DRESS REVUE

Fourteen young fashion publishers competed in the Kinney County 4-H Dress Revue, Saturday at the Courthouse in Brackettville.

Qualifying for the District Dress Revue by headlining the Senior Section (ages 14-18) was Kimberly Baxter, daughter of Mr. Duane Baxter. Winner of the Junior Column (ages 11-13) was Cindy Miers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miers. Top of the Preteen Page (ages 9-10) was Cindy Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer. In recognition for their front page standing they each received a blue ribbon and a red rose. The flowers were donated by the Sagebrush Shoppe.

These three top winners will represent Kinney County at the District 4-H Dress Revue to be held July 26 at Wonderland Shopping Center in San Antonio.

The "Fashions With a Future" 4-H Dress revue was built around a newspaper theme using black and white with red accent color.

Helping to print this edition of "Fashions With A Future", Kaye York handled the copy desk. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Cindy Meyer with Cindy Miers leading the 4-H Motto, Pledge and Prayer.

Editors were introduced by Delma Villarreal, and Kimberly Baxter recognized the 4-H Clothing project staff. Objectives of the 4-H Dress revue were outlined by Ginger Shamblin. Commentator for the show was Becky Rogers, County Extension Agent-at-Large for Kinney County.

Awards were presented by Paula Ragsdale, 4-H Clothing Leader. Laura Perry was in charge of closing the program.

Editors for this special 4-H event included Mrs. Shirley Kellner, Mrs. Lucille Stewart and Mrs. Leesa Smith. The were 4-H clothing project leaders from Del Rio.

Young fashion publishers who modeled their outfits and the ribbon they won included the following:

Additional responsibilities in putting together this special edition of "Fashions With a Future" and the staff members who carried them out were as follows: Mrs. Nancy Villarreal took care of arrangements; Mrs. Sylvia Meyer was in charge of decorations; Mrs. Paula Ragsdale judged the Dress Revue entry records, and Mrs. Frances Delgado tallied scores.

The following individuals and businesses were recognized for their support and cooperation in carrying out this special 4-H event:

Honorable Judge Tommy Seargeant and the county custodial staff for their fine cooperation in carrying out our 1977 Kinney County 4-H Dress Revue; The Sagebrush Shoppe for donating flowers for the winners; The 4-H mothers for donating the centerpiece and providing refreshments; The Kinney Cavalryman for coverage of this special 4-H event.

The dress revue is a national 4-H awards program sponsored by Somplicity Pattern Company in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

Whoever you are, whatever you do, 4-H has a place for you.

They will also be able to look at different hand crafts made by the Indians. This Pow-Wow will become an annual activity with an all American Indian Rodeo.

The following is a Pow-Wow Prayer: Great Mystery, The Keeper of the Fire, has now lit the Flame of Friendship within Our Hearts. So let this Light of Love and understanding show its glow even Brighter from Brother to Brother, Tribe to Tribe and be always pleasing to thine eyes.

Make of all the things,
Hear Our humble Prayer.
Amen

KAYE YORK HONORED

Kaye York, Brackett High School graduate, was honored Wednesday, May 18, by her aunt, Mrs. Charlie Ward.

The school colores of black and gold, highlighted the decor. A gold cloth was used on the serving table and a small black wash pot held the chrysanthemum arrangement. An assortment of antique school bells and lighted candles accented the center piece.

Refreshments consisted of dips, chips, finger sandwiches, and cookies. Banana cake, made from a recipe used by four generations of York's, was enjoyed also.

After playing games, Mrs. Ward presented antique glass insulators to all the girls, as a memento of this "special" occasion.

Kaye is the daughter of Mrs. & Mrs. Joe York, Jr.

WORLD INTEREST IN RANGELAND

EDITOR'S Note: The Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Uvalde will host its first official FIELD DAY at the Rio Grande Plain Experimental Ranch, June 1. This article is one of a series of stories on rangeland, beef cattle and wildlife research underway at the ranch.

Uvalde-Disruptions by unfavorable weather and buffeting by new economic and political policies in the world food market has brought one of our most neglected agricultural resources suddenly into focus.

Rangelands have long been an overlooked part of the total agricultural picture in the United States, but the volatile condition of the world food situation since 1972 has vaulted more than 715 million acres of American rangelands to a new importance in providing food and fiber.

Of the more than 20 million acres of land in the Rio Grande Plain of Texas, at least 75 per cent are considered rangeland. Located in this rangeland area is the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center which was established in 1971 to work on agricultural production problems in the area.

Since groundbreaking time, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has assembled a team of seven scientists whose research goals have been evolving with the changing world food situation. Five of these are team members of the range resources utilization task force.

Their team approach to research is aimed at maximizing rangeland use and making productive use of these lands normally classified as too dry, too ricky, or too brushy for intensive agriculture.

"Recognizing a need for tangible facts on how to best use our rangelands and on the breeds of animals which can most efficiently utilize forages grown there, we sought a place where we might do research under Rio Grande Plain conditions," said Dr.

Stewart Fowler, resident director of the Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Uvalde.

The result was that in 1975, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station negotiated a 10-year lease on a 10,433-acre ranch owned by N.G. Cummings and Family of Houston. Located near Spofford and now known as the Rio Grande Plain Experimental Ranch, the property was leased to provide the Uvalde Center with its rangeland research facility.

The research efforts there have begun and scientists will take their first opportunity June 1 to show the public exactly what is being done on the ranch. This will be the first official Field Day the Uvalde Center has sponsored at the ranch since the agreement was signed.

Field Day visitors will have an opportunity to view results from research in five areas on the ranch, and will be able to observe first-hand how a completely coordinated research team approach works to find answers to agricultural problems.

Team members at the ranch are helping each other in a multidisciplinary approach instead of operating completely independent studies. "For example," Dr. Fowler said, "the range nutritionist will assist the range scientists in determining the nutritional values of various range plants.

"The nutritionist also will

assist the beef cattle researchers by analyzing what the cattle are actually eating on the range to determine what nutritional needs are being met."

Dr. Fowler said another example of cooperation is between the wildlife researcher and cattle researchers who work together to find a proper balance between brush removal and deer promotion, and also to determine the optimum balance between wildlife and cattle numbers.

"By pooling their findings, the range research team hopes to arrive at an integrated body of reliable information that the commercial ranchers of the Rio Grande Plain can convert for use on their own ranches," the Resident Director said.

In addition to heading the overall research program which includes crops and horticultural research, Dr. Fowler serves as a beef cattle specialist member of the range research team.

Helping with the continuing evolution of research goals suited to the needs of producers in the Rio Grande Plain area has been a 10-member Ranch Steering Committee of regional stockmen and agribusinessmen. This committee meets periodically to review the progress made at the ranch and to advise scientists concerning management problems and procedures encountered on the ranch.

The committee also makes recommendations on new research proposals, passing judgement on project need or practicality. The committee represents the 19-county area served by the Uvalde Research and Extension Center. N.G. Cummings of Houston and Ross C. Watkins of Uvalde serve as ex-officio members.

The active committee at present includes Charles Griffin, Jr., of Uvalde; Robert Bracher of Uvalde; James F. Bader of Brackettville; Al Brothers of Laredo; Les Brandes of La Pryor; Glenn Brinkman of Kerrville; Charles Schreiner III of Mountain Home; Tom Risinger and Jerry Allen of San Antonio; and Leroy Williams of Carrizo Springs.

"These men have helped start us down the road toward achieving some of the tangible facts we need to make the best use of our rangelands in South Texas," Dr. Fowler stressed. "We are just beginning, but we now have a base from which to work and should be able to gather some important results."

Given the renewed recognition that forages remain basic to the ruminant livestock industry, the range research in Southwest Texas is certain to be needed and useful for many years to come.

This weekend, call both families for practically the price of one.

It's true! This weekend—and every weekend between 11 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday—you can place two Long Distance calls for practically the price of one weekday evening call, when you dial the 1+ way.

For example, a 10-minute call to someone a thousand miles away weekday evenings (5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday-Friday) would cost you $2.44, plus tax. Which, you'll admit, isn't bad.

But for practically the same price, you could make two eight-minute calls over the same distance... any weekend.

It's almost like getting one call free!

So this weekend, enjoy a couple of Long Distance calls.

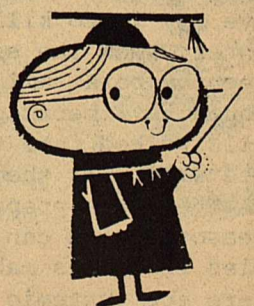

And make three families happy!

Long Distance.
What else is so nice for the price?

Energy-Saving Tips for Hot Weather

Every summer is hot, but the last four summers have not been as hot as in the past. If we have a normal South Texas summer this year, increased use of air conditioning could send your electric bills soaring. During the summer months more than half the electricity used in most air conditioned homes goes for cooling.

Fortunately, you can reduce your use of electricity substantially by using air conditioning wisely. Here are some suggestions to help:

- Have your air conditioner cleaned and checked each year to insure that it is running at top efficiency.
- Clean or replace the filter at least once a month, or preferably every two weeks.
- Keep the thermostat set at the highest comfortable setting, around 78 degrees. Keeping your house at 71 degrees could cost twice as much for air conditioning as a 78 degree setting.
- Keep the outside sections of central air conditioning units free of grass, leaves, shrubbery and other obstructions. The unit must have free circulation of air for good performance.

- Keep direct sunlight out of the house with shades or draperies. Trees, shrubs, awnings and shutters also can provide shading for your home and reduce the work load of your air conditioner.

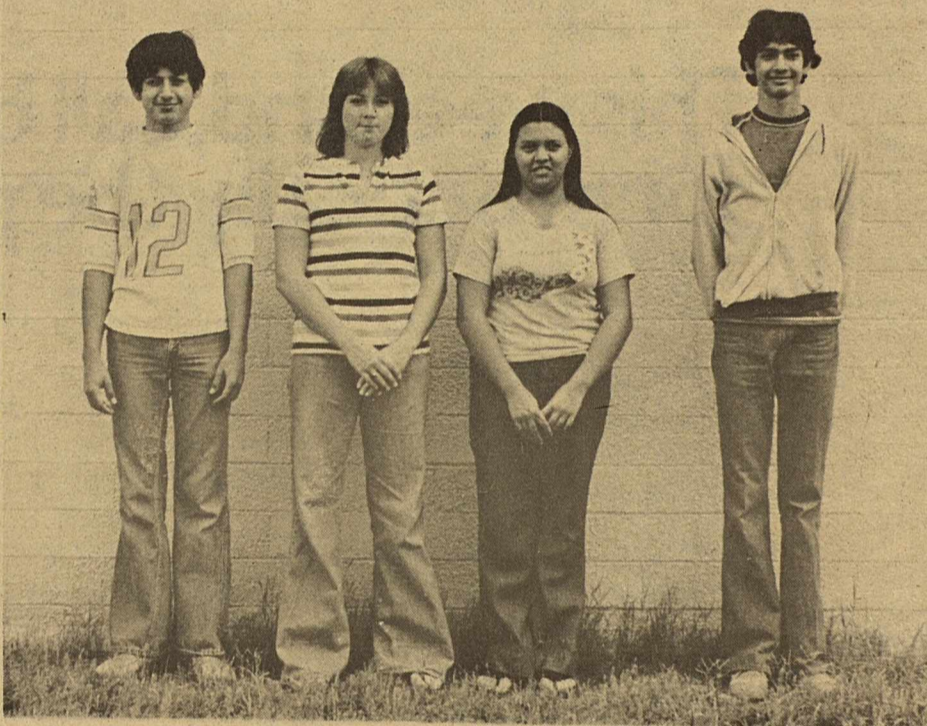

If you want more information on operating your air conditioning system more economically, we have a free booklet for you. Ask for "How to Save Money on Your Air Conditioning" at your local CPL office.

TIPS FOR GREEN THUMBS by:

JOE TOWNSEND

There is currently an outbreak of bores working on trees. These can be detected by small holes bored into the trunk of the tree. These holes are as neat as though bored with a bit. These bores then get into the tree and eat the tree. They can kill the tree. There are available some threathments to kill these bores. The best and most effective way is to kill them during the winter. When the sap goes down in the tree the bore will return to the ground. A liberal portion of noth balls worked into the soil around the tree will kill them.

There are preparations containing creasote which can be applied to the holes the bores make and can be helpful. There are systemic insecticides such as Dy-sis-tom which when worked into the soil out to the drip line of the tree will infiltrate the tree to kill any insect that eats on the tree--bark trunk or leaves. When used according to instructions it is most helpful and offers little danger. Don't let bores kill your trees because of neglect.

BAND CONCERT HELD

The Brackett Tiger Band held their traditional Spring Concert and Spaghetti Supper Tuesday night at the Brackett High Auditorium.

A large crowd gathered to enjoy the meal and listen to an outstanding performance.

The Band was given a short intermission at which time awards were presented to the outstanding students by director Leo Lugo. Those awarded were: Musician of the Year - Ruben Esparza; Soloist of the Year - Kimberly Trant; Most Progressive Student - Joe Cruz; Best Marching Boy - Mike Schwandner - Best Marching Girl - Blasa Flores - Best Squad - Martina Valdez, Gina Esparza, Oscar Pena, Lisa Schafer; District Medal Winners - Lou Ann Lindeman, Oscar Pena, Margaret Starzel, Ruben Esparza; Twirlers - Lou Ann Lindeman, Kathy Dyer, Dawn Slubar; Drum Major - Venita Gum.

One of the highlights of the evening was the participation of some of the Brackett exes who played a selection with the band.

As I watch the humming birds feed I notice one side of the feeder is totally neglected. I go to see why and find a wasp. He is feeding at one hole but the humming birds are leaving three holes untouched. I doubt that any of the birds have been stung by a wasp so I wonder why they are so afraid of the much much smaller creature.

It seems to me we are moving more and more into a society and world laboring under a psychosis of fear much like the hummingbirds treat the wasp. We see a grave miscarriage of justice which we might be able to prevent, but we shy away because "we don't want to get involved". We hear of someone with problems - we shy away because we don't want to get involved. We hear someone spreading gossip which we know to be untrue, but we keep our mouth shut because we don't want to get involved. We too often weigh the importance of a question on a basis of "what people think" or more often "what people will say." Much good is never done because we shy away because of what some people (usually irresponsible misfits) will say. For the past 40 years our pinkie State Department has charted a course for America that led and assisted Communism to spread like a prairie fire. All because of fear that Russia or Communist China "might" get involved. Even the news media of the major networks has supported and fostered this practice. What a far cry from the principles that have made our nation great. An analysis of the situation makes us feel our nation is no longer "The Home of the Brave." As this is true we shall soon no longer be "The Land of the Free." When will we as individuals return to the willingness to stand up and be counted for the right and when will the people send congressmen and senators and a President to Washington with strength and integrity enough to slough off the barnacles of fear and meaningfully sing "Long may our land be bright with Freedom's Holy Light."

Band Booster President, Louis Starzel, invited all exes interested in joining their organization, to get in touch with him. It is their hope that they will get enough members to be able to hold their own concert.

TEXAS SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS, INC.

Do you have glaucoma? If you don't think you do---Or just plain don't know---The Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness encourages you to "double check" with a free and painless test. These will be given Sunday, June 5, from 2-4 p.m. at the Civic Center in Brackettville.

Many people suffering from this major cause of adult blindness-- often called the "Sneak Thief of Sight"-- do not realize they have glaucoma until their vision is considerably damaged. The disease most commonly affects people in the 35-and-over age bracket.

The test, which measures the pressure within the eye, is a simple and painless procedure which takes about three minutes. All persons over 35 years of age are encouraged by the Society to have such an examination every two years.

The Community-wide screening program will be administered by James Speights, M.D. from San Antonio.

This free public service is being sponsored by the San Antonio Branch of the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the Extension Home Economics Advisory Committee for Kinney County, coordinated by Rebecca Rogers, County Extension Agent-at-Large.

FIELD DAY HIGHLIGHTS

It looks like a great deal of effort, but these girls hopped 50 yards to the finish line with smiles.

The shuttle relays were kept in line by Maxine Meyer, Ray Smallwood and Coach Simmons. Rene Villasenor has a ring-side view of the activities.

Just another 15 yards to go- Hope I don't fall ---

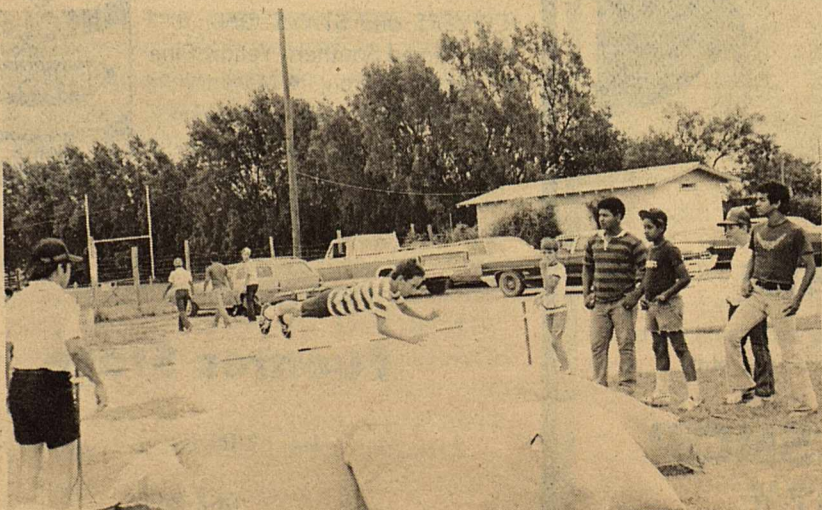

With a burst of speed, the 50 yard dash was run in record time.

The girls seem to be ahead by a neck - Don't drop that baton boys.

Coach Pena zeros in on the winners as they cross the line in the sack race.

Up - Up - and Over - Was that aswan dive over the high jump?

Coach Simmons holds his breath as the baton is passed off. Run boys.

GARDEN CLUB
NEWS

The Retama Garden Club held its final meeting for the 1976-77 club year as guests of Judge Tommy Seargeant and Mrs. Laura Seargeant at the Tommy Seargeant Ranch on May 17. Judge Seargeant told the story of the Kickapoo Cave and led a group of 22 members and guests through the main explored part of the cave, which was impressive by its size and the beauty of the rooms in the far reaches of the cave. Stalactites hung from the roof in a curtain of amber glass, and the light from the many flashlights and lanterns shone on them like many small, yellow diamonds. Some stalagmites were found on the rough rock-strewn floor. The air was cool and dry but the exertion of climbing over many large rocks on the floor of the cave soon proved to many whether or not they were in condition. Those who did reach deep into the cave were astonished by its magnitude and beauty.

The cave is divided into several large rooms, seemingly more beautiful than the other, especially so, when man first began exploring this immense cave, and before portions of the many stalactites and stalagmites were broken or disfigured by visitors who were not capable of appreciating the beauties of nature; however, there are many left. A visit to this cave is time well spent.

The temperature is that of a well air-conditioned building. At the extreme end, down deep in the cave, you will find a beautiful little spring of cold-clear water, where you can quench your thirst and really enjoy a few minutes rest before starting on the return to the entrance and out again into the sunshine.

The National Geographic Society has been interested in this cave for years. Dr. Nicholson, who was sent by the Society to explore Carlsbad Caverns, has also officially explored Kicapoo Cave. He made the statement that it was even more interesting and larger than Carsbad.

On returning to the Ranch House from the cave, the group enjoyed a covered dish dinner accompanied by Judge Seargeant's delicious barbecued chicken. The dinner was served on long tables under the spreading branches of magnificent oak trees which partly surround and arch over the large patio by the big, rambling, white ranch house.

What a fun day this was for the Club and how it has deepened our sense of values and the importance of preserving our ecology. Thank you, Judge Tommy Seargeant.

KAZEN IN WASHINGTON

The Congress last week gave final approval to a three-year reduction in income taxes, with the first direct benefits to most citizens due in June when payments withheld from pay checks are reduced. I am concerned over progress toward balancing the budget and reducing the national debt, but I supported this legislation to put more money into the private economy.

Under the new law, 46 million taxpayers, 90 percent of them with incomes under $20,000 will pay an average of $111 less because the standard deductions will rise to $2,200 for a single person and $3,200 for a couple filling a joint return.

The law also provides a new simplified filing system, so that about 95 per cent of the taxpayers will be able to compute taxes from one table.

INTANGIBLE COSTS OUT

Texans will be especially interested that the law absolves independent oil and gas producers from 1977 payments of the so-called "intangibles drilling costs" tax. With the nation needing the energy production of oil and gas, I felt this concession should be made to help exploration for new reserves.

Other elements include tax credits for employers who provided new jobs, postponement of sick pay and foreign salary tax liabilities, tax allowances for homes used as day-care centers, and special consideration for elderly persons in computing their retirement tax credit.

BULLOCK REPORTS

AUSTIN---Comptroller Bob Bullock announced that a representative from his San Antonio Northwest office will be in Brackettville, JULY 29 instead of May 27, 1977, to answer questions from taxpayers and provide assistance in filing tax returns.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer, C.P. Sylvester will be at the Kinney County Court House, Brackettville, from 10 a.m. to 12 NOON.

"I hope local merchants will take this opportunity to get any questions they have about the sales or franchise taxes answered," said Bullock. "A little straight information can save us both headaches."

The San Antonio Northwest office, headed by Richard Martinez serves Kinney, Kindell, Uvalde, Edwards, Medina, Kerr, Real, Gillespie and Bandera counties.

This service will be provided the last week in each month, dates to be announced.
