CP&L RATE HIKE ASKED

—headliners—

WHEELS FOR LIFE SPONSORS SOUGHT Kinney County, 1979--Riders for the September 29th, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels for Life Bike-a-thon are now asking Kinney Co. citizens to back their efforts by pledging a contribution for each mile they ride.

"The money our riders earn will help continue St. Jude's live-saving study of childhood cancer that has become so important to children all over the world," said Bike-a-thon chairman Charolette Corey.

"We'll be showing that we care about children by helping this cause," Charolette said. "Please support your rider with a generous pledge, and then help them get the funds to us as soon as the ride is over."

"Each rider will be given a lap card when they register at the starting point on Los Moras Rd. (across from Phillip 66 on Hwy 90) on Sept. 29" Mrs. Corey stated. "Every time they ride through the check point(s) we'll initial the card. At the end of the ride, we'll check it and sign it to show that the rider earned what the sponsor pledged." Riders will then return to the sponsors to collect the pledge.

"We'll also be giving them a hospital bracelet saying 'I'm riding for Lisa' to wear during the ride. I am sure most of them will still be wearing them while they make their collections." Lisa is a St. Jude patient who represents all victims of the illnesses under study at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

The riders starts at the Hwy 90 entrance to Los Moras Rd at 9:00 a.m. and will extend to a five mile return point on that road. There will be checkpoints each mile. Refreshments will be available for the riders. Mr. Morgan Bailey will be there to help assure the safety of the riders and helpers on the route.

"If you have not been asked to sponsor a rider, please call 563-2601 or 563-2884 and we'll get one to call you," Charolette said.

Riders can still obtain sponsor/registration forms at the library, Chuy's, B&S. Stop & Shop, and the First Baptist Church.

NEWS FROM CP&L

Central Power and Light Company announced that it is making preparations to file a rate increase request with the Cities it serves and the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Bob Range in announcing the action stated that since CP&L present rates were put into effect about three years ago, the company has invested more than $500,000,000. This investment is for new plants and other facilities required to serve the electrical needs of the company's customers. He indicated that in addition to the significantly increased capital costs to finance this construction, the high rate of inflation has caused a dramatic rise in current operating costs.

Range noted that detailed studies are now underway which are necessary for the filing before the cities and the PUC, and that those studies will be far enough along within the next few days to state the amount of the requested increase.

GUEST EDITORIAL

by: Joe Townsend

It comes as no surprise that Mr. Ted Kennedy will run for President. True to the Kennedy syndrome one can never depend on what he says. For months he has said he expected President Carter to run and he would support him. There he is asked to meet with the President and clearly discussed Mr. Carter dropping out of the race. When Mr. Carter refused to do this Mr. Kennedy was robbed of banner headlines. Now Mr. Kennedy insists his "peers" are demanding he run. That a man responsible for the death of a "girl for the evening" and whose wife hasn't lived with him for a year should even attempt to hold public office is reprehensible. Covered and Protected from prosecution by the "Kennedy" name, Ted has the arrogance to believe enough Americans will overlook his actions at Chapaquidik that he can be President. If is certainly true that Mr. Carter can not be re-elected. The fact that politican turn to Mr. Kennedy means the Democratic Party has no one who would make a likely candidate.

A trail balloon for Walter Mondale was shot out of the skies before it reached tree top level. Jim Wright couldn't even carry Texas. Who else? With Kennedy's track record turning to him means political concern for power-regardless of whom you vote for just for the sake of political power. Ted Kennedy is as responsible as any one man could be for world wide oppression by OPEC. Kennedy is as responsible as any one man could be for degrading the FBI and the CIA. Kennedy is as responsible as any one man could be for the run-a-way give-a-way programs in Washington. It was Kennedy who took money from taxpayers pockets and gave it to Crystal City because the radicals in control refused to pay for the gas they used. Almost any far out radical cause finds the endorsement and support of Mr. Kennedy. An honest appraisal of Mr. Kennedy's record as Senator would lead to his permanent retirement by the electorate. This however is the time he should run. If he beats Mr. Carter for the nomination he will easily be defeated by the American people. His national defeat may just be the key to his retirement from national politics. What greater blessing could we ask for politically?

BEING BROKE IS TEMPORARY ---

 JOE TOWNSEND

There is nothing worse than sectarian religious oppression.
 The Bishop of the Catholic Church in Corpus Christi sent a letter to each priest in his diocese telling each one to tell his parishioners not to contribute to the United Way in the area. One agency was included for $2,500 (an insignificant part of the more than $2,000,000 sought). The Bishop disliked the work of the Agency. Rather than simply expressing his dislike and concern and allowing people to make up their minds he put on all the pressure he could to force people to do his will
 The agency in question showed the true
 Christian spirit and withdrew its request
 The action of the bishop doubtless led to contributions to the agency that far exceeded meager $2,500 it requested from the United Way. This in the way God works.
 Religious oppression is never even truly self-serving. The agency in question will doubtless be in a better position to serve and the bishops desire to hinder the agency will back-fire. Had the bishop been of much intergity he wou-d have told the people not to contriute and not to avail themselves of the services of any agency represtned in the United Way drive. It is being a parasite to refuse to support but drain from any organization. GOD created man in His own image. A part of the meaning of this is that God gives man the right of choice.

 Even God will not trespass on a man's freedom to make a decision for the man.
 God points the way and leaves man to make the choice. When any man dares to intrude on the God given right of any man and pressure that man to follow his dictates he can never truthfully plead he is doing God's will and someday must answer to God for his sin of arrogant spiritual tyranny. Every true minister of God will certainly seek to lead people to make the right decision in any choice in life. He will tehn leave the decision to the individual to settle with his Lord and acts on his own violation. To do otherwise is to ride enough of God's word. Jesus fully expressed his anger over those who thus behaved in his castigation of the Pharisies.

Present Day Myths

by: JOE TOWNSEND

Government is to be the servant of the people--this has long since become a myth. Comes now a new bureaucracy. We all feel medical service is too expensive. There is scarcely a person who had had any hospital experience but that he feels the doctors fees and hospital costs are exorbitant. This I am in total agreement with. There is a rising tide of opinion among the non-thinking people demanding government medical services. Any clear thinking person knows this will only increase the cost. Now that Kinney County has come under the umbrella of a medical bureaucracy we can get a glimpse of the cost. What real medical service will $100,000 buy? Clinic services two days a week by "specialists" in certain fields--if there are ten patients a day. Patients are to be charged on the basis "of ability to pay" according to guidelines established by the giant give away agency in Washington. This means few people will pay. The program will likely mean the loss of witherone or both doctors, who came to serve the people of Brackettville two days a week. It entails ties with the hospital and doctors of Eagle Pass which is totally untenable and impractical. We are called to vote for directors of the bureau and will be handed a ballot of names one in a hundred people of Brackettville ever heard of--yet we are to entrust to their hands the medical well being of our boys and girls and elderly. Given the $100,00 we could have a full time doctor, a well staffed clinic and even add hospital rooms. So you think $100,000 is high. Medina County is receiving $1,000,000 to help rehabilitate two clinics and operate about like the one we are involved. For my part I'd rather pay my own hospital and doctor bills than have a Federal bureau reach into my pocket and take my money and spend 75% of it on administrative costs and give meager medical return. This is in fact what happens--
THERE ARE NO FREE LUNCHES!!

KAZEN IN WASHINGTON:

While the Congress was in recess during most of August, I had a welcome opportunity to get back to the District and visit with many constituents. There were a number of meetings where I was the main speaker, but equally useful were the conferences with interested groups of Texans and individual conversations with many concerned citizens.

I recognize that my job is to represent half a million fine people in the House, but the time to meet with them was both baluable and welcome. I have often said that Washington does not have a monopoly on the wisdom in the country, and once again I found it useful and elighting to sit with old and new friends to hear their opinion. In a way, I was able to re-charge my energy for the busy months ahead in this first session of the 96th Congress.

CONTROVERSIES AHEAD

WE face so many controversial issue that the session may last until Christmas. The energy program will be difficult to develop. Before the recess, the House approved legislation that would allow the President to ask for gasoline rationing if a 20 percent oil shortage developed, with other conservation authority if a shortage of 10 percent lasted a month or more. However, we said in our legislation that either House of the Congress could veto a rationing plan. The Administration does not like this restriction and may try to get it removed in the Senate.

The House has passed a windfall profits tax, which I opposed, and the signs are that the Senate will modify our bill and perhaps provide that oil companies could retain larger shares of profits if they invested the money in exploration and more development of domestic oil supplies. We in the House would then have to consider any revisions that are proposed.

These are wide-ranging tax decisions to be made, including possible action on a general tax cut to stimulate the economy.

MILITARY BILLS AHEAD

The House Armed Services Committee, on which I serve, is awaiting floor action on our military appropriations and construction bills. It may well be that the President will ask even more money for defense in an effort to reassure doubting Senators about the wisdom of ratifying the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty. It appears that the Senate will take some convincing on Soviet intentions before it approves the Treaty.

Controversy exists over whether the Soviet Union has combat troops in Cuba and whether this should be pertinent to the SALT Treaty debate. Certainly a careful watch on the situation is essential, because we do not want adverse action against our country or any other nation in our hemisphere.

BUDGET STILL AT ISSUE

As one of those who has introduced legislation to begin progress toward a balanced budget, I am greatly concerned about the costs of government. I readily accept the need for adjusting Social Security payments, military and veteran's pensions and federal employee pay scales as inflation increases its burden on the American people, but I believe we must vigilantly seek ways to cut waste in Federal programs and payrolls. When I presided over the Committee of the Whole House last week as we considered foreign aid, I again felt we must give priority to problems at home over generosity abroad.

There is a wide range of other problems, ranging from sugar price support legislation to hospital cost containment, from rail passenger service to final action on the new Department of Education, and scores of other issues. It certainly is going to be a busy fall season for the Congress, and I shall keep you posted on its progress.

TO THE PUBLIC

The First State Bank is still honoring the white counter Checks as well as the Yellow pocket size checks.

As customers order new checks they are being assigned account numbers. This is just the first step of converting to an account number basis. Eventually, the white counter checks and yellow pocket checks will be phased out: however, at this time they are as acceptable at the personalized checks.

If anyone has a question regarding this, please come by or give us a call!!

COMPTROLLER OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS BOB BULLOCK - COMPTROLLER

Austin-- Private Business laid state employees in the shade when it came to taking home state money this year, State Comptroller Bob Bullock reported Friday.

"Private businesses got nearly every third dollar we spent," Bullock said as the state closed its books on this budget this year.

Bullock said 226,000 private firms and individuals were paid $2.5 billion for goods and services they sold the state--" everything from lead pencils to trucks."

He said that 170,000 state employee took home a total of $1.9 billion in salary and benefits or almost 10 percent less than was paid to business.

"These hard dollar figures just don't bear out any idea that state employees are our biggest expense," Bullock said.

IN other state spending, grants to other levels of government--mostly school districts--accounted for $3.2 billion or 37 percent of the $8.6 billions budget.

Bullock said that "we don't know how much of this total money was spent in the private sector and how much went to salaries.

Confederate and Ranger pensions social security payments, insurance companies premiums, welfare and retirement payments amounted to nearly $900 million or 11 percent of the budget.

Bullock said that a detailed accounting of the budget for the year will be issued shortly.

PRESENT DAY MYTHS

BY; Joe Townsend

The law means what it says--More and more this is a myth. I note Mr. Mark White is beginning his campaign for Governor of Texas. His loud noise about suing Mexico for damage from the oil spill, his irresponsible bad mouthing of Governor Clements (along with "motor mouth" Gonzales of San Antonio) because of SEDCO and his prattle about oil on the beaches has to add up to one thing--his plans to run for governor. He is meticulous about interpreting the law in regard to vetos on spending exercised by the Governor. This is the same man who was Chief Officer of elections in Texas for several years. His position than was, "Pay no attention to the election code, if the opponents don't like let them sue. Long before and while I served as Democratic County Chairman, there were a number of people who had not lived in Kinney County for up to 30 years but who registered by mail and voted in this county

There were enough to determine the outcome of elections in one precinct. This was clearly a violation of the Texas election code. There were at the time others whose legal residences were in San Antonio and they registered and voted here. When this was brought to the attention of election judges and they called Mr. White, they were told "you must let them vote--if anyone doesn't like it let them sue." His concept then was let anyone do what they can get by with--make no difference what the law says. Clearly we don't need this kind of man as governor.

RANCH FIELD DAY SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER 3

Spofford--Rio Grande Plain and Edwards Plateau ranchers and agribusinessmen will get a progress report on livestock, range and wildlife research being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station near here, October 3.

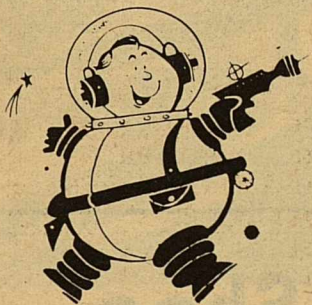

The Field Day on the Rio Grande Plain Experimental Ranch is held every other year. It will begin this year at 9 a.m. at Ranch headquarters. The Field Day is alternated between the ranch and the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, in Uvalde where vegetable and field crop research is conducted.

The 1979 Field Day will offer researchers in grazing management beef cattle, brush management, range nutrition and wildlife management an opportunity to brief the public on their research progress.

"By alternating our Field Days between the Spofford ranch and the Texas A&M Center, we think significant new research results will be available each two years for public view and discussion," Dr. Stewart Fowler resident director of the Uvalde Center.

"Our goal is to optimize the utilization of the vast range resources of the upper Rio Grande Plain and lower Edwards Plateau regions of Southwest Texas."

Fowler said the Field Day at the Rio Grande Plain Experimental Ranch will feature a tour of various research projects on the 10,443-acre ranch. The tour portion of the Field Day will break for a dutch-treat lunch. Discussion of research results will continue into the afternoon.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMANA RESOURCES

Convicted Child Abusers??

Should a convicted Child abuser be allowed to work in a day care center? Should a person be caring for your children who has been found guilty of assault, rape or any other crime against a person? Are convicted felons good guides for the raising of children? These are three issues of main points of interest to be discussed when the Texas Department of Human Resources (TDHR) holds a public hearing to revise the minimum standards at the Holiday Inn, Market Square, 318 West Durango, San Antonio on September 25. The hearings begin at 1:00 p.m. and again at 7:00 p.m.

State laws regulating the care of children require TDHR to periodically review the standards for care of children outside of their own home. The San Antonio hearing is one of twelve to be held across the state to review the standards. The state agency has made an attempt to reduce standards by deleting unnecessary requirements, duplications and informational narrative.

The only substantive changes proposed by the state agency that can be viewed as more stringent are those standards which relate to the character and investigation of employees of centers caring for children. TDHR has received many recommendations from day care centers, advisory groups and individuals pointing out the need for more careful screening of individuals in the child caring business.

The proposed standards include sections prohibiting three specific types of criminals from caring for children. Person who have been convicted within the preceding ten years of any felony, any misdemeanor classified as an offense against the person or a violation of any law enacted to protect children.

The proposed regulations will also provide a method of showing proof of rehabilitation, should a variance to the standards be requested. Additionally, any direct child care employee who is under the indictment or official alleging commission of the above crimes would be reassigned or removed pending resolution of the charges, according to the new standard.

MOST PEOPLE WANT TO WORK.....

Most people on welfare want to work if they can, and employees who hire them now will receive new tax incentives.

Jerome Chapman, commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Resources (DHR), said employers may claim a federal tax credit of up to $3,000 in wages paid the first year to these workers. They may claim $1,500 of what is paid in the second year. In Texas 1,845 tax credits have been authorized so far this year.

A tax credit had been available for several years to employers hiring welfare recipients enrolled in the Work Incentive program (WIN), or those receiving assistance from the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program. These tax credits, however, were only 20 percent of wages, and other provisions were not as liberal as contained in the new law.

The WIN program trains AFDC recipients in job skills and then helps them find work. It is jointly administered by DHR and the Texas Employment Commission.

All adult persons on AFDC must sign up to take a job unless they are disabled or have children at home under six years of age, or live too far from a WIN facility.

"However," Chapman said, "40 percent of those signing up to work are not required to do so. This indicates that contrary to what many people think, these people want to work."

Those who hire domestic help from WIN and the welfare rolls also can get a tax credit of 35 percent of the wages paid them during the first year of employment.

"This new tax break is a great incentive for the private sector to help itself while reducing welfare costs at the same time," Chapman said. "And it also gives many people who want to get off welfare a chance to do so."

To qualify for tax credits, an employer must:

--Hire the worker for a new job or one that had been vacant. The employer cannot put a welfare recipient into a job for which laid-off workers are awaiting re-call. Nor can the employer put the welfare recipient in a job that opens up because of layoffs, strikes, or lockouts. Neither can the employer provide a job by cutting wages, hours or benefits of other workers.

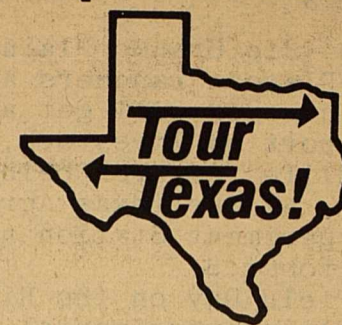

--Pay at least the minimum wage and follow health, safety, child labor, and worker compensation laws.

--Pay workers hired under the program the same wages and benefits as those in like jobs in the same firm.

--Retain those hired under the WIN program on the payroll for at least 30 days. If the employer hires a person in the AFDC program who for some reason is not in the WIN program, the employer can get a tax break if the person hired has been drawing AFDC assistance for at least 90 days.

Further information on the tax incentives may be obtained from local offices of the Texas Department of Human Resources, or the Texas Employment Commission.

Annual Brackett Booster BAR - B - Q

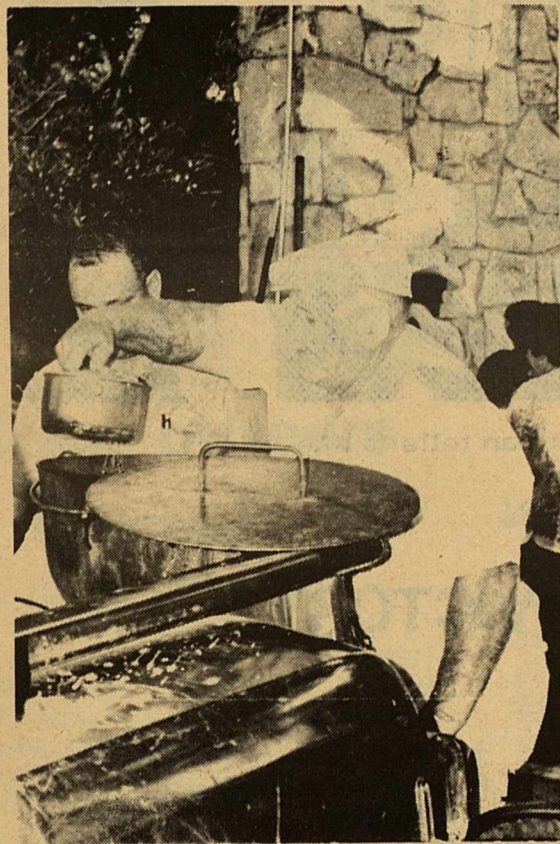

By Jim Lindeman

The 1979 Brackett Booster Club held their annual bar-b-que last Thursday evening, September 6 beside the Ft. Clark pool. Donations collected for the meal pays for the accident policies for the players.

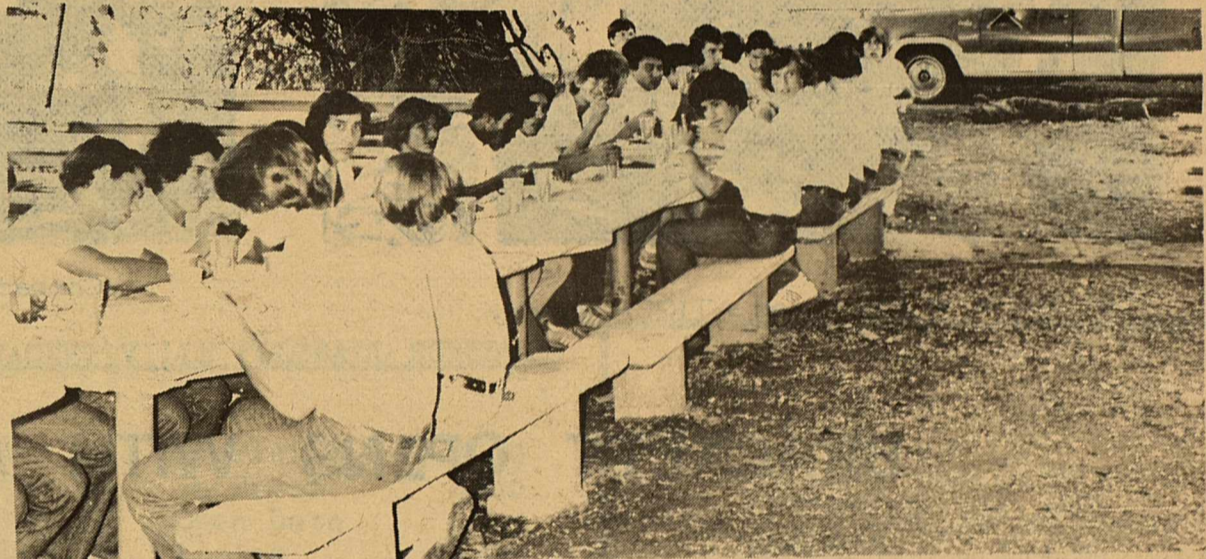

Charles Koch, Kenneth Hobbs, Alvin Hall, Sr., and Daniel Kral cooked the meat and Tony Rose brought a big pot of his famous beans. Mrs. Carl Esser baked a very special cake in honor of the team and the coaches.

Parents, booster club members and team members enjoy the meal

Mr. Rose serves some of his famous beans.

Tigers Cheerleaders

By Jenifer Burgess

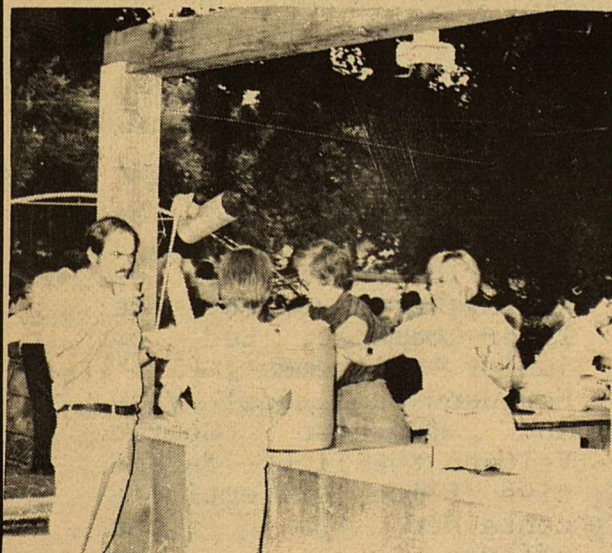

Last spring Brackett High School students elected their 1979-80 varsity cheerleaders. Dora Flores, denying that she would be elected was chosen as head cheerleader. She remarked that being head cheerleader "felt pretty good."

Dora also stated that being a cheerleader was hard work. Varsity cheerleaders have several duties and fund raising projects during the year.

During football season the cheerleaders must organize and conduct the pep rallies and make countless signs and posters. Each week the football players find special spirit boosters taped to their lockers.

To raise money for the materials needed for these activities the cheerleaders are selling activity calendars, tee shirts and football programs.

This year cheerleaders are: Dora Flores head cheerleader, Becky Benites, Bea Garcia, Jennifer Burgess, Lashawn Wardlaw, and Debbie Packer, mascot.

BRACKETT OPENS WITH A VICTORY

By Bill Ferguson and Kevin Kaplan

Starting the 1979 season off with a 32-6 romp over the Charlotte Trojans seems to indicate that this may well be the year of the Tiger.

Charlotte opened with a trick play which caught everyone by surprise including the fans. The extra point was missed. The quick touchdown did not discourage the Tigers however. Nelson Payne, the 215 pound fullback, scored the first Brackett touchdown from 11 yards out. The point after was wide. Albert Fuentes put six more points on the board after a 14 yard run.

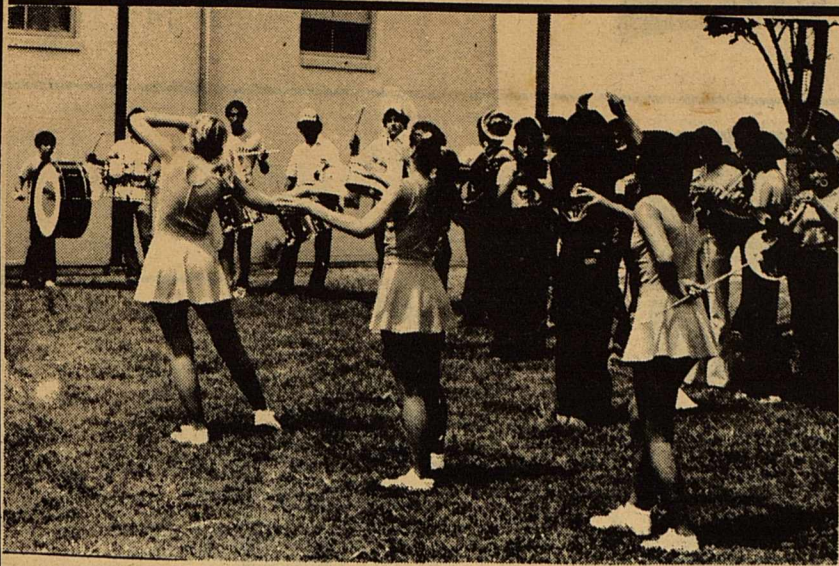

Other key players were linebackers Nelson Payne, Happy Cervantez, Mike Hidalgo and Thomas Meyer. The backfield manned by Arthur Goodloe, Roman Saenz, David Koch, and Albert Fuentes quickly put an end to the Trojan passing attack.

Two-way players Jim Lindeman and Kenneth Sweet added to the strength of the Tiger defense.

It is evident by the lopsided score that the Tiger offense also did extremely well. Senior quarterback Happy Cervantez called the signals for the Tigers and easily worked his will on the Trojan defense.

Tiger players showed no mercy as they continued their relentless ground game, demoralizing the Trojan defense. After a scoreless second quarter, the Tigers opened the second half with a 57 yard drive that put six more points on the board. Later Arthur Goodloe and Albert Fuentes scored touchdowns making the score 32-6.

Failing on the ground, Charlotte took to the air. Their aerial attack soon floundered under the heavy pressure of the Tiger defense. Led by junior linemen Bill Ferguson and Joel Voss and freshman Conrad Veltman the Tiger defensive line effectively contained the Trojan offense.

Twirlers entertained at the first pep rally.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 6, 1979

PROPOSITION NO. 1
ON THE BALLOT
(H.J.R. 108)

- Require the Secretary of State to appoint a convenient number of Notaries Public for the state; and
- Authorize terms of office of Notaries Public of not less than two years nor more than four years.

A temporary provision of the proposed constitutional amendment provides that the amendment would take effect January 1, 1980; that each person who was appointed a notary public before January 1, 1980, would continue to serve as a notary public for the term for which the person was appointed; and that this temporary provision would expire January 1, 1982.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide for the appointment of notaries public for the state and for a term of not less than two years nor more than four years as provided by law."

PROPOSITION NO. 3
ON THE BALLOT
(S.J.R. 13)

Senate Joint Resolution 13 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution authorizing the Legislature to provide for the guarantee of loans used to purchase farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers. The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to provide for, issue, and sell general obligation bonds called "Farm and Ranch Loan Security Bonds" of the State of Texas not to exceed 10 million dollars. All money received from the sale of such bonds would be deposited in a separate fund with the State Treasurer and administered by the commissioner of agriculture without further appropriations. These funds would be used to guarantee loans for the purchase of farm and ranch real estate, to acquire real estate mortgages or deeds of trust on lands purchased with guaranteed loans. These funds would also be used to advance to the borrower a percentage of the principal and interest due. The Legislature may also authorize the commissioner of agriculture to sell at foreclosure any land acquired in the manner authorized by this amendment. The commissioner of agriculture would be required to charge at least 6 percent interest on such loans. The proposed amendment appropriates an amount that is sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that mature or become due during the fiscal year less the amount in the interest and sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the guarantee of loans for purchase of farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers by the sale of general obligation bonds of the State of Texas."

eyes and answers
 Weston A. Pettey, O.D.

WRONG ANSWERS

Dear Dr. Pettey: Do eye doctors depend on the answers given in the eye examination to prescribe eyeglasses? I'm always afraid I might answer wrong.

No, we don't, not entirely. But your answers are highly useful. We cannot "see through your eyes"; therefore, we need your perception—your description of what it looks like to you. Your answers (the subjective examination) and what we find through examination without questions (the objective examination), are combined in reaching our decision (diagnosis) on what to do—or what NOT to do—for you. What NOT to do is just as important as what TO do. One major aspect of the diagnosis is of course whether or not to refer the patient to some other doctor for a problem not in the vision care field.

Your answers are important to your eye welfare. Keep giving them to the best of your ability.

A DIABETIC

Dear Dr. Pettey: My optometrist sent me for a physical examination even before he had finished testing my eyes recently. Could he tell I had become diabetic? He told me to come back after the physical.

Well, even if he could, he certainly did proceed properly. Assuming he could tell you had developed diabetes since he last examined your eyes, it is not within his professional scope to diagnose the condition to you. It is his duty to recognize a problem and see to it that you go immediately to your physician whose job it is to examine, diagnose, discuss his findings with you, and recommend proper care.

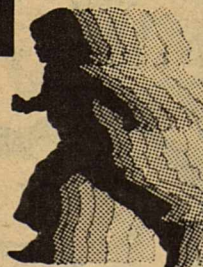

Back to your question: In most cases, internal eye-signs and symptoms do reflect the existence of some physical problems, including diabetes. Your optometrist obviously observed signs he felt indicated the possibility of the problem; else he would not have been so quick to refer you for other care. He is certainly trained thoroughly in detection of the abnormal. And, since he sees many patients who have never been to a physician, he has position and opportunity—unique in the health care field—to alert those who may need medical or dental care. He dutifully referred you and, as a result, your life may have been spared, or at least extended.

Readers with other questions about eye care may address Dr. Pettey in care of this paper or the Texas Optometric Association, P.O. Box 2242, Austin, Texas 78768.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

We haven't always had a problem in this country with over-regulation by government. But we sure have one today.

The first regulatory law wasn't enacted by Congress until 1887, the 100th anniversary of our Constitution—and 111 years after the Declaration of Independence was signed.

That law, the Act to Regulate Commerce, created the Interstate Commerce Commission which was the first and for 27 years the only independent regulatory agency in the Federal Government.

The Federal Trade Commission was next, established in 1914. Then came other regulatory agencies: the Federal Power Commission, 1920; the Food and Drug Administration, 1930; the Securities and Exchange Commission, 1934; the Federal Communications Commission, 1934; the Civil Aeronautics Board, 1938.

For more than 80 years, from the time of the first federal regulatory law in 1887 until this decade, government was concerned primarily with economic regulation.

Most of the mechanism for economic regulation was in place by the beginning of World War II.

But a wholly new type of government regulation came with the beginning of the 1970s: social regulation. Establishment of such agencies as the Environmental Protection Agency, 1970; the Consumer Product Safety Commission, 1972; and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 1973, have made it a whole new ballgame.

The CAB, for example, has jurisdiction over a few hundred firms. The ICC over a few thousand. But EPA, CPSC and OSHA have an impact on hundreds of thousands of firms, non-profit organizations and state and local governments.

Let me show you the impact of this new field of regulation. The Federal Register is the book in which new government regulations are published.

In 1955 some ten-thousand pages were published each year in the Federal Register. By 1970, 15 years later, that number had grown to 20,000. Seven short years later, following the advent of social regulation, the number of pages in the Federal Register had mushroomed to 70,000.

As Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, I have held hearings to investigate the economic impact of government regulation.

A study conducted for my hearings revealed that government regulation will cost business, taxpayers and consumers $102.7 billion in fiscal 1979.

As a result of the hearings I recently introduced legislation that speaks to some aspects of over-regulation. And I intend to press for enactment of that legislation in the coming months.

I have introduced a bill which would help to reduce regulatory cost by imposing a ceiling on the costs federal agencies can impose on the private sector. The goal is to reduce those costs by 5 percent a year for the next five years.

Witnesses testified at my hearings that conflicting federal regulations often put them in impossible situations. The owner of a sausage company testified: "In our plant, USDA (U.S. Department of Agriculture) requires that our sausage kitchen floors be washed repeatedly for sanitary purposes, yet OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) rules that floors must be dry. What is a man to do?"

Last year the Senate approved a bill I introduced that has the President seeking out federal regulations that work at cross-purposes and eliminate the one which makes the least sense.

I am also going after some of the specific paperwork and red tape that accompany regulation. For example, the Federal Housing Administration, the Veterans Administration and the Farmers Home Administration each have their own individual mortgage and note forms. I've introduced a bill to require them to adopt a universal form.

I have formed a Joint Economic Committee staff task force to search out further regulation reducing initiatives. In future months I expect to offer additional legislation in my efforts to cut the government's regulatory giant down to size.
