DAN COOK-SATURDAY NIGHT

The Brackettville Chamber of Commerce will have their Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet Saturday, March 5th beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. The guest speaker will be Dan Cook of KENS-TV.

Dan's reporting career started in an unusual way. While a student at the University of Houston he wrote an article for the student newspaper about the sports editor of the Houston Post. The article was not favorable and the editor called him to complain. "I don't like what you wrote," the editor told Dan, "but I like the way you wrote it," and he offered Dan a job.

After five years with the Houston Post, Dan worked for the Beaumont Enterprise for three years. In 1952, Dan came to his present home, with the San Antonio Express/News where he pens six sports columns a week.

He joined the KENS-TV Eyewitness News staff as a sportscaster in 1961. Presently he produces and is sports anchor for three newscasts, (5, 6, and 10 P.M.) five days a week.

Dan has won over 30 State and National Associated Press Awards and has twice served as president of the Texas Sportswriters Association. Dan is married and has three children. His hobbies include tennis and racquetball.

The Chamber of Commerce invites the neighboring communities to join them in this annual event. Tickets are $7.50 each or $75.00 for a table of 10 and may be purchased from Chamber of Commerce members or by calling the Chamber office at 653-2365.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I am writing to ask Brackett-ville area residents to do themselves and their neighbors a favor: check with the tele company before digging near posted cable warning signs.

Last year Southwestern Bell telephone cable repair costs in Texas totaled almost $5 million for more than 6,000 incidents of cable cuts and damage.

Sometimes, cable damage affects only a few peiole and c can be repaired quickly. All too often, however, cable damage means loss of telephone service to major sections of Cities or even entire commun-ities. Cable cuts somtimes isolate hospitals, police and fire departments.

A large number of long dis-tance transcontinental coaxial cables run through Texas. These cables daily carry vital long distancetelephone messages and date communications to millions of businesses and people. When those cables are cut, long distance calls are routed in other way if possible, but a jammed network can result, affecting many callers.

A suggestion for anyone planning digging activities: before plowing, building fences rr terraces, install- ing sprinklers, landscaping or digging, please look for telephome cpany cable warn- ing signs. Also, please watch out for aerial cable when working with tall equip ment.

The cable warning signs play a telephone number that may be called to notify the telephone company of any work planned near cable routes.

When we receive a call, we wil promptly send someone to pinpoint the exact cable location. We do bill for damage to our cables, and the repair bills can be quite costly.

Please call before work begins near telephone cable. In Texas, ask the operator for the Enter-prise 9800 number to report planned digging activities. If a sign is posted for AT&T Long Lines cable, the number to use is COLLECT (214) 824-4400.

A simple free phone call is the best insurance to help us pro- tect the most convenient and reliable telephone network in the world.

Sincerely,
Doyle Bebee, Southwestern Bell

Texas Oil & Gas . . .

Credit Card Fee Ban Would Hurt Consumer

By Avery Rush, Jr., Chairman,
Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association

For a time, some oil companies have elected to col- lect a processing fee from retailers and wholesalers sell- ing goods and services paid for on a company's credit card. Some other companies have chosen not to collect a fee but to recover credit costs through wholesale gaso- line prices, while others have chosen not to offer credit at all.

The processing fee, generally three-percent, is deducted from each credit ticket submitted to the company for reimbursement. The retailer already has received a lower wholesale price from the supplier since the cost of credit has been added to the cost of the product.

The retailer has an option. He may pass along credit costs to all customers equally or eliminate them to cash customers through lower prices. Most motorists prefer this option, with 70-percent of gasoline purchased for cash.

In recent years, inflation and higher interest rates have caused all costs associated with credit cards to escalate. Nevertheless, two bills (HB 206 and SB 342) have been introduced in the 68th Texas Legislature to outlaw levy- ing the processing fee.

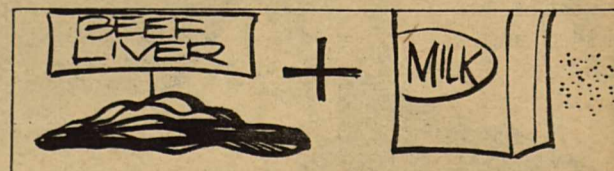

This forces certain companies to give up a marketing option. In order to cover the rising expenses of credit cards, companies deprived of the right to charge a pro- cessing fee would be compelled to increase the whole- sale price of gasoline. Eliminating the processing fee eliminates the discount for cash option.

The net effect would be to require cash customers to continue to subsidize purchases made by credit card customers. If this ban becomes law, consumers who cannot or choose not to use credit could be forced to pay higher prices, which include indirect credit card costs.

This proposal is decidedly anti-consumer. It would be unfair to the consumers who buy gasoline with cash and save money.

This legislation is unnecessary. Companies should be free to compete in the marketplace as they think best, with the consumer benefiting from the competition in a highly competitive marketplace.

Since the end of federal controls on petroleum prod- uct prices, the industry has introduced many new retail marketing techniques designed to meet the needs of the motoring public. As a result of heightened competi- tion and innovative programs, prices to consumers have fallen to their lowest level in years. This demonstrates that the market system is working and suggests that it will elicit additional programs to benefit the consumer.

Scholarships were presented to 7 Southwest Texas Junior College vocational nursing students last week. Three local organizations provided the awards, including the Hospital Auxiliary, Uvalde Nursing Center and the Uvalde chapter of the Licensed Vocational Nurses (L.V.N.) Association of Texas.

The scholarship awards mark another step in the development of the nursing program, which has boasted a record of the highest graduate certification rate in the state in recent years. The program added an instructor and a new spring class this semester.

Each year the Hospital Auxiliary gives two scholarships to students enrolling the SWTJC nursing program. These scholarships pay for the tuition, books, and supplies needed in the course, as do the scholarships sponsored by the other two institutions.

In selecting the recipients, consideration is given to a number of criteria, according to Mrs.

Philip Trahan, a member of the auxiliary's scholarship committee and chairman of the information desk at Uvalde Memorial Hospital.

Scholarship applicants must have passed all required tests for entering the college's program and completed application forms that indicate need, interest in nursing, and experience in hospital work. They must also be a resident of the SWTJC tri-county district, including Real, Uvalde and Zavala Counties.

Receiving the auxiliary scholarships were Ida Pannel Gonzales and Deborah E. San Miguel of Camp Wood. The presentation was made by Trahan and Mrs. J.O. Palmer, the other member of the scholarship committee.

Presenting the scholarships for Beverly Enterprises' Uvalde Nursing Center were Chief Administrator Cruz Guajardo and Director of Nursing Jan Swaney.

Recipients of the center's benevolence were David Mata of Crystal City, Jenise Schnelle and Elizabeth Shofner of Uvalde, and Kathy York of Camp Wood.

Nursing student Imelda Villalobos, a Crystal City Native who also works parttime in the Carrizo Springs Hospital, received the award from the local chapter of the L.V.N. Association Texas.

KINNEY COUNTY LIBRARY

Last Monday I was pleased and honored to speak to approximately 20 teachers from the Jr. High and High School in-service workshop, informing them of all the services available to them through their local county library. Many were much encouraged to find new teaching resources locally.

Also, there was a steady flow of children in the library using our "TV styled" film strip projector and our own library of filmstrips (including "Fat Albert" and Walt Disney filmstrips) to entertain themselves during their day off.

Our new 16mm films are in from the film circuit from San Antonio Major Resource Center and we've also got a new Special Request Catalog from S.A.M.R.C.

This catalog may be used to request films on specific subjects for meetings, group or private showings.

Our 16mm projector may also be checked out overnight. WE STILL NEED VOLUNTEER HELP!!

FINE TUNE TREES BY PROPER PRUNING

Pruning may be one of the most important cultural practices performed on fruit-nut and shade trees.

According to a Texas Agricultural Extension Service horticulturist based at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center here, trees should be pruned to preserve their health and appearance while preventing personal injury and property damage. Fruit and nut trees pruning is done to enhance the production of the highest yield possible of quality fruit..

"Correct pruning helps trees withstand adverse environmental conditions, and properly pruned trees require less fertilizer, bracing and spraying to keep them healthy and productive," says Dr. Loy Shreve. "It's important to remember, though, that the kind and amount of pruning of fruit and nut trees is determined by kind, age and variety."

He notes pruning of standard-sized apple, pecan and pear trees develops a central leader with scaffold branches resembles a spiral staircase around the trunk, while pruning dwarf apple or pear trees adapts the trees to a trellis system.

Peach, apricot and plum trees should be pruned to develop an open center with three scaffold branches. Shreve recommends pruning wounds be treated with a protective cover to protect the tree from entry by wood-destroying insects or infection by wood-destroying fungi. "Cover should be maintained until the wound is completely healed," he stresses.

Shreve says a major cause for decay and premature death of trees can often be traced to pruning wounds that were ignored or improperly treated.

"All pruning wounds on shade or landscape trees measuring one-inch in diameter or larger should be treated with a protective cover such as commercial tree dressing or orange shellac," the Texas A&M University specialist explains. "This cover should be maintained until the wound is healed over to prevent entry of wood-destroying insects or disease."

Pruning shade or landscape trees for health purposes includes: removal of dead, broken or diseased branches; removal of live branches to allow sunlight penetration and air circulation throughout the canopy; removal of overlying branches to prevent rubbing and eventual decay; and removing all branch stubs to promote proper healing.

When pruning for landscape appearance, Shreve says the person doing the work should know the normal form of the tree being pruned so it can be pruned to maintain its proper shape. "Dead wood and broken branches are a hazard and should be removed upon discovery," he continues. "In addition, low-hanging live branches must be removed when they interfere with pedestrian or vehicle traffic."

Shreve points out that much detailed information on proper pruning is available through county Extension Offices.

SHERIFF'S CORNER

By Norman H. Hooten

A pickup reported stolen from the Hadley Wardlaw ranch on southwest Kinney County on February 19th was recovered by Sheriff's deputies in Eldorado, Texas on February 26th. We entered the information on the stolen vehicle into the TCIC computer for statewide coverage. The Eldorado deputies located the pickup 15 miles north of that city, abandoned and out of gas. It is suspected that the vehicle was stolen by an illegal alien.

Charges of Disorderly Conduct with a Firearm were filed against a 23 year old Brackettville man Sunday night. These charges stemmed from reports of shooting on Las Moras Road next to Ft. Clark. The suspect vehicle was stopped by Patrolman Sam Pat Ferguson on Hwy 90 near the intersection of 90 and Las Moras Road. Upon my arrival, several firearms and ammunition was found in the vehicle. Natividad Terrazas and two male companions were transported to the County Jail for further investigation. Terrazas was later released on bond, his trial is pending in Justice Court, Pct.1.

Now to the report on the Rabies Control Act of 1981. This report will be brought to you merely to make you aware of the options available to the city and county to control dogs and cats in our community. I will condense the Act and try to outline it to you in a way that can be understood by all.

Dogs and cats are, by no means, the only carriers of rabies, but their close relationship with humans makes them the most dangerous. We have received an increase in the number of dog bite reports and also the stray dog problem, particularly within the city, is on the increase.

The purpose of the Act is to establish a minimum program, state-wide, to control and eradicate rabies in the state of Texas. The program is to be administered by the Texas Board of Health with the cooperation of the governing bodies of the counties and cities within the state.

The Act authorizes the governing body of an incorporated city or the commissioners court of a county to adopt the provisions of the Act and the standards established by the board (State Health Board).

This authorizes a city or county to adopt ordinances and/or rules which establish local control programs, including but not limited to, ordinances and rules which require the registration and/or restraint of each dog or cat found within the respective jurisdictions.

The Act further provides that any animal suspected of having rabies shall be quarantined for a minimum of ten days. This also applies to those animals that have bitten an individual, regardless if the animal has received rabies shots or not.

The Act provides that a quarantine facility shall be provided and the governing bodies of the city or county may contract with one or more public or private entities for the purpose of providing and operating a quarantine facility. If a quarantined animal shows clinical signs of the disease rabies, the animal may be humanely destroyed and the head or brain of the animal shall be submitted to the nearest Texas Department of Health laboratory for testing.

If a veterinarian determines that a quarantined animal does not show the clinical signs of rabies, the animal may be released to the owner following the quarantine period if the owner has an unexpired rabies certificate for the animal or the animal is vaccinated against rabies by a licensed veterinarian at the owner's expense. The Act further provided that the owner of a quarantined animal shall pay reasonable costs of the quarantine and disposition of the animal and the local authorities may bring suit to collect those costs if they are not paid. The Act also provides local authorities may sell and retain the proceeds or keep, grant or destroy an animal that the owner or custodian does not take possession of on or before the third day following the final day of the quarantine.

I will continue this report next week, as I have run a little long and am out of space.

SAN ANGELO HOSTS IRR

The San Angelo Convention Center will be the site of the 1983 International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) which convenes here August 1--5 in the hub of the West Texas ranching industry.

The announcement was made recently by Robert Kensing, Extension farm management specialist, and Ken Cook, Extension Service district director for the West Central Texas district headquarters here. They join IRR coordinators Dr. LeRoy Hoermann and Dr. Larry White, Extension livestock and range specialists, respectively, as the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Uvalde in this third ranch industry educational activity. Hoermann and White initiated and coordinated the multi-program IRR concept which is the largest, most comprehensive educational event ever developed for the industry.

The first two IRR's were held in Del Rio where the innovative programs received an enthusiastic reception by over 1,100 ranchers from throughout Texas, Mexico and 25 states. However, program coordinators decided to rotate the conference among prominent ranching cities, making it possible for more ranchers to benefit from technology and expertise presented during the several sessions and tours.

"We have been delighted with the reception the IRR has received in Del Rio from their chamber of commerce and business community," stressed Hoermann and White. "Yet we feel the time is right to make this program available to more ranchers in a different ranching area."

The past two conferences featured a faculty to 100 ranching experts from 12 states, Australia, Mexico, and South Africa, who spoke in the areas of beef cattle, sheep and Angora goats, ranges and brush management, wildlife production, and ranch business. The most recent IRR featured special sessions designed for women involved in ranching operations which received a "sensational" rating from its participants. These major subject areas will remain the same in 1983 although topics and speakers will be different.

In making the announcement the Texas A&M University specialists said the international flavor would be preserved through appearances of numerous foreign ranching experts.

Program details will be available from county Extension agents across the state. Extension Service specialists at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in San Angelo are also assisting in the endeavor, the coordinators point out.

"We are very pleased over the opportunity to assist with the IRR in San Angelo," emphasized Cook. "The Ranchers Roundup has proven to be an outstanding educational event for the ranching industry and our staff is proud to be part of it. Robert Kensing will be one of the coordinators to plan and conduct the 1983 program."

Both previous conferences have proven popular with participants. All ranchers who took part last year indicated they would recommend the program to their friends and neighbors who ranch. Many others have ordered the 452-page book of proceedings which was provided to each registered participant and included most of the talks presented during the three-day events.

Coordinators also note the 1983 IRR has been approved for academic credit in agricultural curriculums through Texas A&M University and Angelo State University and for professional improvement for Texas county Extension Agents.

A tour of progressive West Texas ranchers is being planned to give participants a first-hand look at many innovative practices outlining by visiting speakers.

MIEARS ATTENDS U.P.S. HEARING

William R. Miears, owner of Southwestern Communications Service Company in Brackettville appeared today in Austin before the Railroad Commission of Texas to testify in hearings on United Parcel Service's application for service rights.

UPS is seeking authority from the Commission to provide full intrastate service -- pickup and delivery of packages between all points within Texas. Currently, UPS can only provide interstate service except within the commercial-free zones of Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

Texas is one of just two states that restrict UPS intrastate.

Miears testified that the lack of UPS service within the state has seriously hampered the operation of his business. Miears cited no pickup or delivery service, slow delivery time, prohibitive rates, lack of state-wide coverage, damages, and the inconvenience of bills of lading as the major problems being encountered with other delivery services Southwestern Communications Service Company currently uses. And, parcel post also does not fill their needs, Miears added.

Hearing examiner Carol Kingsberry of the Railroad Commission is presiding over the case, which has been underway since last September. The hearings are scheduled to continue at least through the first half of 1983. Hundreds of business people from throughout the state are expected to testify concerning their need for having UPS available for shipments on an intrastate basis.

UPS has been seeking this authority from the Commission since 1966.

Eye On Safety

Nearly one million Americans have lost some of their sight due to injuries. Fortunately, for the future at least, 90 percent of the damage could be avoided.

That's the view of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness.

In industry, in school labs and shops, at home or in sports activity, appropriate protection can shield you from potential hazards.

An estimated 160,000 schoolchildren in the U.S. suffer eye injuries every year. Sports and recreational activities alone claim 35,000 from all age groups.

General Telephone Company of the Southwest, in accordance with the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates in Texas effective March 18, 1983.

The proposed changes in rates will affect all customer classes and are designed to increase the Company's gross intrastate revenues by approximately 15 percent annually.

The constitutional amendment is being sponsored in the Senate by Senator Lindon Williams (D-Houston) and in the House by Representative Frank Tejada (D-San Antonio). In addition to the governor, the measure also has the support of Lieutenant Governor

Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis. All of the major veterans leaders in the state as well as private lending institutions have voiced their support of the Veterans Housing Assistance Program.

"With the rapid increase in the cost of housing coupled with high mortgage rates, it has been extremely difficult for many of our younger veterans who deserve a chance to own their ownhome." Mauro said. "By creating the Veterans Housing Assistance Program we will have a fine complement to the Veterans Land Program to meet the modern needs of our Texas Veterans," Mauro concluded.

MAURO ANNOUNCES VETERANS HOUSING ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

"I am proud to have Representative Dudley Harrison join me in supporting the Veterans Housing Assistance Program which will be considered by the Texas Legislature," stated Texas Land Commissioner today. "As I said during the campaign, we do not need to do the veterans a favor, just repay one.

Representative Harrison and I believe by opening this program to allow our Texas veterans to purchase a home, we will provide thousands of jobs for the economy and give thousands of families who have been unable to purchase a home the opportunity to own their own house".

The Veterans Housing Assistance Program will be modeled after the successful Veterans Land Program. Over 80,000 veterans have taken advantage of this long term, low interest loan to purchase rural land."The Veterans Land Program is still a good program, but we need to meet the modern demands of our veterans. Under the new program, a Texas Veteran can use this $20,000 loan to go toward the purchase of a home in either a rural or urban area," Mauro said.

Under the proposal, a constitutional amendment will be submitted to the voters following its approval by the legislature. A Texas veteran will then be able to apply for up to a $20,000 loan from the Housing Assistance Program which can be used as a down payment and loan to apply with his other mortgage from a private lending institution. The existing Veterans Land Program will remain unchanged.

DEL RIO COUNCIL FOR THE ARTS

The 5th Annual Youth Arts Month exhibit of the art of the children of Del Rio will open at The Firehouse Gallery, 120 E. Garfield in Downtown Del Rio on Wednesday, March 9 and run through March 25.

Youth Arts Month celebrates the creativity and vitality of Del Rio's public school arts program.

Coordinators for the exhibit are Jim Bob McMillan, Katherine Hagemeyer, Greg Germany and Susan Ferris all teachers in the schools.

More than 200 works of art by as many children will be on display in The Firehouse Gallery for the show.

Also during the month of March Plaza del Sol Mall will be featuring an international exhibition of children's art entitled "Hands Around the World".

Organized by the Texas Cultural Alliance, "Hands Around the World" encourages children to think carefully about what they believe is important in their lives - friends, family activities they share, games, hobbies and past-times, current events state history and folklore, a favorite room, organizational fun - subjects they depict in vivid pictures prepared as a gift to the children of America.

Some participating countries include: Guatemala, Spain, Sweden, Norway, Mexico, Argentina, Australia, Egypt, South Africa, Turkey, Japan, France, and India.

Both the Youth Arts Month exhibit and The Firehouse and the "Hands Around the World" exhibit at Plaza del Sol Mall are free to the public.

For school tours, contact The Firehouse at 775-0888.
