Christmas Seals Are On Sale

Austin, Nov. 15.—A bright little scrap of paper which challenged mankind's deadliest enemy almost half a century ago will reach more than a million Texans through the mails this week.

It is the Christmas Seal. And it has powered the campaign of tuberculosis associations throughout the nation to bring under control the disease which has taken more human lives than all others combined.

Governor Allan Shivers has designated November 17 to December 25 as Christmas Seal Month in Texas, calling attention in his official memorandum to the "needless waste of human life and resources" caused by TB and its "staggering" cost to Texans.

It is the forty-fourth annual sale in Texas.

One man, just launching his career in medicine, was directly responsible for the first Christmas Seal Sale in the state. He is Dr. Z. T. Scott of Austin who still serves the TTA as treasurer.

Doctor Scott, now retired from active practice, relates that he became interested in the tuberculosis problem as a medical student around the turn of the century. It had cost the lives of several members of his family.

He read of the Christmas Seals sold in Delaware to keep open a tiny sanatorium for a few tuberculosis patients. That was Christmas 1907.

People were learning then, he explains, that the disease could be cured, that it need not necessarily mean a death sentence.

"When I read of the Christmas Seal," he recalls, "I thought here is a way . . . a way to get funds to DO SOMETHING about this disease."

Meanwhile on a train en route to Washington in September 1908 a group of Texans headed by the state health officer, Dr. W. M. Brumby of Houston, and bound for a meeting of the International Congress Against Tuberculosis, had organized the Texas TB Association.

The infant association found strong support in the person of Dr. Scott.

A man of action, he went to an Austin bank and borrowed the money to put on the first Christmas Seal Sale in Texas.

That was 1909. So began the efforts of the TTA to educate Texans about TB and to slow its inroads.

Dr. Brumby has said that during those years the U. S. Bureau of Vital Statistics reported 173 of every 100,000 persons in Texas dying of tuberculosis.

"The tiny Seal proved a potent weapon," Dr. Scott says with understandable satisfaction. "The TB death rate has been brought down to 24 per 100,000. But every one of the 1962 deaths from tuberculosis in the state last year was needless."

"Nobody need die of TB," he reasons. "Nobody should even have it. It is preventable and yet Texans are dying of it, spreading it—and paying for it—at the rate of more than seventeen and a half million dollars a year."

"Pretty, isn't it?" the retired physician queried fingering the yellow and green 1952 stamp with its red double-barred cross. "The Christmas Seal means many things. It means a sanatorium kept open for 'doomed' men and women, and a new lease on life."

"It means a shivering Delaware newsboy quietly placing a penny on the first Seal table with terse instructions, 'gimme one, me sister's got it.'"

"It means laboratories that have brought succeeding better drugs to combat the destructive germ.

"It means greater knowledge and improved medical treatment."

"It means lives saved and lives lengthened, families reunited and children saved from orphanages."

"It means the enemy that for centuries struck from the dark has been brought into the light and stripped of his terror."

"It means the strong hand of humanity firmly supporting its own."

"And, without question, it means the greatest health insurance policy ever written."

"That," declares the man who has given a lifetime to his stricken fellowman, "is your Christmas Seal."

There are 99 tuberculosis associations covering as many counties in Texas. Their control activities although keyed to the community level are coordinated with the statewide program of the Texas Tuberculosis Association and that of the national organization.

The Christmas Seal Sale, Governor Shivers' memorandum notes, is the "one annual appeal" of these associations for funds to continue their work.

He recommended purchase and use of the traditional yuletide stamps as a sound investment in health and happiness.

"Tuberculosis each year takes any other infectious disease, striking hardest at young persons between 15 and 35 years of age."

"Economic loss to Texas caused by tuberculosis is of staggering proportions. Yet, it is a preventable disease which can be eradicated."

"The traditional Christmas Seal Sale is the one annual appeal of the Texas Tuberculosis Association and its 99 affiliated county associations for funds to make possible their year-round efforts to curb this needless waste of human life and resources."

"THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the period from November 17—December 25, 1952, as CHRISTMAS SEAL MONTH and urge all Texans to make a sound investment in health and happiness by buying and using Christmas Seals during the holiday season."

(Signed) Allan Shivers

The Human Side Of Social Security

Article No. 7

Old-age and survivors insurance means different things to different people, as illustrated by this incident that took place in the social security field office.

A Social Science Class of high school seniors was taken on a tour through the field office in preparation for an article in the school paper. Before briefing them on the workings of social security, the manager asked each member of the group what he already knew about old-age and survivors insurance. The answers differed in each case, several of them touching on the philosophy of social insurance. When it was Bob Carson's time to answer, he said simply: "All it means to me is the difference between finishing school and going to work."

Further questioning revealed that Bob's insured father had died a year before. He was sixteen and the oldest of six children. There was enough insurance to pay off the mortgage on the home, but there were seven mouths to feed. So, he brought his books home, put them away, and began looking for a job. After looking in vain for two days, he returned home to find the social security representative going over some papers with his mother. "I could hardly believe my ears," Bob said, "when I heard my mother say, 'This $150.00 a month will permit Bob to go back to school.'" Monthly insurance payments to the widow and children enabled Bob to continue his high school education.

Castor oil, the black medicine of childhood, is holding its own despite today's demand for more popular remedies. The reason—aircraft engines, for which the oil makes a perfect lubricant. While most of the world's supply of castor beans are grown overseas, this year's U. S. crop will exceed last year's, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports.

Bank deposits by school children in the 154 communities where school savings accounts are offered now total $60,000,000, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The 1,984,396 youngsters with school savings have boosted their average amount on deposit from $24.21 in mid-1950 to $30.54.

Municipal taxes in the nation's 41 cities of 250,000 or more population averaged $61 per person. But in the District of Columbia where Congress is the taxing body, the average was $128.61—highest in the nation, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports.

The average cost to industry in creating a single new job today is somewhere between $10,000 and $11,000, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Americans' personal income has more than tripled since 1939, but federal personal taxes have increased 21 times over the same period, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports. Income jumped from $73 billion to $254 billion, but taxes rose from 1.2 billion to $26.1 billion.

A Pennsylvania department store has set up a fashion show on wheels. A special bus equipped with dressing rooms, alteration and show rooms, travels throughout dozens of small communities.

MENTAL

MEANDERINGS

Christmas time is coming fast. We didn't exactly realize that this Yuletide season was approaching so fast—despite the numerous catalogs of gifts, trimmings (for the tree and for the buyer), Christmas ideas, etc. But when we tuned in on the radio the other night, and heard someone who was trying to be the "first" one by playing Christmas tunes, we realized that it was nigh upon us. We recall when it used to be with us a season of gaiety of gift-giving, visiting, and general goodfellowship. Now the best we can offer is a "Merry Christmas", a clasp of the hand. Seems just a short time ago that we remember people gathering together for a big Christmas tree, numerous Christmas parties, dances, gaiety of every sort. Conditions have been changed somewhat by the strain of present day living, the conflict in Korea, and the strain of the times. But, withal, we never have failed to find that Christmas is always a time when people feel more friendly to others, more neighborly in their actions and dealings, and with the exception of a few who try to commercialize it to the hilt, a time when we realize that more people now realize that times change, things pass, customs recede, but that He never changes and that is the big reason we should all have faith and trust in Him.

The football season is over. There is something to be said for football, and that is, it is unpredictable as anything is in this present day world. A team can be on top one day and at the bottom the next. One which wins no games bops one which wins all. Upsets are the rule in many schedules, and that is what makes the game so interesting.

Two fellows talking about "hunter's moon" and "harvest moon". One asking the other what they were. Got the answer that they were no interest in either of them, as you can't hunt by the moon or headlight either, and that they had nothing to harvest.

The accident rate among the teenagers is one of the highest for a group. This is not due to the lack of proper reflexes it seems, but to the carelessness of the group in general, which, coupled with speed, too often turns a joyous ride into something else. Carelessness is not an attribute to the teenager group alone. This is also the cause of accidents in all groups, the major cause.

A big industrial company is offering big prizes for ideas—for the best ideas—that is, on how to keep the accident rate down in America. It's a hard job at the best. Many schemes have been tried—widening highways, harder examination, more rigid controls, tougher enforcement of laws, more law enforcement men, road roughening, and numerous other ideas, but none of them seem to have had much effect. The only idea that seems to bear some merit so far has been that of educating the younger folk in their duties as to driving, of road courtesies and the results in general of carelessness, regard of the road rights of others, speeding, and that indifferent attitude toward life. One suggestion that might of help would be to have drivers undergo a physical test every year along with their car inspection to determine if both are fit to turn loose on the road. (and remember, if you use this, we get half the reward!)

Fall weather has come with us for another visit. The trouble is that our fall and winter weather don't usually respect the calendar date, but we can have good and sometimes very summer-like weather until winter, and fall weather just any old time.

General Eisenhower is rapidly getting his cabinet and assistants ready for the time when he will become President Eisenhower. His cabinet at first glance seems to be composed of men of fairly large stature, and of men of good ability. Not having had too much contact with the presidency, excepting in a political way to be sure, or with the workings of the government, he is going to need all the help possible. It appears as if—and no doubt this will work out—the Democrats and Republicans will both line up behind him and give him their full support in his efforts to help the nation. On matters of political hue, they might disagree but to the world on things that pertain to the good of the country and the people, we don't doubt but there will be all the cooperation possible. These are troubled times, and the days are dark and gloomy, but they have at various times in world history been likewise, and better times have come afterwards.

The Communists in Korea have been gearing up attacks on Allied or UN positions, and as a result, there is some speculation as to what might be their intentions. Some think that the Chinese communists want to start an offensive at the time that Eisenhower visits Korea. Some say that they are or want to start a war of attrition. Others that the Russians have given them—the Chinese communists—orders to keep the fight up and even speed it up, so as to provide more bargaining at the conference table.

From the looks of things, there is little hope for peace from the efforts in the UN. There are too many who want to help, but their suggestions and propositions must please everyone, which is impossible. Seems there is little hope for a compromise as long as we have the Russians on one side and the lukewarm allies and some pacifists on the other.

There are many things which have been classed as elixirs in their day, but the one who dubbed horseradish as a "fountain of youth" seems to us to have about hit the bell for something or other. Everything from honey to dove's feet and dragon blood have been tried, with what results we do not recall, but seems that people in spite of all their efforts continue to keep on living or not, according to their destiny, but the span of life seems to have advanced above that set out by the Bible.

Got that turkey ready for Thanksgiving? Better start thinking about it, cause if you didn't you might as well keep it for Christmas. The Big Day done past.

Apparently hunting violations were very few around here, as far as is known only one or two minor violations had been reported. One case had been filed with the justice of the peace Derengowski' court and none in the County court. This was somewhat remarkable in spite of the considerable increase in the number of hunters who have come out this season.

SPOFFORD GETS WATER AGAIN

We were informed that following recent light rains that pumping of water has again started at the railroad pumping plant on the Las Moras, and that Spofford is again being supplied with water. For some time that community was without water excepting for the generosity of the railroad which had been bringing water by tank cars and which service was to have been cut off by the end of the year.

O. P. S. Removes Soft Drink Ceilings

Price controls on bottled soft drinks at all levels of distribution have been suspended by the Office of Price Stabilization.

O.P.S. said the suspension is in line with its policy of relaxing controls wherever possible, consistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act.

San Antonio district O.P.S. officials said a majority of soft drinks are selling below ceiling prices, but added that if bottled soft drink prices later threaten to exceed the suspended ceilings price controls will be reimposed.

Notes From the Movie

BY BOB QUINN, PUBLICITY

The much needed rain last week sent Nat Holt's movie company scurrying indoors. But no time was wasted. Indoor scenes for the Paramount picture "Arrowhead," was made in the buildings at Fort Clark Ranch, where "sets" had been built in advance for just such an emergency.

One of those cold mornings last week two of the stars of the picture "Arrowhead" which is being made at Brackettville staged a rough and tumble fight in front of the camera, rolling down a hill on Louis Hobbs' ranch. One of them, Jack Palance, was stripped to the waist because he plays an Indian in the picture, and he ended up with his whole back and shoulders bruised. The other star, Charlton Heston, was wearing a buckskin jacket and was not injured.

Some of the actors in the movie "Arrowhead" are having the time of their lives riding around shooting Indians. One fellow commented, "It's just like a boy hood dream, even though we use blank shells. We're having a lot of fun and getting paid for it too." Producer Nat Holt announced that they are almost finished "shooting" the picture, even with wet weather slowing them down a lot last week.

The "Arrowhead" movie company is grateful to Payne Kilbourn for letting them use the Palace Theatre late last night to look at some "rushes", which is a rush film not yet pieced together in sequence. This way the producer Nat Holt and others in the Paramount picture company get a good idea how the movie is going to look when it is finished. Also, Pavne has had many of the movie people in to see his shows as guests of the theatre, which is a professional courtesy. The Palace will be one of the first theatres in Texas to play "Arrowhead" when it is released next year by the Paramount Pictures.

The Office of Price Stabilization suspends an item from price control only when the selling prices and the supply-demand situation indicate that restoration of controls is not likely to be needed in the foreseeable future.

The agency pointed out that the power to regulate a suspended item still can be applied in event the price situation connected with the item should become inflationary.

Women's Hat Ceilings Removed

Women's millinery has been removed from price control, San Antonio district O.P.S. officials announced. The exemption became effective November 20.

It eliminated price ceilings on all women's hats for street or dress wear, but ceiling prices remain in effect on girls' or children's millinery, uniform hats and caps, rainwear and all hats for use in industrial, institutional, commercial or agricultural occupations.

O.P.S. said the exemption was based on the absence of inflationary pressures on millinery prices.
