IMAGINEERING TO ENGINEERING

Unity Urged on Water Project

WATER PROGRAM—Jake Street explains to members and guests of the Soil Conservation District how a plan has been put into effect in California to bring water by aqueduct to the arid land of the state. The plan is being studied as a pattern in which to bring water into this area from the Mississippi.

Jake Street, Water, Inc. publicity chairman, Plainview, presented an informative program in a talk and slides shown at the South Plains Association of Soil Conservation District supervisors luncheon meeting Thursday at noon.

Industrialist to Address MAIF Meeting Group

Larry Milner, head of the Industry Development Department, Southwestern Public Service, Amarillo, will be the principal speaker at the second annual meeting of the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation to be held Tuesday, February 27 at 7:30 p.m. in Inichlan Hills cafeteria.

Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Street stressed the importance of unity of the Soil Conservation District and Water, Inc. to attain this goal before water is depleted and the lands of the Plains become desolate. Agriculture, the production of food, is the nation's prime need, yet somewhere along the line of classifying the need for water, it ranks third. First in line, and very vital, is human demand, second is industry, then ranking agriculture.

Refuge Marker Dedication Set

A ceremony to dedicate an official Historical Marker at the Muleshoe Wildlife Refuge will be held at 2:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 29 at the entrance of the Refuge.

'68 Cotton Farmers Face Tough Decision

Which way to go - cotton farmers have a tough decision. All signs point to a good cotton year in 1968. This optimism is based on prospects from higher yields and better prices. The moisture situation is good, almost too good, in most cotton growing areas. There will be a demand for all kinds of quality cotton, because of the 1965 and 1967 short crops and rapidly dwindling CCC stocks.

Castor Bean Irrigation Study

A five-year study in 1967 on castor bean irrigation methods and plant spacing indicated that 12-inch plant spacing may be more desirable than 6-inch plant spacing. The 12-inch plant spacing would reduce seed costs and there was a slight increase in yield from the 12-inch spacing in each of the three irrigation methods when compared to 6-inch spacing, however, increases were open market at a price above the 1968 loan level. Vaughan believes that the American Cotton Industry should be able to export around five million bales, but only if enough cotton is produced. Unless Texas and American Farmers meet the foreign mill demand, Vaughan says there is no other alternative except to turn to foreign production and synthetic fibers to meet their requirements.

Families Attending Meeting

Meetings for the Muleshoe congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses have been canceled this week according to Boyd Lowery, presiding minister for the group, who made the announcement Sunday. In discussing plans for local members this week, Lowery said that eight families who regularly attend five meetings a week in Muleshoe are making special arrangements to spend the weekend in Vernon where they are delegates to a three day convention in the Wilbarger Auditorium which began Friday, February 23, at 6:45 p.m. More than 450 are expected representing some 15 different congregations and Lowery compared the gathering to a large family reunion with young and old sharing in a series of talks and dramatizations having to do with Biblical subjects devalued at the convention theme, "Strengthening One Another to Remain in the Faith." "Conventions are happy occasions," Lowery told the group, "since they afford the opportunity for all of Jehovah's Witnesses in the area to meet together again in Christian fellowship. Also to be strengthened spiritually by uplifting discussions on selected Scriptural subjects which will further aid everyone in attendance in the practical use of Bible knowledge in these troublesome times." Different vital topics on current needs will be featured with the assembly highlight to be reached Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. when the main speaker, A. A. Catanzaro, from New York will give a 1-hour lecture on the subject "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?" An ordination ceremony of new ministers will be held Saturday afternoon with newly dedicated Witnesses symbolizing their dedication by being immersed under water.

 stockholders with their sign-up. "All present stockholders will be able to subscribe to all pounds wanted if signed up by March 1, 1968. All contracts must be signed by March 1." Main reason for the board's decision, Isaacs said, is that many co-op members aren't getting to contract for as much corn as they had hoped to. "The farmers are in an exceedingly tight money situation right now, and many are having to cut back on the size of contracts they actually want," Isaacs said. "In doing so, they're making this excess poundage available." At its full capacity, the mill will grind 370 million pounds of corn a year, 115 million pounds more than the storage capacity of the Wheat Growers' elevators. So to satisfy the mill's hearty appetite, directors decided that a broader base of member-contractors is going to be needed.

 tive to paying a man for growing something to meet a market demand than they will for paying him for not producing, especially when these half-idle farm plants are hurting the economy of the small towns and communities. It is estimated that the short crop in 1967 hurt the economy of the State of Texas to the tune of one-half billion dollars in lost business. Other States and other areas, especially in the West, are clamoring for more cotton acreage. Yes, Texas Farmers will have to make a tough decision between now and March 15. The economy of his area, and the future of Texas Cotton will be affected by his decision.

VETERANS Q's and A's

Q -- How long will the VA pay training assistance allowance to a veteran who is in a four-year apprenticeship program?

A -- Training assistance allowance will be paid for 36 months or to the expiration of the veteran's entitlement. The amount of the allowance is reduced at the end of each of the first three six-month periods.

Q -- The pension I receive from my former employer is to be increased $15 per month. If this increase in income makes me ineligible to receive my veterans pension, may I refuse the increase in order to remain on the VA pension rolls?

A -- No. Your refusal to accept the monthly increase in your pension from the former employer would constitute a waiver. Since such a waiver is not authorized, the additional $15 you will receive must be reported as income. However, the law provides that 10 per cent of all retirement income is not counted as income for VA pension purposes.

Bula News

by Mrs. John Blackman

WMU of the Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the church with nine members in attendance.

"Trumpets in Dixie," is their new study and this was their first lesson. The book, by W. C. Fields, publicity director for the Baptist Convention, deals with the changes in the south and southwest, especially since civil war days and our attitude toward segregation.

Mrs. E. W. Black taught the lesson and Mrs. Richardson gave the call to prayer calendar. Attending were Mrs. Rowena Richardson, Mrs. Vina Tugman, Mrs. C. A. Williams, Mrs. Edd Crume, Mrs. Leo Buschur, Mrs. P. R. Pierce, Mrs. Fred Locker and Mrs. Black.

Mrs. Leo Buschur was crowned Valentine queen and Rev. Leo Buschur was crowned Valentine king at the Valentine banquet held in the Bula Baptist Church on February 10. This came as a rather surprise to both Rev. and Mrs. Buschur.

"Theme for the banquet was 'The Greatest Love,' Walter Buice, Muleshoe, was the featured speaker and entertainer for the evening.

About 25 were in attendance, the food was prepared by the ladies of the church.

Mrs. Bennie Hall, with the assistance of our county agent and county home demonstrator have recently organized a 4-H club with our young people. About 30 young people were in attendance for the last meeting. This is a wonderful work for our youth and we feel sure Mrs. Hall and others that were instrumental in getting this work started will welcome other parents to help them.

Sunday company for the James Boleyn's were Mr. and Mrs. Harley Boleyn and boys, Dale and Allan, from the Progress community.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackman of Clarendon visited Sunday with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bogard and Monday they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Blackman to Lovington and Hobbs to make Mrs. Nettie Blackman a visit at the Hobbs General Hospital where she is a patient. Mrs. Blackman is doing real good since her surgery and plans to be moved to the Muleshoe hospital as soon as her doctor thinks she can make the trip.

Attending the Homecoming basketball game for Wayland College on the 17th, were Donna Crume, Diane Crume, Barbara and Allan Black, Margaret Richardson, sponsors H. M. Black and Rev. and Mrs. Leo Buschur.

MONEY PLANS APPROVED

Reports are that the majority of congressmen on Capitol Hill have approved President Johnson's deficit in its balance of payments. Cutbacks are planned in overseas investment, tourism, foreign loans, and government spending abroad.

Robertson, Mrs. Gene Bryan, Mrs. John Hubbard, Mrs. J. C. Women's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday at the church at 2:30 with only three present, due to so much sickness. Mrs. Paul Young had charge of the lesson with Mrs. Landers giving the opening prayer. Mrs. Young brought her mother, Mrs. Lorene Cox, the story of Mary and Joseph's engagement, taken from the book, "Day Christ was Born," author, Jim Bishop. The lesson was concluded by Mrs. Landers reading a poem, "A Boy To Train," taken from the "Leaves of Gold." Mrs. Kirk gave the benediction.

Richland Hills P.T.A. Meeting

The Richland Hills P-TA met Monday, February 19, 4 p.m. Neal Dillman presented the program. In his discussion on dropouts he said, "The present Senior class has an enrollment of 120. In the 9th grade in 1964-65, 157 were in this class. When this class was in second grade, there were 187. That would mean 67 dropped out. Last year, there were 2000 enrolled. During the same year, over 600 withdrew, 342 entered our school; 942 students changed schools in one year."

"The biggest cause of dropouts," states Dillman, "is moving from school to school, broken homes and poor home discipline."

In closing, Dillman gave these poems:

FOR TEACHERS
No written word nor spoken plea
Can teach young hearts what men should be,
Not all the books on all the shelves
But what the teachers are themselves.

THE BUILDER
A builder builded a temple,
He wrought with care and skill,
Pillars, groins, and arches -
Were fashioned to meet his will.
And men said when they saw its beauty,
"It shall never decay.
Great is thy skill, O Builder,
Thy fame shall love for aye."

A teacher builded a temple,
She wrought with skill and care,

PLANS REVEALED--Mr. and Mrs. Ogle J. Loran, Muleshoe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cynthia Ann, to Ricky Dwight Loran, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Vernon, Muleshoe. Miss Loran is a junior in Muleshoe High School and Vernon is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and is presently employed at Poyner's White Auto. The wedding will take place March 23, 7:30 p.m. in the Calvary Baptist Church. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Forming each pillar with patience,
Laying each stone with prayer.
None saw the unceasing effort;
None knew of the marvelous plan
For the temple the teacher builded
Was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the Builder's temple,
Crumbling in the dust,
Pillars, groins, and arches -
Food for consuming rust.
But the temple the teacher builded
Shall endure while the ages roll,
For the beautiful unseen temple
Was a child's immortal soul.

"Teachers like this, along with responsible, loyal, Christian parents, who practice the 10 Commandments, would practically eliminate dropouts," concluded Dillman.

House Parents Tackle Giant Problem

Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Stinson, (former residents of Muleshoe), are house parents of a Youth Center in Corpus Christi. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Stinson, Muleshoe and Nell Stinson is the daughter of the late Jim Moore and Mrs. Moore, also of Muleshoe. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stinson are 1959 graduates of Muleshoe High School.

J. B. Moore, executive director of the Youth Center, is the son of Mrs. Jim Moore and brother of Mrs. Bob Stinson. He also graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1952.

Mrs. Robert Stinson has all the ordinary problems of a mother - but they are multiplied by 12.

She has to see to 12 girls brushed up on time, get their teeth brushed and breakfast eaten. She helps 12 girls gather their school books and get to the bus on time.

She has to settle disputes and determine who is going to wash dishes and who will dry them. But more than anything else, she must give love and understanding to 12 girls who have been neglected by their parents. At the same time, she must not neglect her own children; Michael, 6, and Shellie, 4.

The girls, ages 7 to 13 are residents of Coastal Bend Youth City and Mr. and Mrs. Stinson are their house parents.

"For a 23-year-old couple, this is quite a task - to cope with emotional and physical problems of a houseful of children.

The most severe emotional problem of each child is simply wondering why she is here," Mrs. Stinson said. "For the first couple of weeks they have difficulty adjusting to the new situation and to the other girls."

In each case, the child was placed in Youth City because she was neglected and/or deserted by her parents.

"Many times it is not a case of money," said J. B. Moore, director. "Some are from a family of nine children. The father, a master sergeant, deserted them and the mother 'just walked out.'" Moore emphasized the fact that the girls were not put in Youth City because they are delinquents.

Mrs. Stinson finds it necessary to keep a very tight schedule. Her day begins at 5 a.m. when she gets the girls up and starts them on their housecleaning chores. Three girls share a bedroom and are responsible for keeping it tidy.

Breakfast is served at 6 o'clock and then the girls do the dishes and begin to get ready for school. Food is not cooked in the cottage, it is prepared in the main building and sent to the girls' cottage and boys' dorm.

At 7:20, the girls board the bus for school and at 7:30 Mrs. Stinson gets her husband off to class at Texas A&I University where he is a junior business major.

"Then I go back over the house, picking up what the girls scattered on the way to the bus," she said. Most mornings she stops for coffee with house mothers for the boys' about 8:30.

At about 9, she starts on all the little odd jobs that need to be done around any home - mending, cleaning dresser drawers and cabinets, generally straightening and picking up. This, too, is the time to take children to the doctor, dentist, or psychiatrist.

After lunch with the other staff members, Mrs. Stinson has 1 1/2 hours of free time - "usually to rest."

State Draft Quota Boost

AUSTIN--State draft boards are being called upon in March to furnish the largest monthly quota of men for the armed forces in nearly two years, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Thursday.

Local board quotas for March, already mailed by state

Six Texans Are Draft Delinquents

AUSTIN--Six men registered with local draft boards in Texas were declared delinquent under the draft's delinquency regulations during January for abandoning or mutilating draft cards.

This was revealed Friday by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, based on an enforcement procedures report to Lieutenant General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service.

"There was a total of nine cases involving receipt by local boards of registration certificates or current notices of classification," Colonel Schwartz said.

"The registrants were declared delinquent in six of these cases," he said in his report, "four of which are pending further action by local boards, one is pending appeal, and one is pending induction into the armed forces."

He said three of the nine cases were considered by local boards, but were not declared delinquent, as one merely protested his classification in class I-Y, which represents disqualification for armed forces service under applicable physical, mental, or moral standards.

"In the case of the remaining two," the state Selective Service director said, "one removed his delinquency and the other enlisted in the Marine Corps after returning his draft card."

Colonel Schwartz said he had been directed to make this enforcement procedures report monthly.

Selective Service headquarters, are designed to provide 1,948 men.

This is the largest monthly quota for the state since November, 1966, when the call was for 2,012 men. During the period of 17 months between these quotas, the low point was a call for 674 in February, 1967.

Local boards were called upon earlier to provide 1,165 men in February and 1,659 in January of this year.

Draft boards are also being called upon in March to send 4,200 men for the armed forces pre-induction physical and mental examinations to fill future calls.

This compares with 4,590 men being forwarded for this purpose in February. The quota for these examinations in January was 5,455.

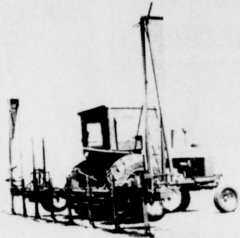

The March induction quota of 1,948 for Texas is the state's share of a national call for 39,000 men, all for the Army.

Women and Social Security

by John G. Hutton, District Manager

Among the changes in the social security program recently signed into law by President Johnson are a number of special significance to women. Chief among them is a change that will make about 175,000 children eligible for monthly payments. It changes the conditions for determining dependency upon a working mother. Until now, for a child to be considered dependent upon his mother and therefore eligible for monthly payments when she died, retired or became disabled, she needed to have worked under social security for at least 1 1/2 years out of the last three years, unless she was actually supporting the child. The amendments eliminate this recent-work requirement. Beginning with checks in March, 1968, benefits are payable to the child of a woman worker who has died, retired, or become entitled to social security disability benefits if she has accumulated enough social security credit to be "fully insured," whether or not those credits were for recent work under social security.

Some widowers who were dependent on a wife at the time of the wife's death or disability may now also get benefits under this provision. Another very important change in the law makes it possible for the disabled widow, or disabled divorced wife, of a worker to receive disability benefits beginning at age 50. This provision also applies to the disabled widower who was dependent upon his wife at the time of her death.

Under the old law a widow could not get social security benefits until she reached age 60, unless she had in her care a child who was entitled to payments based on her husband's earnings.

Now a widow whose husband has worked long enough under social security can be eligible for monthly benefits as early as age 50 if she is severely "disabled." A widow is considered "disabled" if she has a mental or physical impairment so severe that it keeps her from performing any gainful activity, and the condition has lasted (or is expected to last) 12 months or longer. Age, education, and work experience, which are considered in the case of the disabled worker, are not considered.

In general, you can be eligible for widows benefits only if your disability started before or within 7 years after your husband's death. However, if you received benefits as a widow with children, you could be eligible for the new benefits if your disability started before the other payments ended, or within 7 years after they ended.

Payments can start with the 7th full month of your disability. The first month for which benefits can be paid is March 1968, if you were divorced from your husband before his death after 20 or more years of marriage, but were receiving support from him at the time of his death (or he was under court order to provide support); you may also be eligible for the new benefits. The amount may be as low as 50 percent of the benefit the deceased worker would have received, or may be as high as 82 1/2 percent, depending on the age at which the widow begins to get benefits. For example, if you became disabled at age 50 and began receiving disability benefits, you would receive 50 percent of the amount your husband would have received; if you started getting benefits at age 55 it would be 60 3/4 percent. As under the old law, the full amount of a widow's benefit -- payable at 62 -- is 82 1/2 percent of your deceased husband's retirement benefit. If you start receiving widow's disability benefits at an earlier age under the new law, the reduced rate will continue after age 62 as well.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reviews a problem we really hadn't thought much about.

Dear editor: Since one of the problems of living on this Johnson grass farm out here or any other place in the country is what to do with your garbage, naturally I followed the garbage collection troubles of New York City, in the newspapers and on television.

If you haven't thought about it, you might suppose that garbage would be a minor problem in the country, but think about it a minute. Where would you put it? Start your own trash dump? Haul it a hole and bury it every time the wastebasket is full?

It's sort of like Viet Nam. You didn't know there was a problem there until people started calling your attention to it, did you? Therefore, I followed the New York situation closer than I would a good western and what I'd like to know is why can't we get a system like that going around here? I'm talking about the solution.

It's simple, as I understand it. All you do is stack your garbage outside your house and if the Mayor won't pick it up the Governor will.

Maybe at first nobody pays any attention to it, but just keep stacking it up and sooner or later it'll get noticed,

Springlake Champions

In a district 3-A championship game played in Muleshoe Junior High School gym Thursday night, the Springlake-Earth eighth grade boys went home with the championship.

Although bottom rated Farwell came into the game with a season record of 3-12, they kept the game tied at the end of the first quarter, 6-6, and were out in front at halftime by a score of 16-14.

By the end of the third quarter, paced by Hoy Glasscock, Springlake had pulled out in front by the slim, uncertain margin of one point, with the score being 20-21. Farwell dropped back in the fourth period and Springlake-Earth won in the final round with 27-23. Hoy Glasscock led scoring for the Springlake-Earth team with 18 points, Pete Acevedo had 3, Billy Thomas, Mike Cleveland and Eddie Sidwells each had 2 to round out the scoring for their team.

Other members of the team included Efren Zambrano, Eddie Alair, Sammy Matlock, Junior De La Gato, Carl Sulser, Danny Bradley, Greg Slover, Henry Guerra, Scott Alexander, Mike Hedges, Chris Brock, Terrell Ott and Manual Samaron.

The team is coached by John Varnell and had a 14-2 record when they came into the game Thursday night.

Bret Hargrove led scoring for Farwell with 15 points and was followed by Ricky Keith with 6 and Larry Erwin with 2. Other Farwell players were Will Anderson, Randy Gregory, Wilbur Bryant, Stanley Milstead, Terry Kraft, Eddie Meeks, Jackie Williams, Clint Deeds, Stanley Austin, Alan Guber, Mickey Lunsford and Kurt McFarland.

searching the car for narcotics.

On the other hand, police who stopped a motorist for drunk driving were held justified in looking for whiskey. Their discovery of a bottle of gin, half empty, helped afterward to convict the motorist of driving while intoxicated.

Furthermore, the search is lawful if, after the car is stopped, police observe some telltale sign of criminal activity. For example, while an officer was writing a ticket for speeding, a passenger in the car shifted his position--accidentally revealing a hidden pistol. The officer promptly made a search, discovering not only weapons but stolen merchandise as well. Under these circumstances, the search was held lawful and the evidence admissible in court.

Of course, the safest procedure for the police is to get a warrant before making their search. But the law is less insistent on a warrant for searching a car than for searching a house.

The reason is obvious: whisking a car out of the jurisdiction is easier than whisking a house.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

SEARCHING YOUR CAR

If a policeman stops you for a traffic violation, may he search your car?

This question might seem minor. But it raises some major constitutional issues. According to the Fourth Amendment, you are protected against "unreasonable searches." And evidence obtained from such a search cannot be used against you in court.

But what is "unreasonable?" Gradually, through a series of court rulings, several basic rules have become fairly well established.

For one thing, the search is not lawful if the motorist was stopped on a trumped-up charge, merely as an excuse for making the search.

In one case police suspected that a certain car contained illicit lottery tickets. To find out, they halted the car for "passing on a curve"--even though passing on that particular curve happened to be perfectly legal.

As it turned out, the police did indeed find lottery tickets in the car. Nevertheless, this evidence was held inadmissible in court, because there was no valid basis for the arrest in the first place.

Nor is the search lawful, even when there really was a traffic violation, if the search has no logical relation to the violation. Thus, police who stopped a motorist for making an improper U-turn were held not justified in

Economist Outlines Wheat Outlook

COLLEGE STATION--U. S. wheat supplies for the 1967-68 marketing year are 133 million bushels higher than last year and total about 1,981 million bushels.

John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, said in his "Economic Outlook for Wheat in 1967-68" that this will probably be the first time since 1960-61 that the supply has increased from the previous year.

The supply is made up of carryover of 426 million bushels, the smallest since 1952; a record crop of 1,554 million bushels in 1967 and imports of about a million bushels, McHaney said.

States during the period July 1, 1967 to June 30, 1968, may amount to 632-707 million bushels, about the same or a little higher than last year, he continued.

This figure may increase if there is more wheat used for feed. Feeding of wheat was greater during July-September 1967 than a year earlier due to the narrow spread between the price of wheat and feed grain. But with probable lower prices for feed grains, the rate of wheat feeding may decline from the high level for the first three months of the present marketing year. For the 1967-68 marketing year, feeding is estimated at 100-125 million bushels compared with 93 million last year, the economist said.

The food use of wheat for 1967-68 may total 510-515 million bushels as compared to last year's 508 million bushels. The seed use is likely to total about 70 million bushels, down about eight million bushels from last year's total. McHaney said this is due to the reduction in the national acreage allotment for 1968 wheat.

The United States Department of Agriculture announced its export target for 1967-68 as 750 million bushels, about eight million bushels more than last year's exports. The commercial exports are likely to be below last year's while the Food for Freedom exports may be larger than last year's, he pointed out.

Through October 30, exports of wheat and wheat products and forward registration for export payments were behind last year's. With larger and better distributed crops around the world, the economist said that competition for markets is greater than in 1966-67.

The total disappearance of wheat that was used in the U.S. and exported for the present marketing year will be about 1,432 - 1,457 million bushels compared with last year's 1,421 million. With this indicated level of use, the carryover on

Ed Cushman, Consultant for the National Aeronautics Space Administration, Washington, D. C., visited the Muleshoe Junior High and High School science classes Monday and Tuesday, February 19-20, and did demonstration teaching to illustrate how NASA materials can be used in the science curriculum. He taught Rocketry in the sixth grade; Effects of Vibration and Fatigue in the seventh grade; Lunar Geology in the eighth grade; and Human Factors in the biology classes in high school. Mrs. Enid Bates, science consultant with the Panhandle Educational Services Organization (PESO), Amarillo, accompanied Cushman.

Muleshoe is one of the area schools which has been using NASA materials this year.

June 30, 1968 is expected to be about 524-549 million bushels. Last year's carryover was 426 million bushels, McHaney said.

"Barring an unexpected decline in exports from the indicated 750 million bushels, it appears that the farm price for the entire 1967-68 marketing year may average 10-15 percent above the loan," McHaney said.

The 1968 national allotment of 59.3 million acres was announced on June 23, 1967 and contrasts with the 68.2 million acres last year. The acreage has been reduced in order to adjust production more in line with prospective demand.

Growers Expand Production Chemical Use

COLLEGE STATION--The use of agricultural chemicals for grass and weed control is listed by Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A & M University, as the most significant development in Texas cotton production over the past six years.

In a year-end report covering activities of the 7-Step Cotton Program, Elliott said pre-emergence chemicals were used last year to treat 1,396,681 acres while post-emergence chemicals were applied to another 766,278 acres. These chemicals were used, he said, on almost two-thirds of the state's harvested acreage.

In 1962, only 46,389 acres in the state were treated with pre-emergence chemicals and his questionnaire which was answered by county agricultural agents did not carry a query on post-emergence chemicals. Also in 1962, spot oiling and cotton treatment for Johnson-grass control and lateral oiling for weed and grass control in cotton were applied to more than 660,000 acres. By 1967 this total had dropped to less than 300,000 acres, Elliott said, reflecting their replacement by more effective and easier to apply chemicals. But, perhaps more important, he said, is the ability of the newer chemicals to get the job done over much longer periods of time -- that is control weeds and grass in cotton fields.

Another notable achievement over the six-year period was the increase in the number of Texas cotton producers who cooperated with county agents in carrying out recommendations of the statewide 7-step program, ranging from just over 44,000 in 1962 to just under 50,000 in 1967. Evidence, Elliott believes, that points up how the flexibility of the 7-step program has met the ever-changing needs of cotton producers for information.

Elliott said educational meetings have already been held in the areas of the state where cotton planting first gets underway and that growers are eager to get the latest information on every phase of cotton production and processing. He said they are optimistic about the future for cotton.

Vietnam News

reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondent and Editor by G/Sgt. Bob Montgomery

Back home, he's not old enough to vote, but in Vietnam, Marine Sergeant Earl L. Ramey, 20, of Willow Springs, N. C., is responsible for the protection and pacification of 5,000 people in three hamlets.

Ramey commands Combined Action Platoon (CAP) Q-4 in the Hoa Hiep village, northwest of Da Nang. His unit consists of 14 U. S. Marines and 22 Vietnamese Popular Forces (militia) troops. They are based in a small, sandbagged, barbed wire-enclosed compound reminiscent of the frontier forts of early American history.

Their "fort" is along Highway 1 and overlooks Hoa Hiep's three hamlets. Their job is to protect the villagers from the Viet Cong, root out VC sympathizers and operatives, and help the people to help themselves.

Ramey is typical of the "new-breed" Marine non-commissioned officers who command CAP units. The lean, soft-spoken youngster joined the Marine Corps in January 1966, completed his recruit and combat training and arrived in Vietnam during June 1966. Like most CAP Marines, he volunteered for the duty.

"I think it's really something worthwhile," he says. "If we had more CAPs, we'd be a lot closer to ending the war."

Ramey is as anxious as any other Marine to see his parents, but he's already voluntarily extended his tour for six months past the normal 13 months and is considering extending again to "see the job finished."

The job includes one day and one night patrols daily through the village and surrounding rice paddies and forest. They try to find VC, or at least keep them off balance by constant movement. Ramey's troops set up ambushes whenever they strongly suspect Viet Cong presence. He was wounded in the arm by grenade fragments during a fight following an ambush last June.

The PFS, who are local men, are valuable on patrols because of their familiarity with the terrain.

"They also come in handy in helping identify villagers who might be aiding or siding with the Viet Cong," says Ramey.

Part of the campaign to win and hold the friendship of the people includes medical help. A medical corpsman at CAP Q-4 goes on medical civic action patrols three times weekly to treat villagers for minor ailments. His aid station inside the CAP compound is open daily to local civilians. Children in need of hospitalization are referred to nearby Hoa Khanh Children's Hospital, built, operated and supported by Marines and Navy men of Force Logistic Command, headquartered near the CAP Q-4 compound.

Ramey, who took several weeks of Vietnamese language training, has little trouble making himself understood in Hoa Hiep village. He has frequent discussions with the village chief to help iron out local problems and to find out how his platoon can best help the people.

Ramey's Marines and PFS also pitch in with the rice harvest, dig water wells and aid in community building projects. At the command post, situated in a heavily-sandbagged bunker topped by a 35-foot watchtower, Earl Ramey surveys the hamlets and countryside of Hoa Hiep with a feeling of protective pride. At home he may not be old enough to vote, but in Hoa Hiep, Vietnam, he's in charge.

Some things are never what they seem to be. What appeared to be an ordinary cinder-block used in constructing bridges and buildings was a cleverly disguised Viet Cong bomb.

"The block could be placed in a bridge or building by one of the workers," said 1st Lt. Arthur J. Seaman, explosive ordnance officer at Dong Ha.

Method Simplified For Medicare Benefits

When medicare first started on July 1, 1966, there were two ways for older people to get their doctor bills paid under the program. The first called for the doctor's agreeing to claim the 80 percent payment direct from medicare, by filling out a very simple one-page application form. The other required that the beneficiary first pay the bill and then apply for the medicare payment, with or without the help of the doctor. During the first year and half of medicare, about half of the claims for doctor bills were put in directly by the doctors, while the beneficiaries had to apply, after paying the bill, in about half the cases. The system worked well enough -- about $1.3 billion was paid in benefits under it -- but not without hardship to those older people who could raise the money to pay the bill only by borrowing or by depriving themselves of necessities while waiting for the medicare payment to come in.

Now Congress has changed all this to eliminate the necessity for the beneficiary's paying the bill first, in cases where the doctor decides not to make the claim himself. Beginning January 1, 1968, all the beneficiary needs is an itemized bill -- not an itemized, receipted bill as in the past. Of course, the assignment to the doctor method is still the simplest method for all concerned. It requires the use of only a single sheet of paper (the "Request for Payments" form), with no attachments or enclosures that might become separated from the claims form and delay a payment. Also, it has blanks for all of the kinds of information needed to pay a claim, thus further preventing "write-backs" for missing data without which a claim cannot be paid. Under this method, the doctors agree to accept the "reasonable charge" determined by the carrier, as his full charge, and the basis of the 80 percent payment made to him. The patient is responsible for the other 20 percent, plus any part of the $50 annual deductible that might be remaining. But even if the doctor declines to accept an assignment, it can be to his advantage to use the "Request for Payments" form in lieu of his standard receipted bill in the case of medicare beneficiaries. Experience has shown that payments can be processed much faster when the form is used. This, in turn, will result in the beneficiary's receiving his medicare check sooner, with its proceeds passed along that much sooner to the attending doctor. All the doctor's office needs to do is complete Part II of the standard form. That will serve as the itemized bill which the patient can send in, to claim his payment. As before, medicare pays $4 out of every $5, after the first $50 medical bills in a year.

Muleshoe Residents Back Golfer Terry Dill

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. White, vacationing in Arizona, were spectators at the $100,000 Phoenix Open Golf tournament Saturday.

The Muleshoe couple followed the match in which a Muleshoe golfer, Terry Dill, was playing. Mrs. White wrote the Journal that "it was a great day for Dill. He shot a 68 that day and finished with 8 under par. He played with Don January and Dick Moyer. He teamed Sunday with George Kneadson (winner of the tourney) and Sam Carmichael who tied for second prize.

"It was the most exciting golf match you could imagine," she wrote.

"Dill was very happy with his standing Saturday but fell off Sunday to finish with 6 under par," she said.

The Whites were joined by Leon Wilson and Johnny Gammons in Phoenix at the tourney. These former Muleshoe residents now live in Wilcox, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. White are meeting the Ray Harveys, Wilson and Gammons and possibly another Muleshoe couple, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Turner, this weekend in Tucson for the Tucson Open Tourney.

Dill is well-known by most Muleshoe residents and Mrs. White adds a personal footnote to her letter "Terry still can't keep his shirt tail tucked in -- one of youthful trademarks here."

He won $2,300 at Phoenix and his score for the four rounds was 70-67-68-73 with a total of 278.
