EDITORIAL

BY GEORGE !

During the last few weeks it became very apparent that either Crystal and Judy or The CAVALRYMAN were going to have to move out of our mobile home due to the space problem. After a very democratic vote (Crystal casting the tie breaking vote,) it was decided that the paper had to move.....

So most of the past week we have spent moving all the paper equipment out of the Mobile Home to our new office.. Well, it's not really an office. We are now located behind the Alamo Cafe, in the part of the building that was formerly Lynn's Barber Shop. ( Incidentally Judy said that the next joker that walks in and asks for a haircut, will get one---ala Yul Brenner). Seriously, we feel that we will be able to better serve you.....come by and drop off your news or Classified Ads, or just to say "Howdy". We would like all of our readers to come by and visit us this week as sort of an informal open house.

Those of you who have not enjoyed sitting on your hands at recent functions held at the Civic Center should certainly attend the Chamber of Commerce's sponsored Dance.

Swedish Visitor

Miss Kerstin Ohlen of Fabela, Sweden will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Wilson until the 17th of July.

Miss Ohlen, who is seventeen, is sponsored by the Lions Club through their Sweden Youth Exchange Program.

The Swedish Miss is going to spend next week in San Antonio and she has spent two days in New York City.

We hope that Miss Ohlen remembers her travels in the United States but those in Brackett, especially.

COUNTY AGENT REPORT

BY: CARL ESSER

Pinkeye is a serious problem in some beef cattle herds in Texas during the hot summer weather. The disease can cause considerable weight loss and even the loss of sight.

There is no single cure-all for pinkeye, but there are several practices which you can follow to help reduce pinkeye problems, notes Carl Esser, Kinney County Extension agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Clipping pastures before seed-heads develop on grass is one practice that helps. These seed-heads may irritate the eyes of the cattle and increase the chances of pinkeye infection.

Flies spread certain kinds of pinkeye. Esser recommends repeated spraying of the faces of cattle with Ciodrin insecticide to control face flies. Dust bags, face wipers and backrubbers also help in controlling flies. Locate them near or on the salt box, on the way to water, or in shaded loafing areas.

An adequate amount of Vitamin A helps keep eyes healthy. Good pastures generally provide enough Vitamin A. Where dry weather is turning pastures brown, supplementary Vitamin A should be provided.

Separate animals with pinkeye from the herd and treat infected eyes with an antibacterial preparation. Keep infected animals in a sheltered area. Covering infected eyes will protect them from light and foreign matter and will speed recovery. A simple patch made of burlap and held in place with rubber cement seems to be effective.

If treatment does not improve conditions, consult a veterinarian, suggests Esser. Viral disease such as IBR may be the cause of pinkeye. Your veterinarian can recommend a vaccination program for controlling such diseases.
