Billy Joe Dupree, tight end for the Dallas Cowboys, was the highlight of the evening as he presented his speech to the young athletes of our community.

Sidewalks around the concession stand of the Little League Baseball diamond were being poured Wednesday afternoon by the Kinney County Construction Company and Baker Construction Company. This is just another step toward the improvement of our community.

TIPS FOR GREEN THUMBS

by: JOE TOWNSEND

If you have plants, you should inspect them carefully and often. At this time many insects thrive. Just a casual glance at plants may not reveal them. The most prominent one now is a small creature that looks like a minute light green watermelon. They are prolific and multitudinous. They will cover a plant. Usually they begin at the center or heart of the plant and will cover the stems, trunk and leaves. As soon as noted they should be sprayed with an effective insecticide. There is no better spray available across the counter than Diazanon. It is marketed under many brand names. In this area the most popular one is Spectracide. It can be bought in liquid condensed form, diluted as per instruction on the container and sprayed with any household sprayer. It is available also in aerosol containers. Don't hesitate to use the aerosol sprays any time.

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN

The people who really make a city go are those who do their job in a way that not only helps them but contributes to the on going of the city through a job well done.

"Chuy" Munoz has done a very great deal to contribute to the City of Brackettville with very little recognition. He began in a very small grocery business about 30 years, in a building about the size of the Juarez Barber Shop. He gradually added to the building until it was a rather large store for the time. It always was so full of merchandise it gave a crowded appearance. Finally about 8 years ago he built the new spacious building which now houses "Chuy's Minimax". His store has become one of the bulwark businesses of the town. He has since added the Laundrymat. His beautiful home adds much to the fine appearance of Ann Street.

While developing his business he has taken time to serve his community well. He served on the School Board for a number of years. He has worked on the City Council. He was very active with the Chamber of Commerce and one of the Key personnel in the establishment of the Frontier Fair. He participated on the Library Committee and was a strong worker and supporter of the United Fund.

At one time under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce he led in an intensive survey of the area to seek and determine the labor market. He has served as President of Rotary and was the local "Father" for foreign exchange students.

This is the kind of person who must be counted as an outstanding citizen of our town and county.

CP&L NEWS

Customer bills from Central Power and Light Company which begin going out this week will reflect the changes required by the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

CPL Manager Jerry Simpton said "the rates ordered by the commission were the first to be reviewed by the PUC and reflect a change in CPL's rates. Customers are first billed on the basic cost of service, then a level charge per kilowatt hour for energy usage.

Also for the first time the fuel cost factor will be set out as a separate item.

The basic charge for service inside smaller towns and in rural areas is $5.35 which includes the first 50 kilowatt hours. Additional usage is billed at the level charge of 2.29 cents per kilowatt hour. Customers inside the city limits of larger towns and cities will be charged $4.35 for the first 50 kilowatt hours. Other charges are the same for all residential customers.

Added to the basic charge will be the fuel adjustment representing the cost of fuel used to generate those kilowatt hours. Bills will also show sales taxes.

Simpton said that a customer inside the city limits using 500 KWH (kilowatt hours) would pay $26.23 including fuel and taxes, or $49.08 for 100 KWH. He noted that the amount would vary from month to month due to fuel cost differences.

Other changes include a $5.00 (formerly $2.50) customer account fee which will be charged for each new account when service is connected at the customer's request, and a $4.00 return check fee assessed for checks that have been returned from the bank and redeemed by the company.

The commission required rates to be "Cost Effective," saying "That the Commission is sensitive to the need to move all rates in the direction of costs, but is also aware that such movement should not be so abrupt as to place undue hardship on any one class of rate payers, therefore, the Commission is adopting a modified version of the rate structures proposed by the company and the Commission Staff."

Out of the $36.7 million requested by the company the Utility Commission found that CPL needed $23.4 million in new revenue to maintain standards of service and be financially sound.

A GOOD COMMAND OF WORDS MEANS KNOWING WHEN TO KEEP 'EM TO YERSELF!

YOUR REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS:

Senator Bill Patman said today he found it "very strange" that the "number one, star witness for SB 615 at the Senate hearing last Monday was not a representative of the finance companies who have the biggest interest in this bill and should be proving their own case. Instead, he was, by his own admission, a big time banker whose giant bank holding company--First International Bankshares, Inc, of Dallas--has 7.2 billion dollars in assets, but does less than 5% of its total business in the field of consumer loans."

Patman said "it is hard to understand the connection, although I have recently discovered that two of Mr. Presley's fellow Directors of the First National Bank of Dallas are also on the Board of Directors of Associates Corporation of North America. ACNA, of course, is the big finance company in Dallas whose president persuaded Senator Adams to sponsor SB 615. Perhaps Mr. Presley was speaking for these friend.

"Or perhaps Mr. Presley was thinking of those banks like his which issue Bank-American and/or Master Charge cards. Present rate charges on these credit cards could be raised, if SB 615 passes--and not just charges on loans made against these cards, but also on regular monthly payments that are late.

"The gut issue regarding SB 615," Patman continued, "is whether the finance companies and others who will benefit from this bill can show a real justification for the high increases they are asking. So far, they have given us not one shred of evidence that this heavy added burden on the Texas consumer is really needed.

"In fact, the only concrete evidence we have heard -- evidence presented last Monday by my witness against the bill-- proves that at least one huge national company that does business in Texas, Dial Finance, is doing extremely well at present rates."

Patman's witness at the Monday hearing was Mark Leymaster of Boston, Massachusetts, an attorney for the National Consumer Law Center, Inc. Leymaster produced records form an exhibit that Dial Finance Company submitted at a rate hearing last year in Massachusetts. At that time, Dial maintained that Texas was the 11th most profitable state of the 35 in which it does business. Dial's exhibit revealed a 17% profit on its equity during its Texas operations in 1975.

"If these big out-of-state loan companies are sincere in their claim that they need higher rates to stay in business, let them open their books fully and give us all the facts about their operations in Texas. Then, and only then, can we decide realistically whether we must, as they insist, tighten the financial thumbscrews on the people of Texas."

"This strongly suggests," said Patman, "that other finance companies with efficient management in Texas are probably doing well, too. Sixteen of these national conglomerates do 85% of the small loan Business in Texas."

Some changes have been made in your CPL bill.

Now, fuel costs will be shown as a separate item.

The electric bill you receive from Central Power and Light Company has been designed so that it will meet new requirements of the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

The fuel charge you have been paying is now shown as a separate item on your bill from CPL. The money from this charge is used for only one purpose -- to pay for the fuels needed to produce your electricity. None of this money is used for profits or for any other expenses.

Your bill will be similar to the one shown here with base rate and fuel cost charges included among the separately listed items. We've prepared a line-by-line guide that should make these items clear:

LINE ONE -- is the base rate portion of the monthly bill. The sample bill shows: Rate 11 (a residential rate); the previous meter reading of 6974, and the latest meter reading of 7974, the KWH (kilowatt hours) used (7974, less 6974), for total KWH use of 1000, and the amount of this portion of the bill.

LINE TWO -- shows the fuel cost you have been paying as part of your old total bill, but which is now broken out separately. Your fuel charge is based on the total kilowatt hours you use each month. The eight-digit number shown to the right of the word FUEL is the fuel cost factor. It is determined by dividing the amount of money CPL spent for fuel by the kilowatt hours the company sold. This fuel cost factor is then multiplied by the number of kilowatt hours used by you, the individual customer.

LINE THREE -- is PREVIOUS FUEL. Because of the time lag between the date CPL bills you, and the date our fuel suppliers bill us each month, we have to estimate a small part of the fuel expense. The PREVIOUS FUEL line allows us to make an adjustment as needed -- either lower, or higher -- to adjust the previous month's fuel cost estimate to actual cost.

LINE FOUR -- shows the amount of SALES TAX. This tax is collected for, and remitted to the State of Texas.

LINE FIVE -- indicates the due date and total amount you owe.

We hope this message answers any questions you may have about your new bill. If you need more detailed information, please contact your local CPL office.

CB BREAK

BY THE SKY PILOT

People on the CB are just what they are in the rest of life. When a breaker clears with "May the good Lord take a likin to you" or "God Bless you" it is apparent the person makes God and relationship to him an important part of his life. When a person clears with some suggestive or smutty remark you can know that person is crude and immature regardless of his age. When a person walks on others on the CB you can know he is a bully and overbearing in other ways in his life. When one hogs the channel with drivel and efforts to attract attention you can know he feels inferior and seeks to feed his ego. When a person in town breaks for an "east bound" or "west bound" and tells the one who answers his bound the other way when he's not on the highway this is not the only way he will be. He'll be a liar in other ways. When one uses his CB for his own selfish interests with disregard for others he reveals his ego centric character. When one is discourteous on the CB he will be lacking in courtesy elsewhere, The opposites are also true. One who is courteous and helpful on his CB or in use of it he will be that way in life. We are what we are all the time, we cannot long "play like" successfully because we reveal our true selves.

Have yourselves a real super weekend, we'll catch you later. We'll be 10-10 and 10-8. Thanks for the break. You have KOH 4856, the Sky Pilot here, we'll be doing it our way.

Living Proof

THE PROBLEMS FACED BY PEOPLE everywhere are much the same-especially the problem of trying to live life without God. Would you like to consider more compelling evidence that Jesus Christ can help you with your life? That's the reason for this "Living Proof" message--to help as we think of God's love in Christ and His call to faith and repentance.

The members of the First Baptist Church are happy to announce the Good News Revival for March 20th thru 27th. The services will begin at 7:00 p.m. each night. Gene Bynum of Kerrville, Texas will be our evangelist. WE INVITE AND ENCOURAGE ALL TO COME.

BETWEEN US

BY: JOE TOWNSEND

The other evening we had gone to Del Rio. When we started home about 10 o'clock, the air was brown haze. It was readily recognizable as dust. For two days this dust settled without clearing the air. It covered everything available. It caused many to have respiratory problems. It was in every respect disagreeable and as far as I can know did nothing but harm. However, as I experienced it two big sighs of thankfulness welled up in my mind. In the dust bowl days, 1933 to 1937, this was a common occurrence where we lived and of such intensity as to make this week almost unnoticable. As I look back now it is almost unbelievable. I'm thankful it's not as bad as it was then. Also when I see the color of the dust I can see it came mostly from the southern plains area of northwest Texas. I'm thankful I was here instead of there where the sand drifted before the wind to cover fences, highways and anything standing in its way. In an area where the paint on cars was sand-blasted away, windshields were pitted, and chrome in bumpers dulled. How much worse to have been there. I'm thankful it was as good as it was. And so with any problems or distasteful situations of life. Someone, somewhere has it much worse. I'm happy with situations I face over which I have no control because I'm having it better than others and it could always be so much worse for me. There's great value to be found in "Look for the Silver Lining."

TEXAS GOES FRENCH

Alamo Village, Brackettville, Texas, home of movie making Texas Longhorn cattle and training ground of famous entertainers such as RCA recording star Dotts, was the subject of a travelogue made for French TV. Jacques Alexandre and Rolf Schmeer of J.P. Blondeau Productions came to Texas from Paris, France to film cowboys and their life-style in the twentieth century. They shot pictures of the men at work roping Texas Longhorns and rounding up cattle; plus shots of the bunkhouse, the cookout and even the vaqueros singing to a guitar around a campfire.

Also in the same week, Houston's M.F.C. Production and film crew were at Alamo Village under the command of veteran producer Frank Dobbs to make a commercial for a sensational new Bar B Que cooker.

WILDLIFE GRASS PLANTING

Improved grasses have made a major impact on increasing the quality and quantity of forage produced in Southwest Texas. The spring planting season offers stockmen an opportunity for increasing the acreage of these profit stretching plants.

Kleingrass, one of the more popular grasses for livestock, can also be managed to increase food and cover for wildlife. Kleingrass produces a slick seed and is preferred food for quail and dove and many non-game bird species.

A dove hunter last fall bagged his limit of dove in a sunflower field about 1/4 of a mile from a Kleingrass planting. Kleingrass seed was the major constituent in the crop of all birds taken.

To achieve maximum production from Kleingrass for both livestock and wildlife, pastures should be deferred from livestock grazing following planting until Kleingrass is well established and has produced a seed crop. Following Kleingrass establishment, by grazing no more than one-half of the annual growth by weight and deferment during the growing season to allow production of a seed crop, a vigorous grass stand is assured along with quality wildlife habitat.

Assistance to land owners, on soil adaptations, seeding dates, rates and methods on all types of range and pasture planting is available from the Soil Conservation Service.

HOME GARDEN SHORTCOURSE

There will be a home gardening shortcourse for all interested people in Kinney County on Monday 21 at 1:30 p.m. at the Kinney County Courthouse. This shortcourse will include such items as preparing your garden for planting, important varieties to plant, proper planting, fertilizing, watering and harvesting techniques, disease and insect control and other important topics. Jerry Parsons District 13 Vegetable Horticulturist will present most of the program. Gardening time is near so this shortcourse should be most beneficial for all.

ing arts administration. Teaching and clerical vacancies will not be a part of the program.

Many arts-related jobs are temporary, and artists often have to live from one commission to the next.

"Unemployment can run as high as 50% in the arts," states Maury Coats, Director of the Commission. "Artists are frequently forced to accept jobs outside their creative field in order to make even a small living wage."

While a few artists of unusual ability can demand very high salaries and fees, most artists struggle just to meet minimal living costs. By initiating ARTS-JOBS the Commission hopes to widen the job opportunities for artists to work in their chosen fields, rather than pick up a living being short-order cooks.

The Commission does not act as an employment agency, but rather offers ARTS-JOBS as an efficient method of listing employment opportunities.

ARTS-JOBS is geared toward professional and para-professional positions in the arts, includ-
