Fireworks fund still needs some sparks

The July 4th fireworks funds, being collected by the Jennyslippers, still needs a few more sparks to make the big blast a success.

The Jennyslippers, the woman's organization of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture, are currently seeking additional donations that are still needed in order to be able to purchase fireworks for the city's annual fireworks show on July 4 at the City Park.

The total cost of the fireworks is estimated at $2,000.

"We have met about 50 percent of this goal," said Nelda Merriott, a member of the Jennyslippers and chairman of the fireworks fund project. The

AeroCare: When minutes matter

By Helena Rodriguez

Muleshoe Area Medical Center on Thursday celebrated the grand opening of a Heli-pad, which was recently completed at the back of the hospital. The Heli-pad is a secured, unobstructed area which serves as a place for the AeroCare Helicopter to land when transporting patients to Lubbock.

The AeroCare Helicopter is owned by Methodist Hospital in Lubbock and has been providing rapid aero medical transportation for Muleshoe Medical Center since it opened in 1989.

According to Doak Enabnit, director of pre-hospital services for AeroCare, two BK 117-CI helicopters for AeroCare cover a 150 mile radius of Lubbock.

Enabnit was present in Muleshoe on Thursday during the Heli-pad grand opening.

The AeroCare Helicopter makes about 25-30 stops in Muleshoe annually, averaging about two a month.

The month of June has been busy in Muleshoe for AeroCare though. Hospital administrator Richard Murphy said AeroCare has made four trips to Muleshoe this month, with about three trips alone this past week.

Enabnit said, "One of the biggest factors for Aerocare is that it saves the amount of time a person is away from a hospital. When someone is in critical condition, medical transportation is a real benefit

Stretcher donated to hospital

The surgery department at Muleshoe Area Medical Center recently received a new stretcher. The stretcher was purchased by donations from medical employees at the hospital, in memory of the late Charlotte Redwine.

Redwine died last fall of the illness, Multiple Sclerosis. Redwine's daughter, Susan Cage, is a registered nurse in the Operating room (O.R.) department.

Her co-workers thought it was appropriate to donate the funds necessary to purchase the stretcher.

"The stretcher will be used for transporting surgery patients," Cage said.

The addition of a new stretcher was in need at the hospital.

"Back in surgery, we only had one stretcher," Cage said. "We really need two stretchers due to the increase of surgery cases."

Charles Lorance, a hospital maintenance employee, presented a plaque to Susan and her father, Harrol Redwine, dedicating the stretcher in Redwine's memory. The plaque was permanently affixed to the front of the stretcher.

Muleshoe men charged with arson

Two Muleshoe men have been arrested, charged with allegedly committing arson of a residence. The alleged arson occurred several weeks ago.

Eleuterio Venegas, Jr., age 19 and Joe Robert Rodriguez, age 19, were both arraigned before Justice of the Peace Judge Jack Bates on June 2. They were each released on a $2,500 surety bond.

Venegas and Rodriguez are believed to be scheduled to be arraigned in District Court on Monday, June 20th.

Muleshoe Police Chief Julian Dominguez said that an estimate of any damage that may have been done to the property is not known at this time. Dominguez declined to reveal the location of the alleged arson. The incident is still under investigation.

Bailey County Extension Office News

Bagworms are one of the major pests of juniper and other trees and shrubs in Texas. Spring hatch began in early May on the South Plains this year. Hatching is usually completed in about three weeks. Insecticide control is most effective in early June when the bagworms are small, says County Extension Agent, Curtis Preston.

In the spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last years bags and begin feeding on foliage. Each bagworm begins to construct its own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult.

Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bags until they are about one-and-a-half inches long, Preston said. In the fall, the bagworms become adults, mate and the females lay eggs inside their bags. They then overwinter in these bags in the egg stage on trees and shrubs. Each overwintering female bag on a tree contains from 500 to 1,500 eggs.

"Since the bagworm only completes one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help a lot toward controlling this pest," said Preston. "But if bagworms were present on plants last year and control measures weren't applied, chances are an insecticide will be needed this spring."

Insecticides which can be used to control bagworms include sevin, dursban, diazinon, malathion and orthene. The biological insecticide Bacillus thurengiensis can also be used. To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important.

The addition of small amount of liquid soap or sur-factant to the spray solution will improve control because it helps adhere the insecticide to the treated trees and shrubs.

because they get there much faster."

The AeroCare Helicopter can make it to Lubbock Methodist Hospital from Muleshoe Area Medical Center in about 32 minutes, making it about three times faster than it would take to drive a patient to Lubbock.

The AeroCare crew is always made up of a pilot, a registered nurse and a paramedic. The helicopter can fit up to two patients in it at a time.

The helicopter is equipped with everything necessary to maintain a trauma victim or acute cardiac patient.

The helicopter is also equipped with obstetrics equipment needed to deliver a baby and carries a licensure as a mobile intensive care unit.

"The helicopter helps complement emergency medical services," Enabnit said. "Particularly when there are accidents, we all work together and the patient has a greater survivability chance. They (the EMS) makes our job easier."

In regards to the new Heli-pad, Enabnit said, "Our first consideration was safety and second, accessibility to the hospital. The Heli-pad adds an element of safety."

The new Heli-pad is located in a fenced area with reflectors and lights.

Summer Reading Club

Library helps local children occupy time constructively

About 75 Muleshoe school children have been enjoying their summer vacation - at the library.

They are all taking part in the City of Muleshoe Library's annual Texas Summer Reading Club. The club, which began May 27 and will end June 29, uses a variety of fun, yet educational techniques to encourage children to read.

Anne Camp, the librarian, said, "The purpose of the club is that we want to reach children who might not otherwise read in the summer. We hope to get them excited about reading and hope that they read enough so they can do good in school in the fall."

"If a kid can read well, they will do better in school."

Camp said the program also tries to target children who don't read very well and who may not speak or read fluently in English.

"We are trying to help those children who need help, while also making it fun so they enjoy it," Camp said.

The Muleshoe library has held the Summer Reading Club for 29 years, Camp said.

Although the program is underway and will be ending in a few weeks, Camp said children in grades pre-school to 5th grade can join at any time. It's not too late.

The club is structured so that after a child reads every 10 books, they advance to another level. When they read 10 books, they are eligible to receive a certificate. If they read 20 books, they will receive a badge, and if they read 30 books, they will receive a pin.

Wednesdays are particularly fun. On Wednesdays, children enjoy an afternoon of games and movies from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The Summer Reading Club is sponsored by the Friends of the Library organization. The Friends of the Library raise funds by accepting donations, conducting book drives and getting help and donations from local merchants.

Participants in the program can read books from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. each weekday.

Best loser for the week was Marion Wilson. Runners-up were Aletha Bryant, first runner-up and Loretta Lloyd, second runner-up.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the Good Night song.

Library News

Film and Fun Day for the kids in the Summer Reading Club at the Library was held Wednesday afternoon when the kids went on a pretend trip to Mexico.

They learned what a "Gaucho" was in the first film, "The Flying Gauchito", and also what a "Mulita" (Little Mule) could do when he sprouted wings. A delightful Walt Disney animated story. Each child named his/her favorite Mexican food, and Anne Camp showed them books too good to miss Mexican customs.

One of the favorites was having a "Pinata" at parties and festivals. A film was shown the "Magic Pinata" and then the kids got to take turns (blindfolded) trying to, and finally succeeding in knocking a hole, and letting the treats fall out, to reward them for their efforts. After the meeting they checked out books to read next week, and quite a few got treats or a ticket to swim at the Muleshoe City swimming pool by reading 10 books, and returning their list to the library.

Every Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 it's Film and Fun time!

Where Is God?

Where is God? No doubt some of the Israelites wondered. For three hundred years they had been living in Egypt—first, as guests and, later, as slaves—and there was no word from God. Oh, they remembered the words of Joseph before he died: "God will visit you and bring you up out of this land...."

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

Nice words. Hopeful words. But the words were not nearly as tangible as the sting of the Egyptian whips and the marks they left on the backs of the Israelite slaves.

God had promised his presence. Where was he?

Where was he when the Egyptians decided to make his people slaves? Where was he when Egyptian oppression threatened to crush them? Where was he when Egyptian soldiers were flinging Israel's baby boys into the jaws of the Nile River? Was he gone? Was he powerless? Didn't he care?

The questions are timeless and persistent. Sometimes they seem to fade away, but then a time of death or suffering or pain thrusts them back into sharp focus. Pain focuses our attention on one central question like a spotlight: Where is God?

The children of Israel asked that question centuries ago. Millions today join them.

It's that question many people ask as they file by an open casket or walk down the hall of a nursing home or turn away from the children's section of a cancer hospital. No easy answers will suffice here. Pain is the solvent that strips all the easy answers away.

Where is God? The answer is almost shouted from the pages of Scripture: God is nearby! And the times we feel least like believing it are the very times we must believe that he is and that, as Peter assures us, "He cares for you."

Where is God? It may help us to realize that just when the Israelites were asking that question most bitterly and feeling most rejected by God, an Israelite mother was placing a little baby boy in a basket and floating him down the Nile. His name was Moses.

God hadn't forgotten the Israelites. He hasn't forgotten us.

SCS News

"Irrigation water management is controlling the amount and timing of irrigation water efficiently to produce desired crop response, in a non erosive or wasteful manner," says Warren Givens Soil Conservation Service (SCS) Technician.

A knowledgeable irrigator will apply water at a rate based on the stages of plant growth and or peak use periods. Producers should know available gallons per minute each well will pump, depth and intake rate of the soil, to derive at the amount of water to be applied. The Soil Conservation Service has the equipment for measuring gallons per minute and checking efficiencies, also most every situation, surge valves and pivots will increase your efficiency by allowing more timely irrigations in less time to crops.

In weaker water areas, planting a variety of crops across the field will give you the advantage of high residue to low residue rotation and peak usage of plants occurring at different times of the year.

The Soil Conservation Service located at 105 E. Ave. D. in Muleshoe has information to assist local producers on these decisions.

Horse country is hospitable

Andy and I went down to Williston, Florida to visit a couple of characters. That is horse country and these boys were hock deep in horse training. They were sure hospitable as indicated in the letter they sent after we left ...

Dear Bax,

Flynt and I can't telly ou how much we enjoyed your visit. It was sure nice of y'all to take time to come visit, especially with that bad cold. Even though both kids caught ift rom you, so far only one has gone into pneumonia.

Flynt thought it was sure great that you castrated all of our colts while you were here. Although neither one of us had ever seen quite that much blood, at least we didn't have to wonder what happened when we found eight of them dead the next morning. Flynt got real excited once I explained to him how much money we were saving by only having to feed two head instead of ten. Not only that, but the two that survived sure look like money makers once we get them over the tetanus.

Me an' Flynt can't thank you guys enough for letting us pick up every one of the bills down at the cafe. It never occurred to us to order steak f or every meal. Thanks for the tip.

Remember when we were sitting in that bank president's office and you were telling how all the smart bankers out west were calling in their unstable cow notes? Well sir, you won't believe this but that banker thought that was such a good idea that he's doing the exact same thing here. By not having any cows to feed or interest to pay there's no telling how much money we'll save this year.

And Baxter, I don't want you worrying about backing into the carport and knocking it down. In the first place, it's hard to stop any type of vehicle going 55 mph in reverse and secondly, as you remember, Beverly only had that one big gash over her eye when we lifted the roof off of her.

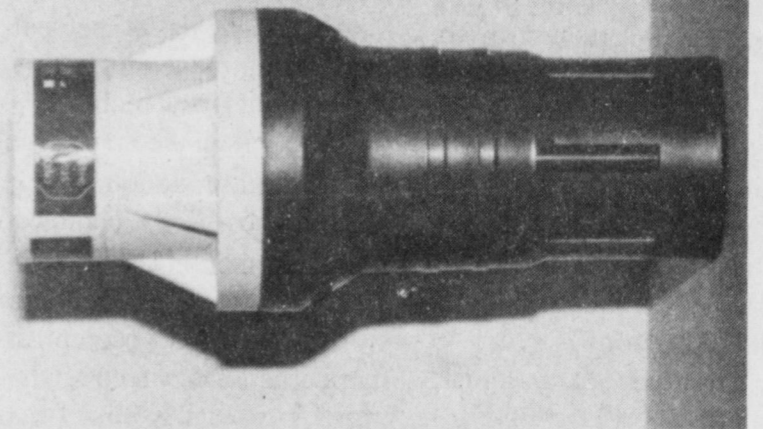

Flynt was just commenting the other day about how time sure did get away from us while you were here. All of a sudden we looked up and 6 weeks and 5 days had just whizzed by. We were sure sorry to see you go but since our livestock was aboui depleted and a good portion of our standing structures leveled I guess it was as good a time as any. Oh, by the way, the folks from the car rental place came by and picked up the Lincoln and were kind enough to set us up on a monthly payment plan until the $6300 in mileage and damages were paid off.

As Always,
Flynt and Frank

Tips on tractor safety are offered

AUSTIN -Tractors are equipment for any farm or ranch, but unfortunately they account for more than 500 accidental deaths each year and thousands of disabling injuries nationwide, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

"Without tractors, we wouldn't be able to produce the high-quality and large quantity of food we raise," Perry said. "However, tractors also present many hazards and require extra caution and care when they are being operated."

Most fatal tractor accidents involve overturns, which can be caused by speeding, hitting rocks or stumps, driving on steep slopes, running into ditches, hitching high for extra traction or operating front-end loaders improperly.

Fatal rollovers can be prevented by driving carefully and by roll-over protective systems such as protective frames and crush-resistant cabs with seat belts, Perry said.

Falls from tractors also result in many injuries and sometimes death, especially with cabless tractors. Other deaths and injuries are caused by clothing being caught in rotating power take-off shafts. Most newer equipment is equipped with PTO shielding, which should not be removed.

Without protective equipment on tractors like crush-resistant cabs and PTO shields, the chances for injuries and accidents increase. Mechanical malfunctions also can contribute to accidents. Tractor operators can minimize accidents by keeping equipment properly maintained, Perry said.

Other tips for tractor safety include:
Stay away from ditches, embankments and holes to avoid overturns;

Do not give rides and keep children away;

Slow down when turning, crossing slopes or on rough, slick or muddy surfaces;

Watch where you are going at all times and be on the lookout for obstacles. Make sure everyone is clear before moving;

Stay off steep hills and slopes when possible;

Don't overload the tractor. Always engage the clutch slowly;

Hitch heavy loads only to the drawbar;

Keep PTO shielding in place. Turn off the PTO and the engine before unclogging, adjusting or servicing equipment;

When stopped, shift to neutral or park and set brakes. Take key with you when leaving.

Geese Work (first of two parts)

As a young man I watched huge flocks of geese migrate north and south over the Missouri farm where I grew up. Over the years I learned to love the honking sounds and watching the big V formations fly overhead.

Although I loved the geese, I remember feeling sad in the fall as the flocks traveled southward because I knew winter would soon arrive. Winter meant cold, bitter weather and more work to ensure the safety and health of our livestock.

The northbound flights of spring were early indicators that warm weather was on its way. It meant no more ice to chop or hay to feed. Spring brought new green growth, warm sunny days and pleasant activities around the farm.

I didn't know about the wonderful lessons being taught in the sky as I performed my routine chores. I just enjoyed the sights and sounds.

Geese Lessons

Bill and Marty Geist, owners of Gingiss Formalwear Center in Amarillo shared an essay with me last month. It is titled "Lessons Learned from Geese."

As I read the essay I remembered those early farms days I described above. I was also reminded that we as small business owners and managers need to be alert for business building lessons regardless of the source. I extracted several thoughts from the "Geese" essay. I think you'll agree as you read them that we can even learn from the birds.

Minding Your Own Business

By Don Taylor

According to the essay, as each goose flaps its wings, it creates an uplift for others behind it. There is 71 percent more flying range in a V formation than flying alone.

The lesson we can glean from this information is that people who share a common sense of direction and purpose are more successful. They can work longer and accomplish more because they feed off the energy of others.

Another interesting fact is that when the lead goose tires, it rotates back into the formation and another bird takes over. This allows a fresh goose to keep up the pace while the leader takes a breather.

The message here is that shared leadership and independence gives others a chance to lead as well as follow. While being the lead goose may improve the view, the work is harder. Everyone needs a break from the routine and a fresh perspective may improve your attitude.

I also learned from the essay the reason geese honk as they fly. (It's not because they are passing another goose.) The geese in formation honk to encourage the leaders to keep up the speed.

The lesson here is to make certain our honks are encouraging. We all need a friendly honk from time-to-time. In business, it may be a word of praise or a pat on the back for a job well done. Encouragement is a good team builder.

The final point in the essay dealt with being supportive. When an ill or injured goose can't keep up with the flock, other geese will drop out of the formation and stay with it until it revives or dies. Then they catch up with the flock or join a new one.

The point here is that your colleagues may need help from time-to-time. We should stand by them in bad times as well as good.

Team work

You've probably guessed by now that the secret of the geese's success is teamwork. It's not really different from any business or organization. For profit, non-profit or sports related, all groups can benefit from teamwork.

Next week we'll build on the "Lessons Learned from Geese" and share more on the value of team building and teamwork. Don't miss "Geese Work Part 2" as we share the five reasons teams are successful.

The artist is capturing the physical likeness of this lovely girl on her paper. The likeness is amazing. But her inward beauty, her wonderful Christian heart and soul, can only be captured fully on God's canvas. The Bible says that "Man looketh on the outward appearance but God looketh on the heart."

How would God's painting picture you and me?

One good way to improve your heart condition is to attend church and hear God's word proclaimed from the pulpit. Learn God's plan for your life by listening to His word. We invite you to attend the church of your choice this week.
