THURBER NEW CITY MANAGER

HEADLINERS

MCBEE WILL NOT SEEK RE-ELECTION

State Representative Susan Gurley McBee, who has represented District 70 in the Texas House of Representatives since 1975, announced today she will not be a candidate for re-election in 1982.

"It been such a privilege and pleasure to represent this area in Austin," stated Mrs. McBee; "and I appreciate very much the opportunity to have done so. But I promised the voters when I first ran that wouldn't become a professional politician, and I think eight years in office is enough."

Mrs. McBee said her term won't expire until January 1983 and that she will continue to actively fulfill her legislative duties until that time.

DORRIS ELECTED TO SERVE AS DIRECTOR ON TEXAS LP-GAS ASSOCIATION BOARD

Jerry Dorris, President, Road-runner Energy, Inc., was recently elected to serve a two-year term on the Board of Directors of the Texas LP-Gas Association.

The Association is a statewide trade organization comprised of LP-gas dealers and suppliers.

The new District Director serves an area within a 40-mile radius of Uvalde, and has branch offices in Sabin, Leakey, Camp Wood, and Brackettville. His firm sells gas and electric appliances in addition to supplying the area with LP-gas service.

Dorris currently is Vice President of the Uvalde Chamber of Commerce, and is on the Board of Directors of the Uvalde Rotary Club. He formerly served as Alternate Director for the Texas LP-gas Association.

The three year industry veteran was formerly Senior Vice-President of Southern Union Refining Company in Hobbs, N.M.

The Texas LP-Gas Associations' main objectives are to promote safety and education in the industry.

DRUG LAWS TO TAKE EFFECT

Patients visiting their physicians and pharmacists will find some changes in the way drugs are prescribed and dispensed beginning January 1, 1982, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Two new state laws will allow the substitution of generic drugs for brand-name drugs in many cases and will require physicians to prescribe certain narcotics to fill out a new form. The form is designed to discourage both the diversion of prescription drugs to street use, particularly by drug users pretending to be ill, and the possibility of abuse in prescription writing.

In approving the generic-drug law, the Texas Legislature's stated intent is to save patients money on prescriptions. The legislation allows pharmacists, with the physician's permission, to substitute a cheaper, "generically equivalent" drug for the brand-name drug. The law says pharmacist should pass along the net savings on drug costs to the consumer.

The generic substitute must contain identical amounts of the same active ingredients as the brand-name drug. The substitute also must produce a therapeutic effect of the same strength and duration as the brand-name drug.

To allow the generic substitute, physicians first must give approval on the prescription by signing the blank labeled "Product selection permitted," (the other option is to require the brand-name drug by signing the blank labeled "Dispense as written.") If "product selection" is permitted, the pharmacist can substitute with a cheaper, generic-drug--but only if the patient agrees. Before delivering the medication, the pharmacist must inform the patient--orally or by a posted sign--that a substitution can be made. The patient has the right to refuse it.

The law also stipulates that the pharmacist cannot substitute unless the cost to the consumer for the generic product is less than that of the brand-name produce prescribed. Some drugs are not subject to substitution.

The second law, part of Gov. Bill Clements' "War On Drugs" program, will prohibit physician from prescribing or administering certain narcotics and other drugs directly to patients (except those hospitalized) without

CARING FOR YOUR POINSETTIA

The genus euphorbia is enormous with over 1,000 species varying from trees, shrubs, succulents, annual and perennials. All types exude a whitish latex is cut.
Only two of species of this large group are grown as houseplants the poinsettia and crown of thorns

The Poinsettia is native to Mexico. The true flower of the plant is insignificant, but the showy leaf like bracts, usually red, make a beautiful display.
Pink and cream colored leaves are also cultivated.

To keep your poinsettia in good condition, keep in a room with moderate temperatures away from hot or cold drafts. Place them away from direct sunlight but in a bright spot. Maintain soil moisture and be sure to provide adequate drainage.

After flowering, continue to water and fertilize regularly.
Repot to a larger container in the spring and prune back the stems to encourage stong new growth.

For best results and blooming, grow outdoors in full sun in the summer and move pots back in doors in the fall.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

As a concerned citizen, I have been hearing needy people complaints about not getting jobs with the County; and how others with less needs get the job with the County.

I was just concerned why the real needy does not get hired.
Is it that they do not screen the people as they should or is it discrimination? I know of a couple boys who have repeatedly applied and they claimed they were not hiring. The Very next day they put on new people to work, including illegal aliens.
And believe me I should know because I have two young boys too who have also applied for county jobs and have never been hired.
We do need the job; my husband is 72 years old and is a cancer victim and I myself have a heart condition. So neither of us are able to work. What is wrong with our society?

CHRISTMAS ORNAMENTS CAN BE DANGEROUS TO PETS

Tis the season to be jolly, but the very things that make the Christmas season bright and gay, may be the things that can turn Christmas into a tragedy for your family pet.

"The Christmas tree, with colored lights and balls, tinsel and artificial snow is a tempting curiosity for your cats and puppies. Extra caution should be used to keep your pets out of the tree branches," said Dr. Ben Johnston, president of the Texas
Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA).

Inquisitive, frisky pets may decide to munch, crunch, attack or swallow decorative tree items such as glass balls, electric light wires, tinsel and string.

"Dogs and cats find ornaments and tinsel attractive, and they chew them and swallow them as if they were a bone. Glass ornaments splinter on contact and can cause perforation of the animal's gastric or intestinal walls,"said Johnston, a Houston veterinarian.

a lead base and can be toxic to

COOKING CORNER
Holiday celebrations deserve the very best... and that's how you should plan your parties, says a lady who should know.

Her name is Letitia Baldrige and she was social advisor to the White House during the Kennedy years. Her tips for holiday parties will appear in an eight-page section from Canada Dry in the December Reader's Digest. You'll also find them in special Canada Dry sections at stores throughout the country, telling how to obtain "The Entertainers," Letitia Baldrige's paperback home entertainment guide. To put that special punch in your holiday parties, she suggests this drink:

WINTER PUNCH

- 4 quarts cranapple juice
- 4 cinnamon sticks
- 1 tsp. whole cloves
- 1 quart Canada Dry Ginger Ale
- 2 1/2 cups vodka

Place cinnamon and cloves in cheesecloth and heat with cranapple juice in large saucepan. Simmer for five minutes.

Remove from heat and let cool. Remove spice bag. Pour into punchbowl and add vodka and ginger ale. Float block of ice. Surround punchbowl with holly and serve to 24.

Q. Does the U.S. Metric Board have a consumer policy?

A. While the Board has no regulatory powers it does closely monitor conversion activity to protect consumer rights and it will call questionable practices to the attention of the appropriate authorities. Consumers also have their own representative on the Board.

The U.S. Metric Board is a government agency which does planning, research and coordination in connection with voluntary usage of the metric system.

the animal. Tinsel and string are also harmful because they can ball up in the intestine and cause blockage.
Chewing on the wires of colored lights can cause electric shock and has proved fatal to many pets. Those that survive usually have severe mouth burns that require immediate veterinary treatment.

The best way to keep your family pet safe from such tragedy is prevention, said the TVMA president. Decorations should be kept high on the tree, or the tree should be placed on a table out of reach of pets. Pets should not be left alone with the tree.

If an emergency does arise, contact your veterinarian immediately.

*Don't forget that holly, poinsettias and mistletoe are especially dangerous toxins at this time of year. Make sure these poisonous substances are kept well out of the family pets reach.

YULE GIFTS THAT REFLECT YOU

You may make this Christmas more merry than ever... one where the gifts you give will reflect your own special touch... the result of thought and care for each person on your Christmas list.

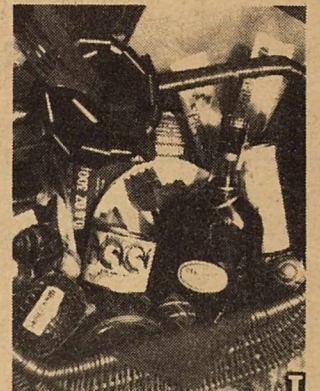

Here are some suggestions that may help:

For the person who loves sweet aromas, give a harbinger of spring... scented shelf paper or candles, perhaps in a rose or lavender fragrance.

The gourmet on your list might well welcome a basket of delicacies. Shop the supermarket or department store for such goodies as French escargots, milk chocolate biscuits from Germany, stuffed grapeleaves from Greece. And to show how much you really care, add a bottle of the world's most civilized spirit, the elegant Hennessy X.O.

Share a treasured memory with a loved one through a framed poster of an opera or play you enjoyed together or perhaps a book featuring an artist you both admire.

Perhaps nothing would please a true music lover

A gourmet basket of imported delicacies and a bottle of fine cognac can make a holiday treat.

more than an almost perfect, undistorted recording of a favorite selection.

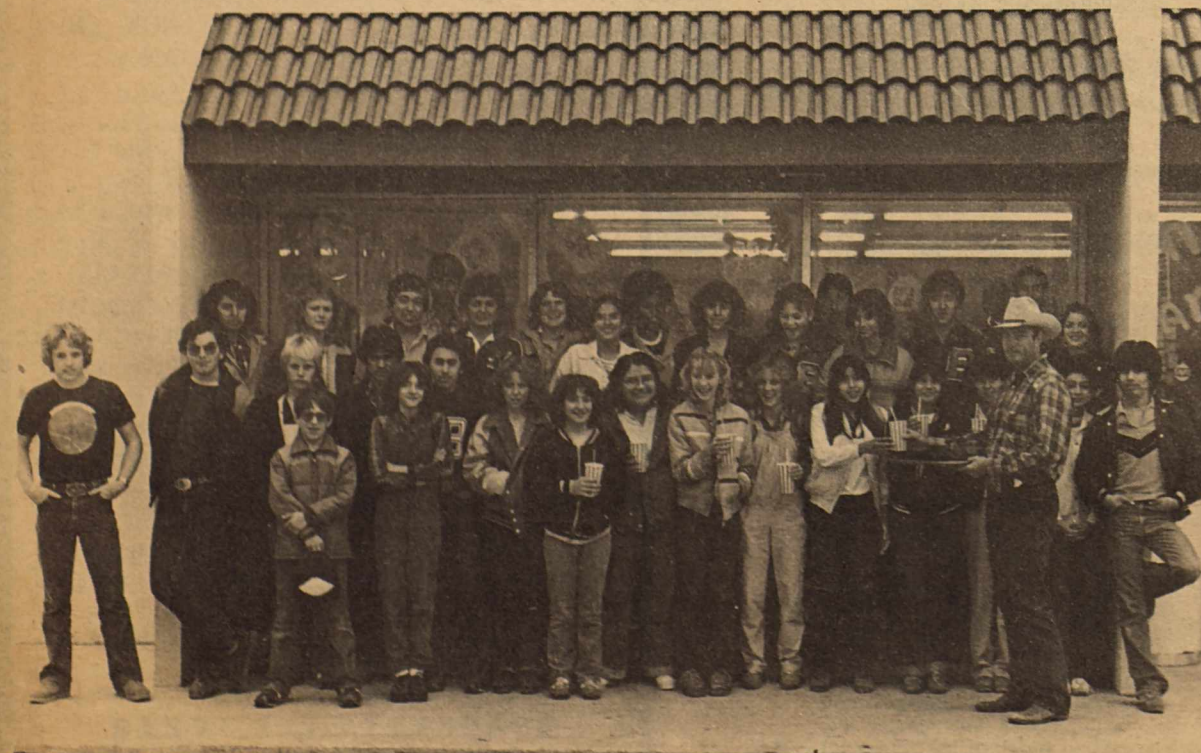

Even practical gifts can be special. Visit a stationery store to find such items as hand-tooled leather address books and note pads. Personalized stationery is available with many individual touches.

Any or all of these suggestions could help to make it a memorable holiday season... a Yuletide that reflects you.

STOCKING STUFFERS

Some "Sound" Gift Ideas

Stocking stuffers this year don't have to be confined to the usual yo-yos and Christmas cookies. This holiday season Sony has some unique Hi Fi accessories that would be welcomed by teenagers and audio buffs alike.

Tiny enough to stuff

the smallest stocking but a major factor in determining the quality of the sound from a turntable is a Moving Coil cartridge such as the XL-33 from Sony. Another accessory that adds to the season's cheerful sounds is Sony's PT-55 timer, which will automatically turn on that special once-in-a-season broadcast.

A stocking stuffer that really improves radio reception for this season's Christmas carols is a Sony outboard antenna. And for families with Sony tape decks, a wireless remote control or a tape head demagnetizer will be most welcome on Christmas morning - and deliver convenience and top-notch performance throughout the New Year.

How To Lighten Holiday Foods

Start with a bowl of relishes—the greater the variety, the better. Skip the dip.

Make the cream sauce for onions with half as much fat and with skim milk instead of whole. Thicken with corn starch.

Serve baked sweet potatoes rather than candied sweets, or skip the marshmallows.

To cut calories in the gravy, pour off the turkey drippings, leaving brown particles. Add corn starch, using half as much corn starch as you would flour. Gradually stir in fat-free broth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil.

Serve fruit, lightly glazed, for dessert. For the glaze, stir together in saucepan 2 tablespoons corn starch and a pinch of ginger. Gradually stir in 2 cups orange juice. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Pour over a mixture of fruit, toss and chill.

For pie, choose pumpkin chiffon over creamy pumpkin or make a mincemeat pie that's more apples than mincemeat.

Reviving Traditions Inspires A New "Spirit" In Eggnog

Time-honored traditions and treats are what make the holidays special. Yet these same reappearing festivities can become routine and bring on the groans of "Bah, hum-drum!"

No need to cast aside the customary decor—the hand-crafted stockings or the heirloom ornaments. Instead, find new ways to use them.

Perhaps the ornaments become the focus of a centerpiece and the stockings aren't "Hung by the chimney with care," but placed in a window that had been bare.

Continue to nourish your holiday guests with the traditional turkey or roast duck, but prepare the family recipes a little differently each year. Use a new seasoning or stuffing to make it more than just the "same old thing."

For inspiration to renew your holidays try a transformation of the classic Christmastime cocktail eggnog.

The following revives an old family recipe. It's made from scratch and the effort makes it a home-made delicious treat.

For a real difference, instead of just rum or brandy, make the "spirit" of eggnog a truly American specialty by using an unique authentic liquor, Southern Comfort.

This distilled spirit was created more than a century ago in Old World New Orleans.

COMFORT EGGNOG FAMILY RECIPE

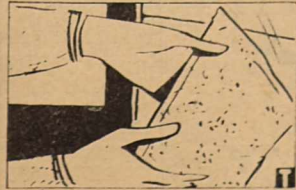

- 6 egg yolks
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 cups Southern Comfort
- 3 cups heavy or whipping cream
- 1/2 cup brandy
- 6 cups milk (1 1/2 qts.)
- 6 egg whites

Beat egg yolks until thick and fluffy. Gradually beat in sugar, then Southern Comfort. Cook the custard mixture over simmering water, beating constantly, until thick and foamy, about 7 minutes. Chill.

Just before serving, whip cream until thick and fluffy; then beat in brandy. Stir milk into chilled custard. Gently fold whipped cream into custard. Whip egg whites until stiff and shiny; gently fold into custard mixture. Make 32 servings, about 5 ounces each.

WATCH YOUR ENERGY

HERE ARE A FEW SUGGESTIONS YOU MIGHT LIKE TO GIVE A WARM WELCOME TO FROM THE NATIONAL ENERGY WATCH.

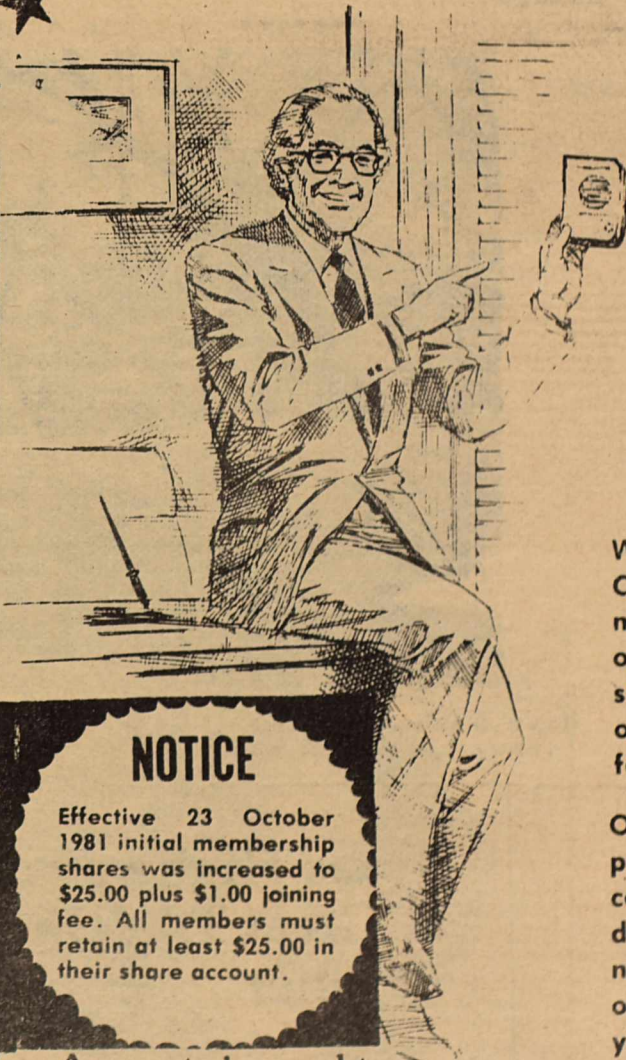

BE SURE YOUR HEATING SYSTEM IS IN GOOD REPAIR. IF YOU HAVE A WARM-AIR SYSTEM, FOR INSTANCE, CHANGE THE FILTER TWO OR THREE TIMES A HEATING SEASON TO GET THE MOST EFFICIENCY FROM YOUR SYSTEM.

AN INSULATION CHECK IS A WISE MOVE. PROPER INSULATION IS AN ASSET TO YOUR COMFORT AND YOUR BANKBOOK. UP TO HALF OF THE HEATING AND COOLING YOU PAY FOR CAN BE LOST IN AN UNINSULATED HOME. THESE TIPS ARE FROM THE NATIONAL ENERGY WATCH—AN ENERGY EFFICIENCY PROGRAM FROM THE ELECTRIC UTILITY INDUSTRY.

KAZEN

A phenomenon known as the "revised economic assumption" is making itself more than a nuisance in the hands of David Stockman of the Office Of Management and Budget, it is playing havoc with the economic future of this country.

Recent reports indicate that instead of a $43 billion deficit, we may be headed for a staggering $109 billion deficit for the current fiscal year. That would be the strongest indication thus far that hopes for a balanced budget, once predicted to be a reality in three years, are still in the far, distant future.

Stockman may be recalled as one of those who publicly insisted that economic projections proved that we could afford a three-year tax cut, cover the much-needed buildup of our military defense system and still balance the budget. In fact, a majority in Congress bought the Stockman assumptions and the promise of a balanced budget, but they now know that not one single economist sees any chance of a balanced budget by 1984.

FAULTY FIGURES

In February, Stockman and Administration economists projected a figure of 4.6 percent as the economic growth rate for fiscal 1982. In March, that figure was revised to 3.4 percent. By October, the projection was 2 percent and the next month it was 1 percent. This month, the projection is less than 1 percent.

The deficit--whatever the true figure--is the result of the decline in the economy and an increase in unemployment, and less revenue coming into the Treasury. I supported a tax cut, but I was skeptical enough of the Stockman projections to favor waiting to see how economic conditions improve before approving the third year of the tax cut. Many of us who are longtime proponents of a balanced budget doubted that Stockman's theory was the key.

Now that they have studied the latest version of the revised economic assumption, more people seem to be coming around to this same view. Few people agree with the Administration officials who are beginning to say that a budget deficit is not so bad after all. The other day, a Republican senator looked at the Stockman figures and complained, "It can't happen anywhere but "Fantasy Island" to have a large deficits and not have economic disaster!"

INTEREST ON HOMES

I have co-sponsored a resolution expressing the sense of the Congress that no limitation should be placed on Federal income tax deductions for interest paid on a residential mortgage. This measure is essential for homeowner and to provide assurances to the housing industry that this corner stone of American housing will not be altered.

Excessive interest levels and mortgage rates have pushed payments on an average size home to $14,500 per year and plunged the housing industries into their worst depression of the post-war period. As my colleague Congressman Jake Pickle of Asutin said recently, "Home buyers are already strangling from the tight noose of high interest."

There are more than 900,000 persons unemployed in the building industry, and the failure rate among construction firms is up 41 percent over 1980. It has been estimated that since the slump began in 1978, the United States has lost over 2.8 million work-years of employment $49.2 billion in wages and $15.7 billion in tax revenue.

It is truly sad that fewer and fewer people can afford the "American Dream" of owning their own home. This interest deduction alone will not solve the problem, but without it more people will be turned away from the housing market and some might even be forced to give up their homes.

The solution is to heal the crippled economy, reduce inflation and bring down interest rates. Because of the size and the importance of the housing industries, with its direct bearing on major savings and support industries, the current housing problems are not only symbolic of the national economy but a great contributor to the distress. A solution to housing economics would be a strong shot in the arm to our overall national economy.

Our aim must be to support measures which will make homes available to all of our people and, most certainly, we must do nothing that would cause further damage.

KINNEY COUNTY LIBRARY

PUBLIC NOTICE

By: Julian

Dear K.C.,

"Old to some--and News to Others a resume of the 'Friends'.

In 1966 the New World Study Club opened their book-shelves to the community--the nucleus of our present library. After an appeal to the County Commissioners to help them become a County public institution, they were allotted $50.00 per month for expenses and until 1973 it was maintained by volunteers and the donations of interested citizens.

In order to become an accredited public library of Texas--a criteria had to be fulfilled which meant a certain number of books; floor space; monies from the County; twenty hours open to the public and a paid professional librarian.

So-in 1973 a 'Friends of the Library' group was established having a background of over 1,000 such groups throughout the States and several foreign countries as well.

Mr. George West was president at that time but no notes of any activities until Mrs. Jo Kent became President in 1975. Through rummage sales and proceeds of a Cook-Book, $1,000.00 was raised and Mr. Mendelsohn matched this with another $1,000.00. It helped to buy supplies and was used for maintenance of the library for two years. But it still wasn't enough to fulfill the criteria.

So in 1978, a call for help, and once more the 'Friends' were re-established. Julian Lucas, president pro-tem and Char Corey secretary, treasurer, reporter, publicity, ad in finatum, worked to form an organization that stressed the need for members with interest in volunteer work. A Board was formed, membership grew to almost 300, and the 'Friends' were once more on its way. Through their efforts the criteria was fulfilled.

Faced with the problem of completing the 'new' library building, that Judge Tommy Seargeant had acquired through a grant from E.D.A. in 1975; about $8,700.00 was raised to roof and enclose the building to store materials, until such time that the building could be complete.

To date this is where we stand, but the library in the little house of the 'Study Club' continues to function at top-rate. A competent librarian who sees to it you get all the latest in books, and will order from the San Antonio System any book you may wish.

The Civil Action of the Library that we have all been awaiting (for three (3) years) will be held on January 11, 1982 at U.S. District Judge Bunton's court in Del Rio.

FORT WORTH--Texas and Southwestern Cattle Association will sponsor a membership team roping and barrel race at the F.D. Henrichson Ranch in Artesia Wells, Texas, Saturday, December 19, says Don C. King, TSCRA secretary general manager.

"The team roping will be a three-header, progressive after one. Entry fee is $50 per team and includes a $10 stock charge Both the header and the heeler must be members to rope," King said.

Entry fee for the membership barrel race is $25 and includes two go-rounds.

Competition will begin at 1:00 p.m., Saturday. Non-members can join the Association the day of the contest.

Entries can be called in to TSCRA Field Inspector A.L. "Butch" Davis, Jr. at 512/278-1538.
