What About The City Library?

The Memphis City Council has a problem, and understandably, they want to find the solution which will best solve the problem to the satisfaction of as many citizens as possible. The City's "Carnegie" Library facilities must be renovated, rebuilt, relocated or shut down.

The present building is in a sad state structurewise. Renovation would be to remodel the structurally unsound building; rebuilding would be to tear it down and start over from scratch, relocating would be to find another home for the library, and shut down would be the permanent closing of public library facilities in Memphis.

This problem has been coming for several years, the decision to do something is presently upon the City Council's agenda for their August 6 meeting. Mayor Kenneth Dale has written letters to civic and other clubs in Memphis asking their recommendations.

The library has many friends, many are concerned with what ever the final decision will be, and underlying the entire affair is the cost factor for construction and for operation.

Students, college and high school ages, are the prime users of libraries for reference materials, while the general public normally seeks books for pleasure and entertainment. A library is considered the "cultural" center of a community.

School systems try to maintain a "small" type library for use by their faculty and students, but these are normally limited to the financial condition of the school district.

Often, area students must leave this area to seek library help in larger cities when a large amount of research work is required.

Memphis definitely has a need for better library facilities and we feel that any remodeling of the old structure would be more costly and less satisfactory in the long run than the other choices. Secondly, we abhor the idea of closing a public library facility.

Replacing with a new structure or relocating in another building, should one be satisfactory, is more suitable.

Memphians, however, should be prepared to finance this program. A new building without modernizing the materials, and system, at increased operating costs, should also be included in the planning.

Women's Clubs, civic clubs, and many citizens of Memphis support the library, and are ready to take on this project. Many hours of work and planning will have to be done, many decisions made, and now is the time to begin.

School Busing Across District Lines

The Supreme Court of the United States handed down a decision which may mean a new turn in the 20-year push to integrate public schools in America. The decision was a 5 to 4 vote, overturning a lower court order requiring the cross-district busing of an estimated 78,000 children between the Detroit city-school system and 53 suburban-school districts.

This decision by the Supreme Court may return a little sanity to a growing movement of forcing a white-black-brown balance in all classrooms.

What this could have eventually lead to is the tearing down of school district boundaries across the nation. It would have meant that youngsters would be forced to travel thousands of miles on buses just to attend equally balanced integrated schools.

The test case, Detroit, has 70 per cent black students and a total enrollment of 276,000 pupils. The decision does not rule out busing within the district to achieve "racial" balancing.

The trend of moderating school busing of children seems to be growing, but new battles are seen in the future.

Also at stake in this matter is the tradition in public education of local control over operation of schools; local autonomy has long been thought essential both to maintenance of community concern and support for public schools and to quality of the educational process. If district boundaries were torn down the whole school board structure of public education would be disrupted.

It is frightening to consider the eventual consequences if the Supreme Court had ruled the other way in this matter.

We just can't help but feel that neighborhood schooling is best, for all children. Some neighborhoods are black, some brown and some white. Others are mixed. In our part of the world, our school system is mixed. Because of this, is it very logical to combine our district with others because they are not as mixed as we? Would it help the scholastic achievement of our students to be bused mile after mile, wasting the students valuable time? Attending school and studying is difficult enough for most youngsters, but forcing them to go to strange places to go to school is almost cruel, and that, in our opinion, is the end result of busing as compared to the neighborhood schooling concept.

Oil Company Profits!

During recent weeks earnings of America's major oil companies have been reported by the media. Shocking but not surprising is the fact that without exception all soared into the stratosphere, thanks to a trumped up crisis that panicked the nation until the consumer was willing to pay ransom money for his sorely needed gasoline and oil.

Exxon Corporation, world's largest oil company, reported profits of $705 million for the first three months of this year, compared to profits of $508 million for the first quarter of 1973. This is a gain in profits, per share, from $2.27 to $3.15, or virtually forty per cent.

Texaco, third largest oil firm, reported profits of $589 million for the first quarter this year compared to $264 million for the first quarter of 1973. Texaco's profit, per share, amounts to $2.17 compared to ninety-seven cents one year ago.

Standard Oil of California reported profits of $292 million for the first quarter of 1974, compared to $152 million for 1973. The gain, on a per share basis, is from ninety cents in 1973 to $1.72, or ninety-two per cent. Shell Oil reported 1974 first quarter profits of $122 million compared to $80 million one year ago. The gain in earnings per share is from $1.19 to $1.81.

Continental Oil's earnings the first three months of this year were $109 million compared to $47 million in 1973, making a per share gain from ninety-four cents last year to $2.16. Pennzoil profits soared from $19 million in the first three months of 1973 to $41 million this year. Getty Oil profits zoomed from $27 million a year ago to $73 million for the first quarter this year; the per share gain was from $1.42 to $3.93—more than double.

All these, and others, too, are above and beyond the standards of honesty and decency. The honey shortage was a diabolic device to manipulate the price of the product, and when the price went up to the desired levels, petroleum bloomed on the market again.

This is an outrageous plot against the American citizen to rob him right and left. It cannot be permitted to stand. It is time for a determined Congress to come to the rescue of its people; it is time for Congress to take fast and decisive action against the oil barons. A swift investigation into the oil situation is demanded. Plundering companies must be punished by a government whose duty it is to prevent such villainous onslaughts against the people as this.

The companies must be stripped by tax of their excess profits and the price of petroleum products be reduced to a point that company earnings go down to decent, honest levels.

Unless this is done other segments of industry will be encouraged to plunder the consumer in the same, reprehensible fashion. Strong punitive action is needed now, or God help us all.

—The Walden (N.Y.) Citizen

Bicentennial Communities

Roy Martin, president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, has announced the formation of a Bicentennial Communities Committee. This committee, made up of Conference members, will serve to encourage and assist communities across the nation to develop Bicentennial programs which would qualify them for status as National Bicentennial Communities.

Sponsored by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission and formally endorsed by the Conference of Mayors, the Bicentennial Communities Program was announced at the conference's annual meeting last July.

At the beginning of the program, invitations and applications were sent to the Chief Executive Officer or governing body of 40,000 communities and Indian tribes throughout the nation, advising them of the Bicentennial Communities program and urging them to get involved. The program offers all qualifying communities of every geo-political structure and size an opportunity to obtain National Bicentennial recognition. Designation as a Bicentennial Community enables a community to use the national Bicentennial symbol in conjunction with the local commemoration of the 200th anniversary.

These are the four simple steps a community must take to receive Bicentennial Community status:

1. Organize a special Bicentennial planning and coordinating committee which is representative of all segments of the community.
2. Plan a Bicentennial program which will have at least one lasting reminder of the special effort the community undertook for the Bicentennial commemoration.
3. Obtain the approval of the Chief Executive Officer or governing body of the community.

4. Submit the application to the ARBC through the appropriate State Bicentennial agency.

To date, 54 Bicentennial Communities have been designated, and several hundred applications are currently being considered.

It is highly desirable, but not essential, that a commu-ity's program contain elements of all three of the Bicentennial Commission's themes: Heritage '76, which honors and reflects upon the past; Festival USA, featuring celebrations and hospitality; and Horizons '76, which makes a commitment to improving the quality of life for the future.

One Bicentennial community which developed programs in all three areas is San Marcos, Texas. Their goal under the Horizons theme is called "Beauty Along the River," and includes pedestrian and pedal trails along the west bank of the San Marcos River, dedication of new city park gardens and swimming pool and dedication of a new museum of history.

Through Festival USA, San Marcos invites the nation to an eventful Bicentennial year commencing with the Republic of Texas Chili Championship and Confederate Air Force show in October 1975. The festival will continue with sports September of 1976, with a sa- events and pageantry through lute to Mexico's severance from Spain.

Heritage '76 is highlighted by an historical pageant commemorating Henry McCulloch's 1846 camp on San Marcos River, a musical drama by Southwest Texas State University and the dedication of the landscaped site of San Marcos' first public building.

The Bicentennial Communities program seeks to enlist citizen support, and involvement in the Bicentennial through:

- Determining community priorities
- Increasing the community's rate of progress
- Encouraging cooperation in problem solving
- Broadening community participation.

In developing this broad national program the national commission is responding to President Nixon's challenge in his first Bicentennial message to Congress (October 8, 1969):

"America is 50 states. America is big cities, small cities and small towns. It is all the home and all the hopes of 200 million people.

"That is why we want this Bicentennial to be national. It must go directly to the people and derive its strength from the people. And we want people all over this land to sense the greatness of this moment, to participate in it, and help us all to discover what that national spirit is."

Bicentennial Communities is a wonderful opportunity to directly and personally involve every single citizen of the United States in commemorating the 200th anniversary of the nation's birth.

In looking at the ratio of employed and job-seeking males and females of different age groups, the finding is that women between 25 and 54 have had the sharpest growth in the labor force and that men over 55 have had the biggest decrease.

More Women In County Labor Force Than Ever

NEW YORK, July 20 — Hall County women have been entering the labor force in recent years in ever-increasing number.

The current figures indicate that some 35.2 percent of the local female population over the age of 16 are now employed outside the home or are looking for such employment.

In actual number, according to the latest official tabulation by the Department of Commerce, 850 local women, out of a total of 2,400 of working age, are in the labor force.

They are filling a wide variety of jobs—in retail stores, in offices, in factories, in the teaching and health professions and in service industries. Almost no field of endeavor is closed to them any more.

The 35.2 per cent of the local female population that is in the labor force is larger than was reported in 1960, when it was 22.9 per cent.

Of the local male population, by way of comparison, approximately 75.1 per cent of those over 16 are in the labor force.

The facts and figures are from the Department of Commerce. The Conference Board & the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Nationally, they find, women have made big strides in the last 25 years or so in the labor field. Federal restrictions on sex discrimination in employment and legislation requiring equal pay for equal work have been a boon for them.

The extent of the change is indicated by the figures. In 1974, they show, women constituted only 27 percent of the labor force. This included all persons who had jobs or were looking for them. As of last year, however, the proportion had jumped to 38 percent.

Male participation in the labor force, however, has been going down. Among those over 16, it dropped from 74 per cent to 63 per cent since 1974.

The figures for Hall County show that 36 percent of the jobs in the local area are now held

Local Parents Face Rising College Costs

Hall County's college-bound students and their parents are in a bad squeeze this year.

They are caught between a further rise in college fees, a tight money market that makes it difficult to get bank loans at normal rates and a continuation of the inflation that has raised living costs to record levels.

And, for those local families that have two youngsters going to college at the same time, the financial situation is that much more difficult.

A nationwide survey of 2,200 colleges and universities, conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board, shows that nearly all of them have increased their charges for the forthcoming year.

As a result, it has become 9.4 percent more expensive, on average, than it was last year to go to college and nearly 36 percent more so than in 1970.

The bill that Hall County families faced with this year, based upon the number of local students involved, is estimated at $547,000. This includes tuition, fees, transportation, room and board and miscellaneous expenses.

It takes into account the current cost increases, which are in the neighborhood of $346 for students living on campus at private four-year colleges, according to the findings, and a somewhat smaller boost, $158, for those going to public institutions.

Because of current conditions, colleges that had more applicants than they could handle in former years are now confronted with sagging enrollment. Many of them are in the position of having to actively recruit students and are easing their standards in the process.

Based upon the latest figures, it is estimated that there will be about 170 young men and women in the Hall County contingent this year.

For those who will be residents at private four-year colleges, the average cost will be $4,039, according to the report. At public-supported institutions, it will run about $2,400.

The total cost of $547,000, concoly Cure, Todd Barley, Delores Price, Jara Smith, Lisa Smith, Charlotte Halford, Emma Kinard, Theoma Foster, Nova Little, Jo Ann Brown and baby, Kristi Huddleston.

Major and Mrs. Tex Richards, Renee, Clay, and Mrs. Greg McMurry of Austin visited Wednesday through Sunday with Katie and Don McMurry of Lakeview.

B. B. Shots

BYRON BALDWIN

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gilliam of Jackson, Tenn., were visitors in Heritage Hall the past week while visiting their friends and relatives here. Traveling from Jackson to Memphis in one day, they kept their speed down as they made the 809 miles in 16 hours and 15 minutes. Ed graduated from MHS in 1929 and Florence in 1942. They moved from Memphis in Sept. 1963 to Jackson, Tenn., where Edwin has been in the musical business and Florence working in the 2nd National Bank of that city. On August 10, Florence will celebrate her 30th anniversary of working in the banking business, as she worked in the 1st National Bank here for 19 years before moving to Tennessee. Florence celebrated her 39th birthday July 23rd in Memphis. She must have started banking at a very early age. She was craving watermelons and peaches on her birthday. Florence's sister, Mrs. Louis Kilgore, was here from Los Alamos visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gardnhire. Mrs. Kilgore will be remembered as Elma Fay Gardnhire. She graduated from MHS in 1944. She and Louis moved to Los Alamos about 1948, where she has worked the past 25 years. Louis passed away in 1966. They have a son, Mike, who is finishing his Master's Degree and will be teaching at Fredonia, Kansas. My observation of Ed and Florence on this trip back to Memphis was, "That anytime is a good time for a coffee break."

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Benson of Clarendon were visitors in Heritage Hall the past week. I think George and Sallie met about the same time that Hall and Briscoe Counties met their boundary lines. George was in Hall and Sallie was in Briscoe. George and Sallie, like Hall and Briscoe, have made a good union over the many years together.

I made an error last week in regard to Ruth (Beans) Burk's family, and will correct it with the help of her sister, Bernice. Ruth has one daughter, one son-in-law, one grandson, and one granddaughter. Ruth's daughter, Merline, spent seven weeks in the Holy Land. She and her husband have one daughter and one son. A quote—"One of the handiest tools a male gardener can own is a wife who likes to pull up weeds."

On the headlines of our newspapers and magazines we read of the bad side of a few of our teenagers. I appreciated very much Vickie Harwell, the granddaughter of Mrs. Sam Jackson, letting me read this three week diary that began on June 4th. After reading this account of the many services and witnessing in different places in England and Holland, I am sure that they left a different picture with these people as to what the majority of our teenagers are like, and do not judge them by the daily headlines in the newspapers. They had a lot of personal work going on also, such as taking pictures, getting new addresses, mailing cards, writing letters, doing their laundry at night, and keeping up with their sweaters, shoes, and luggage. Also, they had to cope with the foggy weather. One of the girls in the group had a brother killed in a car wreck while in England. She kept on giving testimony that was convincing to her companions and others. This diary was kept by a teenager on the trip made by the First Baptist Church of Amarillo. The trip was made by 85 members of the Young People's Choir with eight sponsors. This trip was from Dallas to Bangor, Maine in three hours. After refueling and tilling themselves with sandwiches and cold drinks, they took the second lap of their trip from Maine to Amsterdam, Holland, in six hours. Their program started with Bible studies in the morning, with sing-songs in the afternoons and nights in churches, on streets, hotels, and other places. They carried their own organ and drums. In reading the diary, I think they put in one and one-half days in one day. A very interesting place where they had one of their religious programs was in the Pilgrim Church. This is where the Pilgrims who came to America attended their farewell church service in England.

I have a tape recording of a diary written by a Hall County lady about eighty-six years ago when she was a teenager. After studying the two dairies written eighty-six years apart, I find that the outstanding message in both of them was the word "Love" for God and your fellow man as found in the 14th chapter of Corinthians . . . "Faith, Hope and Love, and the greatest of these is Love." Youth today are searching for the meaning and purpose in life.

A quote from "Heartbeats" by Dan Valentine, "Why is it that most people who have all the answers to the teenage problem do not have any children?" Another quote: "If all teenagers were adults and all the adults were teenagers, we would still have a delinquency problem."

Mrs. John Deaver had as her guests in Heritage Hall Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foxhall, Vickie Piland Kim and Carol Ann Foxhall of Lubbock. They have recently moved from Hamstead Air Force Base in Florida. Harold has been with the Air Force for the past twenty-one years. Carol is now with the Engineer of F. F. A. They will be remembered as the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim Foxhall. They graduated from MHS in 1951. Harold left Memphis in '53. In 1957 he married Mary Jane Jones, daughter of Rachael (Piland) Jones. They have two daughters, Kim Kay and Carol Ann. This family has lived in a number of places in the past 21 years. These include Hawaii, the Philippines, Viet Nam, Thailand and Taiwan. Harold is now being transferred to Iran for a year as an instructor. Harold's wife, Mary Jane, graduated from MHS in 1957. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Piland who were early day residents of Memphis. The other child in the Piland family is Leon, who has been living in Lubbock a number of years. His wife is Thelma Edkins, who was reared in the Esteline area. Harold's family will remain in Lubbock while he is serving in Iran. This family enjoyed seeing the school pictures. Rachael (Piland) Jones is now living in Lubbock. Mary Jane had a lot more to tell me, but they were rushed for time.

Another former Hall County boy, James Arthur Anthony of Albuquerque, N. M., was a visitor in Heritage Hall. James Arthur graduated from MHS in 1928. He married Annie Rene Montgomery daughter of the late J. P. and Mrs. Montgomery of Memphis. They have two daughters, Janie of Pensacola, Fla., and Janie Fay of Santa Fe, N.M. They have five grandchildren aged from three to seventeen years old. In checking up on the other members of the family, he gave me the information that his brother, Jack, is in Los Angeles, Calif., T. C., his older brother who is a C.P.A., is still active in his work in Wichita Falls. His sister, Jane, is living in Amarillo. Mae and Mable Anthony are living at Bowie. Lon Edmondson is now living in Chandler, Ariz., with his daughter June Foster. James Arthur has been with the University of N. M. for the past eleven years. He says that it is pretty slow driving from Albuquerque to Memphis at 55 miles per hour.

A quote from Heart beats: "I know a woman who wears such a tight girdle that every time she puts it on, she gets three inches taller."

Mrs. Ottis Cobb had as her guests in Heritage Hall her grandchildren, Debbie and Tim Cobb of Alice. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cobb. They have four children, all from different towns, one in New Orleans, one in Houston, La., one in Houston and one in Portland. I was sorry that Lewis did not make Heritage Hall, but I think he was busy trying to teach his dad, Otis, how to play golf.

A quote: "It takes more equipment these days for a man to keep his lawn in shape than his grandfather used to work a 200 acre farm."

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Otero of Tucson were visitors in Heritage Hall the past week. Mrs. Otero is the former Debbie Nylo, granddaughter of Mrs. Nettie Adams. Don has been in the Air Force the past three years and is now stationed at Davis Monthan Air Base. Debbie received her college education at Arizona State. She is teaching this year in the Public Schools of Tucson.

It seems that some of the towns are good at promoting unusual contests for their celebrations. They were the originators of the cow-chip throwing contest and now two of their teams are having a watermelon seed spitting contest. According to last Sunday's news, one of the contestants made 57 ft. 8 1/2 in. The wind must have been with him.

Lottie Kinard and Lucille Wright returned home last week after making a flying trip to Denver, Colo., where they visited for several days with Don Wright, Jr. Flying on to Los Angeles, they visited a week with their sister, Mrs. Jet R. Fore. Jet has been quite ill but is improving. He sent greetings to all of his old friends here and thanks them for their cards and letters. Lottie and Lucille also visited with Frank and Billie Fore, Maxine Temple Bradford, and Mrs. R. E. Martin and son, Reuben, all former residents of Memphis. All asked to be remembered to their old friends. Kate McMurry and Mrs. Charles Robertson had as guests Mrs. Tex Richards of Austin and Mrs. Ray McMurry, also of Austin. Kate is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim R. McMurry who moved to Donley County in 1903 and on to Hall County in 1905 to the Pope ranch. There were five sons and one daughter, Kate, in this family. She is the only survivor of this family and has lived on the same place since 1905. Jim had three brothers who moved to Hall County; Tom in 1907, Ward, in 1912 and Will in 1913.

A quote from Dwight D. Eisenhower: "There is nothing wrong with America that faith, love of freedom, intelligence, and energy of her citizens cannot cure."

R. E. Clark Chairman of Campaign

Clark has been named chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's asthma, according to Mrs. Howard, president of the Chapter, National Asthma Research Foundation.

Clark will lead local volunteer fund-raising programs for care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, chronic bronchitis, emphysema, and a condition called "asthma".

Clark said that the disease is inherited when parents carry the recessive gene. It is believed that 20 percent of persons or 10 million people carry the gene, usually without knowing it.

Current research funded by the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a test to identify these carriers.

Clark said that improved therapy and research, many C/F children are living beyond infancy, their teens and into adulthood. That same kind of research is relieving and often curing children suffering from respiratory afflictions whose symptoms resemble those of asthma.

Clark said that people don't realize that six million children in the U.S. are affected by pulmonary disease. "For these children, breathing is the natural function we take for granted," he said.

Clark said that the Breath of Life Campaign is not only research but also C/F Centers for diagnosis and treatment across the country, six of which are located in Texas.

Clark said that the campaign is a Baptist Church project and will continue to be a major project of the church.

Practice Bombing Missions To Fly Over Local Area

Beginning Monday, July 22, Strategic Air Command (SAC) B-52 and FB-111 bombers began flying low-level practice bombing missions against simulated targets near Dumas and Ransom, Kan.

The route begins approximately eight miles west of Memphis where the aircraft begin their descent from high altitude and fly west towards Tulla. Passing just north of Tulla, the aircraft will make a slight turn to the north. Approximately 10 miles from the New Mexico-Texas border, the route turns to the northwest.

The aircraft begin their first simulated bomb drop as they pass approximately five miles south of Dumas. Ten miles beyond Dumas the route turns to the north, passes through the Oklahoma Panhandle and turns to the east just south of Elkhart, Kan.

Radar bomb scoring (RBS) equipment at Air Force facilities near these cities will use radio and radar signals to measure the accuracy of the simulated bomb drops.

For the next year SAC B-52 Stratofortresses and FB-111s will fly training missions at subsonic speeds along the centerline of an eight to ten-mile wide corridor at 600 to 5,500 feet above ground. The aircraft will not carry bombs on these training flights.

Terraces Can Do Their Job If Farmed Right

Building terraces can help control erosion, at least for a while. But how terraces do their job depends on how they are farmed. So says Henry Gregory, district conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service at Memphis.

"Unfortunately, too many farmers plow across their terraces or fail to maintain them properly," Gregory said. "Gradually, the terraces lose their capacity to intercept runoff water. Then when heavy rain strikes, many terraces are broken."

Gregory said SCS has published a new booklet "Farming Terraced Land" which describes ways to farm terraces so that their original capacity is maintained. The illustrated publication gives step-by-step methods for plowing terraced land with a minimum number of trips.

Free copies of "Farming Terraced Land" can be obtained from the local SCS office at Memphis, Texas.

WANTED—All men for the beard growing contest in conjunction with the Hall County Picnic, Sept. 14-15.

We want to encourage all the men to start today for competition in the contest as we will have awards in six different divisions: Best Over-all Beard, Full Beard, Partial Beard, Chin Whiskers, Mustache, and the Guy Who Tried Hardest. Judging will take place the weekend of the Hall County Picnic, and Shaving Permits for those who shave will be available the second week of August.

Shaving permits will be green metal buttons advertising the Picnic and will be on sale to the public by the Memphis Chamber in the near future.

Wanted posters have been posted with the picture of last year's winners who were: Hubert Dennis, G. D. Hall, Charles Waller, Lester Campbell, Hector Olivias, Orville Goodpasture, Eddie Gable, James Floyd, Sandy Smith, and Jimmy Don Molloy.

We haven't received our shipment of the miniature cotton bales as of today however, we are expecting them to arrive this Tuesday. New cotton bale tags have arrived and are in the same design as the highway sign. The following information is printed on the back side of the miniature tag: Memphis, Texas, Seat of Hall County, the largest cotton producing county in the Texas Panhandle with almost 100,000 bales this season. This miniature bale of cotton weighing 4375 lbs. will produce one dozen men's large handkerchiefs, or one lady's knee length skirt. This season the Memphis Cotton Classing Office (USDA) processed samples of over 261,000 bales while the Memphis Compress processed and shipped around the world over 171,000 bales.

The Memphis cotton bales are still on sale at Branigan's Jewelry, Lockhart Pharmacy and Fowler's Drug.

While we are waiting approval of our application for funds from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. which will go to the improvement of our City Park; intensive abuse and vandalism is taking place in the park area. Wooden picnic tables have been damaged by autos driving on and across the picnic grounds. Several newly installed mercury vapor park lights have been shot out, and are damaged beyond repair. Not only the lights, but the fixtures have been damaged in several cases. Motorcycles have cut unsightly trails around the area, and done the same if not more damage than the cars.

Loran Denton, General Chairman of the Hall County Bicentennial Committee, has completed our application and it is in the process of being accepted by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission in Washington. The application for Hall County's Bicentennial activities has been endorsed by the Texas Bicentennial Commission. We are planning to have a ceremony of presentation of the certificate and

Postmaster General Has Approved New Rules

A liberalization of rules that will bring mail delivery service for the first time to more than 100,000 rural families has been approved by Postmaster General E. T. Klassen, postmaster Pauline Thompson of Lakeview, said today. The new rule will benefit an estimated ten families served by the rural route out of Lakeview, postmaster Thompson said. Under previous criteria, rural delivery extensions could be made only if at least one family was benefited for every seven-tenths of a mile that a rural carrier deviated from his normal line of travel. The Postmaster General has increased the acceptable route variance to a mile, thus enabling them to provide home delivery service to many additional families. Postmaster Thompson said that the rule change was a further indication of the Postmaster General's "deep concern that we provide good mail service to all our customers."

The group then moved on to Abilene where they studied farm and ranch plantings. Watershed sites, Resource Conservation, and Development Measures were studied by the group in Stephenville. The trip also included a tour of the Blacklands at Waxahachie and the Forest regions of Nacogdoches. The trainees returned to Temple Thursday night, July 25. McKay stated that he enjoyed the tour, and that the training he received will be very beneficial to his future career with the Soil Conservation Service.
