or crackers
- Fruit-flavored yogurt

Or, try Oats and Apple Trail Bars, an easy to prepare snack that starts with a convenient Apple-Cinnamon Muffin Mix.

Oats and Apple Trail Bars

- 1 package (7 ounces) Martha White Apple-Cinnamon Muffin Mix
- 1/3 cup quick cooking oats
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons honey

Heat oven to 350°F. Combine all ingredients and stir to blend. Press mixture into an ungreased 9-inch square cake pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 5 minutes and cut into bars or squares while warm. Makes 16 2-inch squares.

Mar. 22 - Apr. 1 - 1990 Houston International Festival, "A Salute to the United Kingdom." It's the 150th anniversary of official relations between Texas and the UK. Visitors are treated to classical, folkloric and popular music, dance and theater as well as a variety of visual art exhibitions. More than 2,500 artists will perform on nine outdoor stages. City Hall Plaza will be transformed into British Isle Park, featuring pubs, international foods, and impromptu shows and skits performed by British Theater groups. The Houston Ballet will also honor the UK with productions by British playwrights. Other festival programs include writing contests for children, a film festival showcasing films from the UK, a tour and travel program, and citywide visual art exhibits.

Come To Your Census!

For every Texan not counted, the state loses $150 in Federal Funds.

In 1980, an estimated 300,000 Texans were missing. That cost Texas $45 million a year and a congressional seat. Now that you know the facts, come to your census!

Transformation of global culture just only a fax machine away

COLLEGE STATION — Fax machines are steadily transforming global culture in areas ranging from hot food to cold fusion, says a Texas A&M University historian specializing in the study of technology.

The world is at the dawn of the fax revolution as societal values and legal laws are being shifted, says Dr. Jonathan Coopersmith, a former U.S. Department of Energy consultant. A key issue for the future is who is going to control the knowledge from fax machines, he added.

"Fax machines promise to strike a blow for decentralization by allowing decisions to be made at the local level," Coopersmith said. "The negative side would be centralization with that knowledge and power in the hands of a few. The heart of democracy lies in free public debate, and faxes can contribute greatly to that."

Fax machines combine speed, reliability, sophistication and permanence that telephones and mail cannot match,

Can the Effects of Aging Be Reversed?

For women aged 45 to 64, the onset of menopause and the loss of estrogen—an important female hormone—may cause unpleasant effects. Without treatment, estrogen loss may cause changes in hair texture, skin tone, and a loss of sexual desire.

The effects of the aging process cannot be reversed, but some of the effects of menopause can be treated. Call your physician or call one of us. Get the facts about menopause and how you may avoid some of the annoying aspects of aging.

Medication Tips For Children

Studies Say Parents Often Ignore Instructions.

Taking medicines correctly has typically been a concern of older patients who often have multiple prescriptions. But according to the Department of Health and Human Services, nearly half (46%) of children who take prescribed medicine are taking it improperly.

Researchers have found that, while adolescents are most likely to take medicine incorrectly, the problem is prevalent at all ages. In fact, almost five percent of all pediatric hospital admissions were related to the misuse of medicine. Nearly half of those cases were serious or fatal.

ADVICE FOR PARENTS

Here are some ways that parents incorrectly administer medications to their children.

- Discontinuing the medication too soon. As soon as the child feels better, the parent stops giving the medication. This can be particularly serious not only because the child may become re-infected, but also because the organism that survived the first dose of antibiotics will have built up a resistance to the medication, making the next infection harder to kill.

- Taking the medication erratically. Some medicines must remain at specific levels in the blood in order to work. Therefore, these medications must be taken at regular times around the clock. Parents were found to be particularly careless about giving the medicine during the night, when a sick child may finally be getting some rest.

- Refusing to take the medication. Unpleasant taste and side effects are the most common cause for refusal.

- Taking too much or too little medication. Parents are careless about giving a little extra medicine for good measure, particularly when using over-the-counter medications.

- Not enough medication is given when liquid medicine is not sufficiently shaken and the active ingredient does not get on the spoon. Also with liquid medicine, the measurement is often inexact.

- Giving adult medication to children. Parents are casual about giving children small portions of medications that have been prepared for adults.

Children may react to certain medicines differently than adults do. Aspirin and its link to Reyes Syndrome is a good example of a medicine that is safe for adults but potentially deadly for children. Other adult medicines, particularly cough and cold formulas, are prepared with alcohol.

ASK YOUR PHARMACIST

Manufacturers of over-the-counter medicines, particularly for colds, fever, rashes, and stomach disorders, are working with FDA to clarify directions for proper usage and exact measurements.

The most accessible source of information on proper medication use is your local independent pharmacy, where two out of every three retail prescriptions are dispensed.

If you have any questions about the medication your child is taking or how to administer it, ask your independent pharmacist.

Armchair Shopping The Safe Way

By Ann McK. Robinson
Consumer Advocate
United States Postal Service

Shopping by mail is often preferred by many as an alternative to shopping in busy shopping malls and department stores. Mail order shopping can be done in the quiet and comfort of your own home at a relaxed pace. The variety of products available to you through mail order is endless. There are an infinite number of catalogs currently in circulation which literally bring products from all over the United States, and some foreign countries, right to your doorstep.

Here are a few basic guidelines to follow when getting ready to order products through the mail.

* Examine catalogs and advertisements carefully. Beware of exaggerated claims, unusually low prices, and prizes you have to pay for to claim.

* Enclose a complete description of the item you order. Include color, size, weight, item number and price. If a substitute is acceptable, specify the exact item on the order.

* During the holiday season, order holiday gifts well in advance to avoid heavy seasonal mail volume. Clearly indicate the recipient's name and address and how the gift card should be signed.

* Look for a company policy on returns. If the policy is not stated, ask for it before you buy.

* Keep copies of the order and advertisement. Make sure you have the name and address of the company, as well as the date you mailed your order. Keep your canceled check as proof the company received your order. Your check will also serve as a receipt for your payment.

If you have any doubts about the offer or the company, check BEFORE placing an order by contacting the Better Business Bureau, the Chamber of Commerce, or the Consumer Protection Office in or near your city.

And remember, an ad in a responsible newspaper or magazine does not guarantee the publisher has verified the advertiser's claims. Likewise, just because a product is offered by mail does not mean the Postal Service has verified the advertiser's claim.

The Postal Inspection Service offers Publication 300, A Consumer's Guide to Postal Crime Prevention, to assist customers with mail order problems. This publication is available at your local post office.

Additionally, there are several free publications available from various agencies that provide additional tips on shopping by mail.

Two booklets available from the Direct Marketing Association are: Make Knowledge Your Partner in Mail Order Shopping and Shopping at Home, A Consumer Information Guide. You can order these publications by writing to the Consumer Services Department, Direct Marketing Association at 11 W. 42nd Street, P.O. Box 3861, New York, NY 10163-3861.

The Federal Trade Commission offers a booklet entitled Shopping By Mail. You can order this publication by writing to Federal Trade Commission, Public Reference, Pennsylvania Avenue at 6th Street NW, Washington, DC 20580-0001.

Indians planted stringbeans along with the corn crops. Corn, wheat and cotton deplete the land of its natural nitrogen. Bean plants replace this loss naturally. Only lately have non-Indian farmers learned to do this.
