Barrett said, "I would like to announce my candidacy for commissioner in Precinct Four, subject to the Democratic Primary in March, 1990.

"I have lived in this county for 34 years, and have farmed my own land around Needmore all this time. The last four years, I have also worked for the county as a machine operator.

"My wife, Virginia, has been a substitute teacher in the Muleshoe Independent School District for the last seven years.

"We have four children: Ricky and Robbie of Muleshoe; Ronnie, who farms in the Needmore community, and one daughter, Suzan Wheeler, of West Camp. We also have 12 grandchildren."

The candidate added, "I feel I can contribute to the county from my past experience of working for the county for the past four years.

"I would do my best to serve the people of Precinct Four to the best of my ability. And to keep aware of the needs of all the county, as well.

"I am asking for your support in March, 1990, for this position."

He concluded, "Thank you for your support and your vote."

Panhandle Economic Program, the conference will be at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West. Registration opens at 8:30 a.m.

Use of water, rights to water and the permits and laws which regulate these are under new scrutiny and being challenged in some areas, said Leon New, Extension Service irrigation engineer and conference coordinator.

Such legal issues and their implications for the Texas High Plains will be explained by Frank Booth, Austin attorney.

Recent legislative activities addressing urban and agricultural water issues will be reviewed by Richard Bowers, manager of the North Plains Underground Water District, Panhandle.

Protection of groundwater quality is another public concern. Wayne Wyatt, manager of the High Plains Underground Water District, Lubbock, will report on the present condition of water quality, especially in the Ogallala Aquifer.

The impact of water availability and quality on land value will be examined by Jim Hayes, real estate agent and appraiser, Clarendon.

After lunch, the conference will focus on irrigation management decisions and provide an update on pesticide application regulations.

Furrow irrigation with limited water supply will be explained by Hereford producer Charles Schlabs. Harold Grall, farm manager for Coleman Agri Enterprises in Dumas, will discuss the economics of center pivot and other types of irrigation.

Managing Old World Blue-stem as an irrigated grass in cattle operations will be discussed by Larry Jeffus, Guymon, Okla., producer. Byron Gossett, Dumas cattleman, will examine key points in a decision to use irrigated grasses.

The pesticide update will be presented by Dr. Carl Patrick, Extension Service entomologist, Amarillo.

The Student Community Action Club strongly encourages you to renew your membership to Muleshoe Heritage Foundation. This foundation began with a large amount of members and since then the membership has declined. Without members, it makes operating and bettering our community a tough job. Muleshoe Wins Bid For New Industry

The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation notified the Journal Thursday afternoon the intention of Almeria Inc. to locate their headquarters, growing, packing, and shipping operations in the Muleshoe area. Almeria produces organically grown vegetables, cultivated in a controlled greenhouse type environment for the specialty gourmet market.

Principles of Almeria are Richard W. Clikeman, president and C.E.O., and Walter E. Schmidt, General Counsel.

Forty-six people will be employed at the beginning of construction and after one year, 110 jobs are expected to have been created, and at the end of Almeria's three year construction/operating period, they will employ over 200 people.

The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation (M.A.I.F.) has been negotiating with Almeria on behalf of this community over the past few months. There have been several negotiating sessions, meetings, and formal presentations made during this time. The entire West Texas area was being considered for the location of this project. According to Walter E. Schmidt, Muleshoe was chosen for many reasons, with the main reason being the "Cohesive spirit shown between the M.A.I.F., the city officials, and the citizens of Muleshoe."

Many Veterans Unaware They Can Get Benefits

Over $32 billion was paid out in veterans benefits last year. Billions more went unclaimed in the past few years. Every year eligibility for benefits and the array of available benefits are changed. Very few veterans or their survivors keep up with the latest rules. Because of this, and changes in their circumstances, many veterans, their families and survivors are now entitled to money and other benefits from the government even though they were not eligible in the past.

These were the findings of a study group of the Consumer Education Research Center, a 20-year-old national nonprofit consumer group. They found that over one-fourth of the money paid in veterans benefits goes to persons who never served in the armed forces of the United States. Most of these were related by blood or marriage to veterans but many were not. Some were members of the armed forces of countries who fought with us against our enemies.

Since 1974, the Center has been compiling yearly updates describing the latest rules on available benefits and how to qualify for those benefits. They have just issued the 240-large-page, 1989 Complete Guide To Federal and State Benefits For Veterans, Their Families, And Survivors with a foreword by Sen. Robert Dole. This valuable book is $9 (plus $2 shipping) from CERC-Vets, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050 or by calling 1-800-US-0121 with credit card.

Robert L. Berko, executive director of the consumer group, says that many survivors of veterans are unaware that they might be eligible to receive money, medical care, educational assistance, help in buying a home or other benefits. In fact, eligibility and benefits change constantly and some people ineligible in previous years are now able to start receiving money.

The study found that many people are unaware that they are considered dependents or survivors of veterans. These include those involved in illegal marriages, those who remarried after the death or disability of a veteran, children born out of wedlock to a veteran, parents of a veteran and even dependent grandchildren. Any of these may be eligible for benefits.

Berko says that the study questioned veterans about benefits and found that the majority were unfamiliar with most of the benefits now being granted under Federal and state laws. Even veterans now collecting were unaware of other benefits for which they were eligible and could be collecting.

For instance, disabled veterans can receive apparel allowances if they use wheel chairs, artificial limbs or any prosthetic device that can wear or damage clothing and, if they have a spouse in need of care, they can receive an allowance to pay someone to provide that care.

Few knew that (unemployed veterans) 65 or older are considered, permanently and totally disabled and, those with limited income and savings, can collect as much as $11,000 per year.

Other benefits the consumer found that were little known are:

A veteran (or dependent) can receive up to $837 (40% in advance) if he or she will aid VA in a workstudy program while in an educational program.

Federal agencies are required to set up affirmative action plans to aid employment and advancement of veterans with any degree of disability. Some job classifications must be filled by eligible vets.

Families of veterans buried or mentioned on commemorated on Tablets of the Missing overseas are eligible for free passports to visit these sites.

In addition the book includes a complete list of VA facilities and help to secure the information needed with VA applications.

"Even though the Congress and the various state legislatures have passed laws granting money and services for veterans and their dependents, Berko states, "Unless the people know they are eligible and apply they will not collect anything."

Low Number Expected To Die On Texas Highways

The Texas Department of Public Safety estimated a very low number of people to die on Texas highways in 1989, New Year's Holiday. Only 32 persons lost their lives in that 78 hours of Operation Life Save in 1989! This is the direct result of positive safe thinking, conservative driving and closer observance of the traffic laws.

Major V.J. Cawthon, Commander of the 60 counties in Region 5, said, "People are becoming more sensible and sensitive about the drinking-driving problem in Texas. Safety belt usage is up and traffic death rates are lower than they were in 1987. If this trend continues, we may see the lowest count of traffic deaths since the record high of 1981."

The continued use of all safety belts in Texas vehicles will help preserve more lives. The National Safety Council states that a person has a five to one chance of surviving in a bad traffic accident while belted in their vehicle. With judicious and reasonable use of alcohol, the National Safety Council foresees a reduction in alcohol related traffic deaths.

Major Cawthon said, "The way to make this year's estimates smaller than expected is to select one sober driver per motor vehicle attending each New Year's party, hold the speed within the posted limit and insist that all persons wear safety belts when the vehicle is in motion."

While the New Year Holiday period is in effect, there will be additional Highway Patrol troopers on duty to assist stranded motorists and enforce traffic laws, so you may have a safer and happier New Year in 1990.

Information on a new cheese diet, a new product for repairing metal, and recipes for products grown in Oregon will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, December 26 at 12 noon and Saturday, December 30 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Donna Haverstock, representing Norwegian Dairies, will create some delicious low calorie cheese recipes for people wanting to loose weight and still be able to enjoy one of their favorite foods--cheese. The key point is foods--cheese The key point in this concept is using cheese in limited quantities. Donna lives in Key West, FL.

Mac McCrory will introduce a product called Metal Fix. This product is the solution to repairing rusted metal and is easy to work with. Mac lives in Greensboro, NC and his company is called Dymark.

Cathi McLain represents the Oregon Dept. of Agriculture and will share some recipes made from Oregon fruits. Oregon is home to a variety of hybrid berries, including the marionberry, which is a cross between a wild blackberry and a red raspberry. Cathi is from Salem, OR.

Jean Benson has turned her sewing and craft talents into a very profitable "cottage industry" called Critter Crafts. Jean has also authored a Farm Journal Craft Book called "Soft Toys to Stitch and Stuff", and one part of the book features patterns that are all made from circles. Jean will show how to make several

According to Sandy Allison, hats are back in style. Sandy is a former Texas Extension Agent and will show an array of different hat fashions and talk about what to look for when selecting a hat or cap. DELLA OROZCO, PATRICK RYAN

Baby Shower Honors Della Orozco, Son

The home of Jan Davis was the scene of a baby shower Friday, Dec. 15 honoring Della Orozco and Patrick Ryan.

Linda Burton registered the guests as they called at 7 p.m. and Vicki Gonzales greeted the guest.

Ms. Burton and Ms. Gonzales served cake, decorated as a yellow and baby blue carriage with brown bears and balloons, candies, in the shape of diaper pins, rattle, and booties made of white chocolate, and tea, from blue appointments.

The serving table was covered with a blue table cloth with "Its A Boy" on it, accented with an arrangement of blue balloons, with "Its A Boy", streamers with "Its A Boy" and a rocking horse. The honoree's corsage consisted of flowers made of white and blue baby socks.

Special guest included Victoria Gonzales, sister of the honoree; Shorty Flores, sister-in-law of the honoree; and Adella Villa and Veronica Gonzales, nieces of the honoree.

The hostesses gifts were a play pen and high chair with a bear and rain bow patterns. Hostesses for the occasion included: Jan Davis, Linda Burton, Vicki Gonzales, Connie Perez and Rosie Gonzales.

More Emphasis Needed On Cholesterol Problems

Both physicians and the public must learn more about potential health risks from cholesterol and appropriate treatment, according to an article published in December 1989 issue of Texas Medicine.

Recent reports issued by the National Cholesterol Education Program (NCEP) show that more emphasis on reducing cholesterol levels in the general public could significantly reduce the threat of coronary heart disease (CHD). Dr. Scott M. Grundy and Dr. David W. Bilheimer of The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas conclude in the Texas Medicine article. Texas Medicine is the official journal of the Texas Medical Association.

The Adult Treatment Panel of the NCEP has issued a report designated by guide physicians in treatment of high serum cholesterol adults that stress identification of those at high risk of coronary heart disease who should receive "active medical therapy" for lowering cholesterol.

"Whereas most physicians are now comfortable with the need to treat established hypertension, a similar level of acceptance currently does not exist in the medical community for high serum cholesterol," Grundy and Bilheimer stated. "This discrepancy is of concern because elevations in serum cholesterol carry risk for CHD similar to that lowering for prevention of CHD is stronger than for reduction of CHD risk by blood-pressure lowering."

The authors note that the first step in reducing cholesterol is through dietary control. The NCEP's Population-Based Panel currently is developing recommendations about diet for the general public. Grundy and Bilheimer, however, said getting Americans to change their eating habits is "one of the greatest challenges facing the NCEP."

"Such a change can come about only if there is a national commitment to make it happen," they stated.

TMA is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physicians and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 117 component county medical societies around the state. The association represents more than 80 percent of the state's physicians, and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through the professional and personal development of its members.

Before Giving, Make Sure Your Charity Is Reputable

Christmas is the time of the year when people are more likely to give than receive--an attitude many charities can count on. It's a time when charities receive most of their annual $55 billion or more in contributions.

Although most charities are bona fide, some organizations may masquerade as charities when they are not, according to Nancy Granovsky, family economic specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"This especially becomes a real problem around Christmas time, when there are a lot of appeals through the mail and television," Granovsky said. "People get caught up in the spirit of giving and don't clearly understand how their contributions are being spent."

Granovsky advises taking precautions before making contributions:

• Avoid contributing to groups that refuse to tell you what they're doing with the funds they collect.

• Appeals through the mail should provide information on the types of programs the charity offers and a clear understanding of how funds will be used. An appeal should not be disguised as a bill or invoice.

• If you receive merchandise through the mail, you do not have to pay for it. It is against the law for a charity to ask for money for merchandise sent through the mail that you did not order.

• Always contribute by check, and make the check payable to the charity--not the person accepting the money.

• Keep your canceled check as a record of your contribution for tax purposes and reference.

• Beware of telephone solicitations. Don't feel pressured to give money on the spot. Legitimate charities will be glad to wait for a contribution.

• If it's a door-to-door solicitor, ask for identification.

The Better Business Bureau can provide a list of local charities, and two private agencies can provide information on national organizations. These two agencies rate charities according to their use of funds, fund-raising practices, public accountability and ethics, Granovsky said. For information, write to the Philanthropic Advisory Service, Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc., 1515 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, Va. 22209, or the National Charities Information Bureau, Inc., 19 Union Square West, New York, N.Y. 10003.

"When you're giving money away, you should also be aware that tax-exempt and tax-deductible are not the same," Granovsky said. "Exempt means the charities don't have to pay taxes. Deductible means you may claim your contribution as a deduction on your federal income tax return."

Granovsky said a charity can be tax-exempt and tax-deductible. However, if it's only exempt, you may not be able to claim a deduction on your return. Check with a tax consultant to be sure.

"It's fine to give in the spirit of the holiday season, just be careful," Granovsky said. "Make sure you're giving to a legitimate charity and that you're satisfied with how your contribution is being spent."

MHS Civics Class Planning Special January Assembly

The senior civic students of Muleshoe High School, under direction of their teacher, Mrs. Jean Allison, are presenting a special assembly program on Friday, December 15, at 11 a.m. in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Allison said this program is being presented to commemorate the 200th year of the Bill of Rights.

Each of the four civic classes will be presenting short skits over the different rights covered in the Bill of Rights, showing the many freedoms we enjoy, and then demonstrating what could occur if we do not guard these freedoms, added the civics instructor.

She commented, "It is the belief of the students that many people do not appreciate these freedoms, and hopefully, this program will bring us wider appreciation for the personal freedoms all Americans enjoy."

"A special invitation is given to the public to attend this assembly program on Friday, December 15, at 11 a.m.," she concluded.

and especially me. Clea and all the staff at the Muleshoe Journal, a Big Thank You-Merry Christmas and Happy New Year for all your help and encouragement. The principles of Almeria reached their decision to locate in Muleshoe at a meeting with the M.A.I.F., Wednesday, Dec. 20.

"There are some remaining details, and points to be negotiated before the actual construction begins, however, they will assume residence in Muleshoe at the first of 1990."

A formal press conference and ground breaking ceremony has been planned in January.

"The M.A.I.F. wishes to thank everyone in the Muleshoe area for the support shown by their membership in the foundation, and for the co-operation of the city, county, and all others that have contributed to the success of this project in so many ways, including, protecting the confidentiality of our prospect, and the hospitality extended to our guests during their many stays in Muleshoe."

"The competition was intense for this project, and we hope that this victory is the first of many in our efforts to promote the economic development of our surrounding area."

to four years) and acquired two Associate of Science Degrees. I have served my country as an Airborne Surveillance Radar Technician in the U.S. Army and have been actively involved in agricutisness and farming in Bailey County for most of my life. I am a land owner and taxpayer.

"During the past year Judge's conferences have been attended where over 40 hours of continuing education were accumulated and 13 months of on-the-job training have now been completed.

"The main thrust of my administration has been and will continue to be: Efficient use of tax dollars. It's my firm belief that the answer to budget deficit problems on a local, state, or national level, lies not in increased taxes, but in a wise use of available resources with controlled spending within the adopted budget and economic growth.

My position is, and my support goes to those whose position is, "How can the county save money?" Not, "How can we spend it?" I'm not advocating reducing or eliminating a needed service or department, but let's make sure we are doing all we can with what we've got before asking for more. When and if that time comes for an increase in taxes, let it be simply because of built in cost increases and inflation, and not because of wasteful spending.

"Throughout the course of the past year, with the help and support of the commissioners, we've made progress in various areas. My efforts to evaluate departmental spending have not always been popular, especially with some on the receiving end of county finances, but as chief budget officer of the county, it is my job to do so, and I will continue, regardless of outside pressure.

"One thing I will remember as long as I am the county judge is who I am working for--the people of Bailey County, --you, the taxpayer. I am not working for any one department or special interest group. You have elected me to represent you, and that is what I have done.

"The title, "County Judge," could imply that most of the demands of this position are judicial and involve court work. Actually that is a small percentage of the workload. Most of the duties are administrative in nature. I do enjoy the court work; however, and have taken a strong position against crime. Most of the cases that I hear are driving while intoxicated. I've increased the fines for this and other alcohol offenses (such as possession and sale) over the past year. I hope this will create more of a deterrent for would be offenders. I do have an occasional marijuana case, but most of the drug offenses go to the district court.

"It has been a good year. The commissioners Court has been able to save money in several areas. Taxes were not raised this year, and the county cash surplus increased slightly despite budget overruns in several departments.

"I am sure everyone has noticed the physical appearance of the courthouse and lawn has improved. The commissioners hauled away about 60 years worth of blow sand from the yard, and we had a sprinkler system and new lawn installed. Also a contractor painted the outside trim of the courthouse and jail trustees painted the inside.

"My primary desire is for the long-term financial well-being of our county. Ten to twenty years from now, I would like to see Bailey County with moderate taxes, financially sound, and with adequate reserves to meet any emergency. This is the situation we have now, and it is only through strong conservative leadership that we can continue on this track. There has been some opposition to my administration raised during the past year.

"Where is it coming from? If you will notice it originates from people or departments whose financial situation is affected by the decisions that I have made. I have the best interest of the county at heart, not my own personal gain.

"I am, and come from a long line of democrats, but regardless of what party you are affiliated with, I ask for your support in the upcoming elections. Thank you and have a happy and prosperous New Year.

Gov. Clements Signs Worker's Compensation Bill

Governor Bill Clements today signed a workers' compensation bill that will dramatically improve the system for both workers and employers, Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby said Wednesday.

"It raises maximum and minimum benefits," Hobby said. "It creates a safety program that will identify hazardous employers and penalize those that don't reduce or eliminate the hazards."

"It should stabilize insurance rates and make it easier for employers to obtain coverage. It will reform insurance ratemaking and ensure that small employers don't pay higher rates just because they're small."

"The crisis has been addressed. We have adopted a bill that gives workers a better break and business a brighter future,"

Hobby added. "And none of this would have been possible without senators like Teel Bivins, who stood firm for reform under fire."

Senator Bivins, an Amarillo Republican, was one of the senators who supported Senate Bill 1 from the beginning of the Second Called Session.

"Senator Bivins never wavered in his commitment to reform of a broken system," Hobby said. "This was the most difficult and divisive issue I have seen in 16 years as Lieutenant Governor. The pressure was extreme. The debate was heated."

"But Senator Bivins was always there to vote for Senate Bill 1. All Texans owe him thanks."

When the 22 percent rate increase goes into effect January 1, the cost of workers' com-ensation insurance will have increased more than 200 percent since 1984. The sharply rising costs have caused an increasing number of businesses to drop their coverage, leaving workers unprotected.

According to a State Board of Insurance study, nearly one-third of Texas workers are not covered. Only about 54 percent of employers subscribe to the system, an Industrial Accident Board survey discovered.

"Senator Bivins' commitment to workers' compensation reform will bring businessmen relief from rising insurance rates. Small businesses, particularly, will benefit because they are now lumped into the Assigned Risk Pool and pay higher rates," Hobby said.

Bush calls for cooperation to end cold war.

Precautions Save Lives Of Holiday Travelers

Two simple precautions that save lives on crowded Texas highways every holiday season are driver sobriety and use of seat belts.

"Many people who died last year might be alive today if they had buckled up or had driven sober," Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health, said today. "It just makes sense to use your seat belts and to drive without drinking," he added.

Statistics from the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) show that in 1988, 73.6 percent of the 3,395 persons killed in traffic mishaps in Texas were not wearing safety belts.

The combination of bad weather, drinking drivers and weary travelers driving too fast makes Texas roadways especially hazardous during this time of year. Last year, according to DPS, 42 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the 78-hour Christmas period and another 38 died during the 78-hour New Year's period. Safety belts held passengers in place, preventing a second "human collision," in which unbelted passengers hit the windshield, dash, door or are thrown from the vehicle. Young children, who are especially vulnerable to being injured or killed in a traffic accident, should ride protected in child passenger safety seats.

Texas law requires children younger than two to ride in a safety seat, Youngsters from age two to four are required to ride either in a safety seat or secured by a safety belt. All front-seat passengers, regardless of age, are required by state law to ride buckled up. "Some people brag that they can drive just fine when they drink," Dr. Bernstein said. "If this is true, why do so many deaths on Texas roads involve alcohol?"

Last year in Texas, 42 percent of all rural fatal accidents involved driving while intoxicated (DWI) as a contributing factor. Safety officials indicate that almost 40 percent of all statewide fatal accidents involved DWI.

Dr. Bernstein recommends a "designated driver" plan, in which one person in a group volunteers not to drink and assumes the responsibility of driving others home. Some restaurants and bars now provide free non-alcoholic beverages to a designated driver. In addition, many communities are arranging free or low-cost taxi service for persons unable to drive safely.

Dr. Bernstein said each ounce-and-a-half of liquor or 12-ounce beer requires about an hour to be metabolized in the bloodstream. Food helps slow the absorption of alcohol, but eating while drinking will not keep someone from getting drunk. Also, coffee and cold showers cannot help someone become sober.

Dear Santa,
I would like a sweater and a clock-radio for Christmas. That is all I want because I have a new baby sister and she will need a lot of things. I hope that you are doing alright.

Love,
Brittany Kirby

Dear Santa,
How is Rudolph? How are you. I have been a pretty good boy this year. I will tell you what Cody and Cassie want you to bring them because they can't write yet. Cody wants a green tractor, a combine, and a kitchen.

Dear Santa,
What I want for Christmas is a gray and black Nintendo. A game I want with the Nintendo is a Simon Quest game. I would like a remote control submarine that is white and black. I would like to have a red and blue remote control airplane. I want a Leo Pirate ship too. This is all I want for Christmas.

the Star

CHRISTMAS tree ornaments are made to resemble snow, unusual patterns of ice, and frost; however, the most beautiful ornament and symbol is the star for the top of the tree. This is to remind us of that wonderful day when the child Jesus was born in a manger and the star shown the way... "for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him." Let the star on the tree remind you to attend church and worship him too.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The possibility of a landslide so intimidated
