

BUSTAMANTE VISITS BRACKETTVILLE

Spofford's Mayor J.B. Herndon chats with Congressman Albert Bustamante and Kinney County Judge Tommy Seargeant Thurs., Nov. 4 after the CARE meeting with Congressman Bustamante.

BUSTAMANTE MEETS WITH "CARE"

Approximately 100 people met at the Parish Hall of St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church to greet Congressman Albert Bustamante to ask his advice and help to resist the toxic and radioactive waste sites from entering Kinney County and nearby areas.

Bret Trant, President of Care, related that CARE was organized to stop the construction of the proposed NORM (Natural Occurring Radioactive Material) waste site in Kinney County for many reasons and that approximately 1200 signatures have been collected by petition with many petitions still out.

CARE representative, Madge Belcher Keys explains that the proposed site is 1/2 mile from Spofford and that the two principal companies involved are Texcor, now located in Brackettville and BFI (Browning-Ferris Industries). One of the primary concerns for CARE is that Texcor has never constructed nor operated a site of any kind much less one with dangerous materials. Ms. Keys goes on to state that BFI has a track record, but not a very good one; that they have had many anti-trust violations in the last few years and that CARE is concerned about the violations that have taken place by BFI or their subsidiaries. She continues to inform Congressman Bustamante that there is only one other NORM site in the US and then provides the dimensions of the proposed site with the precautions that should be taken.

COMMUNITY THEATER PLAYS COURTROOM DRAMA

Courtroom drama comes to life November 11 and 12 when performers from Fort Clark Springs and Brackettville present "The Night of January 16th" in the Kinney County Courthouse at 8:00 p.m.

The Ayn Rand classic murder mystery is presented as an actual trial where a jury selected from the audience returns the verdict of guilty or not guilty. The trial centers on the murder of financial tycoon Bjorn Faulkner, his widow, Nancy Lee Faulkner, and the efficient secretary, Karen Andre, who is accused of pushing him off the penthouse patio.

J.E. Meil, a former judge in New Mexico, will preside over the trial. The eloquent District Attorney, Ms. Flint is played by Fort Clark Springs Public Relations Director, Penny Nixon. Neil Conrey, a carpenter, plays the determined defense counsel, Mr. Stevens. Barbara Schwandner plays the cool Miss Andre, Jewell Robinson the sobbing Mrs. Faulkner,

KINDERGARTEN - THIRD
DISMISSED AT 2:30 P.M.

Brackett Independent School District school officials would like to remind parents that their young children are dismissed at 2:30 p.m., and should be picked up at that time, unless they ride a school bus. Parents who work are asked to arrange for a relative or babysitter to pick children up in grades Kindergarten through third.

Steve Mills, Elementary Principal, notes that teachers in grades Kindergarten through third have their state mandated preparation period from 2:30 - 3:30 p.m., and there is not adequate staff available to supervise 10 to 100 students.

IS EVERYONE GOING?

There is teaching all over America today that everyone is going to Heaven. There is a slight problem with this teaching since it is opposite to what the Bible says. In the Gospel of St. Matthew, Ch. 7, verse 21, 22, & 23, Jesus says, "Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I NEVER KNEW YOU: depart from me, ye that work iniquity." You see it is not works, nor confessing that Jesus is Lord, nor even casting out devils, but it is that person that DOETH THE WILL OF MY FATHER that gets the invitation to enter into heaven.

I realize that everyone wants to eventually go to heaven, but just wanting to go is not enough. Jesus told us again in Matthew Ch. 7, verses 13 & 14, "Enter ye in at the straight gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go into life, and few there be that find it." So you see, according to Jesus, many will enter into hell and few into heaven. I know this is not popular today, as most Americans think that God will overlook their little faults and they will be able to strike some kind of a deal based on works or confession or even knowledge, but there will be no DEAL MAKING once this life is over. We are told in II Peter 2:4, "For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgement; and spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly; "The Bible also says in Jude 5, 6 & 7 "I will therefore put in remembrance, though you once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not. And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgement of the great day. Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire."

God can save you, and you can still turn your back on him. Even angels which kept not their first estate are reserved in chains for judgement.

Have you left your first estate? Are you where you were when you were first "born again"?

Remember, everyone is going somewhere after death. In closing, I would like to leave you with the words of Paul the Apostle in Galatians 6:7, "Be not deceived; 'God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

In the Southwest in the late 1600's, the merging of the Pueblo and Navajo Indians produced the chief blanket.

The Navajo's had no chiefs in their tribal system, so evidently other tribes that traded with the Navajos kept back these unusual blankets for their chiefs.

Warmness was a factor but the chief blanket when wrapped around the body flowed with the movement of the wearer. It was usually draped over the shoulders and pulled together in front, forming a design in front and back.

The earliest chief blanket on record was found in a Navajo grave dating to 1775.

The first blankets were mostly brown and white stripes. Some of the colors have been traced to old unraveled army uniforms, but native vegetable dyes followed quickly due to a brief supply.

Weaving was sacred to the Navajo and religious ceremonies were centered around it.

Chief blankets began with garments designed for women, made in the shape of shawls or dresses in narrow stripes of brown and white. The blankets were woven in the shape of a rectangle, crosswise instead of longwise, with the warp threads parallel to the short side. In the middle were woven narrow stripes of indigo, which probably came from the Pueblo Indians. Mexican indigo was brought by mule train to the villages of the upper Rio Grande.

Red color was made from a ground powder from the cochineal beetle from Mexico. In women's blankets there were usually wide bands on both sides and in the middle. Men's blankets began to be made with black patterns also.

When the art was adapted by the Navajo from the Pueblos, the Navajo women became the principal weavers. This was due to the fact that the Navajo men preferred to live a life of hunting and battle.

Every Navajo little girl expected to know how to weave. But about 1900 every Navajo woman was not required to be a weaver.

Chief blankets are still made but rarely. The chief blankets still in existence are very rare and still highly prized and certainly not used as rugs to walk upon.

REFLECTIONS

All of us have seen and heard wild geese as they fly overhead. They grab our attention as they "squak and talk" to one another.

The long-distance wild geese fly in a V formation. Maybe that's the easiest letter in the alphabet for them to learn!

While in flight the goose that leads the flock frequently "hands the Baton" to one behind him and lets that one take the lead for a time.

It's a known fact that the bird in front creates a wind break or vacuum for the others behind. Hence, the flock of geese are able to fly nearly 75 percent further as they go together because of the wind movement that each one makes.

Cooperation makes a big difference in life for us, too. Our town can learn the worth of cooperation. Homes can learn this lesson. Schools get along much better when harmonious relations are practiced. Churches function better through cooperation and the national government would, too.

Yes, the Canadian geese set a noteworthy, "high" example for me and for you. Even some of us "old buzzards" could learn a few good lessons from the graceful, high-flying birds.

BUSTMANTE

Congressman Bustamante intercedes with questions as to whether an application has been made yet?, whether the Health Department or State Water Resource has been in? He continues to query whether Kinney County's State Representative or Senator has been spoken to yet and what are they doing? A reply from the audience is that they are working on it, they're talking about legislation.

Congressman Bustamante explains that the way to proceed at this time is to get your information from your agencies that control these areas for licensing purposes. He states, "I'll work with you, I'll write letters to the Texas Department of Health and Texas Water Commission. I can get the EPA to give me some reports that will be useful to you as you move forward against this". The budget of these agencies is controlled by your State Representative and State Senator and they ought to be at the very far front in getting you this information, just as you have local authorities, Mayor, County Commissioners and should let them be ombudsmen at this end, he explains.

One of the committees in Bustamante's office is energy and the environment and they have been hearing a lot of news throughout the country of toxic waste. The armed services committee deals with nuclear reactors and what it's going to cost to clean up all these sites. Congressman Bustamante reports, "We've been looking at all of it, because the environment will be the #1 issue in the next Congress. All of us are concerned NOW about the environment." He again states that he understands Cares concern and that he will work with them, starting by getting the EPA to give him a report so that the President of Care can have it at his disposal. He concludes with "Brackettville is one of my favorite places to visit." He's answered with "It is our favorite place to LIVE. (SJH)

CARE FOR THE FUTURE

At a Saturday, Nov. 5, meeting of the Texas Board of Health, held at San Antonio, CARE representative Madge Belcher Keys spoke for the sizable CARE delegation in attendance. Ms. Keys conveyed to the board the overwhelming adverse attitude in Kinney County, and in the entire region, toward the propose Texcor NORM/NARM site at Spofford. She explained the hazards to public health which may be expected when radioactive materials are introduced into a populated area. She also described the resulting economic damage, including devaluation of real estate and losses in the hunting, tourist, ranching, and retirement living industries. Board members expressed appreciation for the CARE presentation, and were impressed by the size of the delegation.

A story by medical reporter Don Finley, in the San Antonio Express-News on Sunday Nov. 6, covered the Board proceedings. The Texas Board of Health serves as a panel of health professionals to advise and guide the Texas State Department of Health.

STATE COMPTROLLER

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock on Friday sent checks totaling $10.6 million to 221 counties and 438 cities that tax mixed drink sales.

The checks represent the counties' and cities' share of the state's 12 percent mixed drink tax collected during the third quarter of 1988.

Texas cities and counties each receive a 12.5 percent share of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state.

Of the total $43.9 million in state collections, counties received more than $5.4 million, slightly up from the amount received in the third quarter of 1987. Cities received more than $5.1 million, up from the $5 million received last year during the third quarter. The $33.3 million balance was deposited into the state's general revenue fund. $33 million were deposited in the third quarter of 1987. Kinney County received a $1,548.18 remittance.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission. City and county rebates are sent out quarterly by Bullock's office.

TIGER TALES

TIGERS MAKE PLAYOFFS!!!

By: J.J. Guidry

The Lytle Pirates claimed the district 31-AA championship last Friday as they destroyed the La Pryor Bulldogs 35-0. The Pirates ended the season with a 6-0 district record. Brackett, La Pryor, and Natalia were tied for second with records of 4-2. The positive point system was used to determine who would go to the playoffs. The Tigers lead both teams in points. The Tigers will face the Woodsboro team in Jourdanton at 8pm. Come out and watch as the Tigers win the Bi-District crown.

TIGERETTES LOSE IN PLAYOFFS

The Tigerettes played the Poth Pirettes last Saturday at Medina Valley. The Poth Pirates had a great size advantage and it was hard for our girls to get under their spikes. The final score was 15-10, 15-1. Coach Rodriguez and Coach Smallwood. The girls started practicing for basketball season and have a very good team. The only missing starter is Tia Ralston who graduated last year. In addition to the returning starters we have Pilar Lozano, who started two years ago, and Stephanie Ahrens, who played in Eagle Pass last year. The Tigerettes are being coached by Greg Nowlin. They will open the season up next Tuesday against Rocksprings. Play will start at 6:30. Come out and support the Tigerettes.

TIGERETTES NOW 7-1

by: Sheri White

The Varsity Tigerettes lost to the District leaders, the Cotulla Cowgirls. The first game was the closest the Tigerettes have played all season. It was a hard fought game, but the Cowgirls came out on top 16-14. The next game was a little easier for the Cowgirls, they won 15-8. The Tigerettes didn't let one loss get them down. They came back to beat the Dilley Wolves 15-4, 15-5.

The Tigerettes have qualified for the Bi-District play-offs. They play Cotulla again this Friday, here at 5:00. The JV will begin the games. If the Varsity Tigerettes win, there will be a play-off game for the District Championship. If not the Tigerettes will go into the Bi-District play-offs as the District 31-2A Co-Champs. Friday's game is very important for the Tigerettes. Your support would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR NOSEY

DEAR NOSEY**

Dear Nosey,

I have this problem. I have this friend that is really getting on my nerves. I've been treating her kind of bad and I want to make up with her, but when I get around to it I can't. I don't know. She just aggravates me because she acts very silly and I don't know how to tell her to GROW UP! Help!

Sincerely,
Aggravated

Dear Aggravated,

It's not easy trying to tell someone, you know you may hurt, to grow up, but if you are within reason about telling this person how you feel, go ahead and tell her. If you approach this person and tell her how you feel towards her, and you plan on becoming her friend again, maybe it would be a better idea to talk to each other about your differences. If you find that maybe you can be friends without aggravating each other, things might work better for both of you. Never be frightened of what one may say to you, because it's only talk, and the only thing one can do is walk away.

Good Luck,
Nosey

Dear Nosey,

I know of some people that act really childish, and some of them are my friends, others are enemies. I can't stand them, but I have the same classes as some of them. I'd hate to change my schedule just because of some people that want to act like little elementary kids. What can I do to show these people I really hate their actions?

Sincerely,
Strait

Dear Strait,

Your problem is a very common one. I know what you mean. Well first off, you can approach them with the "Act Your Own Age" thing, or you don't have to pay attention to them and completely ignore them. I think it would be a little childish of YOU if you changed courses just because you can't get along with them, and because your going to have to deal with these people day after day. Well, I hope things work out.

Write Again,
Nosey

????????? Do YOU Have A Problem ??????????

Write to NOSEY! Let Nosey solve your problems. If you need a little advice, well Nosey is the one to write to! Here's all you have to do....

1. Write you problem down on paper.
2. Place your problem in the "Nosey Box" found in the High School Library.
3. Wait!

* If your problem is solvable, your answer will be found in Tiger Tails portion of the Cavalryman published every Thursday. *

SIXTH GRADE TRIP

By: Brian Gonzales

Last Friday the sixth grade from Jones Elementary went to Sea World. They left at 7:30 a.m. and returned at 9:45 p.m. They had a long and tiring day walking around the Sea World grounds, and watching the shows that it had to offer them. They had a great time, and hope to go another day.

MESSAGES TO STUDENTS

The campus principals at Brackett High School and Jones Elementary have asked that parents reduce their messages to students during the school day. Mr. Mills stated, "There is really no convenient means to deliver a message to students without leaving the office unattended, and disrupting classes." He emphasized that the school will always deliver emergency messages and there is no problem there. Mr. Mills said most messages involve family matters that could be discussed at home before school.

Parents are also encouraged to notify the school in writing, if there is a change in plans for transportation of bus riding students. The school district is responsible for children from the time they board the bus in the morning, until they disembark at the regular stop in the evening. Parents do need to make arrangements for meeting their young children and for safe trips to the bus stop in the morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:
To whom it may concern:

In regard to Mr. Elmer Conboy's letter to the editor in last weeks paper concerning a conflict between Mr. Conboy and Mayor La Gioia, the differences have been settled and both parties have agreed to work together for the betterment of the City of Brackettville.

S/S Vito LaGioia, Mayor
S/S Elmer E. Conboy

Dear Editor:

Can Browning-Ferris Industries be trusted - when they say there is no danger of contamination to the proposed waste dump site in the area of Spofford, Texas?

Here are just a few of the facts concerning Browning-Ferris Industries:

Louisiana 1987---The Department of Justice announces action on an EPA complaint, filing charges against BFI for 2800 violations at its Livingston toxic dump.

Baltimore, MD---BFI Solley Road dump is shut down after being cited nine times in five months for mishandling waste.

Willow Springs, LA---BFI huge hazardous waste lagoon system and deepwell injection facility leaks contamination into groundwater and the surrounding bayou system. From 1980 - 1986, BFI is cited for 38 permit and regulatory violations. In 1984, BFI is charged with failing to comply with the state's clean-up plan for the site. Contamination continues.

In the past few years, BFI has been fined millions of dollars in connection with bid-rigging and price-fixing. They have also been accused of "payoffs" and "manipulations."

Readers, the residents of Kinney County need everyone's help. Thank you.

Sincerely,
S/S Kathleen Smith

LIBRARY IN DANGER OF LOSING STATE FUNDS

Increased funding from Kinney County is absolutely essential if the Kinney County Public Library is to properly serve the needs of our growing community according to Mr. Tony Ramon, President of the Kinney County Library Advisory Board. Mr. Ramon is urging all Kinney County residents to help the library at Commissioner's Court on Monday, November 14, 1988 at 9:00 a.m. at the Kinney County Courthouse.

The operating budget of the Kinney County Public Library is derived from two sources: Kinney County and the San Antonio Area Library System (SAALS), an agency which allocates the state money. Funding received from SAALS is dependent on the level of financial commitment from Kinney County. An increase in County funds would result in continued State support.

SAALS provides Collection Development funds to our library according to the total amount of local tax-based dollars spent on library books and materials. The following breakdown of the proposed budget for 1988-89 is:

Budget adopted by Kinney County $25,000.

Fixed expenses
(salary & fringe benefits)	$20,525.47
Utilities	4,465.00
Other	9.53
	$25,000.00

The proposed budget provides only $9.53 to cover the cost of all books, materials and supplies that are necessary to operate the library. The state funding of 10% would be determined from the $9.53 if it were spent to buy a book.

A recent evaluation by SAALS urged that the amount of local money spent for books and materials be increased from the current level of 5%. Mr. Ramon and fellow board members ask that local residents attend the Commissioner's Court on November 14, in support of the library. "Saving State funding so that our library will grow with Kinney County is essential," according to Mr. Ramon.

TEXAS AUTHOR TO BE HONORED

Saturday, November 19, at 2:00 p.m. at the Kinney County Library, residents of Brackettville and of Fort Clark and Kinney County will have an opportunity to meet Roy L. Swift, author of a recently published book in which Brackettville and Fort Clark are prominently involved. Mr. Swift spent many years and traveled thousands of miles in research, and his book "Three Roads to Chihuahua" is the happy result of his efforts. The author has many friends in Brackettville, and also has relatives in Del Rio.

Mr. Swift's book details the adventures and romance and struggles which resulted from the production of silver at the Mexican mines in Chihuahua, and the trade routes which were explored and used to supply the mines. The last and most used of the "Three Roads" passed through this area, extending from Indianola on the Gulf Coast through San Antonio west through Kinney County, then onward to Presidio and south up the Rio Conchos to Chihuahua.

Because the early development of Fort Clark and of Brackettville was closely involved with the Chihuahua Road, the New World Study Club invites area residents to a reception at which Mr. Swift will tell of the origins of his book, and of the years of effort involved in writing it. The author will be happy to autograph copies of his book at this event.

Mr. Swift is a fourth generation Texan, who returned to Texas in 1973 after successful career with the Social Security Administration at Baltimore, Md. He has been active in the Texas State Historical Association, the Texas Historical Commission, and the Baptist Church.

The public is invited and urged to come to the library to meet the author and to enjoy this rare opportunity with the members of the New World Study Club.
