November 1, 1978

Dear Sir:

In October 16 edition of Review of the News there appeared an article by Rep. James Collins (R-Tex) concerning the 1979 Foreign Aid Appropriation Bill and the $7.2 billion it was allor-ted. Considering the tax question today, it might have appropriately been entitled "Have You Had Enough?"

Mr. Collins, among other things, points out that our tax dollar is slated to the World Bank (for international lending) and another $3.8 billion for direct foreign aid. While I feel that charity, which is supposed to be voluntary, is a noble trait; this operation long ago took on the color of a Robin Hood caper.

Furhter Mr. Collins notes, even though "we have double-digit inflation" and the National Debt is more that $750 billion, the Liberals voted to borrow $6.4 billion more of the taxpayer's money to give away in "futile attempts to buy friends." These friends who hardly bother to pay lip serivce to friendship as evidenced by their actions in the UN.

TO illustrate the real need these countries have of our help, let us look to India who is scheduled to receive $90 million. Last year "starving" India accepted 122,000 tons of wheat to Com-muist Vietnam. As if this was not enough, who intends to give Vietnam an additional 300,000 tons this year along with $50 million to supplement the $33 million she had already provided.

As strange as it may seem, I fail to detect the warm glow one is rumored to experience after helping the "less fortunate.." What I do feel however, is that once again we have been ripped off by a band of Robin's merry men.

I put to you the question, "Have you had enough?" If you have then consider the Liberty Amendment (H.J.Res.23) the only positive method of reducing taxes and wasteful spending. The Yes On 23 petitions can be found at the Wool & Mohair House in Brackettville.
Want to do more; write your Congressman!

Sincerely,
/s/C.F.Clements

Dear Sir:

I went to the football game Friday November 3, 1978, and I am wondering just what the coach of the Tigers was thinking about, or if he was thinking at all!

Brackettville has enough players on the team to run a platoon system, which would give the running backs a little rest. Its nice to have young men that can play 48 minutes of football, but they still get tired. What is our coach going to do when the seniors graduate this next year? The coach is going to... the freshmen who are now standing on the sidelines to have some experience. How are they ever going to get any experience if they never get to play!

Also, whatever, happened to the old tackle around the ankles? When I played football (4 years high school and 4 years USAF) if my coach caught any of us trying to tackle a man around the waist, unless it was a head-on, he would pull us out of the game.

I do not have a child on the Tigers football team, but I am interested in our team, and I hate to see a man miss his tackle because he is tired or hurt. Please coach, lets shuffle the players some-give them all a chance and give the big guys a rest.

Brackettville has a good team, they don't need to lose through thoughtless coaching.

Sincerely yours,
/s/ Leroy W. Hughey

BETWEEN US

By: JOE TOWNSEND

Last night I was out in the pasture after dark. Suddenly I heard a flock of geese flying high overhead. The sound told me cold weather is on the way. It's amazing how geese will flock together behind a lead gander and fly all through the night when cold weather is coming. When they reach their wintering ground they do their flying only in day light. I'm amazed at their sense of direction in the dark. Is it because the lead gander knows well the flyway? Is it because all the older birds remember well the way? Is there some mechanical device in their system to guide them? Do they fly purely by instinct? I guess it really doesn't matter as long as they reach their destination I guess they like to fly at night to reach their destination more quickly.

At any rate it is always an entrancing and thrilling sound to me, to hear the harbingers of winter, geese breaking the silence of the night as they call to one another in flight high overhead.

By: Martha Gomez

Counselor Lee Schemmerhorn accompanied the Seniors on a career day in Hondo. The career day consisted of several college representatives. Each representative provided the Seniors with information on different careers. Pam-plets were provided along with financial aid. College representatives gladly answered questions concerning the colleges. Sam Houston University, Texas A&M Taylor University, Texas A&I, Southwest Texas Jr. College, and Sul Ross were some of the schools represented.

Tigers Tripped up by Ponies

By: Adrian Reyes

Natalia stuned the Brackett Tigers and fans with a 31-7 win over the Tiger game, played at Brackett Tiger Field, over flowed with Tiger fans. In the first quarter both teams were scoreless. Things began to change in second in the quarter when in the second quarter when the Mustangs took command of the game with two aerial TD's. The extra points were converted for trimmings; making it 14-0 and a first half lead for the Mustangs.

Brackett "Dooms day" Defense seemed to loose its defensive claws in the second half. The Mustangs opened the second half with a 3-yard TD made by a Mustang split end. Hernandez of the Mustangs, converted the extra point. A safety added two points more. The Mustangs adding insult to injury. Scored another TD to their lead, along with another safety in the final period. But the Tigers would not be shut out completely. On an 18-yard pass from Steve Kral to Art Terrazas the Tigers scored. Nelson Payne converted the extra point leaving the final score Mustangs 31-Tigers 7.

DEAR LIZ:

Dear Liz:

My husband has left me for a younger woman. He is 25 and I am 37. I thought that everything was great with our marriage, and now he has taken up with this 20 year old hussy. What should I do?

"Old Broken Hearted"

Dear O.B.H.

Have you tried talking to him to find out what went wrong with your great marriage? Talk things over with a marriage counselor or your own preacher, very often a little talking can clear a whole lot of air. If nothing can be accomplished this way see a lawyer, but do try to make that the very last resort. I hope you manage to work things out, but remember it is not ALL the hussy's fault.

LIZ.....

Dear Liz,

My husband, who makes almost a million dollars per year, keeps coming home with lipstick on his shirts. What should I do?

"Trusting"

Dear Trusting,

First, decide what bothers you most. If you think you can live comfortably on any alimony the court may award you-divorce him. If you decide you cannot live that way-keep washing those shirts!!

LIZ.....

Dear Liz,

I enjoy cooking very much and I like to make up my own recipes. When my relatives and friends come over and taste my latest goodies they often ask me for recipe. While I really appreciate the compliment, I don't think I am being rude when I refuse, the trouble is the askers become offended. What is your opinion?

"Secretive"

Dear Secretive,

You are not obliged to give your recipes to anyone. When asked simple thank the person for the great compliment, and explain that you would like to keep your culinary secrets a little while longer. If they are really friends and if they truly care about you they will be contented to eat the goodies and not worry about how you make them. Invite me...I'll taste and not ask a single question.
