swtjc

With registration for the fall semester of 1981 rapidly approaching, Southwest Texas Junior College dean of admission/ registrar John Allen Davis is urging all new and returning students to complete entrance requirements to simplify the registration process.

Day class registration at SWTJC is slated for Monday,

Tuesday and Wednesday August 24, 24 and 26. Evening School registration times and places are as follows: Uvalde--Tuesday, August 25, SWTJC Matthews Student Center, 6 to 8 p.m.; Asherton, Carrizo Springs and Crystal city--Wednesday, August 26, Carrizo Springs High School 6 to 8 p.m.; Eagle Pass--Monday, August 24, 6 p.m., Eagle Pass Center; Del Rio--Thursday, August 20, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Laughlin Air Force Base Education Office and 6:30 to 8 p.m. at Del Rio High School; and Dilley Thursday, August 27, 6 to 7:30 p.m., Dilley High School.

Day Students must have four items into the Admissions Office in order to register," Davis said. "They include an application to enter SWTJC, a completed health form, a high school transcript and ACT scores.

"Returning students need only an application to re-enter," he continued. "When all necessary forms have been received, students will be sent an acceptance letter and registration time."

August 24 is reserved for returning students, while the 25th and 26th are for all students.

Those who have not taken the ACT test may arrange to do so by paying the $8.50 fee at the SWTJC Business Office in advance and then returning to take the test at 8 a.m. on Saturday, August 22. Students who have a paid receipt to take the test can be considered as having completed the registration requirements. After taking the test, their scores will be available at the registration desk on Monday.

"Evening students, including those taking day classes in Del Rio, need only an application to enter SWTJC, a transcript from the last school attended and an immunization record, which they sign themselves," Davis stated.

"To complete these procedures in advance is to the students' advantage since it simplifies and shortens the registration process.

SWTJC officials are making a special effort to offer courses that the community needs this year. Marilyn Davis, counselor at the Del Rio Center, for example, is particularly proud that Anatomy and Physiology and Chemistry will be offered for the first time in Del Rio in response to community need.

Don Nance, who has served on the City Council for approximately 15 years, turned in his resignation as City Alderman at the City Council meeting Monday night.

In an interview with the CAVALRYMAN, Nance stated, "Since my son, Donald I. Nance, is now employed by the City as a policeman, I felt that I should resign from the Council."

The Council appointed Richard Pena to fill Nance's unexpired term as Alderman.

In other business, the Council appointed Robert Garza as Mayor Pro-tem.

The issue of personnel policy was tabled and on an ordinance concerning Peddlers Permit was passed.

All bids on trash pickup were rejected by the Council on the basis that it was financially infeasible to the community as a whole.

It was reported that the additional Cable TV channels would be available by September 1st.

*****

In fact, even at this late date, if 20 students who want and/or need the same class get together and contact the college the class will be added to the schedule and an instructor and room will be located.

For further information on fall classes at SWTJC, call the Registrar's Office at 278-4401, Ext. 275. Persons interested in Del Rio Classes should call 775-1612; Eagle Pass students may get information at 775-9238.

Kinney County LIBRARY

BY: Marie Bixby

Dear K.C.,

Friends of the Library met Tuesday,
August 11th. It was unanimously agreed that all who contributed $1 or more toward the fund to pay a site foreman would automatically become members or have their membership renewed for the calendar year of 1981. Concern for the delay of the setting of a new trial date (Kinney County -vs- Allied Fidelity Ins. Co.) brought discussion and action from the "Friends" as to how they might inquire into why the case seems to have come to a grinding stop.

Walter Moore, Treasurer reported that over $7,800 in contributions has been taken in and after disperals to pay the site foreman and expenses of the benefit barbeque there is now approximately $4,300 reamining in the "Friends" account. Checks are still coming in from the absentee landholders $1,900 of which is included in the above accounting.

Movies were shown after the meeting on the lawn of the First Baptist church. There was a nice turn out for the occasion. Refreshments were served after the show. Watch for a date announcing another such event.

Yours truly,

HOME ENERGY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

To help relieve the harsh effects of the Texas summer heat on elderly persons, low-income families with members age 65 or older may apply for financial aid to help pay their summer cooling costs.

Under the Home Energy Assistance (HEAP), households eligible by reason of low income and containing at least one person 65 or older may qualify for one-time payments that will range from $91 to $114. The colling assistance announcement was made by Marlin W. Johnson, commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Resources (TDHR) which is administering the program.

Some elderly Texans will receive the cooling assistance automatically. These are people already receiving benefits from Aid to Families With Dependent Children, food stamps, or Supplemental Security Income.

Other low-income households which do not receive the automatic payment will be required to apply for HEAP benefits during an application period from August 3 to August 31. A face-to-face interview is required for certification, asis verification of household income.

Johnston said the following guidelines can be used in determining if an elderly member of a household is eligible for the federally funded cooling assistance:

A household's resources can not exceed $1,800 for one person or $3,000 for more than one person. The value of the homestead, cars, personal and household belongings will not be considered as resources. Household gross monthly income cannot be more than the following figures for eligibility:

Numbers of people in household, in parenthesis, preceded income limits:

- (1) person: $296.49
- (2) person: $446.49
- (3) person: $613.49
- (4) person: $756.49

- (5)person: $893.49
- (6)person: $1,044.49
- (7)person: $1,195.49

Each County in Texas will have a designated location for house holds to apply for energy assistance. These locations may be determined by calling the local office of the TExas Department of Human Resources. If there is not a local TDHR office in a particular county, an applicant should contact the nearest TDHR office or any local organization serving the elederly to inquire about the arrangements for that particular county. If certified as eleigible for the assistance applicants should receive their payments within 20 to 30 days.

The local representative to contact is Alejandro Gonzalez at Kinney County Memorial Blding (Welfare Office) P.O.Box 39, Brackettville, Texas 78832, phone 563-2473.

CATTLE RAISERS INSPECTORS BREAK MAJOR HORSE THEFT CASE

Fort Worth--Field inspectors for the Texas ans Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association have solved a major horse theft case involving at least 33 horses stolen in the Houston, Texas, areas in the last two months. Twenty-seven of the horse have been recovered for their rightful owners. As the investigation continues, more horses may be located, says Don C. King TSCRA secretary-general manager.

Working with Texas Rangers and the Harris County Sheriff's Office, TSCRA field inspectors, all special Texas rangers, developed evidence that led to the oral confession of Milton Ray Oliver 19, of Houston. The 182nd District Court in Houston has issued a two-count indictment for felony theft against Oliver, who remains in the Harris County jail without bond.

The suspect was in a Houston jail on charges of felony theft of a horse trailer when the case broke. He was also on 10-probation in Polk County and Montgomery County at the time of his arrest. He was released from the Texas Department of Corrections Jan. 18, 1981, after three months of shock probation for felony theft involving 26 horses stolen in the Gulf Coast area in 1980.

TSCRA, a non-profit livestock producer organization with a 32-man enforcement arm, became involved in the major horse theft case in mid-July shen a victim reported his loss to TSCRA Field Inspector Charles "Lucky" Thompson, Jr. of Huntsville. The inspector developed information that led him to the recovery of a registered Paint horse gelding at a horse killing plant near Kaufman, Tex, and a bay gelding at Canton, Tx.

Further investigation by Inspectors Thompson, James Gregory of Fairfield, Tx, and Elzie Ware of Jewett, Tx, produced the suspect's name and linked him to the sale of at least 33 horses at an auction market in the Buffalo, Texas area.

The inspectors, along with TSCRA Field Inspector Walter Wetzel of Dickinson, Tx, coordinated their information with an ongoing investigation conducted by Texas Ranger Charles Cook and Harris County Sheriff's Office Detective Richard Tywater.

The suspect had been handled by Cook and Tywater during the investigation of 26 horses stolen in the Gulf Coast area in 1980.

A warrant for revocation of probation was obtained in Polk County by Texas Ranger Wesley Styles for Oliver, but he was already in jail on the trailer theft charge.

Among the horses recovered by TSCRA field inspectors thus far is a stallion owned by a Houston Policeman. The estimated value of the horse by its owner is $7,000.

TSCRA's King encouraged horse owners in the area to check their horses more frequently and to consider branding them as a positive means of identification. He noted that many hosemen pasture their horses on leased property in remote areas and that makes them vulnerable to horse theft when Investigating officers in the case were TSCRA Field Inspectors Thompson, Ware, Gregory, and Wetzel, Texas Rangers Cook and Styles and Harris County Detective Tywater.

The Texas Consumer Association's Report from Austin

By Jim Hightower, President

Back in the 1930s, America was a country that worried about the fate of old people. Our concern even found its way into the popular songs of the time—songs like this one:

*"I wonder how the old folks are at home.
I wonder if they miss me while I roam.
I wonder if they pray,
For the boy who went away,
And left his dear old parents all alone?"*

But we did more than sing about it. During the Depression, under the leadership of President Franklin Roosevelt, Americans also approved legislation to alleviate some of the economic burden of being old and unemployed. We passed the Social Security Act, which was a public promise that our old parents would not be left alone and in poverty. It worked.

But now there are plans in Washington to break that promise. President Ronald Reagan says that the social security trust fund is in danger of taking in less than it is paying out, so he wants to cut back on the pay outs. He is proposing $82 billion in budget cuts during the next four years, limiting the number of retirees who are eligible and reducing the level of their benefits. The Reagan crew in Washington says this is the only way to "save" the program.

Hold it right there, say those who think Reagan really is out to eliminate the social security system altogether. This old-age program never was a pay-your-own-way proposition — it is a public commitment, a promise that we will pool some of the income we earn to provide at least a thin cushion for Aunt Josie and Daddy John and all the others who have worked a lifetime, paid their taxes and are now moving out of the workforce to make room for younger workers.

These proponents say that the public wants a full-fledged social security system and is willing to pay for it, because it is a good deal all around. They compare it to military security, which is another governmental commitment made to the people and supported by them. When the Pentagon runs short of money, there is no alarmist cry of "bankruptcy!" or calls to shut down the defense program. Indeed, President Reagan is putting an extra $26 billion into the military budget this year.

So, they argue, it is not a question of bankruptcy, but of how we want to spend our taxes. After all, we have bailed out Chrysler Corporation, are about to give life-saving tax breaks to savings & loan companies and regularly pay direct subsidies to utilities and oil corporations. If we want to do a fraction of that to see that older Americans have a minimum of $122 a month to make ends meet, we certainly have the means to do it, and it doesn't seem excessively generous.

The battle to protect the integrity of the social security system is being led by senior citizen groups, but each of us should be involved. For one thing, if we younger folks are lucky, we'll get to be old some day, too, so this is a political fight that affects every one of us.

Express yourself. Should America go back on its promise to old folks, or should we find the additional financing necessary to keep our word and meet this public need? A Texas congressman, U.S. Rep. J. J. Pickle, is chairman of the congressional subcommittee considering Reagan's social security cuts. Get in touch with him by writing to this address: Rep. J. J. Pickle/Federal Building/Austin, Texas/78701.

Effective Self-Medication

Availability Update

It is not unusual for a product to enter the market as a prescription medicine and then be shifted by government regulation to the nonprescription category when it becomes clear that consumers do understand how to use it safely and properly on their own, noted Nathan J. Stark, Under Secretary of Health and Human Services.

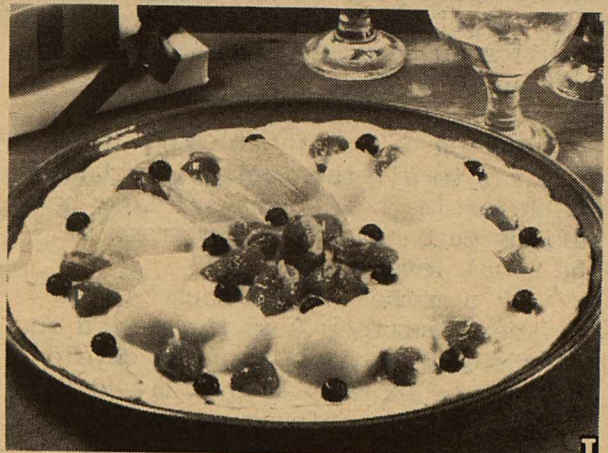

Among a number of formerly prescription-only medicines now available without a prescription are shampoos to control dandruff and hydrocortisone ointments for skin irritations, observed E. William Rosenberg at a symposium sponsored by The Proprietary Association, the trade association representing manufacturers of nonprescription medicines.

An FDA panel on nonprescription medicines recommended adoption of a system developed by industry to help consumers use sunscreen products safely and effectively. Many sunscreens now carry the rating—ranging from two to 15. A rating of six, for example, indicates that using the product, a person may stay in the sun six times as long as he could without the sunscreen.

The most commonly used word in English conversation is "I".

Bountiful Summer Fruits
Top Dessert Pizza

Seasonal fresh fruit is one of the best warm weather desserts. When a special occasion calls for an attractive dessert, dress up fresh fruit in the easy but elegant Fanciful Fruit Pizza. The do-ahead crust is made with refrigerated sugar ready-to-slice cookie dough and topped with a cream cheese mixture and fruit. An orange marmalade glaze adds the finishing touch.

FANCIFUL FRUIT PIZZA

- 17-oz. roll refrigerated sugar ready-to-slice cookie dough
- 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- Fresh or canned peach halves
- Strawberries, whole and cut in half
- Fresh or frozen blueberries
- 1/4 cup orange marmalade
- 1 tablespoon water

Heat oven to 375°F. Cover a 14-inch pizza pan or 15x10-inch jelly roll pan with aluminum foil. Slice cookie dough into 1/8-inch slices. Arrange slices, slightly overlapping, in bottom of covered pan. Bake at 375°F. for 9 to 11 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely. Remove from foil. Combine softened cream cheese, sugar and vanilla. Spread mixture over cookie crust. Arrange fruit over cream cheese. Combine orange marmalade and water; spoon over fruit. Chill. Cut into wedges to serve. Refrigerate leftovers. 10 to 12 servings.

TIP: To easily remove foil from crust, place wire rack or cookie sheet over crust. Hold rack in place and invert pan. Peel off foil. Replace baking pan or serving dish and turn crust right side up.

A number of important issues will face Congress and the Administration when we get back next month after the annual August recess from Washington heat and humidity.

By next month, we should have a better idea of how the economy is responding to all the legislative changes, and later in the fall we will know how various cutbacks affect programs at the local level.

As a member of the House Armed Service Committee, I am interested in the upcoming debates over the development of the MX missile system and the B-1 bomber. Our defense needs—including the problem of retaining experienced personnel to operate our complicated new weapons systems—remain high on the Congressional work list.

WE have yet to agree on a solution to the Social Security question. We simply cannot afford to postpone this matter is the Social Security system is to survive. The House recently went on record in a non-binding resolution in support of saving the minimum benefits for current beneficiaries, but this issue and the matter of future funding of Social Security remain unresolved in Congress.

OTHER CONCERNS

The energy problems, although perhaps out of sight for the summer, is still with us, despite the recent tax incentives initiated by the House Ways and Means Committee. All of us, including members of Congress, must recognize that domestic exploration, conservation and alternative energy must receive continued support if we are to end our dangerous dependence on foreign oil.

I expect emphasis on more program cuts for the foreseeable future. Although over $35 billion will be saved under the Omnibus Reconciliation Act, there are indications that the planned spending reductions for 1983 and 1984 may not be sufficient to bring about a balanced budget unless there is a remarkable recovery of the economy. When Congress gets yack, we will continue work on a series of Appropriations Bills to fund the federal government in the fiscal year beginning October 1.

Foreign affairs, which have taken a back seat to domestic issues to this point, will be important in many Congressional debates. Unfortunately, none of the international problems went away while we were working on taxes and domestic programs.

NUMBER ONE PROBLEM

The issue of top priority will continue to be economy. All of our critical programs, including defense, depend on a healthy economy for support. There is no escape from inflation and high interest rates, whether you are a housewife or a homebuilder. WE recognize the problem and most of us are willing to do our part to solve it, but differences of opinion over how best to proceed are expected to occupy our time in the weeks ahead. Maybe we can come up with a few fresh ideas when we return next month.

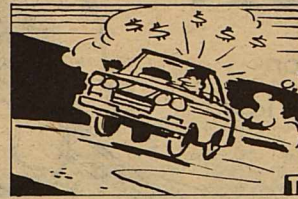

As South Texans accustomed to drier heat and an occasional breeze, my wife and I look forward to an opportunity to head out of Washington for visits with family and friends.

We will take a two-week vacation, but following that I will be back on the road in the district and plan to visit as many cities and individuals as possible before the House reconvenes September 9.

CAR CARE CORNER

To avoid an accident, make sure your tires are properly and evenly inflated. Too much air will affect your car's ability to hold the road the way it should. Too little makes for harder steering. Uneven inflation results in steering problems and instability.

To avoid a painful loss of money, many car owners are investing in service contracts to extend their auto warranties. One service contract company—America's oldest—offers coverage on almost all makes and models of automobiles, new or used. New car coverage is offered by this company, American Warranty, for five years or 50,000 miles and its benefits include a toll-free number for authorization of covered repairs anywhere in the U.S. or Canada, a rental car allowance of $16 per day to a total of $96 and, for a $25 fee, transference of the remaining coverage to the next owner of your car. To learn more about this protection available at your auto dealership send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Amy Warren, Suite 1200, 9841 Airport Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90045.

To avoid damaging your car when you clean it, use floods of water from a hose without a nozzle. A high-pressure jet may drive in grit which can scratch your car's finish. Don't wash the car with household detergents. They may contain bleaches which can be unkind to the paint. Use a weak solution of car-washing detergent instead. Dry the car off with a Turkish towel or a wetted and squeezed-out square of chamois. Dry it gently.

You discover that you and your spouse have both written checks to cover the plumbing repairs (which is why you extended your vacation). You need to stop payment on one of the checks.

After a glorious vacation, the return to reality can be a jolt. During vacation, bills may pile up—while bank accounts take a dive. Children grow up—and out—of their clothes. The problems you went on vacation to forget haven't left. Consider what might await you.

You've just ordered $500 worth of back-to-school clothes by phone and you're not sure the order was taken correctly.

THEN and NOW!

Remember The Red Baron

If you're like many Americans, you've heard about the Red Baron, but you're a bit up in the air about who he was. Here are some interesting facts.

Soon you too will remember the Red Baron.

THEN: High in the skies over France during World War I, the Baron Manfred Von Richthofen's daring earned him the title, the Red Baron. So heroic a figure was he, that even the Allied flyers held him in high regard even though he was on the opposite side.

NOW: The Red Baron has returned—two Red Barons, in fact. They'll barnstorm this summer to help kids and promote Red Baron frozen pizza. Sold in grocery stores, Red Baron Pizza is manufactured by Red Baron Pizza Service, Marshall, MN.

The Red Baron and his ground crew will visit more than 40 fairs across the Midwest, passing out cents-off coupons and he'll donate a $500 check to youth leaders at each fair.

heavy and uncomfortable to wear.

THEN: For years, when someone broke an arm or a leg, the doctor had to encase the limb in a heavy plaster cast. The plaster cast did the job—held the break or fracture in place while it healed—but it was often

NOW: New fiberglass casting tape permits the doctor or cast technician to make a cast that is lightweight, yet more durable than the old plaster cast.
