Memphis Wins Cyclone Relays Capturing 150 Pts.

Memphis Cyclone track team captured 150 points, the highest in the state, in their fifth straight meet Saturday. In the process, they set records in several events.

The 440-yd. relay team captured 100 points, with Wheeler 34, Wellington 25, Quantrell 20, Clarendon 2.

The 800-yd. relay team, which kicked up in the afternoon out of the south, captured some of the meet to stand, but others were as athletes vied against each other.

The MHS sprint relay team of Alexander, Bryley and Spruill ran a 44.0 in the preliminary. They came back in the afternoon in a 44.6 to win the meet and better the meet record of 45.2 set by MHS last year.

Beck was running with Spruill, Bryley and Spruill. Spruill was determined to set new records for the meet in his individual events, but he did the 100-yd. dash record, and was successful in all other events.

In the long jump, Spruill sailed through the air for a record setting 21'8" to better the 21'0" set by King of Clarendon in 1973. In the 220-yd. dash, Spruill was timed a 22.7 beating the mark set by King of Clarendon in 1975 at 23.0.

Probably the most exciting race of the day was staged by Ramsey of Shamrock and Shahan of Memphis in the mile run. Both lads hit the string with times of 4:49.1 times, but Ramsey was judged the winner, after fighting of a determined bid by Shahan the last 50 yards of the race.

Voters Urged To Bring 'Blue' Slips, Registration Certificates, To Polls.

Election judges in city and school elections being held Saturday, are asking all voters, regardless of race, etc., to bring their newly issued new registration certificate showing on its face an expiration date of Feb. 28, 1978, to the polls with them.

This voting certificate informs election officials that the voter is an eligible voter.

Without this certificate voters may be in for a long delay before they receive their ballot, as names must be checked against lists of eligible voters, an "Affidavit of Failure to Receive Current Registration Certificate," must be signed if the voter has not received his certificate.

"If a voter says he or she received the new certificate but it has been lost, mislaid or left at home, the voter must swear that: (1) received new certificate showing resident in that precinct but erroneously showing registration in another precinct; and (2) voter still lives in that precinct or moved to another precinct in the county less than 90 days before election day and has not transferred registration to other precinct.

Election judges are instructed "If voter swears that registration was in correct precinct, have voter sign Affidavit of Lost Registration Certificate; add voter's name and address to list of Registered Voters, with notation that voted on affidavit of lost certificate; add notation "sworn" by voter's name on poll list."

Memphis High Track Team To Go Shamrock Meet This Saturday

Memphis Cyclone Track team will be traveling to Shamrock Saturday morning for a meet, which will be held in the afternoon and evening.

George Berry said Wednesday, "Hard work is the key to success," Coach Berry said recently, especially in track for conditioning pays off in consistency of performance."

In smaller schools, like Memphis, a trackman participates in the maximum number of events. Often this means running three events in the morning qualifying, and participating in a field event or two.

Then, in the afternoon, finals are held with only a few minutes between events, giving the athletes only brief periods of rest.

"Our school has a tradition in track, which helps our athletes dedicate themselves to the long hours of hard work," the coach said.

Last Saturday, Rickie Spruill, while competing in the long jump, the MHS all-time long jump champion holding the school record at 22'5", referred to the school's tradition when he said, "last year working out every day against James Beck made me try harder and I kept improving."

At MHS, next to winning State in a track event, being able to hold a school record is a high point in a trackman's career.

coaches have been real with the performance of trackmen this season, as we have won five straight victories, the latest being the Cyclone Relays held here last Saturday.

I want to certainly thank those who helped with the meet Saturday, contributing much to the success of the meet," Coach Berry said.

The trackmen go to Shamrock Saturday, and the MHS coaches didn't know at this time how stiff the competition was at Shamrock.

Over the weekend, the team goes to the Amarillo Relays, and local trackmen will be competing against the trackmen in the Panhandle.

They are still in our "heavy" schedule with district meet three weeks away," Berry said.

Wednesday was an example of the coach meant by "heavy" as in the morning trackmen took their 10-mile morning country run, then worked

EDITORIAL

Change Is Inevitable!

One of the blessings (or curses) of citizenship in a democracy is the great evolution which takes place with the passing of time. Nothing seems to stay the same in our society, regardless of what the circumstances may be.

For example, take voting regulations. You don't have to be older than middle-age to remember when Texas voters had to pay an annual poll tax to be eligible voters in this state. In order to vote, a poll tax voter had to show his receipt to the election clerk.

Then, the whole concept of paying poll tax for the opportunity to vote was determined to be "unconstitutional" so the old way went out. Voting, in the early days of this country, was limited to just male property owners. Females were not allowed to own or hold property, so they were ineligible voters.

Then, after the turn of this century, women were allowed to vote (and own property also), so a new system was used. Next, most recently, came the granting of the voting right to 18-year-olds, as old laws limited the voting age to 21 years of age.

Next, in Texas, came the voter "continuous" registration laws which allowed a voter to vote if his name was on the poll list kept by the election officials, supplied by County Tax Offices. In order to be on the list, all a voter had to do was vote in an election every three years.

Today, however, voters must have in their possession at the polling place a registration certificate which was issued to them within the past few months. Old registration certificates are no longer valid, and if a voter doesn't have a new certificate when he or she shows up at the polls, then election officials and that particular voter, are in for a bunch of red tape and "swearing" on documents.

This brings back memories of the old poll tax receipts.

The most surprising thing about all of this is, that regardless of what the system is, there are possibly no greater percentage of voters participating in Texas elections now than there were in years past, allowing for the increase in the state's total population.

One of the newest aspects of voting, however, is in the field of bi-lingual voting supplies. In Texas, this means English and Spanish. Other states have other languages to contend with in printing their ballots.

The publishing of election legal notices in Spanish and English, plus printing ballots and other election documents in two languages, is possibly the most unpopular (and difficult) change in voting laws that has befallen the citizenry of this state since the founding of this democracy.

Consider, only a few generations ago, the biggest problem facing this nation was illiteracy (citizens not knowing how to read and write). Now, in order to read a complete ballot, voters need to know how to read English and Spanish. The fact that almost all our citizens can speak English, does not mean that all our citizens can read and write English. It follows that many Spanish speaking people, can not read and write Spanish. It has only been within the last 30 years, that a large part of our voters could read and write. Even today, students are passing through our school systems unable to read and write above elementary levels. Percentages have been reduced, but this is still a real fact of life.

The law of Texas weather is this, if you don't like it now, just wait and it'll change. Voting laws seem to follow this trend, too.

NEW FARM PLAN

Farming draws about as many expert opinions from those outside it as does the weather, coaching or a lot of other things.

President Ford has now set in motion a new agricultural policy making committee designed to make plans for agriculture on a long range basis in this country.

The reorganization places Agriculture Secretary Butz at the head of a new cabinet level Agricultural Policy Committee. Other members of the committee are the secretaries of the State and Commerce Departments and the Treasury; presidential assistants on economic affairs, domestic affairs, national security and consumer affairs and heads of the Council of Economic Advisors, Office of Management and Budget and Council on International Economic Policy.

Thus the farmer out in the field can take some comfort in the fact that his welfare is being looked after by such a high level group, none of whom know much about the practical aspects of farming.

It is reassuring to note that the top level of government recognizes the importance of agriculture. Not only is agriculture called upon to provide plenty of food (hopefully at cheap prices) for all Americans, but also enough food to feed hungry people around the world and enough left over to sell to other nations at some sort of profit.

It appears to us that the President and his advisors have overlooked the most important factor. All of their efforts have been to decide how to use food as a tool of international trade and as a basis for domestic security.

This policy assumes that the American farmer will be able to grow food in whatever quantity is determined by the high level policy group.

Nobody seems to be worried much about dry weather and greenbugs except the farmer.

Neither is anybody worried about the price of farm products, it appears to us, except to make sure that food costs don't get too high for the consumer.

It is all right to make sure that costly farm surpluses do not pile up and that long term sales agreements with other nations are negotiated to provide a favorable balance of payments.

But it is much more important that farm prices are high enough to stimulate the hard work, investment of capital, and the risk taking involved in moving food from the field to the table.

We hope the President's brain trust can come to grips with the basics of farm production. Farmers need fair prices for what they grow and if they don't get it, eventually they will quit producing food.

It's that simple. Any effort directed at insuring permanent food supplies for this nation must begin with this basic promise—the farmer has to be rewarded for his investment and labor.

GROCERY BILL

Then there is the story about the prim little lady who had finished her shopping. Now she stood at the super market checkout counter and unloaded a quart of milk, a dozen eggs, a T. V. dinner, six cartons of cigarettes, hand lotion, suntan lotion, face cream, work gloves, knitting needles, flashlight batteries, six glasses, two magazines and the latest hit record.

She paid her bill and went out grumbling, "Food costs so much these days, no wonder the farmers are getting rich."

Tax Credit For Low-Income Workers

COLLEGE STATION — Low-income workers may be missing out on a sizeable tax credit just because they aren't required to file a tax return.

An economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service points out that individuals with earned incomes under $8,000 can receive a special payment from the federal government but they must file a 1975 income tax return.

"Many of the people eligible for the payment, called 'Earned Income Credit,' may not ordinarily be required to file a tax return because of their low earnings," explains Dr. Wayne Hayenga. "However, the credit could be a big help to such individuals."

Earned income credit works like this. Individuals must have less than $8,000 in total earned income, including income from wages, salaries, tips or other employment income. Workers must have maintained a home in the United States for the entire tax year for themselves and at least one dependent child who was under 19 years of age or a full-time student.

"Those qualifying for the credit and who have earnings of $4,000 or less receive a credit of 10 per cent of their earned income only, up to a maximum of $400," notes Hayenga. "For those with incomes between 14,000 and $8,000, the amount of credit decreases $1 for every $10 of income over $4,000."

The economist points out that taxpayers who filed a return last year will find additional information on earned income credit in the tax packages they received for filing their 1975 returns. A free publication, "Tax Benefit for Low-Income Individuals," is also available from any Internal Revenue Service office.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Animals no larger than a gnat floating aquatic plants may be a better quality water future.

The animal is the Daphnia, a crustacean akin to shrimp and which consumes bacteria, protozoa and other suspended matter in water.

A floating aquatic plant is water hyacinth, which can absorb pesticide residues and heavy metals from water.

Recent, economical natural processes of water purification, aided by sunlight and the energy stored in enriched waters, are in favor in the future. This is the belief of Ray Dinges, a Program Specialist, with the Texas Department of Health's Division of Wastewater Technology and Surveillance.

E. Herzik, Jr., Deputy Director for Environmental and Public Health Protection of the Texas Department of Health, noted that one type of powered wastewater treatment process — the stabilization pond system — has been in use for decades.

Stabilization pond is merely a shallow basin providing retention of wastewaters for a period of about 30 days. About 100 systems are currently employed in Texas for the treatment of domestic wastewater. Many others are used to treat industrial and agricultural wastes.

Bacteria decompose solids in wastes, and algae - microorganisms — thrive upon the decomposition products.

Outstanding beneficial use of stabilization ponds, relative to environmental health, is their ability to reduce significant public health hazards associated with wastewaters. Cysts of protozoa and cysts and eggs of parasitic worms settle to the bottom of the ponds. There is a pronounced decrease in fecal coliform during the extended storage period, and heavy metal concentrations are reduced by precipitation. Compounds become less toxic through passage of wastewaters through the pond system.

Discharges from the pond system flow into the system of rivers and lakes throughout Texas. These discharges must be as free contaminants as possible. The green colored algae is probably the most objectionable feature of pond systems. They are very difficult to remove from water due to their tiny size.

Many public water supply systems obtain water from surface water supply sources — streams and lakes. More communities will be forced to turn to surface water supplies as local ground water is depleted or becomes inadequate to support an expanding population.

Dinges said exploratory experiments have been conducted to evaluate the potential of improving the quality of stabilization pond discharges through the culture of higher forms of animals and plants. He said ponds supporting high populations of "water fleas" (Daphnia) were noted to produce clear discharges low in algae and fecal bacteria content.

Dinges conducted experiments at Giddings with support of the City in an effort to evaluate the role of Daphnia in stabilization pond effluent under controlled conditions. The experiment was successful and algae and fecal bacteria were removed efficiently from water by the swarms of Daphnia produced.

Commercial production of Daphnia for wastewater treatment and as a protein additive to animal feeds may become feasible, said Dinges. Daphnia can be harvested by netting and are about 50 per cent protein on a dry weight basis. Commercial production as aquarium fish food is restricted now to Taiwan. But, limited commercial harvesting has been accomplished in California.

During the past summer Dinges experimented with water hyacinths at the City of Austin's Williamson Creek Wastewater Treatment Plant in a series of small ponds. The hyacinths flourished, growing to a height of 30 inches above the water surface, and proved especially efficient in removing algae, bacteria and nitrogen from the water. The harvested plants may be used as livestock feed, and are an excellent soil conditioner. The plants also absorbed heavy metals and pesticide residues. Overall quality of water existing in the hyacinth ponds was excellent.

The Department of Health Resources has a continuing interest in treatment of drinking water and wastewater. Hyacinth culture may be useful in pre-treatment of surface water to remove suspended materials and trace organics prior to the water treatment plant. Water systems are inspected by Department personnel, which also issues certificates of competency to qualified drinking water and wastewater operators. Some 18,000 men and women throughout Texas operate the plants which keep clean, safe water coming into your homes and places of business.

Hold The Line On State Spending

Report By Lieutenant Governor BILL HOBBY

AUSTIN — Recently, Governor Dolph Briscoe, House Speaker Bill Clayton, and I met with several hundred heads of state agencies, boards, and commissions to outline our views on state spending.

The message was simple: Hold the line. Governor Briscoe promised to veto any legislation which requires new taxes. Speaker Clayton and I support him wholeheartedly in this tough fiscal stance.

In this and my next report to you, I would like to share some of the thoughts I spoke to these state administrators about.

In most instances, we have good state government at a relatively low cost. But we can always improve this quality. This doesn't mean it has to cost more money. We must attempt to identify obsolete and outmoded programs and discard them, thereby making way for new governmental efforts aimed at the current needs of the people of Texas.

The growth of state government since the end of World War II has been phenomenal, but so has the growth of our state. The population increased 70 per cent. Personal income is more than seven times as much today as it was in 1945.

In years past, there have been many efforts aimed at slowing the growth of state government and making it more economical and efficient.

But, I know of no effort undertaken with such intense dedication as the effort currently underway. The present effort results in part from passage last session of Senate Bill 319, which established the Joint Advisory Committee on Government Operations, sometimes referred to as the Little Hoover Commission.

This committee, of which I am chairman, is charged with making a comprehensive review of state government structure and developing recommendations to promote the more economical delivery of services. To accomplish its purpose, the committee has drawn on experienced staff from the governor's office, the Legislative Budget Board, the Legislative Council on Intergovernmental Relations, other government agencies, and persons from the private sector.

I assure you this committee is determined to produce a report and recommendations which will exert a strong influence on the actions of the 65th Legislature.

In Texas, we have a proud tradition of spending no more than we take in. Deficit spending has brought many of bankruptcy. It must not be allowed to happen here.

If there is only one thing our citizens agree on today, it is that they want good, low-cost state government with no additional taxes.

This is the goal to which the Governor, the Speaker, and I have dedicated ourselves.

MRS. MARY HUDGINS

Mary Hudgins To Hold Exhibit In Clarendon

By VIRGINIA BROWDER
Mrs. David (Mary) Hudgins has received considerable attention and several awards in recognition of her painting ability. Her thirty-five years on their "Dusty Hollow" ranch in Hall County has helped her to accumulate first-hand knowledge of the flora, fauna, and wild life of this area. So, her western paintings evidence this authority of background history.

It is with pleasure that Emmett Simmons, president of The Farmers State Bank in Clarendon, announces an exhibit of Mary Hudgins' paintings in the lobby of the bank Sunday afternoon, April 11, from 2 to 5:30 o'clock. Assisting Mrs. Hudgins with host duties will be her husband, David, and son Dee, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hudgins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hancock, Mrs. Earl Ford, and Virginia Browder.

As to her formal training, Mary

Hudgins has studied with Betty Burns formerly of Clarendon Junior College; attended work shops conducted by Frederic Taubes of Haverstraw, N. Y., Aylene Meyer of Fresno, Calif., Lonnie Mason of Rocky, Okla.; Don Ray and Ronald Hawerton of Dalhart.

Mary seems quite comfortable with oils, acrylics, pastels or water colors and, from the numbers of prizes and awards she has received at the many shows where she has exhibited, the judges seem to think she does well with them.

The public is invited to enjoy Mary's art exhibit in The Farmers State Bank, Sunday afternoon, April 11th, from 2 to 5:30 o'clock.

Feedlots Determine Cattle Prices For 1976

COLLEGE STATION — Cattle feedlots will play a dominant role throughout 1976 in determining prices of fed and feeder cattle.

That's the contention of Dr. Ernest Davis, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Fed cattle supplies have increased in recent months and continued growth will add further to this year's beef supplies, thus depressing prices, points out Davis.

Cattle going on feed last September were a whopping 87 per cent above the previous year. During the last quarter of 1975, cattle placements were up 27 per cent from the previous year while cattle on feed on January 1 showed an increase of 28 per cent above January 1, 1975.

What has brought about this resurgence in the cattle feeding industry?

"The main reason," says Davis, "is that cattle feeding has become profitable once again. Not only has the market for fed beef improved but feeding costs have declined due to a large feed grain crop last year. Also, many feeder cattle went directly into feedlots during the winter due to the lack of grazing on wheat pastures."

More recently, fed cattle prices have declined under pressure of a larger supply of fed beef and continued high cow slaughter. Presently, fed cattle prices are below break-even cost levels again, and this should slow cattle placements for a few weeks, notes the Texas A&M University specialist.

"Cow and non-fed cattle slaughter, however, is expected to seasonally decline this spring so the beef industry will be more dependent on feedlots for beef supplies. This should boost Choice fed cattle prices this spring. And continued pressure on feed grain prices should stimulate more cattle feeding," believes Davis.

Of course, there is always the problem of expanding too quickly. If fed cattle marketings exceed 6.2 or 6.3 million head per quarter during the last half of 1976, beef supplies will be at record levels. This will push prices below $40 per hundredweight. On the other hand, if feedlot operators are cautious and market cattle in an orderly fashion, fed cattle prices should hold up fairly well, contends the specialist.

Montgomery, Alabama was the first capital of the Southern Confederacy.

National Rural Health Week April 4-10

COLLEGE STATION — "Improving the Quality of Rural Life Through Better Health" is the theme of National Rural Health Week, April 4-10, which is being sponsored in Texas by the American Medical Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Aim of National Rural Health Week is to focus attention of the medical profession and the public on rural America's health needs," points out Jack Jones, resource development of Husung resource development specialist for the Extension Service. "Furthermore, the week aims to motivate rural citizens to become more health conscious and to improve rural - urban cooperation in health care issues."

The need for rural health care in Texas is "desperate" for many small Texas communities, notes Jones. The woes are several, from lack of proper equipment in hospitals to not even having a hospital or a doctor for many, many miles.

"Statistically, health care in Texas is in critical condition," points out the Texas A&M University System Specialist. A 1970 study by the Office of Comprehensive Health Planning in Texas found the average physician-to-population ratio for rural areas of the state to be one doctor per 1,467 persons. The osteopath - population ratio for rural Texas was found to be one per 11,806. In June, 1973, 17 Texas counties with a total population of 29,004 were without physicians, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Jones cites other facts to illustrate the need for rural health care in Texas. On January, 1967, the federal government under the Medicare program classified 248 hospitals in small Texas towns as "7-C" facilities, indicating they were either understaffed or under-equipped. In June, 1973, the number of "7-C" hospitals had been reduced to 63, largely because 101 hospitals closed when they could not meet federal standards. Statistics also reveal the urgent need for improved emergency health care, says the specialist. A 1972 survey by the Texas Health Resource's Civil Defense and Traffic Safety Division showed 29 Texas counties without emergency rooms and 13 counties without ambulance service. The survey also showed about 20 per cent, or more than 2.25 million Texans in 178 counties, have neither local, county or state public health programs.

During National Rural Health

Week Jones urges Texas citizens to familiarize themselves with National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974 (Public Law 93-641) and the newly formed health services in Texas. These areas are needed to provide better health care for both rural and urban Texas. Citizen understanding and involvement in the national health care planning organizations should result in improved delivery of medical services to the Texas citizens.

Memphis Exes to Host The Visiting Exes of MHS In Memphis April 17

By VIRGINIA BROWDER
Letters are coming in from all directions with checks to cinch tickets for the Ex-Student banquet the evening of April 17th. From Gelndale, Arizona, and California we've promises to attend the festivities. And those still owning the old Memphis depot has very graciously consented to let us use that facility for our Saturday afternoon gabfest and we are duly grateful. To all those who have helped with getting the addresses and the 'licking and sticking' sessions, we say thanks a million!

Bill Introduced To Exempt Custom Harvesters

Washington, D. C.) — Congressman Jack Hightower, with co-sponsor, introduced a bill Monday that would exempt custom harvesters and sheep shearing crews from provisions of the Labor Registration Act.

The bill, H. R. 12683, would restore an exemption such independent contractors had before the act was amended by the 93rd Congress in 1974.

"Although I was not a member of the 93rd Congress," Hightower said, "I understand the principal intent of the 1974 amendments was to include unskilled migratory workers and their crew leaders under provisions of the act."

Hightower said custom harvesters and sheep shearing were not migratory workers in the accepted sense "and I believe the exemption must be reinstated."

The Congressman said a major part of the wheat and grain sorghum crops in the 13th District and other portions of the nation are harvested by custom harvesters, and they are utilized to assist in harvesting corn and sugar beets.

The bill was referred to the House Committee on Education and Labor for consideration. Hightower said he would ask Congressman Carl Perkins, D-Ky, the committee chairman, for expeditious hearings on the bill.

Anti-Pollution Booklet Available

A new, free eight-page illustrated booklet entitled, "The Story of Willie Bacteria, or How To Take Care of Your Septic Tank or Cesspool" is now available to owners of septic tanks and cesspools from Thompson Bros. Hardware Co., 702 Noel St., Memphis, Texas.

In a light vein, illustrated by cartoons, the booklet explains the workings of the septic tank and cesspool in simplified fashion. It describes the bacterial action of the disposal system and what is necessary for its proper functioning.

Chief attraction in the booklet is a "Willie Bacteria" who is responsible for maintaining the efficiency of the disposal system. When the septic tank or cesspool user ignores the fact that "Willie" is working to keep the disposal system free from disease, and saturates him with an overdose of detergents, acids, lyes, caustics and other irritants, "Willie" is very unhappy, and more often than not, just stops working.

But there is a bright side to the story too, for "Willie Bacteria" has found a way to educate the septic tank or cesspool user, so that "Willie" can do his job under modern up-to-date working conditions, and prevent the fuss, mess, inconvenience, and expense of a clogged disposal system.

The booklet was produced by the FX-Lab Company, Inc., 1275 Bloomfield Ave., Industrial Park Bldg. No. 2-13, Fairfield, New Jersey 07006.

Selective Service Boards To Be Terminated May 8

AUSTIN, TEXAS — Colonel Melvin N. Gantz, State Director of Selective Service announced that all Selective Service Local Draft Boards in Texas will be terminated on May 8, 1976. Similar actions will occur in all states on that date as Selective Service continues to reduce its operational capability. On February 28th all draft board offices were closed.

Texas has 525 members assigned to the 96 draft boards of the state. These board members who have served in an uncompensated capacity were responsible for classifying Selective Service Registrants. Since all registrant processing has been halted there remains no active mission for the draft boards.

Only a small stand-by draft organization will remain to maintain emergency plans and train a small pool of reserve and national guard officers in procedures for restoring the Selective Service System in the event of a National emergency.

The members of local Board No. 20 serving Hall, Childress, Briscoe, Collingsworth and Cottle Counties are as follows:

Jerry S. Dugan of Childress, Harley W. Hatch of Wellington, George V. Deaton of Paducah and Henry W. House of Turkey.

FIRST STATE BANK

Certificates of deposit - called CDs - are much like regular savings accounts that they, too, are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). The CD like savings accounts, are insured up to $40,000 by a government-sponsored agency.

More important, there are no uncertainties when you invest in a bank CD. There are a number of ways the average investor can get into the money markets, but of them entail some degree of risk. There are no risks in CDs.

All so-called mutual funds even those that invest in short term Treasury bills, have some sort of transaction costs involved, but with bank CDs there are no added charges. And, while it may take many days to liquidate a fund, money is available on demand at the bank, subject to penalty if there is an early withdrawal - before the maturity date of the CD.

Thus, a bank Certificate of Deposit can be an attractive investment on both a short and long term basis.

Texas Business And Industry Anniversary April 1-7

Communities throughout the state will honor Texas business and industry April 1-7 during the 25th anniversary of Texas Industrial Week.

Activities, sponsored by local chapters of the Texas Association of Business (TAB), include plant tours, open houses, radio and television panel shows, presentations before schools and service clubs, and other events highlighting the involvement of business and industry in community affairs.

This year's observance follows the recent announcement that Texas has the best business climate in the United States and that the state leads the nation in the number of manufacturing jobs won.

The Department of Labor noted that Texas gained 150,000 manufacturing jobs during a recent eight-year study representing a 22.8% increase in manufacturing employment. Each 100 manufacturing jobs supports 68 additional nonmanufacturing jobs and adds over $1 million per year of personal income to a community.

Bill Gray, TAB president, noted that the significance of Texas' tremendous gain in manufacturing employment becomes clear when compared to the national average gain during this period of 10,000 manufacturing jobs per state.

"The lack of corporate and personal income taxes coupled with favorable labor laws are keys to Texas' manufacturing growth," he said. "We are fortunate in Texas to have a legislature that understands that a good business climate means more jobs and a higher standard of living for all. Texas Industrial Week helps to point out the importance of these economic contributions."

Sponsored by TAB, Texas Industrial Week was established in 1951 by a concurrent resolution of the Texas Legislature.

Governor Dolph Briscoe, in proclaiming this year's observance, noted that the state's economy continues to remain sound with the location of 192 major new industries and the expansion of 287 existing ones within the last year.

"This growth did not just happen but is the result of individuals and organizations across the state working to maintain our favorable business climate," he said. "Texas Industrial Week provides an opportunity to demonstrate our appreciation of these contributions and to encourage business and industry to continue to help improve the economic conditions of our state's citizens. I urge all citizens to give due recognition to business and industry in Texas and to demonstrate our support for the free enterprise system."

Preserve Winter Clothing By Careful Summer Storage

COLLEGE STATION — Careful storage of winter clothing ensures wearable garments next season — and eliminates the cost of replacing the wardrobe, Marlene Odle, a clothing specialist, points out.

"Repair all torn or ripped clothing before cleaning and storing. Agitation in the washer and hanging in the closet can make tears and holes larger and impossible to repair when they are noticed next season," she noted.

Miss Odle is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Never put away clothing that is soiled. Leaving stains in the clothing will draw moth larvae which can make quick work of ruining a wardrobe.

"Time may also set stains that would be easily removed if they were treated promptly," she said.

This specialist recommended a cool, dry area for storage to prevent mold and mildew.

She said that many professional dry cleaners store clothes at a nominal fee in controlled temperature and humidity vaults. This works well if home storage space is limited.

"Store similar colors together to prevent crocking or bleeding. Use moth balls in storage to prevent unwanted holes on those cherished items. Cedar chests and closets repel some insects, but moth proofing is necessary also.

"Remove clothes from wire hangers before storing. Place clothes on wooden or plastic hangers to give them longer life," she said.

TWIN - SEEDED SORGHUM GOING COMMERCIAL

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is releasing twin-seeded sorghum breeding material to commercial seed companies, and the outcome should be another boost in sorghum production.

However, two to three years will be required by commercial companies to produce enough planting seed for sale to producers. The twin-seeded trait in the newly developed sorghum should increase yields by about 20 per cent although much higher increases have been obtained in controlled tests.

Postal Services Notified of Chain Letters on Bonds

Postal authorities today were notified of the reappearance of chain-letter schemes involving the use of United States Savings Bonds in several areas of the country.

H. J. Hintgen, Commissioner of Treasury Department's Bureau of the Public Debt, said information received indicates that some promoters of the letters are motivating participation in their schemes by falsely claiming Treasury's endorsement, and by cloaking their appeals in bicentennial and other patriotic labels.

"Many years of experience with chain-letter operations indicate that most participants lose their entire investment," Mr. Hintgen said. "This outcome is inevitable because the supply of interested persons is soon exhausted."

Mr. Hintgen pointed out that use of the mails to facilitate participation and transactions in chain letters is considered in violation of postal lottery and fraud laws. There is also the possibility, he said, that such schemes violate local anti-lottery laws, even if the mails are not used in any way.

Chain-letter schemes hurt rather than help the Savings Bond Program. "Rather than encouraging persons to make genuine investments, they create the illusion that participants are both aiding their government and themselves. Even in the rare case where an individual receives some return, it is likely that he would

Chocolate-Almond Treats

For gift boxes or holiday parties, here are two very special recipes featuring ever-popular chocolate and almonds.

Almond-Choco Confections
2 bars (1.26 oz. ea.) milk chocolate
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar

1 package (12 oz.) vanilla wafers, crushed (3 cups)
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 cup whole natural (unblanched) almonds, chopped

Break up bars; combine with orange rind, 1/2 cup juice and sugar; cook over medium heat, stirring until sugar dissolves and chocolate melts. Off heat, mix with wafers, 2 tablespoons juice and almonds. Chill 1 hour, then shape small balls. Roll in additional chopped almonds if you wish. Refrigerate in closed container several days for best flavor. Makes about 3 dozen.

Chocolate-Almond Divinity
1/2 cup light corn syrup
2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Whole blanched almonds
Combine syrup, sugar, salt and 1/2 cup water in saucepan; bring to boil; cook to 248° F. (firm ball stage). Meanwhile, beat egg whites stiff. Gradually beat 1/2 cup syrup mixture into whites. Return remaining syrup to heat; cook to 272° F.; gradually beat it into whites. Beat in vanilla, chocolate and almonds, beating until chocolate melts. Drop by spoonfuls into paper candy cups or spread in 9-inch square pan. While still soft, top each with a whole almond. Cool. Makes about 3 dozen.

quickly redeem the bonds, thereby placing a further burden on the Treasury," according to Commissioner Hintgen.
Banks and other issuing agencies are authorized by Treasury to refuse applications where there is reason to believe the bonds will be used in a chain-letter scheme. Information on re-appearance of chain-letter activity involving Savings Bonds have been reported from several areas of Florida, Massachusetts, and in parts of Richmond, Baltimore, and the Mid-West.

Drop-In Center News

Because of conflicts in the scheduling of use of the Community Center, the April monthly luncheon for Senior Citizens is postponed until Friday, April 16. The meeting for May will be held on Friday, May 21. These are temporary arrangements.

Much interest is being generated in the Physical Fitness Program, which is in the planning stage at the present. This is not calisthenics, but a very moderate body conditioning activity. People interested should call Mrs. L. I. (Ruby) Davis or Mrs. Pat (Sylvia) Lewis. Possible times for this program will be on Monday mornings and Monday nights. Progress on the permanent home for recreation for senior citizens is developing. Because of unavoidable delays, an exact date cannot be set.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

STIN — Pressure is on Gov. Briscoe to call a special session in an effort to relieve from rising gas and electric cooperatives and legislators have urged emergency action.

Briscoe said he is keeping an eye on the subject and will consider special session after he has presented a program that will accomplish anything — and nothing else.

Proposals advanced to date have centered on outliving adjustment allowances which gas companies to pass a portion of their supplies to consumers regardless of long-range contracts.

Legislators have included repeal of sales tax on gas and electric and reforming the occupational tax on gas production.

Speaker Bill Clayton has a two-day workshop session April 1-2 on legislation to increase the gas production tax on out-of-state users.

Legislators estimated Texas consumers might save 25 million a year if the tax were shifted to out-of-state users rather than percentage basis.

Senate's consumer affairs committee also set hearings April 12-13 on the entire range of gas problems including supply, taxation, the price through and regulation.

Funds "Vanish"

Millions of dollars in Duval County funds have "simply vanished," Comptroller Bob Bullock said in a new audit report on the South Texas county.

Bullock said Duval faces financial crisis, is "going broke" and must meet its August 1 payroll and other spending levels.

Highlights of the report include account of an unknown donor who walked off with a million dollars in public funds with no accounting.

Bullock also said Duval County has collected $11 million in taxes and has only $1.6 million in improvements and fees to pay for it. He said the county has millions of dollars in tax agencies and has "excused" hundreds of taxpayers of hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes.

Study Ordered

The State Welfare Department is making an outside opinion on how to improve its $1 million-a-year operations.

The Welfare Board April 15 will consider a proposal to hire a national management consultant firm to take on the job.

Top state officials recently told agency heads they should review their financial needs and find new ways to improve their productivity.

Completion of the evaluation would be expected early in 1977.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court declined to prohibit questioning of law officers about a tipster whose confidential information led to arrest of gambler Amarillo Slim Preston. The court further refused to order dismissal of three charges against Preston and another.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a life sentence of a Tarrant County man for aggravated robbery, due to improper reading of a parole law to the jury.

The Supreme Court took under review lower court rulings that rejected a $375,000 libel suit against Laredo Newspapers Inc.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill, in his 123rd opinion dealing with the open records law, said names and addresses of police officers are not necessarily confidential. He earlier held identity of undercover agents is expected from the act.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—Irrigation potential may be considered in determining tax value of land.

A county may compensate retiring employees for a portion of sick leave accrued but not taken.

A deposition taken in a Securities Board investigatory proceeding is confidential.

Hutto Independent School District is limited to a $150 tax rate for both maintenance and bonds.

Appointments

Gov. Briscoe appointed 23rd District Judge Thurman M. Gup-ton of West Columbia to succeed retiring Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. A. Morrison for the rest of the year.

Danny Burger has been named executive director of the Municipal Advisory Council of Texas, succeeding W. E. Tinsley.

Briscoe reappointed Dr. Warren Travis White of Dallas to the state board of trustees, Teacher Retirement System of Texas.

He appointed Gerry Gammage of Austin to the State Commission for the Deaf.

Memphis Tennis Players Win At Plainview Sat.

Memphis tennis players entered the Plains Tennis Assn. Plainview Tennis Tournament last weekend, and the MHS girls were quite successful, while the boys didn't fair as well. In senior girls singles, Julie Fowler defeated Diane Purcell of Valley 6-3, 6-4 to capture the division championship. In prior matches, Miss Fowler defeated Glenda Gerber of Nazareth 6-4, 6-2, Elaine Rodriguez of Olton 6-2, 6-3, and Janice Penny of Petersburg by default. The girls doubles team of Jana Davis and Jane Richardson won third place in senior girls doubles defeating Lockney 6-4, 7-5, after losing to Happy 6-3, 6-2 in the semi-finals. They won matches over Nazareth team 5-7, 6-3, 7-6, and a team from Dimmitt 6-1, 6-2. Ted Phillips, is senior boys singles, lost to Todd Cowman of Tulia 6-4, 6-5, in the quarter-finals, after defeating Kirby Collins of Lockney 6-1, 7-5 in a second round match. The Memphis team of Roby Galloway and Charles Phillips won their first match over a Lockney team 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, but lost to an Abernathy team in the semi-finals. In Junior division, boys, Michael Roden lost to Abernathy 9-8 in a pro set in the first match. In Junior girls doubles, the Memphis team of Phillips and Ferris won the division by default in the finals, after it was determined that the Abernathy girls were too old to compete in the Junior division. The Memphis girls had defeated an Olton team 8-1, and another team 6-2, 6-0 to make the finals. Sonja Hutcherson won the junior girls singles division over Iribek of Abernathy. She downed a Nazareth girl 6-1, 6-0, another Nazareth girl 6-1, 6-3, Lisa Harrington of Valley 6-2, 6-1, and a Tulia girl 8-0 in a pro set.

Voters Urged

that final decision of whether or not to let a voter vote after voter has "sworn" they are eligible voters, is left up to the presiding judge of the presiding judge has reason to doubt the truth of the voter's statement. As far as the voter is concerned, the best way to avoid problems for themselves and election officials, is to have their new blue registration certificate with them when they go to the polls and vote in the city and school elections come April 3. These were mailed to county voters by the Hall County Tax Assessor-Collector in early February and are a valuable document if citizens desire to vote in elections this year. The certificates are small enough to fit in billfolds or pocketbooks. WE NOW HAVE all our new garden seeds and tomato plants. Thompson Bros. Co. 48-4c
