RABIES OUTBREAK

Dr. Zack Davis, our local veterinarian, has warned there is an increasing number of rabies showing up in varmints in the area. Kinney County residents should be extremely careful at this time of year after the reported increase in rabies.

Dr. Davis reported that one child in the community is undergoing the series of rabies inoculations after being in contact with an infected animal.

He warned that cats, dogs, skunks, coons, ringtails, opossums, foxes, coyotes, and other varmints are all carriers of the dreaded disease. Trappers gathering hides should be particularly careful of animals with abnormal behavior.

Dr. Davis recommended that all area residents have their pets vaccinated. He further stated that cats and other house pets, are as dangerous carriers of the disease as dogs.

CHRISTMAS CALLS

While Santa Claus makes his rounds in a sleigh pulled by a team of reindeer, many Texans will make their Christmas journeys by long distance.

To avoid possible delays during the busiest, long distance day of the year, Southwestern Bell suggests calls be made during the non-peak hours between 1 pm and 5 pm/

To save money as well as time, telephone customers can dial their calls direct, using one-plus," said Jo Nell Tarvin, manager for Southwestern Bell.

"Holiday long distance rates will be in effect from 8 am until 11 pm Christmas Day, providing an especially Merry Christmas for customers who are expected to make a record 1.9 million long distance calls in Texas and 36 million nationwide," Tarvin said.

Sheep & Goat Raisers' News

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association is disappointed in U.S. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland. Not that Bergland is likely to care too much, but the fact just needs stating.

The most recent reasons for the disappointment begin with the Secretary's opposition to the Loeffler lamb meat import quota bill. Things have gone downhill since then.

First, the lamb quota bill. It is beyond us to comprehend Bergland's reasons for opposing lamb meat import quotas. His basic objection probably makes sense from a politician's viewpoint, but it doesn't carry a drop of water from the standpoint of the real world. Bergland has said he objects to lamb quotas because limiting imports conflicts with other trade promises the Carter Administration has made. There you have the politician's way of looking at things.

As for reality? Well, not that reality could be expected to intervene in matters of politics, particularly in an election year (they're actually about 18 months long these days,) but a productive and essential U.S. industry simply can't be expected to compete on an even footing with a similar foreign industry that lacks most of the government imposed hardships found here and enjoys government support completely non-existent in the U.S. The truth is that U.S. sheepmen are tangled up in the most miserable mess of red tape, regulations and artificial-hinderances west of Detroit.

S & GR NEWS

Their foreign competitors are not. In fact, lamb exporting countries are known to subsidize the sale of their industry's products on the American market.

Can that honestly be called "fair competition?" Not in a pig's eye, or should we say, a ewe's eye? But, say Bergland, not only can U.S. Sheepmen not expect any relief from federal meddling, they shouldn't expect those same federals to allow them even a slight chance to even the odds.

That's one of the reasons we're disappointed in old Bob. If that were all, we could just pass it off as a traditional sacrificing of fair play to political expediency, but Bergland's slighting of the U.S. Sheep Industry goes deeper than that.

Take his much-ballyhooed series of public meetings to discuss the structure of American agriculture." Scheduled speakers for the public meetings are hand-picked by U.S.D.A. Guess what segment of the agriculture industry was not picked to air its views at the recent Wichita Falls session? That wasn't hard to figure, now was it?

Even though TS&GRA president Martin Wardlaw submitted, the requested information, Bergland's boys passed the sheepmen over. They took a lot of other folks, though, including a fellow who demanded the same type of coercive union power for migrant workers that has crippled production in states like California and left countless millions

Present Day Myths

by: JOE TOWNSEND

The Statements by Mister Carter regarding a new course in the executive branch to cut corners and save money proves itself more and more a myth. Rosalyn Carter seems to feel she is co-presidnet. At least she is adept at making headlines (her agent orchestrates this). Not thinking congressional and elected personnell to evaluate conditions in Cambodia she decided to up-stage these officials and make her own pilgrimage. A number of woman legislators planned a trip to Cambodia. Mrs. Carter could not allow any other woman or women to get a beam of spot light so she hastily set up a trip for herself. When the elected women found out the antic planned by Mrs. President they suggested they all go on the same plane and thus save thousands of dollars. Needless to say Rosalyn torpedoed the idea. She had to have the cameras turned on her and her alone. She made her glory seeking odyssey and claimed her days of publicity and the tax payer again was ripped off. It is doubtful that her trip served any good purpose. It's difficult to see how it could help in any way. If she wants to make such trips shoe could do it as a private citizen (that's all she is) and pay her own way. Such waste of taxpayer money is the reason taxes are so high.

of dollars worth of valuable food rotting in the fields. And a nun from Louisiana who argued straightfaced for banning farm machinery and outright confiscation of private land so that farmworkers wouldn't have to take jobs they didn't like.

Wardlaw did manage to submit his views on paper. Among sore spots, he noted inheritance taxes and monetary policies which make it difficult for young people to enter ranching. Other problems he pointed out included unrealistic trucking regulations, assinine predator control policies, and the aforementioned need for lamb import restrictions.

Those are two reasons we're disappointed in Bergland. Both have to do with his attitude toward the sheep industry, but his apparent attitude toward ranchers and farmers in general may not be much better. He's the first U.S. agriculture secretary in decades who's actually been a farmer, but sometimes it appears he's forgotten his roots.

Take the Wichita Falls "structure" session. In his introductory statement, Bergland said he came not to speak but to listen to others speak. That's not the way it looked to those who attended, however. To them, it looked as if Bergland really came just to make the speakers look silly.

Each scheduled speaker was allowed five minutes to state his or her views, then later "cross-examined" by Bergland. The way he handled some of the cross-examinations could have raised the hackles on a porcelin pig. It was the sixth such session, so he'd had a

 LIBRARY

Dear K.C.*

The library is closed for the holidays until January 2nd but we look forward to your coming in and browsing or using our music center at that time.

Several children have enjoyed our music center this past week while listening to such records as Walt Disney, Sesame Street, and Mister Rogers. They are particularly fascinated with the special earphones they may use to listen to the records in the library while not disturbing anyone else.

The music center is also for adults. We have all varieties of music even such classics as Hadel's MESSIAH, Rinsky-Korsakoff's NUTCRACKER, Rossini's BARBER OF SEVILLE, Greig's Peer Gynt, Liszt's HUNGARIAN, RHAPO-SODIES, Beethoven's Sonatas played by Rubenstein, LaDONNA E MOBILE, Straus Waltzes, and some classics sung by Caruso.

The library is decked out in holiday style with Christmas tree and holiday decorations provided by the Women's Study Club and the Friends.

Last Monday, several members of both clubs attended a Christmas Decroations workshop where they made ornaments out of bread dough. These and other items (many ideal as "stocking stuffers") are offered for sale at the "Back Door" (located on the north side of the library). spread the word about our little shop. All proceeds go to help either the library or the Women's Study Club (as designated by the donor).

chance to come up with a stock set of perplexing questions. The speakers had had no such opportunity to polish up on their answers, and some of them ended up looking little better than simpletons. In all, it was not an inspiring affair. If was instead a somewhat shoddy way to treat the people Bergland is supposed to be concerned about.

By: Virginia Esparza

Monday, December 17, the Tiger Band held their annual Christmas Concert at the Civic Center. The Band played traditional carols, familiar to everyone. Ageless songs such as "Away In the Manager" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" put everyone in the Christmas Mood.

Also appearing for the first time were the Brackett High choralliers. This singing group is under the direction of Mrs. Marth Bunsen.

Tiger Band Booster members provided a traditional Christmas feast for guests.

FROM ROMAN'S CORNER

By: Roman Saenz

This year's Brackett High Basketball tournament, held December 13--15 went smoothly. Although neither of the host teams came out with team trophies, they did produce two outstanding athletes during the three day tourney, Bea Garcia and Arthur Goodloe.

The Tigers lost a tough game to Rocksprings during overtime. Brackett roundballers were behind by 16 points and came back to tie the Angoras 56-56. The Angoras pulled ahead of the Tigers and won the game 62-58.

The championship game pitted the Leakey squad against the Rocksprings team in the boy's division championship game.

Between Us

JOE TOWNSEND

it seems at long last some of the American people are beginning to see the true Ted Kennedy beneath the facade of the Kennedy mystique. Kennedy was in normal "Ted" form where he irresponsibly denounced the Shah. His statements typically were rash, untrue, unthinking and viciously dangerous, especially to the American prisoners in Iran. His unmitigated mania to claim the limelight leads him time and again to show his inability to think clearly and inviate character of being unstable and irresponsible. At the rate he is going he'll soon be totally out of contention in the Presidential race. His loud and noisy devotees are remarkably silent, what a refreshing development.
