Mr. and Mrs. Joe N. Garza

Adios, Amigo Mio

Cavalryman Reporter

BRACKETTVILLE -- Lifetime resident, Joe N. Garza, passed away Monday afternoon at 5:33 p.m. in the Val Verde Memorial Hospital in Del Rio. He had been in failing health for the last two years but, during this time, had maintained an active role in county government.

After the outbreak of World War II, Mr. Garza enlisted in the Air Force where he served his country for 4 years. When he returned from the armed service, he assumed the ownership of the City Grocery from his father, Rafael Garza, and operated it until 1990.

Mr. Garza had always demonstrated a keen interest in the politics of city and county government.

His interest in politics finally surfaced after he announced his candidacy for the position of alderman and, after being elected, was sworn into office on April 2, 1977. He was re-elected to a second term as Alderman and served until December 31, 1980.

On January 1, 1981, Mr. Garza was sworn into office as county constable. In 1984, during his tenure as constable, he was then elected as county commissioner of precinct one after a successful campaign for this office. In 1988, he was re-elected to his second four year term as County Commissioner of precinct one.

Mr. Garza's support to the enlargement of the Clinic played a vital part in the acquisition of the grant that was obtained for the project. He was equally effective in the grant that was acquired for the construction of the new Senior Citizens Center.

During Mr. Garza's terms of office as Commissioner, he found time to accept an appointment on the Tax Appraisal Board where he served admirably for 4 years. He also served on the Board of Directors of the Middle Rio Grande Development Council and the Community Council of Southwest Texas.

During his years in city and county government, he never lost sight of the importance of unity between the city council and the commissioners court. He was a very amiable and open minded family man who knew how to motivate himself when county problems were confronted and needed an unselfish decision.

Mr. Garza's proudest accomplishment in life was the day he married his wife, Petra, who gave him three daughters and two sons. She faithfully stood by him through the years in his work, his political career, and his approach to life. He also was especially proud of the success of his family.

His oldest son, Joe, Jr., is currently working as Administrator of Attendance Services after serving as Principal of Del Rio High School for a number of years. Robert Garza is a former Brackettville City Alderman and former City Attorney of Del Rio. He is now an Attorney in private practice and is serving his second term as School Board Trustee in Del Rio. His oldest daughter, Gloria Garcia, is a teacher at the Del Rio Middle School.

Break-in by burglars still plague merchants

Cavalryman Reporter

HIGHWAY 90 -- Burglars struck again this past Saturday night at Villa's Grocery which is located one mile west of town on highway 90.

Amelia Villarreal, owner and operator of the drive-in grocery, was contacted and she was very cooperative in regards to relating the information that had been compiled on the break-in.

Ms. Villarreal discovered the break-in early Sunday morning when she opened for the day's business. After discovering the burglary, she immediately notified the Sheriff's department.

According to Ms. Villarreal, "the burglars tried to pry their way into the building in several different spots before they finally got in on the east side of the building. They tried to lift the tin off of the roof, they pried the wall open into the ladies restroom, and the wall behind the stove but couldn't get an opening big enough to get in."

When the lady proprietor was questioned about missing articles she said, "they took cigarettes, ice cream, milk, beer, T-shirts, and other stuff. The cost of repairs to the building plus the merchandise that was stolen came to about $1,000." Ms. Villarreal seemed to be more disturbed over the loss of her silverware than she was the other items that were taken.

The break-in was investigated by Chief Deputy, David Luna, and Deputy Vito La Gioia. According to them, the establishment was checked at 2:00 A. M. and everything was in order at the time. Ms. Villarreal told the Cavalryman that Chief Deputy Luna thinks the burglary was done by the same culprits that broke into Davis Hardware two times in one week.

Further investigation found a travel trailer located directly behind Villas had been broke in to but nothing was taken. Also, entry to a storage barn behind the grocery store had been attained but nothing was bothered there either. The barn was full of expensive ceramic figurines.

Villa's Grocery is fast becoming one of Brackettville's most popular places to eat good Mexican food. This, combined with Mike Rodriguez's fresh bar-be-que prepared daily, compliments Ms. Villarreal's little eating spot.

At the present, no arrest have been made in regards to the incident.

Old home burns to the ground

By LES ROPER
Cavalryman Editor

BRACKETTVILLE -- One of Brackettville's old homes which was owned by Glen Morgan caught fire and burned to the ground this past Tuesday shortly after noon. It was not on the historical list, but was still considered a part of Kinney County history.

The Brackettville Fire Department received the call and responded within a matter of a few minutes, but due to the age of the old house, it was reduced to kindling wood in a matter of minutes.

There were old clothes stored inside the house and a pickup and three cars were parked within a few feet of the dwelling. Everything, including the three cars, was lost.

Mr. Morgan, who is employed by the city, was inside his mobile home, which is parked close by, when his children ran in and reported the old building on fire.

According to Morgan, "when I ran out, I could see the flames already out of control and two little kids inside the building. The children ran out and headed back across the alley when they saw me. I found out from my kids, "Morgan continued, "that the two other kids were striking matches inside the old house."

Mr. Morgan was very upset in regards to the incident. He indicated that this was not the first time the two children were involved in a fire related accident. Morgan was not only concerned with the welfare of the two children, but with neighbors who lived in the area that could be affected by their carelessness.

"I was getting ready to restore the old place and was looking forward to it. The inside of the house had an old fireplace and you could see where it had been used for cooking a long time ago." He went on to say, "I really wish they could do something about the two kids. I would guess them to be around six and eight years old and that is too young to be running around by themselves."

Judge Tim Ward presents the keys to the new 15 passenger Ford Van to Tencha Pena, Nutrition Center Administrator. The van will be used to assist in the transportation of the elderly and disabled.

New 15 seat van for senior citizens

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

The need for "a more adequate means of transportation for essential services" is now a resolved issue for the elderly residents of Kinney and Real counties and the City of Del Rio.

The Middle Rio Grande Development Council Area Agency on Aging Centers in these areas received one van while Real County and Del Rio each received 2 vans," said AAA Program Director Martha Duerksen.

Eighty percent of the cost of the vans was funded through a grant from the Texas Department of Highways and Public transportation. "The remaining 20% was raised by the Senior Citizens of these areas through bake sales, dances, bingo, taco sales, and charity runs," explains Duerksen.

The group had cited the concern over transportation at a public hearing last year. The vans are used to transport elderly citizens to places of essential need such as hospitals and clinics, pharmacies, Social Service centers, grocery stores and certain events.

The van that was sent to Kinney County is a 15 passenger Ford van that is completely equipped with tinted glass, air conditioning, radio, and all of the other comforts that will make traveling more enjoyable. Cecil Atkisson Motors from Hondo was the low bidder and provided the new equipment.

Aging Center Director, Tencha Pena, was more than overjoyed with the new van. She was heard commenting, "I have been using the old vans since 1981 and that is ten years. We have had to work on them everyday just to keep them running. I felt like we were overdue." When asked how the new vehicle drove and rode she responded with a big smile on her face, "like a dream."

Kinney County has certainly been fortunate through the years with quality help holding down jobs in strategic areas. It is the opinion of many of the people that call on Mrs. Pena for help that she is at the "top of the ladder" when you measure her abilities and willingness to help those who are in need.

Regina Pena scores in top 10% of future Paralegals who were tested

Cavalryman Correspondent

BRACKETTVILLE -- Brackettville has been so fortunate through the years with the quality of students who graduate from B.I.S.D. and go on to greater success in life. This very prestigious list goes on and on.

The latest new "shining star" on the horizon has had a goal in mind for quite some time. The star ... Regina Pena and her goal ... to be the best Paralegal she can be.

When Miss Pena finished high school her plans were to attend Uvalde Jr. College for one year and then transfer to Southwest University in San Marcos where she would get her degree and finish school with a paralegal career ahead of her.

Awahle back, Miss Pena's mother, Tencha, was visiting with a friend who was discussing her daughter's future. He gave them a number to call.

The call was not made for a number of days but after running across the phone number again Miss Pena decided to respond to the number.

The number was from the Southern Career Institute in Boca Raton, Florida and the lady contacted was Joyce Sims. She described the paralegal course to Miss Pena and told her she would

Old Army Days

By Wallace Morgan

The first McClellan Cavalry saddle, model 1859. In 1855 Captain George B. McClellan was sent to Europe as a member of a commission of American officers to study the armies of Europe and their equipment-- actively engaged at this period in the Crimean war. After his return to the U.S. his report was published in book form and was filled with descriptions and recommendations for changes. The next year he had several saddles made that incorporated his ideas for the ideal military saddle. In 1859 a special board of officers recommended that McClellan's newly designed saddle should replace the Grimsley saddle, which was adopted by the U.S. Army for mounted units in 1847. During the era of the Grimsley saddle, other saddles were being field tested for possible adaption. In reality, the first McClellan saddle incorporates the major features of the old Grimsley army saddle, and of the Campbell and Hope experimental saddles, instead of the European saddles.

The model 1859 McClellan saddle had not leather covering on the set and bars, (enlisted model) and had a single skirt under the quarter straps. This was a measure of economy, eliminating the necessity for additional leather for seat and an underskirt, since the McClellans single skirt protects the horse from the rigging and the riders legs from horse sweat. The girth buckles at both ends and was made indigo-blue worsted webbing, as is the surcingles, whose design remained the same as the one used with the Grimsley saddle. The worst feature of the exposed rawhide tree was that continuous wetting by rain and exposure to direct sun rays on the saddles used much in the field sooner or later would have split and curled seams, which were very hard on the rider, and horse. Other than this bad feature, the M1859 McClellan saddle was a good wartime saddle, and served the Union army and the Confederate army well.

The basic officer's model was the same as the enlisted model, except that all of the exposed rawhide tree was covered with "Fair" leather. "Fair" leather being a term used during this era to describe natural color leather. All of the other parts of the officers model was identical to the enlisted, to include all other leather parts which were died black. There were other variations of officers models, as they purchased their own saddles, usually from one of many military suppliers of the era.

This model McClellan saddle was considered the father of all future model McClellans. These saddles lasted as United States army cavalry saddles for almost 100 years, with very few changes. The final model was the M1928, which was a M1903 with skirts and an English saddle type girth added. This design was on the concept of forward seat type riding, a change over of the old type of riding seat with long stirrups, such as used with the American western saddle. The purpose was due to cavalry riders jumping hurdles, ditches, etc.. The saddle in the photograph was a model 1903 McClellan, and was rebuilt by Dean Cole of El Paso, an old cavalry saddler, to be a replica of the M1859. At this time that I had this saddle rebuilt, I was a member of a memorial cavalry unit in Phoenix which perpetrated a company of union cavalry, during the Civil War years.

Many of the facts and phrases included within this article were taken from the book, "United States Military Saddles", by Randy Steffen, and published by the University of Oklahoma Press, 1973.

WALTER T. MOORE

Walter T. Moore, a resident of Fort Clark Springs since 1979, passed away of lymphoma on June 8, 1991, at Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center, San Antonio, Texas, following a five-month illness. Interment will be in Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery.

He was born November 22, 1906 in Marlin, Texas, grew up in Waxahachie and Dallas, and was General Manager of Ellison Furniture Company in Fort Worth. He served in the 112th National Guard Cavalry of Dallas during East Texas oil field riots, in the 124th Texas National Guard Cavalry in Fort Worth, and in the 56th Fighter Group, U.S. Army Air Corps in England from 1942 to 1945.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie, daughter Mrs. Patricia Moore of Madison, Wisconsin, sons Robert C. Moore of Palo Alto, California, and Randle B. (Dee) Moore of San Antonio, Texas and three grandsons.

Duplicate Bridge

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

The Duplicate Bridge Club met June 25th with 5 table in play. First Place North-West went to Flo Stafford and Helen Lynch. Second place was won by Joyce Bell and Martin Sheets.

In East- West, Aldine Edwards and Fran Swanson won first place. Close in second place was James Harber and Millie Harvey.

On June 30, First place was won by Ben and Rozetta Pingent with Ruth Wilk and Marge Batchelor coming in a close second.

Eyes are on Helen Lynch

Helen was born Helen Wiley in Charlotte, North Carolina in 1922. She went through school there and on to college at Converse, South Carolina. After College, she met and married Wroe Lynch, who was a fighter pilot in the U.S. Marines. After his service duties they moved to Dallas Tx. in 1946, then on to Odessa. He was in business for himself there until 1977, when they moved to La Jolla, Calif. In 1983, they came to visit friends at Fort Clark Springs. They enjoyed it so, that they bought a membership and moved here.

She has three children, Wroe,

Cynthia and Jim and six grandchildren.

Helen's husband died in 1986. She's had several medical setbacks, but is doing fine and loves her life here.

She has many friends and enjoys playing bridge and knitting. She belongs to and is active in the Historical Society; and the Lions Club where she has been selling snow cones "All her life" or maybe just since Little League began. She does helpful things for many people throughout the day and can be seen at the Forts Activities. Her shining personality is an inspiration to others.

Fort Clark schedules Fourth of July events

Cavalryman Reporter

FORT CLARK -- Fun and games will be the theme of the entertainment that has been prepared by Sondra Meil, Recreational Director on Fort Clark, Thursday, the 4th of July with the swim park being the area for the opening festivities.

According to Mrs. Meil, there will be swim contests for all age groups that include relays, sprints, and diving for coins in the shallow end of the pool. The big spring fed swimming pool has always been one of the busiest places on the Fort during holidays and Thursday should not deter from this tradition.

Later in the afternoon at six o'clock the Golf Cart Parade will get underway. Elbie Beard, parade chairman, has reported a good list of entries making the celebration bigger and better than ever. Ribbons will be awarded to the best decorated golf cart. Judging will be based on originality and color.

A youth party at the Activity Center will crank up at six thirty o'clock. Plenty of refreshments and fun should be the theme of the day.

The Red, White, and Blue Carnival is set for seven o'clock where there will be games and food booths for everyone to enjoy. Special music will be provided and Mrs. Meil has given her word that no lull in the entertainment is anticipated. She does invite everyone to come and participate while they enjoy the fun for the day.

Tracks Along the Trail

By Dorothy Payne

By Dorothy Payne
Cavalryman Writer

In the 17th century, there were estimated to be 2 million to 4 million wild horses roaming in North America. Twenty years ago only a few thousand mustangs roamed the western ranges.

Horses had become extinct here once before. North America is the birthplace of horses beginning with the ones the size of a housecat, Hyracotherium, who lived 60 million years ago. Our horses today are really European. Eight thousand years ago our original herds of horses were wiped out by new climates, diseases, and predators brought on by the ending Ice Age.

In 1543, a few horses escaped from Hernando de Soto as he was exploring the Mississippi and horses came back to the Continent. By the time the writer Washington Irving traveled westward, he found large herds of wild horses grazing on the prairie.

By the 1960's, when horses were almost entirely replaced by trucks, trains, and railroads, the survivors were turned loose to roam. The wild horses of Russia and eastern Europe were already extinct, and it was beginning to look like the American mustang would be the next to go.

Then the school children were the wild horses salvation, a Nevada Secretary named Velma Johnston organized thousands of children across the country. The children bombarded Washington with letters in 1969 and 1970, begging protection for the wild horses.

Finally, in January 1971, President Nixon signed the Federal Wild and Free Roaming Horse and Burro Act, which forced wild horses to be caught or killed and put the Bureau of Land Management in charge and there wasn't a group in the country that protested the Act. The Bureau every year rounds up 4,000 to 6,000 surplus horses and puts them in three groups. Four year olds or younger are sent to the popular Adopt-a-Horse program. Horses between five and nine years are sent to 3 state penitentiaries in New Mexico where the inmates train them for adoption, the older ones are sent to wild horse refuges across the country. "Out of the mouths of little children, etc.)

Rory's Video Review

Henry & June

Philip Kaufman's brilliant film explores the erotic life of two individuals who became 20th Century literary giants.

Upon meeting unconventional American author Henry Miller (Fred Ward) in Paris, 1931, a young writer named Anais Nin (Maria de Medeiros) boldly embarks on a passionate voyage of self-discovery, and faithfully records every experience in her diary.

In their defiant search for new truths, Anais and Henry are tantalized by Henry's enigmatic and hauntingly sensual wife, June (Uma Thurman).

Beautifully photographed, Henry and June is an unforgettable journey into the uncharted territory of human relationships, based on the long-suppressed sections of Anais Nin's diaries. Philip Wuntch, Dallas Morning News calls the film "brilliant and intoxicating. It is a film to see more than once and remember for a very long time."

(2 hours 16 minutes)

Presumed Innocent

Rusty Sabich is an up-and-comer in the county prosecutor's office. He's intelligent, hard working, dependable.

And, just maybe, he's also a murderer.

Based on the best seller by Scott Turow, Presumed Innocent has everything. It's a suspense-laden whodunit, a sexy thriller, a powerful courtroom drama and a dazzling vehicle for Harrison Ford, the star of the Star Wars and Indiana Jones trilogies.

Brian Dennehy, Raul Julia, Bonnie Bedelia, Paul Winfield and Greta Scacchi headline the sizzling supporting cast. And director Alan J. Pakula, whose films include All the President's Men and Kluge, once again proves his expertise at stripping away the business-as-usual veneer of institutions to show the intrigue and passions underneath. This time he examines the American system of law...and discovers the sword of justice is double-edged.

Performance audits are first step in streamlining spending

By Sen. Judith Zaffirini

"Controlling waste is like bailing a boat - you have to keep at it," said Lyndon B. Johnson. The Texas Performance Review conducted by Comptroller John Sharp and his staff and released on June 26 is a bold, innovative step toward controlling the cost of government while enhancing its efficiency.

The next step in our efforts to streamline state government is to evaluate the 975 recommendations outlined in the 1,200-page two-volume audit which reflects 5,400 hours of work by 104 state employees. Had a private auditing firm been hired, the cost could have been $6 million, instead of Sharp's estimated $206,000.

Legislators will convene in special session on July 15 to adopt a 1992-93 state budget that will reflect legislative decisions regarding proposals in the Texas Performance Review. The combination of cost-cutting measures and fee hikes recommended could save the state $5.22 billion in the 1992-93 fiscal biennium. The comptroller previously predicted a $4.6 billion shortfall between revenues and a current services budget.

Lt. Gov. Bullock's suggestion that we "take each state agency and turn it upside down and shake it good" is the basis for this impressive plan which was authorized in SB 111 by Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock.

Recommendations in the report, "Breaking the mold: New Ways to Govern Texas," are far-reaching and thought-provoking.

Proposals include consolidating existing state agencies into super-agencies to oversee health and human services, the environment, licensing and transportation.

Fourteen agencies, for example, would be reorganized into the Texas Department of Health and Human Services. The result would eliminate overlapping functions and management and would enable Texans to make "one stop" for programs such as those for the blind, the hearing impaired, mental health/mental retardation, Medicaid and food stamps.

Environmental and natural resources agencies such as the Texas Water Commission, the Texas Air Control Board, Water Well Drillers Board and Structural Pest Control Board would be combined under the Department of the Environment.

The governance structure of public education also would be revised and coordinated with higher education. A complete restructuring of the Texas Education Agency would require a re-evaluation of each employee and regulation. One proposed regulation would prohibit school districts from spending more than 25 percent of their budget on administration.

Comptroller Sharp outlined approximately $2.6 billion in spending cuts, including the elimination of 1,043 state jobs. Displaced workers would receive 60 days notice, free training and preference in filling vacancies. Of the eliminated jobs, approximately 60 percent would be in mid-level management; approximately 20 percent, upper management; 581, transportation; and 520, general government.

Auditors also recommended privatization of functions such as vehicle repair and maintenance, security, custodial services, minimum security prisons and highway maintenance.

Several of the recommendations would produce large savings. $540 million; delaying the state's fund transfer into the Teacher Retirement System, $250 million; postponing phase-in of a sales tax exemption for manufacturing machines, $368 million; and eliminating the requirement for a front license plate on a vehicle, $4 million annually.

To increase revenue, Sharp proposes increasing the driver's license fee from $16 for four years to $25 for five years; elevating the diesel fuel tax by 4.5 cents per gallon; raising registration fees to $50 for commercial vehicles and $65 for tractor-trailer vehicles; and increasing tuition at state colleges and universities, while increasing financial assistance to needy students.

Because many of the recommendations are controversial, it is critical that Texans become involved by offering constructive criticism and realistic alternatives. Copies of the report are available for $10 by calling 1-800-BEAT-WASTE.

"If you always do what you've always done, you'll always get what you've always got," reads an old Texas saying used to introduce the audit report. Our state has changed, and the Texas Performance Review offers opportunities to also change our system of governance by increasing efficiency and effectiveness.

Gloves

Baseball's equipment and uniforms are as much a part of the game's history as its many All-Star players. Here's a look at the evolution of the implements and outfits that have helped make the boys of summer into men of legend.

Evolution of gloves

■ 1870s: The very first mitts were used for protection only, not to aid fielding; the style consisted of fingerless gloves generally worn on both hands and had little padding.

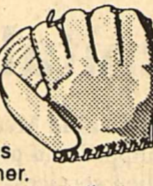

■ 1880s: As the pitchers became more developed, catchers of this era wore heavier padded gloves with full fingers. In 1895, the rules specified that catchers and first baseman could wear any size or shape glove.

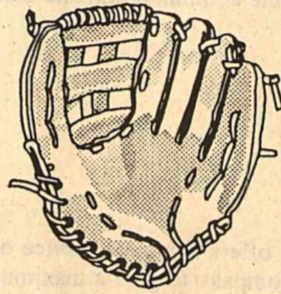

■ 1920s: Bill Doak, a St. Louis Cardinal player, helped develop a new glove around this time; the style created one of the first "pockets" in the mitt by lacing a web between the first finger and thumb. Gloves started to evolve more to aid fielding and less for protective purposes.

■ 1950s: All the fingers in the mitt are now tied together by leather lace, which enhances the pocket further. Webbing is now generally a piece of leather instead of just lacing. In the '60s, glove size continues to grow in width and depth.

■ 1990s: Today's fielders' glove must be no larger than 12 inches from the tip of the fingers to the heel, and no wider than 7 3/4 inches. Some modern innovations include a mitt which reduces spin on the ball when it's caught.

Balls and bats

Baseball's equipment and uniforms are as much a part of the game's history as its many All-Star players. Here's a look at the evolution of the implements and outfits that have helped make the boys of summer into men of legend.

Baseballs

■ Since 1872, the baseball has weighed 5-5 1/4 ounces and measured 9-9 1/4 inches in circumference. Its early evolution involved just two changes:

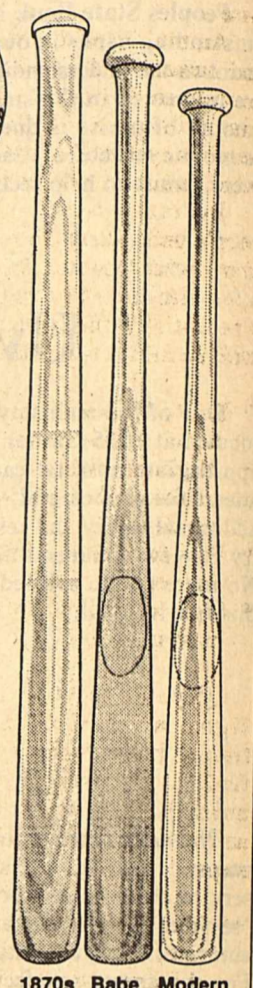

■ In 1854, the weight of the ball was set at 5 1/2-6 ounces and the circumference at 8 5/8-11 inches.
■ In 1860, these specifications were changed to 5 3/4-6 ounces and 9 3/4-10 inches before today's longstanding requirements were adopted.

Evolution of baseball bats

■ As organized baseball became more sophisticated, bats became more sophisticated. They got shorter, thinner, more tapered and lighter.

■ The bat handle has undergone perhaps the greatest evolution. Once only slightly narrower than the bat's barrel, handles have been thinned and tapered over the years until some have measured no more than one inch across. The thinner handle allows players to whip the bat quicker into the ball, and to get more wrist action.

■ Bats have also become lighter over the years. Near the end of his career, Babe Ruth used a bat as heavy as 57 ounces in spring training, switching to 42- to 44-ounce bats during the season. By the 1950s, the average bat used in the major leagues weighed 33 ounces. Today, that average is about the same, with most players swinging bats weighing 30-35 ounces.

Catcher's equipment

Baseball's equipment and uniforms are as much a part of the game's history as its many All-Star players. Here's a look at the evolution of the implements and outfits that have helped make the boys of summer into men of legend.

■ Protective equipment for catchers has become more safety-oriented since the creation of the first catcher's mask in 1876. To avoid ridicule, catchers in baseball's early years wore chest protectors and shin guards under their uniforms. Early masks consisted of meshed wire and soft leather with shock-absorbing pads on the forehead and cheeks.

■ The first catcher to wear shin guards over his stockings was the New York Giants' Roger Bresnahan in 1907.

■ Today's catcher's equipment makes use of synthetics, in addition to leather.

Hall girls win Rodeo events

Winners, Charlie and Kasey Hall with the saddle Kasey won after leading in five events at a recent Rodeo. Both girls won recent titles of All Around Cowgirls.

Cavalryman Rodeo Reporter

BANDERA -- Prior to rodeo time the contestants are usually busy grooming their horses and getting them ready for the competition that is about ready to start. When they look up and see another trailer loaded with horses pulling onto the grounds, they wave and acknowledge another of their many friends that also love the sport of rodeo.

When the Hall (Kasey, Charlie, and Katy) girls pull up to a rodeo arena in their big dual wheeled pickup pulling their eight horse trailer loaded with three of the top barrel horses in the country ... well, everyone begins to take notice. This family team of female rodeo contestants have either been seen or heard of and their winning ways speak for themselves.

The time for playing around and cutting up is over. It is time to get serious and attend to the business of winning the events they are entered in. And win they do!!!

Recently, Kasey entered five events (goat tying, barrel race, figure 8 barrel race, pole bending, and goat tying) in Bandera and after all the dust had settled, she found herself leading all other contestants and was awarded a beautiful hand tooled saddle along with the title of All Around Cowgirl.

If one of the sisters fail to win an event, the other one is lurking in the shadows on another horse from the string of champions that Chuck and Connie Hall provide for their daughters, to take up the slack.

High School freshman, Charlie Hall entered three events in El Dorado recently and accumulated enough points to win the All Around Cowgirl honors and was awarded a beautiful sterling silver and gold belt buckle.

Last, but not least, Katie Hall had the thrill of her young life last week in Uvalde when she reached out and roped her first breakaway calf in competition roping. She recorded a faster time than the senior girls had established earlier.

Brackettville has every right to be proud of this family of rodeo contestants.

There are several kind of bright lights used around airports, on the wings of airplanes, and other means, but never does any light shine brighter than the one on the face of Judge Alvin Hall when you ask him about one or all of his "grandkids" who participate in the sport of rodeo.

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

It's summer time, and more folks are heading for the parks, lakes, and beaches. But as people heed the "call of the wild" they should also watch out for being bitten by animals, wild or otherwise.

Animal bites can cause rabies and humans and all warm-blooded animals are susceptible to rabies, a virus disease of the central nervous system that without treatment, is almost always fatal.

But rabies can be controlled if people understand the problem and know what to watch for. Here are a few situations that might indicate a potentially dangerous encounter with an inflicted animal:

- * Bold, "friendly or apparently tame" wild animals.
- * Night animals such as skunks or foxes that are seen during the day.
- * Pets that have difficulty walking, eating or drinking water.
- * Signs of excitement or viciousness in normally quiet animals.

If you observe any of these signs, a veterinarian or other trained individual should be notified. If a person is bitten by an animal, treat the bite as if the animal were rabid and follow these steps:

- ** Identify the animal by kind, size, color and location. Tell children to seek help of policeman or other adult.
- ** Have the animal caught, and immediately report the incident to animal control officials or police. Keep the animal in sight until it is comprehended.

Trying to catch the animal without professional help means added risk.

** Cleanse the wound immediately and thoroughly by washing with soap and water. Rinse well and disinfect with alcohol, iodine or other disinfectants. This lessens the chance of contracting the rabies virus.

** See a doctor immediately after washing the wound. The physician will decide on the need for treatment to prevent rabies.

** If possible, have the biting dog or cat tested for rabies or placed under observation. If it is alive and normal after 10 days of observation, the animal was not infective at the time of the bite. A veterinarian should be consulted concerning all aspects of this confinement period. The 10 day observation period is not valid for animals other than dogs and cats.

Wild animals such as skunks, bats, foxes and raccoons should be immediately submitted by a veterinarian for laboratory rabies examination. Communities can take an active stand against rabies. Control measures include:

- Immunizing all dogs and cats over three months of age annually.
- Registering and licensing all owned dogs and cats.
- Impounding all stray dogs and cats.
- If there is no animal control officer, appoint one and provide pound or shelter facilities.
- Testing all biting dogs and cats or quarantining them for observation a period of 10 days.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMERICA!
July 4th, the date for celebrating our independence is an official County Holiday. Your library and all other county offices will be closed that date. We will, however, be open Friday the 5th for you to come in to get reading material for the weekend.

The single most important document in the history of the United States, the Declaration of Independence, has many interesting stories surrounding it. None more so that the "lost" copy (Texans are involved, naturally) Jewel Robinson has kindly consented to allow us to display a framed copy of the document as well as "The Lost Copy". Come by, view these documents, and note our display which is entitled "Where else but ... America!!!" We have tried to present a montage of America's famous and infamous, our accomplishments and failures, our past and future.

Parents, if your children aren't enrolled in the Summer Reading Program, get them registered! We have been having twenty or more children present at our Wednesday classes. As this year's program theme is Camp Wanna Read, we are patterning our classes on nature.

Don't forget our Booksale beginning Monday, July 22nd!!

We wish to thank the following persons who have donated books this past week: Mr. and Mrs. Voracek, Dr. Harber, William Stout, Pam Melancon, Mr. Gould, and Ken & Pat Callan.

New Books you might be interested in reading: Barbara Walters, An Unauthorized Biography, Texas Tears and Texas Sunshine, Voices of Frontier Women, current best sellers, The Firm, As the Crow Flies, "H" is for Homicide, Heartbeat, Bright Captivity and Aspen Gold.

We continue to display our newest non-fiction for your browsing pleasure. Many of these books are filled with beautiful photography and are enjoyable to view even by those only mildly interested in the subject being presented. Your memorial donations go exclusively toward the purchase of books for our library and is truly a gift to the memory of a loved one which goes on giving. We continue to expand our paperback collection with your donations.

These books are marked according to general type and author, then shelved alphabetically for your convenience. As many of you are aware, our paperback collection represents a service to our patrons in that we do not assess fines for late or unreturned books. We hope that your continued generosity in donating paperbacks will allow us to provide an ever expanding reading list in this area. These books are most popular when we have persons going to the hospital or on a vacation where they know they will be gone more than two weeks or do not want the responsibility of a hardback book. Most of our paperbacks are returned to us so that others may enjoy them. Currently, we have one patron who is interested in books by W.E.B. Griffin. If you have some of his books in your paperback collection, perhaps you would consider a donation to the library.

As always, we invite you to visit the coolest, friendliest little library in Kinney County!!! Kinney County Library Staff and Volunteers

ETERNAL SECURITY - Part III

"But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from the wrath of God through Him. For if while we were enemies, we were reconciled to God through the death of His Son, much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved by His life" (Romans 5:8-10).

A third Biblical approach to proving the eternal security of the Christian might be called the Logical approach. That is the whole force of the Apostle Paul's argument in the above verses from Roman 5. Paul's argument might be restated this way, "If God did the most for us by sending His Son to die for us when we were His enemies, then it is logical how much more He will do for us now that we are His friends and shall be saved by Christ's life."

Closely related to the Logical approach is a fourth type we might call the Family approach. Galatians 3:26 states, "For you are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus." Once we are born into the family of God through our faith in Christ, there is no way we can be "unborn" out of that family, any more than we can be unborn out of our human family.

A fifth approach to prove the eternal security of the Christian is that of the Body approach. In Ephesians 1:22-23, Paul states, "And He put all things in subjection under His feet, and gave Him as head over all things to the church, which is His body, the fullness of Him who fills all in all." In I Corinthians 12:12-27, Paul continues telling us that the church is the body of Christ and Christ is the head of the body. But not only are we in the body, but Christians through their spiritual gifts make up the individual parts of the body. Some are feet, some are knees, some are elbows, etc. And since he is using the example of a human body so that we will understand and get the point, Paul says in verse 21, "And the eye cannot say to the hand, 'I have no need of you;' or again the head to the feet, 'I have no need of you.'" So this approach uses the argument that as no sane person would cast away part of his own body, Christ will never cast away part of His body.

Another approach deals with part of God's character, His Immutability. This means that God will never change His mind; He will always keep His word. This approach is stated quite plainly in II Timothy 2:13, "If we are faithless, He remains faithful; for He cannot deny Himself." Read carefully these words of security from Jude 24-25, "Now to Him who is able to keep you from stumbling, and to make you stand in the presence of His glory blameless with great joy, to the only God our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion and authority, before all time and now and forever. Amen."

A final approach we might consider is that of the Greek tenses. Greek is one of the most precise languages ever invented by man, and among other things, it has some verb tenses that we don't have in English. One of these is called the aorist tense and it denotes a "once and for all" action. Thus Acts 16:31 can be more precisely translated, "And they said, 'Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you shall be saved once and for all.'" Another Greek tense different from English is the perfect tense which takes an action that occurred in a point of time, divorces the action from time, and perpetuates the results forever. Thus Ephesians 2:8-9 can be more precisely translated, "For by grace you have been saved in the past with the results that you go on being saved forever, through faith, and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God, not as a result of works, that no one should boast."

During the first three parts of this series on the eternal security of the Christian we have looked at several Biblical approaches that prove Christians ARE eternally secure. Beginning in Part IV next week we will look at some verses in the Bible that have caused trouble with this doctrine because these verses SEEM to contradict what we have been studying thus far.

Reflections

By Rev. Preston Taylor
First Baptist Church

Any kind of rain in South Texas causes everyone and almost everything from grass to jackrabbits to come to life. We all like to be refreshed, don't we?

Read Psalms 145 or 149. If such a reading doesn't light a fire in your soul, something is seriously wrong with you.

A brief talk with God gives an awakening and refreshing that surprises even the person who prays. Honestly, how long has it been since you got alone and talked to God? Use even halting, far-off-the mark words. Start praying and God will listen.

Be thankful. Praise the Lord. Let God hear you say that you're grateful for good times and bad times. Praise the Lord with your voice. Walk outside at night, look up into the sky, and thank God for the splendors of creation. Thank the Lord that you're alive. Praise is like an overdue rain on parched ground. It will refresh you. You expected to hear something about Church, didn't you? And why not? Jesus "loved the Church and gave Himself for it." Support your Church with your tithes and offerings. Encourage others with your presence two or three times a week. God doesn't penalize people for being in Church on Sunday night, Wednesday night, or even Thursday afternoon for a time of devotion.

Be a friend to some lonely, struggling person. You can bring joy and hope to someone who feels defeated today. Make a telephone call or a visit. Write a note. Let a friend hear you say something good about another. You'll be refreshed and others will come to life as well.

Flowers wilt on hot, dry days. Tree leaves curl up when rains haven't come. People need refreshing as much as the world around us. If you try, you can be a part of the solution to the problems we all face. Be refreshed today and help another find refreshing, too.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

The Battle of Pride vs. Humility
"For every one who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted."

— Luke 14: 11

"Pride is hateful before God and man" it is written in the Book of Ecclesiasticus. And it was just that sense of pride that Jesus denigrated in one of His parables. While it is true that we all like to reap a measure of respect for a task well done or for our mannered behavior, we must avoid such excess that can make us hateful to our fellows and to our God. A sense of humility to leave the pride we might sometimes experience can be far more self-serving than all the boasting or trumpeting over our deeds or accomplishments. No man is that great or that complete that someone, somewhere, can't find a flaw or shortcoming to deflate such self-aggrandizement. We must remember that our virtues will be recognized and esteemed for what they are — not for what we say they are.

Superintendent Bob McCall will offer a workshop on the Commercial Driving Test on Thursday, July 11, 1991 from 5:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. The workshop will feature all forms needed to apply for the commercial drivers license. There will be a review of the material for the General Test, the Passenger Test and the Air Brake Test. If time permits there will be review for the Tanker and Hazardous Materials Tests as well.

The workshop is free and anyone interested may reserve a spot by calling the Brackett ISD central office on Tuesday, July 9. The workshop will be held in the high school library.

Brackett Schools open Aug. 16

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

Brackett ISD will begin school early for the 1991-92 school year. Teachers will return on August 15 and students will begin classes on Friday, August 16. The good news is that students will be able to finish the first semester before Christmas and enjoy a holiday without worrying about semester exams. The early start will also give students an extra two weeks to prepare for the state mandated TAAS tests given in October. Students will also get out of school earlier in the Spring with May 22, 1992 as the projected end of school date.

This usually doesn't happen until August

Summer soars early...

Temperatures were hotter than normal in South Texas for the month of May and continuing into June. This means your air conditioner is working harder to keep up with the demands of 90 plus degree days and the high 70's at night.

And the prediction for Summer '91 is in a word, Hot!

To help beat the heat, CPL has a brochure with 12 energy-saving tips to help reduce summer cooling costs. Simply stop by your CPL office and pick one up. It's free, and it can save you real money this summer.

Gardening Tips

By Archie Woodson

Archie Woodson
Cavalryman Contributing Writer

The best gardening time of the year for Kinney County and surrounding areas is almost upon us. Fall, with cooler temperatures and usually adequate rainfall sets the stage for the best production of the year. Whether it's vegetables, flowers, shrubs or trees, - all will take advantage of the improved growing conditions.

Even with all the advantages fall brings, your garden will need a good base to grow from. Now is the time to establish this base.

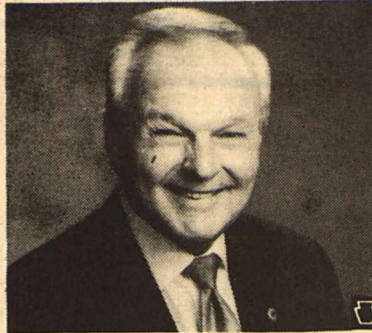

Most topsoil in our area is dense, compacted and very alkaline. Organic material, such as compost, peatmoss, pine bark mulch or wood chips will do more for your soil than anything. It loosens and aerates, helps retain moisture, adds nutrients and helps neutralize the soil p.h..

Organic matter is wonderful stuff, but not quite enough. Our soil is very deficient in Iron, Nitrogen and other nutrients. You'll need to add Iron, soil sulfur and a balanced slow release fertilizer. A 3 to 4 inch layer of organic material, copperas (iron sulfate) 4 to 5 pounds per 1000 square foot and 13-13-13 at 3 to 4 pounds per 100 square foot. (See Manufacturer's recommendations). Till all ingredients at a depth of 5 to 6 inches. Add plants and water and enjoy a good fall production.

Lions Clubs Elects 75th International President

Donald E. Banker, of Rolling Hills, California, took office as president of Lions Clubs International on June 21, 1991, during the final session of the Lions 74th International Convention in Brisbane, Queensland, Australia.

Banker's election marks the start of the 75th anniversary year of the world's largest service club organization. He will serve a one-year term as the leader of 1.4 million Lions club members in 171 countries. Lions raise hundreds of millions of dollars each year to aid the blind and visually impaired, to sponsor the world's largest drug abuse prevention curriculum, and to support diabetes education and research.

His responsibilities include reviewing humanitarian projects, such as the development of the Lions year-old global blindness prevention effort, SightFirst. He will also serve as the association's ambassador in meetings with heads of state and community and business leaders.

Active as a Lions club member since 1963, Banker previously served on the Lions Clubs International Board of Directors from 1981-83. He is a charter life member of the West Torrance Lions Club and has received a number of local and international awards for his service. Banker is a past president and current member of the board of the Southern California Lions Eye Institute, and is a founding member of the board of directors of the California/Nevada Wilderness Camp for Deaf Children.

Banker, an insurance agency owner, and his wife, Diane, have three sons.

mail her the test that would have to be taken.

The test was received in the mail in about one week and then mailed back to the office. After a short wait, the results of the test were called back to Miss Pena and the news was very exciting.

It was found that Regina had scored a 92 on the general knowledge portion of the test (which was considered the easiest part) and a 94 on the portion that covered legal aptitude. This put her in the top 10% of the people who had ever taken the entrance exam.

The Institute has been checked out and it was found that it is a highly accredited organization that allows young people to work while they are getting their degree as a paralegal.

When contacted and asked about her plans, Miss Pena said, "I am really looking forward to getting my degree this way. I have been in class rooms so long and I was worried about four more years of classrooms. I know that this program will be a challenge and require a lot of self discipline on my part but I know I can do it."

With her confidence and mature attitude, she is a sure bet to make it.

Regina Pena is ready for the challenge and self discipline that is needed for her home study course to become a Paralegal.

Rotary Club Officers installed

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

Officers of the Brackettville Rotary Club were installed last Thursday night at the Las Moras Inn. Eric McMaster is the newly elected President, Bob McCall is Vice President, and Steve Mills is Secretary/Treasurer. These positions are for the year 1991-92. Mr. Tino Guzman of Del Rio, member of the Board of Directors, performed the installation.

Other members of the Board of Directors are Stan Conoly, outgoing President, David Dorough, Robert Young, Bob McCall, Steve Mills and Eric McMaster.

Congratulations Melinda Meyer

June 6 (FHTNC)--Navy Seaman Recruit Melinda Meyer, daughter of Sylvia A. Foreman of Brackettville, Tx., has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Orlando, Fla.

During Meyer's eight-week training cycle, she studied general military subjects designed to prepare her for further academic and on-th-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Her studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1989 graduate of Brackett High School, she joined the Navy in January 1991.

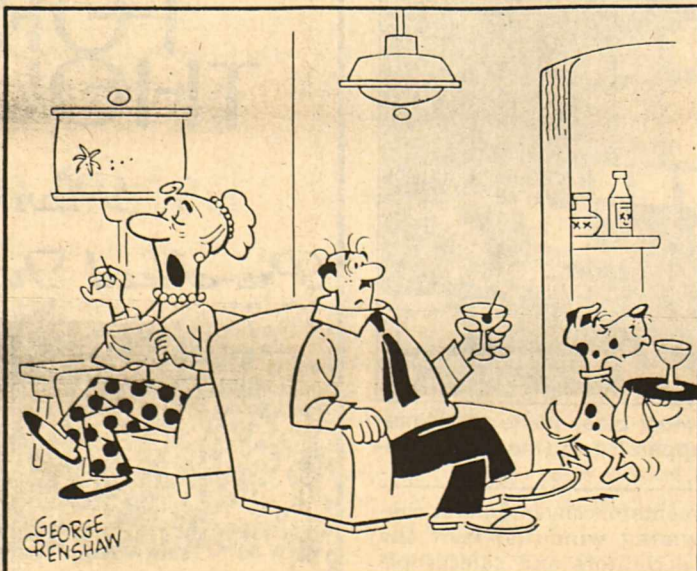

The Templeton sisters, Carol, Mary and June, will be performing at Happy Shahan's Alamo Village with the Alamo Village Originals.

Jerry Clardy shows off one of the many cannons that he has built, which have been used as props for various movies filmed at Alamo Village. Clardy will demonstrate a simulated explosion during the July 4th festivities at The Village.

Diane Garza Bravo resides in Brackettville and is now managing the City Grocery and Market. She has served two terms as Brackett School Board Trustee and is currently Mayor pro-tem of the City of Brackettville. Mary Lou (Lupe) Fuentes was a teacher's aide for Brackett School for 17 years before she retired.

A truly great man of honor and integrity has departed this world but his legacy and achievements will remain with us forever. Joe Garza was his own man who sometimes confused his friends and constituents with his quiet and unassuming demeanor. He will long be remembered as a political leader and a statesman who strived diligently to keep Kinney County headed in a positive direction.

Joe Garza loved many people but more people loved Joe.

INTS FOR HOMEOWNERS
Ingenious Ideas In Window Decor

The '80s were about going out, the '90s are about staying home, trend watchers report—and more time at home can mean more time to look around and make a decision to change and update your home decor. Often, the best way to give your home a whole new outlook is to look into new window treatments.

An attractive window treatment makes almost any room look great and can serve a variety of other purposes, from light transmission to improved energy efficiency. An ideal shade should be durable, easy-to-clean and coordinated with room interiors. Here are some bright ideas in window treatments that could reflect well on your decorating scheme:

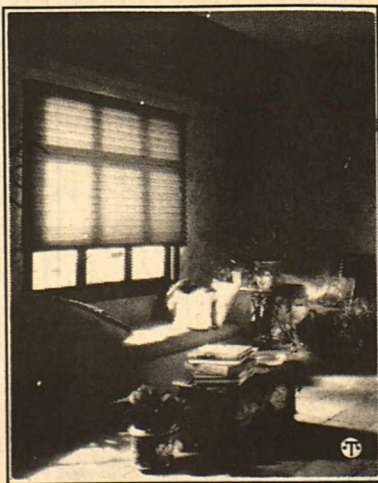

- For a timeless appeal, look into traditional window treatments that offer a touch of elegance, such as the new Duette honeycomb pleated shades by Hunter Douglas. They offer a soft, dressy alternative for window coverings, are available in any size and shape and a variety of colors and fabrics that permit various degrees of light transmission, from blackout to transparent. There are no seams, holes or visible cords.
- Go Victorian! Many people like the rich, ornate window dressings of the 19th century. Duette Sheer Visuale, a virtually transparent shade that has the Old-World look of lace, comes in three delicate white-on-white patterns. For added drama, the sheer shade also is available in deep tones. Both light and dark sheers let the sunshine in.
- When you want to keep the sun out to protect fine furnishing fabrics, a good choice is the Duette Eclipse, which blocks out 99 percent of outside light, including harmful UV rays. All cords are hidden, so light won't filter through the cord holes. Combine the blackout and the sheer shade with the Duette Duolite dual-fabric hardware system for the ultimate in

A new home at the old address: innovative window treatments can be custom designed for conventional and non-conforming windows—even skylights.

Fitted for curved bay windows this shade blocks out 99 percent of outside light, including UV rays that can harm fine furnishing fabrics.

A wider-pleat shade adds timeless appeal to even the largest windows.

light control. Another plus: the exclusive honeycomb pleat design of these shades traps air that acts as an insulator, keeping out summer heat and winter cold.

If you need help updating or developing entirely new window treatments for conventional or non-conforming windows, visit the staff decorators and salespeople at your local window treatment shop.
