PUBLIC SCHOOL
OPEN HOUSE

Children are funny little creatures. They break your dishes, your windows, and finally, when they grow up, your hearts. As a recent song said so well,

"Is this the little girl I carried?
Where is the little boy at play?
When did she get to be a beauty?
When did he grow so tall?"

The years to go by so quickly and a very important part of the child's life is the public school. The first week in March is traditionally designated as Texas Public School Week. The Brackett Independent School District, in observance of this special week, will host an open house Monday night, from 7 to 9. Each parent and patron is invited to visit with the teachers and administration. This is an important event because it is together, as parents and faculty, that children grow to be the citizens of the future.

COUNTY AGENT

Kinney County 4-H members did real well with their livestock projects at the San Antonio Livestock Show and Sale held February 13-20.

Candy Smallwood of Brackettville, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Ray Smallwood, exhibited the grand champion finewool lamb at the San Antonio Livestock Show. Her lamb was bred by Hadley Wardlaw of Del Rio, and was purchased by Mr. Bill Cowden for a stunning $2,000.

Other exhibitors and their placing at the San Antonio Livestock Show are as follows: Kaye York, 6th place lightweight finewool, 13th place heavy-weight finewool, 20th place heavy-weight mediumwool lamb, 10th place medium weight duroc barrow, Kimberly Trant 18th place lightweight finewool, Brenda Foust 36th place light weight finewool, 38th place heavy-weight mediumwool lamb, Tammy Foust 42nd heavyweight finewool lamb, 52nd place heavyweight crossbred lamb.

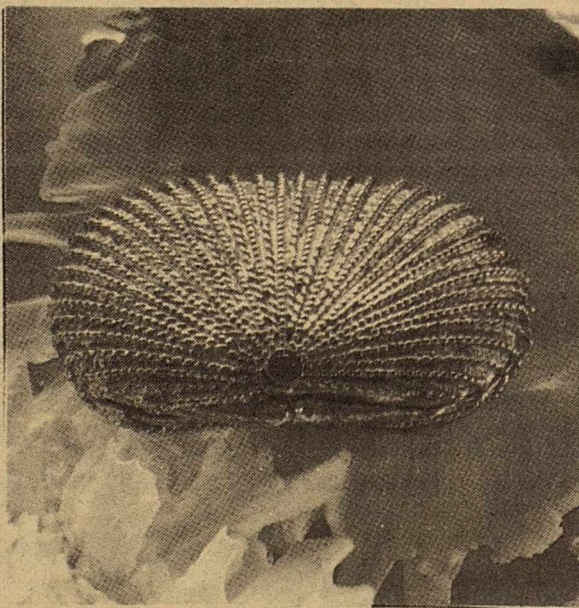

Buck Smallwood 4th place heavy-weight finewool lamb, 45th place heavyweight finewool crossbred lamb, 49th place lightweight finewool lamb, Leisha Wardlaw 21st place light-weight finewool lamb. Candy Smallwood 18th place lightweight hampshire barrow. Other exhibitors participating in the Stock Show activities and showing livestock included Lashawn Wardlaw, Bill Baxter, Mark Baxter, Joe Hidalgo, Alan Frerich, Seth Kaplan & Kevin Kaplan, and Kimberly Baxter.

Carl Esser, Kinney County Extension Agent, states he is real proud of all of these 4-H members and the fine job they have done with their livestock projects this year. Kinney County 4-H has made a good showing at the major stock shows of the state this year by placing and selling over $5,000 worth of lambs at out-of-county Stock Shows. He adds that these youth are not through yet with 4-H livestock to be shown at Houston and San Angelo in March. He encourages them all to keep up the good work.

COMMENTS from THE SAGEBRUSH

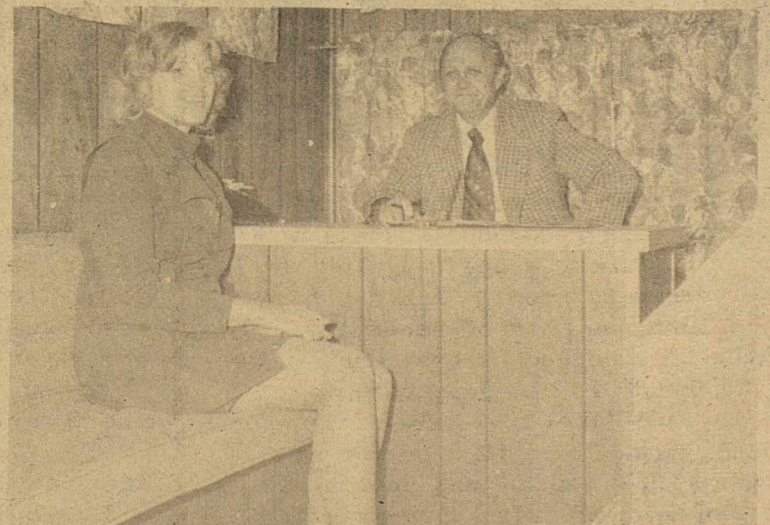

BY JOE TOWNSEND

It's time to take a look at your lawn. If you have carpet grass, see if you have any dead spots. These could be caused by insects but most likely are caused by fungus. The best thing to do is to fertilize the lawn with a good all purpose fertilizer with iron added. The lawn should then be watered thoroughly. The grass will not show much growth until warm weather comes to stay. When the grass is growing and there is little or no growth in the dead spots it is good to treat for fungus. The simplest, best and most often successful thing to do is to dust the spots well with wettable sulfur powder. Continue to water. The spots should soon go away, either from new growth in the spot or spreading growth from the edges inward.

Do you know much about prairie dogs? They are a world unto themselves. They look like a tremendously overgrown guinea pig. They usually live in colonies or "prairie dog towns." They burrow into the ground and build an elaborate array of tunnels. It is a sight to behold to watch them scamper and play. When danger is sensed they sit upright on their haunches and survey the world as a King on his throne. If they feel the need they run with amazing speed to disappear into their holes. After a while you will see the head and eyes appear and scrutinize the area. When it seems safe, the dog will cautiously come out of his hole and resume his normal activities.

To watch these fascinating creatures, you feel they live in a continuous state of fear. They seem to always be expecting trouble. How like some people who see trouble in everything and everybody. They see a problem in every opportunity. They find fault and trouble in every situation. They do not want to do anything because of problems that might appear. Nor do they want anyone else to do it simply because they themselves don't wish to be involved. America was not builded by people like this. Friendships are not formed by persons of this type. Happiness is an unknown quality to these individuals. They are miserable within themselves and make others miserable with their antagonisms. It makes good sense to be careful and alert, but it's better to face cares and problems in confidence and overcome them than to shrink from living and live a morbid existence because of negative thinking.

Governor Dolph Briscoe today asked the Attorney General of Texas to look into one of two possible areas of legal action to assist the livestock owners of this State in their long-standing battle against predators, according to Dr. Percy R. Turner, president of the TS&GRA.

The Governor further asked the Attorney General to see if Texas should join a Wyoming lawsuit or enter a suit on behalf of the State of Texas against the United States Department of Interior, Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Administration. This action was taken following a request by the TS&GRA that the State of Texas enter into the Wyoming lawsuit.

Turner explained that the State of Wyoming filed suit against the agencies listed and an effort to force them to fulfill their obligations in regard to predator control. The Predator Control Act of 1931 directed the Federal Government to eliminate losses due to predatory animals.

The suit further charges that the Environmental Protection Administration acted improperly in banning chemical toxicants for predator control. The suit states proper hearings were not conducted nor were the proper economical and environmental impact statements filed to warrant the actions taken.

The Wyoming suit also alleges the Executive Order of February, 1972 which prohibited Federal employees from using chemical toxicants was invalid because it did not comply with existing regulations.

"With all the talk about food shortages and the need for finding replacements for fossil fuels, it seems senseless for the Federal Government to prevent livestock owners from conducting an effective predator control program. It has been proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that the chemicals taken from our predator control programs can be used without endangering our environment," stated Turner.

To illustrate the losses due to predators, the Texas Crop & Livestock Reporting Service filed the following report. In 1974 Texas producers lost a total of 532,000 sheep and lambs from one cause or another. The same Service reported losses of 479,000 head in 1973. Of the total 1974 losses, 200,000 were grown sheep, 197,000 were lambs that died before they were marked, and 135,000 were lambs lost after marking.

The agency said predators accounted for most lamb losses - 65 percent of those lost after marking and 57 percent of those lost before marking. Coyotes were blamed for 62 percent of the losses of marked lambs and 40 percent of unmarked lambs.

In grown sheep, predators were blamed for 32 percent of total losses, and coyotes were deemed responsible for 75 percent of losses due to predators. Disease and other known causes accounted for 43 percent of deaths and losses among grown sheep.

The full impact of these figures can best be understood by stating that the American Consumer lost over 20,000,000 pounds of red meat...20,000,000 pounds of meat which rotted and decayed in Texas pastures because of unsound, unfounded rules enforced by uninformed individuals. This does not take into consideration the huge amounts of wool lost.

Turner stated that similar information is not available on goats, but experience has shown ranchmen that goat losses due to predators are greater than in sheep.

In pointing out the tremendous economic importance of the sheep and goat industry to the State of Texas, Turner emphasized that these industries contributed approximately 85 million dollars to the economy of the State in 1975. He further stated because of the excellent financial gain in the industry due to strong markets, the industry could reasonably expect to double in size in the next ten years if the predator situation could be corrected. It is a well-known fact that sheep and goats can make use of lands not suited for any other type of agricultural production and provide highly sought after products as well as a good return on the investment.

Turner closed by saying that the sheep and goat industry is deeply indebted to Governor Briscoe for his positive action in behalf of the livestock producers of Texas.

This was the week that was, and BHS students are glad it's gone. Traditionally known as "Dead Week," quarter finals were given this week. It means that the school year is two-thirds over. Around the campus, however, it was anything but dead. Spring activities are in full bloom.

The athletic banquet last Tuesday night honored all Tiger athletes and was a huge success. Roland Williams, voice of the fighting Tigers, was the master of ceremonies. All the coaches and teams were honored. Receiving a special plaque was Mr. Buster Dooley, who donated the land for the new sports complex. The guest speaker was Drew Pearson, wide receiver for the Dallas Cowboys. Mr. Pearson's inspirational speech pointed out the need for the winning attitude toward life and highlighted the need for teamwork. Perhaps the best thought came from graduating senior quarterback, Mark Tidwell, when giving the response to the coaches. He said, "I wish I could do it all again." Charlie De la Rosa offered the invocation and Traci Roselle closed with the benediction. Plaudits go to the Booster Club for a most enjoyable evening.

As if we didn't know already, spring is just about here and the spring sports are underway. The tennis and track teams are working out and meets are already scheduled.

Spring also means U.I.L. literary and music competition are just around the corner. One act play goes to Uvalde April 3. Mr. Lugo and his band will be on the road March 26 for their events. It was almost like football season again to hear them practicing at 7:30 a.m. Those students, namely Venita Gum, who play tennis, are in the band, and have a role in the play, will never gain weight. They do not have time to eat!

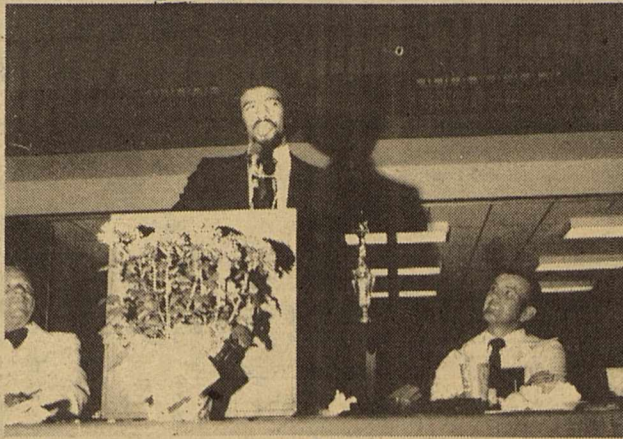

Culture will soon invade the BHS campus. Or rather, several BHS students are going to invade culture and San Antonio at the same time. March 27, a bus load of Brackett students will go to the Alamo City to see a performance of Richard Wagner's opera, "The Flying Dutchman" Opera, for those not in the know, is a form of music. It has been described all the way from "absolutely beautiful" to "it sounds like Mr. Hall's dog when its got a coon tree'd." At any rate, it promises to be a fun day. The students will be sponsored by Mr. Lugo, Mrs. Young, and Mrs. Howard.

The National Honor Society is busy planning their spring project-- a bike-a-thon. However, perhaps some should wait for grades to come out before they count themselves in N.H.S.

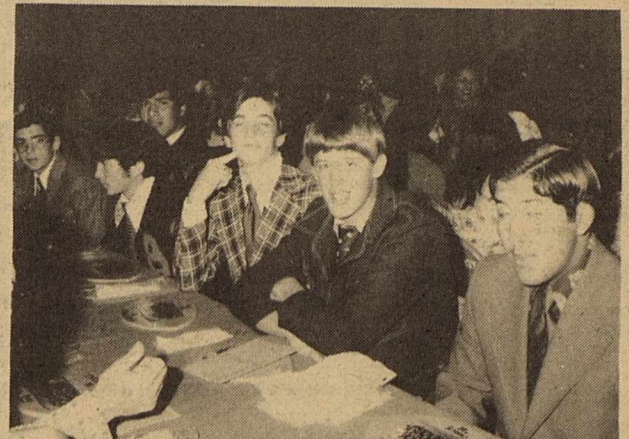

Monday night will be the Brackett Independent School District's open house for Texas Public School Week. All parents are cordially invited to come visit the schools and meet the teachers. Visitors are welcome anytime at our schools, but particularly this next week. As has been said so often, "The nation's wealth is its children." The Brackett schools work very hard to give each child what he needs for his future.

The history and English classes of Mr. Jim Collett and Mrs. Vicki Howard are in full swing, working on the history of Kinney County. If you have pictures, books, or memories, let them know and they will be in touch with you.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

One of the main reasons this country is suffering from an energy shortage today is that we've had twenty years of ill-conceived Federal regulation on the domestic production of natural gas.

Texans have been fortunate so far. Our own producers have been free of Federal regulation, free to explore and produce and sell our natural gas to the people of this state. The result has been that gas supplies here have remained relatively plentiful and available to our citizens.

Unfortunately, despite the recent Senate passage of my bill to gradually deregulate natural gas, the House of Representatives came up with its own version of the legislation. It would not only continue these unrealistic Federal controls across the country, but it would extend them to gas produced and used solely within our state.

This is totally unacceptable. I strongly opposed the natural gas bill passed by the House, and will fight against it and any other legislation that gives the Federal government control of gas produced and sold in the State of Texas.

We need less Federal regulation, not more. We cannot stand by and watch the needless natural gas shortage not only continued, but extended into Texas. We cannot stand by and allow disastrous Federal controls to victimize Texans, as they are victimizing the consumers of the rest of the country.

The Bentsen bill would continue protecting Texans from the fuel shortages plaguing other Americans. And it would extend the system that has worked so successfully in our state to the rest of the country. Especially vital is a provision that would give residential users a priority to the old and cheaper natural gas already committed to the pipeline.

This means that homeowners, who everyday depend on natural gas to heat their homes and perhaps cook their food, will have the first bid on the less expensive interstate gas available. This means that their budgets will be considered first, and their pocketbooks favored.

That's the way it should be, and that's the way it has to be. I will continue pushing for final passage of my legislation. And I will continue fighting against any system that promises only to aggravate the gas shortage nationwide, as well as seriously reduce the amount of natural gas available to Texans.
