EDITORIAL

Individual Responsibility—Service To Our Community!

Editor's Note: The following is the major portion of a program speech delivered by this editor before the Memphis Rotary Club. The editor was asked to use it as an editorial, and is doing so with certain alterations, and broadening of the scope.

Written on the marquee of a church was the name of the church and the word church had two missing letters. Spelled were "CH—CH". Underneath these two words was the question, "What's missing?" Beneath was the answer, "UR"! This question and answer would be appropriately placed in front of every citizen in every phase of his life, in our world today.

It seems that with our business, big government, big industry, big labor unions, big churches, and big institutions, we have lost touch with the individuals in today's world. It seems that many could care less about the "little" guy anymore.

The motto of the Rotary Club is "service above self" and I have been somewhat concerned, not so much as our own club is concerned with meeting service responsibilities, as I have in the general trend in our community about serving.

I hear our older citizens say, "these younger men just want carry the ball when given responsibilities." And, to a great extent, this is true, especially in community activities. Our community is recognized throughout the area for being a community which works together, cooperating, getting things done and in general avoiding the in-fighting which plagues many communities our size. This is a reputation for which we can be proud, but it doesn't mean it will always remain this way.

Consider these facts. Each year, the Boy and Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Little League, and many other groups and organizations, have a great deal of difficulty in getting adults to serve. Civic clubs, chamber groups, picnic association, booster organizations, not to mention the various churches, also find difficulty finding enthusiastic support.

Our community has so many civic activities taking place each year that it is almost impossible for just a few interested citizens to get it all done. It takes a whole bunch of people, men and women, working together to keep up with church activities, youth activities, sports activities, and fund raising projects of every type.

What's happening is obvious to all of us. The pressure of financing a family today during these inflationary times has forced men and women both into the labor force, and usually with extended hours to make ends meet. The school reports that 75 per cent of the mothers of school children are working.

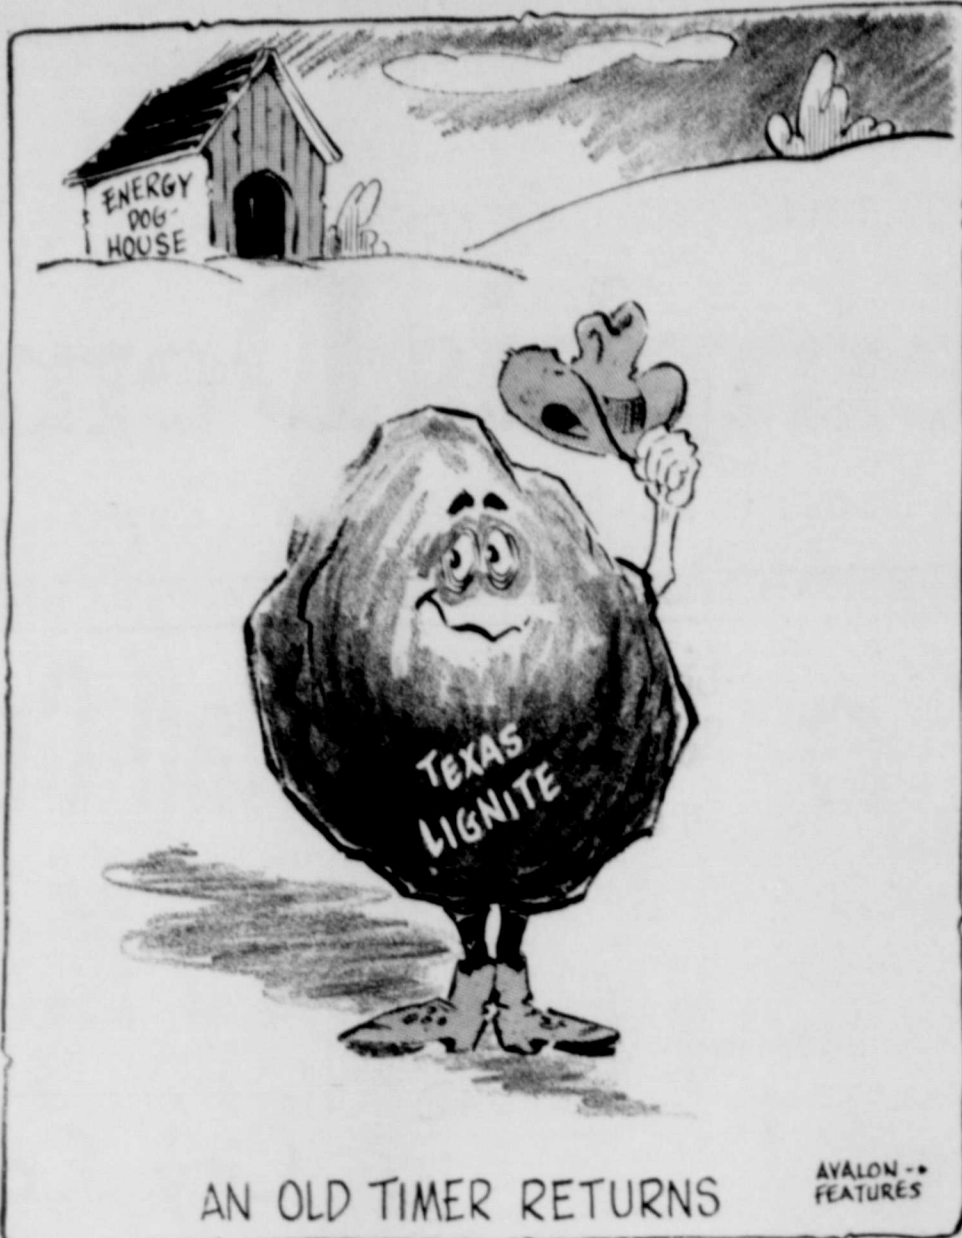

My concern is this—will it become necessary to curb our activities in our community because our citizens can not or will not serve?

Community leaders are not born, they are molded, developed, trained and encouraged. Men who become civic leaders do so over a long period of time, slowly accepting more and more responsibility. Each of us needs to encourage young men to get active in our community affairs, governmental, civic, religious and school.

The alternative is to grow lazy, selfish, and apathetic, in regards to our individual responsibilities in today's world.

Praise can be given to the older generation. I could name names of men I have known who have set excellent examples in service to our community. I feel sure that future years will bring forth men to continue in these same footsteps.

We are not a group to see our work and dreams of a good community here to drift away. To insure a future of good citizens, we must pay the price now to teach youth and young men the important lesson of serving, teach them by example, our own example, and to encourage them whenever opportunity presents itself.

ACROSS THE DISK

What Other Editors Say

What Can You Do?

Arhe Booth of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce wrote the other day of an experience he had with a young friend who graduated from college this year and started looking for a job.

The experience was a shock. Prospective employers would say to him, "Yes, it's nice that you have a BA degree, but what can you do?"

This young fellow realized that after some 16 years of education, he didn't really know how to do anything as far as making a living goes.

Lots of college graduates are having somewhat the same experience. Those without some sort of job skills and preparation find that their college degree means nothing. This comes as a shock after having been told all these years about how much more in some a college graduate has than a non-college graduate. Statistics like these are meaningless because they fail to take into account that a college degree means something only when the education it represents was geared to learning how to produce something that business and industry and the professions need.

A lot of educators have the idea that the important thing is for a young person to get a "well-rounded" education, learning a bit of art and literature and the social sciences. This is well and good, but when the graduate steps off the campus he has to answer the question, "What can you do?" and it is embarrassing to say "Nothing."

A college degree is never wasted, of course. It does help develop one's sense of appreciation for higher learning and there is no such thing as too much education.

But the day is passing fast when the mere acquisition of a college degree is a passport to a lifetime of job security.

The business world today is short of people who can do things. The shortage today is in the crafts such as plumbers, carpenters, electricians, truck drivers, brick masons and dozens of other jobs where a person has to be smart, but does not necessarily have to know how to conjugate verbs.

It is taking a while, but American society is slowly changing so that a person who works with his hands is accepted into high society as well as those who labor in the academic vineyards.

This change has been apparent in the education field where vocational training is becoming more and more popular.

In our own community, it was discovered that young people are eager to enroll in vocational courses that will prepare them to do something, and the first year vocational classes were offered in Perryton, nearly half of the high school student body wanted in them.

This trend has been the reason that the new Mize Vocational Center is under construction and that an expanded set of vocational classes are on tap.

ESTELLINE, TEXAS

(NO SERVICES SATURDAY MORNING)

SONG DIRECTOR: GARY BROGDEN, OF MEMPHIS

EVERYONE INVITED

DAN A. VESTAL

Medical science and spiritual faith joined to make whole the life of Dan Albert Vestal of Fort Worth, Texas, who is currently conducting a revival.

Dan Vestal, who was born in northeast Texas, suffered several burns of the face when he was seven months old, and as a young man actually underwent 14 plastic surgery operations.

Sitting in a high chair in front of an open fireplace at the family home, Dan dropped his head into the fire. He was rescued by his year-old sister and was rushed to a doctor. His life hung in the balance for days and it wasn't until six months later that recovery was gained. Since he was only a baby he has no memories of the horrible experience, but knows the agonies of his mother who tended to him.

However, the scars on his lips and left side of his face, which grew as he grew, caused psychological wounds which were most prominently evidenced in an inferiority complex during his high school years.

In the year 1925 he was examined by Dr. James T. Mills, of Dallas. He told the young man and his parents that help could be given him.

The youth finished high school at Trenton, Texas, and in the latter part of 1937, with effects of the depression years bringing financial difficulties to his family, he joined the CCC at Wolfe City, Texas. He served in this federal aid group for 23 months, but in the meantime, in 1938, he was called to Dallas to which he underwent 14 operations from that year until 1942.

Using skin from his arms the doctors performed four major grafts on Vestal's face and also transplanted an eyebrow, using hair from his head.

With the confidence gained through the remarkable medical help, Vestal, after the third operation, was converted and, feeling the assistance of God, answered the call of the Lord.

HE BEGAN PREACHING in country churches, including the Wolfe City Baptist Church, where he met the former Marie Savage, who became his wife in the latter part of 1942. Prior to that he had entered Deatur Baptist College in 1939, and then after their marriage, both Mr. and Mrs. Vestal attended Baylor University at Waco, Texas.

WHILE IN WACO, the ministerial student was pastor of the La Vega Baptist Church, and during the 27 months he was with the church there were 527 additions — 220 of this number were conversions for baptism. This church led the entire Southern Baptist Convention in proportionate new membership in 1944.

Later, he continued his studies at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth. Simultaneously, with enduring the operations this young man of faith worked his way through school and also earned money to pay the medical bills, which, fortunately were reduced in deference to his slim financial status.

Dedicated to the ministry and steadily conquering his handicap, Vestal brought to the Baptist faith and conducted full baptisms, for his parents, his sister, and an older brother.

Entering evangelistic work a decade ago, he has averaged 21 revivals a year in eight different states with an average of 1,000 conversions each year. Included in his scrapbook are clippings concerning a teenager who had charges, both misdemeanors and felonies filed against him and now, after Vestal had reached out a helping hand, is a law abiding citizen and evangelist himself. He is Evangelist Freddie Gage, now holding successful revivals across the land.

A preacher of old-fashioned gospel, Vestal avers that he "preaches hell, repentance, judgment, and sin," gives credit for saving him both physically and spiritually to God. "I owe much, too, to the doctors who served with skilled hands," he explained.

Chamber of commerce budget appropriations for activities upcoming: Hall County Picnic, Cotton Boll National Enduro, Farm Tour and Christmas will be made.

Chamber members are invited to attend the meeting Monday at 12:00 noon in the DeVille Restaurant dining room.

We have received 5 requests for City brochures on Memphis from various Texas Travel bureaus. However, we are unable to fill these requests because our supply of brochures is exhausted.

In talking with several other chamber officials, I have found out that many other rural communities combine resources on a county-wide basis and are printing brochures advertising the entire county.

This has been very successful with other communities with the county's financial support of the project.

Hall County has a wide range of activities and sites that could be successfully promoted by the brochure. The Bob Willis reunion and monument in Turkey, the Red River and one of the best tracks any where for motorcycle racing in Estelline and Hall County, the Hall County Picnic, the cotton capital of the Texas Panhandle and many items and attractions that relate to the old West and history of Texas could be brought out with a brochure.

Tourism is Memphis' second largest industry and it needs to be supported and promoted by our community.

Mrs. Lillie Blum, former Hall County resident, talked with us last week from Harbor City, Cal. Mrs. Blum ordered 4 of the miniature hales of cotton and 2 of the Memphis bumper stickers for her and her son's cars. Mrs. Blum left Hall County back in 1934 but still calls Memphis home. She reports that she reads The Memphis Democrat and enjoys Byron's B. B. Shots.

This past month the Memphis Chamber office has been making several contacts in the area of more industry for our community. Information packets on Memphis have been compiled and sent to the Texas Industrial Commission, Lone Star Gas Industrial Department and West Texas Utilities Industrial Department. Don Cockrell is president of the Hall County Industrial Foundation and members of the Industrial committee are: Coy Miller, Lanier Foster, Frank B. Foxhall, James B. Davis and Ben Parks.

The City of Memphis is doing an outstanding job with the street program now underway. Memphis is far better for paved streets than any community of our size. Any resident, who may be interested in obtaining curbing for your property should contact either the chamber officers or L. F. Jones. 'Chuck' Jones is compiling a list of residents for a possible group contract curbing job.

Where would Memphis be today without the Chamber of Commerce? Have you ever realized how important the combined forces of the chamber have had upon the growth, progress, and development of this community. How about the founding of the cotton compress, oil mill, gins, classing office, government offices, farm to market roads, government farm programs, and ect. that were a direct result of the Chamber of Commerce. Now don't forget the Hall Co. Industrial Foundation and their work, hospital, community building, and now recently the City Park proposal.

Can you put a financial value on this business, the Memphis Chamber of Commerce? Each member or stockholder of the Memphis Chamber is investing his money in the future of this community. This investment goes directly to the community and solely to the program of development for this community.

Can you afford not to be a stockholder of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce?

Sylvia Moore and Sylvia's Ready to Wear are stockholders of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce. Be sure to shop with Sylvia and the other member merchants in the Town Square shopping center in downtown Memphis. . . Cotton Capital of the Panhandle.

mits from the State to trap more water behind these dams, than is being trapped behind the big Site 4 dam, also constructed on Bitter Creek tributary.

SCS Work Unit Conservationist Henry Gregory said that these three dams complete work on Bitter Creek. The Site 3 dam, he said, has already prevented flood-water damage to the O. E. Gardenhire farm, this spring when a five-inch rain fell in the upper portion of the Bitter Creek draining area.

Site 5 dam contains 290,800 cubic yards of dirt fill, to have a water depth average of 25 feet and the dam is 50 feet high. The dam is expected to catch about 9,900 acre feet of water.

Site 3 dam has already had 164,000 cubic yards of dirt fill put into the structure and the dam height is 53.1 ft. It is expected to hold aboe 4,400 acre feet of water.

Next to be constructed, according to Mr. Gregory, will be Sites 1 and 2 on Brushy Creek.

Site 1 is on the Adair Estate and Site 2 is on Lawrence Hagy land. These have already been surveyed and core drilled.

Surveys have been completed on Site 8, (John Mann Creek) which is ready to be core drilled and is located on Mrs. Mona Robertson, J. B. Byars and R. D. Revell lands.

Site 6 on Scott land and Site 7 on Lawrence Hagy land have also been surveyed, as has Site 107 on Linton Dale Gardenhire land. These all need core drilling, it was reported.

Most of the construction is being done during summer months on the larger dam sites. However, contracts may be let and work done over the next several years in completing all the flood water structures in the Watershed Project.

Ramona Ballew Is Shower Honoree

Miss Colleen Hughes and Mr. Kevin Ballard as they sang "The Twelfth of Never" during the lighting of the candles, and Miss Hughes as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple kneelt at the altar.

Jerry McPherson, guitarist, accompanied Mr. Ballard and Miss Hughes, as they sang "Walk Hand in Hand", and Miss Hughes in a special song of dedication "Sweet Sweet Spirit" as the bride and groom took two candles, lit previously by both mothers representing the two families, and lit a third candle — together — to symbolize the two becoming one in Christ. After which, as man and wife, they presented each mother with a rose. Mrs. McPherson played the postlude from a religious musical "Celebrate Life" as the couple left the altar to "celebrate" their new life, as one, in Christ.

The bride's pastel rainbow colors of orchid, pink, blue, yellow, and green, were carried out at the lovely reception, catered by Mrs. Fred Skidmore, friend of the bride's family. The bride's table consisted of three round tables draped with sheer flocked organza. The center table held an arrangement of orchid mums, flanked by silver candelabras holding orchid tapers.

The four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with the spring colors and topped with the traditional bride and groom, adorned one table, and a silver punch bowl, the other. The silver knife and cake server used by the couple to cut the cake, was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole.

The groom's table was draped with sheer flocked organza, centered with a wedding portrait of the bride, and an open Bible — a gift to the bride and groom. Miss Deborah Miller, Dallas; and Miss Lynda Sexton, Dallas; registered guests. Other members of the houseparty included; Misses; Marla Stacey, Ann Donohue, and Cherie Thompson, all of Dallas.

Then Mrs. Walton chose as her going away outfit, a blue apron design dress of polyester knit, with long puffed sleeves & collar of white polyester knit. A blue and white checked ruffle accent the bodice and neckline.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of W. W. Samuel High School, Dallas and the groom is a 1971 graduate of Mineral Wells High School.

After a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will make their home at 433 Saddlewood, Abilene, Texas where he will be a Senior at Hardin-Simmons University.

The lovely home of Mrs. Jack Rose was the setting for a bridal shower honoring Miss Ballew, bride-elect of Gary Sims. The event took place Friday evening, June 28.

Greeting the guests, who called from between the hours of 8:00 and 9:00 p. m., were Mrs. Rose, the honoree, Miss Ballew; her mother, Mrs. Raymond Ballew; & the mother of the groom-to-be, Mrs. Les Sims.

The guests were registered by Miss Brenda Elliott and were served from a lovely table by Miss Meredith Douthit, Miss Kathy Hall, Miss Jamie Moss, & Mrs. Chris Liner, alternately.

BYRON BALDWIN

Mrs. Bob Fowler had as her guest in Heritage Hall, Scott Champion of Lubbock, Texas. Scott is the nephew of Mrs. John Chamberlain. He and his grandmother, Margaret Champion of Jacksonville, Texas, have been sight seeing for the past two months covering about 5 thousand miles by air to Phoenix, Ariz. I had a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jim O. Ballew of Abilene Tex. the past week. Jim will be remembered as the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Jim Ballew, who moved to Hall County in 1902. Jim's nickname in High School was "Ox". After finishing high school here, and graduating from college, Jim served several years in the Abilene public schools. He has now retired. Their daughter now lives in Amarillo, Tex. There were 5 children in the J. M. Ballew family. The survivors in this family are, Tom of California and Jim.

A quote: "Courage is fear that has said its prayers".

We had a number of visitors in Heritage Hall from out of town to see the Jones brothers and sisters. I am sure I missed some of them, but here is a partial list: Carolyn Prewitt of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Vaughn of Big Spring. Mrs. Vaughn will be remembered as Mary Foreman, who was the teacher for some of the Jones boys when they were in the rhythm band. Also here were E. W. Solomon of Weldon Tex., Betty (Solomon) Stanford of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Lige Hilton of Snyder Lyn Houser of Euless, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Solomon of Hereford, Mrs. Solomon will be remembered by many as Jo Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell. Jo, a registered nurse, has recently retired.

Others were: Mrs. O. F. Smith of Lubbock, Mrs. Walter Jamison of Amarillo, who will be remembered as a long time "hello girl" in our telephone exchange, she was supervisor when she retired.

A quote: "What one says while on his knees is of much less importance than what he does when he rises."

Mrs. Estelle Barber gave me a clipping from an Abilene paper with the story headed as follows: "Lynns Celebrate 50th Anniversary", under the picture of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lynn. They afraid he won't have any money at the beginning of the week."

The Wilbur Jones family had their reunion here the 29-31 of July, with all present for the dedication of the Podium they gave Hall County Heritage Hall in memory of their parents and Elwanda's husband, Edward Turrentine, who recently passed away. They met in Heritage Hall at 1:30 p. m. July 30, for the special dedication with about 50 people present including the members of the family and friends. They did not have a prearranged program, but it all worked out perfectly with the elder son, Melvin, taking over after the quartet of Joy's brother sang "Faith of our Fathers" with Rayburn Jones playing the organ.

Melvin paid tribute to their parents and what this town and community had meant to them in their formative years in schools, churches and citizenship. This heritage is something that you cannot place a monetary value on.

The members of their family present were: Melvin Jones and Wife of Miss. Ida and Coleman Campbell of Stephenville, Tex., Glendelle and Katherine of Dallas, Wilford and Ailene of Oklahoma City, Durward and Maydell of Amarillo, Rayburn and Betty of Ala., Elwanda Turrentine and son, George of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Russell of Nebraska, Nell Jones of Ala., Lometa Jones of Oklahoma City. I apologize for overlooking any name of this family.

This family really started their program Sunday morning, July 28th at the First Methodist Church when Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Jones of Birmingham Ala. furnished special music for the Sunday Morning services. Mrs. Jones sang, "O, Divine Redeemer" accompanied at the organ by Dr. Jones. The Jones' are both active in music in the Birmingham, Ala. area, where they have sung with the B. Civic Opera and other choirs of that city. Mrs. Rayburn Jones will be remembered

taught in our schools before moving to Pasadena Tex. Their children are, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Garcia of Phoenix, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis Lynn of Clyde Tex. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lynn are retired school teachers, now living in Abilene enjoying fishing and gardening. They were very active here in school, church and civic affairs. Our congratulations to them. If my memory is right, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn were in our school system when Mr. Horace Jackson was Superintendent.

Quote from Dan Valentine: "I know a couple who have decided not to get a divorce, they could not decide who was to get custody of the trading stamps."

"A bachelor worries that he won't have any money at the end of the week-A married man is Rayburn Jones was named for a nationally known evangelist, Sam Rayburn, who conducted revival meetings here at least twice.

The Podium that the Jones family gave to Heritage Hall was made of Monkey Pod wood, shipped from Hawaii in slabs here. This wood was cut and sanded by Junior Bell and E. E. Roberts. Mr. Roberts did the construction work and then more sanding and varnishing by Miller Bros. George Turrentine of Lubbock did the final oil and sanding, which made an unusual finish. The engraved plate made by the Branigans was placed on top above the registration book. If you have not seen this art work, come by and take a peek. Thanks to this family for this and other contributions made to Hall County.

I asked each one of the 7 children of Wilbur Jones to give me a letter on their personal lives in Memphis. I received a letter from Melvin telling me that he and Maurine spent the night in Shreveport the day they left here and arrived at their home in Mississippi 12:00 noon August 1st. This was the first time all of this family had been together in Memphis in 33 years.

Melvin and his wife Maurine of Miss. have 2 children. Their daughter, Meriam, has two children and lives in Fla. Their son Bill lives in Pensacola and has 2 children. Melvin states in his letter that 2 Sunday School teachers stand out in his mind, Mrs. Myers and Judge A. C. Hoffman. His first grade teacher was Miss Etta French, best known to the kids as "Missetta". One of the highlights in the spring was wassers and Joseph's Dry Goods Store, Hightower Green House & flower shop, and Farmers Union Supply as a deliveryman and night watchman.

He graduated from M. H. S. in 1929 and was salutatorian of the largest class ever to finish at M. H. S. He was licensed to preach at a district conference of the Methodist Church in the church at Memphis where he had joined on Easter Sunday when he was 7 years old.

This was a very vivid experience in his memory to this day. A closing thought from Melvin, "Thanks for the privilege of being in Heritage Hall, it shows a tribute in preserving something of the history of a wonderful country and town, because it is made up of wonderful people." Melvin is now pastor of the United Methodist Church of Rolling Fork, Miss., where he has served the past several years.

It is very interesting to hear of the Jones family that took advantage of their opportunities. Durward (Wimpy) of Amarillo, gave me the following facts in his life. In 1916 he was the number going on a picnic to Browder Springs. Another experience he remembered was the laying of the paving bricks on the square and it took 4 or 5 men to keep that bricklayer busy bringing him bricks.

Another thrill while living here was driving down to the depot to watch the Ft. Worth and Denver Passenger train pull in.

Some of the places of business he worked were "Madden's Variety Store", Scott's Tin Shop, Memphis Coca Cola Plant, Rose-4 child in the family. He finished High School in 1933, after graduating he worked for Perry Brothers, Dennis Grocery, Farmers Union, Lion Auto Store, and Waples-Platter Wholesale house.

In 1941 he went on duty under the guidance of until 1945. After that he returned to where he worked on Waples-Platter and was married to Amarillo, Texas. In 1945 he and May Dean Quannah, Tex. were married to a grand old grandchild.

In 1952 Durward started working for the Post Office in Amarillo where he has worked a quarter of a century, which is Southwestern Church of Christ. He has the information about the boys being members of the School band. Melvin Durward the Clarinet and Dell played the tuba and place in West Texas Commerce Center.

Mrs. C. R. Cross of visited a few days last week her son, Mr. and Mrs. Cross.

Tigers vs. Giants

Show-Down Game Is Tonight For L. L. Finale

The final night of play for the Memphis Little League will be tonight, unless it is necessary to play a make-up game between the Giants and the Indians at a later date.

The season comes down to a crucial contest between the Giants and the Tigers to see which team has the best season record. Both have lost two games, but the Tigers have won one more than the Giants due to a "no game" called on time limit.

The Giants play the Tigers tonight at 6 p. m. (first game) & the season championship rides on this outcome.

Both teams won games Thursday night and Tuesday night, with Tuesday night's games going into a forfeit situation as the Indians, playing the Tigers, had too few of their number there to play. Officially these score go down as 6-0 victories for the Giants and the Tigers.

The Farm teamers finished their season Monday night, and the Farm Team Giants won the league with a 6 to 5 victory and maintained the best record.

Cool Weather, Light Rains Help Dry, Scorched Cotton Fields

Rainfall the past week has measured from .50 to 1.00 inches according to reports, however, some places only one-fourth of an inch was reported.

The best reports come from the Lesley-Brice area.

Here in Memphis, Saturday morning, a good shower wet the ground. Cloudy, cool weather continued, and Monday evening and night another show drizzler blanketed the area giving about one-half inch.

It was Monday morning, in the Brice-Lesley area that a good shower of .50 to .80 of an inch fell.

Surveying farmers opinions, it was generally felt the cool weather and light rains helped to boost the cotton crops along, but more moisture and in large amounts is needed to make a crop.

Although much of the cotton is late this year, this spell of cooler weather and some moisture has been a blessing and if some good rains will come with in the next few weeks, it is possible the county can make a cotton crop.

Irrigated cotton farmers were especially pleased with the rains, as this helps their irrigation systems to be more effective.

Based on the estimate that a male college graduate will, during his lifetime, earn and pay income taxes on about a quarter-of-a-million dollars more than a high school graduate—it is believed that the $29 billion cost of three GI Bills has been repaid many times over by the 5.9 million veterans who trained at college level.

B&PW Club To Have Little Miss Master Contest

The Business Women's Club of Memphis has announced that Little Master and Little Miss County contest will be held Saturday, Sept. 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the Community Center in Memphis.

Fresh school children between ages of 3 and 6 years are eligible to enter the contest. Kenneth Dale stated.

Contestants names should be turned in to Nell Messer, 259-2661 or Myrtle Helm, 259-2479.
