GREAT PLAINS CONSERVATION PROGRAM FOR KINNEY COUNTY

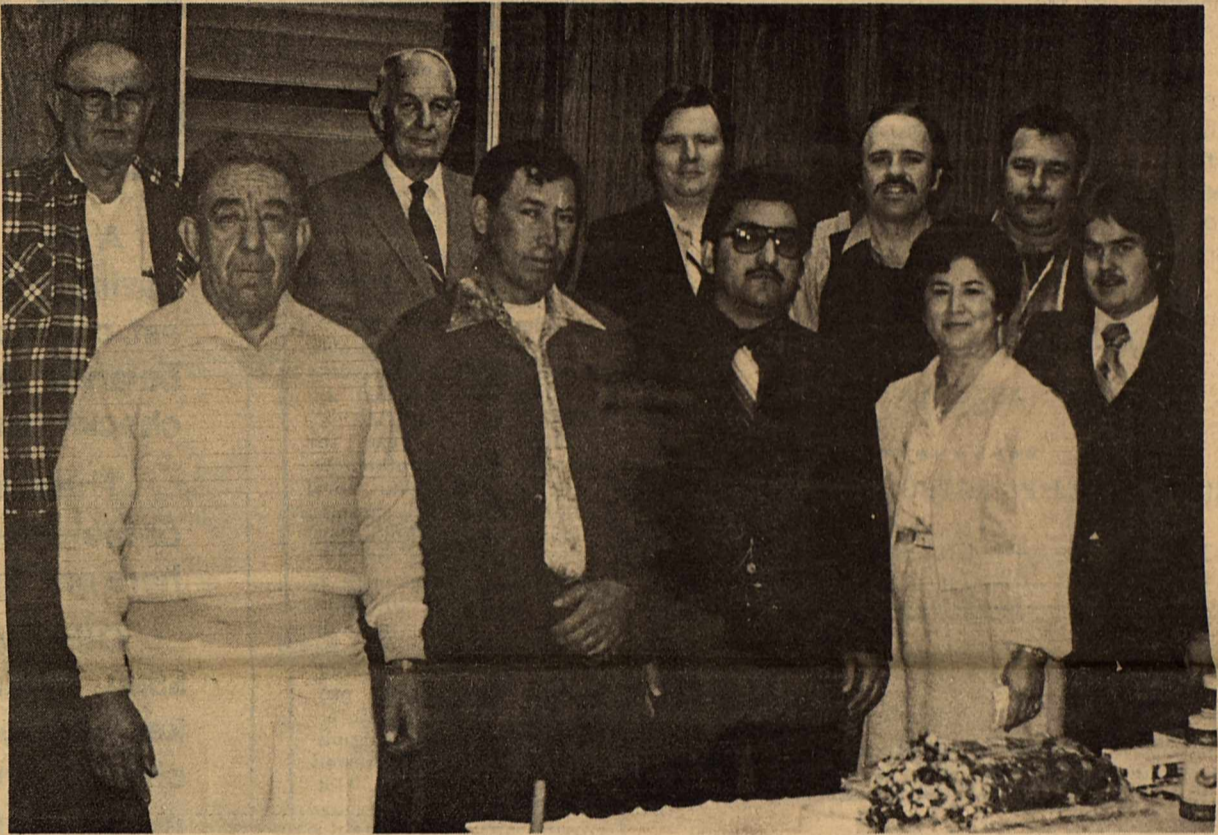

"The Great Plains Conservation Program has been expanded to include Kinney County, says Lee Schermerhorn, Board Chairman of the West Nueces-Las Moras Conservation District.

"The goal to be achieved by this program is a more stable agriculture, more dependable sources of income and progressively satisfactory livelihood for the people of the region. To achieve this goal there must be widespread use of good soil management and water conservation practices and adjustments in size and types of farms which will enable farmers and ranchers to effectively cope with the climatic hazards of the region," says Schermerhorn.

"Applications for participation in the Great Plains Conservation Program is based on priority of need to solve conservation problems. There are some twenty-nine

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Scholarship Awards

One important lesson that most American youth
learn—is that our society
does recognize distinction,
and rewards hard work.

An organization that translates its responsibility to its members and to America into rewarding and encouraging the efforts of youth is the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Scholarships are evidence to our youth of our esteem for excellence.

Each year, the organization awards ten IBT scholarships. This year, some 4,000 worthy Teamsters' sons and daughters competed for the $6,000 awards.

To earn one of the scholarships, a youngster
must prove academic excellence and excel in such other areas as leadership and participation in extracurricular activities. Financial need and personal recommendations are also considered by the judges.

The International scholarships, of course, are just ten of hundreds awarded annually by Teamster affiliates. Each year the union's area conferences, joint councils and local unions across the country and in Canada hold their own competitions, open to members' youngsters, in which hundreds of thousands of dollars in additional scholarships assistance money are bestowed.
Details about these programs are sent to each International scholarship applicant and to other interested members' dependents. Collectively, the program has grown into one of the largest independent sources of financial assistance for college-bound youngsters in the country.

"NEW WORLD STUDY CLUB"
Brackettville's Woman's Club
SANDY HERMAN, Reporter

The Brackettville Women's Club had it's regular business meeting January 4, 1981 at 4 pm in Clubhouse.

Among the business discussed was the fact that RoseMary Slubar is the medical consultant for Kinney County, servicing from the family clinic. The Kinney County Clinic is listed under Community Service, 563-2434. People with any kind of medical, dental or health problem can call her and she will refer them to the proper people.

Mrs. Slubar states that the clinic works according to a sliding pay scale. Your fee is adjusted according to what you earn. The clinic now has it's own lab so that it can do it's own lab work, can run EKG's, can do everything except X-RAY. The clinic now has a small pharmacy with the most common prescribed drugs and are reasonably priced. The Clinic has money to help people on Medicare with transportation to Del Rio, to help get glasses for people who can't afford them and to take them for eye tests in Eagle Pass. Patients can be referred to specialists (cardiologist, gynecologists, etc.) in Eagle Pass on a sliding pay scale and money to assist in transportation if a patient must go to a specialist in San Antonio.

Volunteers are needed to go door to door to help collect information as to whether there is someone who needs help to get to a doctor or if there are special problems and to inform the people as to what's available.

More business discussed at the Women's Club meeting was what repairs and painting of the building was to be done and a spokesman from the WC to get with a spokesman of the friends of the Library as they wish to donate some funds for this.

The status of the New Library Building was questioned and members were requested to send letters to the judge to find out where it stands.

There will be a meeting at 6:30 p.m. on January 19th at the Kinney County Library with spokesmen from Del Rio's Council of Arts to help us learn how to start an Art Council far all ages here in Brackettville. This is open to the public of all ages.

CACTUS GARDENS.....

A green thumb for growing cacti?- no, just a tough one on a good pair of gloves! Many cacti are spiny and prickly, a development that protects them from grazing animals.

Cacti are the only plants that survive extreme conditions of heat and drought. They store water for long periods and have fine, widespread roots neat the soil surface for trapping water. Many have large round bodies with large moisture retention areas internally.

Cactus are easy to grow and for those who forget to water their plants, a cactus garden is perfect.

Choose samll and slow growing plants. Add decorative rocks, shells or small pieaes of wood for a landscaping effect.

Give your cactus garden a bright sunny window year-round, and be careful not to over-water.

ANNUAL RABIES VACCINATION NOW REQUIRED

An annual rabies vaccination for dogs and cats is now required by Texas law, according to Dr. Frank Mann, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. Mann stressed that the law was enacted as a protection of pets and human life "During a time when rabies has reached an epidemic stage in the state, vaccination is the best--basically the only--method of protection we have for the public," said Mann.

Recent studies of the Texas Health Department have determined that a domestic animal such as a pet cat or dog, can be expected to expose 2.5 times the number of people that would be exposed by wildlife rabies.

"The law requires that the owner of each dog and cat shall have the animal vaccinated against rabies by the time it is four months of age and then revaccinated at intervals of one year," said Dr. Mann. "Because of our semi-tropical climate in Texas, close proximity to Mexico, and frequent movement of animals in this state, the state legislative determined that annual vaccination were necessary to curtail rabies outbreaks in Texas," Mann said.

Texas leads the nation in confirmed rabies cases. The incidence of rabies in wild and domestic animals in Texas has risen dramatically in recent years, bringing a greater chance that humans may be infected.

"While some states allow longer intervals between re-vaccinations, this is a risk we just can't afford to take in Texas. Rabies is fatal," stressed Mann. "In 1979 1,249 persons were subjected to a series of shots because of exposure or possible exposure to rabies," he said.

Recent statistics show rabies is spreading to the horse, cattle and goat population in Texas. Both the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and the Texas Department of Health strongly urge the vaccination of horses in Texas since significant human exposure has resulted from contact with rabid horses.

Dr. Mann urged all pet owners to consult their veterinarian for more information about animal vaccinations.

TEXAS VETERINARY MEDICAL FOUNDATION

AUSTIN--Even if Fido received his two-dose parvovirus vaccine earlier this spring or summer, dogowners should consult their veterinarian about a booster, according to Dr. Robert A. Emmett, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Foundation.

Parvovirus sent dogowners scurrying for a newly-developed vaccine to protect their dogs earlier this year. While vaccines are credited with curbing the Texas epidemic, field experience indicates that immunity to the virus may be shorter than researchers had hoped. "Recent reports from veterinarians throughout the state indicate that the new viral disease is still endemic (consistently present in a given area) and boosters are being called for," said Dr. Emmett of Houston. "Parvovirus continues to be a deadly problem."

"The need for immunization for all dogs is imperative," stressed Emmett. The initial immunization program consists of two properly-spaced immunizations, with booster vaccines as directed by a veterinarian. Puppies should start immunizations from five to eight weeks of age. "Conditions of the animal and intensity of the disease in various areas determine when the dog should receive another vaccination," said Emmett.

Parvovirus is a new disease--a viral enteritis that was unknown before 1978. The disease reached epidemic proportions in 1980. Symptoms are depression and loss of appetite, followed by vomiting and diarrhea. Dehydration is the main concern. Death can sometimes come in a day because of the loss of body fluids.

"Prompt treatment at the very first sign of any of the symptoms means many dogs can be treated successfully," said Emmett. "Waiting to see if the dog gets better may mean the dog won't receive the treatment in time to survive."

Treatment involves intravenous fluids to combat dehydration, intestinal relaxants to reduce the vomiting, and administration of electrolytes and antibiotics.

Vaccine was in short supply earlier this year, but Dr. Emmett said the supply now appears to be adequate. Research is underway to develop a vaccine to provide a longer lasting immunity.

Dr. Emmett urged dogowners to consult their veterinarian immediately for more information about parvovirus vaccinations and boosters.

Dear K.C.,
The Friends of the Library will hold it's annual meeting on Monday, January 12 at 5:15 p.m. The agenda includes election of officers, membership re-newals and a discussion on repairs for the library.

Membership Chairman Julian Lucas stresses the need for a good turnout. She feels that support from the community is a must, if the Library is to continue its many services.

Let's remember--January 12 is the day we'll meet at Kinney County Library. See you then.

"WHO IS SANTA CLAUS?"

Shawn Burns

Some people believe that Santa Claus is white and red, And creeps in your house when you're in bed.

That he brings toys for one and all,

That's what some people think is Santa Claus.

Other people used to think Santa Claus,

Was just a nice old man, Like us all.

Even others think, and possibly know,

That Santa doesn't live at the North Pole,

He lives in our homes, So comfy and warm,

He's been our own Moms and Dads,

Since the day we were born.

Everyone has different ideas about Santa Claus. Different ideas about how he looks, dresses and what language he speaks. Well here is what I think.....

I think that there is a different Santa Claus every other century, and that the first Santa Claus might have been a witness of the Lord Jesus' birth. I don't know if this is true, but it is a thought.

Henry Schwandner

Santa Claus is a mythical old man who brings gifts to children at Christmas. Today's Santa Claus developed from a real person, Saint Nicholas, who lived in the A.D. 300's. He was Bishop of Myra, an ancient town of Lycia, now in Turkey. According to legend, extremely kind, and often went out at night, taking presents to the needy. After his death, his frame spread throughout Europe. During the Middle Ages, Saint Nicholas became the patron saint of schoolboys.

TEXAS HIGHWAYS AND PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION NEWS

AUSTIN--Did you know there are two and-a-half times more miles of oil and gas pipelines in Texas than road miles on the state highway system? Or that Texas coal mining mushroomed 12-fold in nine years, but none of it was sold?

For those who mine nuggets of miscellanea, it wouldn't be surprising that such tidbits may be gleaned from government publications, but these weren't laboriously dug from vast statistical tomes. They're right on the surface of a little one-sheet folder called TEXAS FACTS, whose latest edition has just been released by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

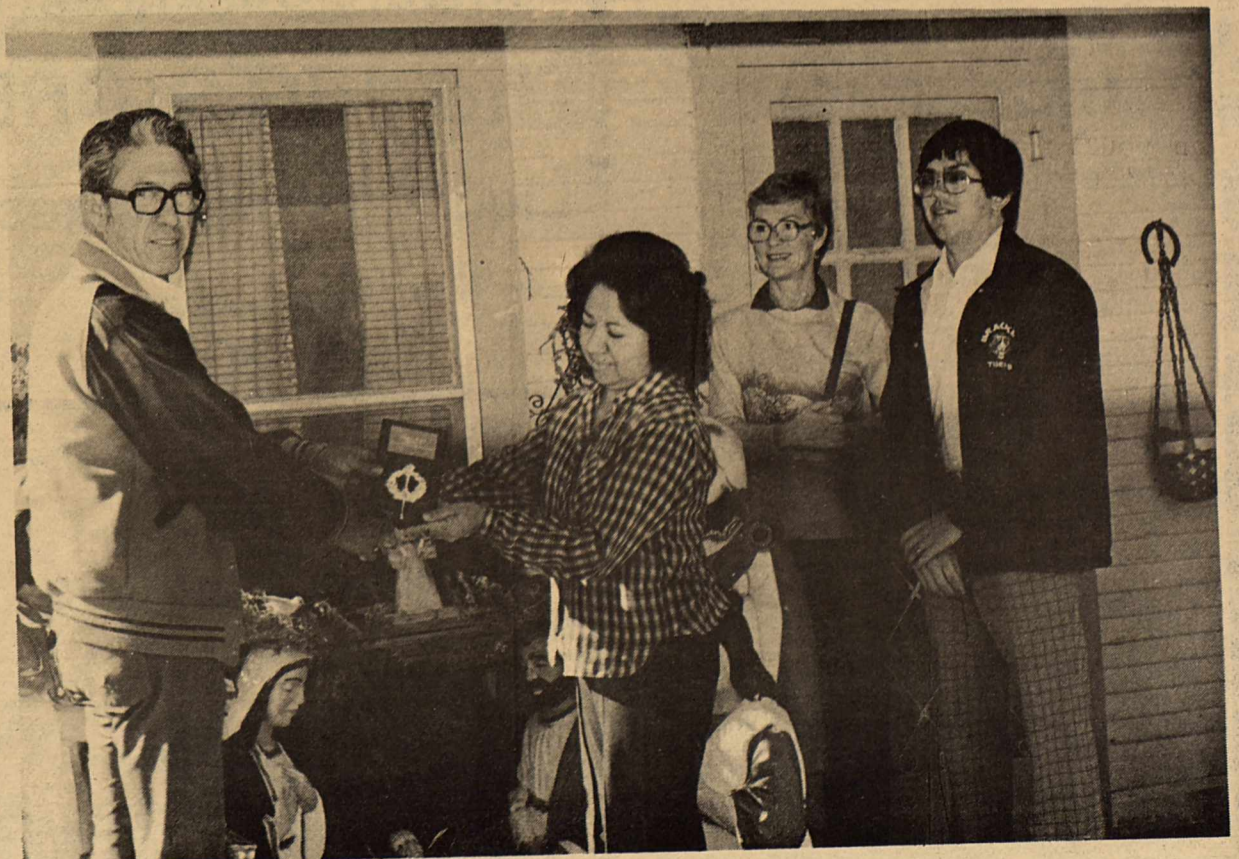

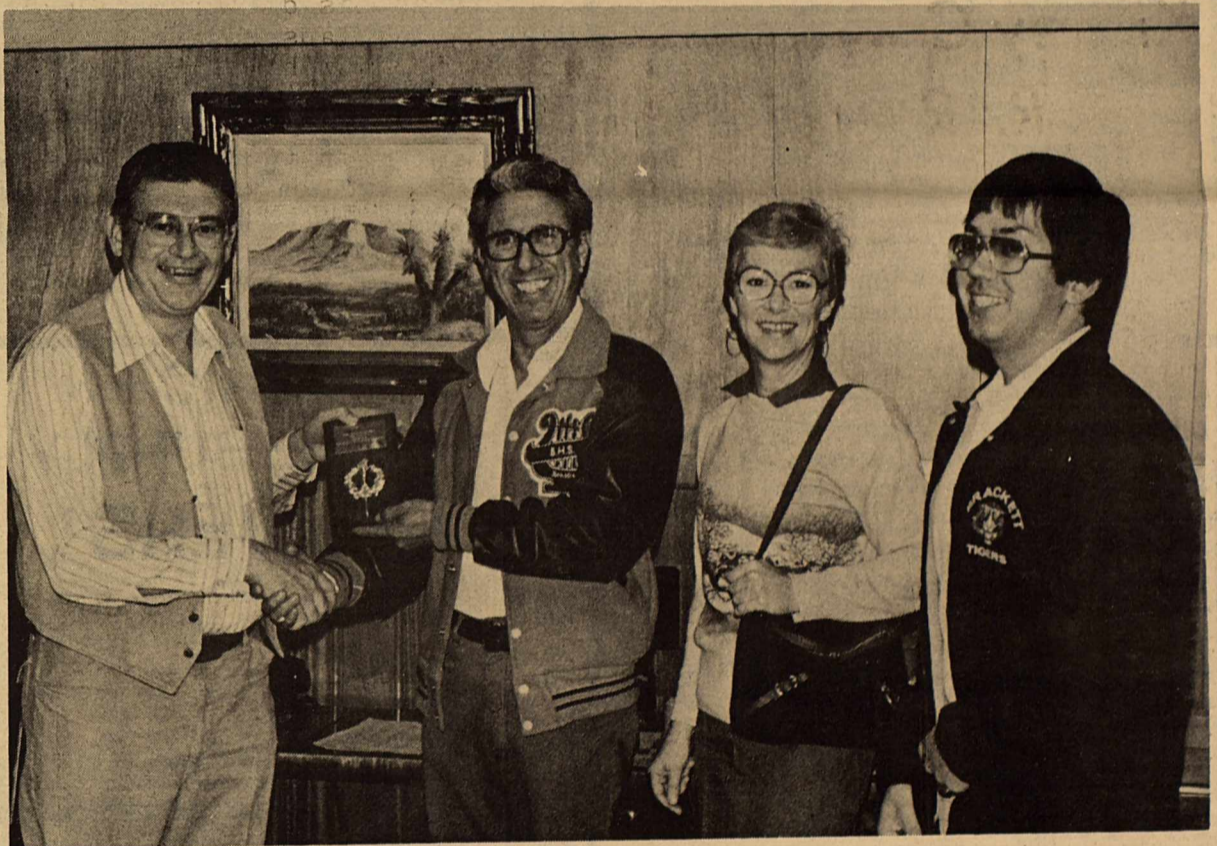

How come 27.5 million tons of Texas lignite were mined last year, but weren't marketed? Because the miners were the users --utility companies who scraped it up and chunked it in their furnaces to generate electricity.

The little folder is a jewel among its kind. Sample the fact that Texas covers 275,416 square miles, enough space to include 15 of the 50 states within its borders and still have a thousand square miles left over. That's a bon mot every Texan should have in store for cocktail party repartee.

Or when the talk gets serious about Texas oil millionaires gouging everybody who isn't one, gaze at the ceiling and murmur that Texas oil brought $12 a barrel last year while OPEC oil cost $24 to $30 per barrel, and Texas ain't holding Yankees hostage to jack up the price.

Why should the highway department be printing information about 9.3 million pounds of mohair clipped from Texas Angora goats? (It brought better than $47 million!)
